V. 36. And now therefore thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael concerning this city, whereof ye ſay it ſhall be delivered into the hand of the King of Babylon by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence.] This verſion rendring the particle here uſed as an illative, maketh no very good coherence, as if it were ſaid, Becauſe this people have dealt thus wickedly with me, I will therefore deal graciouſly with them. But to make the connexion ſuitable to the ſubject matter, it would be rendred as a diſcretive; (whereof ſee on chap. 30.16.) Yet now not- withſtanding all this their extreme impiety and pertinacy in evil, thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael, he that yet owneth this people, having a poor remnant among them, concerning this city, which your ſelves have given for loſt now, having no hope to hold it out, being in ſuch condition as it is. See ver. 24, 28, 29. For God proceedeth here to acquaint them with what after-good he intended to them, though they deſerved nothing leſs; and ſo withal to ſatiſfie Jeremy concerning the purchaſe that he had cauſed him to make, verſe 43, 44.

V. 37. Behold, I will gather them out of all countries whither I have driven them in mine anger, and in my fury, and in great wrath;] Heb. Behold I am gathering (as Eſay 56. 8.) them; to wit, thoſe of Iſrael and of this city, ver. 36.) I have a full purpoſe to recollect them out of all thoſe countries, whither I ſhall have driven them; for he ſpeaketh of thoſe that were yet abiding in the land and in the city. See Chap. 16. 15. & 23. 3. & 29. 14. Ezek. 11. 17.

V. 38. And they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God.] See Ezek. 36. 28. Chap. 24. 7. & 30. 22. & 31. 33.

V. 39. And I will give them one heart,] Ezek. 11. 19. I will make them of one mind, Act. 4. 32. Eph. 4. 3—6. Phil. 2. 1. or all in regard of newneſs of heart alike, Ezek. 11. 19. and 36. 26, 27.

V. 40. And I will make an everlaſting covenant with them,] Heb. I will cut out with them a covenant of perpetuity. See Eſay 61. 8. Chap. 31. 31. Ezek. 39. 29.

that I will not turn away from them to do them good] Heb. that I will not turn from after them that I do them good. I will never ſurceaſe to purſue and follow them with favours inceſſantly, Zach. 8. 15. So, to turn from after God, Zach. 1. 6.

but I will put my fear in their hearts,] Heb. and (which would do better then the diſcretive here) my fear; that is, the fear of me; (as, thy fear, for, the fear of thee, Pſal. 5. 7.) will I give into their heart; as Ezek. 36. 26, 27.

that they ſhall not depart from me.] That they may continue conſtant with me, and not conſtrain me by their apoſtaſie to break again with them. I will ſo deeply rivet a reverent dread of me into their ſouls, as ſhall cauſe them to cling and cleave faſt unto me, and to keep cloſe with me for ever. See Pſal. 80. 18. & 86. 11. Eſay 59. 21. ver. 39. chap. 50. 5. whence may well be gathered, that when this people ſhall be brought home unto Chriſt, they ſhall never fall off from him again, Eſay 59. 20, 21.

V. 41. Yea, I will rejoyce over them to do them good;] Or, And I will rejoyce over them, (as Eſay 62. 5. Zeph. 3. 17.) in doing them good; as Deut. 28. 63.

and I will plant them in their land aſſuredly with my whole heart, and with my whole ſoul.] Heb. in truth, or ſtability, (as Hoſ. 2. 20.) with all my heart, and with all my ſoul: as Deut. 6. 5, & 10. 12. I will ſettle them firmly in their land again, Chap. 24. 6. & 31. 28. and what I do for them, I will do it entirely and affectionately; as they alſo in like manner ſhall ſeek to and ſerve me, Chap. 24. 7. Pſal. 119. 2, 10.

V. 42. For thus ſaith the Lord, Like as I have brought all this great evil upon this people;] Which is in part already befallen them, and is ready further to ſeize upon them. See Chap. 44. 2.

ſo I will bring upon them all the good that I have promiſed them.] So Zach. 8. 14, 15. Chap. 29. 10. & 31. 28.

V. 43. And fields ſhall be bought in this land, whereof ye ſay, It is deſolate, without man or beaſt, it is given into the hand of the Chaldeans.] Heb. And, or, Then (as chap. 29. 12.) ſhall the field be bought (either this field in particular, which thou now dealeſt for, ver. 9. or, fields, in general, verſe 44. the word field taken collectively; as Chap. 7. 20. & 9. 21.) in this land, of which ye ſay, deſolation it is, or it will be (as chap. 4. 27.) without man and beaſt; as Chap. 33. 10, 12. which you make no other account of, but that being over-run with the Chaldeons, it will become ſuch a waſte. See ver. 36.

V. 44. Men ſhall buy fields for money] Or, Fields, I ſay, ſhall be bought. Heb. they ſhall buy (the verb taken indefinitely, as Chap. 31. 23.) for ſilver, (as ver. 9. 25.) land ſhall again be bought and ſold, as in times paſt, ver. 15.

for I will cauſe their captivity to return] Though I ſuffer them to be carried away captive from their land for a time; yet will I bring them back from captivity again. See ver. 3. chap. 30. 3.

CHAP. XXXIII.

Verſ. 1. MOreover the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah the ſecond time, while he was yet ſhut up in the Court of the Priſon, ſaying,] This Prophecy, as it is very neer of the ſame date with the next fore-going; ſo is it much of the ſame ſubject matter with it, and with that before it, contained in Chapter 30. & 31. all three penned principally for the comfort and ſupport of the faithful, againſt that long and tedious captivity ready now to ſurpriſe them, and amids thoſe grievous preſſures that during it they were to endure; with many gracious promiſes of preſervation and reſtitution, together with a conſtant continuance of a ſettled eſtate under the Meſſias to abide unto the worlds end. Heb. And the word of God was unto Jeremiah; as chap. 1. 1.

the ſecond time] As chap. 1. 13. this being either the ſecond revelation that he had during his reſtraint; or the ſecond, as ſome, of the ſame ſubject with the former.

while he was yet ſhut up] Heb. and he was yet ſhut up; as, and he reigned, for, while he reigned, 1 King. 11. 25.

in the Court of the Priſon] See chap. 32. 2.

V. 2. Thus ſaith the Lord the maker thereof, the Lord that formed it to ſtabliſh it;] That is, as ſome of the Jewiſh Commenters, and ſome that follow them, he that made Jeruſalem, (before-mentioned, chap. 32. 44.) had formed it, and made it not to be ruined, but to ſtand and continue, at leaſt not to let it lye alwaies ruined. See Eſay 22. 11. & 37. 26. But others rather of either rank underſtand it of the promiſe of reſtitution, repeating the words, the Lord that doth, the Lord that frameth, (or contriveth it, with a purpoſe) to eſtabliſh it, to perform and make good that his gracious promiſe of reſtauration before propounded, chap. 31. 37, 44. and now again here reiterated with further aſſurance given of it, verſe 6, 7. See Eſay 46. 11.

the Lord is his name] Or, whoſe name is Jehovah, Pſal. 83. 18. Eſay 42. 8. one able to give being to whatſoever he doth promiſe or purpoſe, Eſay 14. 24. & 44. 26—28. & 46. 10. the demonſtrative for the relative; as verſe 3.

V. 3. Call unto me, and I will anſwer thee;] This ſome conceive ſpoken, as to Gods people, to encourage them to ſeek unto God, with aſſurance of ſucceſs in their ſuits; fetching in hither thoſe places, Eſay 42. 9. & 46. 10. & 48. 3—7. But the moſt take the words rather as ſpoken to the Prophet, encouraging him to ſeek for further revelations from God, concerning thoſe favours, which in future times he purpoſed to confer upon his people. Howbeit, I conceive not, with the Jewiſh Doctor, that they contain any revocation of the former inhibition of prayer and interceſſion in the peoples behalf, chap. 7. 16. & 11. 14. & 14. 11. for that concerned only their preſent deliverance; this their future re-eſtabliſhment.

and ſhew thee great and mighty things, which thou knoweſt not] Or, great and hidden, or, abſtruſe and reſerved things; as, there is nothing reſerved, or, reſtrained from thee, Job 42. 2. See Eſay 48. 6.

which thou knoweſt not.] Heb. thou knoweſt them not; the demonſtrative for the relative; as ver. 2. So alſo Eſay 48. 6. or, as ſome, which thou acknowledgeſt not; which in regard of thy weakneſs thou art not able to conceive, as having ſome glance at his former debate with God, chap. 32. 25. But the plainer notion ſeems here the better.

V. 4. For thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael, concerning the houſes of this city, and concerning the houſes of the Kings of Judah, which are thrown down by the mounts, and by the ſword.] Before God cometh to impart unto the Prophet his gracious purpoſes concerning the deliverance of this people in future times, he firſt acquainteth him with thoſe calamities that were ſuddenly to befall them, and which they ſhould not by any means be able to avoid or eſcape: as before the like, Chap.32.28,29.

of the Kings of Judah] Wherein their Kings have ſucceſſively dwelt: or, Kings, for, Princes. See Chap. 17. 19. and 19.13.

are thrown down] As ſome, by themſelves, to raiſe fortifications, and make places of defence againſt the enemy: as Eſay 22.10. or, that are to be thrown down, as ſure to be demoliſhed, as if already they were by the enemies aſſault, or upon their ſurpriſal of them: as, deſtroyed, for, ready to be deſtroyed, Pſal.137.8. periſhed, for, ready to periſh, Eſay 27.13. ſlain, for, out of hand to be ſlain, Chap.9.1. this rather, becauſe that for which the cure and recovery is promiſed, ver.6.

by the mounts] Heb. to the mounts, or, engins, which ſome therefore render for; as Ezek.6.9,11.& 21.12. & 27.31. underſtanding it of fortifications raiſed for defence: but others rather, as our Verſion yieldeth it, by the mounts, raiſed by the enemy againſt the city, or the engins, wherewith they batter the wals and ſhoot into it, Chap.32.24. ſo the particle ſeemeth alſo taken in the next member, by, or with the ſword, or what is thereby ſpecified.

by the ſword] That is, by the hoſtile force and violence of the enemy; as the word, ſword, is commonly uſed, Joſh. 10. 28, 30. Howbeit, the word may here be as well rendred, with hammers, or, with mattocks, or, with axes; (the word, though ſingular, being taken collectively) for with this variety of notion is the term ſometime expreſſed. So Exod. 20. 25. if thou lift up thy tool, or, hammer, (as the Latine rendreth it) upon it, thou haſt polluted it: there it ſeemeth indeed to be uſed for ſome poliſhing tool employed about building, but elſe-where for ſuch inſtruments as are uſed about battering and beating down of buildings: as 2 Chr.34. 6. where it is ſaid of Joſias, that he cauſed the monuments of idolatry to be beaten down, and broken with mattocks. So is the word there rendred, and Ezek.26.9. of Nebuchadnezzar, that he ſhould ſet engins of battery againſt the walls of Tyre, and with axes (the ſame word with this here, but plural there) break down her towers: by the former were they battered in likelyhood during the ſiege, with theſe latter after the ſurpriſall of the city: Nor do I miſlike that expoſition of a learned man, who conceiveth a complexive form of ſpeech in the word of throwing down, rendring it, to be demoliſhed being expoſed to ſhot and ſword: though inſtead of the latter word, I ſhould rather ſubſtitute ſome other inſtrument of demolition: Of ſuch forms, ſee on Eſay 14.12.& 38.17,21. So the prepoſition might retain its ordinary uſe.

V. 5. They come to fight with the Chaldeans, but it is to fill them with the dead bodies of men,] How theſe words come in here, or how they cohere with the former, is not eaſie to determine. Some ſuppoſe them to be added, as rendring a reaſon, why the houſes came thus to be demoliſhed by the enemy; to wit, becauſe the inhabitants ſtood it out againſt them, and refuſed to open to them, that which exaſperated the Chaldeans againſt them. Others, as giving aſſurance of the ſurpriſal and deſtruction of the city, notwithſtanding all their power and induſtry that ſhould or could be uſed by them for the ſaving thereof: And the moſt read them as an entire ſentence by themſelves; which if we admit, I ſhould include this whole verſe in a parentheſis: as if it were ſaid, (They come indeed to fight with the Chaldeans, but all to no purpoſe; for I fight my ſelf againſt them, and have turned my face away from them for their ſins) and ſo the file of the diſcourſe may be carryed on from ver.4. to ver. 6. Yet ſome hang theſe words upon the former: and that divers diverſly. Some, by repeating of the foregoing particle, Thus ſaith the Lord, concerning the houſes of Jeruſalem, and concerning them alſo that come to fight with the Chaldeans. But this ſeemeth to leave the ſentence in an abrupt kind of ſuſpence. Others therefore rather by knitting them to the laſt words of the verſe, concerning the demoliſhing of the houſes by thoſe that come (to wit, from other places) to fight with the Chaldeans (and to defend this city againſt them) but indeed to fill them with the carcaſſes of men: as God will diſpoſe the iſſue and event of it: or, concerning the engins and inſtruments, wherewith they would be demoliſhed, as others, on this wiſe; by the ſhot and ſword (the deſtroying inſtruments) of thoſe that come to fight with the Chaldeans, and to fill them with the carcaſſes of men: and theſe underſtand the place of thoſe aſſociates and confederates of the Chaldeans that aſſiſted them at the ſiege of Jeruſalem: and this I ſhould readily incline unto (for there is no more then coming to fight in the text) if I could find the particle here uſed in this notion of aſſiſtance any where joyned with the term of fighting, or, warring; but ſo I never yet meet with it, but in the contrary notion of oppoſing and fighting againſt, as elſe-where; ſo Chap. 21. 5. & 37.10. Others again, by inſertion of a copulative, and ſupply of the word houſes render it, concerning the houſes of the King of Judah, and of thoſe (that is, and concerning the houſes of thoſe) that go out to fight with the Chaldeans, &c. that which yet ſeemeth not to go ſo ſmoothly away. Nor can I reſt ſatisfied with that of another learned late Writer, who rendreth the words, The Chaldeans come to fight. The particle being (ſaith he) oft times a note of a noun nominative preceding a verb, whether tranſitive, or intranſitive; as Neh.9.32, 34. 1 Sam.17.34. 2 King.6.5. Chap.38.16. Ezek.39.14.& 43. 7. I ſhall leave it to the conſideration of others. I encline rather to put the whole verſe into a parentheſis, (Going they are to fight with the Chaldeans (very buſie they are about it) but (Heb. and; as Chap.12.2.) to fill them with mens corpſes, &c. that will be the iſſue of it, though not their aim: to fill them, that is, the houſes, mentioned, ver.4. as the moſt: though a learned Scholiaſt underſtandeth it of filling, that is, ſatiating the bloud-thirſty minds and deſires of the Chaldeans, that were eagerly ſet upon ſlaughter: but the word that peculiarly importeth ſatiety is not here: with the carcaſſes of man. Heb. Adam, taken collectively; as Chap.9.22.

whom I have ſlain in mine anger and in my fury] Or, whom I will ſlay. Heb. have ſmitten, or, will ſmite (as Joſh.11.14.) to wit, by the ſword of the Chaldeans: whom not ſo much the Chaldeans ſlay, as I ſlay by them. See Chap.25.33. & 32. 31,37,42.

and for all whoſe wickedneſs I have hid my face from this city] In diſpleaſure, Pſal.27.9. Eſay 57.17. the ground of all miſery and calamity; as his favourable aſpect the ſource and fountain of all true felicity, Pſal.30.5,7.

V. 6. Behold I will bring it health and cure,] This is that which by the Prophet God is reported to have ſaid concerning this city of Jeruſalem, and the ſtately ſtructures of it that are ſhortly to be demoliſhed and laid level with the ground, ver.4. I will cauſe them to be re-edified and raiſed up again. Heb. I am making cure, and healing to go up, or to come, unto her, or, unto it; to wit, the city. Of the terms here uſed, and the application thereof unto buildings, ſee on Chap. 30. 17.

and I will cure them,] I will reſtore the people unto their former ſtate again, Eſay 57.18. Chap.3.22.

and I will reveal unto them abundance of peace and truth.] I will ſhew, that is, exhibit, and impart unto them, confer and beſtow upon them (as Pſal.85.7. Rom.8.18. ſo Pſal.4.6.) abundance of firm and ſure proſperity. See Eſay 39.8. Chap.14. 13.& 32.41.

V. 7. And I will cauſe the captivity of Judah, and the captivity of Iſrael to return:] As Chap. 24. 5. and 30. 3. & 32.44.

and I will build them as at firſt.] Settle them again, and cauſe them to thrive and proſper, as formerly. See Chap. 12. 16. & 18.9. ver.11. Eſay 1.26.

V. 8. And I will cleanſe them from all their iniquity, whereby they have ſinned againſt me;] Heb. I will purifie them: an alluſion to the ritual purifications and lotions preſcribed in the Law for the cleanſing of polluted perſons; before which performed they might not be admitted into the camp or congregation, Lev.13.46.& 14.3,7,8. Num. 5.2,4.& 12.15.& 19. 11—20. So Ezek.36.25. & 37.23.

and I will pardon all their iniquities whereby they have ſinned, and whereby they have tranſgreſſed againſt me.] For till theſe be purged and pardoned, there can be no peace between God and man; nor can there be true joy or ſound comfort of ought to man, untill his peace be made with God, Pſal.32. 1—5. See chap.31.34. Mic.7.18.

V. 9. And it ſhall be to me a name of joy, a praiſe and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which ſhall hear all the good that I do unto them:] This reſtitution of Gods Church and people ſhall procure much honour and glory to God among other people abroad, chap.13.11. Eſay 63.11. & 61.3, 9.& 62.2,3. name, for, fame, and honour; as Eſay 63.14. and, a name of joy, for ſuch as men are wont to rejoyce in.

and they ſhall fear and tremble for all the goodneſſe, and for all the proſperity that I procure unto it.] Heb. peace; as ver.6. See Exod. 15. 14—16. 1 Chron. 13. 17. 2 Chron. 20.29. Eſt. 8. 17.

V. 10. Thus ſaith the Lord; Again there ſhall be heard in this place (which ye ſay ſhall be deſolate without man and without beaſt, even in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, that are deſolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beaſt] See on chap.32.43. and the like deſcriptions of deſolation, chap.4.25.& 12.4.& 50.3.& 51.62.

which ye ſay ſhall be deſolate] Heb. which ye are ſaying (that is, of which ye ſay, and whereof ye make no other account) waſte, or, deſolate it is: the pronoun demonſtrative, for the verb ſubſtantive; as Hagg.1.9.

and of them that ſhall bring the ſacrifice of praiſe into the houſe of the Lord.] See chap.17.26.

for I will cauſe to return the captivity of the land, as at the firſt, ſaith the Lord.] Or, when (as chap.11.23.& 23.21.) I ſhall have brought back the captivity (that is, the captives) of the land, (as the captivity of Sion, Pſal. 126.1.) and ſhall have ſettled them (a complexive form, as ver.4.) as at the firſt, ver.7. Chap.30.20. Lam.5.21.

V. 12. Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Again in this place, which is deſolate without man, and without beaſt, and in all the cities thereof ſhall be an habitation of ſhepherds cauſing their flocks to lie down.] In this place, the land of Judah, which is to be laid waſte, and is in part ſo already, the enemy having over-run moſt of the Countrey (See Chap. 32. 43.) and in the cities thereof, the lands and paſtures lying round about them (as Pſal.144.13. See Chap.34.1.) ſhall be ſheep-coats, and ſheds or cotages for ſhepherds that ſhall tend them and feed them quietly without diſturbance; ſo that they ſhall have their due times both of feeding, and for reſt: an argument oft times of ſettled peace in thoſe parts. So Chap. 31.24.

V. 13. In the cities of the mountains, in the cities of the vale, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jeruſalem, and in the cities of Judah,] Or, in the upland cities, both in the land of Benjamin, &c. See on Chap.32.44.

ſhall the flocks paſs again under the hands of him, that telleth them, ſaith the Lord.] Or, ſhall the leſſer cattel (ſheep and goats: for the word includeth both, Exod.12.5. and ſo ver. 12.) paſs under the rod to be tithed or told, as they go quietly in and out. See Lev. 27. 32. Ezek. 20. 37. Joh.10. 3, 10, 12.

V. 14. Behold the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will perform that good thing that I have promiſed, unto the houſe of Iſrael, and to the houſe of Judah,] Heb. Behold the dayes coming (as Chap.31.27,31.) and (as Chap. 27.8.) I will eſtabliſh (as 1 King.6.12.) that good word (as 1 King.2.38.& 18,24.) that I have ſpoken (as Joſh.1.3.) unto (or, concerning; as Chap.27. 19.) the houſe of Iſrael, and concerning (as Eſay 1.1.) the houſe of Judah, Chap.30.3,4.& 31.27.

V.15. In thoſe dayes, and at that time, will I cauſe the branch of righteouſneſſe to grow up unto David; and he ſhall execute judgment in the land;] See the ſame promiſe concerning the Meſſias, Chap.23.5. onely what was ſaid, I will raiſe, or, ſettle, there; is ſaid here, I will make to bud, or, ſprout; as Pſal. 132. 17. Ezek.29.21. the rather, becauſe he ſpeaketh as of a plant, word for word, I will make a ſprout to ſprout out: and, a ſprout of righteouſneſſe, here; as, a righteous ſprout, there.

V. 16. In thoſe dayes ſhall Judah be ſaved,] So chap. 23.6. In his dayes ſhall Judah be ſaved.

and Jeruſalem ſhall dwell ſafely] Or, ſhall be inhabited (for the word is ſometime uſed in a paſſive notion. See Eſay 13. 20. chap.17.6.) in ſafety. See chap.23.6. See alſo chap. 30. 18. & 46.27.

and this is the name wherewith ſhe ſhall be called, The Lord is our Righteouſneſſe.] Heb. and this it is that he ſhall call her, or, or, call to her, (that is, ſaith the Rabbine, the name by which the Meſſias ſhall call her: but rather, wherewith ſhe ſhall be called; as Eſay 62. 4. for the verb is indefinite) Jehovah tſidkenu. That which was ſaid to be the name of Chriſt the Meſſias, chap.23.6. is here ſaid to be the name of Jeruſalem, the city of the Meſſias, the Church of Chriſt; given to him, as the party, who imparteth righteouſneſſe to her, 1 Cor. 1. 30. 2 Cor.5.21. to her, that by bearing that name ſhe may profeſs to have her whole righteouſneſs, not from her ſelf, but from him, Eſay 45.24,25. Phil.3.9. that which, ſaith the Rabbine here, the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem ſhould have continually in their mouthes, and ſhall no doubt when they come unto Chriſt, 2 Cor.3.16. Some Interpreters of prime note render the text, and he that ſhall call her, ſhall be Jehovah our Righteouſneſſe; but the words ſeem clearly to import the impoſition of ſome name; which the learned Scholiaſt obſerving, and yet loath to have the name given unto any other beſide Chriſt, thus exhibiteth the Prophets words, and this is the name, wherewith every one ſhall call him, Jehovah our Righteouſneſſe: but this is a manifeſt corrupting of the text, which expreſly holdeth out, not him, but her. See more hereof on chap.23.6.

The Lord is our Righteouſneſſe.] Jehovah tſidkenu: as, Jehovah Shammah, The Lord is there; the name of the ſame city, Ezek.48.35.

V. 17. For thus ſaith the Lord; David ſhall never want a man to ſit upon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael:] A further confirmation, not of the reſtitution of the Church only, but of the continuation of it in a ſettled condition of conſtant government under Chriſts royal regiment, and the miniſtery of his ſacred ordinances, exerciſed and executed by perſons ſpecially deſigned thereunto. Heb. There ſhall not be cut off unto David a man (that is, ſome man of David; as, to David a Pſalm, for, a Pſalm of David, Pſal.24.1. ſome one of his ſeed) ſitting upon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael; as chap.35.19. See 2 Chr.6.16. Fulfilled principally in Chriſt, one of Davids ſeed, unto whom God promiſeth to give the throne of his father David to reign over the houſe of Jacob for ever, Luk. 1. 32, 33.

V. 18. Neither ſhall the Prieſts, the Levites want a man before me, to offer burnt-offerings, and to kindle meat-offerings, and to do ſacrifice continually.] Heb. Neither to, or, of the Prieſts the Levites there ſhall not be a man cut off from before me; that is, from attendance upon me: as Deut.10.8. A promiſe of the continuance of an Evangelical Miniſtery in the Church of God to the worlds end, Matth.28.20. Eph.4.11—13. the Miniſters and officers themſelves deſcribed by thoſe that then were in place, as Eſay 66.21. and their employments and ſervices by thoſe that then were in uſe; as Eſay.56.7. Mal.1. 11. Rom.15.16.

to offer burnt-offerings,] Heb. making an aſcenſion; or, offering up, to aſcend; to wit, upon the altar. See Eſay 56.7.

to kindle meat-offerings,] Heb. burning (as 2 Chron.13.11.) an oblation; for of ſuch oblations was a memorial made alſo by fire upon the altar, Lev.2.2. & 6.15. and of them, ſee on Eſay 1.13. & 56.7. kindling doth not here ſo well; becauſe the fire on the altar was kindled and maintained principally for the burnt-ſacrifices conſiſting of the bodies of beaſts, but being ſo kindled and kept in for them, was uſed alſo for the meat and drink-offerings; nor doth the word it ſelf ſo ſignifie.

to do ſacrifice continually.] Heb. doing, or, dreſſing, (as Gen. 18.8. Exod.10.25.) ſacrifice all dayes; as chap. 32.39. but here alluding to the daily ſacrifice, Num.28.3.

V. 19. And the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, ſaying,] Moreover, or, Furthermore, as ver.1. chap.1.11.

V. 20. Thus ſaith the Lord, If ye can break my covenant of the day, and my covenant of the night, and that there ſhall not be day and night in their ſeaſon;] Or, if ye can annul (Heb. ſhall make void, as Judg.2.1. but here in a potential notion, as Eſay 14. 27.) my conſtitution (for ſo the word covenant, here importeth, Gen.8.22.) concerning the day, and concerning the night, ſo as that (as Chap.29.6.) there ſhould not be day and night in their due, or, ſet, time. If it be poſſible for any created power to break off the intercourſe of night and day. See the like expreſſions, Eſay 54.9. chap.31.35,36. ver.25.

V. 21. Then may alſo my covenant be broken with David my ſervant, that he ſhould not have a ſon to reign upon his Throne; and with the Levites the Prieſts my Miniſters.] Heb. my covenant (my promiſe or engagement) alſo ſhall be made void (but potentially taken, as ver.20.) with David (2 Sam.7.16. Pſal. 132.11.) my ſervant (the ſtyle commonly in way of eminency given him, Pſal.78.70. & 89.20. & 132.10.) from being to him (as 1 Sam. 15.2. Hoſ.4.6.) a ſon reigning upon his Throne, &c. as the like, ver. 18. As ſoon ſhall the one faile, as either of the other, the Princely, or Prieſtly ſucceſſion; the ſame with that before, ver.17,18.

V.22. As the hoſt of heaven cannot be numbred, neither the ſand of the ſea meaſured: ſo will I multiply the ſeed of David my ſervant, and the Levites that miniſter unto me.] A promiſe not of the continuation onely of a State and Church; but of a large increaſe of iſſue in the Kingdome of Chriſt (the honour of a king conſiſting in the multitude of his people, Prov. 14. 28.) and a correſpondent number of Miniſters and Officers for the ordering and managing of them. See the like promiſes to Abraham, Gen.13.15.& 15.5. & 22.17. Heb. Which (for, Like as; as Exod.34.18. Lev.7.26. 2 Sam. 14.19. chap. 48.8. but found here alſo above thoſe places, that the Jewiſh Criticks reſtrain it to) the hoſt of heaven (the ſtars, Gen.2.1.) ſhall not be numbred, (for, cannot; as Gen.16.10. & 32.12) and the ſand of the ſea ſhall not be meaſured; (for, cannot; as Hoſ.1. 10.) See the like potential notions, ver.20,21. See of the like promiſe, Eſay 53.8,10. and performance, Rev.7.9.

V. 23. Moreover, the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, ſaying,] Or, Again. Heb. And. as chap.24.4.

V. 24. Conſidereſt thou not what this people have ſpoken?]

Heb. Seeſt thou not (as Pſal. 119. 159. chap. 2. 31.) what this people (either the unfaithful party among Gods own people, wholly deſpairing of any poſſibility of being ever raiſed up, and reſtored again, Eſay 40.27. & 49.14. Ezek.33.10. & 37. 11. or, the Chaldeans and other enemies of Gods people, chap.50.7.) have ſpoken, or, do ſpeak; what they have commonly in their mouthes.

The two families] Or, as ſome render it, As for the two families; put abſolutely: as Pſal.104.17. the two families; to wit, of David and Aaron, as ſome, the princely, and the Prieſtly, ver.17,18,22. or, of Judah and Benjamin, as others, chap. 32.44. or, of Judah, and Iſrael, as the moſt, ver.14.

which the Lord hath choſen,] Or, did chooſe, or, had choſen, as Pſal.105.26.

he hath even caſt them off,] Heb. and; as chap. 23. 33, 34. where the copulative hath an emphaſis in it; he hath utterly caſt them off: and doth not at all now regard them, or mind them any more. So rather, then, as ſome, he doth now reject them. See chap.30.17.

Thus have they deſpiſed my people, that they ſhould be no more a nation before them] Or, Thus deſpiſe they my people. See Eſay 54.6. Heb. and; as chap.25.14. they ſet light by them, as never like to come to be a nation again, in their account. Heb. from being any more a nation before them; as chap.48.2.

V. 25. Thus ſaith the Lord,] Gods firm reſolution oppoſed to their vain imagination.

If my covenant be not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth:] Or, as ſome, If my covenant abide not day and night, (that is, conſtantly and perpetually, as 1 Chr.9.33. Pſal.19.2. chap.9.1.) or, (as others) concerning day and night, (the conſtant intercourſe of either, ver.20.) and the ordinances concerning heaven and earth (for the courſe of the one to do ſervice to the other, chap.31.35,36.) which I have ſettled, be not; that is, do not, continue, or abide, Pſal.119.91. See chap. 17.8. But this ſyntax the laſt clauſe will hardly admit: or, as others rather therefore, If I have not ſettled, or, If I ſhall not diſpoſe (ſo that it cannot, or, ſhall not, be altered, ver.20.) my conſtitution of day and night, Gen.8.22.) and if I have not ſettled, or, ſhall not diſpoſe, the ordinances of heaven and earth in a certain and conſtant courſe; for the office of the one, Gen.1.14,16. and the ſafety and benefit of the other, Gen.1.9. chap. 5.22, 24. & 31.35. or more particularly, thoſe courſes that I have ſet for ſuch diſtinction of times to be continued by the motion of the celeſtial bodies for the uſe and benefit of the creatures below upon earth, Pſal. 74. 16, 17. & 104.19,23. the ſupply onely is in the former branch from the latter; the like whereunto, ſee Eſay 30.17.

V. 26. Then will I caſt away the ſeed of Jacob, and David my Servant; ſo that I will not take any of his ſeed to be Rulers over the ſeed of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob:] Heb. I will alſo refuſe the ſeed of Jacob (to own them at all for my people; or to keep them in being, as a nation, chap.31.35,36. ver.24.) and David my ſervant (ver. 21,22.) from taking off his ſeed (as 1 King.22.3. 2 King. 5. 20.) rulers (ver. 21.) over the ſeed of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob; unto whom the promiſes were ſpecially made for continuance of their ſeed, Pſal. 105. 9,10. this for rulers, fulfilled partly in Zerubbabel, and his Succeſſors, Ezr.2.1. Zach.2.4. but principally in Chriſt, Luk.1.33. ver.15. and the ſeed of theſe here mentioned are the body of the faithful, whom he ruleth by his Word, and Spirit, Pſal. 105.1,6. Rom.9.6——8. Gal.3.16,17. & 6.16.

for I will cauſe their captivity to return; and will have mercy on them.] Or, as ſome, when I ſhall bring back their captivity; as chap.31.34. but that, though not amiſs there, doth not ſo well here: rather, but (here, as chap. 14.12.) I will bring back their captivity: and thereby make it to appear that I have not utterly rejected them, as their enemies imagine. See Eſay 14.1. Chap.32.4. Verſe 11.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Verſ. 1. THe word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord,] This Chapter containeth two ſevearl prophecies at two ſeverall times delivered. The former is related from ver. 1——7. together with the time when it was delivered, both prefixed and ſubjoyned. The inſcription here the ſame with chap.18.1.

(when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and all his army, and all the Kingdomes of the earth of his dominion, and all the people fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities thereof) ſaying,] In the time of the ſiege, whereof 2 King. 25.1. Chap. 52. 1.

when] Heb. and; as chap.14.15. & 16.6.

Nebuchadnezzar] Elſewhere in this prophecy called Nebuchadreſſar, chap.21.2. & 25.1,9.

all the cities thereof] Either of Judah, ver.7. or of Jeruſalem, chap.19.15. that being the mother-city, chap.15.8. and the reſt as daughters to her, Lam.3.51. ſo are inferiour Towns and Cities commonly ſtyled, Joſh.15.32,36,41,43, &c.

V. 2. Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael] As Chap. 30. 2.

Go, and ſpeak unto Zedekiah King of Judah, and tell him; Thus ſaith the Lord,] This prophecy ſeemeth to have been delivered to Jeremy while he was yet at liberty; and the meſſage ſent from God to Zedekiah by him to have occaſioned his reſtraint. See chap.32.2,3. The meſſage conſiſteth partly of an heavy denunciation of the ſurpriſal of the city, and the King together with it, and the deportation of him to Babylon, verſe 2,3. partly, of ſome mitigation of this ſad ſentence, aſſuring him from God, that he yet ſhould dye a natural death, and have an honourable ſepulture, verſe 4,5.

Go] Heb. Going; as chap.2.2. & 3.12.

Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the King of Babylon; and he ſhall burn it with fire] See chap.32.3. and 21.10. Verſe 32.

V. 3. And thou ſhalt not eſcape out of his hand, but ſhall ſurely be taken,] Heb. ſhalt taking be taken; as chap. 26: 15. and 32. 4.

and thine eyes ſhall behold the eyes of the King of Babylon, and he ſhall ſpeak with thee mouth to mouth,] So chap.32.4.

and thou ſhalt go to Babylon,] Chap.32.5.

V. 4. Yet hear the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah King of Judah; Thus ſaith the Lord concerning thee, Thou ſhalt not dye by the ſword:] Thou ſhalt not dye a violent, but a natural death, by Gods ordinary viſitation, chap.32.5.

V. 5. But thou ſhalt dye in peace;] Not in war, or fight.

and with the burnings of thy fathers the former Kings, which were before thee, ſo ſhall they burn there for thee:] The King of Babylon ſhall afford him that, which he had denyed unto Jehojakim, chap.22.19. & 36.30. he ſhall give his people leave to bury him in an honourable manner, and with ſuch ſolemnities the burning of ſweet odors among the reſt, at his exequies, as they were wont to uſe at the funerals of their Kings in their own country, ſuch of them at leaſt, as had lived beloved, and dyed deſired. See 2 Chr.16.14. & 21.19.

and they will lament thee, ſaying, Ah Lord,] Or, they ſhall lament thee; that it may run in the ſame tenor with the former. There ſhall ſolemn lamentation be made for thee, as for thy father Joſias, 2 Chr. 35.24,25. denyed to Jehojakim his brother, chap.22.18.

for I have pronounced the word, ſaith the Lord.] Heb. I have ſpoken the word; or, ſpoken it, (word, for, thing; as chap. 32. 27.) both the one and the other, as verſe 3,4.

V. 6. Then Jeremiah ſpake all theſe words unto Zedekiah king of Judah in Jeruſalem:] Then, or, So. as chap.13.2,5. The Prophet forbare not to go to the King and deliver Gods meſſage to him in his royal city, though the doing of it was like to coſt him dear. See chap.32.3.

V. 7. When the King of Babylons army fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities of Judah that were left,] Heb. And; as verſe 1. See there.

againſt Lachiſh, and againſt Azekah] Of theſe cities, ſee Joſh.10.10,31. and of the former alſo, Eſay 36.2. & 37.8.

for theſe defenced cities remained in the cities of Judah:] Heb. cities of defence, or, fortification; as chap.4.5. & 8. 14. thoſe two onely (beſide Jeruſalem) yet hold out againſt the Chaldean forces, of the cities of Judah, that were of any conſiderable ſtrength: as, mountains in Gilboa, for, mountains of Gilboa, 2 Sam.1.21. or, among the cities of Judah: as, in the thouſands, for, among the thouſands, Mic.5.2.

V. 8. This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord,] Heb. The word that was to Jeremiah from the Lord; as ver. 1. and as that there, ſo this here, ſeemeth to be the inſcription or title of a new prophecy, ſomewhat later then the former, delivered, as appeareth, upon a more ſpecial occaſion, related from verſe 8——11. for from thence the word or meſſage, here mentioned, it ſelf beginneth, continued unto the end of the Chapter: the former was delivered when the Chaldean forces were ſet down before the city, and eager in the ſiege of it, and the city by reaſon thereof in diſtreſs, verſe 1, 7. this latter when there was ſome relaxation of their former ſtraits; the Chaldeans being for ſome ſpace of time riſen from before the city, upon the approach of ſome Egyptian ayds, ver. 21. chap.37.5.

after that the King Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people to proclaim liberty unto them.] Heb. had cut a covenant: of which form of ſpeech, ſee on Eſay 28. 15. and hereafter, verſe 18. for when the enemy preſſed hard upon them, and they ſeemed to be in ſome diſtreſs, they made ſome ſhews of remorſe and repentance for their ſinful courſes, and renewed their covenants with God, and made ſome kind of reformation: as the like, Judg.10.15,16. Pſal.78.34,35. Hoſ.6.1. and among other enormities, which Gods Prophets, it ſeems, had admoniſhed them of, verſe 10. they had agreed to break off that injurious courſe, whereby many of them kept their brethren ſtill in ſervitude, after the expiration of that term of years, which was for their ſervice by Gods appointment prefixed; (ſee verſe 14.) and liberty was thereupon proclaimed unto them, that is, in behalf of all thoſe that were ſo wrongfully detained.

V. 9. That every man ſhould let his man-ſervant, and every man his maid-ſervant, being an Hebrew, or an Hebreweſs, go free,] Having ſerved them the time limited by the Law, Exod. 21.2. Heb. to diſmiſſe free (as Deut.15.18. & ver.11.) a man, for, every one; as chap.32.19.

that none ſhould ſerve himſelf of them, to wit, of a Jew his Brother.] Keep them in ſervice. See the phraſe, chap. 27.7. and 30.8.

V. 10. Now when all the Princes, and all the people, which had entred into the covenant, had heard, that every one ſhould let his man-ſervant, and every one his maid-ſervant, go free, that none ſhould ſerve themſelves of them any more, then they obeyed, and let them go.] Being by Gods Prophets enformed of their duty herein, they condeſcended thereunto; as verſe 9. Heb. And they heard, &c.——and they heard (for, when they heard—— as chap.26.10. then they obeyed, as chap.35.8.) and diſmiſſed; a defect of the pronoun, as chap.31.5.

V. 11. But afterwards they turned, and cauſed the ſervants, and the hand-maids, whom they had let go free, to return, and brought them into ſubjection for ſervants, and for hand-maids.] Heb. And (as chap.12.2.) after ſo (as Chap. 16.16.) After they had thus done in the time of their ſtraits; when the ſtraitneſſe of the ſiege was for ſome time intermitted, the Chaldeans riſing in likelihood to meet the Egyptian army, that came to raiſe the ſiege and to relieve the city, ſuppoſing themſelves now to be ſafe enough, and imagining that the Chaldeans would not return to the ſiege again, they repented them of what they had formerly well done; as Pharao did of diſmiſſing the Iſraelites, Exod. 14.5. and brought them back into bondage again, verſe 16. See the term here uſed, Neh.5.5. 2 Chr.28.10.

V. 12. Therefore the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah from the Lord, ſaying,] Or, Then; as chap.43.8. that word, whereof before, verſe 8. which now here followeth: and it containeth, 1. A relation of a Law enacted by God concerning the diſmiſſion of their ſervants after a certain term of years, Verſe 13,14. 2. A narration of the violation of this Law; together with a reformation of the offence therein committed, Verſe 14,15. 3. A revolt from this their temporary reformation, Verſe 16. and 4. A denunciation of dreadfull judgments to be inflicted upon them for this their relapſe and breach of covenant with God, Verſe 17——22,

V. 13. Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael;] As ver.2.

I made a covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of bondmen, ſaying;] Heb. I cut a covenant (as ver.8.) with your fathers (and you in them, Deut.5.2,3. & 29.10——15.) in the day (about the time; as Chap.7.22.) of my bringing them forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of Servants; as Exod.20.2. where ye were no better then as bondmen and ſervants, Exod. 1. 11——14. and he ſeems the rather to mention this their ſervice and bondage here, thereby to imply the equity of the Law here ſubjoyned, that ſince God had freed them from the condition of bondmen, it was not meet for them to make bondmen of their brethren, Deut.15.15. nor to make ſlaves of thoſe, whom God had ſet free, Lev.25.39,42.

V. 14. At the end of ſeven years let ye go every man his brother an Hebrew, which hath been ſold unto thee:] Or, that hath ſold himſelf unto thee, Lev.25.29. Deut.15.12. for theſe paſſives have oft-times a reciprocal notion; as chap.23.24.

At the end of ſeven years,] That is, ſix years being fully compleat, (as it is in the next words) at the beginning of the ſeventh, Exod.21.2. Deut.15.12. and the Jewiſh Doctors well obſerve, that the word here uſed, includeth either term, or utmoſt limit of ought, whether that whence it beginneth, as that wherewith it is cloſed up and concluded, 2 King.19. 23. chap.50.26.

let ye go] Heb. ye ſhall diſmiſſe. See on ver.14. and, a man, for, every one; as there.

and when he hath ſerved thee ſix years thou ſhalt let him go free from thee:] Heb. and he hath ſerved thee,—— and thou ſhalt diſmiſſe him, for, when he hath ſerved thee, thou ſhalt then diſmiſſe him; as before, ver.10.

but your fathers hearkened not unto me, neither enclined their ear.] So Chap.7.24.

V. 15. And you were now turned,] Heb. Ye had turned to day: as, Ye have rebelled to day, Joſh.22.18.

and had done right in my ſight,] Or, that which is right in my ſight; which I approve of: as Deut.13.18. & 21.9.

in proclaiming liberty every one to his neighbour,] Or, one to another; as Gen.11.3. See verſe 8.

and ye had made a covenant before me] Heb. cut a covenant to my face. Ye had by a ſolemn covenant in my preſence (Pſal.42.2.) engaged your ſelves to perſiſt in the obſervation of what ye had done. See ver.8.

in the houſe which is called by my name.] Heb. whereupon my name is called: in the Temple that beareth my name, chap.7. 10. & 32.34.

V. 16. But ye turned,] Or, But ye have turned back; or, are revolted; as chap.8.5. Heb. And, as ver.11.

and polluted my name,] Or, have polluted my name; have grievouſly wronged and abuſed me, by breach of your covenant ſo ſolemnly plighted in my preſence. So Lev. 19.12. Exod.20.39. & 22.26. Mal.1.7,12.

and cauſed every man his ſervant, and every man his hand-maid, whom he had ſet at liberty at their pleaſure, to return; and brought them into ſubjection, to be unto you, for ſervants, and for hand-maids.] Or, and have cauſed each one his ſervant, and his hand-maid, whom ye had let go free (as ver. 10.) according to their deſire, (as Deut.21.14.) to return (unto ſervice) and have brought them into ſubjection to become your ſervants and hand-maids again. See verſe 11.

V. 17. Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, ye have not hearkened unto me in proclaiming liberty every one to his brother, and every man to his neighbour:] That is, one to another; as chap.23.35. Ye have not done it, becauſe ye have not perſiſted in it, but have wickedly undone again, what ye had done: whereby it appeareth, that ye did it not in ſincerity. So Pſal. 78. 8, 34——37. Hoſ.6.1,4. So reconcile 1 Sam.28.6. with 1 Chr. 10.14. and 2 Kings 17.ver.33. with ver.34.

behold I proclaim a liberty for you to the ſword, and to the peſtilence, and to the famine,] I will give the ſword, famine and peſtilence (chap.15.2.) free liberty to ſeize upon you, to ſubdue you, to over-maſter you; thus is God wont to execute judgment by a kind of retaliation. See Eſay 66.5. chap.14.16.

and I will make you to be removed into all the Kingdomes of the earth.] Heb. I will give you for a removal unto all the Kingdoms of the earth, Deut.28.64. chap.15.1. & 24.9. & 29.18.

V. 18. And I will give the men that have tranſgreſſed my covenant, which have not performed the words of the covenant, which they had made before me, when they cut the Calf in twain, and paſſed between the parts thereof,] Heb. the covenant which they cut before me; as ver.8,15. So that by theſe and the like religious rites of divine inſtitution, God and man do interchangeably ſeal either to other; and man covenanteth with God, as well as God with man; Exod.24.8. Pſal.50.5. Joh.3. 33. Rom.4.11. And we ſee the ground of that phraſe, of cutting out a covenant; alluding to that ſolemn rite of dividing the body of ſome ſlain beaſt for ſacrifice, and paſſing thorow the ſides of it lying apart, as confeſſing themſelves worthy, and in way of execration (whence the oath and the curſe, Neh.10.29.) thereunto, devoting themſelves to be ſo cut in twain, (Matth.24.51.) and deſtroyed, as that creature was, if they ſhould violate the covenant that then they made. See ſomewhat the like ceremony in Gods covenanting with Abraham, Gen.15.10,17. and the like alſo among the Heathen, in making of ſolemn leagues and agreements. See in Homers Iliads, l.3. Virgils Eneides, l.8. Tully of invention, l.2. Livy, his hiſtory, l.1. Some read the words, I will make the men that have tranſgreſſed my covenant (which they made one with another, but before me, and concerning a branch of my covenant with them, Ver.8.13,15.) —— as the calf (the note of ſimilitude inſerted, as Chap.26.18.) which they cut in twain; and a learned late Interpreter thus digeſteth them, I will give the men that tranſgreſſed my covenant, and that have not performed the words, or, contents, (as Eſt. 9.31.) of the covenant, and of the calf which they cut in two; and therewith obſigned the ſame: and the tenour of the context inclineth much this way.

V. 19. The Princes of Judah, and the Princes of Jeruſalem, the Eunuchs, and the Prieſts, and all the people of the land, that paſſed between the parts of the calf,] All ſorts reckoned up, that none may hope to eſcape, having dealt all alike perfidiouſly in their covenant.

V. 20. I will even give them into the hand of their enemies; and into the hand of them that ſeek their life,] So Chap. 21.7. & 22.25.

V. 21. And Zedekiah King of Judah and his Princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek their life, and into the hand of the King of Babylons army, which are gone up from you.] Or, departed from you; as Exod.12.38. chap.37.5. having upon the coming of ſome Egyptian ayds raiſed their ſiege for a ſhort time, Chap. 37.5, 11. but not long after returned again, as the Prophet alſo fore-told that they ſhould, chap 37.8. verſ. 22. and left not the city untill they ſurpriſed it.

V. 22. Behold, I will command, ſaith the Lord, and cauſe them to return to this city, and they ſhall fight againſt it, and take it, and burn it with fire.] I will by a ſecret and hidden, but efficacious, providence and diſpoſal, cauſe them to come back and do all this; as if I had given them an expreſs charge and command ſo to do. CHAP. XXXV.

Verſ.1. THe word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, in the dayes of Jehojakim the ſon of Joſiah King of Judah, ſaying;] See the like inſcriptions, Chap.11. & 18. & 21. This Chapter containeth a narration of the Rechabites preciſe abſtinence from wine, in obedience to the charge given them by their fore-father Rechab, ver.1—12. here related, to control and aggravate the diſobedience of Gods people to his commands, ver, 12—15. together with a denunciation of evil to the one, ver.16, 17. and a promiſe of bleſſing to the other, ver.18, 19.

V. 2. Go unto the houſe of the Rechabites,] Thoſe of the family of Rechab, which were by original Kenites, deſcended from Jethro, or Hobab, Moſes his father in law, Judg.1.16. & 4.11. they were called Rechabites from one Rechab, a man, it ſeems, of ſpecial note among them in his times, 1 Chron.2. 55. 2 King.10. 15. being forreigners they had no poſſeſſion among Gods people, but lived upon their employments, ver.7.

and ſpeak unto them, and bring them into the houſe of the Lord, into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drink.] Under the name of the Lords houſe are comprehended all the buildings that were about the Temple, among which were chambers, wherein the Prieſts lodged, and wherein were beſtowed the holy veſtments, the oblations, and other the like neceſſaries, 1 Chr.28.11, 12. 1 King.6.5, 6, 10. 2 Chr.3. 11. Ezek. 4.17, 44, 46. & 41.6. & 42.13. thither would God have them brought rather then unto ſome more obſcure and private place, that the more notice might be taken of it.

give them wine to drink] Heb. thou ſhalt make, or, do thou make them drink wine; that is, offer them wine, tender it to them; and that is all he did, ver.5.

V. 3. Then I took Jaazaniah the ſon of Jeremiah, the ſon of Habaziniah, and his brethren, and all his ſons, and the whole houſe of the Rechabites;] Or, So I took; as chap.13.2, 5. Heb. And.

V. 4. And I brought them into the houſe of the Lord, into the chamber of the ſons of Hanan, the ſon of Igdaliah a man of God,] This Hanan ſome ſuppoſe to be that Hanani mentioned, 2 Chr.16.7. but that is uncertain, and not very probable; for, whether the title of a man of God (given uſually to Prophets and Teachers of Gods people, Deut.33.1. Pſal.90.1. 1 Tim.6.11.) belong here unto Hanan, or unto Igdaliah, is ſomewhat doubtful. Whoever he was, theſe his ſons it ſeemeth were of the courſe of thoſe that waited and ſerved that week. See 1 Chr. 24. 5, 6. & 25. 1, 2, &c. 2 Chron. 23. 4, 8.

which was by the chamber of the Princes] That is, ſay ſome, where the rich gifts were diſpoſed; or their treaſure for ſafety kept, 2 King.18 15. or, rather, where they uſed to meet, to conſult together of publick affairs. See chap.26.10, 17. though others underſtand it of the chief of the Prieſts of the courſe that then miniſtred; or thoſe that were next under the high Prieſt. See 2 Chr.23.4. chap.20.1.

which was above the chamber of Maaſeiah the ſon of Shallum] For the chambers were built with divers ſtories one over another, Ezek.41.5, 6. See on Eſay 6.1.

the keeper of the door] Heb. threſhold; as Ezek.43.8. and the title of Keepers of, or, attendants at the threſhold, is commonly given to porters, or, dore-keepers, 1 Chr. 9. 19. 2 Chr. 34. 9. Howbeit, the Jewiſh Commenters here render it, the Keeper of the veſſel; in likelyhood, becauſe the word is ſometime uſed for veſſels, cups, baſons, or, bowls, Exod.12.22. 2 King.12.14. See 1 Chr.9.28, 29. and the Chaldee both here, and 2 King.12. 10. & 22.4. the treaſurer, as being one of thoſe ſeven Chamberlines, or Treaſurers, that kept the keyes of the ſacred treaſurer; the word being uſed as for a threſhold, or, tranſom, firſt, then for a dore, and after for a chamber; and thence the Kings Chamberlines ſo termed, Eſt.2.21. & 6.2. See on Eſay 6.4.

V. 5. And I ſet before the ſons of the houſe of the Rechabites pots full of wine and cups, and ſaid unto them, Drink ye wine] He inviteth them to drink it, to try what they would do: Yet ſaith not to them, Thus ſaith the Lord, Drink wine: for then they ought not to have refuſed it; but the end of the tender was by their refuſall out of obedience to their anceſtors charge, to convince and condemn the Jewiſh people for their diſobedience to Gods commands, ver.16.

pots full of wine, and cups] Pots containing ſome large quantity of wine; for it hath affinity with a term that ſignifies an hill, or, hillock; and cups to pour it out into, and ſo drink it: but becauſe the former word is uſed for a drinking cup as well as the latter, Gen. 44.2. I ſuppoſe there is a trajection in the words, and it is all one, as if he had ſaid, bowls and cups full of wine. See the like hereunto before, Chap. 32. 9, 11.

V. 6. But they ſaid, we will drink no wine:] Heb. And (as chap.30.9.) they ſaid, we will not drink wine, or, we may not; as, that ſhall not be done, for, that ought not to be done, Gen. 20.9.

for Jonadab the ſon of Rechab our father commanded us, ſaying,] Our father, that is, our anceſtor, or progenitor; for this Jonadab lived in Jehues time, 2 King.10.15. between two and three hundred years before Jeremies dayes: Nor is that learned mans argument convincing with me, who would hence evince, that this Jonadab ſhould be one that lived in or about Jeremies time, becauſe they call him their father, and ſay, Our father commanded us: your father Abraham, ſaith our Saviour to the Jewes, Joh.8.56. and, what did Moſes command you? to thoſe that then lived, Mar. 10.3. and how the one Baſhur is called the ſon of Immer, and the other of Melchiah, ſee on chap.20.1. & 2.1.

Ye ſhall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your ſons for ever;] Why Jonadab enjoyned his iſſue this ſtrict courſe of life, is queſtionable. Some ſuppoſe, to keep them in that courſe, that they had followed, while they lived in the land of Midian, where they gave themſelves to a ſhepherds life, living in tents, and tending their flocks, not planting of vines, nor drinking wine, which the country yielded not; but contenting themſelves with ſuch ſuſtenance as their flocks afforded, Exod.2.16. & 3.1. Judg.4.17, 19. Others, becauſe having no inheritance in the land, being but ſtrangers therein, they were to live upon their employments, and ſhould not therefore look to live in ſo free and plentiful a manner, as thoſe that had lands and revenues yearly coming in. Others, that he would thereby enure them to hardſhip, as by a prophetical ſpirit foreſeeing thoſe calamities, that ſhould in proceſs of time befall thoſe among whom they lived. But theſe things being but mere conjecture, it is not eaſie certainly hereof to define ought.

neither ye, nor your ſons] Heb. ye, and your ſons; as, ye and your fathers, chap.16.13. and, the King and his ſervants, chap. 36.24.

V. 7. Neither ſhall ye build houſe, nor ſow ſeed, nor plant vineyard, nor have any; but all your dayes, ye ſhall dwell in tents;] The words of the charge may well all be rendred in the imperative, for which the future is frequently uſed, Drink not wine, nor build houſe, &c. but dwell in tents all your dayes; all your life long; as Deut.11.1. & 12.1.

that ye may live many dayes in the land where ye be ſtrangers] Heb. on the face of the land (as Gen.6.1.) which ye are ſojourning there, or, wherein ye ſojourn; as 2 Sam.4.3. for they were by original Kenites, or Midianites, not of the line or linage of Iſrael. This promiſe of lengthning their dayes ſubjoyned, ſome refer to that bleſſing annexed by God to the preceps of obedience to parents, Exod.20.12. Epheſ.6.2. Others, rather, ſuppoſe herein to be intended, that by retaining ſuch a courſe of life, they were like to live the longer in a ſtrange country peaceably and quietly, free from envy and grudge of the natives of the land, who are not wont ſo well to brook the growth and greatneſs of ſtrangers among them, but are thence moved many times to ſeek the rooting of them out, Exod.1.9, 10. But whatſoever the ground of the injunction was, or whatſoever the end aimed at in it, they had been, and ſtill were very careful to obſerve it.

V. 8. Thus have we obeyed the voice of Jonadab the ſon of Rechab our Father,] Heb. And (which would rather be here retained) hearkned to the voice; as chap.7.23.

V.19. Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Jonadab, the ſon of Rechab ſhall not want a man to ſtand before me for ever.] Heb. There ſhall not be cut off a man of, or, unto, Jonadab the ſon of Rechab ſtanding before me all the days. See the like forms of ſpeech, ch.33.17,18. intimating, that either his poſterity ſhould not be utterly rooted out, but continue in being, and conſequently in Gods ſight, as are all things that have any exiſtence, Pſal.89.36.& 139.7. Prov.15.3. ſee chap. 31.36. for to expound it, as ſome, of continuance in Gods favour; as Gen. 17. 18. there is no neceſſity: or that they ſhould not fail of ſome conſtant employment about the ſacred offices concerning the Law (as the phraſe ſometime importeth a ſpecial attendance, Deut.10.8. 1 King.10.8. & 17.1.) which as ſome have not improbably ſuppoſed that they might have, becauſe it is reported of them that they were Scribes, and given to the ſtudy of literature, 1 Chr.2.55. ſo long as that State, either civil, or ſacred, ſhould ſtand: for with reſtriction and relation to the continuance of thoſe things, whereupon the matter mentioned dependeth, are the like forms of perpetuity commonly conceived and ſo to be underſtood. See Gen.17.13. Exod.21.6. Num.18.8. But what ſome others add out of Euſebius his Eccleſiaſtical hiſtory, l.2.c. 22. from Hegeſippus, that theſe Rechabites ſhould be Prieſts, and that one of them, a Prieſt, being preſent at the murther of James the Juſt, ſhould reprove them for ſo doing, is of no probability, but ſeems a frivolous ſuppoſition, and groundleſs relation: for what part or portion could ſtrangers, as they were, have in the Prieſthood, Num.3.10. Nor ſeemeth that ſurmiſe of one of the Rabbines probable, that ſome of the Prieſts or Levites marrying of their daughters, ſome of their iſſue in proceſs of time might come to be Prieſts: for the words ſeem to imply continuance in ſome preſent employment (if ſuch a notion they be reſtrained) and to a conſtant ſucceſſion therein. And as unlikely is that which a learned Writer ſuggeſteth, that theſe Rechabites, in Jeremies dayes, ſhould begin a new courſe of combining themſelves into a body, and engaging themſelves to a conſtant attendance on the Temple-ſervice in ſuch manner, as did Anna the Propheteſs, Luk.2.37. and to a free contributing thereunto; and that therefore it was, that they did forbear the uſe of wine, becauſe they were daily to frequent the Temple; for that Law concerned the Prieſts onely, and then onely when they went in to do ſervice, Lev.10.9. Ezek.44.21. Nor is there any ground, or probability of ſuch their perpetuall and generall reſort to the Temple-ſervice, living ordinarily in Tents abroad out of the city, ver.7,10.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Verſ.1. AND it came to paſs in the fourth year of Jehojakim the ſon of Joſiah King of Judah, that this word came to Jeremiah from the Lord, ſaying,] The charge mentioned here to Jeremiah, ſeemeth to have been given him toward the latter end of this fourth year of Jehojakim (ſee ver.9.) and in likelyhood conſequently to have been later then thoſe related, Chap. 25. and 35. Heb, it was that this word was; as ch.1.2.& 31.28. The Chapter containeth firſt, a charge given by God unto Jeremy to gather together, and engroſs in one volum, the ſum of all the Sermons, that he had delivered from his firſt entrance upon his prophetical function unto the time preſent, ver.2,3. 2 Jeremies performance of it by the help of Baruc his Scribe, ver. 4. 3 Baruc's publiſhing of it by the Prophets appointment in the Temple upon a ſolemn faſt-day, ver.5—10. and after again upon occaſion, at the Court in the Scribes chamber before the Princes, ver. 11—15. 4 The effect it had upon thoſe that there heard it, and their acquainting the King with it, ver.16-20. 5 The Kings hearing ſome part of it read, and thereupon cutting it in pieces, and burning it in the fire, and giving order to apprehend Baruc and Jeremy, ver. 21—26. 6 A ſecond charge given the Prophet to write a new roll with further additionals to the former, ver. 27, 28, 32. together with a dreadful denunciation againſt Jehojakim for his burning of the other, ver 29—31.

V. 2. Take thee] An elegant redundancy; as Eſay 8.1.& ſo ver.28.

Yet herein, as is ſuppoſed differing from theſe, in that not faſtened all the ſheets together, as they at the head; but either glewed, or ſowed up ſheet after ſheet, the head of the ſheet following to the tail of the foregoing, as our long Inventories [illegible] are, and ſo rolled up the whole body of it from the head of [illegible] firſt ſheet to the end of the laſt. See Eſay 34. 4.

V. 4. Then Jeremiah called Baruch the ſon of Neriah ; and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the Lord, which he had ſpoken unto him upon a roll of a book.] Then; Heb. And; as chap.29.12. upon (as Joſh.10.13. ſo ver.18.) a roll of a book. See on ver.2. Jeremy made that uſe of Baruc, as Paul did of Tertius, Rom.16.22.

V. 5. And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, ſaying, I am ſhut up, I cannot go into the houſe of the Lord:] Or, I am detained, or, reſtrained, (as 1 Sam.21.5. 2 Chron.20.37.) ſo that I cannot go into the houſe of the Lord : a defect of the particle ; as chap. 18. 16. Eſay 63. 13. what the occaſion of Jeremies reſtraint was at preſent, is not certainly known. One of the Rabbines ſaith, he was ſhut up in priſon ; but that ſeemeth otherwiſe : for what needed the King then to give order for the apprehenſion of him ? ver.26. Others ſay he was commanded by the King to keep his houſe. But neither doth this ſeem to ſort well with the advice given by the Princes for Baruch and him to hide themſelves, ver.19. Others, that he durſt not go abroad, or be ſeen in publike for fear of the King, whoſe cruel diſpoſition he was well acquainted with, chap. 26. 20—23. But this the ſtory in that Chapter related ſufficiently refelleth. Others ſuppoſe, that by ſome Eccleſiaſtical cenſure he might be reſtrained ; and others, again, by ſome legall pollution : and others, laſtly, by ſome ſpecial inhibition from God , or ſecret intimation from his Spirit : as was Paul, Act. 16. 6,7. But ſufficient light of information herein failing us, there can be no certain determination of ought.

V. 6. Therefore go thou and read in the roll] Heb. And (as chap.29.27.) thou ſhalt go, and ſhalt read ; as, thou ſhalt write, ver.2.

V. 7. It may be they will preſent their ſupplication before the Lord,] Heb. their ſupplication will fall to the face (or, in the preſence) of the Lord : an alluſion to the dejected geſture of perſons that come to ſeek for mercy, Deut.9.25. Matth. 26.39.

for great is the anger and the fury that God hath pronounced againſt this people.] Or, denounced. Heb. ſpoken ; as chap.35.17. See chap.32.37. Zach.7.12.

V. 8. And Baruch the ſon of Neriah did according to all that Jeremiah the Prophet commanded him : reading in the book the words of the Lord, in the Lords houſe.] Heb. to read ; as chap.35.8. to drink. See before, ver.6.

V. 9. And it came to paſs in the fift year of Iehojakim the ſon of Ioſiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, that they proclaimed a faſt before the Lord to all the people in Ieruſalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah unto Ieruſalem.] Or, For (as chap.23.22.) ſo it was (ver.1.) in the fift year of Iehojakim (in the beginning of that year of his reign, the year after that, wherein this charge was given Jeremy, ver. 1, 2. the length of the matter to be written in the roll, requiring ſome time for the engroſſing of it, or it being on purpoſe reſerved till then) in the ninth moneth (not of that year of his reign, but from the ordinary beginning of the year then current) that (a defect of the particle, as ver.1.) a faſt was proclaimed (for the verb is indefinite ; as chap.6.30.) to be held before the Lord in his Temple at Jeruſalem ; as they ſold Ioſeph to be carryed into Egypt, Act.7.9. as well for other the people of Judah, as for thoſe that dwelt there. See on verſe 6. This was not the ordinary yearly faſt enjoyned in the Law, Lev.23.27. for that was kept on the tenth day of the ſeventh moneth, anſwering to part of our September, and part of our October , whereas this was held in the ninth moneth, which comprehended part of our November, and part of our December, called Chiſleu, Zach. 7.1. two moneths later then that; and was therefore proclaimed upon ſome extraordinary occaſion , whether of that long and great drought and dearth, thence proceeding, mentioned, Chap.14.1,2. whereof ſome intimation ſeemeth there, verſe 12. or upon ſome fear of a new invaſion by forrein forces, Jehojakim having been ſometime before compelled to ſubmit unto the King of Babylon, and to hold from him, Dan.1.1. 2 King.24.1. from whom yet not long after he began to revolt, and thereby encenſed him againſt him, 2 King. 24.1. For that ſeemeth to me nothing probable, which yet ſome ſuggeſt, that the faſt ſhould be to bewail the calamities that had formerly befallen them, in the ſiege, and ſurpriſal of the city, in the latter part of Jehojakims third year, and entrance of his fourth, a twelvemoneth, or more it may be, before ; Nor doth that inſtance of thoſe faſts, Zach.7.3, 5. come home here : for their captivity, and the ſtate of their city, Temple and Land, did all that while ſtill continue the ſame. But I encline rather to that firſt of famine by drought, which might be further alſo encreaſed much by the ſpoyl made in the late invaſions.

V, 10. Then read Baruch in the book,] Heb. And (which may well be here retained) Baruch read in the book ; as ver. 8.

See Jeremies Charge to Baruc, ver.6. and the words following, which expreſly controll it.

Howbeit, there want not thoſe, who by the upper court, here underſtand the peoples court ; yet not ſimply or abſolutely , but that part of it wherein the men or males met, ſo termed in relation to the other part of it wherein the women uſed to aſſemble, being lower much then the other : but whether any ſuch diſtinct court were ſo ancient or no, is uncertain : theſe Authors themſelves acknowledging, that this lower court for the women, was not at the firſt built by Solomon.

in the ears of all the people.] Or, hearing, as ver.6.

V. 11. When Micajah the ſon of Gemariah the ſon of Shaphan had heard out of the book all the words of the Lord;] Or, Now when Micajah had heard. Heb, And Micajhu (as Jam- jahu, chap.1.1.) heard (but the copulative hath oft a double notion. as chap.13.12. & 34.10. or in this ſyntax the one may be fetcht hither from the head of the next branch, verſe 12.) from off the book all the words of the Lord; as ver.6.

V. 12. Then he went down into the Kings houſe] Or, He went to the Kings houſe; the copulative hence taken into the former branch for the clearer expreſſion in our language. And he heard———and he went, for, And, or, Now, (as chap. 30.4.) when he had heard,———he went; as chap.26.10. Now when they heard,——— they came.

went down into the Kings houſe] Or, went (ſimply, ſee on chap.26.10.) to the Kings houſe: the particle is wanting; as chap.22.1.

and Delaiah the ſon of Shemajah, and Elnathan the ſon of Achbor, and Gemariah the ſon of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the ſon of Hananiah, and all the Princes.] That is, the reſt of them, as chap.39.13. and as, all the houſes, chap.52.13. of one of theſe, ſee chap.26.22. of other of them, verſe 25.

V. 13. Then Micajah declared unto them all the words that he had heard, when Baruch read the book in the ears of the people.] Heb. And. (which may well be retained) and, words, for, things; as Chap.26.2. (for if he had related all the words that he ſpake, they ſhould not have needed to ſend for the roll; nor was his memory ſo good) and, read in the book, as verſe 10. and, ears, for, hearing, as there. Now for what end Micajah did this is uncertain; whether out of a malicious diſpoſition to cauſe the Prophet and his Scribe to be queſtioned, as Shemajah, chap.29.24,25. or out of a religious intention, to have ſome courſe taken, if it might be, for the pacifying of Gods wrath, and preventing of the judgment denounced, is not certain: yet the latter ſeemeth the more probable.

V. 14. Therefore all the Princes ſent Jehudi the ſon of Nethaniah, the ſon of Shelamiah, the ſon of Cuſhi unto Baruch, ſaying;] Of this Jehudi, ſee further on verſe 21.

Take in thine hand the roll, wherein thou haſt read in the eares of the people, and come,] Therefore, or, Then; Heb. And. (as ver.4.) and, which thou readeſt in it: an elegant redundancy; as the like, chap.7.14. and, eares, for, hearing; as verſ. 10, 13.

So Baruch the ſon of Neriah took the book in his hand, and came unto them.] Heb. And. as Chap.28.17.

V. 15. And they ſaid unto him, Sit down now, and read it in our eares.] Heb. Sit, for, ſit down, as Eſay 47.1.

So Baruch read it in their ears.] Heb. and; as ver.14. and, ears, as before.

V. 16. Now it came to paſſe,] Heb. And it was; as Verſe 1.

when they had heard all the words,] Or, thoſe words, or, thoſe things; as ver.13. and ſo after again.

they were afraid, both one and other,] Or, that they were afraid, the particle ſupplyed, as ver.1. both one and other; as well bad as good: all of both ſorts were ſtricken alike with terrour and dread; as Act.5.11. or, they were afraid, and looked one upon another: as men aſtoniſhed are wont to do, Eſay 13.8. or, as ſome, they ſpake one to another; or, conſulted one with another; they laid their heads together: but the parallel place ſeems to lead unto the former ſupply. Heb. a man to, or, on his friend, or neighbour; as Chap.34.15. and it is, howſoever, a complexive form, ſuch as ver.9.

and ſaid to Baruch, we will ſurely tell the King all theſe words.] Or, things; as before. Heb. telling tell: as 1 Sam.22.24. Judg. 14.12. to try whether any good might thereby be wrought upon him; for they ſeem to be better affected then either themſelves, or other of them afterward in Zedekiahs time were. See on Chap.38.4.

V. 17. And they asked Baruch, ſaying, Tell us now how didſt thou write all theſe words at his mouth?] Or, How couldſt thou write (in a potential notion; as Chap.2.23.) all theſe words, or, things (as before) from his mouth: for ſo the Hebrew hath it; as Job 22.22.

V. 18. And Baruch anſwered them, He pronounced all theſe words to me with his mouth.] Heb. from his mouth; as ver.17. They ſeem to lay here too much weight upon the words of the text, who following the Latine rendring them, He ſpake them as if he read, would have Baruchs meaning to be, he uttered them as diſtinctly and readily all along, as if he had read them out of a book, whereby it might appear, that they were by an immediate inſtinct of ſpirit ſuggeſted unto him. But the terms of the text imply no more, but that the Prophet dictated unto him, what he ſhould write; in doing whereof, he might well for ought I ſee make uſe of ſuch copies of his Sermons formerly delivered, as he had by him: as alſo he did ſometime in likelihood, not of ſome of his own onely, but of the Sermons of other Prophets alſo that had been before him. See Chap.48.19,43,44. & 51.15——19.

and I wrote them with ink in the book.] Heb. on the book; as Joſh.10.13. and the Jewiſh Doctors criticiſm ſeemeth here over-nice, that would have it to be ſpoken in way of anticipation; for it is not a book, ſaith he, untill it be written in, and written out: as if tables to write on, were not tables, untill ſuch uſe had been made of them: a defect there is of the pronoun; as Chap.34.10.

with ink] The uſual material to write with in thoſe times; not, added here, a sa learned Writer, to intimate, that he did not draw them on ſlate, or in lead, or, on waxed tables; for their own eyes to whom he ſpake ſhewed them the contrary: but intimating only the ordinary manner of doing it.

V. 19. Then ſaid the Princes unto Baruch, Go hide thee, thou and Jeremiah, and let no man know where ye be] Heb. And; as ver.4. and, be hid; the paſſive in a reciprocal notion: as Chap.23.24. & 34.14. They foreſaw that the King might be enraged againſt them, and give order to apprehend them, as he had formerly for Uriah, Chap.26.21. that which alſo he did verſe 25. and they ſeem to have been deſirous of, and carefull for their indemnity and ſafety: the one of them had been formerly employed by the King for the bringing back of Uriah, when he was fled into Egypt, Chap. 26. 22. but it may be had now ſome remorſe for what then he had done. See ver.25. However, it appeareth that Jeremy was not as preſent in cuſtody, as ſome have ſaid. See ver.5.

V. 20. And they went in to the King into the Court,] Into the Inner Court, where his perſonal reſidence uſually was; for the Kings palace was divided into three Courts: the utter, next the ordinary way, the middle, and the inner. See 2 King. 20.4. The Scribes Chamber, and of other principal officers was in likelihood in the middle court, the Kings peculiar lodgings in the innermoſt; for the word court here, as alſo ver.10. comprehendeth not the open court-yard only, as we call it, but the buildings alſo about it.

but they laid up the roll in the chamber of Eliſhama the Scribe,] Becauſe uncertain whether the King would deſire to ſee it or no.

and told all the words in the ears of the King.] Acquainted the King with the main ſum and ſubſtance of the ſubject matter that it contained. See the like forms, Verſe 13.

V. 21. So the King ſent Jehudi to fetch the roll,] Heb. And. as ver.14. and, to take the roll, for, to take and bring it; a complexive form; like that, Pſal.78.18. thou haſt taken, or, received gifts, to men; that is, to give to, or, beſtow upon, men; Eph.4.8. & Prov.25.22. thou ſhalt take coals upon his head, that is, take and heap them, Rom.12.22. So Gen.27.9. take me two kids, for, take and bring me: and 1 Sam. 4.3. let us take the Ark from Shilo; that is, take and bring it; or, as we uſe to ſay, fetch it: and ſo we render it not amiſſe both here and there: for that word with us alſo includeth a two-fold notion. See the like forms, Eſay 38. 17, 21. This Jehudi ſeemeth to have been one that was uſually employed as a meſſenger, both by the King and the Princes. See verſe 14. what a learned Writer here ſaith of him, that he was a man much of the Kings own diſpoſition, and one that the King therefore had continually about him, I ſuppoſe is no more then his mere conjecture.

and he took it out of Eliſhama the Scribes chamber;] Took and brought it, as before; for the word is the ſame.

and Jehudi read it] Some part of the matter contained in it; not all, ver.13.

in the ears of the King,] In his hearing; as ver.6,14. and hereafter again.

and in the ears of all the Princes which ſtood by the King.] Attending upon him. Heb. from off; as at ſome convenient diſtance: he ſate, ver.22. they ſtood; as 1 Kings 10,8. See Eſay 6.1,2.

V. 22. Now the King ſate in the winter-houſe,] Heb. And. as Chap.30.4. houſe, or, room; for the manner of Kings and great men was to have houſes or rooms fitted for, and ſuitable to the ſeverall ſeaſons of the year; ſome wider, more open, and airy, to let the wind and freſh air in the more freely, which they made uſe of in the ſummer, Judg.3.20. chap. 22.14. Others, cloſer and warmer, which in winter time they more frequently uſed. See Amos 3.15.

in the ninth moneth] Wherein the faſt had been held; one of their winter moneths. See on ver.9.

and there was a fire on the hearth burning before him.] Heb. only, and the hearth burning before him; that is indeed, fire burning upon it, ver.22. but the particle here uſed, hath no ſuch notion of upon here, but is a note only, as alſo in divers places elſewhere, of that which we call a nominative caſe. So Prov.16.33. Ezek.31.4.

V. 23. And it came to paſſe, that,] Heb. And it was; as verſe 9.

when Jehudi had read three or four leaves] The word properly ſignifies doores; whence rendred in the duall form, two leaved doores, Eſay 45.1. and as we take the word from a leaf of paper, to deſign thereby a board, or, boards, whereof ſuch doores conſiſt. So the Hebrews take from ſuch doores, or, boards, whereof they are made, the word to ſignifie leaves of paper, parchment, or the like, whereof rolls or books are made. So called, ſay ſome, becauſe in figure and ſhape they reſemble ſuch tables or boards. Others, becauſe they are ſhut and opened, as doores are, Eſay 29.11,12. & 34.4. chap. 32.11. Rev.5.1,2. & 6.14. Some learned Interpreters render it leaves, as ours doth: that the Scholiaſt controlleth, becauſe it was a roll, not a book, ſuch as we commonly uſe; and he inſtead thereof ſubſtituteth columns: in my mind more unfitly; ſince the term of columns is uſed commonly for the two moities, or counter-parts (if I may ſo call them) of a page. Another learned man rendreth it, three or four titles of the ſections, into which it was divided. I ſee not why we may not retain, either with ours and others, leaves; or with the old Latine, pages; ſeeing that either word may be uſed, as well of the parcels of a roll; as of a ſtitcht book. Heb. three leaves and four, for, three or four; as Eſay 17.6. four five, by an ellipſis, for, four or five: the copulative in a disjunctive notion: as, father and mother, for, father or mother, Exod.21.15. and a trajection withal, three leaves or four, for, three or four leaves: as, ſeven ſhekels and ten, for, ſeventeen ſhekels, Chap.32.9.

he cut it with the pen-knife] he, to wit, the King; the pronoun for the noun: as, he went, for, the King went, 2 Kings 25.4. not Jehudi that read it, but Jehojakim to whom he read; taking it out of his hands, and not enduring to hear any more of it, ver. 29. Heb. he tore it with the Scribes knife, or, raſor; as it is rendred, Pſal.52.2. Eſay 7.20. ſuch as the Scribes uſed to make or mend their pens with, and to race out ought in any roll or writing, when occaſion was ſo to do.

and caſt it into the fire that was on the hearth, until all the roll was conſumed in the fire that was on the hearth.] A complexive form, as that before, verſe 21. together with a trajection, as before: he caſt it into the fire, and left it on the fire, (ſo is the Hebrew) that was on the hearth until the roll was conſumed; as Chap.24.10.

V. 24. Yet they were not afraid, nor rent their garments,] In token of grief, or fear; as the manner with them was. See Eſay 36.22. & 37.1. See alſo on ver. 27. The Princes feared, the King and his ſervants feared not. See ver.16.

neither the King, nor any of his ſervants,] Heb. the King, and all (for, any, as Chap.40.5.) his ſervants. So Chap.35.6. ye and your ſons; neither ye nor your ſons.

that heard all theſe words.] Or, though they heard all theſe things; as ver.2,13.

V. 25. Neverthleſſe Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah, had made interceſſion to the King, that he would not burn the roll;] Or, And albeit, or, Notwithſtanding that; ſo is the particle uſed, Neh.6.1. Eſay 49.15. And it may be obſerved, that this Elnathan who had before ſo far condeſcended to the Kings pleaſure, to be uſed by him as an inſtrument for the apprehending of Uriah, Chap.26.22. was one of thoſe who now endeavoured to diſſwade and ſtay the King from the burning of Jeremies book. See ver.12,19.

but he would not hear them.] Or, Yet (as Chap.35.14.) he would not hearken to them. Heb. and he hearkened not unto them; being deſperately bent to run on in a godleſſe courſe to his own ruine; as Chap.8.6.

V. 26. But the King commanded Jerahmeel the ſon of Hammelech, and Seraiah the ſon of Azriel, and Shelamiah the ſon of Abdiel to take Baruch the Scribe, and Jeremiah the Prophet.] Heb. And (which may well here be retained) charged (as Deut.3.28) Jerahmeel, or Jerachmeel, the ſon of Hammelech; or, the Kings Son; but it ſeemeth rather to have been a proper name; as Chap.38.6. for it is not likely that the King, though a wicked man, would uſe his own ſons as purſevants, or meſſengers.

but the Lord hid them.] Heb. and; as Chap. 35. 6. God ſuffered them not to be found, having before withdrawn themſelves, by the advice of the Princes, ver.19. God herein ſhewing his care to protect and ſecure his Prophet, according to his promiſe, Chap.1.19. & 15. 21. Though we need not deſcend to ſuch niceties, as the Jewiſh Doctors here do, affirming that God either caſt a miſt about them, or made their eye-ſight fail the kings meſſengers, when they came into thoſe places where they were; as was done with the men of Sodome, Gen.19.11. and with thoſe that came to ſeize on Eliſeus, 2 Kings 6.18. God could many other wayes ſecure them.

V. 27. Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah,] Or, Again the word of the Lord came (Heb. was; as Chap. 1.2.) unto Jeremiah, as Chap.24.4.

(after that the King had burnt the roll, and the words that Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah) ſaying,] Or, with the words; as Chap.26.21. the roll wherein they were written; otherwiſe Gods Word cannot be burnt; no more then it can be bound, 2 Tim.2.9. And the Jewiſh Doctors here dally, after their wonted manner, who becauſe it is ſaid, burnt the roll, and the words, hence gather, that there ſhould have been a two-fold renting of their garments, verſe 24. one for the burning of the parchment, and another for the burning of the writing in it: they might better have ſaid, one for the cutting or rending of it, and another for the burning of it: but theſe are mere fancies.

at his mouth.] Heb. from his mouth; as before, Verſe 4,17,18.

V. 28. Take thee again another roll,] Heb. Return (as Gen. 26.18.) and take thee (as ver.2.) another roll. See ver.18.

and write in it all the former words that were in the firſt roll, which Jehojakim the King of Iudah hath burnt.] Heb. write on it: as ver.4. all the former words, or, things, as ver.13. that were in the firſt roll, or, former; as Eſay 48.3.

V. 29. And thou ſhalt ſay to Jehojakim King of Judah,] Or, And ſay (as Chap.35.13.) unto (as ver.12. chap. 26.5.) or, concerning (as chap.18.8,9.) Jehojakim, ver.30. and thus rather, as the particle doth with words of ſpeech moſt frequently ſignifie, as Eſay 1.1. & 2.1. Chap.16.3. & 49. 1,7. for it is not likely that God would have him to preſent himſelf to Jehojakim, from whom he had taken a courſe to conceal him: but would have him to put theſe things into the new roll, ver.32.

Thus ſaith the Lord, Thou haſt burnt this roll,] Or, Becauſe thou haſt burnt this roll. See the like defect of the cauſall, Chap.30.14. the rather to be ſupplyed here, to make it cohere the more fitly with ver.30.

ſaying, Why haſt thou written therein, ſaying,] Spoken as Jehojakims words, not unlike to thoſe of Zedekiah, Chap.32.3. This, ſay ſome, he would have ſpoken to him, if he could have been found. But God is wont to attribute unto perſons ſpeeches correſpondent to their inward thoughts and imaginations, which he ſeeth and regardeth. See Eſay 14.13. & 47.7. Chap. 2.25. & 6. 16,17.

The King of Babylon ſhall certainly come and deſtroy this land] Heb: ſhall coming come; as Habb.2.3.

and ſhall cauſe to ceaſe from thence both man and beaſt?] See Chap.33.10. that it may keep an exact Sabbath; for thereunto the word alludeth, 2 Chr.36.21.

V. 30. Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, of Jehojakim King of Judah, He ſhall have none to ſit upon the Throne of David;] None of his iſſue ſhall ſit upon it, for any time, worth ſpeaking of: for his ſon Jehojacin, or Jeconiah, reigned but three moneths and ten dayes, 2 Kings 24.8. 2 Chron.36.9. and Zedekiah his Uncle ſucceeded him, 2 Kings 24.17. See chap. 1.1,3. & 22.30. where the like is alſo denounced againſt his ſon Jeconiah. Yet we need not ſo ſtrain the term of ſitting here with a learned late Writer, to have it ſignifie remaining, ſtaying, abiding; as Pſal.9.7. the ſenſe is proper and plain enough, as before: and it is like that, Chap.37.9. the Chaldeans ſhall not depart; and yet they did depart; as is ſaid there, ver.5. but not for any ſpace of time, or to any purpoſe: nor unlike to that of our Saviour concerning Jairus his daughter, the damſel is not dead, Mat.9.24.

and his dead body ſhall be caſt out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the froſt.] Or, to the heat by day, and to the froſt by night: that being ſo expoſed, it may the ſooner putrifie and become the more vile and loathſome; not that his body could be ſenſible of ſuch uſage, or himſelf being deceaſed of ought that ſhould befall his body; but that the ſight of a Kings body in ſuch a condition, ſhould be an hideous ſpectacle, and horrid monument of Gods heavy wrath and indignation againſt him, unto all that ſhould behold it, Eſay 66.24 See the very ſame in effect denounced before againſt him, chap. 22.19.

V. 31. And I will puniſh him, and his ſeed, and his ſervants for their iniquity,] Heb. I will viſit upon him, and his ſeed, and his ſervants, their iniquity. So Chap. 23.34. See Chap. 21.7.

and I will bring upon them, and upon the Inhabitants of Ieruſalem, and upon the men of Iudah, all the evil that I have pronounced againſt them:] See Chap.35.17.

but they hearkned not.] Or, becauſe they would not hear. Heb. and they heard not; but the copulative hath ſometime a cauſative notion: as Eſay 64.5. thou art wroth, and we have ſinned, for, becauſe we have ſinned.

V. 32. Then took Jeremiah another roll, and gave it to Baruch the Scribe the ſon of Neriah, who wrote therein from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the book which Jehojakim king of Judah had burnt in the fire; and there were added beſides unto them many like words.] Or, So Jeremy took, as ver.14. Heb. And. and, wrote upon it; as ver.18. and, many words as they.

Thus dealt God with the roll that Jehojakim burnt; as before with the yoke that Hananiah broke, Chap.28.13,14. and the King gained no more by burning the book, then wicked Princes and people by murthering of Gods Prophets, 2 Chr. 24.21,22,25. Zach.1.5,6. an increaſe of guilt, Chap. 26.19. and an addition of wrath, Eſay 28. 14,22. The Jewiſh Doctors here doat again, who as before by the roll, that Baruch wrote from Jeremies mouth, they would have to be meant the Lamentations of Jeremy; ſo here they tell us, that there were but three alphabets of it in the firſt roll; the reſt were added in this ſecond.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Verſ. 1. AND King Zedekiah the ſon of Joſiah reigned inſtead of Coniah the ſon of Jehojakim,] Or, Now (as Ezr.7.2. chap.29.1. ver.4. becauſe this diſcourſe hath no connexion with, or dependance upon, any foregoing relation) Zedekiah the ſon of Joſiah (ſo ſtyled, to diſtinguiſh him from another Zedekiah, of the ſame time, his Nephew, the ſon of Jehojakim his brother, and brother to Jeconiah, 1 Chron.3. 16.) reigned inſtead of Coniah; that is, Jehojacin or Jeconiah, in contempt ſo termed, Chap.22.24.

whom Nebuchadrezzar King of Babylon made King in the land of Judah.] Heb. made to reign: ſo naming him, whereas before he was called Mattaniah, 2 King.24.17. This relation of Zedekiahs entrance into the royal government, together with the diſobedient carriage of himſelf, his ſervants, and ſubjects, ver.2. is here prefixed to make way for a meſſage, which he was to receive by Jeremy from God, ver.7—10.

V. 2. But neither he, nor his ſervants, nor the people of the land did hearken unto the words of the Lord, which he ſpake by the Prophet Jeremiah.] See 2 Chr.36.12—16. Heb. by the hand of Jeremiah; as Eſay 37.24. Mal.1.1. Chap.50.1.

V. 3. And Zedekiah the King ſent Jehucal the ſon of Shelamiah, and Zephaniah the ſon of Maaſeiah, the Prieſt, to the Prophet Jeremiah, ſaying, Pray now unto the Lord our God for us.] This is related together with ſome circumſtances of the time when it was done, ver.4.5. as giving occaſion of the meſſage enſuing from God. The like addreſſe from the ſame King by one of thoſe here mentioned, and another, to the Prophet. See chap.21.1,2. See there. But thus are the wicked in their diſtreſſes glad to ſeek unto Gods ſervants for their prayers, whoſe wholſome advice yet they refuſe to follow, verſ.2. Chap.38.15. So 2 King.13.6. Act.8.22,24.

V. 4. Now Jeremiah came in, and went out among the people] Heb. And (as chap.36.22.) was coming and going in the midſt of the people; as chap.40.5,10. He went at large, being yet at full liberty.

for they had not put him into priſon.] Or, he was not yet put in priſon: for the verb is indefinite; as Gen.40.15. they have put me in priſon, for, I was put in priſon. Heb. they had not given him (as ver.18.) into the houſe of reſtraint; as Eſay 42. 7. which yet ſhortly afterward they did, ver.15. chap.32.2.

V. 5. Then Pharao's Army was come out of Egypt.] Heb. And. which might here well be retained. Zedekiah was made King of Judah by Nebuchadnezzar, and had ſworn fealty unto him, ver.1. 2 King.24.17. 2 Chr.36.13. but being ſettled in the kingdome, he entred into a ſecret confederacy with Pharao King of Egypt, and revolted from the King of Babylon, Ezek.17.15—18. who thereupon made war upon him, and beſieged him in Jeruſalem, 2 King. 25.1,2. Now Pharao, though he came no more in perſon abroad after the great overthrow given him by Nebuchadnezzar in the reign of Jehojakim, chap.46.2. 2 King.24.7. yet he ſent ſome forces to relieve Zedekiah, and to raiſe the ſiege, if it might be; but all to no purpoſe, Ezek.17.17.

and when the Chaldeans that beſieged Jeruſalem heard tydings of them, they departed from Jeruſalem.] Heb. And the Chaldeans heard——and they went up, or, departed, (as chap.4.7.) from againſt Jeruſalem; to go to meet with the Egyptian forces: but Zedekiah it ſeemeth feared that they might return again; and therefore ſendeth to the Prophet, ver.3. and yet how wretchedly and perfidiouſly they had dealt in their covenants with God, upon the approach of thoſe ayds, ſee chap. 34.15,16,21. The like ſyntax to that in this place, ſee chap. 35.11.

V. 6. Then came the word of the Lord unto the Prophet Jeremiah, ſaying,] Heb. And the word was to him; as chap. 35. 12. And this hath reference to what was before related, concerning the meſſage ſent from the King to the Prophet, ver.3. whereunto an anſwer is now returned; all between this and that, ver.4,5. being as incloſed in a parentheſis.

Thus ſhall ye ſay to the King of Judah,] Or, Thus ſay; as Chap.21.3.

that ſent you unto me to enquire of me:] Or, to ſeek to me; as Eſay 55.6. Ezek.36.37. for his requeſt to the Prophet was to pray for them, ver.12.

Behold, Pharao's Army which is come forth to help you, ſhall return to Egypt into their own land] Not daring to bicker with the Chaldean forces, or not able to ſtand before them, and much leſs able to relieve you, Ezek.17.17. Thus no courſe nor counſel can prevail, or avail ought againſt God, Pſal.33. 10,11,16,17. Prov.21.30,31. Eſay 14.27. & 30.1—6. & 31. 1—3. But what the Talmudiſts here fable of the Egyptian forces coming by ſhipping, and what ſtrange matters God cauſed the ſea to raiſe up, that did affright them, and made them turn back again, is of the ſame ſtamp with other their abſurd and ridiculous figments.

V. 8. And the Chaldeans ſhall return] Having either frighted them away, or worſted them in fight, and ſo put them to flight.

and fight againſt this city, and take it, and burn it with fire.] Chap.32.2,29.

V. 9. Thus ſaith the Lord, deceive not your ſelves] Heb. your ſouls; as Chap.17.21.& 51,6.

ſaying, The Chaldeans ſhall ſurely depart from us:] Heb. Going go (as Judg.4.9.) from againſt us; as ver.5.

for they ſhall not depart.] For any long time; or, ſo as to relinquiſh and give over their ſiege. See of the like, on Ch. 36.30.

V. 10. For though ye had ſmitten the whole army of the Chaldeans that fight againſt you, and there remained but wounded men among them,] Heb. if ye had ſmitten: the conditional in a diſcretive or adverſative notion; as Chap.5.2. & 15.1. and, there remained wounded, or, thruſt thorow; as Chap. 51. 4. for, none but ſuch, or ſuch onely: a defect of the reſtrictive; as Job 8.9. Eccleſ.4.8. or, they were left all thruſt thorow: the general note ſupplyed; as 1 Sam.30.8.

yet ſhould they riſe every man in his tent, and burn this city with fire.] Heb. a man (for, each one; as Chap.36.3.) in his tent they ſhall riſe: the diſcretive wanting; as Chap.15.1, 10. and the noun ſingular with a verb plural in a diſtributive notion; as Chap.36.16. See before, ver. 8. the weakeſt and feebleſt ſhall be able to prevail againſt thoſe whom God will have to be deſtroyed, Eſay 40.29. Chap.49.20.& 50.45.

V. 11, And it came to paſs] Or, Now ſo it was; as Chap. 36. 22, 23. ver. 2. For here beginneth a new relation of a further buſineſs, having no dependance upon the former; wherein is related, firſt, ſome harſh uſages of Jeremy, and his impriſonment, upon his attempt to repair to Anathoth the place of his former wonted abode, ver.11—15. and ſecondly, a private conference that paſſed between the King and him, during the time of his impriſonment, ver.16—21.

that when the Army of the Chaldeans was broken up for fear of Pharao's Army] Heb. when the Army of the Chaldeans was gone up from againſt Jeruſalem (as ver.5.) from the face, or, before, or, becauſe of, Pharao's Army: for howſoever the term here uſed be ſometime not amiſs rendred, for fear of this, or that; as Eſay 21.15.& 31.8. Chap.35.11. yet the word ſignifieth more generally, becauſe of, or, by reaſon of; as Chap.4.4. & 21.12. & 23. 10. and there is no neceſſity therefore ſo to render it here: but it may well be rendred, by reaſon of, or, becauſe of, Pharao's Army; not ſo much it may be, becauſe they ſtood in any great fear of them; whom they had but lately ſhrewdly foiled, Chap.48. 2. and had forced their King to keep in perſon at home, 2 King.24.7. but rather, in likelyhood, to go forth to meet them on the way, and ſo to prevent their neerer approach, that ſo they might the more quietly, and conſtantly, carry on the ſiege afterward, without any diſturbance from abroad.

V. 12. Then Jeremiah went forth, out of Jeruſalem] Or, That, (Heb. And) Jeremiah went forth out of Jeruſalem: taking in here the particle that from ver.11. where it hath no place. So the copulative is familiarly uſed; as Eſay 2.2. Chap.3.9.& 4. 9.& 5.19.

to go into the land of Benjamin] To Anathoth his own Town in that country, Chap.1.1.& 11.21.& 12.6.

to ſeparate himſelf thence in the midſt of the people] The verb here uſed is diverſly expounded, according to its divers and diffident acceptions: it ſignifieth ſometime to divide, or, ſhare, as Deut.4.19. Prov.17.2. and ſo ſome, following the Chaldee, and the old Latine, here take it; he went to divide his poſſeſſion among his people, or to ſhare with the Prieſts at Anathoth, to receive among them his portion accrewing to him. Others, to buy, or get ſome ſhare of bread among his countrymen: And ſome again, to divide, that is, to ſever and withdraw himſelf from the people; which he did not offer to do, ſay ſome, while the Chaldeans lay in ſiege about them, but ſtayed to continue his prayers for them: This our Verſion followeth; and it conſiſteth well with that wiſh of his, Chap. 9.2. But the ground that thoſe give for it is frivolous; there was ſtill as much need of his prayers as ever; and that he himſelf well knew: Beſides that, it is not ſaid, from the people, but amidſt them. Others, from another uſe of the word, in a notion of making ſlick, or, ſmooth, Eſay 41. 7. Chap.23.31. render it, to ſlip away, that is, to get ſlily and ſecretly away, in the midſt of, or, among the people; as Chap.39.14. ver.4. in the throng of thoſe that iſſued out of the city to repair to, and look after, their wonted places of abode, hoping now quietly to enjoy them again, and that they might be in ſafety there: and this ſeemeth moſt probable: But of the ground or end of this attempt of the Prophet, we have no great certainty. Some ſuppoſe with the Jewiſh Doctors, that he did it out of fear to be clapt in priſon, as ſhortly after he was, for his fore-mentioned free language to the Kings meſſengers, ver. 9, 10. Others, becauſe he knew that the city would be taken by the Chaldeans ere long. Others again, becauſe he ſaw that he could do no good upon them, and grew weary therefore of his work and pains with them; as Eſay 49.4. Chap. 20. 8, 9. But to fix ought here is unſafe, unleſs we had ſurer footing.

V. 13. And when he was in the gate of Benjamin] That looked that way, and by which, men paſſed into thoſe parts. See Chap.20.2.& 38.7.

a Captain of the ward was there,] Heb. a maſter, or, owner of over-ſight, or, charge; that is, an over-ſeer: one that had the charge to keep watch and ward there, and to look to it, that none went out to agree or joyn with the enemy; but ſuch onely as had occaſions otherwiſe, whom it was not unlikely that they were content to let return unto the places of their former habitations, to eaſe the burden of the city, much ſhortned of proviſions by the length of the ſiege, having been begirt ſome good ſpace of time already, 2 King.25.1,2.

whoſe name was Irijah the ſon of Shelamiah, the ſon of Hananiah,] Heb. Jirijah: and this Hananiah his Grandfather the Rabbines tell us was that falſe Prophet, whoſe death Jeremy fore-told, Chap. 28. 16, 17. and that upon his death-bed charging Jeremy as the procurer of his end, he gave his ſon Shelemiah withall in charge to be avenged upon him for the ſame, if it lighted in his lot, and that Shelemiah accordingly gave the like charge to his ſon after him, who thereupon out of a ſpite to Jeremy, for his grandfathers quarrel, dealt with him as is here related. But theſe are groundleſs reports of no great probability; nor doth the ſmall diſtance of time between the deceaſe of that Ananias, and this occurrent, afford any great likelyhood of it. See Chap.28.1.

and he took Jeremiah the Prophet,] Or, apprehended; as Ch. 26.8. or, laid hold on him; as 1 King.13.4.

ſaying, Thou falleſt away to the Chaldeans] Heb. thou art falling to the Chaldeans: to fall to them; as, afterward, to go out to them, Chap.38.2. and both together, Chap.21.9.

V.14. Then ſaid Jeremiah, It is falſe,] Heb. And, or, But (as Chap.12.2.) Jeremy ſaid, Falſhood, or, A lie: the abſtract for the concrete; as Chap.27.14.

I fall not away to the Chaldeans.] Heb. I am not falling to the Chaldeans; as before.

but he hearkned not to him:] Heb. And; as before: He would not give credit to him, regarded not his words: being one it ſeems ill-affected towards the Prophet.

So Irijah took Jeremiah, and brought him to the Princes.] Heb. And; as Chap.36.14.

V, 15. Wherefore the Princes were wroth with Jeremiah,] Upon the Captains miſ-information, ver. 14. Heb. And; which may well be here retained; albeit the copulative be alſo ſometime ſo uſed: as Neh.2.2. Eſay 8.2.

and ſmote him] Cauſed him to be ſmitten: as Chap. 39. 6. & 52.10. Act.5.40.& 16,22,27. with 23.2.

and put him in priſon,] Heb. gave him into the houſe, or, place, (as ver.4.) of the bond; as Judg.16.21. Eccleſ.4.14. they were grown now more rough and rigorous againſt him, then in Jehojakims time they had been. See Chap. 26.16. and 36.19.

in the houſe of Jonathan the Scribe] One of the Scribes belonging to the Court, and having his lodgings in ſome part of it, as had alſo Eliſhama under Jehojakim, Chap. 36. 12,30.

for they had made that the priſon] Heb. made that (or, prepared and fitted it; as Gen.28.7.) for an houſe, or, a place, (for the word is very general. See on Gen.28.22.) of reſtraint; as ver.4. a very inconvenient place it ſeemeth to have been for that purpoſe, ver.20. This (beſides that of Paſhur, which was but for a night, Chap.20. 2,3.) ſeemeth to have been the firſt commitment and over-harſh uſage of Jeremy: which ſome deem might befall him through an hand of God, for attempting to withdraw himſelf, and relinquiſh that place, wherein by Gods appointment his office was principally to be performed. See Chap.26.20,21. But ſuch cenſures, unleſs better ground were for them, are not ſafe.

V.16. When Jeremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the cabines;] Heb. when Jeremy was come into the houſe, or, room, or, place, of the pit, or, the hole; as Exod.12.29. and into the cabines, or, cels, or, wards, or, lodges. The Jewiſh Criticks ſome of them tell us, that they were cels or lodges ſituate before the priſon, for the gards, or wards, that kept the priſon to abide in: but it may ſeem rather to ſignifie ſuch ſorry cels or cabines, as the priſoners had to lie in: for the word is with the Talmudiſts ſaid to be uſed commonly for an inne, or lodging, wherein travellers and paſſengers are wont to reſt and repoſe themſelves: for that ſeemeth not agreeable to the preſent relation which ſome other of them have, that by it ſhould be here meant a certain room about the Temple built with hewen ſtone, ſituate without the place of Judicature: whereas it ſeemeth rather to have been about ſome part of the Kings houſe, about the uttermoſt court in likelyhood. See Chap.36.20. ver.17.

and Jeremiah had remained there many dayes.] Heb. ſate, or dwelt; as Chap. 35. 11. & 40. 6. had remained ſome good ſpace of time there: in likelyhood untill the Chaldeans came back again, having repelled, if not diſpelled and diſperſed the Egyptian forces, that were coming to raiſe their ſiege. See ver.29.

V. 17. Then Zedekiah the King ſent and took him out,] Cauſed him to be brought unto him. So Chap.38.14.

and the King asked him ſecretly in his houſe,] In that part of the Court where his own reſidence was. See Chap. 36. 20. ſecretly; for fear of the Princes, whom he was over-much enſlaved unto, Chap.38.5,24,25.

and ſaid, Is there any word from the Lord?] Thus obſtinate and rebellious perſons would fain have ſome word of comfort from him, whom yet they refuſe to be ruled by, and to obey, ver.2. Heb. a word, for, any word: as, a man, for, any man, Chap.23.24. or, any thing, ought: as Chap.26.2.

and Jeremiah ſaid, There is: for, ſaid he,] Heb. and he ſaid; as Pſal.60.11.

thou ſhalt be delivered into the hand of the King of Babylon.] Heb. given: and hand, for power. So chap.24.8.& 32.4.& 34.3.

V. 18. Moreover Jeremiah ſaid unto King Zedekiah,] Heb. And; as chap.33.1.

what have I offended againſt thee, or againſt thy ſervant, or againſt this people, that ye have put me in priſon?] Heb. to thee, and to thy ſervants, and to thy people; as Pſal.51.4. and, for or; as chap.35. 9. and ſo ver.19. and, given me; as ver.4. and, houſe of reſtraint; as ver.15.

V. 19. Where are now your Prophets?] As Chap. 2. 27. Where are your gods? See the like, Judg.9.35. Heb. And where, for, where now; as Judg.6.13.

which propheſied unto you, ſaying, The King of Babylon ſhall not come againſt you, nor againſt this land.] See chap.28.4. and it may well hence be deemed, that by this time the Chaldeans, having defeated the Egyptians, were returned unto the ſiege of the city again. See Chap. 38.2. Elſe it might have been excepted, Why you ſee yet, that they are gone again, and have not prevailed.

V. 20. Therefore hear now, I pray thee, O my Lord, the King,] Heb. And now: which may well be retained. Nor is it unworthy our obſervation, both how free and plain the Prophet is in delivering of Gods errand, ver.17. and yet withall how ſubmiſs and humble in his addreſſes otherwiſe concerning himſelf to his Soveraign, notwithſtanding the hard uſages that he had through his default unjuſtly ſuſtained, and did ſtill ſuſtain for the faithfull diſcharge of his duty: therein directly oppoſite to thoſe, of whom, Jude, ver.8,16.

Let my ſupplication, I pray thee, be accepted before thee] Heb. let my ſupplication fall before thee; as chap. 36. 7. & 42. 2. Give me leave humbly to preſent my ſupplication in thy preſence; as Pſal.119.170.

that thou cauſe me not to return to the houſe of Jonathan the Scribe] Heb. and cauſe me not to return. Of this place, ſee above, ver.15.

leſt I die there.] The place being ſo vile and noiſome: wherein he could not but have endured much annoyance already, having been no ſmall ſpace of time there. See ver.16.

V. 21. Then Zedekiah the King commanded] Or, So he commanded: according to the Prophets requeſt, ver. 20. Heb. And; as ver.14.

that they ſhould commit Jeremiah into the Court of the priſon] Removing him from that hole, and thoſe cels, in which before he was couped up, ver.16. unto a place, where he might have freſher air and more liberty, and his friends freer acceſs to him, chap.38.1. Of this place, ſee on chap.32.2. Heb. and they committed him: yet our Engliſh Verſion may well ſtand. See the like, Joſh.24.9. Mal.1.9.

and that they ſhould give him daily a piece of bread] Heb. and to give him daily a piece of bread: as the Chaldee rendreth it, both here and elſe-where: or, a morſell of bread; as our Engliſh rendreth it, 1 Sam.2.36. and it may not amiſs be rendred, Prov.6.26. & 28. 21. But it may rather, I ſuppoſe, be here rendred, a loaf; and ſo the Greek after this manner for want of that variety, which our Engliſh affordeth, a bread, both here, and 1 Chr. 16. 3. as alſo in divers places of the New Teſtament, as Mat. 14.17. Luk. 11.5. Ioh. 6.9. 1 Cor. 10.17. (in which place alſo in our Engliſh, one loaf, would do better) the old Latine rendreth it, a wreath, or, roll; and that the word doth ſignifie a loaf, and that as the notation of it ſeems to imply, a round one, and that of ſome bigneſs (for it hath neer affinity with a term that is uſed for a talent, or great lump of lead, or other metal, Zach. 5. 7.) appeareth by Exod. 29. 23. where Moſes is willed at the conſecration of Aaron to take out of the basket one ciccar (the word here uſed) that is, ſaith the Jewiſh Critick, one great round loaf; the quantity whereof he thence gathereth, becauſe it is diſtinguiſhed from the oily cake, and the wafer, or the thinner, or broader ſort of cakes, ſuch as we call cracknels: as alſo by that place, 1 Chron. 16. 3. for howſoever that which is called ciccar, a loaf there, is termed a cake of bread, 2 Sam. 6.19. yet being the Kings dole, and having a fair piece of fleſh, and a flagon of wine joyned with it, it could not but be a loaf of ſome bigneſs: and ſuch a loaf, though not ſo great, but according as the ſcarcity of the time and place then afforded; yet a loaf, not a piece of one, was that in likelyhood, that the King willed to be aſſigned for the Prophets daily allowance, ſo long as any remained of the publike ſtore in the city. Howbeit, if a piece of a loaf, not a whole one ſhould be meant, it might have reference to ſuch quarters of loaves as were in common uſe among the Romanes, which being made of ſome bigneſs, but after the faſhion of our buns, were at table uſually divided into four quarters, whereof each took one: whence the by-word with them, of living on another mans quadra, not trencher, as by many it is miſtaken; but bread, or, quarter. But I adhere rather to the former.

out of the bakers ſtreet] That were ſet on work to bake out of the publike ſtores for the relief of thoſe that wanted.

untill all the bread in the city were ſpent.] Thus God made the King himſelf, though no friend to him, an inſtrument to provide for him, that he might not periſh for want of ſuſtenance. See 1 King. 17.6, 9, 14. Job 5. 20. Pſal. 33. 19. and 34.10.

Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the priſon.] Untill he was by the importunity of the Princes removed thence for a while into a worſe place, where yet he ſtayed not long, but returned ſoon thither again, Chap. 38.6, 13. Heb. And (as ch. 7.34. & 25.14.) Jeremy ſate (as ver. 16.) in the court of the priſon; as chap. 32.2. & 33.1. See chap. 38.28.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

Verſ. 1. THen Shephathiah the ſon of Mattan, and Gedaliah the ſon of Paſhur, and Jucal the ſon of Shelemiah, and Paſhur the ſon of Malchiah heard the words that Jeremiah had ſpoken unto all the people, ſaying;] Poor Jeremy is no ſooner rid out of one ſtrait and difficulty, but he is ſhortly after caſt again into another, as bad or worſe then the former: Out of Jonathans houſe or hole rather, he is, at the Kings command, removed to the priſon court, Chap. 37.21. where he is at more liberty, and people have now freer acceſs to him then before; and there repair to him not a few; ſome of kindneſs and good-will to him to viſit him; Others, and thoſe many more in likelyhood, either out of an itching affection to hear ſome novelties and ſtrange matters, or out of a longing deſire to underſtand what he thought or ſaid concerning the iſſue of their preſent troubles and diſtreſſes, as in ſuch caſes, both good and bad, are ready to enquire after the thoughts and ſpeeches of thoſe that are but deemed to have any ſpice of a prophetical ſpirit. But this freedome and frequency of acceſs was a means of bringing this our Prophet into new troubles, and grievous annoyances, even to the hazzarding of his life. For he cannot forbear ſpeaking, he muſt of neceſſity be doing his duty, 1 Cor. 9.17. chap. 20. 9. acquainting thoſe that came to him with Gods mind, his meſſages, to wit, that if they ſtaid in the city, they ſhould be ſure to miſcarry; if they quitted the city, and yielded themſelves to the Chaldeans, they might thereby ſecure themſelves, ver. 2, 3. Hence, ſome of the Princes ill-affected, clamour to the King againſt him, and require to have him, either executed, or clapt up cloſer again, ver. 1, 4. and upon the Kings delivering of him up to their wills, ver. 5. they put him into a worſe pit, or hole, then that of Jonathans was, where he remaineth ſticking in the mire, ver. 6. untill a religious Courtier, but a ſtranger, by importunity wreſteth from the King his delivery from thence, and reſtitution to the place of his former reſtraint, ver. 7——13. After which here enſueth a new privy conference between the King and the Prophet, ver. 14——23. and the means contrived to conceal what had paſſed between them in private from the Princes, ver. 24——28. And this is the ſum of the whole Chapter.

Then] Or, Now when; as chap. 37.1.

Shephathiah] Divers others of this name are mentioned in Scripture; but of this man, no mention is found, ſave in this place.

Gemariah the ſon of Paſhur] Of that Paſhur, ſaith one, mentioned, chap. 20.1. but of that no great likelyhood; for that Paſhur was a Prieſt: this Gemariah ſeemeth to have been a Prince.

Jucal the ſon of Shelemiah] Of whom, chap. 37.26. and this the more likely.

Paſhur the ſon of Malchiah] The ſame before-mentioned, chap. 21.1.

heard the words that Jeremiah had ſpoken,] Heard of them in likelyhood by ſuch as came to inform againſt him: as thoſe, chap. 20.10.

unto all the people] That either were in priſon with him, or repaired unto the priſon to him.

V. 2. Thus ſaith the Lord, He that remaineth in this city ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence:] Heb. He that ſitteth, or, ſtayeth; as chap. 28.21. See the like denunciation, chap. 21.9.

but he that goeth forth to the Chaldeans] And falleth to them; as chap. 21.9. that yieldeth himſelf to them. Heb. and he, &c. as chap. 12.2.

ſhall have his life for a prey] He ſhall live: he ſhall by ſo doing ſave his life, chap. 21.9. See the form alſo, Chap. 39.18. & 45.5.

V. 3. Thus ſaith the Lord; This city ſhall ſurely be given into the hand of the King of Babylons Army, which ſhall take it.] Heb. being given be given: and, hand, for, power; as chap. 34.2, 20, 21. and, and he ſhall take it: to wit, the King, Chap. 32. 3. 28.

V. 4. Therefore the Princes ſaid unto the King,] Or, Theſe Princes then ſaid unto the King: for this hath reference to the perſons named, ver. 1. Heb. And they heard——and they ſaid; for, When they heard——then they ſaid. See the like, chap. 36.11, 12.

We beſeech thee, let this man be put to death.] The poor Prophet is now in a pitiful plight, in a forlorn condition, when the Princes that ſaved him before from the Prieſts, are turned as eager againſt him, as the Prieſts then were: nothing can ſatisfie them but his bloud; they cry out now againſt him to the King, as the Prieſts did then to them. See Chap. 26. 8, 11, 16.

for thus he weakneth the hands of the men of war that remain in this city, and the hands of all the people in ſpeaking ſuch words unto them.] Or, becauſe, or, for that, he weakneth. So is the particle oft uſed; as Gen. 38.26. Num. 10.3. & 14.43. Heb. to ſpeak (for, in ſpeaking: as, not to drink, for, in not drinking, chap. 35.8, 9.) according to theſe words, Gen. 39.17, 19. Thus out of carnal policy is piety impugned. So 1 King. 12. 27. Joh. 11.48.

for this man ſeeketh not the welfare of this people, but their hurt] Heb. is not ſeeking the peace; as chap. 28.9. & 29.7. or, to the peace: thoſe things that concern, and conduce to the peace and welfare of the State: as Luk. 19.42. and yet none ſought the true welfare of it more then he: the common plea againſt Gods miniſters, that ſeek to reclaim People and States; and to ſave them from ruine by reducing them to God, 1 King. 18.17, 18. & 21.20. Act. 16.26. & 17.6.

but the hurt.] Heb. the evil, or, to the evill: ſuch things as tend thereunto, as chap. 29.11.

V. 5. Then Zedekiah the King ſaid] Heb. And, which need not here be altered.

Behold, he is in your hand] In your power, to do with him, as you pleaſe; as chap. 26.14. Job 2.6.

for the King is not he that can do any thing againſt you.] As if he had ſaid, the King can deny you nothing: too large a condeſcenſion, ill beſeeming a Ruler, without all regard of right or wrong, and tending to an unjuſt, cruel, and impious uſage of Gods Prophet. Howbeit, the text ſeemeth not ſo cleer here for this ſenſe. It is true, that the particle here uſed doth ſometime ſignifie againſt. So is it deemed to do, Eſay 10.15. & Ezek. 21. 20. Yet thoſe places are queſtionable; and it is very rare, if any where it ſo do: for howſoever in thoſe forms where it is ſubjoyned to terms of fighting and ſtriving; as Pſal. 35.1. Eſay 49.25. chap. 33.5. it be ſometime rendred againſt: as chap. 37.10. and in effect, it importeth as much: yet in propriety of ſpeech it ſoundeth no more then, with, and is ſo moſt commonly expreſſed. Nor hath it that notion of oppoſition from it ſelf, but from the word it is annexed unto. Some therefore would rather have the words thus rendred; For without the King, the thing (Heb. word, as chap. 32.27.) may be done, by you: as Eſay 7.17. or, with you; among your ſelves. You have power enough to diſpatch this buſineſs without me; which ſome alſo apply unto the power that they had, being ſome of the grand Conſiſtory to try and doom a falſe Prophet, ſuch an one, as they pretend, Jeremy to be. But there appeareth here no hint of any judicary proceeding; but a motion made, and preſſed for diſpatching the Prophet without more ado, and ridding their hands of him by any means whatſoever: and that not upon ſuggeſtion of any falſe Prophecy, but upon grounds of policy, becauſe by his prophecies he diſheartned the ſouldiery, and diſcouraged the people: and according to this reading therefore the King ſhould rather imply, that having him in their hands already, they had power enough to diſpoſe of him as they pleaſed, without asking his aſſent. And this way I ſhould incline to, did I any where find the negative particle here found, to be uſed for without: with another prefixed I find it ſo uſed, chap.33.12. and elſe-where, but never alone: and I leave it therefore to the determination of the Learned: I ſhall onely ſubjoyn, how I conceive, it may, very neer to the former notion, be rendred, The King is not he that can prevail in ought againſt you; as Pſal. 13. 4. I have prevailed him, for, I have prevailed againſt him; for the verb is the ſame there with that here uſed; as alſo, Eſt.6.13. Pſal.129.2. chap. 20.10, ver.22. a defect of the relative there is, as chap.31.14. a word, for, ought, as ver.14.

V. 6. Then took they Jeremiah] Or, So they took; as chap. 32.14. Heb. And. Having gotten the King thus far to condeſcend unto them, and to leave him wholly to their diſpoſall, ver.5.

and caſt him into the dungeon of Malchiah the ſon of Hammelek, that was in the court of the priſon:] Or, as ſome read the words, ſuppoſing a trajection in them, they took Jeremy who was in the court of the priſon (as yet remaining there, chap. 37. 21.) and caſt him into the pit, or, hole (as Gen.37.22. chap. 41.7.) of Malchiah, the ſon of Hammelec, or, the Kings ſon. See chap. 36. 26. a filthy dungeon, far worſe then that of Jonathans, chap.37. 15, 16. ſituate in ſome part or place of Malchia's houſe, where being deſtitute of all means of relief, he might by the noiſomneſs of the place ſoon periſh, and no body know what was become of him. Thus Satans inſtruments, therein like their maſter, are wont to be the fiercer, the ſhorter their time is to tyrannize, Rev.12.12.

and they led down Jeremiah with cords:] There being it ſeems no ſtaires or ordinary paſſage down into it, Ver. 12,13. and no means conſequently of any relief likely there to come at him.

and in the dungeon there was no water, but mire:] Which made it the more noiſome, Zach.9.11.

So Jeremiah ſunk in the mire.] Heb. And; as Chap. 32. 15. ſunk, or, ſtuck faſt; as 1 Sam.17.49. Pſal. 69.2. So ver. 22. And of this pit ſome expound that in Lamentations, 3. 55. but ſee there.

V. 7. Now when Ebedmelech the Ethiopian, one of the Eunuchs, which was in the Kings houſe, heard that they had put Jeremiah into the dungeon,] The buſineſſe, it ſeems, was not ſo cloſely kept, or covertly carried, but that it came to this goodly courtiers ear; whom the Lord, according to his promiſe more then once to the Prophet, Chap.1.19.& 15.20,21. made an inſtrument of his delivery and ſafety.

Now when] Heb. And. And he heard, ——— and he went out, ver. 8. for, Now when he heard, ——— he went out; as Verſe 1, 4.

Ebedmelech] Or, a ſervant of the King, a courtier, as the Chaldee, who rendreth it, a ſervant of the King Zedekiah: and the Jewiſh Doctors, deſcanting thereupon, tell us, that by the Chuſhite is meant Zedekiah, that had changed his hew with the times, from good to bad, but would not change back again: as Chap.13.23. and that this ſervant of the King, was Baruc the ſon of Neriah: but theſe are their fond fancies, which one ſounder then his fellow Rabbines juſtly controleeth, obſerving that then the article would have been prefixed before the word King, as in the clauſe following it is, but is not here; and concludeth therefore Ebedmelech to be his proper name, chap.39.16. as the like is Abimelech, Judg.8.31. and Achimelech, 1 Sam.21.1.

the Ethiopian] Heb. Cuſhite, as Num.12.1. See chap. 13 23. Better affected did this ſtranger ſhew himſelf towards Gods Prophet, then thoſe that profeſſed themſelves to be, and by birth were, of the body of Gods people; and well therefore deſerving to be preferred before them, Rom. 2. 26, 27.

one of the Eunuchs] Heb. a man an Eunuch; as Act. 8. 27. whence the word may ſeem to be as there, ſo here, a name, not of office as the Chaldee taketh it, but of bodily ſtate and condition, See Eſay 56.3,4.

which was in the Kings houſe] Or, who was (Heb. and he was; as chap.26.23.) of the Kings houſe. So is the particle uſed and rendred, 2 Sam.1.21. In this ungodly kings family as well as in Herods, Luk.8.3. and in Neroe's, Phil. 4. 22. there were yet ſome well-affected. See 1 King.14.13. & 18.3,12,13.

(the King then ſitting in the gate of Benjamin)] To receive petitions, hear cauſes, and decide controverſies, and paſſe cenſures; the gates of the city being the ordinary places of audience and judicature, Deut.17.2,8. 2 Sam.19.8. Prov.31. 23. Lam.5.13. for it is but a frivolous conceit of thoſe, who ſuppoſe that the king ſate in the gate, conſidering how to make an eſcape out of the city, he had other privater wayes to have done it then that, 2 Kings 25. 4. Of this gate, ſee Chap.37.13. Heb. and the king was ſitting in the gate.

V. 8. Ebedmelech went out of the Kings houſe, and ſpake to the King, ſaying;] He ſtaid not till the King came in again, (the Prophet in the mean ſpace might have periſhed) nor did he wait his time, to break the matter to the King in private; but though he knew before-hand, how diſtaſtful his motion would be to the Princes, who in likelyhood were divers of them there attending upon him, he had the courage in open court to complain to the king ſitting on the Bench to their faces, of their barbarous and inhumane uſage of Gods Prieſt and Prophet; and to preſs the king in his behalf, for his ſpeedy delivery out of the preſent diſtreſſe.

V. 9. My Lord, the King, theſe men have done evill in all that they have done to Jeremiah the Prophet, whom they have caſt into the dungeon.] Theſe men that ſtand here attending upon you: he dareth tell them their own to their faces; and in open court publiſh how they had dealt with Gods Prophet in ſecret. Such courage and confidence, and ſuch freedom of ſpeech ſhould men have in Gods cauſe, Pſal. 119.46. Thus the Prophet found more favour and ayd at the hand of a ſtranger, then at the hands of any one of his own countrymen: as God more obedience, Chap.3.14,15. and more repentance, Jon.3.10. and Chriſt more faith, Matth.8.10. then in Gods own profeſſed people; to their greater condemnation, Mat.21.41,42.

and he is like to dye for hunger in the place where he is:] And there he is like to periſh for want of relief; becauſe no body ſeeth him to pity him, nor can look after him to relieve him (as formerly they might and did) where now he is. So the Rabbine; or, as the words would rather be read, who (Heb. and he, as Ver.7.) would have dyed (Heb. will dye; but uſed here in a potential notion, as Hoſ.7.1.) for hunger in the place where he was. Heb. under him, or, in his place; as Job 7. 10. Pſal.109.16. to wit, in the priſon, chap.37.21. and it argued therefore in them a moſt ſpitefull and inhumane diſpoſition toward the Prophet, by ſo vile and baſe a courſe to ſeek to haſten his end, when as he could not have long ſubſiſted, though they had let him alone, had the ſiege been for any conſiderable time lengthened; the reaſon is ſubjoyned in the words following.

for there is no more bread in the city.] The city ſtores are in a manner clean ſpent; from whence by the Kings appointment, ſo long as they held out, he was to receive ſome daily, though but ſlender, allowance, Chap.37.21.

V. 10. Then the King commanded Ebedmelech the Ethiopian, ſaying; Take from hence thirty men with thee, and take up Jeremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he dye.] The hazzard the Prophet was in, required haſte. And the King, better adviſed, preſſeth it to be done ſpeedily, without further delay; and ordereth Ebedmelech therefore to take a competent number of perſons then and there preſent to be aſſiſtant unto him in diſpatching the buſineſs; which he as readily goeth about, Ver.11. But why thirty men to draw up one? when as three or four at moſt would ſuffice. To this ſome anſwer; becauſe the pit was very deep: and ſo in likelihood it was; the upper part of the city ſtanding on a craggy hill, and yet mire found in the bottom of it: but yet fewer might have ſerved for ſuch a buſineſſe; nor could many in likelyhood be employed about it: the Jewiſh Doctors ſay, becauſe their bodies were generally ſo weakned, and their ſtrength ſo impaired with famine, that a few men were not able to do it; but this ſeemeth as improbable as the former: it is rather therefore not amiſs conceived by others, that thoſe men were taken along with him to be aſſiſtant unto him, not in the drawing up of the Prophet only, but in withſtanding and keeping off of any that ſhould offer to oppoſe or diſturb them in the execution of the Kings command.

Then] Heb. And; as Chap.37.6.

take from hence] take and lead from hence. So ver.11.

with thee] Heb. in thy hand; as Chap.41.9. So ver.11.

V. 11. So Ebedmelech took the men with him,] Heb. And; as ver.6. and, in his hand; took and led them along with him; as ver.10.

and went into the houſe of the King under the treaſury,] Or, ſtore-houſe, (as the word in a generality ſignifieth, 1 Chr. 27. 22. Neh.12.44. & 13.12.) under which, into ſome cel, cellar, or vault, were caſt-cloathes and ſuch trumpery wont to be caſt. old caſt-clouts, and old rotten rags,] Heb. old, or, worn, clouts, of caſt, or, torn things; (for the one word cometh of a term that ſignifieth to be old, and worn out with long wearing, Deut. 9.5. the other of a root that ſignifieth to drag, and tear, chap. 15.3.) and old, or worn clouts (for the ſubject wanteth, as Eſay 28.4. Ezek.13.14) of ſalts; that is, rotted, as with ſalt; or waſted with wearing, as ſalt doth, when it melteth. See Eſay 51.6. & 64.6.

and let them down by cords into the dungeon to Jeremiah.] To make uſe of in the drawing of him up: being ſofter and fitter for that purpoſe then clothes of better worth.

by cords] Partly, becauſe the pit in likelyhood was deeper, then that they could by hand be reached to him; and partly, leſt they ſhould in caſting down be ſcattered, or falling into the mire be made unſerviceable unto him.

V. 12. And Ebedmelech the Ethiopian ſaid unto Jeremiah; Put now theſe caſt-clouts and rotten rags under thine arm-holes under the cords.] That is, between thine arm-holes and the cords, to keep the cords from fretting and galling the skin and fleſh of thoſe parts, which the weight of his body was to reſt and hang upon in the pulling of him up. Heb. under the hollow places of thine hands; that which ſome render, put them under thine arm-holes with thine hands: and ſuch a defect of the inſtrumental particle is not unfrequently found; as Pſal.17.13,14. but I ſuppoſe we need not have recourſe to that defect here: the hollow places of the hands, are no other then the arm-holes: ſo likewiſe termed, Ezek.13.18. the hands put for the arms; as Eſay 25.11. See there; as alſo chap. 48.37.

V. 13. So they drew up Jeremiah with cords, and took him out of the dungeon; and Jeremiah remained in the court of the priſon.] Where before he abode, and whither now he was remitted. See chap.37.21.

V. 14. Then Zedekiah the King ſent, and took Jeremiah the Prophet unto him into the third entry that is in the houſe of the Lord,] Hence followeth the narrative of another perſonall conference had in private between the King and the Prophet, during the time of his reſtraint. A former, ſee Chap.37.17. that but ſhort, this more large.

Then] Or, Afterward.] Heb. And. as Exod.32.6.

into the third entry] Of this third entry, or, as ſome would have it rendred, principal entry; (as coming from a term that ſignifieth a Prince, Exod.15.4. 2 King.7.2.) being no where elſe read; neither our Writers, nor the Jewiſh themſelves, have any great certainty: the moſt ſuppoſe it to be that on the South-ſide of the Temple, by which the King entred, when he came thither from his Palace; called therefore the Kings entry, 2 King.16.18. yet it ſeemeth by Ezek. 46.1,2,8. that the king uſed to enter, not by the South, but by the Eaſt-gate.

that is in the houſe of the Lord] Or, that went to it. See 1 King.10.5,12. 1 Chr.26.16,18. 2 Chr.9.11. Eſay 6.13. and it may as well be meant of an entry in the kings houſe, as of an entry in the Temple: and to the former rather I encline, ſuppoſing this priſon, wherein the Prophet now abode, to have been in ſome part of the Kings houſe. See Chap. 37.15,22. and conceive that the words may well be rendred, into the third entry (to wit, of the kings houſe, that conſiſted of three ſeveral courts, or parts, 2 King.20.4. Chap.36.12,20.) which is by the houſe of the Lord; neer unto it, or of all the entries, or paſſages about the kings houſe next to it. See the very like, Chap.20.2.

and the King ſaid to Jeremiah, I will ask thee a think; hide nothing from me.] Heb. I am asking thee a word; conceal not a word from me: a word, for, a thing, or, ought; as Chap. 26.2. & 32.27. So ver.14. Thus wicked men will ſeem deſirous to know, what they are not willing to hear.

V. 15. Then Jeremiah ſaid unto Zedekiah] Heb. And; as before, Verſ.14.

If I declare it unto thee, wilt thou not ſurely put me to death?] Heb. ſlaying ſlay; as Chap.26.19. as if he had ſaid; wilt thou not put me to death, if I deal plainly and freely with thee, if I tell thee the truth.

and if I give thee counſel wilt thou not hearken unto me?] This latter branch would rather be read enunciatively; on this wiſe, and though (as Pſal.23.4.) I adviſe thee, thou wilt not hearken to me: as if he ſhould ſay, It is to ſmall purpoſe for me to ſpeak ought to thee; for if I tell thee the truth of things, thou wilt but ſlay me for it: (for negative interrogatives do more vigorouſly affirm) and though I give thee never ſo good counſel, (as formerly I have done) yet thou wilt not follow mine advice.

V. 16. So the King Zedekiah ſware ſecretly unto Jeremiah, ſaying,] Heb. And; as ver.13. in ſecret; as Chap.37.17. being over-awed by his Princes, Verſe 25.

V. 17. Then ſaid Jeremiah unto Zedekiah,] Heb. And. as before, Verſe 15.

Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of hoſts, the God of Iſrael;] As Chap.35.17.

See Chap. 39.3,5.

then thy ſoul ſhall live,] Heb. and thy ſoul ſhall live; (as Gen.19.20. and my ſoul ſhall live) thou ſhalt live; thou ſhalt be in ſafety. So Pſal.119.175. Let my ſoul live, for, Let me live.

and thou ſhalt live, and thine houſe.] Thy family, wives, children, and ſervants. See ver.23.

V. 18. But if thou wilt not go forth to the King of Babylons Princes, then ſhall this city be given into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they ſhall burn it with fire, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hand.] Heb. And. and, And, for, But, and, Then; as Ver.2,5. See Chap.32.3,4.

V. 19. And Zedekiah the King ſaid unto Jeremiah, I am afraid of the Jews that are fallen to the Chaldeans, leſt they deliver me into their hand, and they mock me.] He feared more the mocking of men, then the diſobeying of God. Thus a mans fear caſteth him into a ſnare, Prov.29.25. See the like, 1 Sam. 31.4. 1 Chr.10.4. Judg.9.54.

V. 20. But Jeremiah ſaid, They ſhall not deliver thee:] Heb. And; as Ver.18. and, give thee, as Ver.19. God knoweth the affections of all men, and ſwayeth them as he pleaſeth. See 1 Sam.23.14. Pſal.105.25. & 106.46.

V. 21. But if thou refuſe to go forth, this is the word that the Lord hath ſhewed me;] Heb. And. as Ver.18. and, the word, for, the thing, or, that, ſimply; as Verſe 14. and, made me ſee; doth as certainly aſſure me of it, as if I ſaw it. See Eſay 2.1.

V. 22. And behold,] Or, That behold; as Chap.35.11. or, Then behold; as ver.17,18. otherwiſe the words following will have no good coherence with the former.

all the women that are left in the King of Judahs houſe,] Either thoſe that were left in the kings palace, when Jeconiah and his mother, and others with them were carried away, 2 King.24.12. or that Zedekiah ſhould leave there, when he ſhould ſeek to ſave himſelf by flight, chap. 39.4. 2 King.25.4. and then the noun is put for the pronoun: as Eſay 2.1. But the former ſeemeth more probable, that ſuch court-Ladies that were left behind, when Jeconiah went away, a crew of wanton creatures, would be inſulting over Zedekiah, and asking him why he could not do as Jeconiah did before.

ſhall be brought forth to the King of Babylons Princes,] To be diſpoſed of at their pleaſure.

and thoſe women ſhall ſay,] Heb. and they will be ſaying; theſe twitting terms, or the like, will be riſe in their mouthes.

Thy friends have ſet thee on, and have prevailed againſt thee;] Heb. The men of thy peace, or, Thy men of peace; as Pſal.41.9. Chap.20.10. Obad.7. Either thy falſe Prophets and Prieſts, and Princes; or the Egyptians thy confederates have encited, and encouraged thee to revolt from, and rebell againſt the king of Babylon, and to ſtand out ſtifly and unadviſedly againſt his forces, and have contrary to that wholſome advice that hath been from time to time given thee, and thine own inclination at ſome times to hearken thereunto, perſwaded thee, and prevailed with thee to hold on in that deſperate courſe to thine own ruine, and now leave thee in the lurch, Chap.2.36,37. & 30.14. & 37.19.

thy feet are ſunk in the mire;] Or, ſtick faſt, or, are ſet faſt; as the word is uſed, Job 38.6. Prov.8.25. So ver.6. a proverbial ſpeech uſed of ſuch, as are brought into grievous difficulties, out of which they are unable to unwind themſelves, Pſal.69.2. And ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors ſuppoſe, that there is in theſe terms an alluſion to ſome quagmire, wherein Zedekiah ſhould be taken, when the enemy over-took him, Chap.39.5. But howſoever, thus that befel him from women, which from men he ſo much feared. See Prov.10.24.

and they are turned away backward.] This the Jewiſh Commenters, and moſt others, underſtand of Zedekiah, and apply to his feet before-mentioned, thy feet are turned backward: and this ſome expound of his revolt from the King of Babylon; as the word is uſed of the like, Pſal.44 18. & 80.18. Others, of his being conſtrained at length to turn back, and betake himſelf to flight, not being able now to go on, or hold out any longer. So is the word uſed, Pſal.35.4. & 70.3. Eſay 42.17. chap.46.5. and this ſeemeth moſt probable. Howbeit, ſome underſtand it, of his friends before ſpoken of: that they were turned back, and had deſerted him in his ſtraits. See chap.37.7. But the former ſeemeth the better. Some learned Interpreters mince this paſſage in to parcels, reading the words, that thy friends have incited thee,——and that thy feet are faſt in the mire, and that they are turned backward. But ſuch ſupplies I ſuppoſe here needleſs.

V. 23. So they ſhall bring out all thy wives and thy children to the Chaldeans] Heb. And; as ver.11. or, For; as chap.36.9. as rendring a reaſon of the fore-going predictions; or ſubjoyning the means, whereby this ſhould come about, and be effected; For they ſhall bring out all thy women, (the word is the ſame with that, ver. 22. and may well comprehend concubines, and ſuch like Court-creatures, as well as his wives) and thy ſons; (for ſo the word here is) who were taken and carryed away by the Chaldeans, and ſlain before their fathers face, and in his ſight, chap.39.6. for as for his daughters, it ſeemeth, that, being leſs regarded, they were left behind. See chap. 41. 10. & 43.6. Theſe he mentioneth the rather, to move him to hearken to the advice given him, if not for himſelf, yet out of fatherly regard and tender affection unto them. See the like, Deut.28.32,41. Chap.5.17. & 16.3.

and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hand] As ver.18. though thou attempt ſo to do, 2 King.25.4——6.

but ſhalt be taken by the hand of the King of Babylon,] That is, by ſuch power and force, as he ſhall raiſe and ſend to take thee, and thy city. See ver.17.

and thou ſhalt cauſe this city to be burnt with fire] Heb. thou ſhalt burn this city with fire; as Num.4.18. cut not off, for, cauſe not to be cut off: thou by thine obſtinacy wilt be the means to procure the burning of the city, which by rendition of thy ſelf thou mighteſt ſave. Yet ſome render the words, and this city ſhall be burnt with fire: And in our Engliſh indeed, it might run well enough, were it ſaid; And this city ſhall burn with fire. But I find not where the Hebrew verb here uſed is in this form ever found in a paſſive ſenſe.

V. 24. Then ſaid Zedekiah unto Jeremiah] Heb. And; as ver.17.

Let no man know of theſe words] Theſe matters that have paſt between thee and me in private. Heb. Let not a man know: a man, for, any man; as chap.5.1. and, words, for, things, or, matters; as chap.26.10. Eſt.9.31.

and thou ſhalt not die.] Thou ſhalt not ſuffer death for ought that thou haſt now ſpoken; according to his ſolemn oath and promiſe, ver.16. or, as the words may well be rendred, that thou die not: ſo is the copulative oft uſed, Joſh.24.9. Mal.1.9. leſt the Princes put thee to death, as it is to be feared they will do, if they come to underſtand what thou haſt ſpoken to me.

V. 25. But if the Princes hear, that I have talked with thee] Heb. And (as ver.21.) when; as Jer.12.5. the Princes that over-awed the King, and whom he was afraid to diſpleaſe, ver.5.

and they come unto thee, and ſay unto thee; Declare unto us now what thou haſt ſaid unto the King: hide it not from us, and we will not put thee to death; alſo what the King ſaid unto thee.] In ſuch a vaſſalage was this poor King to his Princes, that he might not have any communication in private with any, but they would be diving into it, and dealing with him for it, beyond duty, if they liked it not.

V. 26. Then ſhalt thou ſay unto them] Heb. And; as before, ver.17.

I preſented my ſupplication before the King, that he would not cauſe me to return to Jonathans houſe to die there.] Heb. I made my ſupplication to fall before the King, or, to his face, or, in his preſence; as chap.36.7. & 42.2. that is, in humble and ſubmiſs manner falling down before him, I preferred my ſuit to him; and this indeed he had formerly made ſuit to the King for, chap.37.20. and it is not unlikely but that he now renewed it again; the rather, ſome hint being given him by the King to that purpoſe, that ſo he ſhould do.

V. 27. Then came all the Princes unto Jeremiah, and asked him;] What the King ſuſpected, accordingly fell out; Heb. And; as ver.24.

and he told them according to all thoſe words, that the King had commanded:] Words, again, for, things; as ver.24.

ſo they left off ſpeaking with him:] Heb. and (as ver. 23.) they were ſilent, or, ceaſed, from him; as Job 13.13.

for the matter was not perceived.] Or, while (as Prov.19.18.) the matter (Heb. word; as ver.14. chap. 52. 34.) was not perceived; as chap.5.15. as if he had ſaid, the matter remained the whileſt undiſcovered, according to the Kings deſire.

V. 28. So Jeremiah abode in the court of the priſon] Heb. And; as ver. 27. and, ſate in the court of cuſtody, Chap. 37.21.

untill the day wherein Jeruſalem was taken,] As he ſtill told them it would be, ver. 3. Chap. 37. 8. being now no more ſhifted from place to place, as formerly he had been.

and he was there when Jeruſalem was taken.] Being then there found, and from thence taken, and not long after ſet free by the King of Babylons officers, at their Maſters command, Chap.39.12——14. & 40.1——4. a defect of the locall particle; as Job 3.18.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Verſ.1. IN the ninth year of Zedekiah King of Judah,] This relation of the ſiege, and ſurrender of Jeruſalem, ver.1——3. Zedekiahs attempt to eſcape by flight, apprehenſion and captivity, together with the ſlaughter of his ſons, and his nobility, and loſs of his ſight, ver.4——7. the burning of the city, ver.8. the deportation of the people, ver.9,10. and the Prophets delivery out of priſon, ver.11——14. is here inſerted, partly, to declare the complement of the Prophets fore-going predictions; and partly, to make way for, and give light unto ſome occurrents afterward reported in the Chapters enſuing.

In the ninth year of Zedekiah] For in that year the ſiege began, 2 King.25.1.

in the tenth moneth] The moneth Tebeth, Eſt.2.16. containing part of our December, and part of our January, Chap. 52.4.

came Nebuchadrezzar King of Babylon, and all his army againſt Jeruſalem, and they beſieged it.] Or, with all his army: for ſo is the copulative oft uſed; as chap.26.21. & 27.2. the occaſion of this his expedition and invaſion was, becauſe Zedekiah, whom he had made King of Judah, was revolted from him, and rebelled againſt him, 2 King.24.17,20. He came thither with them, but having ſettled the ſiege, withdrew himſelf to take his eaſe and pleaſure elſe-where, leaving the buſineſs to be purſued and carryed on by his Princes. See Chap. 38.17.

V. 2. And in the eleventh year of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth,] The moneth Tamuz conſiſting partly of our June, and partly of our July.

the ninth day of the moneth the city was broken up.] Stormed and taken: ſome of the gates being firſt broken open, and part of the city ſurprized, ver.3. the reſt thereupon given up, 2 King.25.3. Chap.52.6. So that the ſiege continued about a twelve-moneth, and an half. Hence the faſt of the fourth moneth, Zach.8.19. for the ſurpriſal of the city.

V. 3. And all the Princes of the King of Babylon came and ſate in the middle gate,] Called the ſecond gate, Zeph. 1.10. ſituate in the mid-wall that divided the one part of the city from the other; ſo the moſt. Yet ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors ſay, it was the Eaſtern gate: of which, Chap.19.2. ſo called; becauſe it ſtood between two other gates on that ſide of the city: And others again, becauſe it ſtood between the city and the Temple. But howſoever about the particular gate they jar; herein they agree, that Jeremies prophecy was hereby fulfilled, of the King of Babylons commanders ſetting their thrones in the gates of Jeruſalem, Chap. 1. 15. But of that place, ſee there. Why they made a ſtay at this gate is ſome queſtion made: and ſome ſuppoſe it done out of warineſs, it being not ſafe to pierce ſuddenly over-far into a ſtrong and large city, wherein trains and ambuſhments may be, until all be well cleered; which is not unlikely.

even Nergal-Sharezer] The Jewiſh Doctor telleth us, that theſe are two ſeveral names of ſeveral parties: but the moſt rather (as doth our Verſion) take them for one name: the latter part of the name, one of Sennacheribs ſons bare, Eſay 37. 38. whence it may ſeem to have been an Aſſyrian name.

Samgar-Nebo] This moſt take alſo for the proper name of a party diſtinct from the former. But a learned Interpreter deemeth it to be a name of office belonging to the fore-named party; and to ſignifie the Keeper or Treaſurer of the Temple of Nebo, a principall idoll among the Babylonians, Eſay 46. 1. and the Hebrew points and pauſes, both in this, and the following, encline this way.

Sarſechim, Rabſaris,] The former ſeemeth the name of the man; the latter is clearly the name of his office; and ſignifieth the Captain of the Guard.

Nergal Sharezer, Rabmag,] One of the ſame name with the firſt; (whereby it appeareth, that it was an uſual name with them) from whom to diſtinguiſh him, his office is added: and the title given him is by ſome deemed to ſignifie the Camp-Maſter: though a learned late Writer would have it to be, the Maſter of the Magitians. But the former ſeemeth more probable.

with all the reſidue of the Princes of the King of Babylon.] Heb. and all; as ver. 1. for three onely of them are here named.

V. 4. And it came to paſs, that when Zedekiah the King of Judah ſaw them, and all the men of war, then they fled] Or, And ſo it was (as chap 36. 16.) when Zedekiah and all the men of war ſaw them; (for there is a trajection in the words) that they fled. Heb And they fled; as chap. 35. 11. as deſpairing now, and not daring, either to hold out any further, or to ſtay any longer by it; conſidering how far they had pierced into the city.

and went forth out of the city by night] The more ſecretly to eſcape in the dark: which ſecret flight of his, ſee deſcribed, Ezek. 12. 12.

by the way of the Kings garden, by the gate betwixt two walls] By ſome poſtern gate on the South ſide of the city, (for on that ſide the Kings gardens ſeem to have been ſituate) by ſome ſuppoſed to have another wall before it, beſides that wherein it ſtood: but it ſeemeth rather to have been ſituate at the end of ſome private paſſage, having on either ſide a wall to make it the more private. The Jewiſh Doctors tell us of a cave, or vault, under ground, reaching from the Kings houſe to the plains of Jericho, by which the King ſhould attempt to eſcape: but this ſeemeth one of their wonted figments. See 2 King. 25. 4. Chap. 52. 7.

and he went out the way of the plain.] Intending, it may be, for Egypt.

V. 5. But the Chaldeans purſued after them,] Heb. And; as Chap. 38. 25. See Lam. 4. 19.

and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho:] This is the ſandy ground on which the Talmudiſts build their fabulous vault: whereof, on ver. 4. But this is not amiſs obſerved to be the net that God threatned to catch him in, for the breach of his oath, Ezek. 17. 10.

and when they had taken him, they brought him up to Nebuchadnezzar King of Babylon.] Heb. and they took him, and made him aſcend, or, brought him, ſimply; as 1 Sam. 7. 1. So 2 King. 25. 6. Chap. 52. 9. See this fore-told him by Jeremy, Chap. 32. 4. & 34. 3.

to Riblah in the land of Hamath] Of this Riblah, ſee Num. 34. 11. It is ſuppoſed to be that which was afterward called Antiochia in Syria: a very pleaſant place, where Nebuchadnezzar lay, and kept his court, to repoſe, and ſolace himſelf, during the ſiege: which it may be alſo proved longer then he looked for.

where he gave judgment upon him.] For his perfidious treachery and perjury joyned with it. Heb. ſpake judgments with him; as chap. 4. 12. & 12. 1. & 52. 9.

V. 6. Then the King of Babylon ſlew the ſons of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes.] He cauſed them be ſlain, (as chap. 37. 15. & 52. 10. 1 Sam. 15. 33.) being brought thither to him, (as was fore-told they ſhould be, Chap. 38. 23.) in his ſight, before he put out his eyes: to aggravate his grief, ſee Deut. 28. 32. Heb. And; as Chap. 38. 24.

alſo the king of Babylon ſlew all the nobles of Judah.] That had encouraged, yea, in ſome ſort, enforced Zedekiah to ſtand out againſt him, Chap. 38. 4, 22. Heb. and; as chap. 29. 20. and white ones, as chap. 27. 20.

V. 7. Moreover he put out Zedekiahs eyes:] Heb. And (as chap. 28. 12.) he blinded (as Deut. 16. 19.) Zedekiahs eyes: and ſo abandoned him to a perpetual darkneſs: hence that, Ezek. 12. 13. that he ſhould not ſee Babylon, though he ſhould be brought thither. Howbeit, he ſlew him not, as Jeremy had alſo fore-told, Chap. 34. 4.

and bound him with chains] Heb. with two braſſes; or, of braſs: to wit, chains, or fetters; as Judg. 16. 21.

to carry him to Babylon.] So bound; as alſo he did, Chap. 32. 5. & 34. 3. & 52. 11. Ezek. 12. 13. 2 King. 25. 7. See the like, 2 Chron. 36. 6.

V. 8. And the Chaldeans burnt the kings houſe, and the houſes of the people with fire.] Chap. 21. 10. & 37. 8. & 38. 18, 23. & 52. 13. Lam. 2. 5. 2 King. 25. 9. Heb. the houſe of the people: which ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors expound of Synagogues, or other places of publike convention: and ſome of ours, a place neer to the Kings court, whither people uſed to reſort for exerciſe of ſhooting, ſporting, walking and feaſting: But others, and moſt of both, take it in an ordinary, but collective notion, for the dwellings of the inferiour people; confirmed by that, 2 King. 25. 9. & Chap. 52. 13. and all the houſes of Jeruſalem.

and brake down the walls of Jeruſalem.] Chap. 52. 14. 2 King. 25. 10. Lam. 2. 2, 8, 18. Neh. 1. 3.

V. 9. Then Nebuzaradan the Captain of the Guard] Or, Provoſt Marſhall. Heb. chief, or, Maſter of the executioners, or, ſlaughter-men: as Gen. 39. 1. So alſo, ver. 10, 11. the old Greek rendreth it, the Maſter of the Cooks: becauſe the word is ſometime uſed for a Cook, that killeth and dreſſeth fleſh, 1 Sam. 8. 13. & 9. 23. And ſome other again, the Maſter of the Butchers; becauſe the Greek term includeth either: but neither of theſe here ſeemeth ſuitable. Heb. And; as ver. 6.

carryed captive into Babylon the remnant of the city, and thoſe that fell away, that fell to him, with the reſt of the people that remained.] Heb. and the reſt: Whence ſome Interpreters ſuppoſing three ſorts of perſons here deſcribed, would have the firſt, ſuch as were found in the city, when it was taken: the ſecond, ſuch as had gone out to the Chaldeans during the time of the ſiege: the third, ſuch as had left the city, when the ſiege was intermitted, Chap. 37. 12. Others would have the firſt to be thoſe that were left in the city formerly, when Jeconiah was carryed captive: the laſt, thoſe that were now remaining there. But I conceive onely two ſorts mentioned that were led away; thoſe left in the city, and thoſe that had gone out to the Chaldeans together with them: as our Verſion well rendreth it. Nor is that uſe of the copulative unuſuall. So ver. 1, 3. Chap. 22. 7, 14. & 26. 21. Neh. 12. 42. Even thoſe alſo that turned to them, as well as thoſe that ſtaid in the city, they took along with them to Babylon, though better entreating, it may be, the one then the other.

V. 10. But Nebuzaradan the Captain of the Guard] Heb. And; as ver. 5. See ver. 9.

left of the poor of the people, which had nothing in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards, and fields, at the ſame time.] That they might till and husband the land, and it might not wholy run to ruine, and become utterly waſte, 2 King. 25. 12. Chap. 52. 19. but might yield ſome revenew to the King of Babylon, and ſuch Rulers, as he ſhould ſet over it, Neh. 9. 36, 37. But thus the rich and mighty, that truſted moſt to their ſhifts and means, were through Gods juſt judgment moſt rigorouſly handled, when the meaner ſort fared better then either they now did, or themſelves formerly had done: And by this means, God in all likelyhood providentially ſo diſpoſed it, that many poor, who had by the greater and wealthier ſort, been formerly oppreſſed and forced out of their poſſeſſions, came both to recover their own again, and to be owners alſo of their lands, who had in former times ſo oppreſſed them. See Eſay 5. 15, 17. & 7. 21, 22. & 28. 15, 18. Ezek. 34. 17—22.

at the ſame time] Heb. in that day: As Eſay 26. 1. ver. 17.

V. 11. Now Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon gave charge concerning Jeremiah to Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, ſaying,] Or, by Nebuzaradan. Heb. by the hand of Nebuzaradan: as chap. 37. 2. God not unmindfull of his Prophet, and his promiſe to ſecure him, chap. 15. 11, 21. inclined the heart of this great Monarch, and Conquerour, to provide for the Prophets ſafety: that which he the rather, in likelyhood, was alſo inclinable unto, having been informed by thoſe, who during the time of the ſiege had got out of the city, of the Prophets preaching and preſſing both King and People to ſubmit and yield themſelves up unto him; and what hard meaſure he had ſuſtained for ſo doing. See chap. 21. 9. & 38. 2—6. Now Heb. And; as chap. 27. 4. So ver. 15.

V. 12. Take him, and look well to him,] Heb. Set thine eyes upon him; as Pſal. 34. 15. So Chap. 40. 4.

and do him no harm] Heb. evil; as chap. 38. 4.

but do unto him, even as he ſhall ſay unto thee.] Let him have whatſoever he ſhall require. Thus God uſed him as an inſtrument to deliver and preſerve his Prophet, whom he made a ſcourge to puniſh his adverſaries.

V. 13. So Nebuzaradan the Captain of the guard ſent, and Nebuſhaſban, Rabſaris, and Nergal Sharezer, Rabmag, and all the King of Babylons Princes,] Heb. great ones; as chap. 41. 1. & 52. 13. Of theſe names, ſee before, Ver. 3. He that was called Sarſechim there, is called Nebuſhaſban here: it may ſeem he had two names; or there were two of them that bare that office: all the Princes, for, the reſt of them; as chap. 36. 12. and as, all the Captains, Chap. 40. 13.

V. 14. Even they ſent and took Jeremiah out of the court of the priſon,] Where as yet he remained, chap. 38. 28. Heb. And, as chap. 33. 24. they ſent and took, that is, they ſent to take; and ſo after, to commit: as, roſe and warred, for, roſe to war, Joſh. 24. 9. They give order to have him taken out of priſon, and ſet at liberty, and recommended to Gedaliah: which yet ſeemeth not to have been preſently put in execution. See chap. 40. 1—4.

and committed him] Or, and to commit him; as before. Heb. and they gave him; as 2 Chron.24.12. Eſay 22.21.

unto Gedaliah the ſon of Abikam the ſon of Shaphan] Whom the king of Babylon had ſet over thoſe that were left in the land, 2 Kings 25.22. chap.40.5. he ſeemeth to have been the ſon of that Abikam, that reſcued the Prophet out of the hands of the Prieſts in Jehojakims reign, chap.26.24.

that he ſhould carry him home] That he might either take him home to him; or convey him home to his own houſe at Anathoth, chap.1.1.

ſo he dwelt among the people.] Heb. and. as ver. 13. and, in the midſt of the people; as chap.29.32. & 37.4. Howbeit, the words would rather be rendred; Yet (as chap.27.15. and 35.14.) he abode ſtill, or, ſtaid, (as the word is uſed, Deut. 9. 9. Chap.38.13,28.) among the people; with whom, through the negligence of thoſe, to whom the charge of him was committed, though let out of priſon, with ſuch others as were found there, yet was he not looſed from his bonds, but carryed among the reſt in chains unto Riblah. See chap.40.1.

V. 15. Now the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, while he was ſhut up in the court of the priſon, ſaying;] Here beginneth a new relation of a buſineſſe that fell out in the time of his latter commitment to the priſon court, after he had been drawn up out of Malchia's dungeon, chap.38.13,28. and it is concerning a gracious meſſage ſent by him from God to Ebedmelech, who had been a chief inſtrument of helping him out of that dungeon, chap.38.7—13. Heb. And the word of the Lord was, &c. as Chap.32.1. & 33.1.

V. 16. Go and ſpeak unto Ebedmelech the Ethiopian, ſaying,] Heb. Going go, and thou ſhalt ſay; as chap.28.13. of this Ebedmelech, ſee Chap.38.7. Yet we are not hence to gather, that the Prophet was then at liberty; becauſe God bids him go, and deliver him this meſſage: it is a familiar term of incitement to the doing of ought, requiring nothing of the Prophet, but that he ſhould ſometime acquaint him with it, either by ſending to him, or by word of mouth when he ſhould come to viſite him.

Behold, I will bring my words upon this city for evil, and not for good] See chap.21.16. & 44.27.

and they ſhall be accompliſhed in that day before thee.] At that time, as verſe 12. Thou ſurviving to ſee it; as chap.16. 9. & 20.4.

V. 17. But I will deliver thee in that day, and thou ſhalt not be delivered into the hand of thoſe men of whom thou art afraid.] This reward had he for his piety ſhewed to Gods Prophet, Chap.37.7—13. Heb. And. as ver.10. and, before whoſe face thou art afraid; as Chap.22.25.

V. 18. For I will ſurely deliver thee,] Or, But. as Chap. 14.2. and, Heb. delivering deliver; as the like, Eſay 36.15.

and thou ſhalt not fall by the ſword,] That is, be ſlain; becauſe men ſlain fall to the ground. So Pſal.63. 10. Luk. 21. 24.

but thy life ſhall be for a prey unto thee;] Heb. and thy ſoul ſhall be for a prey unto thee. See Chap.21.9. So Chap.45.5.

becauſe thou haſt put thy truſt in me, ſaith the Lord:] He will deliver them —— and ſave them, becauſe they truſt in him, Pſal.37.40.

CHAP. XL.

Verſ. 1. THe word of the Lord, which came to Jeremiah,] Theſe words are the Title or Inſcription, of a word or meſſage ſent from God, and delivered by the Prophet unto the Captains, or heads of thoſe people, that were left in the land under the government of Gedaliah, recorded, chap.42.7. for, all between this and that, is but matter of ſtory, relating the time and occaſion of it, to cleer the way to it, and to procure the better underſtanding of it. See of the form, Chap.1.2,4.

after that Nebuzaradan the Captain of the guard had let him go from Ramah,] Heb. had ſent, or, diſmiſſed him (as 1 King. 20.42.) from Ramah, whither he had by over-ſight contrary to the Kings charge given concerning him, been brought, ſo ſoon as he underſtood who he was, Ver. 4. See Chap.31.15. & 39.11,14.

when he had taken him being bound in chains among all that were carried away captive of Jeruſalem and Judah, which were carried away captive unto Babylon.] Heb. when he had taken him, and he was bound, &c. or, for he was bound; and being found in bonds, was brought along to Ramah among the reſt of the captives intended for Babylon; no notice being taken of him before he came thither, in chains, or manicles, Verſ. 4. See Job 36.8. Pſal.149.8. Eſay 45.14. Heb. in the midſt (as chap.39.14.) of all the captivity; as chap.29.1.

V. 2. And the Captain of the guard took Jeremiah,] Or, as ſome render it, For (as chap.36.9.) the Captain of the guard took him. I ſhould rather take the former copulative, ver. 1. in a cauſative notion; and this in a diſcretive: for he was bound, —— but the Captain of the guard, ſo ſoon as he had notice of him, took him, and looſed him from his bonds, and ſet him at liberty.

ſaying, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this evil upon this place.] The infidel Prince is cauſed to utter and aver that, which out of obſtinacy Gods own people would not ſee and acknowledge: and it is not unlikely, but that by thoſe that fled to the Chaldean camp, he had heard of the ſubſtance and ſubject matter of Jeremies Sermons.

V. 3. Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath ſaid:] Heb. And the Lord hath brought and done according to what he ſaid.

becauſe ye have ſinned againſt the Lord, and have not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come upon you.] See Chap.50.7. or, for ye have ſinned againſt the Lord, (Heb. unto the Lord, as chap. 8.14.) and have not hearkned to his voice; (as chap.9.12.) and this thing (Heb. word; as chap.38.14.) is come upon you.

V. 4. And now] Here ſeemeth to have been a two-fold reading, the one moſt commonly received; which our Verſion followeth: another, ſome Interpreters exhibit, who render the words, And thou, or, as for thee; put abſolutely; as, and I, or, as for me, 1 Chron.28.2.

behold, I looſe thee this day from the chains which were upon thine hand:] Or, that are upon thine hands; as it is ſaid of Peter, Act.12.7. his chains fell off from his hands: for the word hand, is collective: and it appeareth that he came in chains manicled to Ramah, Ver.1.

if it ſeem good unto thee to come with me into Babylon, come, and I will look well unto thee:] Heb. if it be good in thine eyes (as Gen.20.15.) to go with me to Babylon, (a defect of the locall particle; as Chap.32.5.) come, (as 1 King.13.7.) and I will ſet mine eye upon thee; as chap.39.12.

but if it ſeem evil unto thee to come with me into Babylon, forbear:] Or, or (Heb. and. as chap.2.18. & 5.12.) if it like thee not (Heb. be evil in thine eyes; as Joſh.24.15.) to go with me unto Babylon.

behold, all the land is before thee; whither it ſeemeth good and convenient for thee to go, thither go.] Heb. unto good, and unto the right in thine eyes to go; as chap.26.14. V. 5. Now while he was not yet gone back, he ſaid, Go back unto Gedaliah the ſon of Abikam the ſon of Shaphan,] Theſe words are very diverſly rendred and reſolved. Who the perſon ſhould be that is here ſpoken of, ſaid not to have returned or gone back, is by ſome queſtioned; and the generality goes for Jeremy: but theſe among themſelves much divided; for ſome make all theſe the words of Nebuzaradan. So the Chaldee, thus rendring them, And if thou like not to dwell, then return to Gedaliah. Which our old Engliſh ſeeming to follow, rendreth it; And if thou canſt not be content to dwell alone, then dwell with Gedaliah. The old Latine, And come not with me, but dwell with Gedaliah; as joyning them to the word before-going, forbear, Verſ.4. But how the Hebrew will bear any of theſe Verſions, I ſee not. The moſt rather conceive them as a relation inſerted of ſome thing concerning, or occaſioning, the ſpeech enſuing. And one of the Jewiſh Doctors rendreth them, And when he had no mind to go back, he ſaid, that is, the bleſſed Lord God ſaid, Go back to Gedaliah. God ſuggeſted that to him, that made him willing to go, when as of himſelf he had no inclination thereunto; another of them, And when he had not yet ſaid, that he would return, Nebuzaradan perceiving yet by his ſilence, that his mind was rather to go back, then to go along with him, ſaid to him, Go back to Gedaliah. And others again, as the Tigurine, whom our Geneva, and the next Verſion before it, concur with, render them, as by way of parentheſis, (for as yet he was not returned, or gone back,) and then carrying on the ſentence, and go back, or, or go back to Gedaliah. Take thy choice, either to go along with me, or to ſeat thy ſelf elſewhere, whereſoever thou pleaſeſt, or to repair to Gedaliah, that he may provide for thee. Others, as our laſt Verſion, And when, or, while he was not yet gone back, he ſaid, Go back to Gedaliah. Either make thine abode where thou pleaſeſt in any part of the land elſewhere, or repair to Gedaliah and abide with him. And this ſeemeth the moſt probable of any of thoſe, that underſtand the words of Jeremy. But ſome others expound them of Gedaliah, and render the words thus, And becauſe he is not to come back, repair to Gedaliah. Since that Gedaliah is not to come hither to me, but to ſtay at Mizpah to ſettle things in his new charge, repair thither to him, who will be careful both to protect thee, and to provide for thee: the copulative in a cauſative notion is not infrequent; as chap.36. 9. & 38.23. The Italian to remove the ambiguity, rendreth it, And becauſe Gedaliah —— returneth not hither, return thou to him.

vitails] The word ariſing from a root, that hath a notion of journeying, ſignifieth properly, that which the Greeks call ἐϕόδια, the Latines, viaticum, vitails, or, proviſions for a journey; and ſo it ſeemeth to be here intended. Howbeit, becauſe it is uſed ſometime, for a meal, Prov. 15.17. for, a dinner, there is too ſcant; and a feaſt too large: ſome here render it, he feaſted him; and ſo ſome Greek Verſions, he made him a feaſt; or, he entertained him: and again, becauſe it is uſed of a conſtant allowance, or diet, 2 King. 24.30. Chap. 52.34. ſome underſtand it here of a continued allowance of diet by Nebuzaradan aſſigned him; but the entertaining of him with a meals-meat (though it is not probable that he would neglect ſo common a courteſie) was ſcarce worth the reciting: and for conſtant allowance for the future, it is moſt likely that he would leave that to Gedaliah, unto whom he was to commend him; the firſt therefore is here moſt probable: he would not diſmiſſe the Prophet to travel in a land ſo waſted, and diſpeopled, without competent proviſion and neceſſaries for his journey.

and a reward] Or, a preſent, rather; for it is uſed for a gift, either tendred in teſtification of due reſpect and honor, as Ezek. 20.40. or exhibited in ſignification of grace and favour, Eſt. 2.18. which becauſe it conſiſted ſometime in meſſes of meat, Gen. 43.34. 2 Sam. 11.8. ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors would make this and the former all one: but there is ſmall reaſon for it.

Thus this wicked King having, as by lineal deſcent, a malignant affection unto Gods people, puffeth up this young gallant (who among others, in likelyhood, had fled for ſhelter into thoſe parts, Chap. 40.11.) with hopes of raiſing himſelf, by the ruine of Gedaliah, that he might be an inſtrument of this peoples further calamity, whereby himſelf might have the more liberty to prey upon their country at pleaſure, having none now to protect them. Becauſe ſome of the Greek copies here render the words, the Queen of the King of the ſons of Ammon, (So the Hebrew commonly ſtyleth them, ſee chap. 49.1.) a learned late Writer would have the word Baalis here uſed to be no proper name of any perſon, man or woman; but a title of dignity: for, ſaith he, as the Queen-mother was among the Jews called Gebirah, Chap. 13.18. So was the ſame among the Ammonites called Baalis, which by a various diato bring them to the houſe of the Lord] But here queſtion is moved, to what purpoſe theſe folk ſhould travel with ſuch preſents to Jeruſalem, when as both city and Temple were now razed and ruined. To this the Jewiſh Doctors anſwer, ſome of them , that they had not yet heard of the taking of the city, when they ſet out, but heard of it on the way, and thereupon put themſelves into that mournful habit. But againſt this may be objected , that though they had not heard of the ſtorming and ſacking of the city ; yet they could not but hear of the ſtrait ſiege that was about it ; and could have little hope therefore of any free acceſs to the Temple. Other of them therefore ſay, that they had heard indeed of the taking of the city , and the deportation of the people ; but not of the demolition of the Temple : which afterward hearing of, when they were on their way, they turned in unto Mizpah, where they heard that Gedaliah the new Ruler reſided : for as for that which ſome add, that they might hope to find an altar built at Mizpah, inſtead of that at Jeruſalem, ſuch as Samuel ſometime erected there, 1 Sam. 7. 5—9. is nothing probable. It is more likely that , albeit they had heard both of the deſtruction of the city, and demolition of the Temple, which could not but be known in places no farther remote before that time, and was the occaſion of putting them into that mournful habit ; yet they were travelling toward Jeruſalem, to mourn over the ſad condition of the place, and in hope to find ſome of the Prieſts there, and an altar at leaſt erected in the room of the former, to receive ſuch oblations as they carryed along with them : and, to the houſe of the Lord, may be well here put, for to the place where it ſometime ſtood : as, houſes, and palaces ; and forts , and towers, for places where ſuch ſometime were ſituate, Eſay 13.22.& 31.14.

wherein Iſhmael had caſt all the dead bodies of the men,whom he had ſlain becauſe of Gedaliah,] To conceal his murthers, both of Gedaliah,and thoſe other,whom either together with him, ver. 3. or by this occaſion afterward, he had diſpatcht and made away. Heb.whom he ſmote (as ver.3.) at, or, by the hand: which is variouſly expounded: for ſome of the Jewiſh Maſters expound it,as the word in its proper and moſt familiar notion is wont to import,by the hand of Gedaliah; as it is ſaid,they fell by the hand of David and his ſervants, 2 Sam.23. 22.and they are ſaid,ſay they, to be ſlain by the hand of Gedaliah; becauſe he ſlighted the advice that Captain John gave him, whereby their death and his own alſo might have been prevented. But this ſeeming ſomewhat too far fetcht, others of them give their interpretations: Either, by occaſion of Gedaliah; for they came chiefly to kill him; and by occaſion thereof did the like to them,finding them with him: as, thou haſt conſumed us by the hand (that is,by occaſion,or, becauſe) of our iniquities,Eſay 64.7.or,in the hand of Gedaliah, that is, in the place,where Gedaliah was: to wit, at Mizpah: the word being uſed ſometime for a place, or, quarter: as Deut. 23.12. Eſay 56.11.Chap.6.3. See there. Others again render it, in the hand of Gedaliah; that is, in his ſervice: hand, for ſervice,or, miniſtery: as,by the hand of Moſes; that is, by his miniſtery,Num.4.37.Pſal.77.20.and ſo alſo,2 Chron.26.15. Mal. 1.1. Others, by the ſide of Gedaliah: as, I will ſtand at the hand (that is,by the ſide) of my father, 1 Sam.19.3. and, by the hand of them;that is, beſide them,Neh.3.4,5. ſuch as were about him, or,attending upon him: as 1 Chron.18.17.and others, in the hand of Gedaliah; that is,under his charge: as,all his maſters goods were in his hand; that is,under his charge, in his cuſtody,Gen.24.10. and, theſe were in the hand of Ithamar,for, under his charge, Num.4.33. but the meaning of the form of ſpeech, as it is here uſed, is plain enough, intending no more then ſimply, with Gedaliah, the men that he ſlew with him. Nor need we go far for the interpretation of it: we had it before twice,Chap.38.10.take thirty men in thine hand;and, he took thirty men in his hand; that is,take them with thee: and, he took them with him; as it is there well rendred: and why it ſhould not be likewiſe here,I ſee not: for it was before ſaid, with him,ver.3. yet ſo to be reſtrained, as was there obſerved.

was it, which Aſa the King had made for fear of Baaſha King of Iſrael,] Or, which Aſa the king made becauſe of Baaſha; for the term here uſed importeth no more; and is well ſo rendred, Ver. 18. See on chap.37.11. How Aſa fortified Mizpah, being a frontier Town between him and Baaſha, with the ſtones and timber, that he fetcht away from Ramah, we read, 1 Kings 15.22. but of the pit here mentioned, we find nothing elſewhere; ſome ſuppoſe it to have been a trench, or ditch, digged without the walls of the city. But this ſeemeth rather to have been ſome pit delved within the city, neer to which he drew on thoſe 80. the greateſt part whereof he ſlew, before he maſſacred them, the pit being ready at hand to receive them: but for what end or uſe it was at firſt contrived, whether to receive and contain water for neceſſary uſes,upon occaſion of a ſiege,Eſay 22.9,11. or for what other employment doth not appear: nor can eaſily be determined; deep and large it ſeems it was, as the Prophet ſaith of Topher, Eſay 30.33. that could contain ſo many corpſes.

and Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah filled it with them that were ſlain.] With the bodies of them; which were therefore no ſmall number.

V. 10. Then Iſhmael carried away captive all the reſidue of the people, that were in Mizpah,] Having out of all parts reſorted thither to Gedaliah, chap.40.11,12.

even the Kings daughters,] Whom the Chaldeans had left behind; either being not much regarded by them,when they were poſſeſſed of his ſons; or being by ſome means otherwiſe concealed, and ſo eſcaping at the ſurpriſal of the city. See chap.38.23. & 39.6.

and all the people that remained in Mizpah, which Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had committed to Gedaliah the ſon of Abikam,] 2 King.25.12,22. chap.39.10. & 40.5.

and Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah carried them away captive; and departed to go over to the Ammonites.] By whoſe king he had been ſet on work to do what he did, chap.40.14.

V. 11. But when Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the Captains of the forces that were with him, heard of all the evill that Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah had done,

V. 12. Then they took all the men, and went to fight with Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah;]Heb. And they heard——and they took, as chap.40.7,8. all the men; to wit, that were then with them, or, that they could get together.

and they found them by the great waters that are in Gibeon,] The great pool of Gibeon (whereof 2 Sam. 2.13.) lying in the way from Mizpah to the Ammonites country.

V. 13. Now it came to paſſe that when all the people which were with Iſhmael, ſaw Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the Captains of the forces that were with him, then they were glad.] Heb. And it was; as ver.1. and, and they were glad, for,that they were glad; as ver.5.

V. 14. So all the people that Iſhmael had carried away captive from Mizpah,caſt about,and returned,and went unto Johanan the ſon of Kareah.] Heb. And.as ver.8. caſt about,or,came about, or, wheeled about; as Eccl.1.6.

V. 15. But Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah eſcaped from Johanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.] Heb. the ſons of Ammon. See chap.40.14. Some render it, For Iſhmael eſcaped; to wit, by flight; not ſtaying, or daring to make head againſt the party that purſued him, which gave the people opportunity to go unto John. So is the copulative uſed, chap.38.23.

V. 16. Then took Johanan the ſon of Kareah,and all the Captains of the forces that were with him, all the remnant of the people whom he had recovered from Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, from Mizpah,(after that he had ſlain Gedaliah the ſon of Abikam) even the mighty men of war, and the women and the children, and the Eunuchs, whom he had brought again from Gibeon.] from Mizpah, that is, carried away from Mizpah; to wit, formerly by Iſhmael, ver.10. Heb. ſmot, for, ſlain; as ver.2. and men, ſimply, not mighty men. diſtinguiſhed only from the women as chap.43.6. and, child, for children; as chap.40.7.

V. 17. And they departed,and dwelt in the habitation of Chimham, which is by Bethlehem;] Some portion of land, that either David out of his own patrimony, or Solomon his ſon after him, (who upon his death-bed gave him a ſpecial charge concerning him, 1 King.2.7.) had in likelyhood conferred upon Chimham the ſon of Barzillai; for the kindneſs ſhewed him by his father,when he fled from Abſolom, (ſee 2 Sam. 19.38.) which though at the year of releaſe, Ezek.46.17. it returned again to the crown; yet may ſeem ſtill from thence to have born that name: places oftentimes retaining the names of thoſe many ages after, who had formerly held and enjoyed them, Pſal.49.11.

V. 18. Becauſe of the Chaldeans:] Heb. From the face of the Chaldeans; as ver. 9. and theſe words would better have been joyned to the laſt clauſe of the verſe before-going; as ſome other in like manner, chap. 50. 13. for there is not the ſame reaſon of disjoyning theſe here as there might be, Pſal. 96. 12, 13. & 98. 8, 9.

for they were afraid of them, becauſe Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah had ſlain Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, whom the King of Babylon made Governour in the land.] They feared that the Chaldeans would ſend in ſome forces upon them, to revenge the murther of Gedaliah, and the Chaldeans, that were ſlain together with him. See ver. 3.

CHAP. XLII.

Verſ. 1. THen all the Captains of the forces,] In this Chapter is related a motion, by the Captains, that had put Iſhmael and his complices to flight, reſcued the people from them, whom they were carrying away toward the Ammonites, and had a purpoſe to tranſport them another way into Egypt, Chap. 41. 17. made unto Jeremy, requeſting him from God to adviſe them concerning their journey, ver. 1—6. together with the anſwer returned unto them from God by the Prophet; withal taxing them for their deep hypocriſie and diſſembling both with God and him, Verſe 7—22.

and Johanan the ſon of Kareah,] Or, even John. As chap. 40. 8. he eſpecially among the reſt; as, the ſervants of David and Aſahel, 2 Sam. 2. 30. and, Say to his Diſciples, and to Peter, Mat. 16. 7. See Judah and Jeruſalem, Eſay 1. 1.

drew neer.] A term commonly uſed of addreſſes unto any by way of ſuit for relief, or advice, Gen. 43. 19. Num. 36. 1.

V. 2. And ſaid unto Jeremiah the Prophet, Let, we beſeech thee, our ſupplication be accepted before thee,] Heb. fall before; as Chap. 37. 20. So ver. 9. A learned Writer rendreth it, fall thou down in prayer before God for us: but this is to confound it groundleſly with that which followeth; this form intimateth their ſubmiſs ſeeking to him; the next branch his ſeeking to God for them, the ſubject matter of their ſuit.

and pray for us unto the Lord thy God,] Whom thou haſt ſpecial relation unto, as his Prophet. So they to Samuel, 1 Sam. 12. 19.

even for all this remnant, (for we are left but a few of many, as thine eyes do behold us.)] That was fulfilled which had been long ago foretold and menaced, Lev. 26. 22. Deut. 28. 62.

V. 3. That the Lord thy God may ſhew us the way wherein we may walk, and the thing that we may do.] Heb. And the Lord; as Mal. 1. 9. and, way that we ſhall walk, or, go, for, ſhould go: as Pſal. 25. 12. & 143. 8. and, *the word, (as Chap. 40. 16.) that we ſhall do*: as 2 Chr. 20. 12. They would have the Prophet tell them from God what they ſhould do; when as they (the leaders of them, at leaſt) were reſolved what they would do already, Chap. 41. 17.

V. 4. Then Jeremiah the Prophet ſaid unto them, I have heard you;] I am willing to grant your requeſt; ſo hearing is commonly taken in Scripture, Pſal. 6. 9. & 20. 1. a defect of the pronoun; as Eſay 1. 15.

behold, I will pray unto the Lord your God,] As well as mine; having taken you to be his people, 1 Sam. 12. 22.

I will keep nothing back from you.] Heb. not a word: as Chap. 26. 2. & 38. 14. So Paul, Act. 20. 20.

V. 5. Then they ſaid to Jeremiah,] Heb. And. and ſo alſo ver. 4, 8.

The Lord be a true and faithful witneſſe between us,] Gods ſpeciall attribute in an eminency, Rev. 3. 14. Heb. a witneſſe of truth: as Prov. 14. 5, 25. Thus in deep hypocriſie abuſe they Gods name, and take it in vain, calling him for a true and faithful witneſſe, when as mean while they intended nothing leſs, then what ſo ſolemnly they profeſſed and pretended, verſe 20.

if we do not even according to all things, for the which the Lord thy God ſhall ſend thee to us.] Heb. according to every word; as ver. 4.

V. 6. Whether it be good, or whether it be evil,] Seem it never ſo diſadvantagious, or dangerous to us. See Micajahs ſound and ſincere reſolution, 1 King. 22. 8, 18. not counterfeit, as theſe mens. Heb. if good and if evil: as Eccl. 11. 3.

that it may be well with us, when we obey the voice of the Lord our God.] As Deut. 6. 3.

V. 7. And it came to paſſe after ten dayes, that the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah.] Here cometh to be related at length (after all this long diſcourſe, or narrative, inſerted, to make way thereunto) that word of the Lord before pointed unto, and intended, Chap. 40. 1. Heb. *and it was (as chap. 36. 1.) from the end of ten dayes, (as chap. 34. 14.) and (as chap. 41. 14.) the word of the Lord was to Jeremy*: as chap. 34. 1. Becauſe it is ſaid, after ten dayes, ſome hence gather, that the Prophet ſpent all thoſe ten dayes in prayer: But that is not neceſſary. The Prophet having ſeriouſly and ſolemnly commended it by prayer to God, was to expect when God would pleaſe to return to him, and to them by him, an anſwer. The reaſon, why God thus delayed it, being not revealed, is not eaſily conjectured, much leſs can it be certainly determined. Some ſay, to add the more weight to the oracle, when it ſhould be delivered: and to free the Prophet from ſuſpition, of ſpeaking from himſelf, which might have been at leaſt, if not miſ-deemed, yet amiſs pretended, had he ſuddenly returned an anſwer. I conceive, it might rather be to puniſh their hypocriſie, by holding them in ſuſpence, who were queſtionleſſe impatient of delay, having before-hand reſolved what they would do, whatſoever the anſwer ſhould be.

V. 8. Then called he Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the Captains of the forces which were with him, and all the people, from the leaſt even to the greateſt,] No ſooner had the Prophet his anſwer and errand from God, but he calleth them all to come and hear it; becauſe all had requeſted it, and all were concerned in it. See ver. 1.

V. 9. And ſaid unto them; Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael, unto whom ye ſent me to preſent your ſupplication before him;] Heb. to make your ſupplication fall before him, or, in his preſence; as Chap. 38. 27. Dan. 9. 18, 20. See ver. 2. the like ſtyle given to God, ſee Chap. 37. 7.

V. 10. If ye will ſtay in this land, then will I build you, and not pull you down; and I will plant you, and not pluck you up:] Heb. ſitting ſit, or, ſtaying ſtay; as 1 Sam. 20. 5. So ver. 13. I will ſettle you, and proſper you. as Chap. 24. 6. See the contrary, Pſal. 28. 5.

for I repent me of the evil that I have done unto you.] I will no longer deal roughly and harſhly with you, as of late I have done. Of this repentance in God, ſee Chap. 18. 8. So Pſal. 106. 45.

V. 11. Be not afraid of the king of Babylon, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, ſaith the Lord:] See the like encouragements, Eſay 43. 1, 5. & 44. 2. an emphatical ingemination; not unlike that, Eſay 8. 12, 13. and Luk. 12. 4, 5.

V. 12. And I will ſhew mercies unto you, that he may have mercy upon you,] Heb. I will give you mercies, or, tender compaſſions, as Gen. 43. 14. Deut. 13. 17. I will cauſe you to find favour in the ſight of Nebuchadnezzar. as Pſal. 106. 46. and the hearts of all men, as well Kings, as other inferiour ones, being in his hand to wind and turn which way he pleaſeth, Prov. 21. 1. they needed not to fear man, if they were careful to pleaſe him, Prov. 16. 7. Heb. and he ſhall, for, that he may; as Mal. 1. 9. Ver. 3.

and cauſe you to return to your own land.] To the ſeverall places of your former abode, from which ye had formerly either fled, or been forced, Chap. 40. 11, 12.

V. 13. But if ye ſay, We will not dwell in this land, neither obey the voice of the Lord your God,] Or, and will not obey; for it hath reference to, if ye ſay. Heb. And. as Chap. 41. 15. and, ſit, or, ſtay, as Ver. 10. and, hearken to, as ver. 6.

V. 14. Saying, No, but we will go into the land of Egypt where we ſhall ſee no war,] As Ver. 13. ſee no war, for ſuſtain it, or ſuffer it: as Chap. 14. 13.

V. 15. (And now therefore hear the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Judah;] As Chap. 10. 1. but here prefixed, with repetition, by the way inſerted, to give the ſtronger aſſurance, and make the deeper impreſſion of what was to enſue, and was like to reliſh ill with them.

if ye wholly ſet your faces] Or, if you ſet your ſelves obſtinately. Heb. ſetting ſet your faces: to ſet the face toward a place, is ſometime uſed for to look wiſtly towards it; as Ezek.20.46. & 21.2. ſometime for to bend, reſolve and prepare for a journey that way, as Dan.11.17,18. Luk.9.51.

to enter into Egypt, and go to ſojourn there:)] Which yet is by ſome here deemed to have been offenſive, not ſo much in regard of that general prohibition in the Law, Deut.17.15. as in regard of Gods ſpecial Will at preſent made known unto them, and a particular injunction to the contrary now given them, to ſtay in the land, ver.10. and ſo continue under the Babylonian government, unto which God would have them to be ſubject, chap.25.6,11,12.

V. 16. Then it ſhall come to paſſe, that the ſword which ye feared ſhall over-take you there in the land of Egypt; and the famine whereof ye were afraid, ſhall follow cloſe after you in Egypt, and there ye ſhall dye.] Heb. And it ſhall be; as ver.4. and, cleave after you, for, follow you cloſely; as Pſal.63.8. Thus what the wicked fear, and by indirect courſes ſeek to ſhun, by thoſe means befalleth them, by which they think to ſhift off and eſcape it, Prov.10.24. Eſay 66 4. Chap.38.19,22. Ezek.11.8. For fear of the Chaldeans they will needs go into Egypt, Chap.41.21,22. making full account that they ſhould be ſafe enough from them, were they but once there; and thither God ſendeth after them the Chaldean ſword, that deſtroyeth both the Egyptians and them, chap.43.11. & 44.27,30. & 46.13,25.

V. 17. So it ſhall be with all the men that ſet their faces to go into Egypt to ſojourn there,] Heb. And (for, So, as Prov.17.3.) all the men ſhall be, that ſet their faces; as Verſe 15. Chap.44.12. that voluntarily and obſtinately, contrary to Gods command, bend themſelves that way; not thoſe that with the reſt are carried away by conſtraint, as was the Prophet himſelf among others, and Baruc his Scribe, chap.43.5,6.

Heb. ye ſeduced in your ſouls, or, in your minds; as Gen.23.8. Prov.23.7. or, as others, againſt your ſouls; as 1 King.2.23. Prov.7.23. ye ſought to beguile God, or to deceive me, ſpeaking one thing with your mouthes, and minding inwardly another: or ye have dealt thus deceitfully to your own evil and miſchief. A learned Scholiaſt rendereth it, Ye have ſeduced your ſelves; or, made an errour in your ſouls. And the old Latine, much to the ſame effect, you deceived your ſouls: ſomewhat the like form of ſpeech is found in a term uſed, Jam.1.26. but the former ſeemeth ſomewhat harſh here: the latter taketh no notice of the particle, which ſeems not here vacant. I ſhould rather render it, with a late learned Annotator, Surely ye deceived me againſt your own ſouls, or, your ſelves.

V. 21. And now I have this day declared it to you; but ye have not obeyed the voice of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he ſent me unto you.] Or, And when I have this day declared it to you, ye do not hearken to the voice of the Lord your God, (as ver.13.) or unto ought (and, as Ver.6. to all; as chap.32.23.) with which he ſent me to you. Yet had they not returned any anſwer to the Prophets ſpeech: but the Prophet knew well enough how it was with them, either having diſcovered it by their carriage during the ten dayes intervenient between their motion and Gods anſwer, Ver.7. or by their demeanure while he was delivering Gods meſſage: or (which is moſt probable) he might have it by revelation from God: as ſome other particulars concerning himſelf, chap.11.18,19. The like Syntax, ſee Chap.40.7,8.

V. 22. Now therefore know certainly,] Heb. And (as chap.36.6.) knowing know; as Verſ.19.

CHAP. XLIII.

Verſ. 1. A*Nd it came to paſſe,* that when Jeremiah had made an end of ſpeaking unto all the people, all the words of the Lord their God, for which the Lord their God had ſent him to them, even all theſe words;] Or, things: as Chap.36.13,32. In this Chapter is recorded what effect the meſſage from God before related, had with thoſe whom it was ſent to; to wit, their refuſal to obey it, perſiſtance in their former reſolution for Egypt, and accompliſhment thereof, Verſ. 1—7. together with a new prophecy delivered by Jeremy in Egypt, after they were come thither, Ver.8—13.

V. 2. Then ſpake Azariah the ſon of Hoſhaiah,] This is deemed by moſt to have been no other then that Jezaniah, mentioned Chap.42.1. Yet it might be another, and a brother of his; becauſe the father ſeems the ſame; and ſome ſuppoſe him the firſt mover of the journey into Egypt.

ſaying unto Jeremiah, thou ſpeakeſt falſly;] Heb. falſhood, or, a lye; as Chap.40.16.

The Lord our God hath not ſent thee to ſay, Go not into Egypt to ſojourn there.] Thus diſcovered hypocriſie turneth into outrage and fury. So they, chap.5.13. The word of God is not in them.

V. 3. But Baruch the ſon of Neriah ſetteth thee on againſt us,] They are not content to traduce and ſlander the Prophet, but Baruc alſo for him. The reaſon that a learned man rendreth, why they ſhould caſt this aſperſion upon Baruc, to wit, becauſe he being a younger man, ſhould be more hot and eager then the Prophet in the delivery of theſe things, is groundleſs; nor ſeemeth probable: nor could he be lightly more eager, then Jeremy himſelf was in the delivery of it, had he been to do it; nor is it likely that Jeremy made any uſe of him therein.

for to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, that they might put us to death, and carry us away captive into Babylon.] To ſlay ſome of us, and to tranſport the reſt. See the like, Eſay 10.4. and Ver.12. and what ſhould Baruc gain by this? But any pretence is colourable enough, where men are maliciouſly minded. Heb. to give us into the hand, or, power: as chap.34.20.

V. 4. So Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the Captains of the forces, and all the people, obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Judah.] Heb. And Johanan; as chap.41.14. and, all the captains (or, the reſt of them; as ver.2.) hearkned not; as chap.42.14. and, to ſit, or, abide; as Chap.42.10,13.

V. 5. But Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the Captains of the forces, took all the remnant of Judah, that were returned from all nations, whither they had been driven to dwell in the land of Judah,] Heb. And. as chap.42.13. and, all, for, the reſt: and, to ſit, for, to abide; as Ver.4. See chap.40.11.

V. 6. Even the men, and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and every perſon that Nebuzaradan the Captain of the guard had left with Gedaliah the ſon of Abikam, the ſon of Shaphan,] See Chap.40.7. & 41.10,16. Heb. every ſoul; as chap.52.10. Rom.13.1.

and Jeremiah the Prophet, and Baruch the ſon of Neriah.] Whom by force they led away with them; and ſome other alſo in likelyhood beſide them.

V. 7. So they came into the land of Egypt:] Heb. And; as ver.4. See chap.42.18.

for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord:] As Chap.42.21. Verſe 4.

thus came they even to Tahpanhes.] Heb. and they came unto Tapanhes, or, Tachpanches. An ancient city of Egypt, ſo called from a Queen of that name, 1 King.11.19. The ancient Greek Verſion termeth it Taphnas. Whence the later Greeks corrupting the term,and framing it neerer to their own language, as if it had its original with them from a word that ſignifieth a laurel,or, bay-tree, call it commonly Daphne, and Daphne Peluſiaca,to diſtinguiſh it from another Daphna in Syria. See Eſay 30.4. where it is termed in a more contracted form Hanes, or, Chanes.

V.8. Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah in Tahpanhes,ſaying,] Heb. And the word was; as Chap. 36.27.

V. 9. Take great ſtones in thine hand and hide them in the clay in the brick-kill, which is at the entry of Pharao's houſe in Tahpanhes, in the ſight of the men of Judah:] By this viſible ſign would God have confirmed, and as by an ocular demonſtration ſet before the eyes of this refractary and rebellious people, the accompliſhment of that judgment which before he had denounced againſt them,by the acceſs of Nebuchadnezzar with his forces into Egypt, and his purſuance of them among others there, from whoſe force they thither fled.

in the clay in the brick-kill] By the former word here uſed, though no where elſe found,is,by the Jewiſh Doctors,& moſt others,agreed to be meant ſuch material as brick is wont to be made of; and that by the latter word is meant ſuch a fornace, or place,as brick is wont to be framed and burnt in,is no leſs agreed on from 2 Sam.12.31. Howbeit, becauſe ſome Greek Verſions render the former word,an hidden place, and the old Latine,the former,a grot, or, a cave,or,vault;and the latter, a brick-wall;grounding in likelyhood, on a place in Nah. 3. 14. hence ſome make much ado to find out ſome trench, or ditch neer the Kings palace, whereinto Jeremy ſhould caſt theſe ſtones; on which,as part of the foundation,Nebuchadnezzar, when he came into Egypt,ſhould raiſe a brick-wall,and build him a palace there. But little reaſon have we for ſuch far-fetcht fancies to recede from the received Interpretation of the words: the main matter that ſome object is, that there is no likelyhood that a brick-kill ſhould be ſituate ſo neer to the Kings Palace, which could not but be by occaſion of the noiſome ſmoke thereof very offenſive. To which may be anſwered, firſt that the houſes of thoſe Egyptian Kings were many of them of vaſt amplitude; and the brick-kills therefore though they were ſituate not far from ſome of the Court gates, yet might be far enough diſtant from thoſe parts of the palace, wherein the King and his great ones, did ordinarily keep. Secondly, that this place might be rather a work-houſe to frame ſome ſpecial kind of brick in for peculiar uſes, then a furnace or kill to burn them; and that ſuch, as were either to be burnt elſewhere,or to be hardened only with the Sun; and laſtly, that the word rendred entry, doth not alwaies ſignifie a doore, or, a porch; but an opening, or, open way, that leadeth to a place, houſe, town, or city. So it is uſed, chap.1.15. and ſo rendred, Gen.38.14. and may well therefore alſo here ſo ſignifie, as alſo that the particle here rendred, in, is uſed alſo for, beſides, See Chap. 32. 7. & 36. 10. and the words may therefore be well here rendred, beſide the open way to Pharao's houſe.

V. 10. And ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael,] As chap.42.15.

Behold, I will ſend and take Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon my Servant,] As he is alſo ſtyled, chap.25.9. Heb. Lo I am ſending. So alſo Chap.25.9.

and will ſet his throne upon theſe ſtones that I have hid,and he ſhall ſpread his royal pavilion over them.] Thereby implying, that Nebuchadnezzar ſhould proceed ſo far in the conqueſt of Egypt, as to pitch his pavilion in that very place, not far diſtant from the kings palace at Tanes, where his brick-houſes erected for his building then ſtood: the word rendred pavilion, ſo termed for the beautifulneſſe of it, (for the term royall is not in the text) is no where elſe found.

V. 11. And when he cometh he ſhall ſmite the land of Egypt; and deliver ſuch as are for death to death, and ſuch as are for captivity to captivity;and ſuch as are for the ſword to the ſword] Heb. And he ſhall come, and he ſhall ſmite (the like to that, chap.42.21.) the land of Egypt,(that is,the inhabitants of the land; as Mal.4.6.) thoſe that are for death, to death, &c. to ſmite, for, to ſmite and give, or deliver up, or by giving and delivering up, to death. A complexive form of ſpeech, like thoſe Eſay 38.14,17,21. chap.36.23. & 41.7. See of this diſtribution of judgments,compared with chap.42.17. on chap. 15.2. See alſo Zach.11.2.

V. 12. And I will kindle a fire] As Chap.17.27.

in the houſes of the gods of Egypt] I will cauſe him to ſet their idol-Temples on fire, and burn them down; that I may execute judgment as well on their gods, as on themſelves. So Exod.12.12. Eſay 19.1. Chap.46.25. Ezek.30.13.

and he ſhall burn them, and carry them away captive;] Some of their idols, being of wood, or other like combuſtible matter,he ſhall burn: others of them, being of more rich and ſumptuous materials, he ſhall carry away among other ſpoils, to imploy otherwiſe, or to reſerve in token of conqueſt. See Eſay 46.2. chap.48.7 and of this form of ſpeech, on ver. 3.

and he ſhall array himſelf with the land of Egypt, as a ſhepherd putteth on his garment;] The meaning in general of this paſſage is agreed on, to wit, that by the land of Egypt is here meant the ſpoils of that countrey,which the Chaldean ſhould gather together, and go away enriched with them; but about application of it to a Shepherds wonted guiſe, there is ſome variety of opinion. One of the Jewiſh Maſters would by the garment here mentioned, have underſtood the cloth, that the Shepherd ſetteth up for a tent, to ſhelter him, while he ſtayeth in ſome one place, but taketh down again, and carryeth away with him, leaving nothing behind him, when he removeth to ſome other place; as they uſe oft to ſhift, Eſay 13.20. and ſo ſhould the King of Babylon go from place to place in Egypt, and ſweep all away with him. But this conceit needleſly forceth the term, and ſo the text: and ſome of ours therefore inſtead of his tent ſubſtituting his coat, go the ſame way,but keep cloſer to the term in the text.Another will have it allude to a Shepherds wrapping himſelf up in his garment to keep himſelf warm, becauſe in the wilderneſs he is to tend his flock as well by night as by day, Gen. 31.40. 1 Sam.25.16. Luk.2.8. which ſome of ours alſo follow. But other of ours refer it to the Shepherds going forth in the morning to lead his ſheep out to their paſture. (ſee Eſay 40. 11. Chap.31.9. Joh.10.3,4.) who is not wont to ſpend much time in arraying and dreſſing himſelf up, before he go out, but caſteth on his coat ſuddenly, and is by and by gone: and ſo ſhould Nebuchadnezzar, without difficulty or long delay, as ſpeedily and eaſily, ſeize on the wealth of Egypt, and go away with it. And others again, to his returning home at evening, when having fare all the heat of the day without his coat, or upper garment, (as the word ſeemeth properly to ſignifie,Gen.9.22.) while he tended his ſheep in thoſe hot regions, he caſteth it on about him at evening, at ſuch time as he goeth homeward: and in like manner ſhould Nebuchadnezzar return at his leaving of Egypt, not naked or bare, (as men are ſaid to be, when they want their upper garment. See Eſay 20.1.) but well clad, as with his coat, or upper garment about him. And this ſeems beſt to agree both with the drift of the Prophet, and the terms of the text. For as for that of the ancient Greek Interpreter,whom a learned Writer ſuppoſeth to have read chata, for, atah: and renders it, he ſhall purge Egypt as a ſhepherd purgeth his coat of lice.Which ſome expound, he ſhall at leiſure ranſack all Egypt, and ſeize on all her wealth and treaſure; as ſhepherds are wont leiſurely to look their clothes, and pick out their lice: it is but a louſie interpretation (howſoever ſome ſeem to be much taken with it) grounded upon a corruption of the text: and ſo therefore I leave it.

and he ſhall go forth from thence in peace.] Or, depart (as Chap.29.2.) from thence in peace; that is, in ſafety, without hurt or loſs, as 2 Sam.3.22,23. 1 King.22.27,28. or, quietly; the Egyptians not daring nor being able to ſtir,or to impeach him in his paſſage. So Exod.11.7. Pſal.78.53. See the like, Eſay 10.14. or, ſecurely,ſaith a learned Writer,as a Shepherd that having caſt on his coat, doth not fear in his return to be robbed or ſtript of it, before he get home. See the like prophecy of Nebuchadnezzar's conqueſt of Egypt, Ezek. 29. 19,20. & 30.19.

V. 13. He ſhall break alſo the images]Heb. And (as Chap.1. 3.) he ſhall break (to ſhivers, for thence ſeems our Engliſh ſhord ſhiver to have come) the ſtatues, or, ſtanding images. So the word properly ſignifies, Mic.5.13.

of Bethſhemeſh] A prime city of Egypt, with them called anciently On, Gen.41.45. the word ſignifieth the houſe of the ſun; and it was famous for idolatry, in regard of a ſtately Temple,wherein the Sun was there worſhipped,whereof Herodote, lib.2. See Eſay 19,18.

that is in the land of Egypt:] This is added to diſtinguiſh it from another city of the ſame name in Hebrew, ſituate in the land of Judah, Joſh.15.10. 1 Sam.6.12.

and the houſes of the gods of the Egyptians ſhall he burn with fire.] The ſame in effect that was ſaid before, Ver.12. ſave that God is ſaid to kindle this fire there, and Nebuchadnezzar is ſaid to burn them with it here; who was therefore no other then Gods inſtrument in this act; as Sennacherib before him in other the like, Eſay 10.5,6,15. & 37.18,19.

CHAP. XLIV.

Verſ. 1. T*He word that came to Jeremiah,*] In this Chapter is contained, 1. A ſecond Sermon or meſſage brought from God by the Prophet, reproving and menacing the Jewiſh people in Egypt, not ſo much now for their diſobedience in leaving their own land, and journeying into Egypt, contrary to Gods expreſs command; as for that groſſe and abominable idolatry that they committed, when they had ſeated themſelves in ſeveral parts of that land, Ver.1——14. 2. The refractary carriage of the people upon the delivery of it, expreſly refuſing to give any heed unto it, and profeſſing a ſtiff reſolution to perſiſt in their idolatrous practices, Ver.15——19. 3. The Prophets reply upon this their peremptory anſwer, Ver.20——23. 4. A new meſſage with the like menaces to the former, ratified by a ſolomn oath, with reſerve of a few that ſhould ſurvive to ſee the accompliſhment of it, Ver.24——28. and confirmed by a ſign that ſhould be made good upon the perſon of the King of Egypt, under whoſe protection they there were, ver.29,30.

The word that came,] Heb. that was: as Chap.1.2. to wit, from the Lord; as Chap.40.1.

concerning all the Jews,] Heb. unto. the ſame particle that was before: it came to him, to be delivered to them, as Rev. 1.1. which God gave to him to ſhew to his Servants. Howbeit, the word is ſometime uſed for concerning; as Chap.22.11,18. & 27.19. and ſo may not amiſs be rendred alſo here.

and in the country of Pathros, ſaying;] Another region in Egypt, that had its name from one of Miſraims iſſue, Gen. 10.14. ſuppoſed by ſome learned to be that which is commonly termed Thebais; which they conjecture, partly, from ſome terms, though corrupted, of places therein ſituate, as the Phaturite canton in Pliny, and Pathyris a Town in Ptolomy; and partly, from the ſituation of it; which from hence they gather to have been higher, and farther up into the Country then Noph, or, Memphis; as Noph, or Memphis, then Migdol, or, Magdolus; as the Greeks and Latines term it. Of it, ſee alſo on Eſay 11.11. It is mentioned alſo, Ezek. 29.14. & 30.14.

V. 2. Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael,] As Chap.43.10.

that ye might cut your ſelves off, and that ye might be a curſe and reproach among all the nations of the earth.] So ch.42.18. See Eſay 65.15.

V. 9. Have ye forgotten the wickedneſs of your fathers, and the wickedneſs of the Kings of Judah, and the wickedneſs of their wives, and your own wickedneſs, and the wickedneſs of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem?] See the like expoſtulations, Neh. 13.18. Heb. evils; as ver.7. evil.

V. 10. They are not humbled even unto this day, neither have they feared, nor walked in my Law, nor in my ſtatutes that I ſet before you and before your fathers.] Or, How they have not been humbled, or, Yet they have not been humbled. Neither humbled by thoſe afflictions, that for their ſins have befallen them, nor been wrought thereby unto any ſincere and ſerious compunction of heart and contrition of ſpirit, for their ſins the procuring cauſes thereof, 2 Chr.36.12,13. Chap.5.3. A change of the perſon, as if God not daining to talk further with them, ſhould turn his ſpeech from them to the Prophet. So chap.7.26. Heb. have been contrite; as Eſay 57.15. and, that I gave before you, as chap.26.4.

V. 11. Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael,] As ver.2.

Behold, I will ſet my face againſt you, for evill, and to cut off all Judah] God threatneth to ſet his face againſt them, purpoſely to do evil to them. Chap.21.10. Amos 9.4. to cut them off, and deſtroy them, Lev.20.5. Pſal.34 16. See ver.7. as they had obſtinately ſet their faces to go into Egypt againſt his injunction to the contrary, chap.42.15,19. ver.12. Thus God long before-hand menaced to walk croſly, or, thwartingly with them, when they ſhould walk ſo with him, Lev.26.27, 28. See Eſay 66.3,4.

V. 12. And I will take the remnant of Judah that have ſet their faces to go into the land of Egypt to ſojourn there,] Or, that did ſet their faces, that fixed their reſolution to go thither; or, have ſet their faces to go; that is, out of a fixed reſolution did go, and are come thither. See Chap.42.15. not thoſe that were brought thither by conſtraint, as Jeremy and Baruc, Chap.43.6.

and they ſhall all be conſumed and fall, in the land of Egypt: they ſhall even be conſumed by the ſword, and by the famine: they ſhall die, from the leaſt even unto the greateſt, by the ſword and by the famine:] See chap.42.17. but what was ſaid, ſhall die, there, is ſaid, ſhall fall here; becauſe men fall to the ground, when they die. So chap.6.15. & 8.12. from the leaſt to the greateſt; as Chap.42.1,8.

and they ſhall be an execration, and an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe, and a reproach;] as ver.8. Chap.24.9.

V. 13. For I will puniſh them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have puniſhed Jeruſalem, by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence,] Heb. And (as Chap. 38.23.) viſit upon (as chap.11.22.& 12.21.) thoſe (to wit, Jews) that ſit, or reſide in the land of Egypt; as ver.1. Of theſe judgments, ſee before, chap.14.12.& 15.2.& 38.2.& 42.17. See ver.6.

V. 14. So that none of the remnant of Judah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to ſojourn there ſhall eſcape, or remain, that they ſhould return into the land of Judah, to the which they have a deſire to return to dwell there: for none ſhall return but ſuch as ſhall eſcape.] This paſſage is by divers diverſly rendred. Some render it, So that (Heb. And) there ſhall be none, that ſhall eſcape, and be left of the remnant of the Jews that came into the land of Egypt to abide there; beſides thoſe that ſhall ſet their mind (Heb. lift up their ſoul; as Hoſ. 4.8.) to return into the land of Judah, to return, I ſay, to dwell there. But how this Verſion may be fitted to the words of the text, I conceive not: that, beſides, is without ground forced into the text. Our former Verſions (ſave that of Geneva, which our laſt concurreth with) So that none of the remnant of Judah, which are gone to dwell in Egypt, ſhall be left to come again into the land of Judah, although they think to come thither again, and to dwell there.] But neither will the words of the text admit this, that although, findeth no place in it. The Ancient Greek goeth much the ſame way that our laſt doth. The old Latine a little otherwiſe; And there ſhall be none that ſhall eſcape, and be left of the reſidue of the Jews, who went to ſojourn in the land of Egypt, and to return into the land of Judah, to which they lift up their ſouls (that is, hope, or, deſire; as chap. 22.27.) to return to, and dwell there. As if their going into Egypt, yet were joyned ed with a purpoſe, not to abide for ever there, but to ſojourn there for a time, as Elimelec did in the land of Moab, Ruth 1. 1,2. and the Shunamite with the Philiſtines, 2 King.8.2. and when opportunity ſhould be, which they hoped after ſome ſpace of time would be, to return back into their own country again: and this the words of the text may well bear. And theſe all agree in the Verſion of the laſt clauſe, as ours here exhibiteth it: for none ſhall return, but ſuch as ſhall eſcape, or, ſome that ſhall eſcape; intimating yet, that there ſhould be a reſerve of ſome, but very few. See ver. 28. But a learned Scholiaſt departing, in the connexion of this laſt clauſe, from all that went before him, thus exhibiteth it; So that there ſhall none eſcape, or remain to the remnant of Judah, to thoſe that came into Egypt to abide there, and to return into the land of Judah: for they liſt up their minds indeed to return to dwell there; but they ſhall not return, ſave thoſe that eſcape. But how that for cometh in here, I conceive not, and leave it therefore to the judgment of others. The old Latine ſeemeth to have kept cloſeſt to the terms of the text. Howbeit, I conceive, that that which our Verſion exhibiteth, may well ſtand, if one of the copulatives in the text, be deemed ſuperfluous, as oft it is, Pſal.7.9. Job 23.21. Chap.7.25. Jon.1.1. ſo that, and to return, be rendred ſimply, to return. See Chap.22.27. That of ſome, eſcaping, ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors, expound of Jeremy and Baruc, whom out of their Talmudick Chronicles they tell, that Nebuchadnezzar, at his conqueſt of Egypt, ſent back again into Judea: but the words are indefinite; and whether they died in Egypt or no, is uncertain.

V.15. Then all the men which knew that their wives had burnt incenſe unto other gods, and all the women that ſtood by, a great multitude, even all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, anſwered Jeremiah, ſaying,] Heb. And all, &c. as Ch.43. 8. The effect of the meſſage delivered from God to them by the Prophet here followeth. And in this ver. is a deſcription of the parties that return a peremptory anſwer of refuſal and diſobedience to it; to wit, ſuch as were themſelvs guilty of the crime charged upon them, or that knew their wives ſo to be; by the great multitude of whom it appeareth how exceedingly this idolatrous practice had ſpread it ſelf among them, as ſuch evils are wont to do, 1 Cor.5.6. 2 Tim.2.17,18. Heb. 12. 15. and the women ſeem to be the chief ſpeakers in this peremptory anſwer. See ver.19.

V. 16. As for the word which thou haſt ſpoken unto us in the name of the Lord, we will not hearken unto thee:] Heb. the word; put abſolutely: as the like, Eſt.6.7. Pſal.73.28. Luk. 21.6. See the like peremptory anſwers, Chap.6.16,17. and obſerve how they proceed from evil to worſe, Chap.9.3. At firſt, it was no word of God, that the Prophet ſpake, Chap.43. 2. Now though it be, yet they will not obey it: they were at defiance with Gods meſſenger before; now, with God himſelf, and his meſſage.

V. 17. But we will certainly do whatſoever thing goeth forth out of our own mouth.] Heb. We will doing do (as Ch.22.4.) every word (as Chap.43.4.) hath gone forth from our mouth: whatſoever we have reſolved upon, and have ſpoken, or have by ſolemn vow engaged our ſelves unto; as Judg.11.36. Eſt.7.8. Lam.3.38.

to burn incenſe] Or, in burning incenſe; as the particle is frequently in this form uſed. See ver.5.

or to pour out drink-offerings unto her] Or, and in pouring out drink-offerings to it, as before.

as we have done, we and our fathers, our Kings, and our Princes, in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem:] Their firſt argument, or knot of arguments rather, why they would perſiſt in their idolatrous ſervices, taken from cuſtome, and antiquity, the practice of their anceſtours; authority, the uſage of great ones, their rulers; and the generality, the exerciſe of it, in all places. See chap.2.28. & 11.13. Juſt the Popiſh arguments for their ſuperſtitions at this day.

for then had we plenty of victuals, and were well, and ſaw no evill.] Heb. and (but the copulative is oft ſo uſed; as Eſay 53. 2. Chap.38.23. ver.13.) then (to be ſupplied, that it may cohere with ver.18.) we were ſatiated with bread (we had our fill of it, as Prov.20.13. & 28.19. & 30.22. Ezek.16.49. bread, for, victuals in general; as 1 King.4.22. Neh. 5. 18.) and we were good (that is, merry; we lived merrily: as, good with wine, that is, merry with it, 2 Sam.13.28. Eſt.1.10. and, a good heart, for, a merry, or, a cheerfull heart, Prov.15.13,15. & 17.22.) and we ſaw not evil; felt none, ſuffered none, endured none, had no experience of any evil; as chap.5.12. & 42.14. A ſecond reaſon why they would not leave their wonted guiſes, from the plenty and proſperity that they had enjoyed, while they uſed them: aſcribing to their idols, and idolatrous ſervices, the good things, that God beſtowed upon them. See Act.14. 17. See of their proneneſs hereunto, Eſay 48.5. and their practice herein, Hoſ. 2.7,8. The uſual argument of blind and ſorry creatures, the ignorant Popiſh ſort among us, What a merry time it was, and how cheap and plentiful all things were, before this new Goſpel came in, when they had nothing but maſs and matins.

V. 18. But ſince we left off to burn incenſe to the Queen of Heaven, and poured out drink-offerings unto her, we have wanted all things, and have been conſumed by the ſword, and by the famine.] Heb. And (as ver.17.) from then; as Gen. 39. 5. Ruth 2.7. Thus profane and godleſs wretches meaſure religion by their belly; will ſerve God no longer then he feedeth them to their fill, and ſatisfieth their unlimited luſts; and prone to impute as their plenty when they enjoy it, to their idols, ſo their penury and ſcarcity when they are pinched with it, or any other calamity that befalleth them, to their neglect not of God, but of them.

V. 19. And when we burnt incenſe to the Queen of heaven, and poured out drink-offerings unto her, did we make her cakes to worſhip her, and pour out drink-offerings unto her without our men?] Their husbands, they mean, as Gen.3.16. whoſe approbation of what in this kind they did, it ſeemeth that they deemed warrant ſufficient to bear them out in the doing of it. And hence it appeareth, that the women here took upon them to anſwer the Prophet, as well as the men, yea, may ſeem to have been the chief and forwardeſt in this bad buſineſs; as was Jezabel with Ahab, 1 King.21.25. See ver.24, 26. Of the cakes here mentioned, ſee before, on Chap. 7.18.

to worſhip her] Or, to worſhip, ſimply: the termination of the verb here uſed, ſeeming rather to be a ſyllabical adjection, then a pronoun feminine affixed. Some render it, not amiſs, to idolize, or, make an idoll; to wit, of her, or it; or, to do idoll-ſervice to her, or it: as framed from a term that is uſed for an idoll, Eſay 48. 5. for that which one of the Jewiſh Doctors hath, who expoundeth it, of drawing figures of idols on the cakes they made for that ſuperſtitious ſervice, ſeemeth not ſo probable: and that much leſs that another hath, who interpreteth it, to chear her, or, make her merry; by an Antiphraſis: for the word rather ſignifieth to grieve, or, put to pain; whence Jabets had his name, 1 Chr.4. 9. and idols likewiſe juſtly theirs. See Pſal.16.4. A learned late Writer, becauſe in the Ethiopick tongue the like term ſignifies to be pretious, Mar.14.3. Luk.12.23. from thence deemeth that it may ſignifie here to make pretious: and knitting it to the next word, rendreth it, in making pretious, and pouring out liquors: which he interpreteth, in pouring out pretious, or, coſtly liquors: as, he digged, and made deep, for, he digged deep, Luk.6.48. That which I ſhall refer to the conſideration of others.

V. 20. Then Jeremiah ſaid unto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people, which had given him that anſwer, ſaying,] Jeremies reply followeth to this peremptory anſwer, acquainting them with the true cauſe of all the evils that had befallen them; to wit, not the neglect of their idol-ſervices, but their perſiſting ſo long in them; which though for a while ſometime under ſome religious Kings they intermitted, yet eft-ſoons they returned unto again, and that theſe their idolatrous practices, God, though he long forbare them, yet could not endure to bear ever, but at length for the ſame, inflicted thoſe evils upon them, ver.21——23. Heb. againſt, upon, or, concerning the men; as Eſay 1.1. but it is ſometime uſed for unto; as chap.26.5. and, anſwered a word; as Eſay 36.21.

V. 21. The incenſe that ye burnt in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, ye and your fathers, your Kings, and your Princes, and the people of the land,] As ver.17.

and came it not into his mind?] Heb. did it not aſcend, or, come up, upon his heart? as Chap.19.5.

V. 22. So that the Lord could no longer bear, becauſe of the evil of your doings, and becauſe of the abominations which ye have committed:] Heb. And (as ver.14.) the Lord could not further bear, (as Prov.30.21. See Eſay 1.13.) from the face of; as ver.3. and ſo again, ver.23. God forbare you ſo long, that he grew weary of bearing any longer with you, till he was weary of repenting. V. 24. Moreover]Heb.And; as chap.39.7. A further denunciation ratified with an oath,ver.26,28.

Jeremiah ſaid unto all the people, and to all the women,] Becauſe the weaker ſex ſeem to be as eager ſticklers as any in this conteſtation with the Prophet. See ver.15,19.

Hear the word of the Lord all Judah that are in the land of Egypt.] As Chap.42.15. and,all Judah, for,all ye Jews, or, men of Judah,ver.27.and ſo ver.26.

V. 25. Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts,the God of Iſrael;] As ver.11.

ſaying,ye and your wives have both ſpoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your hand, ſaying,] Ye make your ſelves guilty of grievous crimes, one on the neck of another, in making of wicked vows,and in making of them good,and in making account further ſo to do ſtill.See chap.3.5. Heb. women; as chap.38.22,23.and,and,for,both; as chap.32.44.

We will ſurely perform our vows that we have vowed to burn incenſe to the Queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her;]Heb.doing do; as ver.17.to burn,or, in burning; and ſo,in pouring. See alſo there.

ye will ſurely accompliſh your vows, and ſurely perform your vows.] Heb. eſtabliſhing eſtabliſh: and,doing do; as before: a paſſage from perſon to perſon, as chap. 29.19. and the ſame thing repeated, with vigorous ingeminations again and again, as to expreſs their extreme obſtinacy, ſtiff reſolution, and full account to carry things as themſelves luſted; ſo withall to intimate the fierceneſs of Gods wrath incenſed againſt them, for ſuch their preſumptuous and ſcornfull carriage toward him.See ver.28.

V. 26. Therefore hear ye the word of the Lord,all Judah that dwell in the land of Egypt;]As ver.24.So Eſay 28.14,23.dwel, or,abide; as chap.40.10,13.

Behold, I have ſworn by my great name, ſaith the Lord,] That is, by my ſelf; as Gen. 22. 16. ſo, by his ſoul, Chap. 51.14.

that ye may know that my words ſhall ſurely ſtand againſt you for evill.] Heb ſhall ſtanding ſtand. It is again repeated with a more vehement ingemination,to controll their peremptory reſolutions, and reſolute preſumptions, ſo ſpeaking, as if it had been in their power to croſs Gods counſels,and accompliſh their own purpoſes and deſigns, as themſelves pleaſed, ver.25. to aſſure them by a ſign which ſhould now be given them, that they ſhould find ſhortly to their ſmart by wofull experience, the truth and ſtability of Gods Word, which ſhould undoubtedly and unavoidably take effect,and be fulfilled; and the folly alſo and vanity of their own preſumptions,which ſhould be fruſtrated and annulled, Pſal.33.10,11. Eſay 14.24,26,27.

V. 30. Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold I will give Pharaoh-Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek his life;] God in theſe words, as he pointed them before unto the inſtruments, and the perſons of thoſe, by whom the judgment denounced ſhould be put into execution upon them,Chap.43. 10. ſo here he foretelleth them of ſomewhat that ſhould fore-go and make way for it. There is a two-fold queſtion here moved; the one, who this Hophra, or, Chophra ſhould be; the other, who it ſhould be into whoſe hands,he was given. For the former, ſome of the Jewiſh Maſters ſuppoſe, that there is no proper name at all here of any Egyptian King, but that Hophra, or, Chophra is by change of a letter (Chet, or, Het, put for He) Pharaoh inverted, to note the overturning or overthrow of him: and the Chaldee ſeemeth to go much the ſame way, rendring it, I will give,or,make Pharaoh tebira; that is, a confraction,or,broken. But this ſeemeth of the ſame ſtamp with other their Talmudical toyes; It is rather by the moſt deemed, that this Hophra,is that King of Egypt, whom the Greeks call Apries, being nephew, or ſons ſon to Nechoh; in fight with whom Joſias was ſlain, 2 King.23. 29. and herein moſt concur. But concerning the party into whoſe power he was delivered, there is more difficulty and diverſity of opinion. For ſome conceive that this Hophra,or Apries,was,by ſedition moved among his people,depoſed, and one Amaſis ſet up in his room; who for a time kept him alive under reſtraint, but for his own better ſecurity afterward ſlew him. So Herodote reporteth it, lib.2. and this, ſay ſome, made way for Nebuchadnezzar to ſeiz the eaſier upon Egypt,the Egyptians having been divided among themſelves, and not well cemented yet again. But others rather conceive it to be meant of Nebuchadnezzar, and the Chaldean forces, who under this Hophra, or,Apries, invaded Egypt: Howſoever that Greek Author make no mention of any ſuch their expedition into thoſe parts,either under Apries, or any his Succeſſours, following onely ſuch relations of thoſe times, as he had from the Egyptian Prieſts,who would tell him no ſtories,but ſuch as might ſtand with the honour and reputation of their own nation. But to this purpoſe Joſeph the Jew telleth us in his Antiquities,lib.10.cap.11. that Nebuchadnezzar in the twenty and third year of his reign,about five year after the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, having ſubdued the Moabites, and the Ammonites,invaded. Egypt,ſlew their King, ſpoyled their country, and carryed away the Jewes that he found there captive to Babylon. For my part, I doubt not but this Hophra was then King of Egypt, when that Chaldean King invaded that country,as was fore-told he ſhould do, Chap. 43. 10.& 46.13,26.a place parallel to this,Ezek.29.19. & 30.10, 11. Howbeit, as concerning Joſeph's relation, to let paſs his computation of times,which is nothing exact here, (See 2 King.24.12. & 25.8.) that which he ſaith concerning his deportation of the Jews out of Egypt to Babylon, ſeemeth not true; God threatneth the contrary that they ſhould die in Egypt,where at preſent they were,Chap.42.16.ver.12.See the like,Hoſ.9.6.and it is not improbable that Nebuchadnezzar would the rather do execution there upon them, being enraged againſt the nation, as well for the murther of Gedaliah and his officers with him,though acted by others, Chap. 41.3.as for their repairing for ſhelter againſt the Chaldeans to Egypt,unto whom he had a quarrel before for the like office,Chap.37.5. and unto his ſword they were now expoſed, having gone out of the verge of Gods protection. See Chap. 42. 10—16. Howſoever the ſlaughter of this Hophra (under whoſe wing they ſuppoſed themſelves ſafe and ſecure) by ſome hoſtile force, which they ſhould ſurvive to ſee, was to be unto them an undoubted ſign and fore-runner of their enſuing ruine and deſtruction.

as I gave Zedekiah King of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babylon his enemy,and that ſought his life.] See this before menaced,Chap.34.3,19,20,21.& 37.17.& 38.18, 23.and accordingly accompliſhed,Chap.39.5.hand,for,power; and, ſoul, for, life; as chap. 34.20. and ſo alſo in the former branch.

againſt the Army of Pharao-Nechoh King of Egypt,] Or,concerning; as Eſay 1.1. chap.23.2. & 49.1. This Pharao-Nechoh was the ſon of Pſammetichus, and was King of Egypt in Joſiahs time, who was alſo ſlain by him in fight, 2 Kings 23.29.

which was by the river Euphrates in Carchemiſh, which, Nebuchadrezzar King of Babylon ſmote in the fourth year of Jehojakim the ſon of Joſiah King of Judah.] Of this Carchemiſh,ſee on Eſay 10.9. whence it appeareth, that the Aſſyrian King had ſubdued it, and held it about Ezekiahs time. But the Egyptian King in Joſiahs dayes, went with an army towards thoſe parts; to recover it from them, which whether he did at that time, is not certain; yet is not unlikely but that he might. Howbeit whither making a ſecond attempt to the ſame purpoſe in Jehojakims reign, or the Chaldeans, now maſters of the Aſſyrian Monarchy, ſeeking then to regain it back from him; he and his forces oppoſing them, were then foiled,as by this place appeareth; yea his ſtrength ſo impaired, and he ſo ſtript of all that before he held between Euphrates and Egypt,that he never durſt in perſon ſtir abroad again out of Egypt, 2 King.24.7. And this great overthrow was by Jeremy foretold ſome ſpace of time before the ſame, in this Prophecy, though after it was entred into,and recorded in this latter volume with the reſt. The former part of this Chapter, is concerning this foil given to Pharao, Verſe 3——13. the latter part concerning the conqueſt of his country, Ver.14——26. with a cloſe of comfort and encouragement to Gods faithful people, containing a promiſe of protection and reſtitution, Ver.27,28.

V. 3. Order ye the buckler and ſhield, and draw neer to battel,] Or, Prepare, or, Weld; the word is uſed ſometime of preparing and furniſhing of the table; as Prov. 9.2. Eſay 21. 5. ſometime, of fitting armour for fight,or welding it in fight, 1 Chr.12.8. The Prophet maketh entrance into the prediction of this overthrow that ſhould be given to Egypt, with an ironical incitement of them, to make all the warlike preparations that they could, to encounter the Chaldeans and their forces, with whom they were to joyn battel, ver.3,4.but withal implying that all would be in vain, they ſhould not dare, or be able to ſtand to it, ver.5,6. of the defenſive warlike implements here mentioned, See alſo Pſal. 35. 2,3. and are fled apace,] Or, and fled apace. Heb. fled a flight; or, fled with flight.

for fear was round about, ſaith the Lord.] Or, fear being round about: or, by reaſon of fear on every ſide: a defect of the particle for; as Mal.2.5. of this proverbial form,ſee chap. 6.25. & 20.3,10.

V. 6. Let not the ſwift flee away, nor the mighty man eſcape] Or, The ſwift ſhall not flee away; (that is, eſcape by flight; as chap.25.35. See Eſay 30.16.) nor ſhall the mighty man eſcape, Pſal.33.16,17. neither ſhall be able to ſave himſelf, nor the one by flight, nor the other by his might, Amos 2.14,15. for the particle here uſed is not alwaies an inhibitive, but ſometime a bare negative. See on Eſay 2.9.

they ſtumble and fall] As Pſal.27.2. Eſay 8.15. being diſcomfited by the Chaldean forces, Ver.12,13.

toward the North] Or, in the North; in the Northern parts: for Carchemiſh, where this overthrow was given, ver. 2. lay Northward from Egypt; and the paragogical addition doth ſometime denote not a motion to the place, whereunto it is affixed, but a ſtay, or act done in it,as, on the ground, Gen.28.12. and, on the altar, Exod.29.13,18. and, in Babel, chap.29.15. and ſo it is expounded here, ver.10.

by the river Euphrates.] Heb. upon the hand; that is, place, or region, neer Euphrates, on the banks whereof Carchemiſh was ſituate: hand, for, place; as chap. 6.3. or, ſide; as 1 Sam.19.3. and, by the hand of Jordan, Num. 13.29. that is, beſide it, on the bank, or the coaſt of it. So alſo Joſh. 15.46.

V. 7. Who is this that cometh up as a flood, whoſe waters are moved as the rivers? Or, ſtir themſelves, as the waters of rivers: of many joyned together, more then one. See Eſay 11.15. the word waters ſupplyed from the former member; as Pſal.92.10. chap.6.23. and the verb importeth a vehement concuſſion, either through fear from without, Pſal.18.7. or force and violence from within, as Chap.5.22. and ſo here: ſo rather, then as that learned Annotator, her floods are troubled, or, muddy; as alluding to the ſlimyneſſe of Nilus its waters. See chap.2.18. Eſay 23.3. The Prophet in this paſſage deſcribeth the great preparations that the Egyptian king had made for this expedition, and with what multitudes of men, and ſhew of valour and vigorouſneſſe they ſet forward to the place of encounter, as if the waters of their river Nilus, or of Euphrates, had broken thorow their ſea-walls, or gon over their banks, and with a ſtream irreſiſtible bore down all before them. See the like, Eſay 8.7. & 59. 19. chap. 49. 19. And he ſpeaketh it, as if he beheld Pharao Nechoh marching out of his own land with a vaſt army, over-ſpreading the face of the country, and proceeding without reſiſtance. See the like, Eſay 63.1.

V. 8. Egypt riſeth up like a flood, and his waters are moved like the rivers; and he ſaith, I will go up, and cover the earth, I will deſtroy the city, and the Inhabitants thereof.] The Egyptian forces they are that riſe and ſwell and ſurround their banks, as their river is wont to do; and make full account to cover the face of the country, and to carry all away before them, and with their impetuous aſſaults to beat either the city of Carchemiſh, as that againſt which their expedition was principally intended, Ver.2. down to the ground, and deſtroy her inhabitants, ſee on ver.7. or city, that is, cities, (for the article is not in the text; city put collectively for cities; as Eſay 25.2.) and their inhabitants: whatſoever cities or people ſhall come or ſtand in my way. See chap.47.2. the like: and ſee the like peremptory Egyptian vaunts in confidence of his forces, yet all blown away with a blaſt of Gods breath, Exod.15.9,10.

V. 9. Come up ye horſes, and rage; ye chariots, and let the mighty men come forth,] Before the Prophet had by way of deriſion incited them to make what preparations they were able to make for their expedition then at hand, Ver. 3,4. now in like manner he calleth upon them, as being come neer to the place of encounter, and ready to joyn battel with the adverſe party, to come on gallantly, and in fierce and furious manner ſet upon fight.

rage] beſtir themſelves, as if they were wood or mad; ſo the word properly ſignifieth, 1 Sam.21.14. Pſal.102.8. Eccl. 2.2. So it is uſed alſo, chap.25.17. & 50.38. & 51.7. Nah.2. 4. where it is applyed to chariots, or cavallery, as here: the verb is plural; becauſe the noun, though ſingular, yet is collective, and might not amiſs be rendred cavallery, both here, and Exod.14.7. all the cavallery of Egypt.

the Ethiopians,] Heb. Cuſh, or, the Cuſhites, the Egyptians kinſmen and allies, coming both of Cham, Gen. 10.6. neer neighbours and confederates, Eſay 18.1. & 20.4. Ezek.30.9. See more of them, chap.13.23.

and the Lybians that handle the ſhield,] Heb. Phut, or, Put, or, Phuth: people of the ſame race with the former, Gen. 10. 6. 1 Chron.1.6. ſeated in Africa to the Weſt of Egypt; in which parts was ſometime a city of the ſame name mentioned by Ptolomy, and a river likewiſe that in later times retained the ſame appellation. See Pliny, l.5. c.1. Joſeph in his Antiquities, l.1. c.7.

and the Lydians that handle and bend the bow.] Heb. handlers, and treaders, of the bow; as chap.50.14,29. and two regents to one ſubject, as the like, Deut.33.19. Job 20. 17. Eſay 19.11. Of this name are two found in Moſes his Antiquities, one the ſon of Sem, of whom came the Lydians in Aſia, Gen.10.22. another the ſon of Mitſraim, from whom deſcended the Lydians in Africa, Gen. 10. 13. and of theſe latter a learned Writer would have to be the Lydians here mentioned, and to be no other then thoſe who are now termed Ethiopians; the rather for that they are here brought in as auxiliaries to the Egyptians, and have a peculiar mark ſet upon them, as noted for skill in archery. See Eſay 66.19.

V. 10. For this is the day of the Lord God of hoſts, a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his adverſaries:] Or, as ſome rather render the copulative particle, taking it in a diſcretive, or adverſitive notion, But. They mind one thing, but God intendeth another; as chap.33.5. Mic.4.12. They make account to carry away all hand ſmooth before them; but it will prove far otherwiſe, God in this expedition hath a purpoſe to take vengeance upon them to the purpoſe, which to this time, as a day of aſſiſe or execution, he hath hitherto deferred. So Eſay 61.2. & 63.4. chap.51.6.

and the ſword ſhall devour, it ſhall be ſatiate, and made drunk with their bloud.] It ſhall be glutted with their fleſh, and drenched with their bloud. See Eſay 34.6.

for the Lord God of hoſts hath a ſacrifice in the North-country by the river Euphrates.] Or, a ſlaughter: as Eſay 34.6. and of the place before, ver.2,6.

V. 11. Go up into Gilead, and take balm;] Or, Go (as Gen. 13.1. & 19.30. & 26.23.) to Gilead; where the beſt balm was to be had for the cure of wounds, chap. 8.22. implying that the hurt that Egypt ſhould receive by the blow that ſhould now be given to that State, ſhould prove incurable, and irrecoverable, Ezek. 30. 21—25. See the like of Babylon, chap.51.8,9.

O Virgin, the daughter of Egypt:] Or, O damſel daughter of Egypt: not, as ſome, Virgin; becauſe unconquered: it is a term uſually given to great and goodly States, compared to ſome fair and beautiful damſel, the daughter of ſome great perſon, living deliciouſly, faring delicately, ſumptuouſly and gorgeouſly attired, brought up ſuitable to his ſtate, whoſe daughter ſhe is, and, as is with ſuch uſual, priding her ſelf in her bravery and her beauty. See Eſay 47.1. So ver.20.

in vain ſhalt thou uſe many medicines:] Heb. multiply medicines: as, multiply waſhing, Pſal.51.2. and, multiply ſope, chap. 2.22. no medicine will heal or help againſt the ſtroke of Gods hand, Hoſ.5.13.

for thou ſhalt not be cured.] Or, without the for, which is not in the text, thou canſt not be cured; the verb in a potential notion; as chap.2.23,32. Heb. no cure ſhall be to thee. See chap.30.13.

V. 12. The Nations have heard of thy ſhame;] Of thy ſhameful diſcomfiture, Ver.5.

and thy cry hath filled the land] The out-cryes and lamentations for their defeat and loſſe of their men, is gone over the whole countrey. See the like of Moab, Eſay 15.5,8. Chap. 48. 34. and the ſame term uſed, Pſal. 144. 14. chap.14.2.

for the mighty man hath ſtumbled againſt the mighty, and they are fallen both together] That is, ſaith a learned late Writer, the Egyptians againſt the Chaldeans, againſt whom they come forth, but fell before them in fight, Ver.6. and thoſe that go this way, render the latter clauſe, and they ſhall both fall alike; as the Egyptians by the Chaldeans now, ſo the Chaldeans hereafter by the Medes and Perſians, chap. 50. 32. Others, not altring the received Verſion, underſtand it of the Chaldeans and Egyptians falling one upon another, and making much ſlaughter of men on either ſide: and ſo many of either party falling together, as did thoſe, 2 Sam. 2. 16. But the generality of Interpreters, both Jewiſh and others, expound it all of the Egyptians, their mighty men, that ſtumble one upon another, as in a confuſed flight is wont to be; thoſe that firſt fled, ſome of them ſtumbling at ſomewhat in the way, and thoſe that come after them, before they are able to recover themſelves, ſtumbling at, and upon them, and ſo both coming to the ground together.

V. 13. The word that the Lord ſpake to Jeremiah the Prophet, how Nebuchadrezzar King of Babylon ſhould come, and ſmite the land of Egypt.] Heb. concerning (as Pſal. 91.11.) his coming to ſmite the land of Egypt. Here beginneth a new prophecy; but this alſo as the former againſt Egypt; that only of a diſcomfiture that the Chaldean forces ſhould give Pharao-Nechoh's army in a forrein land, in the time of Jehojakims reign, ver.2. this of their invaſion of the Egyptians own country, and the ſubduing of it; which was done divers years after that overthrow, yea, ſometime after both Zedekiahs reign, and the diſſolution of the Jewiſh State, in another Egyptian Kings reign. See Chap.43.10—15. & 44. 30. of this expedition, ſee alſo Ezek.29. & 30.

V. 14. Declare ye in Egypt, and publiſh in Migdol, and publiſh in Noph, and in Tahpanhes:] Of theſe places, ſee before on chap.44.1. that is, in all parts of Egypt; ſay ſome, in Migdol, toward the Eaſt; in Tahpanhes, toward the North; in Noph, toward the South: for as for the Weſtern part, it lay out of the Chaldeans way. But not to ſtand ſcanning of this Chorography; theſe places ſeem rather here mentioned, becauſe the Jewiſh fugitives had in theſe places moſt of them ſettled themſelves, to let them know what was like to befall them, being by the Chaldeans found there.

publiſh] Heb. make to hear. as chap.4.5,16.

Say ye, Stand faſt, and prepare thee:] Make preparation againſt an invaſion: as ver.3,4.

for the ſword ſhall devour round about thee.] Heb. hath devoured round about thee. and ſo the ancient both Greek and Latine render it; hath already deſtroyed all thy neighbouring countries, and ſo cleered the paſſage to thee. See 2 Kings 24.7.

V. 15. Why are thy valiant men ſwept away?] Put to flight and cut off; or overthrown and beaten down to the ground.

The word here uſed is no where elſe found, ſave here, and Prov. 28. 3. which muſt give light therefore to this place: from thence it appeareth, that it is a borrowed term, taken from ſome vehement and violent ſhower of rain or hail, that either breaketh the boughs and branches of trees, and the ſtems and ſtalks of leſſer plants, like that in Egypt, Exod.9. 25. So a Jewiſh Doctor ſuppoſing it to be of affinity with another term uſed Eſay 10.33. or beateth down to the ground. So a learned late Writer, becauſe in the Syriack the word is ſometime ſo found uſed, Mat.21.12. Luk.19.44. or that ſweepeth all away, and ſo ſay the Jewiſh Commenters is the word commonly uſed in the Talmudick Language. So it ſhould be not unlike that the river Kiſhon ſwept them away, Judg. 5. 21. The verb is ſingular, the noun plural; and it would therefore be rendred, Why are thy ſtrong men each of them beaten down, or, ſwept away; as the like Eſay 2.20. & 26.19. Howbeit, the Latine here rendreth it, Thy ſtrong one is rotted; Which Popiſh Writers labour in vain to make ſome good ſenſe of: hither forcing that, Eſay 19.3. and the Greek, why is Apis, thy choice cattel, or, ox, fled? becauſe the term is uſed ſometime for a fat ox, or, bull, Pſal.22.12. See chap.50.11. to which purpoſe ſome fetch thither that, chap.43.12,13. But theſe both ſtray over-far from the text.

they ſtood not, becauſe the Lord did drive them.] Or, they can none of them ſtand (for the verb is again ſingular and in a potential notion; as Pſal.76.7. Who ſhall ſtand (for, who can ſtand) before thee when thou art wroth? and Joſh.21.44. not a man hath ſtood (for, could ſtand) before you; becauſe the Lord driveth them. It is an anſwer to the former queſtion, no marvell if they can not ſtand to it, or ſtay by it (as the word alſo is uſed, Deut.5.31.) becauſe the Lord purſueth them: it is he that by the Chaldeans driveth them before him. It may ſeem an alluſion to that ſpeech of theirs at the red-Sea, recorded by Moſes, Exod.14.25. See ver.21.

V. 16. He made many to fall, yea, one fell upon another,] Heb. He multiplied the faller (as before, ver.11.) and a man fell upon his neighbour, or friend, or fellow, that is, each one (as Ch. 34.9.) upon another; as Lev.26.37. Chap.19.9. & 36.16. See on ver.12.

and they ſaid, Ariſe, and let us go again to our own people, and to the land of our nativity from the oppreſſing ſword.] The ſpeeches of hired ſouldiers of other nations, that aſſiſted or ſerved under the Egyptians, repenting them of their undertakings when they began to perceive what the iſſue of them would be. See the like of thoſe that were aſſiſtants to Babylon, Chap.51.9. See alſo, ver.21. Of the laſt clauſe, ſee before on chap.25.38. the meaning is plain, from the ſword or force of the Chaldeans that deſtroyeth all before it, ver. 14. For as for that which the Chaldee here exhibiteth, and ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors admit, rendring it, the winy ſword, or, the ſword drunk as with wine, ver. 10. It is both too farfetcht, and hath no good analogy. And for that which the ancient Greek hath from the Grecian ſword; as if it came from Javan: it ſwarveth from analogy as well as the former, and is directly againſt the ſtory; as alſo what the old Latine yieldeth, from the face of the dove: though the word ſometime ſo ſignifie; as Hoſ.7.11. yet hath no place here: howſoever Popiſh Writers to maintain that vitious Verſion, ſome of them tell us, that the Chaldeans and Aſſyrians had a dove in their enſigns, in memory of Queen Semiramis, who was either nurſed and fed by a dove, or turned into a dove: and other of them, becauſe that is a groundleſs relation, and they find the ſame uſed of the Perſian ſword, chap.50.16. would have the Chaldean forces ſo termed for their ſwiftneſs, chap. 4. 13. & 48.40. as winged like a dove, Pſal.55.6. But the collation of places, where the ſame term is uſed, refelleth all theſe fancies.

land of nativity] As Gen.31.13. & 32.9.

V. 17. They did cry there, Pharao King of Egypt is but a noiſe;] The continued ſpeech of Pharaoh's forrein auxiliaries, uttered in contempt of Pharaoh, as if he were nothing but a ſound of words, or, a noiſe, like one of thoſe tinckling cymbals, or jingles, ſo rife in his country. See Eſay 18. 1. which may ſeem here alluded to; as the like, 1 Cor.13.1. one that vaunted and bragged, promiſed and menaced much; made a great bluſter and buskling, but performed nothing; ſo is the word commonly uſed for noiſe and tumult, or, a tumultuous noiſe, Pſal.74.23. Eſay 24.8. & 25.5. Chap.40.45. & 51.55. The reſtrictive particle is ſupplyed: as Job 8.9. Ch. 37.10. yet ſome retaining this notion of the term, would have it, the ſpeech of Pharao's paraſites, flattering their King, and perſwading him that the Prophet Jeremies words, concerning the overthrow that ſhould be given him, were but empty words, were but wind; as they, chap.5.13. Others, becauſe the root whence it cometh hath a notion of devaſtation, and waſteneſſe, would have the word here ſo to ſignifie, and to be the ſpeech of the people complaining of their King, that he is one of a tumultuous and reſtleſſe diſpoſition (taking in with all the former notion) and one that thereby is like to bring nothing but devaſtation and deſtruction upon this whole country and himſelf. But I find not where the word here uſed hath the notion here aſſigned it. As for the Greek that rendreth it, Call ye the name of Pharao Necho King of Egypt, Sam Esbie Moed: which the Syriack is ſaid to render, One that diſturbeth and tranſlateth the times: and the old Latine treading ſomewhat in the ſame track, Call ye the name of Pharao, Time hath brought tumults: which ſome parallel with that, Eſay 8. 3. they wrong the text, both by corrupting it, and confounding one member with another. I adhere to the firſt, as the moſt familiar, and moſt generally received. I ſhall add onely, that I conceive the words may well be rendred, Pharao the King of Egypt, is a King of noiſe. See of the like ſupply, ver.7,8.

there] So hath the text, ſham; which theſe laſt turn into ſhem, a name: there, at Carchemiſh, ſay ſome, where the fight was, ver.2. and then Necoch ſhould be the King here intended, as the Greek would have it, inſerting over-boldly his name into the text: or in Egypt his own country; as others rather: for this latter concerneth not a fore-going fight abroad, but the conqueſt of it: and ſo Hophra ſhould rather be the party here implied, Chap.44.30.

he hath paſſed the time appointed.] So both the Jewiſh Doctors, and ſome Greek Verſions, and moſt of our Interpreters. He hath let ſlip his opportunities, or the fit ſeaſon for action, and warlike employments: not unlike that, Ch.8.20. where they complain in like manner, that the times of year for ſuch affairs were over; and yet they were not relieved by ſuch ſuccours, in likelyhood, as from Egypt they then expected. And the moſt conceive this to be the ſpeech of the forrein ſouldiery, as before. Howbeit, becauſe the word here uſed doth ſometime ſignifie ſolemn meetings and feaſtivals, Eſay 1. 14. a learned late Writer therefore would have it ſo here to ſignifie, and to be the voice of the people, complaining, that by reaſon of their Kings tumultuous and turbulent courſes, and the troubles and devaſtations, which thereby he had brought upon the State, they had not opportunity to obſerve their ſolemn feaſtivals, as in times paſt they had wont to do. But this I leave to the judgment of others.

V. 18. As I live] The uſual form of an oath (Ch.44.26.) God himſelf here uſeth, as Chap.22.24.

whoſe name is the Lord of Hoſts] See Eſay 47.4. & 48.2. Chap.48.15.

Surely, as Tabor is among the mountains, and as Carmel by the ſea, ſo ſhall he come.] Or, it ſhall come: Tabor, a mountain of the Tribe of Iſſachar, Joſh.19.22. Judg.4.6,14. called in the Greek Verſion, Itabyrium, ſuppoſed commonly, but groundleſly, to have been the place of our Saviours transfiguration, Mat.17.1. Carmel another mountain ſituate in the confines of Aſher and Iſſachar, not far from the Midland-ſea-coaſt, and extending it ſelf into the land neer to mount Tabor, Joſh.19. 26. 1 King.18.42,43. Amos 9.3. The meaning is, as ſome of the Jewiſh Commenters, and others, As ſure as theſe two mountains keep their ſeveral ſettled ſituations, and fixed ſeats; ſo aſſuredly ſhall that which I now fore-tel and threaten, come to paſs and be effected. Whereunto ſome add, that there is here an alluſion to two ancient ſtories; the one of Barac, going down againſt Siſera from mount Tabor, Judg. 4.14. the other, of that ſtorm of rain, the approach whereof Elias deſcried from mount Carmel, 1 King.19.41,42. as if it were ſaid, the King of Babel ſhall as ſurely come upon Egypt, as Barack did with his forces upon Siſera from Tabor, and the ſtorm of rain, that Elias fore-ſaw and fore-told, from Carmel: But this ſeemeth over-nice and needleſs. Others thus underſtand and open it, As Tabor advanceth it ſelf above, and over-looketh, and commandeth the leſſer hills, and lower grounds, round about it, and Carmel the Sea neer unto it; So ſhall Nebuchadnezzar come into Egypt to ſubdue, and bring under the whole country, both before, and on every ſide of him. And laſtly, ſome later Interpreters, Though (as Joſh.17.18. Pſal.23.4.) the Egyptians be as Tabor among the hills, and as Carmel that goeth, (or, reacheth) unto the ſea; that is, albeit, they ſeem as well ſecured, both by ſea, and land, as Tabor that is encompaſſed with hills, and Carmel that hath the ſea neer to it; yet ſhall theſe things befall them. So ſhould there be a defect of the reddition or latter part of the ſentence, and application of it to the preſent purpoſe: not unlike that, Pſal.48.7. Mat.25.14. Mar.13.34. And this ſeemeth not improbable; more probable ſure, then that far-fetcht conceit of a great Jewiſh Maſter, who would have Tabor and Carmel here mentioned, to intimate, that the Chaldean forces ſhould hunt the Egyptians, as men uſed to hunt Deer, or other wild beaſts on mount Tabor, Hoſ. 5. 1. and that they ſhould carry them away captive, as merchandiſe uſed to be tranſported in ſhipping, built of the Timber-trees growing on mount Carmel: though the words next following imply this latter.

V. 19. O thou daughter] Of this title, ſee on ver.11.

dwelling in Egypt,] That ſeemeſt to have there a ſure ſeat of conſtant abode; as chap.10.17.& 21.13.

furniſh thy ſelf to go into captivity;] Heb. make thee inſtruments, or, implements of captivity; or, captivity furniture. So Ezek.12.1.

for Noph ſhall be waſte and deſolate without an inhabitant]Or, Memphis. See ch.44.1.v.14.and of the like condition, ch.9.10.

V. 20. Egypt is like a very fair heifer;] Or, calf. So the word is rendred, Pſal.106.19.Chap.34.18. A rich and goodly Kingdom, and not enured to the yoke of ſubjection; as Hoſ.10.11. Though in the word heifer, ſome ſuppoſe an alluſion to Apis the Bull, and Mnevis the Cow, adored with them, as deities. See Herodote, lib.2. and ver.5. And the Epithet here given her, ariſing from a root that hath a notion of beauty, ſome make but one word, but in a doubled form; as the verb it cometh of is found, Pſal. 45.2. Others divide it into two words, and render it, fair of face: as, fair of viſage, Gen.12.11.and, fair of ſhape, Deut.21.11.Heb. of mouth: and the latter word here uſed, though no where found in the ſingular form, as here, yet in the plural it is found, Judg.3.16. Prov.5.4. But, others go a ſtep further, and deem it a compound of three ſimple terms, fair face, or mouth, and God; and to ſignifie fair of face to God; as it is ſaid of Moſes, that he was pretty, or, comely to God, Act.7.10. as being of the ſame form with thoſe emphatical words, a flame of God, for, a moſt intenſe flame, Cant. 8.6. and, a miſt of God, for, a moſt thick miſt, Chap.2. 31. Howſoever it be for the genuine frame of the word; (for a two-fold exception may be taken to theſe latter; one, that the term of mouth is hardly found uſed in Hebrew for face, though in Latine nothing is more common; another that in thoſe forms a point is uſually in the belly of the laſt letter, which is wanting in this) yet certain it is, and generally acknowledged, that the word importeth an eminency of goodlineſs and beauty.

but deſtruction cometh; it cometh out of the north.] Heb. cutting out, or, cutting up, from the north cometh cometh, or, coming cometh: for I ſuppoſe the former to be a participle, the latter a verb; as Heb.10.37. though for the participle the verb infinitive be found, Habb.2.3. howſoever, the gemination argueth the certainty of it, as in that of Habbakuk, and in that of Ezekiel 7.6. An end is come, the end is come, it is come: and the word rendred deſtruction, no where elſe found, ſave in the Writings of the Talmudiſts, where it is ſaid to be uſed for the killing, and cutting up of a beaſt: (onely the word whence it ſpringeth in that notion, Job 33.6. where man is ſaid to have been cut out of clay) may well be deemed to have ſome reſpect to the former ſimilitude of an heifer; as if it were ſaid, from the North (that is, from Chaldea, lying north from thoſe parts, Chap.1.14.& 4.6.& 6.1.) ſhall ſlaughter-men come (ſo the Chaldee rendreth it) that is, ſacrificers or butchers that ſhall kill and cut up this fair heifer, or fat calf.

V. 21. Alſo her hired men are in the midſt of her, like fatted bullocks:] Her ſouldiery likewiſe of forrein forces, hired from abroad, (ſee ver.16.) that are with her, or within her, in her country (ſee ver.17.Heb. in the midſt of her, as Eſay 5.18.) are like fatted, or, ſtalled bullocks, (Heb. bullocks of the ſtall; as calves, or, heifers of the ſtall, Mal.4.3.and, calves out of the midſt of the ſtall, for, out of the ſtall, Amos 6. 4.) they are fat and luſty, and in appearance likely to perform, and go thorow with whatſoever they undertake: the Prophet perſiſteth in the ſame ſimilitude that he uſed before, ver. 19. Egypt like a goodly fair calf, or heifer, and her ſouldiery like ſtalled oxen, or bullocks. See Chap.50.11. the note of ſimilitude wanting there, as Pſal.11.1. Eſay 21.8. is here expreſſed.

for they alſo are turned back, and are fled away together,] Or rather, but; for the particle here is in no cauſal, but in a diſcretive notion; as Chap.43.3. as ſtrong, and ſtout, as they ſeem to be, they turn their backs, or necks (as the Hebrew phraſe is, and the word here to be ſupplyed; as Joſh.7. 8. Pſal.18. 40.) to the enemy, and inſtead of fighting, betake themſelves to flight. See ver.5.and the like, Eſay 22.2,3.

they did not ſtand] Or, could not ſtand. See ver.15.

becauſe the day of their calamity was come upon them, and the time of their viſitation.] See ver. 10. So chap.50.27.

V. 22. The voice thereof ſhall go like a ſerpent;] Or, Her voice, that is, Egypts, ſhall be low and ſubmiſs, not loud and lofty, as formerly. She ſhall not now bellow, like an heifer, Eſay 15.5. or like a bull or bullock, chap.50.11. as moſt there render it; but, ſhe ſhall now, as being utterly daunted and damped, whiſper ſoftly and ſubmiſly, like a ſnake out of ſome hole in the ground, ſcarce able to mutter, or utter ought for fear, Eſay 29.4. For as for the old Latine Verſion that renders it, a voice of braſſe; that is, ſay your Popiſh Writers, the ſound of trumpets, or, of cymbals, and gingles, 1 Cor.13.1. See Eſay 18.1. ſome writing it this way, and ſome that way, ſome applying it to the Chaldeans, and ſome to the Egyptians; it is grounded on a palpable miſtake, and we ſhall leave it therefore to them, to make what they pleaſe of it. Nor do thoſe Jewiſh Commenters ſtray leſs from the notion of the text, who expound it of the noiſe and ſound of the Chaldean arms and army, that ſhould come creeping toward Egypt, like a Serpent, Gen.3.14. And as for their Talmudiſts, they doat here prodigiouſly, when they would have it meant, that the cry of Egypt ſhould be ſo loud, that it ſhould paſſe through the whole world; like that hideous cry that the Serpent made, what time, God having paſt that doom on him, that he ſhould go upon his belly, the Angels came down from heaven, and cut off his legs, Gen.3.14.

for they ſhall march with an army,] Or, when (as chap. 11. 23. & 10.2.) they, to wit, her enemies, the Chaldeans ſhall come marching with an army into her country.

and come againſt her with axes, as hewers of wood.] The Prophet here paſſeth to another compariſon, wherein Egypt is compared to a wood or a foreſt, bethwacked with trees; either in regard of her numberleſs towns and cities, or of the multitude of her people. Howbeit, there want not thoſe, who conceive ſome reſpect to be had here to the former reſemblance, ſuppoſing the ſtate of Egypt to be compared to a wanton heifer running at large; and the country to a large wood, grove, or coppice, wherein ſhe ran ſo at large, graſing, browſing, and ſporting her ſelf at pleaſure. See ſomewhat the like to this, Chap.22.7. Heb. hewers of trees; as Joſh. 9. 21. Judg.9.8.

V. 23. They ſhall cut down her foreſt, ſaith the Lord;] Or, That ſhall fell, (a defect of the relative; as Chap.31.21,24.) or, (as ſome of the Rabbines would have it read in the imperative; which though others of them juſtly controll, yet ſome of ours retain) Fell ye, (as ſpoken in the perſon of God enjoyning it) the trees (ſupplyed from ver.22.) of her foreſt. See Eſay 10.18,33,34. chap.22.7.

though it cannot be ſearched:]Heb. though (as Joſh.17.18.) it ſhall not be ſearched: but the verb is in a potential notion, as ſome other in this Chapter before, ver.11,15,21. It is a proverbial form of ſpeech, intimating ſuch a number or quantity of ought, as is vain to endeavor to take any reckoning or tale of it. See 1 King.4.47. 2 Chron.4.18. of the almoſt incredible number of their towns of note, and cities anciently, and the populouſneſs of the country. See Herodote, l.2. and Diodore, l.1. c.31. Howbeit, ſome expound the form here uſed, as implying not ſo much the number of the places or people, as the difficulty of paſſage and acceſs to them, the land lying low, and full of ſtreams, and water-courſes, either branching out of Nilus, or derived from it. See Eſay 19.5——10. Ezek. 29.3,4. But the former ſeemeth the right. Howbeit, the Jewiſh Commenters expound this clauſe of the Chaldean army that was to come againſt Egypt, and render the words, for (as chap.10.21.) it (that is, their army, Ver. 22.) is unſearchable. But it ſeemeth rather to have relation to Egypt.

becauſe they are more then the graſhoppers, and are innumerable.] This laſt clauſe is likewiſe variouſly expounded; ſome conceiving it to be ſpoken of the Chaldean forces: as rendring a reaſon how they ſhould be able to do ſuch execution, as was formerly intimated, to wit, fell down a whole foreſt ſo large, as ſeemed ſcarce poſſible to pierce thorow it, or find an end of it. To which anſwer is returned, that their multitude ſhould be anſwerable to the largeneſſe of that foreſt; for they ſhould come, as locuſts, that are wont to come flying, in ſuch ſwarms, or clouds rather, that they over-ſpread a whole country, and ſeize on all the trees and ſhrubs, and whatſoever elſe is green that groweth in it, and make havock of all before them. See Exod.10.5,15. Eſay 7.19,20. Joel 1. 6,7.& 2.2——10. And this expoſition ſeemeth moſt probable. Yet ſome others underſtand it, as ſpoken of the Egyptians; and either as rendring a reaſon of the branch next before-going; why her foreſt could not be ſearched; to wit, becauſe the trees thereof are more then locuſts; (Heb. locuſt; taken collectively: as Judg. 6.5,10.) and there is no number of them. as Pſal.104.34,35. or, as further preoccupating and meeting with what might be ſuggeſted to make the matter here foretold unlikely ever to be effected: and of theſe, ſome render the particle, as before; though (as it is repeated alſo in the like ſpeech, Joſh.17.18.) they be ſo many: as if it were ſaid, their numberleſſe number ſhall not hinder the doing of this execution upon them.

V. 24. The daughter of Egypt ſhall be confounded] See Verſ. 11,19.

ſhe ſhall be delivered into the hand of the people of the North.] hand, for, power; as chap.44.30. North; as Ver.20.

V. 25. The Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, ſaith;] Or, hath ſaid it; as chap.48.8. and it ſhall ſurely therefore be effected; for, ſhall he ſay, and not do? Num. 23.19. The Jewiſh Doctor ſuppoſeth the God of Iſrael, to be here added, to intimate that the ground of Gods proceeding againſt Egypt, was for the wrong done to Iſrael in the death of Joſiah, 2 Kings 23.29. but this ſeemeth ſomewhat too nice and narrow. See the ſame ſtyle with this here, chap.35.13,17.

Behold, I will puniſh the multitude of No,] Heb. Lo I am viſiting, (or, coming to viſit) to, or, on, (as chap.44.13.& 50.18.) Amon Minno, or, from No. The Chaldee by Amon underſtandeth the company, or, promiſcuous multitude, which our Verſion followeth, taking Amon for the ſame with Hamon; and ſo is the word uſed, chap. 52.15. as alſo many take it, Nah.3.8. rendring No Amon there, populous No: whereunto would fit well that of a late learned Annotator, could it be made good, who affirmeth Amon here to be a dialect, for Ommim, or ummim; that is, people. But I ſee little ground for this conceit. The learned Scholiaſt, who alone ſeemeth to have taken notice of the particle min, rendreth it, the multitude born at, or iſſuing from No: as, the boar from the wood, for, the wild boar, Pſal.80.13. But others both there and here render it nouriſher, or, nouriſhing, No: and ſo Amon here ſhould be the ſame with Omen, Num.11.12. and theſe would have No, or Alexandria, (for that both Jews and ours moſt generally agree to be meant) to be ſo called, as a city that by its trade and traffick being the principall Sea-Town and Mart for Merchants from forrein parts, fed and furniſhed the whole country with wares and commodities of all ſorts from abroad. The ſame term is found, Prov.8.30. but there ſomewhat ambiguous, whether one nouriſhing, or, nouriſhed, as ſome Greeks here render it: and the ancient Greek here Ammon her ſon; as if it were rather nurſe-child, then nurſe: whereunto alſo they ſeem to incline that render it, the foſter-child of No; to wit, Pharao, and Egypt: for they go too far wide here, that render it, the cunning workman, or, artificer, of No; becauſe the term Amon is ſo found uſed, Cant. 7. 1. The Jewiſh Doctors affirm it to be the name of the King of Alexandria that then was. But for that they give no great ground or proof. A learned late Writer here departing from the common ſtream of former Authors, would have this Amon to be Jupiter, whom the Egyptians ſhould term Amoun: the Africans (and the Greeks and Latines after them) Ammon, and Hammon, not from a Greek word that ſignifieth ſand, becauſe a famous Temple of his was ſituate amidſt the ſandy waſtes of Cyrene; but from Ham, or Cham, one of Noahs ſons; whom another in part complying with, would have Amon to be Jupiter Altor, that is, the nouriſher; as before: or Jupiter Stator, that is, the confirmer, or, eſtabliſher: becauſe the word Amen hath ſometime a note of ſtability and firmneſs, Eſay 65.16. that former learned Writer would likewiſe have No, not to be Alexandria, a city built, long after the times of thoſe Prophets that mention it, by Alexander, whoſe name it yet beareth, but to be Dioſpolis, as the Greeks render it, Ezek.30.16. which Amon No, or, No Amon, doth, as he conceiveth, exactly expreſſe. Howbeit, becauſe there are two Cities of that name in Egypt, the one famous, called alſo Thebe, but an inland city, and not ſo furniſhed with water, as the deſcription of No in Nahum importeth, the other ſituate in the lower part of Egypt, with much water about it, but of leſſe note, whereas Nahums No ſeems to come in competition with Nineveh it ſelf: this learned Author ſeemeth ſomewhat uncertain in his judgment concerning this No, ſometime hanging it upon the one, ſometime fixing it upon the other. I ſhall leave the controverſie to be decided by others better ſeen, and verſed therein then my ſelf. Hence it appeareth, as alſo by thoſe other places, that it was a principal city in the land of Egypt, and of great repute, and renoun alſo in forrein parts.

V. 26. And I will deliver them into the hand of thoſe that ſeek their lives, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar King of Babylon, and into the hand of his Servants.] See Chap.44.30. and the like, chap.34.20,21.

and afterward, it ſhall be inhabited, as in the dayes of old, ſaith the Lord.] After the ſpace of fourty years expired from this time of its conqueſt, and made ſpoil of it by the Chaldeans. See Ezek.29.13. Heb. ſhall ſit, or, dwell, or, inhabit: as Eſay 13.20. Chap.17.6. & 50.39. and, dayes of antiquity: as Lam.1.7. & 5.21. yet the meaning is not that Egypt ſhould at that time be raiſed to its former luſter again, but that it ſhould then be peopled again, whereas by this conqueſt, there had been much of it diſpeopled, and the reſidue much impaired. See Ezek.29.13——15.

V. 27. But fear not thou, O my ſervant Jacob, and be not diſmayed, O Iſrael; for behold I will ſave thee from afar off, and thy ſeed from the land of their captivity; and Jacob ſhall return, and be in reſt, and at eaſe, and none ſhall make him afraid.] A conſolatory clauſe for the comfort and ſupport of Gods faithful ones, though diſperſed abroad, and abiding in captivity at preſent. CHAP. XLVII.

Verſ. 1. THe word of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet againſt the Philiſtines,] Or, Concerning the Philiſtines; as chap.44.1. The foregoing two prophecies, chap.46.1,13. were concerning the Egyptians, the wonted ſtay that Gods people were too prone to rely upon: the preſent in this Chapter, is concerning the Philiſtines the bad neighbours, and both ancient and conſtant vexers and annoyers of them. See Eſay 9.12. chap.25.20. and the like prophecies concerning them, Eſay 14.29. Ezek.25.15. Amos 1.6. Zeph.2.4,5. Of the phraſe, ſee Chap.1.2,4.

before that Pharaoh ſmote Gaza.] Before that Pharaoh Nechoh, as moſt ſuppoſe, either by the way, in his expedition againſt Carchemiſh, as ſome would have it, 2 Chr.35.20. or, as others, rather, in his return from thence, after he had ſlain Joſiah in Megiddo, 2 King.23.29. and was now on his way homeward, had ſmote, that is, by force ſtormed and taken, (as Ezek.40.1.) Gaza. Heb. Azzah; a ſtrong town of the Philiſtines, Judg.16.1. See on Chap.25.20. And this ſeemeth more probable, then that which the Rabbines out of their Seder Olam, or, Chronicles, relate, that the Egyptians coming to relieve Jeruſalem, beſieged by the Chaldeans, in the tenth of Zedekiahs reign, when they found them riſen, ſhould in their return home over-run Paleſtine, and ſurpriſe Gaza. See chap.34.22. & 37.9,11. This is here mentioned, to ſhew that this Prophecy was then delivered, when the Philiſtines were in a preſent quiet and flouriſhing condition, and had no fear of ought, either from Egypt, or from the Aſſyrians much leſſe, with whom they were then at no enmity: as alſo, as ſome ſuppoſe, to let the Philiſtines know, that they were to receive a far greater, and more general hurt from the Chaldeans, then that blow that the Egyptians were ſhortly to give them in the ſurpriſal of Gaza.

V. 2. Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold waters riſe up out of the North, and ſhall be an over-flowing flood, and ſhall over-flow the land, and all that is therein, the city, and them that dwell therein] A far greater deluge will come upon the Philiſtines land, from the North, (that is, from Chaldea, Eſay 14.31. Chap.6.1.) then that tempeſt from the South, from Egypt, Eſay 30.6. that lighted upon Gaza: ſuch an one as ſhould over-flow and drown, not ſome one city alone, but the whole land, city, and country. As the Egyptians excurſions are reſembled by the inundations of Nilus, chap. 44.7,8. So the Aſſyrian and Chaldean Invaſion by the over-flowings of Euphrates, Eſay 8.7. See the like, Eſay 28.18.& 59.19. chap.51.42. Heb. the land, and the fulneſſe thereof; as Pſal. 24.1. and the city: not this, or that particular, but collectively, the cities, in generall; as Eſay 19.2.& 27.10. See chap.46.8. This, in all likelyhood, came to paſs, not long after the deſtruction of Jeruſalem. See Joſephs Antiquities, lib.13.c.7.

then the men ſhall cry, and the Inhabitants of the land ſhall howl.] Heb. and; as chap.44.19. and man, for men; the man they ſhall cry, for, they ſhall cry each one: the noun ſingular, the verb plural; as chap.4.3.& 44.16. there ſhall be nothing but crying and howling every where with them. See Eſay 14.32.

V. 3. At the noiſe of the ſtamping of the hoofs of his ſtrong horſes;] A deſcription of ſuch a dreadfull approach of the enemy, as ſhould ſo affright men, that it ſhould make them, forgetting all natural affection, to ſeek onely how to ſhift for themſelves, with an utter neglect of thoſe that are wont to be naturally deareſt unto perſons of all degrees. Inſtead of ſtrong horſes, which our Verſion exhibiteth, ſome both here, and Judg.5.21. a place parallel to this, underſtand ſtrong men; among whom the old Latine: the word is uſed of the prime, or principal, eminent, or excellent in any kind, whereof it is vſed. See Eſay 16.13. and is moſt attributed unto horſes, or, buls, Pſal. 22.12. Eſay 34.7. and horſes, or ſteeds, Chap. 8.16. and 50.11. and ſo here; and might well be rendred, without further addition, of his ſteeds: the word rendred ſtamping, is no where elſe found, but of the like notion another, Judg. 5.22. by which ſome of the Rabbines here expound it: Yet the Chaldee rendreth it, by a word that ſignifieth to go, paſſe, or pace, in ſound neer to theſe our latter: and a learned late Writer the rather inclineth this way, becauſe in the Syriack it is ſo commonly uſed.

at the ruſhing of his chariots,] Or, ruſtling, Eſay 17.12. or, ratling, Nah. 3.2. the word ſignifieth ſuch a ſound or noiſe, as is raiſed by the violent concuſſion, or ſhaking of ought, chap. 10.22. Heb. chariot, for cavalry; as chap. 46.9. See there.

and at the rumbling of his wheels] Of their chariot-wheels, Eſay 5.28. Ezek. 23.24. Nah. 3.2.

the fathers ſhall not look back to their children for feebleneſſe of hands.] Extremity of fear, joyned with feebleneſs as well of hand as of heart, ſhall ſo over-ſway naturall affection with them, that they ſhall caſt and ſeek every one onely how to ſhift for, and ſave himſelf, not once looking after their children, as unable to reſcue them, though never ſo fain they would, and being in vain for them therefore to hazzard their own lives, by looking after thoſe, whom they were not able to relieve: they will truſt to their heels rather then to their hands. See Chap. 16.6, 7. & 46.5. & 49.5. See alſo, Deut. 28. 31, 32.

V. 4. Becauſe of the day that cometh to ſpoil all the Philiſtins] The time by God deſigned for their deſtruction; as Chap. 46.10.

and to cut off from Tyrus, and Sidon, every helper that remaineth] For theſe being the iſſue and poſterity of Cham by Canaan, and ſeated not far from the Philiſtines quarters, who likewiſe were deſcended from him by Cuſh, were on all occaſions ready to be aſſiſtant unto them. See Gen. 10.14, 15, 19. Joel 3.4.

for the Lord will ſpoil the Philiſtimes, the remnant of the country of Caphtor.] That the Caphtorim were of the ſame linage and race with the Philiſtines, being both of them deſcended from Miſraim, appeareth Gen. 10.13.14. that before Moſes his time, they dwelt neer unto them, poſſeſſing the land that bordered upon them, even unto Gaza, from whence they had expelled the Avites, appeareth Deut. 2.23. and it may ſeem that they had ſometime ſubdued the Philiſtines, and carryed of them captive into their own country, from whence God had yet by ſome means reſcued and reduced them again, Amos 9.7. Howbeit, in Jeremies time it may hence be gathered, that they and the Philiſtines were confederate together, and in regard both of vicinity and confederacy, were likely to fare alike the one with the other. By the remnant of them, ſome would have meant the Philiſtines, in generall, becauſe deſcended from the Caphtorim; but that is not ſo: for the Philiſtines are ſaid not to have deſcended from the Caphtorim, but from the Caſluchim, Gen. 10.14. Others, thoſe of them, whom the Caphtorim ſhould leave, when they did over-run Paleſtine. But they ſeem rather to be diſtinguiſhed here from the Philiſtines, as well as the Tyrians, and Sidonians, before-mentioned, ſo to be called the remnant of that country, either becauſe the Egyptians had made ſome ſpoyl of them before, when they invaded Paleſtine, and Gaza, neer unto which their ancient abode was; or becauſe the Chaldeans were to begin with them, before they fell upon the Philiſtines country. See the like, chap. 25.20. What country this Caphtor ſhould be, much doubt is made. The Chaldee Paraphraſt both here and elſewhere rendreth it, Cappadocia: and with him moſt, both Greeks and Latines, concur: and a learned late Writer, though aſſigning Cappadocia to others, yet would ſeat theſe Caphtorim in Colchis, a country, if not coming within the compaſs of ſome part of it, yet confining at leaſt upon it; and that the rather, becauſe he findeth a region in thoſe parts called Sidene from a city therein ſituate termed Side, which in Greek ſignifieth a pomegranate, as doth Caphtor alſo in Hebrew, Exod. 39.24——26. But as well Colchis, as Cappadocia, ſeemeth too far remote from the habitation of theſe Caphtorim. One of the Jewiſh Commenters on this place, with whom the Arabick Interpreter, and one or two other Jewiſh Writers are ſaid to agree, would have Caphtor to be Damiata, which the later Greeks call Tamiathis, a city in Egypt: which though it may ſeem the more probable becauſe they were of Miſraims race, yet the ſacred records ſeem ſtill to ſeat them not far from the Philiſtines, and more into the land, and not likely therefore in Egypt. I ſhould rather ſuppoſe their place of abode to have been between Paleſtina, and Idumea, by conjecture from a city in Idumea, or its confines, called anciently from this Caphtor Caparorſa; as out of Ptolomy a learned Annotator here obſerveth. But why is their country then termed an iſle? may ſome ſay; for that term in Hebrew, though it do not alwayes denote an Iland, properly ſo termed; yet it implyeth, at leaſt, a ſea-coaſt, or a country bordering upon the ſea; whereunto ſome anſwer, that all remote or tranſmarine parts, ſuch as paſſage was to by ſea, are in Scripture ſo termed: but the word is uſed more generally for any forrein country, one or other indefinitely. See Eſay 20.6. & 41.1. and ſo the Caphtorims country, though an inland one, may well come within the compaſs of that term.

V. 5. Baldneſs is come upon Gaza:] Either ſhe is ſhaved and ſtript of all her wealth by the enemies pillage of it; as Eſay 7.20. or rather they have made themſelves bald, by ſhaving and cutting, or pulling and tearing of their hair; which upon occaſions of great grief, was a thing uſuall among them, Job 1.20. Eſay 15.2. Chap. 16.6, 7. & 41.5. & 46. 37. Ezek. 29.18. Mic. 1.16. Of Gaza, ſee ver. 1. Heb. Baldneſſe is come unto Gaza: and ſo the ancient Greek rendreth it ſometime: but el is oft uſed for al, or upon; as Chap. 36.23. and ſo the old Latine.

Aſhkelon is cut off with the remnant of their valley.] A chief city in Paleſtine: whereof ſee 1 Sam. 6.17. 2 Sam. 1.20. inſtead of, is cut off; as the word commonly ſignifieth, Eſay 15.1. Hoſ. 10.15. Zeph. 1.11. the old Latine here readeth, is ſilenced: and the two roots in Hebrew are ſomewhat neer, but divers. By the remnant of their valley, ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors following the Chaldee, underſtand their wealth: for the word of depth, ſay they, from whence the word cometh, hath a notion of abundance, or muchneſſe, Eſay 7.11. Hoſ. 9.9. But other of them take the term in its ordinary ſenſe, and underſtand it of ſuch Askelanites, as lived not within the city, but in the vale neer unto it. Some others more generally of the reſt of the Philiſtines country, that lay moſt of it low, and is termed thereof a vale. See Joſeph the Jew his Antiquities, l. 5. c. 2. the ancient Greeks following ſome corrupt copy, render it, the remnant of the Enakim; as if it had ſome reference to the ſons of Anak, Num. 13.22, 29. Deut. 1. 18, 21. which yet a learned Annotator ſeemeth to approve.

how long wilt thou cut thy ſelf?] Spoken to Askelon, or to Paleſtine in general, or the inhabitants of either; demanding of them how long they will be taking on in that manner, cutting and maiming themſelves, as in extremity of grief and vexation, out of impotency and impatiency of Spirit, heathen people were wont to do. See Lev. 19.28. Chap. 16.6. The ſpeech implyeth, as a grievous, ſo a long and tedious calamity, and lamentation thereunto correſpondent. The Greeks joyn this clauſe to the words following, rendring it, how long wilt thou cut, O ſword of the Lord? but the word is in a reciprocal form: nor is it ever found in any other notion elſewhere. Howbeit, thoſe reciprocal forms are not in notion perpetually ſuch: and if any inſtance of this therein varying from the ordinary uſe could be produced, I ſhould incline to this Verſion: the rather, for that the text would go very ſmoothly away with it.

V. 6. O thou ſword of the Lord, how long will it be ere thou be quiet?] The words as ſome would have them of the Philiſtine people cutting themſelves, ver. 5. But it ſoundeth not after their profane ſtrain; little dreamed they in likelyhood of any hand of God in thoſe things that now befell them. And the moſt therefore rather conceive them to be the Prophets own words, lamenting the havock that the ſword made among them, ranging up and down ſo long together from place to place with them, and humbly preferring his ſupplication to God for a ſtay of it. For Gods Prophets are ſenſible of, and affected with the calamities not of their own alone, but of other people alſo, though their enemies. See Eſay 15.5. & 16.9. Chap. 48.31.

O ſword of the Lord] The ſword he ſpeaketh of is the ſword of the Chaldeans; but it is called the Lords ſword, becauſe ſent by him; becauſe it cometh by command, and with commiſſion from him, Chap. 25.29. ver. 7. So, the ſword of the Lord, and of Gideon, Judg. 7.18, 20.

put up thy ſelf into thy ſcabbard:] Not, gather thy ſelf, or, be gathered; as ſome render it: though the word have uſually a notion of gathering: but retire, or betake thy ſelf unto thy ſcabbard; as the word is uſed, Exod. 9.19. Num. 11.30. 2 Sam. 17.13. Pſal. 104.22.

reſt, and be ſtill.] Reſt; Of this term, ſee on Chap. 31.3. the Latine rendreth it be cooled, or cool thy ſelf: and that Popiſh Expoſitors deſcant upon to no purpoſe, for the word hath no ſuch notion in it; and be ſtill. Heb. be ſilent; as Pſal. 4.4. Eſay 23.2.

V. 7. How can it be quiet?] An anſwer to the Prophets requeſt: or his own reply to himſelf, as recalling himſelf, and demanding of himſelf, how it could be that it ſhould ſo do, when as God had given it a charge and command to the contrary. Heb. How ſhalt thou be quiet? or, ſhouldeſt thou; as in a potential notion: a change of the perſon; as Ezek. 31.10.

ſeeing the Lord hath given it a charge] Heb. and (as chap. 10. 26.) the Lord hath commanded it, and it cannot ſtay till his Command be executed, till his work be done, till his will and word be fulfilled. See Chap.23.20. & 30.24.

againſt Aſkelon, and againſt the ſea-ſhore? there hath he appointed it.] Heb. unto Aſkelon, and unto the ſea-port, or, coaſt, Gen.49.13. Deut.1.7.but el, may be for al; as before, Ver.5. the ſea-coaſt; that is,Paleſtine in general,which coaſted much on the midland-Sea, Eſay 9.12.

CHAP. XLVIII.

Verſ. 1. AGainſt Moab] Heb. unto Moab; or, Concerning Moab: as Gen.20.13. Pſal.91.11. Chap. 14. 10. See the like Prophecies againſt Moab, Eſay 15. & 16. Amos 2.1. but thoſe to be executed for the greateſt part of them by the Aſſyrians; this, as that alſo, Ezek.25.9. by the Chaldeans. See Joſephs Antiquities, l. 7. c. 11. on Chap. 44. 30.

thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael,] As chap. 46. 25. but here the rather ſo ſtyled, becauſe he is coming to be avenged upon Moab, for his Iſrael, and the wrongs by Moab done them; as the like, Eſay 34.8.

Wo unto Nebo; for it is ſpoiled:] Nebo, a city of Moab: whereof, ſee Eſay 15.2. It ſeemeth to have its name from ſome idols oracle there ſeated: and the Prophet is by ſome deemed the rather to begin with it; becauſe thence they had their oracles of proſperity and peace, ſuch as themſelves deſired, and their idol Interpreters were wont to coin for them, and to furniſh them with.

Kiriathaim is confounded and taken:] Another City of Moab, ſometime belonging to the Reubenites, Joſh.13.19. it is of a duall form, whereby the city ſeemeth to have conſiſted, as divers others, and ſo Jeruſalem it ſelf, of two parts.

Miſgab is confounded and diſmayed.] Whether the word here uſed be a noun of common notion, ſignifying an high place, as Pſal.9.9. & 46.7,11. but taken collectively for the high and ſtrong forts of Moab in general,or the proper name of a place, is queſtionable: and it may well ſeem to be,either the peculiar name of ſome place, uſually ſo termed, though from a word of more general notion; as Botſrah, both in Moab, Ver.24. and in Edom, Eſay 24.6. & 63.1. or,as ſome think, an attribute of it, rendring the text, the city of the high place; thereby underſtanding a city in Moab from its ſituation called Bamoth, Num.21.20. and Sela, Eſay 16.1. becauſe ſituate aloſt upon a rock.

V. 2. There ſhall be no more praiſe of Moab: in Heſhbon they have deviſed evil againſt it;] This paſſage is variouſly both divided and rendred. This of our Verſion will not well ſtand; for who in Heſhbon ſhould conſult or conſpire againſt Moab? Heſhbon it ſelf being a city, and that a chief one in Moabs country, Eſay 15.4. & 16.8. and no better will that of the old Latine hold, There ſhall be no more exultation of Moab againſt Heſhbon. For there is as little reaſon,why Moab ſhould exult againſt Heſhbon, as why Heſhbon ſhould conſpire againſt Moab. Others therefore render it, There ſhall be no more vaunting of Moab in Heſhbon; that is, Heſhbon ſhall no more vaunt it ſelf of the ſtrength of their State, of the Kingdome of Moab its wealth and power.Others,There ſhall be no more vaunting in Moab concerning Heſhbon; that is, the Moabites ſhall no more vaunt of Heſhbon as a place impregnable; eſteemed one of the greateſt ſtrength in thoſe parts, Ver. 45. Others laſtly, No more praiſe of Moab ſhall there be; (there ſhall be no more talking abroad of Moab, as of a goodly, famous, rich, flouriſhing State) as concerning Heſhbon,(ſo is the particle uſed, chap.38.24. Ver.27.) they (that is, the Chaldeans) have deviſed evil againſt it. There is in the words an elegant alluſion to the name of the city; as if it were ſaid with us, There is miſchief deviſed againſt the Deviſes: a Town of that name with us, that ſuffered in the late civil wars; and for notion anſwereth preciſely to the Hebrew Heſhbon.

come, and let us cut it off from being a nation.] The Chaldeans words expreſſing their purpoſe againſt Moab, and egging one another on to the execution of it, as chap.6.4,5.See the like of other nations, among Moab one, now paid in his own coin, againſt Iſrael, Pſal.83.4. The like form, ſee ver. 42. Eſay 17.1. & 23.1. & 24. 10. 1 Sam. 15. 22. Hoſ. 4.6. & 9. 12.

alſo thou ſhalt be cut down, O Madmen;] Another city of Moab called Madiama by Ptolomy; Medeba, (which ſome ſuppoſe ſhould be Medema) in Joſephs Antiquities,l.13.c.17.) thereof ſee Eſay 25.10. Heb. thou ſhalt be ſilenced, or, brought to ſilence; as Pſal.31.17,18. thou ſhalt be brought ſo low, that thou ſhalt not dare ſo much as to mutter for fear and dejection of ſpirit, much leſſe vaunt thy ſelf as formerly. See Eſay 29.4. chap.46.22.There is again in the terms here uſed an affinity of ſound, as if it were ſaid, Silly (the name of an Iland with us) ſhall be ſilenced.

the ſword ſhall purſue thee.] Heb. Go after thee. as chap. 42. 16. & 49.37.

V. 3. A voice of crying ſhall be from Horonaim:] A city of Moab, where Sanballat was born; or whereof he was ſometime Governour, Neh.2.10. See Eſay 15.5. Ver.5. And it is of a duall form, ſaith the Rabbine, becauſe there were two Horons, the upper and the lower. See Joſh. 10.10,11.& 16. 15. & 18.13.

ſpoiling,and great deſtruction.] Heb. a great breach; as chap. 4.20. So chap.50.22. & 51.54.

V. 4. Moab is deſtroyed:] Heb. is broken: as chap.22.20.

her little ones have cauſed a cry to be heard.] While the great ones leave them to ſave themſelves; as chap.47.3.and there is an elegant conſonancy in the words of little ones, and cry, which our Engliſh cannot expreſs. See the like, Eſay 5.7. For the Chaldee ſeems to ſtray here, rendring it Sultans,or, Princes; which yet the Jewiſh Commenters retaining, ſay, ſome of them, that they are ſo called here, becauſe leſs then Kings,lower then Soveraigns.Other of them,that they are ſo termed in way of deriſion and contempt. But theſe are like herein to the Popiſh Expoſitors, torturing the text, and their wits withal, to make ſomewhat of a vitious Verſion.

V. 5. For in the going up of Lubith, continual weeping ſhall go up:] Up, and down all the way along, that the Moabites flee from, or before the Chaldeans purſuing them, Verſ. 2. ſhall be nothing but continual weeping and wailing. See Eſay 15.5.Heb.weeping with weeping ſhall go up;as Eſay 16. 9.

for in the going down of Horonaim the enemies have a cry of deſtruction.] Heb. of breaking; as Ver. 3. which ſome expound a broken cry; as having reference not ſo much to the occaſion, or ſubject of it, as the Jewiſh Commenters, and others of ours take it; as to the manner or quality,and affection of their cry: and becauſe the word enemies is in a form of regiment, they render it, the enemies of breaking, or broken noiſe,have heard a broken cry,to wit,from the Moabites,crying ſo loud, that they drown the enemies ſhouts with their outcries. But the Jewiſh Critick well obſerveth, that the form regent,or the contracted form, is not infrequently found uſed for the abſolute and entire; as Num.5.18.1 King.4.6. & 17.13.and our Verſion therefore may well ſtand. As for that which a learned Writer hath, that they wept indeed as they went up to Luhith, but more abundantly and vehemently when they went down from Horonaim, becauſe that was the utter limit of their land; and they were then going into captivity to leave their country, ſeems not ſo probable, becauſe of that which followeth,ver.6. Whereby it appeareth, that they fled rather from them,then were yet led away by them. It ſeems rather to argue the impotency of their ſpirits, and exceſſiveneſs of their griefs; that whereas it had been their wiſeſt courſe to have made away, with as much ſilence, and ſecrecy as they could; yet they were not able to contain themſelves, but muſt needs cry out,and that ſo loud, that the enemies themſelves might hear them. See ſomewhat the like,but in another caſe,Gen.45.2.

V. 6. Flee, ſave your lives,and be like the heath in the wilderneſſe.] Theſe are by the moſt Interpreters conceived to be the words of the Moabites, calling one upon another to flee with all ſpeed for their lives,and betaking themſelves to the deſarts, there to live; as Pſal. 55. 7. The word Aroer here uſed,the Chaldee taketh for the proper name of a place, as it is afterward ver.19. as if it were ſaid, Be like the tower of Aroer that ſtandeth in the waſte; but therein few follow him: the word ſignifieth a bare naked tree: whereof ſee on chap. 17.6. and one of the Jewiſh Doctors ſeem to expound it of their cities,leave them as bare as ſuch trees on the waſte. See ver.9. Some would have them to be the ſpeech of the Prophet himſelf in a prophetical way,fore-telling what ſhould befal them, to wit, that they ſhould be compelled to flee for their lives, and be as bare and vile as the heath that groweth on the waſte; or as ſome naked tree,ſtanding by it ſelf alone on the waſte,ſtript of all graceful furniture of fruit or leaf, and expoſed to all winds and weathers. And a learned Writer conceiveth it to be mixt with an irony, as if he ſhould ſay, Flee, ye may ſave your lives, and ſo do; but when you have done all you can,and eſcaped the ſword,your life will be ſuch,that it had been better for you to have died by it, your life will prove more miſerable and bitter to you then death.See Lam. 4.9. I adhere to what was propounded at firſt: or, if ought further be deemed to ly hid in this laſt clauſe, I ſhould rather conceive it to be ſpoken out of a regard had, above all beſides it,to life; as Job 2.4. Mat.16.26.as if it were ſaid, Flee, and ſave your ſelves,or your lives (Heb.ſoul,as chap.51.6. Job 2.6)whatſoever we do elſe, though you leave your ſelves as bare as the naked'ſt ſhrub that groweth on the wild waſte: the looking after ought elſe may coſt you your life.It ſeemeth to me not unlike that advice of our Saviour, Mat. 24. 16—18.Luk.17.31,33.

V. 7. For becauſe thou haſt truſted in thy workes, and in thy treaſures,thou ſhalt alſo be taken,] Thy ſelf-confidence ſhall prove thy ruine. By works, ſome underſtand their idols, Pſal.115.3.Chap.32.30. Others, their poſſeſſions, 1 Sam. 25.2. Others again, their fortifications, ver.18,41. It may ſeem to comprehend all thoſe means, whereby they had endeavoured to ſtrengthen themſelves.

and Chemoſh ſhall go forth into captivity with his Prieſts, and his Princes together.] Chemoſh, thy chief idol, Num. 21. 29. 1 King.11.7,33. whom in vain therefore thou ſhalt ſeek unto, Eſay 15.2.ver.13,46.ſhall go into captivity, (as Chap. 15.1, 2.See Eſay 46.2. Chap.43.12.) and all his abettors together with him, the Prieſts that attend on him, and Princes that maintain both them, and him, Chap.49.3.

V. 8. And the ſpoiler ſhall come upon every city, and none ſhall eſcape:] The King of Babylon, Chap.6.26.

the valley ſhall periſh, and the plain ſhall be deſtroyed,] The cities ſituate in the vale and in the plain, together with thoſe that ſtand on the hils, and higher grounds, ver.1. See Chap. 47.5.

as the Lord hath ſpoken.] Aſher, for, caaſher, as the Jewiſh Critick here obſerveth; and ſo the ancient Greek here rendreth it, as; ſo alſo, Exod.34.18.Chap.9.14. & 33.22. or, as others, and ſo the old Latine; becauſe the Lord hath ſpoken; as 1 King.15.13.Neh.2.3,10.Chap.1.15. & 13.25. or, ſurely; as a learned late Writer; and ſo ſaith he, 1 Sam.15.20.Neh. 4.12.Pſal.10.6.& 9.11.& 144.12. Eſay 8.20. Habb.3.16. I ſuppoſe it may as fitly be rendred, for the Lord hath ſaid it: as 1 Sam.15.15.Chap. 32.3. a defect of the pronoun; as Eſay 1. 20. See chap.46.25.

V. 9. Give wings unto Moab,] Implying, that there would be no poſſibility for him to eſcape, unleſs he could get wings and fly. So Pſal. 55.6.Heb. Give ye feather, or, wing to Moab: the word here uſed, doth with the Hebrews, in the firſt place, ſignifie a flower, Job 14.2.Eſay 40.6. in the next place, a fether; ſo termed, ſaith the Jewiſh Critick, becauſe fethers ſprout out from the bodies of Fowls, as flowers do from the ſtems and branches of trees and plants: and from a word therefore of that notion have the young of Birds and Fowls their name, Deut.22.6.Job 39.30.Pſal.84.3. feather therefore for feathers, or for wing, conſiſting of fethers: either taken collectively. Howbeit, ſome of our Jewiſh Maſters fetcht it another way about; the word, ſay they, in Chaldee, ſignifies the fins of fiſh. So uſed, Lev.11.9. and in the next place the wings of Fowl; ſo they uſe it, Pſal.139.9. becauſe wings are to the one, as fins to the other; the one to fly, the other to ſwim with. The word in this notion is no where elſe found in the Hebrew. But the old Latine taking the word in his firſt and proper ſenſe, as alſo ſome Greek Verſions before it, rendreth it, Give Moab a flower, or, flowers; for he ſhall go out flouriſhing; Which though it be here ſo ſenſleſs a notion, that it can be no way fitted to the context; yet Popiſh Expoſitors waſte ink and paper in diſcourſing at large of it, and deſcanting upon it; forcing in hither the fading nature of flowers, and the ſticking of corpſes with them; and adding a forged fiction withall of a ceremony uſed in the land of Moab, of ſetting garlands on the heads of thoſe that were to be executed: and all this, becauſe their vitious Verſion muſt be maintained, though it be never ſo abſurd. What the ancient Greeks read here is uncertain: for they render it, Give Moab a ſign; for with a touch he ſhall be touched. And the Chaldee roveth here as wide as the reſt, rendring it, Take away the crown from Moab, he is going into captivity: and it ſeemeth that hence the Paraphraſt took his riſe for this Verſion; becauſe the word here uſed doth ſometime ſignifie a plate of gold, Exod.28.36. Lev.8.9. ſuch as crowns are wont to be adorned with, or conſiſt of: whence alſo ſome expound that, Pſal.132.17. I will adorn his crown, with golden plates. But the text ſpeaketh of ſomewhat to be given to him, not taken from him: and the very next words ſufficiently refel all theſe figments and fancies: whereof thus much onely, that none may trip or ſtick at them.

that it may flee, and get away] Heb. that (as Job 11.6. Pſal. 25.15.) ſhe may flying fly, as the word is uſed, Job 4. 15. and thence a word for a feather, wherewith Fowl fly, Lev.1.16. Ezek.17.3,7. and for the Eſtrich, a Fowl of goodly, large, and fair feathers, Job 39.15. an irregularity which the Jewiſh give notice of, not obſerved in the word here uſed, hath cauſed a miſtake both in our Verſion, and ſome others: which yet for the meaning in general are ſound, though they fail in the genuine notion of the terms, ſuppoſing them to come from two ſeveral roots; and the latter to ſignifie to go out, not to fly.

for the cities thereof ſhall be deſolate without any to dwell therein.] Heb. deſolations; as Chap.44.2,22.

V. 10. Curſed be he that doth the work of the Lord deceitfully,] Or, negligently; (and ſo the Greek renders it) or, ſlackly: as, a bow of ſlackneſs, or, a ſlack bow, Pſal.78.57. and an hand of ſlackneſſe, or, a ſlack hand: oppoſed to a diligent one, Prov.10. 4.& 12.24. The work of the Lord in deſtroying the Moabites, and doing execution upon them: which God hath now given in charge to the Chaldeans, by a ſecret inſtinct concerning the Moabites; as by an expreſs word to Saul concerning the Amalekites, 1 Sam.15. and would have done to the purpoſe. See chap.47.6,7.& 50.25.

and curſed be he that keepeth back his ſword from bloud.] A curſe there is as well on ſuch as ſhed not bloud when they have commiſſion and charge from God ſo to do, as on thoſe that do the like without either. Num. 34. 31,33. 1 King.20. 42.Prov.17.15.

V. 11. Moab hath been at eaſe from his youth, and he hath ſetled on his lees, and hath not been emptied from veſſel to veſſel, neither hath he gone into captivity:] Moab hath lived a long time at eaſe, he hath not been diſturbed much in his land, or removed out of it, and hurried from place to place, as Iſrael hath been: illuſtrated by a reſemblance taken from wines that have not been drawn from their lees, as thoſe, whereof Eſay 25.6. Heb. to his lees: el, for, al; as Chap.36.23. & 47. 5,7.

therefore his taſte remained in him, and his ſent is not changed] Or, remaineth. Heb. ſtandeth, or, ſtayeth; as Deut.5.31.Eccleſ. 1. 4. He retaineth ſtill his ſtate, his dignity, his ſtrength, his wealth; and withall (as with ſuch wicked ones eſpecially is wont to be) his pride, his preſumption, his impiety, his impurity, his iniquity. See Pſal.55.19. Eſay 26.10. Hoſ.4.7. Zeph.1.12.ver.26,29.

V. 12. Therefore behold the days come, ſaith the Lord;] Heb. The days coming; as Chap. 31. 27.

that I will ſend unto him wanderers that ſhall cauſe him to wander,] Heb. and (as chap.41.15.) I will ſend him wanderers; (ſuch as come from a far country, from Chaldea, Eſay 39.3. chap.6.22. & 8.19.) or tranſporters: as the Jewiſh Commenters would have it; ſo rendring it alſo, Eſay 63. 1. ſuch as make others to wander: but the word ſeemeth rather to be in a conſiſtent, then a tranſient notion, both here and there; and to ſignifie in his firſt and ſingle form to wander, or travel from place to place; in his ſecond, or double form, to make to wander, or to remove: and there is an elegant antanaclaſis, or variety of notion in the terms; as if it were ſaid, the Chaldeans ſhall come far from their own place of abode into the Moabites country, as if they were ſome vagrants, or wanderers; but they ſhall make the Moabites in good earneſt to wander, by leading them away captives, ver.46.

and ſhall empty his veſſels, and break their bottles.] Alluding to the former reſemblance of wine, either in cask, or in bottles. They ſhall depopulate his cities (as chap. 51.34. and break them as earthen bottles, Pſal.2.9. Eſay 30. 14. Chap. 19.10,11.

V. 13. And Moab ſhall be aſhamed of Chemoſh, as the houſe of Iſrael was aſhamed of Bethel, their confidence.] Becauſe he ſhall be no more able to deliver them from the Chaldeans, ver.7,46.Eſay 15.2.& 16.12. then the golden calf at Bethel, 1 King.12.39. was able to ſave the Iſraelites from the Aſſyrians, 2 King.17.6,12. Hoſ.8.4,5.& 10.15.

V. 14. How ſay ye, we are mighty, and ſtrong men for the war?] Or, How can ye ſay? as chap.2.23. with what face can ye brag of your valour, when ye carry your ſelves as cowards? ver.39.41. See the like in another kind. Eſay 19. 11. and of Moab's vaunts, ver.2,29,30.

V. 15. Moab is ſpoiled, and gone up out of her cities,] There is no ſmall variety of Verſions and Interpretations of the latter clauſe here; for the former is the ſame in effect with what we had before, ver.1,8. and have after again, ver.18,20. The Hebrew hath no more then this, and her cities it, or, he, is gone up. Some render it, her cities, or the multitude of her cities, are gone up, to wit, into ſmoke; that is, they are burnt; as Judg.20.40.Eſay 9.18. Others, her cities are gone; they are loſt, fallen down. So the old Latine: Or, are gone up, ſay ſome, that is, are periſhed and deſtroyed; as the Chaldee hath it: taken from vapours, that as they aſcend, vaniſh away, Jam.4.14. ſo they ſuppoſe the word to be taken, Amos 8. 8. Nah.2. 1. but theſe places are as dubious, if not more then this. Others, he (that is, the Inhabitant, or Moab) is departed from, or gone out of his, or, her cities, or, he ſhall depart from his cities; as the word is uſed, Num.16.26. 1 Sam.14.46. Chap. 37.57. but the verb is here maſculine, the pronoun affixed to the noun feminine. Others, he (to wit, the enemy) hath made the cities to aſcend; that is, he hath deſtroyed, and taken them away; as Pſal.102.24. but the forms are not the ſame. Others, the ſtirrer up of her is come up; that is, one is come, or coming up to her, that will rouz her from her ſecurity, ver. 11. from a word that ſignifies to raiſe, or rouz up, Joel 3.9. but no inſtance of ſuch uſe of the word is produced. A learned late Annotator coming after all theſe, rendreth it, her enemies are got up, over her: to aſcend, or, get up, or, over one, for to overmaſter him, or to be advanced to greater honour and dignity then he: and to deſcend, for to be overmaſtered by another, and depreſſed to more diſgrace and miſery, Deut. 28. 43. So here in this branch, and the next: and the word ar is by a Chaldeiſm put ſometime for tſar; that is, an enemy, or adverſary; as 1 Sam.28.16. Neh.4.12. Pſal.10.6.& 95.11.& 144.12. Eſay 8.20. Dan.4.16. and for the diverſity of the number between the verb and the noun, it is not unuſual in a diſtributive notion; her enemies each of them hath got up, or, ſhall get up; as the like, Exod.17.12. Job 12.7. Prov.14.1. Joel 1.20. But this learned man doth elſewhere go himſelf another way, one of thoſe before ſpecified. I ſhall add in the laſt place mine own opinion, yet not mine alone; for I find it backed by a Jewiſh Maſter, I light hitherto on none that take notice of it, and his ſon, though he relate him, ſeemeth not to adhere to him: I render the words with him, Moab is, or, ſhall be ſpoiled; he (to wit, the ſpoiler) is come up, or, ſhall come up on her cities; as ver. 18. the ſpoiler is come upon thee: and of Babylon, Chap.51.48,56. and, her cities, as her young men, in the next branch: the noun or participle is ſupplyed from the foregoing verb; as Gen.50.2,26. the prepoſition included in the verb preſent.

and his choſen young men are gone down to the ſlaughter,] Or, ſhall go down; that is, be ſtrucken down, and ſlain, as an ox, or other the like beaſt, by the ſacrificer, or the butcher; as Eſay 34.6. chap.50.27. & 51.40. So rather then as that learned Annotator, who would have it parallel to that, Deut.28.42. and an antitheſis herein between this and that of aſcending in the former branch: which though ſome may well be granted; yet that which he would have, the very words of the text refuſe to admit. Heb. the choice of her young men; as Exod.15.4. and there is an elegant conſonancy of the two terms in the text, not in ſound of letters onely, but in notion alſo, and notation: as if it were ſaid, The choice of her choice ones.

V. 16. The calamity of Moab is neer to come, and his affliction haſteth faſt.] So Eſay 13.22. Mal.3.5. 2 Pet.2.1, 3.

V. 17. All ye that are about him bemoan him, and all ye that know his name;] Condole with him, both ye that are his neer neighbours, and have been formerly acquainted with him, and ye alſo that are further of, and have known him onely by hear-ſay.

Say ye, how is the ſtrong ſtaff broken, and the beautifull rod?] Heb. ſtaff of ſtrength; and, rod of beauty, or, bravery; as it is rendred, Eſay 3.18. See Ezek.19.11,14. How is Moab deſtroyed, notwithſtanding the greatneſs of his ſtrength and ſtate, that he ſo much gloried in, and truſted unto? Ezek.19.12. ſtaff and rod, are emblems of power and authority, Pſal.110.2. Zach.11.7. Yet becauſe the ſame terms import oft times an afflicting and chaſtiſing or puniſhing power, Eſay 10.5. Lam.3.1. in regard hereof ſome conceive here to be an intimation withal of Moab's having been over-troubleſome and burdenſom to others in the height of her former ſtrength and ſtate; and this way the Chaldee Paraphraſt ſeemeth to encline. See the like of ſome other, Eſay 14.4,10,12. Chap.50.23.& 51.41. Lam.1.1.

V. 18. Thou daughter that doſt inhabit Dibon,] Thou goodly fair city, like ſome beautiful and gorgeous damſel, See chap.46.11,19. and of Dibon, ſee Num.21.30. Eſay 15.2,9.

Come down from thy glory,] As Eſay 47.1. Chap.13 18. the pronoun is wanting, as Chap.31.17.

and ſit in thirſt] Not in thy fat ſoil, and well-watred plains, where formerly thou didſt reſide, Num.21.13,14,20. & 22.1. but in ſome dry and thirſty place: thirſt, for a place of thirſt; as Pſal.107.33. Eſay 35.7. or, a thirſty place; as Eſay 44.3. a defect of the ſubject, ſee ver.6.

for the ſpoiler of Moab ſhall come upon thee, and he ſhall deſtroy thy ſtrong hold.] See ver.8,15. & ver.1.

V. 19. O Inhabitant] Heb. Inhabitreſs; as Chap.10.17.& 22.23.& 44.19.& 51.35. So ver.18.

of Aroer,] A city of Moab ſituate on the banks of the river Arnon, Deut.2.36.& 3.12.

ſtand by the way, and eſpy, ask him that fleeth, and her that eſcapeth, and Say, what is done?] Ask of every one that paſſeth by thee, whether man or woman, What is the cauſe of their flight; as chap.46.5. or enquire of them, how things go abroad, as people full of fears are wont to do, 1 Sam.4.13.

V. 20. Moab is confounded; for it is broken down:] The anſwer of thoſe that either flee, or paſs by, returned to the former enquiry: that all is loſt, ver.4.

howl and cry;] Eſay 16.7. So Chap.47.2.

tell it in Arnon] Of this river, ſee Num.31.13. and it may ſeem that ſome city of ſpecial note had its name alſo from it: otherwiſe, by Arnon muſt be underſtood the region neer about it, or on either ſide of it.

that Moab is ſpoiled.] Ver.15.

V. 21. And judgment is come upon the plain country,] As well as upon the higher land: or upon Moab's land in general, being moſt of it ſuch. See the like, chap.47.5. Heb. land of plainneſs, or, evenneſſe; as Pſal.143.10. Eſay 26.10.

upon Holon,] A city of Moab, ver.24. We find one of that name in Judah's lot, Joſh.15.55. aſſigned the Levites, Joſh.21.15.

and upon Jahazah,] Mentioned in Reubens lot, Joſh.13.18.

and upon Mephaath,] Out of Reubens lot, Joſh.13.18. aſſigned the Levites, Joſh.21.37.

V. 22. And upon Dibon,] In Reubens lot, Joſh.13.17. See ver.18.

and upon Nebo,] See Num.32.3. from whence it appeareth that moſt of the Towns here mentioned, were ſometime part of the poſſeſſions of thoſe Kings of the Amorites, whom the Iſraelites ſubdued beyond Jordan. See alſo, ver.1.

and upon Beth-diblathaim,] One of the Iſraelites ſtations in their paſſage to Canaan, Num.33.46,47. called there Almon-Diblathaim, and Dibla, Ezek.6.14. whence it appeareth, that it ſtood toward the wilderneſs. The ancient Greek rendreth it, the houſe of Dæthlathaim; and the old Latine accordingly, though leſs corruptly, the houſe of Deblathaim; as if it were the name of ſome perſon, as is Diblaim, Hoſ.1.3. but Beth is part of the name of the city, as in Bethlehem, and Bethſhemeſh, and Bethoron, and the like: and it may in them ſignifie, not ſo much an houſe, as a city. So Bethgamul, and Bethmeon, ver.23.

V. 23. And upon Kiriathaim,] Of it, ſee Num.32.37. Joſh.13.19.

and upon Bethgamul,] This city I find not elſewhere named in Scripture: A learned late Writer ſuppoſeth it to ſignifie in notion and notation, the ſame with Gag-gamul, or Gaugamela, the place of Darius his laſt defeat by Alexander; and to ſignifie the Town of Camels: (as Strabo alſo, lib.16. obſerveth of that other, that it ſignifieth, the houſe of a Camel) and to be that which for Kamala is written Makala in Ptolomy.

V. 24. And upon Kerioth,] Joſh.15.25. Amos 2.2.

and upon Bozrah,] Not that in the land of Edom, Eſay 63.1. but another of the ſame name in the land of Moab, called alſo Bezer, Joſh.22.36. the word ſignifieth a ſtrong fort, or hold, Eſay 25.2.& 27.10. See on ver.1. and thence after the Punick pronunciation, Butſra, and by Inverſion of letters in the Greek and Latine, Byrſa: the name of the Fort that Dido built in Africa; of which they give another fabulous notation. See Virgils Eneides, l.1.

and upon all the cities of the land of Moab, far or neer.] All, for, the reſt of; as chap.43.2.

V. 25. The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken, ſaith the Lord.] His might and majeſty is utterly abandoned; ſet out by a two-fold expreſſion and reſemblance: the one taken from beaſts, whoſe force and grace is in their horns, Pſal.74.4,5,10.& 89.17.& 92.10.& 148.14. Lam.2.3. the other from man, whoſe ſtrength, for action, conſiſteth moſt in his arms, Job 22.9. Pſal.10.15.& 18.30.& 37.17.& 89.13,21. Ezek.30.21,22. A learned late Writer ſuppoſeth in the terms of horn and arm, the names of two cities in that country alluded to, called by Ptolomy, the one Karna, the other Zoara; which come very neer to thoſe words in the Hebrew. And by horn, and arm; ſome, after the Chaldee, underſtand Sultans, or Princes, Num.22.14,15.

V. 26. Make ye him drunk,] Make Moab drunk, ye Chaldeans; not with wine, but with the wine-cup of Gods wrath, cauſe him to drink of it, till he ſtagger and fall, Eſay 51.17—23. Pſal.60.3.& 75.8. Chap.21.17,21,28. Ezek.23.32—34. as drunken men uſe to do, Pſal.107.27.

for he magnified himſelf againſt the Lord:] So Lam.1.9. Zeph.2.10. and thoſe that ſo do, God will expoſe to ſhame and contempt, Prov.3.34,35.& 11.2. Luk.14.11.& 18.14. againſt the Lords people, ſaith the Chaldee. So ver.27. and Zeph.2.4,10. See Pſal.89.50,51. Ezek.36.20.

Moab alſo ſhall wallow in his vomit,] As men in drink are wont to do, Eſay 19.14. Heb. and; as chap.1.3. or, as ſome render it, then; as Chap.44.10. The old Latine rendreth the verb here uſed, ſhall clap his hands; and though the word hand, be not in the text; yet the word here found, is ſo uſed; ſometime with it; as Num.24.10. Job 27.23. Lam.2.15. ſometime without it; as Job 34.37. but this ſeems not to fit ſo well here: the word is uſed for to ſmite, or, beat. So, to ſmite on the thigh, Chap.31.18. Ezek.21.12. and, to beat down, or, beat one againſt another, Job 34.26. and might therefore not amiſs be rendred, beateth himſelf (as he tumbleth and rolleth to and fro) in his vomit. I ſhall add onely a conjecture, and ſhall leave it to the Learned. Why may not the verb be taken here indefinitely? and then might the word well be rendred in its moſt uſual acception, as the old Latine taketh it; but making Moab, not the agent, but the object of the action; he ſhall clap the hands at Moab lying in his vomit: he, that is, any one, or, every one; as in ſuch indefinite forms, the words are commonly expreſſed: as Gen. 11. 9. Some ſuch thing the Chaldee giveth an hint of; who paraphraſing the place, ſaith, jidreſhun; that is, in the common acception of the word, they ſhall ſeek out the Moabites in their place; but peradventure it is a term, by corruption drawn from the Latine irrideo; as divers terms in Chaldee both from the Latine and Greek are. See Dan. 3.5. and then it is, they ſhall deride them. But this I propound onely: yet hence obſerving that the Chaldee took the word Moab here for a noun, not preceding, but following the verb.

and he alſo ſhall be in deriſion.] As men in ſuch caſe are wont to be expoſed, while they ſo lye along to ſcorn and deriſion, Gen.9.21.

V. 27. For was not Iſrael a deriſion unto thee?] Heb. And. as Chap. 44.13,17. Didſt not thou deride him in his miſery, and rejoyce at his fall, Job 31.29. when the ten tribes were ſpoiled and captived by Salmaneſar? 2 Kings 17. and is it not juſt then, that the like now befall thee? See Judg. 1. 7. Prov.24.17,18. See the like charge againſt the Ammonites, Ezek,25.6. and of the inſolencies of them both againſt Gods people, Zephan.2.8,10.

was he found among thieves?] That thou ſhouldeſt ſo deride him, inſult over him, and make a laughing ſtock of him, as men are wont to do with thieves, when they are taken in the manner? a proverbial form of ſpeech. See Chap.2.26.and Job 30.5. and the like expoſtulation, chap.2.14.& 49.1.Some require here a ſupply of ſomewhat, whereof they conceive a defect, to make the ſentence more complete: and they ſupply therefore both the negative particle from the former branch,as Pſal.9.18. Ezek.20.30. and the note of ſimilitude, as Pſal.11.1. Eſay 21.8. and whereas in the copies there is here ſome variety;the word found,being in a maſculine form, in ſome of them, in a feminine in others; ſome following the former; which is the more commonly received, render the words,was he not to thee as one found among thieves? Others, taking to the latter, render it, Was he not with thee a thing found among thieves? for the Hebrews uſe ordinarily the feminine in a neutral notion: and the theft or thing ſtoln being found about a thief,is wont to be much matter,as of ſhame and diſgrace to him,ſo of merriment and laughter to others. But I ſee no neceſſity of departing from the received either reading or verſion.

for ſince thou ſpakeſt of him, thou skippedſt for joy.] Or,that(as Ver.20.)ſo oft as thou ſpeakeſt of him, (ſo is the particle here found uſed, 1 Sam.18.30. 1 Kings 14.28. 2 Kin.4.8.2 Chr. 12.11.Eſay 28.19.)Heb.from thy words of him; as Chap. 20. 8. & 31.20. So oft as thou haſt any words concerning him, or his calamity, or captivity, thou ſhakeſt thy ſelf, or, moveſt thy ſelf, for joy, or, with laughter: as is implyed from the former branch: or, as ſome, thou ſhakeſt the head at him, in way of inſultation, and deriſion, Pſal.22.7. Lam. 1, 8. and ſo alſo ſome would have the word here,uſed,Pſal.64.8.Howbeit, a learned late Writer following the old Latine, would have this clauſe rendred; but (as Gen. 45.8.Chap. 46.21.) for thoſe words (or, becauſe of that which thou haſt ſpoken) againſt him; thou ſhalt wander, or, be led captive: and the verb indeed in his firſt form ſignifieth to remove, or, wander, from place to place: whence the land of Nod, Gen. 4.14, 16. But the reciprocall form will not ſo well here admit it.

V. 28. O ye that dwell in Moab; leave the cities, and dwell in the rock:] Leave your wonted places of abode, ver. 6. and betake your ſelves for ſurety and ſafety to the ragged rocks, if you can find any ſuccour or ſhelter there, Judg,20.45. and 21.23. Eſay 2.19,21.

and be like the dove, that maketh her neſt in the ſides of the holes mouth.] That for fear of birds of prey is wont to build in ſome cleft on the ſide of a rock, Cant.2.14.Chap.49 16. Heb. in the paſſages of the mouth of the pit. Whence the Chaldee underſtandeth it of a dove, that is come down from her turret, or locker, to hide her ſelf in ſome hole on the ground: but the former ſeemeth the genuine ſenſe, and more agreeable to that fowls wont.

V. 29. We have heard the pride of Moab, (he is exceeding proud) his loftineſs, and his arrogancy, and his pride, and the haughtineſſe of his heart.] Gods words, manifeſting his taking notice of Moab's proud and arrogant carriages. See Eſay 16. 6. where a great part is found of that which followeth. Yet ſomewhat is added here to Eſay's words, and ſo after again; to ſhew, ſaith a learned Writer, that the Moabites not onely perſiſted in the ſame ſins, but grew worſe rather then better; as thoſe, Chap.9.3.

V. 30. I know his wrath, ſaith the Lord, but it ſhall not be ſo, his lies ſhall not ſo effect it.] His vain vaunts and menaces againſt me and my people, Ver.26. Zeph.2.8. which I take notice of, (as Hoſ.5.3. Amos 5.12.) ſhall not take effect,Pſal. 1.4. & 33.10,11. or, as ſome render the latter words, thoſe on whom he ſtayeth, or, relyeth, (Heb. his bars) do not right. See Chap.50.36. A late learned Annotator giveth here a two-fold reading diverſe from others before him; either thus, I know his rage,and that not to be right,juſt and equal;I know alſo that they do each of them his lies, and not that which is right: or thus, I know his rage,is it not ſo? (is he not exceedingly outragious?) and his lies, (I know alſo) do they not do ſo? Is it not true, that he is in either kind very faulty? the words read interrogatively; as 1 Sam. 20.14. But of this paſſage, ſee more on Eſay 16.6.

V. 31. Therefore will I howl for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab;] Eſay 16.7. Moab ſhall howl for Moab. But what was there ſaid of the Moabites howling one for, or over, another, the Prophet applyeth unto himſelf here. So ver.32.

mine heart ſhall mourn for the men of Kirheres] mine heart,is ſupplyed from Eſay 15.5. Yet ſome render it without any ſupply, he ſhall mourn, that is, Moab ſhall mourn: or, taking the verb indefinitely,men ſhall mourn; or, mourning there ſhall be: as Eſay 32.12. for the men of Kirheres. Eſay 16. 7. for the foundations of Kirhareſeth: for the city there; for the people here; for the city is the ſame.

V. 32. O vine of Sibmah, I will weep with thee for the weeping of Jazer:] Or, as ſome render it, above,or, more then, the weeping of Jazer. So is this form taken, Pſal.45.7. & 130. 6. Chap.49.19. I will bewail thee more largely and lamentably then Eſay bewailed Jazer: whoſe words and forms of lamentation Jeremy here enterlardeth and enlargeth, the rather for that this devaſtation of Moab by the Chaldeans was to be much more grievous, then that which Eſay foretold by the Aſſyrians, Eſay 16.14. See of Sibmah, and this paſſage there, Eſay 16.8,9.

the ſpoiler is fallen upon thy ſummer-fruits, and upon thy vintage.] See Ver.8,18. & Eſay 16.9.

V. 33. And joy and gladneſſe is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab, and I have cauſed wine to fail from the wine-preſſes; none ſhall tread with ſhouting;] See Eſay 16. 10. tread, for,tread grapes, as Eſay 63.2. Chap.29.30. and in Eſay, to tread wine, for, to tread grapes to make wine.

their ſhouting ſhall be no ſhouting.] The ſhout of the enemies aſſailing them,and breaking in upon them, Chap.25.30. or the ſhout and outcry that themſelves ſhall make at the enemies irruption, and ſtorming of them, ſhall be another manner of ſhout and cry, then that which they were wont to uſe in the vintage or harveſt times, at the bringing in of their wine and corn; a ſhout, not of joy and mirth, but of terrour and dread, Verſ. 34. Chap. 51. 14. See Exod. 32. 18.

V. 34. From Heſhbon, even unto Elealeh, and even unto Jahaz have they uttered their voice;] See Eſay 15.4.

from Zoar even unto Horonaim,as an heifer of three years old] That beginneth to low after the bull. See Eſay 15. 5. Verſe 3.

for the waters alſo of Nimrim ſhall be deſolate.] Heb. deſolations. as Chap.51.62. See Eſay 15.9.

V. 35. Moreover, I will cauſe to ceaſe in Moab, ſaith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incenſe to his gods.] Heb. And. as Chap.44.24. that which was before threatned, Ver.7. See Num.21.28.

V. 36. Therefore mine heart ſhall ſound for Moab like pipes, and mine heart ſhall ſound like pipes for the men of Kirheres:] Alluding to the cuſtome of playing with flutes and pipes certain ſad and doleful tunes at funerals and ſolemn mournings,Mat.6.23. See Eſay 15.5. & 16.11.

V. 37. For every head ſhall be bald; and every beard clipt:] Heb. diminiſhed, or, cut ſhort, Ezek. 5.1,11. See Eſay 15. 2. Chap.47.5.

upon all the hands ſhall be cuttings, and upon the loines ſackcloth.] See Chap.47.5. Eſay 15.3. hands, for,arms. as chap. 38. 12. for their arms they uſed to cut and ſlaſh in ſuch caſes. So alſo, wounds in the hands, for, upon the armes. Zach. 13.6.

V. 38. There ſhall be lamentation generally upon all the houſe tops of Moab, and in the ſtreets thereof:] See Eſay 15.3.

for I have broken Moab,] Or, for I will break; or, when I ſhall break, Moab; as Chap.13.21.

like a veſſel wherein is no pleaſure,ſaith the Lord.] See Chap. 22.28.

V. 39. They ſhall howl, ſaying,] Or, Men ſhall howl; or, There ſhall be howling, and, ſaying, for the verb is indefinite. as Ver.31. Eſay 32.12.

How is it broken down?] See the like, ver.17.

How hath Moab turned thee back with ſhame?] As thoſe that dare not ſhew their face for ſhame; ſay ſome: but rather, as thoſe, that dare not look the enemy in the face, but turn their back to them; and in ſhameful manner inſtead of fighting betake themſelves to flight: as Chap. 46.5. Heb. neck; or, hinder part of the neck; as Chap. 2. 27. So Joſh. 7. 8, 12.

So ſhall Moab be a deriſion, and a diſmaying to all thoſe about him.] Or, thus. Heb. and, as Chap.25.14. and, for laughter, or, unto a deriſion; as Iſrael was before to him, ver.27. and, for a diſmaying, or, affrightment, as Eſay 19.16,17. & 23.5. as fearing yet, leſt the like might alſo befall them.

V. 40. For thus ſaith the Lord; Behold, he ſhall flye as an eagle, and ſhall ſpread his wings over Moab.] Nebuchadnezzar ſhall come ſwiftly, like an eagle, flying at, and ſpreading his wings over his prey. Deut.28.49. Chap. 4.13. & 49. 22. Dan.7.4. Hoſ.8.1. Habb.1.6. and in the term of wings, may an alluſion be to the wings (as they are termed alſo) of an army; wherewith the Chaldean Kings forces ſhould over-ſpread his whole land. See Eſay 8.8.

V. 41. Kerioth is taken, and the ſtrong holds are ſurpriſed;] Or, The cities are taken; for it may be, either the proper name of a city, as ver.24. or, a common term of cities in general; as Hab.2.5,12. and it ſorteth well here with what followes, cities and forts are all ſurpriſed; no place ſo ſtrong, that is able to hold out. See Ver.15,24.

and the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day ſhall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs.] The hearts of the ſtrongeſt and ſtouteſt of them ſhall quail; and it ſhall be with them, as with a woman that hath grievous hard labour. So Eſay 21. 3. Chap.30.6. & 49.22,24. Mic.4.9,10.

V. 42. And Moab ſhall be deſtroyed from being a people] See Ver.2. Eſay 7.8.

becauſe he hath magnified himſelf againſt the Lord.] See Ver.16.

V. 43. Fear, and the pit, and the ſnare ſhall be upon thee, O Inhabitant of Moab, ſaith the Lord.] See Eſay 24.17.

V. 44. And he that fleeth from the fear, ſhall fall into the pit; and he that getteth up out of the pit, ſhall be taken in the ſnare:] He that eſcapeth one danger, ſhall be ſurpriſed with another; and if that miſſe alſo, with a third. So 1 King.19. 17. & 20.30. Amos.5.19. See Eſay 24.18.

for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab, the year of their viſitation, ſaith the Lord.] So Chap.11.23. & 29.22. & 46. 21. There is an elegant redundancy of the noun ſubjoyned to the pronoun; that maketh the ſentence more vigorous; as the like, Prov.5.21. Eſay 8.13. & 48.6. Chap.9.15.

V. 45. They that fled, ſtood under the ſhadow of Heſhbon, becauſe of the force:] Thoſe that fled out of the villages, for want of ſtrength, (as ſome render it; like that, from fat, that is, for want of fat, Pſal.109,24. See Lam. 4. 9.) or from the enemies forces purſuing them, betook themſelves to Heſhbon, as being a place of chief ſtrength; hoping to find ſuccour and ſhelter there, as in the ſhade of ſome great tree againſt the ſcorching heat of the Sun, or under the ſhroud of it againſt a ſtorm: ſhadow, for, protection; as Judg. 9.15, 20. Eccl.7.12. Eſay 32.2. Dan.4.12.

but a fire ſhall come forth out of Heſhbon,] But their expectations ſhall be fruſtrate: for both Heſhbon ſhall be ſurpriſed by the Chaldeans, who from thence ſhall ſurround, and with fire and ſword waſte the reſt of the country, unto the utmoſt bounds of it. This whole paſſage with little variation, is taken out of Moſes, in whoſe writing is recorded a proverbiall kind of ſpeech in thoſe daies very common in mens mouthes, concerning the miſchief that from Heſhbon King Sihons city the Ammorites had done to the Moabites, Num.21.28,29. but by the Prophet here applyed to the Chaldeans. See Ver. 2.

a fire ſhall come forth out of Heſhbon] So Judg.9. 15,20.

and a flame from the midſt of Sihon,] Heb. from between Sihon, that is, ſimply, from Sihon, or, from out of Sihon: and Sihon, for, the city of Sihon; as it is in Moſes, that is, from Heſhbon: for Heſhbon was the city and ſeat of Sihon a King of the Amorites, Num.21.26.

and ſhall devour,] Or, which ſhall devour; the copulative for the relative. as Chap.41.8.

the corner of Moab] Or, as ſome render it, the ſide, from Exod.27.9. Num.35.5. but it may here better be rendred coaſt, then either ſide, or, corner: as it is Num. 34. 3. as alſo Neh.9.22. coaſts, rather then corners, or, the end: as it is rendred, Ezek.41.12. it ſhall ſpoil all Moabs land from the one end to the other.

and the crown of the head of the tumultuous ones.] Or, revellers. Heb. children of noiſe; as chap. 46. 17. not ſo much the rude and promiſcuous multitude, Eſay 16.14. & 17.12. as the gallants, thoſe revelling and roaring ones; as Eſay 5. 14. & 24. 8. So rather, then as ſome, of thoſe tumultuous ones, that could not be quiet, but would needs be ſhaking off the Chaldean yoke. See Chap.27.3,8. and, the crown of the head: Either the King and his Princes; as Eſay 1. 5, 6. ſo the moſt, becauſe they find Lords, Num. 21. 28. though the word be no more then owners, or maſters, there: or, the chief and principall, among thoſe revelling gallants; as the like, Eſay 28.1,3. or the principal of the wealthy and fat ſoyl, that maintaineth them, and their riot: as Eſay 28.1,4. Chap.2.16. or ſimply, which I take to be the genuine ſenſe, It ſhall deſtroy theſe gallants, it ſhall break their heads; as Pſal. 68. 21.

V. 46. Wo be unto thee, O Moab,] See Num.21.29.

the people of Chemoſh periſheth,] Or, is periſhed, the people of Chemoſh, their chief Idol whom they ſerved, ver.7.13.

for thy ſons are taken captives, and thy daughters captives.] Heb. they have taken them in captivity; as ver.7. but the verb is indefinite; and is beſt therefore rendred by the paſſive: as Neh.2.7. Job 7.3.

V. 47. Yet will I bring again the captivity of Moab, in the latter dayes, ſaith the Lord.] Heb. And; as Chap.44.4. Either I will bring back his captives; as Pſal.126.1. Ch.30.3. or, I will reſtore him again to his former ſtate; as Job 42.10. Heb. in the poſterity of days, or the after-times, Chap.23.20. After a long time of deſolation, by a ſpiritual reſtitution principally in the days of the Meſſias. So the Jewiſh Commenters themſelves here, and Chap.49.6,39. Zeph.2.11. See Eſay 49. ver.6.

Thus far is the judgment of Moab.] The concluſion of this long propheey concerning Moab; as the like of the whole volume of his prophecies, Chap.51.64. So rather, then as ſome, following the Chaldee, would have it, as ſetting a limit to Moabs deſolation, Thus long ſhall the judgment of Moab continue.

CHAP. XLIX.

Verſ.1. Concerning the Ammonites, thus ſaith the Lord,] Into this Chapter are caſt divers ſeveral Prophecies, againſt ſeveral people, moſt of them the Jews, neer but bad neighbours. The firſt that he beginneth with are the Ammonites, the Moabites brethren, Lots iſſue, Pſal.83.8. the former by his elder daughter, the latter by his younger, Gen. 19.37,38. they dwelt neer together, and banded both with the Chaldeans, and others, againſt Gods people, 2 King.24. 2. Pſal.83.6,7. and are therefore joyned together, Zeph. 2. 8. Heb. ſons of Ammon; as Chap. 43. 10. they are ſo conſtantly termed from the root of their ſtock, whom his mother named Benammi, Gen.19.38. Heb. unto them; and ſo ſome render it: but the particle is ſometime alſo ſo uſed, as our Verſion rendreth it, Gen.10.13. Pſal.91.11. Chap.14.10. & 28.8. Others, againſt; as it is rendred, Job 7.20. & 8.4. Chap.3.25. See the like denunciation with this againſt them, Ezek.21.28. & 25. 2. Amos 1.13.

Hath Iſrael no ſons? hath he no heir?] He beginneth this diſcourſe about the Ammonites, with an expoſtulation concerning their wrong offered to Gods people, in ſeizing on their land, as if they wanted iſſue of their own, or other neerer of kin, that might more juſtly lay claim thereunto; continueth it with a denunciation of judgment againſt them for their ſo dealing, Ver.2——5. and concludeth it with a gracious promiſe of reſtitution, Ver.6. See the like expoſtulation, or demand at leaſt, Chap.2.14.

Why then doth their King inherit Gad, and his people dwell in his cities?] What reaſon is there that their King or idol ſhould as by right of inheritance ſeiz upon, and hold any part of that land, that God hath by lot aſſigned to his people, as eſcheated to him for want of heirs? See Judg.11.23,24. and Zeph.2.8.

their King] Or, Melcom, their idol, 1 King.11.5. whom in place of the true God, they ſet up in thoſe places which they ſeiz upon. See ver. 3. and the like ambiguity, Zeph. 1. 5.

Gad] The tribe of Gad: that which God had by Moſes aſſigned unto it, the one half of Gilead, (for the other half of it the tribe of Manaſſes held, Num.32.39. Joſh.13.29,31.) even ſo much, or all of it, as coaſted upon half of the Ammonites country, Joſh.13.24,25. (for ſo I ſhould rather chooſe to expound that place, then as ſome other, of lands taken by Sihon from the Ammonites, and ſo poſſeſſed by the Amorites, Num. 21.26. for there is no mention at all of the Ammonites country in that place) and that the Ammonites had by their vicinity, when the Iſraelites were ſometime in a weak and low condition, either by diſtractions at home, or diſturbances from abroad, taken occaſion to encroach upon the poſſeſſions of that tribe, that part of it eſpecially, that lay ſo neer to them, to wit, Gilead, appeareth plainly by Amos, 1. 13. howſoever the text (in one word there ambiguous, whereof ſee on Eſay 7.14.) be rendred: and this ſeemeth to have been about Jeroboam the ſeconds reign, for under him Amos propheecied, Amos 1. 1. and at that time was that State in a very dejected and forlorn condition, 2 King.14.26. Howbeit, ſome ſuppoſe this to have more ſpecial reference to Pekahs reign, under whom the Ammonites, joyning with Tiglath Pileſer King of Aſſyria, ſhould ſeiz upon the Gadites inheritance: and that Tiglath Pileſer indeed then ſeized, among other places in that kingdom, upon Gilead, we find 2 King.15.29. and that both Pul and he carryed the Gadites away captive, 1 Chron.5.26. but of the Ammonites joyning therein with either of them, nothing is ſaid in the holy ſtory. Yet is it not unlikely, that thoſe parts being by this means much diſpeopled, they took occaſion thereby to ſeiz upon ſome part of that tribes inheritance, lying ſo neer to them, and ſo fit for them: as alſo that after the diſſolution of that State by Salmaneſer, 2 King.17. they continued their poſſeſſion of it; while the Aſſyrian Kings having diſpeopled much of it, did not look much after it. To which purpoſe Zephany alſo long after giveth us an hint, that both the Ammonites and Moabites in Joſias his reign had encroached upon the borders of Iſrael, Zeph. 2. 8. And we find them both further in Jehojakim's reign joyned with the Chaldeans againſt Judah, 2 King.24.2. And that at the time of this prophecy they held ſome good part of that territory, doth from Gods expoſtulation with them by the Prophet here appear: God withall intimating, that they could have no right thereunto; ſince that, albeit thoſe ten tribes had had no iſſue of their own, yet they wanted not an heir; Judah by right of conſanguinity might well come in before the Ammonites, and lay claim to that land, which his brethren of the other tribes had formerly held, 1 King.12.24.

V. 2. Therefore behold the days come, ſaith the Lord,] The wrong was before, ver.1. the righting by judgment to be executed upon the Ammonites now followeth. Heb. the days coming; as Chap.48.12.

that I will cauſe an allarm of war to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites,] Heb. and (for, that; as Chap.48.12.) I will cauſe to be heard a ſhout, or, ſounding of war, (that is, a warlike, or military ſhout; as Chap.4.19.& 20.16. So Amos 1. 14. & 2.2.) in Rabbah: the chief city in the Ammonites country, 2 Sam.11.1.& 12.26. Amos 1.14.

and it ſhall be a deſolate heap,] Heb. an heap, or, hillock of deſolation; as Deut.13.16. See Ezek.25.5.

and her daughters ſhall be burnt with fire:] The Towns and Villages belonging to her, as a mother city to them. See Ch. 15. 8. So are the inferiour Towns uſually termed in Scripture, Num.21.20,33. Lam.3.51.

then ſhall Iſrael be heir unto them that were his heirs, ſaith the Lord.] The Iſraelites ſhall then inherit the Ammonites land, who had before, as if he had been rightful heir to them, poſſeſſed himſelf of theirs, verſe 1. See the like, Eſay 14.1.

V. 3. Howl O Heſhbon,] A city which had been ſometime King Sihons chief ſeat, Num. 21. 20. re-edified by the Reubenites, Num.32.37. but whether parted afterward between them and the Gadites, or whether by lot it fell afterward to the latter, doth not ſo cleerly appear: for it is mentioned as one of their boundaries, Joſh.13.15,16. and as a city out of their inheritance aſſigned to the Levites, Joſh. 21.38, 39. but ſeemeth to have been about theſe times poſſeſſed by the Moabites. See Chap. 48. 2, 34, 45. And hence ſome gather, that the Ammonites were over-run and ruined before the Moabites; becauſe Heſhbon is willed to howl upon the taking and ſacking of Rabba, and ſome other places between Heſhbon and it, as expecting to fare as Rabba and thoſe others had done.

for Ai is ſpoyled:] Not that Ai, whereof mention is made, Joſh.7.1. & 9.3. but another of that name, on the other ſide of Jordan, ſituate between Heſhbon and Rabbah; by Ptolomy deemed to be called Gaia; as Gaza, for, Azzah, Chap. 47.1. and Gomorra, for, Amorah, Eſay 1.9.

cry ye daughters of Rabbah,] Either ye towns belonging to it; as ver.2. but then towns, for, inhabitants; as Eſay 1.27. and ſo the Jewiſh Commenters: or, ye women of Rabbah; as Daughters of Iſrael, 2 Sam.1.24. and, Daughters of Sion, Eſay 3. 16. and, Daughters of Jeruſalem, Luk.23.28.

gird ye with ſackcloth,] Heb. gird ſacks: the uſual mourning weed in thoſe times, Chap.4.8.& 6.20.

and run to and fro by the hedges:] To hide your ſelves behind them in the fields amidſt the buſhes and the thickets, for fear of the enemy ranging up and down; ſeeing ye have no towns or cities left for you to repair unto, they being all ſurpriſed, ſacked and burnt down to the ground, ver.2. For the Jewiſh Maſters ſeem to ſtray, who expound it of ſuch mounds or fences as their Villages had about them, that had not walls and gates, as their great cities had, 1 Sam.23.7.

for their King ſhall go into captivity; and his Prieſts, and his Princes together.] Heb. Malcam. Either the King of the Ammonites that reſided at Rabba, ver.2. or their idol, as ver.1. ſhall go into captivity, or, ſhall go among the captives; as Ezek. 12.11. the very ſame is ſaid of Camoſh, Chap.48.7. of Malcam, Amos 1.15. but there their King ſeemeth to be intended, becauſe he ſpeaketh onely of his Princes: here the idol rather, as Camoſh before; becauſe Prieſts are alſo in both places mentioned: of idols carryed captive, See alſo; Chap. 43.12.

V. 4. Wherefore glorieſt thou in the valleys,] In thy rich and fertile ſoyl; in thy well-watered plains, that therefore fear no drought, Chap.17.8. and that by their conſtant fertility make thee ſo wealthy. So the Jewiſh Commenters, with whom moſt others concur: yet a learned Interpreter of ours would have it rather rendred, in thy profundities, as in a notion of fortification. See ver.8.30. becauſe, though low, yet environed with hils. But the former notion ſeemeth the natural, and is the more familiar notion. The Greek here hath, the fields of Enacim: whence I wot not. See Chap.47.5. & 48.8.

thy flowing valley,] Thy vale, that floweth with abundance of all revenews, as well for delight and pleaſure, as neceſſity and wealth; as the land of Canaan is ſaid to flow with milk and honey, Chap.11.15.& 32.22. But the moſt both Jews and others, read it, thy vale floweth: which they expound diverſly. Some, it fainteth, and is grown weak; as a woman in her infirmity, or man or woman by an immoderate flux, Lev.15.2,3,19,23. Others, it ſhall flow, with bloud of thoſe that ſhall be ſlain in thee; as Eſay 15.9. & 34.7. Others, with ſuch a ſtorm of rain, or land-flouds, as ſhall waſh away all that is in thee, or groweth on thee, thine inhabitants and all their wealth; as Chap.48.8. Others, laſtly, It ſhall flow away, waſte, vaniſh away, and be gone, or be deſtroyed; as Lam.4.9. See Job 20.28. It is an alluſion, ſaith one of ours, to the ſite of valleys, that ſhoot along between the hills, as rivers, or brooks, or land-flouds run down, till they empty themſelves into the ſea, Pſal.104.10. Either Verſion hath good probability; of this latter, the laſt, moſt of any. But I incline rather to the former reading, becauſe the menace comes after, ver.5.

O backſliding daughter] Or, that turneſt away; to wit, from God; as Eſay 57.17. Chap. 31. 22. but I ſhould rather here render it untoward, or, refractory; becauſe ſpoken of a people that never had been joyned in covenant with God of the term daughter, ſee on Chap.46.11,19.

that truſted in her treaſures,] Or, truſteſt in thy treaſure: a change of the perſon; as Job 18.4. O thou that teareſt himſelf in his wrath: Of ſuch vain confidence, ſee Pſal.49.6.& 52.7. Prov.11.28. Mar.10.24. 1 Tim.6.17.

ſaying,] Supplied; as Pſal.105.15. Act.7.32.

who ſhall come unto me?] Or, who can come at me? in a potential notion; as ſuppoſing themſelves impregnable, and ſufficiently able to keep out any forrein force, that might offer to invade them. See the like, Chap.21.13.

V. 5. Behold I will bring a fear upon thee, ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, from all thoſe that be about thee:] Heb. I am bringing; as Chap.42.17.& 45.5. fear upon thee from all thy circuits, or, from all (places, rather then perſons here) round about thee; as Chap.46.14. I will rouz you out of this your ſelf-confidence and ſecurity, by ſurrounding you with terrours on every ſide of you; as Chap.46.5. So ver.29,32. See Ezek.32.32.

and ye ſhall be driven out every man right forth,] As Amos 4. 3. not daring either to ſtand ſtill, or to look back, Gen.19.17. Chap.46.5.& 47.3. Mat.24.16—18. Mar.10.24. Luk.17.31, 32.& 21.21. Heb. a man, for, each one; as Chap.44.16.

and none ſhall gather up him that wandreth.] None ſhall entertain them, or take them in, when they flee and wander from place to place, ſeeking for refuge and relief; as Pſal.27. 10. Mic.4.6. or none ſhall be able to rally them, or bring them together again, to make head againſt the enemy; as Judg. 3. 13. or none ſhall look after any other to ſuccour them, or to take them along with them in their flight, but as in great conſternation and affrightment is wont to fall out, every one ſhall ſeek onely how to ſhift for himſelf; as Chap. 47.3.

V. 6. And afterward I will bring again the captivity of the children of Ammon, ſaith the Lord.] Or, yet afterward; as Ch. 44.4,28. A gracious cloſe, with promiſe of reſtitution: the like whereunto, ſee Chap.48.47. So ver.39.

V. 7. Concerning Edom, thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts;] Heb. unto Edom. See ver. 1. The ſecond prophecy is of the Edomites, the poſterity of Eſau, Gen.36.8,9. See other the like concerning them, Eſay 21.11 & 34.6.& 63.1. Ezek.25. 12. Amos 1.11. Obad.1.

Is wiſdome no where in Teman?] The Arabians, or thoſe of the Eaſt were anciently famous for wiſdom, 1 King.4.30. Mat.2.1. thoſe of Eſau's poſterity eſpecially, and among them the Temanites, a race deſcended from Teman, the ſon of Eliphaz, whom Eſau had by Adah his firſt wife, Gen. 36.10,11. of which family was Eliphaz one of Job's friends, Job 2. 11. God therefore demandeth, whether all their wiſdome that they had wont to be ſo much cried up, and renowned for, were utterly loſt, that they ſeem to be at their wits end, like thoſe at ſea, Pſal.107.27. See the like of Egypt, Eſay 9. 11—13. and of this concerning Edom, Obad.8.

is counſell periſhed from the prudent?] Heb. from the underſtanding ones. Howbeit, ſome of the Jewiſh Maſters render it, ſons; which the word alſo may well ſignifie: and one of them taking it to have reference to Teman, expoundeth it, from thoſe of this generation; as if it were ſaid, from the children of Teman, from thoſe of his race that now live: the old Latine alſo going this way, rendreth it, from the ſons; which ſome referring to wiſdome, expound it, from the ſons of wiſdome; as Mat.11.19.

is their wiſdome vaniſhed?] Some render the word here uſed, is it become ſuperfluous, unprofitable, or uſeleſs, naught worth. So the old Latine, and the Tigurine, becauſe the term hath ſometime a notion of ſuperfluity, Exod.26.12,13. The Jewiſh Doctor after the Chaldee, Is it corrupted and ſpoiled, from a term that very commonly in the Talmudick tongue ſignifieth, to be corrupt, rotten, ſtinking, vile, and abominable. A learned late Writer, Is it tired out? from an Ethiopick term, that ſignifieth to be wearied, or tired, Mat.11.28. An Interpreter of note, Is it worn out? and conſequently, become uſeleſs: which may ſeem to come home to the firſt, nor to ſwarve from the ſecond; for that things worn out, are uſually ſuch, as that Rabbinical term importeth, Ch.38.11. and to ſuit alſo with our Verſion, ſince that things waxen old and worn out, are ready to vaniſh, Heb.8.13.

V. 8. Flee ye, turn back, dwell deep, O Inhabitants of Dedan.] Theſe words are diverſly read, and diverſly rendred. Some read the words all in one notion; as imperative, or hortative. Flee, turn back, dwell deep: as this our preſent Verſion exhibiteth them: and to the ſame effect our former; as alſo the old Latine, the Tigurine, and ſome other Interpreters of note. But againſt this a Jewiſh Critick excepteth, and ſaith, the two latter terms cannot have that notion; becauſe there is no ſuch mood in that form of the one; and the vowel is divers in that mood with the other: and a learned Scholiaſt therefore to eſtabliſh this Verſion, requireth ſome change in the points. But to help this without any ſuch alteration, a late learned Annotator well obſerveth, that there may be, as oft there is, an inter-change of the perſon, the third for the ſecond, as was before, Verſ.4. and the tenſe paſt, or preſent, for the imperative; which is alſo not unuſual: Flee ye, they turn, they dwell deep, for, Flee ye, and turn ye back, and dwell deep, O ye Inhabitants of Dedan. See the like change of perſon, Gen.28.21,22. Eſay 2.29. & 61.7. Chap.5.21. & 6.17. & 16.12. & 29.19. & 44.10. and the tenſe paſt or preſent with the copulative here underſtood, Exod.3.16. & 4.22. & 12.22. & 25.13. 2 King.9.3. Chap.2.2. & 3.12. & 5.20. Howbeit, other of both the Jewiſh Commenters and ours, render the two latter verbs as in an enunciative form; one of the Rabbines, Flee ye Inhabitants of Dedan; they (that is, the enemies) are turned againſt you; and have pierced deep, or, far into your land to dwell in it, and to expel and drive you out of it: and other, when they ſaid, Flee; (ſuch a defect and ſupply; as Pſal.27.8. no ſooner was ſuch a word caſt out, but preſently) the Inhabitants of Dedan turned their back, and dwelt deep; ſought to get into caves and holes as deep as they could, where they might be moſt ſafe and ſecure from the enemy, for fear of whom they fled. A late learned Interpreter including the two latter in a parentheſis; Flee ye (it ſhall come to paſſe that they ſhall turn themſelves away, and retire to deep dwellings) O Inhabitants of Dedan. If any change in the vowel points might be admitted, I ſhould rather chooſe to attempt it in the firſt word, reading Naſu, for, Nuſu, rather then with that learned Scholiaſt, haphnu, for, hophnu: but I ſee not why nuſu may not be here a verb of the indicative paſt or preſent; ſince that form is in divers participles of verbs of the ſame ſtamp and rank found, as in Chuſhim, haſtening, Num.32.17. ſurah, flitting, Eſay 49.21. ſhube, returning, Mic.2.8. and other the like. Thus they might run all in the indicative, The Inhabitants of Dedan are fled, or, flee, they have turned the back, or, are turned back, they dwell deep, or, abide in deep places. But ſince that I find the ſame in effect, yea for the firſt and laſt in terms the ſame, again afterward, Ver.30. I adhere to that which our Verſion exhibiteth, and with the change of the perſon only allowed, the irregularity, found in the laſt, is not great, nor ſuch, as need force it from being an imperative form.

turn back] Or, they turn back: a term uſed ſometime of turning, or, looking back, either to make head againſt the enemy in purſuit, or to ſave and reſcue ſomewhat from them: So Chap.46.3. & 47.3. See ver.5. ſometime of turning the back to the enemy, to make an eſcape by flight, Chap. 46.21. & 48.39. So here, and again, Ver.24. One of the Jewiſh Maſters renders is, they have removed themſelves, as, ſaith he, the word is uſed, Lev.14.36. where it is rendred, they ſhall empty the houſe; that is, remove all the houſhold ſtuff out of it: but the forms are not here and there the ſame.

dwell deep] Or, they dwell, or, abide, deep. Heb. they make deep, or, make deep to ſit; that is, to dwell, or, to abide; as 2 King.6.2. Chap.43.4. So Pſal.113.5. that maketh high, or, aloft, to dwell; that is, who dwelleth aloft, or, on high; as our Verſion well rendreth it. So, make deep demand, for, ask ſomewhat below, or in the deep, Eſay 7.11. and, that make deep to conſult, for, deviſe profound projects, Eſay 29.15. and, they corrupt they make deep, for, they are deeply corrupted, Hoſ.9.9. and that which cometh neereſt home to this, he digged and made deep, for, he digged deep, Luk.6.48. the meaning is, not dwell, or, abide, in the vale, as a learned Interpreter would have it, becauſe the word for a vale, Ver.4. commeth from this root; but retire, pierce as deep as ye can into the clefts of the rocks, or grots and caves in the ground, where ye may lye hid, be moſt out of ſight, and ſo ſafeſt and ſecureſt from the enemy, and there make your abode. See Judg.6.2. 1 Sam.13.6. & 14.11. Eſay 2.19,21. Chap.48.27. The very form is ver.30.

Dedan] A city in Arabia joyning upon Idumea, Eſay 21.13. inhabited by people deſcended from Abraham by Keturah, Gen.25.3. who it ſeemeth had been ſubdued by the Edomites, and their city with its territory annexed to the land and State of Idumea. See Ezek.25.13.

for I will bring the calamity of Eſau upon him, the time that I will viſit him.] Heb. for I have brought. as Chap.32.42. & 44.2. but the time paſt here for the future, as Eſay 30.19. Mic.7.8. yet it may be rendred, when I bring, as Chap.10.2. & 13.21. and, in the time of his viſitation: a defect of the particle in; as Chap.11.23. that is, what time I come to viſit them: as Chap.10.15. & 46.21. Eſau, that is, Edom: for Eſau and Edom are one and the ſame, Gen.36.1,8,9. as Jacob and Iſrael, Gen.32.18.

V. 9. If grape-gatherers come to thee, will they not leave ſome gleaning grapes?] Heb. cluſters: but the word ſeems peculiarly to ſignifie ſuch cluſters, as are wont to be left, either by overſight, or wittingly, according to the Law, Lev.19.10. Deut.24.21. in the cutting and gathering of the grapes in vintage: alluded to, Judg.8.2. & 20.45. Eſay 17.6. & 24.12. Chap.6.9. Mic.7.1. The ſame thing is found Obad 5. and thereby is implyed, that the Chaldeans when they came, ſhould ſtrip the Edomites utterly of all their wealth, leaving nothing of worth behind them. The old Latine, not regarding the interrogation, maketh the ſenſe directly contrary to what is intended, while he rendreth the words, they would not have left a cluſter: it is intimated indeed that the Chaldeans would do no leſſe; but that illuſtrate by an argument of diſſimilitude. Which howſoever the Greek not unfitly expreſſeth, rendring it, There are grape-gatherers come, that will leave thee no remnant; yet they mangle the text, and do not faithfully exhibit it, but inſtead of the protaſis, or former part of the collation, give us here the apodoſis, or application of it, which cometh after, as being the latter part, Ver.10.

if thieves] To wit, had come unto thee; ſupplyed from the former branch: as the like, Gen.1.16. 2 Chron.10.11. compared with 1 King.12.11.

by night] As thieves uſually do, Job 24.16. 1 Theſſ.5.2. 2 Pet.3.10.

they will deſtroy, till they have enough.] Or, they would have deſtroyed. Heb. their ſufficiency; as Exod.36.7. Prov.25.16. they would have taken ſo much as would ſerve their turn, and left the reſt behind, not have ſwept all away, as theſe Chaldeans will do, when they come.

V. 10. But I have made Eſau bare:] Or, I have ſtript, (as Joel 1.7.) or, will ſtrip, Eſau; that is, the Edomites deſcended of Eſau, Gen.36.1. as Ver.8. I will by the Chaldeans ſtrip them of all that ever they have.

I have uncovered his ſecret places,] Heb. his coverts, or, hiding places, or, places of covert; as Chap.23.24. either their forts and ſtrong holds, Eſay 4.6. or the holes that they creep into to hide themſelves in, Ver.8. or the ſecret places where they hide their treaſure, Eſay 45.3. See Eſay 15.7. or both the one and the other: implying that nothing ſhould be concealed or kept from the enemy. See Ver.20.

and he ſhall not be able to hide himſelf,] Or, ſo that (as Chap.29.6,26.) he ſhall not be able to hide himſelf. Heb. to be hid; as Chap.36.19.

his ſeed is ſpoiled,] Either the Edomites themſelves; as, the ſeed of Jacob, the Iſraelites, Chap.33.26. or their children; as Chap.36.31. for whom they ſhall find no place, wherein to conceal or ſecure them, nor friend or neighbour to commit them unto, Ver.11.

and his brethren,] The Moabites and Ammonites deſcended from Lot Abrahams nephew, Gen.11.31. & 19.37,38. undergoing the ſame calamity with the Edomites, Chap.48. Verſ.1.

and his neighbours,] The Philiſtines, Pſal.83.7. ſpoiled as well as himſelf, Chap.47.

and he is not.] Edom is no more a Kingdome, or a State;

as Pſal.37.36. Chap.31.15. or, as ſome of the Jewiſh Maſters, who joyn this clauſe to the next verſe; There is none to him; or, there is none left him: he hath none, either brother, or neighbour to take charge of his children, that may ſay, as it is there; or, there is not he, that may ſay, Leave thy orphans with me, Ver.11. But of this farther there.

V. 11. Leave thy fatherleſs children, I will preſerve them alive; and let thy widows truſt in me.] Theſe words moſt Interpreters conceive to be the words of God himſelf to the Edomites, as adviſing them to commit their children and their widows to him. And our ancienter Engliſh Verſions render them; Thou ſhalt leave thy fatherleſſe children with me, and I will keep them: for it is no ſmall comfort, ſay ſome of them, that go this way, when men dye, or when they ſee they muſt periſh themſelves, yet if they have ſome friends, that will take care for their widows & their orphans: or, ſay others, when men are compelled to flee, or withdraw themſelves, being conſtrained to flit from place to place, if they have ſome friend with whom they may leave wife and children, as David did his parents with the King of Moab, 1 Sam.22.3. that which God, as ſome ſuppoſe, ſhould put the Edomites in hope that he would do for them, when all others ſhould fail them; and ſo it ſhould be not unlike that, Pſal.27.10. But others conceive that God ſpeaks it, not as promiſing any ſuch thing, but implying only that they ſhould have none left to leave them to, but God, their friends, alliance, and neighbours being in the ſame caſe with themſelves, Ver.10. Others, that they ſhould have no ſuch to leave to any, their wives and children being ſlain as well as themſelves. Whence it is ſaid, that there ſhould be no remainder of them, Obad.18. and that of Babylon, ſay they, includeth alſo the Edomites, Pſal.137.7,9. Others, that God ſpeaketh it by way of irony or deriſion, as if he ſhould ſay, you may do well to commit and commend your wives and children to me, as hoping that I ſhould undertake the ſecuring of them; but little favour or mercy are either they or your ſelves like to find with me, who have carried your ſelves ſo inſolently towards me and my people. But theſe ſeem all of them ſomewhat ſtrange and ſtrained Interpretations. Which the Chaldee perceiving, maketh it Gods ſpeech to the Iſraelites, rendring the text, O houſe of Iſrael, ye ſhall not leave, or, leave not, your orphans, I will ſecure them: and let your widows rely on my word; as encouraging them, not the Edomites, to depend upon him; as one that would take care of them, and provide for them, Pſal.68.5. But others, as was in part before hinted, ſuppoſe them to be conceived as the ſpeech of ſome friends, if any ſuch were, that would offer ſuch kindneſſe to the Edomites in this their diſtreſſe, as to undertake ſuch an office of love and amity in their behalf: to which purpoſe ſome, not of the Jewiſh Doctors onely, but of ours alſo following them, tear off the laſt clauſe from the former Verſe, and affix it to this. But howſoever in ſome places there may ſeem ſome neceſſity of ſo doing; whereof ſee on Eſay 64.1. yet it ſeemeth not ſo here. That may well ſtand ſtill, as in our Verſion it doth; and this, with that ſupply, which a learned Scholiaſt ſuggeſteth, follow as a ſentence diſtinct from what went before; No man is there that may ſay, Leave me thine orphans, &c. or, as I ſhould rather ſupply it, to make ſome coherence of this with the former; He is not: (Edom himſelf is loſt, is gone:) Nor is there any to ſay, Leave thine orphans, I will keep them alive. See the like ſupply of the negative, from the Verſe before-going, Eſay 28.28.

fatherleſſe children] Not at death bequeathed to them; but committed to them, at departure by flight; called orphans, or fatherleſſe, becauſe bereft of their father, though living, yet leaving them, and living apart from them; in regard whereof they are as without a father, their father neither being with them, nor able to do ought for them.

I will preſerve them alive:] Leave them to me, and I will ſecure them. Heb. make them live, or, quicken them; but the word is uſed alſo, for, to preſerve in life, or, keep alive, Exod.1.18. Num.31.15,18. Pſal.22.29. and ſo it would alſo be rendred, Pſal.119.25,37,40,50,88,93.

truſt in me.] Or, truſt to me: rely upon me; as undertaking the charge of them.

V. 12. For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, They whoſe judgment was not to drink of the cup, have aſſuredly drunken; and art thou he that ſhalt altogether go unpuniſhed? thou ſhalt not go unpuniſhed; but thou ſhalt ſurely drink of it.] I have not ſpared mine own peculiar people, who might rather have expected this favour at my hands then you; and what reaſon have you then, who have no ſuch relation to me, to expect to be ſpared. See this very meſſage of the cup here intimated, Chap. 25.29. See alſo. Obad.19. Heb. drinking drink; as Chap.25.28. and acquitting be acquitted; as Chap.46.28.

and deſpiſed among men] As Pſal.22.6.

V. 16. Thy terribleneſs hath deceived thee, and the pride of thine heart.] The word rendred terribleneſs is no where elſe found; and is therefore by divers diverſly both rendred and expounded. The root from whence it riſeth hath a notion of terrour, and trembling in it; and it is but once found, Job 9.6. but another word thence ſpringing is found oft uſed for dread, or terrour, Job 21.7. Pſal.55.5. Eſay 21.4. Ezek.7.18. Some render it, Thine idoll, becauſe a word from the ſame root, differing onely in a miniſterial letter, is uſed for an idoll, ſo termed, becauſe the worſhippers of ſuch dread them, 1 King.15.13. 2 Chr.15.16. Others, pride, or arrogancy; ſo ſome of the Jewiſh Maſters, whom the old Latine followeth, and they ſay, pride is ſo termed, either by a contrariety of ſpeech, becauſe proud perſons are furtheſt from fear, or becauſe they affect to be frighful to others, Job 40. 10—12. The Chaldee rendreth it fatuſſe, or fatuity, folly; for the word he uſeth may ſignifie either: and they go frequently together, as the Greek Proverb informeth us. See Eſay 6. 10. nor are pride, and fatuſſe, far aſunder, Pſal.73.6,7. & 119.69, 70. the Greek giveth it, ſport, or mockery: whence I wot not. A learned Interpreter, horrour, or roughneſſe; as having reference to the roughneſs of thoſe mountains, on which, having expelled the Horites, Edom ſeated himſelf, called from their roughneſs, ſaith he, the mountains of Seir, Deut.2.12. But of theſe ſcarce any ſeem very probable. The plaineſt, and that wherein moſt, both Jewiſh and ours agree, is of thoſe that take the word, as its fellow, in a notion of terrour; thereby underſtanding not the terrour wherewith Edom was affected himſelf, but the terrour that he ſtruck into, and wherewith he was wont to affright others: as the like is ſaid of other great States, Eſay 14.16. Ezek. 32. 23—27. and it is therefore in our Verſion very fitly and exactly rendred terribleneſſe; And pride of heart, or, a proud heart, (Heb. thy pride of heart, for, thy proud heart; or, his greatneſſe of heart, for, his great ſtomack, Eſay 10.12.) is well adjoyned to this terribleneſs: for that is one principall thing that puffeth up perſons with pride, when they perceive that others ſtand in aw of them, and dare not ſtir, or do any thing to croſs or oppoſe them in ought, Eſay 10.12—14. and this terribleneſſe is here ſaid to have deceived the Edomites, or to have ſeduced, and led them aſide, as the Chaldee rendreth it; and as Babels wiſdome is ſaid to have perverted her, Eſay 47. 10. becauſe it made them ſecure and preſumptuous, as if none durſt attempt ought againſt them and their State, as their enſuing vaunts ſhew. But herein a learned late Writer controlleth all the former Verſions, for, ſaith he, the word of terrour, or, terribleneſſe, cannot here be joyned with the verb deceived, or, deceiveth; for the noun is feminine, and the verb maſculine, and agreeth therefore not with terrour, but with pride; and he would therefore have the text thus to be rendred; Oh thy terrour! (as ſpoken by way of admiration; as, O their perverſneſs! Eſay 29.16.) the pride of thine heart hath deceived thee; and this Syntax the place in Obadiah, whence this paſſage is taken, may ſeem to ſecond: for there this firſt term is not found; but the text runneth there, The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, Obad.4. But to let paſs that place of Eſay; wherein I conceive that this notion will not ſo well fit; it ſeemeth not to carry any plain, or ſmooth ſenſe here: and for the diverſity of the gender, it is frequently found, and there is an inſtance of it in the verſe next before-going; where the word widows is feminine, the verb of truſting joyned with it maſculine. Howbeit, becauſe the words are ſo conceived in Obadiah, I ſuppoſe that they may well here be thus rendred, Through thy terribleneſs, or, Becauſe of, or, By reaſon of thy terribleneſs, the pride of thy heart, or, thy proud heart hath deceived thee. The particle beth taken in ſuch a procuring, or producing notion is frequently wanting; as Pſal. 56. 4. & 107.8,15,21.

O thou that dwelleſt in the clefts of the rock, that holdeſt the height of the hill:]The land of Idumea, was much of it hilly and rocky, in regard whereof they deemed it inacceſſible and impregnable, Gen.36.8,9. ſuppoſing themſelves as ſafe there; (See Obad. 3.) as the dove, when ſhe hath made her neſt within ſome cleft of a rock, where the Fowl of prey being bigger of body, cannot get in to her, or her young: for that ſeems here alluded to. See Chap. 48.28. and of the cony, Prov.30.26.

V. 17. Alſo Edom ſhall be a deſolation] Heb. And Edom ſhall be for, or, unto deſolation, as verſ.13. that is utterly deſolate.

no man ſhall abide there; neither ſhall a ſon of man dwell in it.] So Ver.33. Chap.50.40.

V. 19. Behold, he ſhall come up like a lion from the ſwelling of Jordan.] This paſſage is very variouſly by Interpreters expounded. Some expound it of the Edomites in fierce and furious manner invading Judea Gods people, 2 Maccab. 10. 15. Others, of ſome enemy that ſhould in like manner break in upon the Edomites: and this enemy ſome would have to be the Iſraelites, according to that, Obad.18,21. which they underſtand of Hyrcanus and Judas the Jews victories againſt them; whereof Joſephs Antiquities, l.13. c.17. 1 Maccab. 5. 3. 2 Maccab. 10.16—23. but the moſt underſtand it of Nebuchadnezzar, and the Chaldean forces; of whom chap. 46.20. Ver.28. reſembled by a lion, as here, ſo Chap.4.7. this lion is ſaid to come up, as ſome conceive it, from the ſwelling of Jordan; as noting the place from whence he ſhould go up againſt the Edomites, whether the Jewes army under their conducters, that were to paſſe Jordan, ere they could invade Idumea; or the Chaldean forces under Nebuchadnezzar, who having firſt conquered Judea, fell afterward upon Idumea, marching up thither from the fertil ſoil, that Jordan watereth, Zach.11.3. where the word ſeemeth to be ſo taken. Others, as deſigning the violent manner of irruption, whether of the Edomites into Judea, or of forrein forces; Jews or Chaldeans, breaking into Idumea: and theſe render the words, he ſhall come up above, or, beyond, the ſwelling of Jordan; (Heb. the excellency, as Eſay 2.10. or, pride of Jordan; as it is rendred, Zeph.2.10. and ſo Zach.11.3.) that is, more forcibly and violently, then Jordan is wont to break in upon the plains neer to it, when it getteth over its banks: and ſuch hoſtile irruptions are indeed compared to ſuch inundations, Eſay 8.7,8. Chap.46.7,8. & 51.42. and the particle is in compariſons commonly ſo uſed, Gen.19.9. Eſay 2.6. & 48.4. & 53.5. But others rather, as pointing to the place where lions uſed to harbour, to wit, in the woods and groves neer to the banks of that river, from whence they were wont to prey upon cattel that fed thereabout, Zach.11.3. and of theſe ſome more particularly to the manner of thoſe lions, that harboured thereabout, who at that time of the year, when Jordan uſed to riſe and ſwell above his banks, were fain to quit the plain, being then all over-flown, and to make up to the higher grounds. And the learned Scholiaſt's ſupply doth very well here; as a lion, or, as lions (the word taken collectively) cometh up, or, are wont to come up (as Gen.44,5. drinketh, that is, is wont to drink) from the over-flowing of Jordan, ſo ſhall he come up. See the like, Chap. 46. 18. Of Jordans overflowings, ſee Joſh.3.15. 1 Chr. 12.15. Chap.12.5. of the lions leaving his covert; Chap.25.38. and this whole paſſage again repeated, Chap.50.44.

againſt the habitation of the ſtrong:] Heb. of Ethan; which ſome take for the proper name of a place in the land of Edom, which they conceive to be that, which was one of the Iſraelites ſtations, in their journey from Egypt, Exod.13.20. Num.33.6,8. but they are herein much miſtaken: for that place is termed not Ethan, but Etham; and ſo the ancient Greek, but corruptly, readeth the word here: but the word, as moſt take it, ſignifieth ſtrong; as Num.24.21. Chap.5.15. Pſal.74.15. or, as ſome, ſtrength: and ſo it is cleerly taken, Gen.49.24. and Seir or Idumea is here termed (as Babylon alſo, Chap.50.44.) the dwelling of the ſtrong, or, a dwelling of ſtrength, that is, a ſtrong dwelling: in regard of that ſuppoſed ſtrength of their land, which the Edomites ſo much boaſted of, and whereunto they ſo much truſted. See Obad. 4. for as for thoſe, who interpret it, the habitation of the mighty, to wit, God; underſtanding it of Judea, by the Edomites invaded; I ſuppoſe to be out of the way here, as well in that as in this. A late learned Writer would have it rendred, a rough, or, rocky, habitation; from that of Moſes before cited: ſuppoſing alſo a city in Sicily ſo ſituate, to have its name Neeton in Greek, and the inhabitants thereof Netini in Latine, from the very terms here uſed: and true it is, both that Edoms land was ſuch, as alſo that ſuch a ſite conferreth much to the ſtrength of a place; but the word ſeemeth to be much larger.

but I will ſuddenly make him run away from her] This branch is exceedingly tortured with multiplicity of Verſions and Interpretations. And whereas the root, whence the former word here uſed doth ariſe, hath a threefold notion, ſometime of rending and breaking; ſometime of ſhort and ſudden acting; ſometime of reſting and being quiet. Some take the word here in the firſt notion, rendring the text; I will break, or, rent them (to wit, the Edomites) aſunder, (as the word is uſed, Job 7.5. and Chap. 31. 15.) and I will make them run out of their land. I will carry them out of their land into captivity. Others take the word in a notion of ſuddain, quick, momentary motion, or action. And of them ſome, whom our Verſion may ſeem to follow, take it for an adverbial, as they ſuppoſe it alſo to be, Prov. 12. 19. and they apply it to the Edomites invading Iſrael, whom God would ſuddenly drive out again. See Eſay 59.20. The ſame way go the ancient Greek and old Latine, though in expoſition of the ſentence they depart both from thoſe, and either from other: for the Latine rendreth it, I will cauſe him to come ſuddenly into the land. I will cauſe the enemy ſuddenly to invade it: the Greek, I will make them ſuddenly to run out of their land; being by the enemy thence expelled. Others, taking it for a verb, but in the ſame notion, thus render it, I will in a moment approach to her, or, bring him to her, and I will make him run from her; that is, depart again, and retire as ſpeedily, having had good ſucceſs, and obtained in a ſhort time, what he came for. Thoſe laſtly, that take it in a notion of reſt, render it, ſome, when I ſhall have reſted a while, as Eſay 18.4. Others, when I ſhall make to reſt: when my purpoſe is, and I ſhall come to give reſt to my people Iſrael, Chap.31.2. I will make him (to wit, Iſrael) to run out of her; that is, out of Edoms land, where they had been in captivity. Others, when I have cauſed him to reſt, I will make him run out of it: after that I have ſuffered the Edomites to enjoy reſt for a while, I will compel them to quit their country, and diſperſe themſelves into forrein parts. Of all theſe the old Latine ſeemeth to have come neereſt home to the true notion of the text; the terms whereof yet require ſome cleering. The initial particle would be rendred, for; as Chap. 47. 4. the next word, whether it be an adverbial or a verb, is to the ſenſe not much material; it comes from a root, that ſignifieth a moment; and is uſed for ſpeedily, ſuddenly, Eſay 26. 20. & 47.9. & 54.7,8. Chap.18.8. I ſuppoſe it to be here a verb; ſo taken it ſhould ſignifie, to cauſe ought to be done in a moment, ſuddenly: and after the Hebrew idiom to ſay, I will cauſe to be done in a moment, or, ſuddenly, will cauſe him to run, (for in ſuch tranſitive forms both the verbs are) is no more then, I will cauſe him ſuddenly, or, in a moment to run: as, wilt thou not return will quicken us? for, wilt thou not quicken us again? Pſal.85.6. and, they made haſte forgat, for, ſoon, or, haſtily they forgat, Pſal.106.13. and, they have made deep have corrupted, for, they have deeply corrupted, Hoſ.9.9. which by the adverb, whether it be an adverbial or a verb, is to be alike expreſſed here; as the like though verbs in all thoſe other places, ye ſee, is: thus the ſenſe is thus far plain; I will cauſe him in a moment, or, ſuddenly to run: about the laſt particle is moſt doubt; and it hath contrary ſenſes given it: that the words may ſignifie from off her, or, it; cannot be doubted, much leſſe denied; as 2 Chron.33.8. Chap.24.10. & 28.16. Ezek.1.19,21. & 10. 16. but one of the Jewiſh Criticks obſerveth on the place, that the term meal, is ſometime as much as mimmaal, above, or, over: as, ſaith he, Gen.1.7. the waters above the firmament; and Ezek.1.26. above the firmament that was over their heads: and beſides theſe inſtances, a learned late Annotator ſupplyeth us with ſome other, Gen.27.39. the dew of heaven from above: and, Gen.49.25. the bleſſings of heaven above: and, Pſal.50.4. He ſhall call the heaven from above; or, above: but thoſe of the Rabbine fit here better then theſe; becauſe in theſe the term is abſolute and conſiſtent, whereas in thoſe it is tranſitive; as it is alſo in this place. Thus then conceived, the text runneth ſmoothly, The Deſtroyer, Nebuchadnezzar ſhall come up with his forces againſt Edoms ſtrong dwellings, like a lion, or, as lions uſe to do from their covert about Jordan, when by that rivers over-flowing the plains neer unto it, they are forced to make up into the higher grounds; and ſhall ſuddenly, or in an inſtant, over-run his whole country, get above it, and become maſter of it: that which is after ſet forth by another reſemblance of an Eagle, the chief of fowles of prey, as the lion of beaſts, Ver.22. See further there.

and who is a choſen man that I may appoint over her?] This branch is as many wayes tentered and tortured, as the former. Some underſtand it of the Jewiſh people, whoſe land the Edomites had invaded; I will drive them again out of it; and I will ſet over it, him, whom I have made, or, ſhall make choice of: not him to whom they deſign it, as Eſay 7.6, 7. Others of the Edomites, and thoſe diverſly: Some, whatſoever choiſe young man there is with her; to wit, with Edom, him will I viſite; that is, I will deſtroy all the flower and choice of her youth: as of Moab, Chap.48.15. Others, what choiſe of young men is there that I may ſet up for her, to oppoſe the Chaldean forces that come againſt her? implying, that ſhe had none at all left. Others, apply it to thoſe that were either to afflict or to deſtroy Edom; and of them, ſome more generally; what choiſe ones (as Rev.17.14.) are there that I may maſter againſt her? as if he had ſaid, I will pick and cull out Warriers as many as can be found fit for ſuch a ſervice, to be employed in this expedition againſt Edom, as 1 Chr. 19. 10. Other of them reſtraining it to one chief Commander, and in him that is choſen, (that is, whom I have made choiſe of, whom I have deſigned to that ſervice) will I ſet up againſt her. Others again, what choiſe one is there, that I may ſet over thoſe forces that are to go againſt her? and others, what choiſe one is there for me to ſet over her? as implying, that he would find out enow ſuch to ſet over the Edomites as ſhould not mildly and moderately rule, but tyrannize over them, and grievouſly oppreſſe them: like that of Egypt, Eſay 19.4. I concur with thoſe, who underſtand it of one that he intended to imploy in that ſervice, to wit, Nebuchadnezzar, the lion, or ſpoiler, before ſpoken of; and render the words, for (the copulative in a cauſal notion; as Chap.44.13,17.) I will give charge to (as Ezr.1.2.) him that is (the interrogative for the demonſtrative; as Eccleſ. 9.4. and a defect of the relative, as Chap.50.5.) a choiſe one, (as Pſal.89.19.) againſt her: el, for, al; as Chap. 48. 11. that ſhall do this ſervice effectually for me: as Eſay 44.28. See Eſay 10.6.

for who is like me?] Who can do as I can? Who am able to enable whomſoever I commit any charge unto, to go thorow with whatſoever I give him in charge to do. See the ſame, Exod.15.11. 1 King.8.23. Pſal.35.10.& 89.6,8. Chap. 10. 6.& 50.44.

and who will appoint me the time?] Or, or (as Chap.23. 18.) will, or, dare, (as Chap. 2. 23.) ſet me a time? either to joyn iſſue with me in judgment, as ſome; from Job 9. 19. or, as the moſt rather, to joyn iſſue with me in battel. See Ch. 46.17.

who is that ſhepherd that will ſtand before me?] Or, or (Heb. and; as before: which ought not to be omitted) who is (the pronoun demonſtrative, for the verb ſubſtantive; as Pſal.25. 12.) the ſhepherd, (that Prince, or Potentate; as Eſay 44.28. Chap.6.3.& 12.10. but the term here uſed, the rather, as alluding to a ſhepherd into whoſe flock a fierce lion is broken, and maketh havock of his ſheep, Eſay 31.4. Joel 2.11. Mic.5. 8.) that can, or, dare to ſtand before me, Pſal.76.7. Nah.1.7. or, before any one, that ſhall come with commiſſion from me? as he Eſay 36.9. ſhall ſtand, for, can ſtand; as Prov.27.4. or, dare ſtand; as Job 41.10. See Chap.46.21. and the ſame again, Chap.50.44.

V. 20. Therefore hear the counſel of the Lord that he hath taken againſt Edom, and his purpoſes that he hath purpoſed againſt Teman:] Heb. the counſel that he hath conſulted; as Eſay 8.11. ver.30. or, the courſe that he is reſolved upon, as it were upon due deliberation: not that God conſulteth as men uſe to do about ought; but to ſhew the ſeriouſneſs and ſettledneſs of Gods actions and executions; that he hath good ground for the doing of them, as men for thoſe things uſually, which they do not raſhly, but conſiderately & adviſedly undertake; and he is peremptory in them, when he hath once reſolved upon them, and will be ſure to effect them; as men are wont to proceed conſtantly in thoſe things, that they have adviſedly undertaken. See Eſay 19.17. & 44.25. & 46.10. and the thoughts that he hath thought, or, the devices, or, the contrivements, that he hath deviſed, or contrived; as 2 Sam.14.14. Ver.30. a form of ſpeech taken likewiſe from men, who having cunningly contrived, and prudently plotted things before-hand, are the more likely to go thorow with their deſigns, and to bring them to good effect. ſurely the leaſt of the flock ſhall draw them out] Heb. if the little ones (for, leaſt, as 1 Sam.9.21.) ſhall not draw, or, drag, them out; as dogs do a carcaſſe, Chap. 15. 3. or, wolves a ſheep, when they worry it: it is conceived, as in the form of an oath; as Pſal.95.11. Chap.44.26. and it is as if he had ſaid; What ſpeak I of Nebuchadnezzar as a fierce lion, that I ſhall bring in upon the Edomites, the very weakeſt and feebleſt of all his retinue, of thoſe that follow his camp, going under my conduct, as their ſhepherd and leader, (alluding to the title of a Shepherd before-mentioned, Verſ. 19.) ſhall fetch out the ſtrongeſt and valianteſt of the Edomites; nor ſhall they be able to ſtand before, and make head againſt, or by skulking into caves and corners to conceal themſelves from the meaneſt of his followers. See Rabſhakehs vaunt of his Maſters followers, Eſay 36.9. and ſee Ver. 10. As for thoſe Jewiſh Doctors, who by little ones here mentioned, would have underſtood, either the Perſians, becauſe they came of one of Japhets younger ſons; or the Jews, that were of ſmall eſteem, at preſent, but were ſtill Gods flock, Ezek. 34.30,31. the poſterity of Jacob, younger brother to Eſau, to fulfill that prophecy, the elder ſhall ſerve the younger, Gen.25. 23. and ſome again of them more particularly of the iſſue of Rachel, Benjamin and Joſeph who were Jacobs youngeſt children: they are many miles from the Prophets meaning in either.

ſurely he ſhall make their habitations deſolate with them] Heb. if he make not (as before) their dwellings deſolate upon, or, together with, them: as Exod.35.22. Eſay 7.2. Chap.3.18. he; that is, the Lord, ſaith the Rabbine; the enemy, ſaith the Scholiaſt; but there is no neceſſity of either: the verb is indefinite; and it may well be rendred, their dwelling together with themſelves ſhall be deſtroyed: as Chap.51.30. See the ſame again, Chap.50.45.

V. 21. The earth is moved at the noiſe of their fall] Either the earth it ſelf ſhall ſhake with that hideous noiſe, that the fall of their State, as of a vaſt ſtructure, ſhall make: or the people of the lands and countries round about them ſhall tremble and be diſmayed at the report of this their downfall. So Ezek.26.18. & 32.10. See Chap.38.39. and the ſame with this, Chap.50.46. voice, for, report: as Chap.4.15.

at the cry, the noiſe thereof was heard in the red ſea.] Heb. a cry by, or, in the ſea of weed, or, reit; ſhall be heard her voice, or, its voice; not, their voice: as, their fall, before; though ſome here ſo render it. Where the Interpreters ſuppoſe a defect, and make aſſay of ſundry ſupplies, ſome one, ſome another: ſome prefix a prepoſition, ſo ours, at the cry; others, by reaſon of the cry. Others ſupply a verb, a cry is heard: but neither is needful. The old Latine, and divers others, render it not altogether amiſſe, without either, the clamor of his, or, its voice is heard in the red ſea: but more agreeably to the ſyntax and prophecy of the original thus, the noiſe of the out-cry is heard to the red-ſea: for the pronoun feminine affixed to the word voice, or, noiſe, hath reference to cry, or, out-cry, by an elegant redundancy ſo rife in that language as nothing more, Gen.2.17. 1 Sam.9.13. Job 3.8. Pſal.18.30. & 104.17. Eccl.2.14. Eſay 8.13. & 45.9. & 48.6.

in the red-ſea] Or, as ſome render the particle, beſides the red-ſea: in the coaſts, and places adjacent: and ſo it is uſed, Chap.32.7. & 36.10. I ſhould rather render it unto: as Eſay 8.8. & 9.8. & 30.28. Heb. the ſea of weed, or, ſedge, or flag, or ruſh, (as ſome render it, Exod.2.3,5.) or, reed, (as others, becauſe they find it joyned with the cane, Eſay 19.6) or, reit; for ſo, I take it, we call that ſea-weed, which the Latines term alga; and which ſeemeth to be the Hebrew ſuph that Jonas ſaith was wrapped about his head, Jon.2.6. and whereof ſtore is ſaid to be found in the bellies of whales; this ſea is that which is by Geographers called the Arabian Gulf, becauſe it ſhooteth in from the main ſea between Arabia and Africa; and is by the Hebrews termed the weedy, or, ſedgy, or flaggy, or, ruſhy, or reedy, or reity, ſea, in regard of the great abundance of ſuch kind of weeds that grew in it, being but ſhoaly, and eſpecially about the banks of it: it coaſteth in the inwardeſt parts of it, on Egypt on the one ſide, and on Idumea ſited in ſome part of Arabia, the ſtony, on the other ſide; as appeareth by Solomons ſhipping there built, 1 King. 9.26. from whence it came at firſt to be termed the Edomean or Idumean ſea; and becauſe Edom hath a notion of redneſſe in it, Gen.25.30. it came therefore to be termed by the Greeks, and the Latines from them, mare Erythræum, that is, the red ſea; not as ſome have thought from the colour of the ſands, or the water of it, or of the coral growing in it; and much-leſſe as the Greeks, who have thence forged a fable, from one Erythræus, or Rufus, a King, that ſhould be either drown'd in it, or buried neer to it; the meaning is, that the cry of the Edomites ſhould be ſo loud, and ſo great, that it ſhould run thorow the whole country, and be heard as far as the red ſea, See the like of Moab, Eſay 15.4,5,8. Chap.48.34.

V. 22. Behold, he ſhall come up and fly as the Eagle, and ſpread his wings over Bozrah.] Nebuchadnezzar compared before to a lion, for his fierceneſs, ver, 19. here to an eagle for his ſwiftneſs, and ſudden acceſs, Job 9.26. & 39.29. See on ver. 21. whether way it be taken, an alluſion there ſeemeth to be in it to the unquietneſs and reſtleſneſs of the neighbouring ſea, Eſay 57.20.

V. 24. Damaſcus is waxen feeble,] Heb. is grown remiſs, or, faint: her Spirits are abated; as Judg. 8.3. or her hands hang down; as 2 Sam.4.1. Chap.6.24. & 50.43.

Pſal. 39.7. and that which our Verſion here exhibiteth concerning this branch, agreeth with the Chaldee, ancient Greek, and old Latine; and the moſt Interpreters, one and other: yet an Interpreter of prime note, and a learned Scholiaſt following him, render it, ſhe ſhall get, the one, ſhe hath gotten, the other, a feaveriſh trembling: ſhe is fallen into a ſhaking fit of a feaver: that, I ſuppoſe, that induced them to ſwarve from the foregoing Verſions, was becauſe they found no point in the body of the laſt letter; and took it therefore not for a pronoun affix, which hath uſually that point in it, but for a feminine form of the verb, which yet they needed not to have ſcrupled; for that point in the affix is ſometime wanting; and that in the very next clauſe, where yet themſelves take it for a pronoun.

V.25. How is the city of praiſe, not left, the city of my joy?] A lamentation for the ruine and deſtruction of Damaſcus, not unlike thoſe, Chap. 48. 17, 39. & 50.23. & 51. 41. Lam. 1. 1. a city of praiſe, for a renowned city; as praiſe for, matter of praiſe, Eſay 62. 7. ſpoken of Jeruſalem, and of Babylon, Chap.51.41. and a city of joy, for, a joyous city; as, a name of joy, for, a joyous name, Chap.33.9. ſo Jeruſalem is ſaid to be the joy of the whole land, Pſal.48.2. for the jod affixed in the end is by ſome learned deemed, not to be a pronoun, as it is commonly taken; (whence many Interpreters make it the ſpeech of the King of that State) but a mere termination onely, taken from the Syriack idiom; like whereunto is in many places found; as Eſay 20.4. & 19.9. Ezek. 13.9. Nah.3.17. Zach.14.5. Damaſcus is meant, ſaid, not to be left; to wit, ſtanding by the enemy: as ſome cities in Canaan were left by the Iſraelites, when they burnt down others, Joſh.11.12,13. as if they ſhould ſay, what meant the Chaldeans to deſtroy ſo goodly a city; and not leave it ſtanding, though they had razed and ruined others that were not of the like note? Howbeit, ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors would have the word taken in a notion of fortification; as if it were ſaid, why was not ſo famous a city better fortified? Why was ſhe not ſo fortified with walls and bulwarks, that ſhe might have been impregnable? and they alleadge to that purpoſe a place in Nehemy, in which the word ſeemeth ſo uſed, where it is ſaid, and they fortified Jeruſalem, Neh.3.8. to which may a ſecond be added, Neh.4.2. where the ſame word again is ſo uſed, as it cutteth off all thoſe far-fetcht and forced interpretations that ſome of the greateſt note give of that other place; and from thence a term in the Talmud, which ſome expound a pavement; ſome a parapet, (to which purpoſe alſo one of the Commenters on Nehemy, expounds the word in the former place there uſed, they filled it up with earth unto the wall) Others, the plaiſtering; ſome more generally, the ſtructure: hither alſo is that uſe of the ſame term referred in that place, Exod. 23. 5. of the helping up of a beaſt, that lieth under his burden; where the words would be rendred, ſhouldeſt thou forbear to lift him up? thou ſhalt in any wiſe lift him up together with him; that is, be aſſiſtant to the owner, though thine enemy, in helping to lift, or ſet him up again: a metaphor from the erecting and ſetting up again of an edifice or building, when it is fallen. And this interpretation of the word in this place, ſeemeth to me not altogether improbable: Though I cannot come home to that learned Annotator, who would have it rendred, How is that ſo much commended city not paved? that is, hath not now ſo much as a pavement; becauſe the word fore-mentioned is ſaid ſometime ſo to ſignifie: if in ſtead of pavement he had ſaid terrace, or pacapet, it might more eaſily have paſt: this of pavement ſeemeth no way to ſuit well here.

V. 26. Therefore her young men ſhall fall in her ſtreets, and all the men of war ſhall be cut off in that day, ſaith the Lord.] How this Therefore ſuiteth well here, I ſee not. I rather accord with what one of the Jewiſh Maſters ſuggeſteth, that the particle is here a note of aſſeveration, as it is alſo, and ſo acknowledged, Chap.5.2. and I ſhould therefore render it, Surely, her young men ſhall fall (that is, be ſlain, as chap.6.15. & 8.12. in her ſtreets, (as Chap.9.21.) and all the men of war ſhall be cut off (as Chap.51.3.) in that day: at that time; as ver.22. See the ſame, Chap.51.30.

V. 27. And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damaſcus, and it ſhall conſume the palaces of Benhadad.] See the ſame in effect, Amos 1.4. and the like, Amos 1.7,10,12,14. as alſo, chap. 17.27. So rather then as a learned Writer, Who would have fear here put for arms,the matter of fear: as praiſe,for matter of praiſe, ver.25.and ſo expoundeth it, They ſhall beſet them with arms on every ſide. Of the form of ſpeech being proverbial, ſee Ch. 6.25.& 46.5.

Of them, ſee on chap. 25. 25. as alſo on Eſay 22.6.whence it appeareth,that they ſerved under Sennacherib in his expedition againſt Jeruſalem; nor is it unlikely, that they ſerved under Nebuchadnezzar alſo, having made himſelf maſter of the Aſſyrian Monarchy, in his invaſion of Judea, which the Jewiſh Maſters therefore ſay was the main ground and cauſe of this prophecy againſt them.

in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah, King of Judah, ſaying,] A long time before the execution and accompliſhment of it, much about that time, when the Prophet was by God commanded to make thoſe yokes, and ſend them to the neighbouring Kings, implying their ſubjection to the Babylonian King, Chap.27.1,3. and when the falſe Prophet Hananiah had broken the yoke, that the Prophet himſelf by Gods appointment wore, withall promiſing a diſſolution of the Babylonian dominion, and the return of the Jews abiding at captivity in Babylon, Chap.28.1—3.to control that vain conceit, that he endeavoured thereby to work into the minds of Zedekiah and his people, as being able to ſhake off the Chaldean yoke; when as Nebuchadnezzar ſhould carry all away,as well farther of,as neerer at hand before him, Ch. 25.9.& 27.8.

V. 35. *Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Behold I will break Elam,*and the chief of their might.] Inſtead of that yoke,which Hananiah broke, implying a diſſolution of the Chaldean power,God threatneth by that Chaldean power to break the bow of Elam,that is, their main might and principal ſtrength, and that which the Elamites moſt truſted unto, being noted for expert archers; as Eſay 22.6.See Pſal.18.34. & 37.15. & & 46.9. CHAP. L.

Verſ.1. The word that the Lord ſpake againſt Babylon, and againſt the land of the Chaldeans by Jeremiah the Prophet.] In this Chapter,and the next, is a very prolix prophecy againſt Babylon,which cometh laſt here, becauſe that State was to drink laſt of the wine-cup of Gods wrath, after that it had gone round , and that the reſt had drunk deep thereof by it,Chap.25.9,26.and it is therefore the larger, becauſe the comfort of Gods people depended much upon the expected downfal of that State. The whole prophecy is intermingled, partly, with dreadful menaces againſt Babylon, deſcribing the manner of her overthrow , the perſons by whom it ſhould be effected, their proceedings in it, and ſucceſs againſt it, as if the deſign had been already accompliſhed, and the Prophet preſent himſelf at the accompliſhing of it ; together with the procuring cauſes of this her calamity , among which,their cruelty exerciſed on the people of God, one of their chief ; and partly with gracious promiſes of protection and deliverance to Gods people, together with encouragements of them,not to doubt or deſpair, though they ſee not things ſo ſoon, or ſo ſuddenly effected , as they deſire, but to bear up their ſpirits with an hopeful expectation of aſſured freedom from captivity , and return to their own country in the time by God prefixed : and theſe are ſo cloſely interwoven, and ſo variouſly intertwined thorow out the whole body of it,the one with the other,and that alſo accompanied with ſo many interchanges of perſons ſpeaking , ſpoken of, and ſpoken to , as that it may well challenge any the ſtrongeſt and cleereſt brain, to make out an exact and accurate analyſis of it, which alſo,when all were done, it may be,would not prove ſo uſeful neither. The inſcription of the whole prophecy is in this firſt verſe, wherein is declared the perſon, from whom it cometh, the Lord ; as Ch. 46. 13.againſt whom it is darted ; Babylon and the land of the Chaldeans(Heb.unto ; but el,for,al : either Concerning, or againſt ; as Chap.49.19,20,34,and ſo Chap.51.12.) and by whom denounced,Jeremy.Heb.by the hand of Jeremiah ; as,by the hand of Malachy, Mal. 1. 1. See the like prophecies concerning Babylon,Eſay 13.& 14.& 21.& 46.& 47. whence alſo ſome things are transferred into this prophecy.

V. 2. Declare ye among the nations,] The entrance is made into it, with a commandement to publiſh in all-places the downfal of Babylon, as a buſineſs already accompliſhed among the nations. Becauſe it concerneth them , as well as Gods people,who were to be freed from the Chaldean tyranny by the fall of Babylon,as well as they,Eſay 14.6,7.

and publiſh] Heb.make it to be heard ; as Eſay 48.20. See the like,Pſal.96.10.Eſay 12.4,5. Chap.31.10.

and ſet up a ſtandard,] Heb. lift up an enſign : not, as ſome, to gather Gods people together, to acquaint them with this prophecy ; nor, as others, to get people together to be employed in ſervice againſt Babylon ; as Eſay 14.2.for the work is here deſcribed and delivered, as already done ; but to call people together, to impart unto them the glad-tiding of Babylons ruine and downfal ; as the manner was on ſuch occaſions for thoſe that came with good tidings of victory, delivery,good ſucceſs,or the like publike affairs,to get up into ſome eminent place, and from thence by ſome ſignal given to gather people together, to declare it unto them, and acquaint them therewith. See Eſay 40.9.& 52.7.Nah.1.15. the words following confirm it.

publiſh,and conceal not;] Heb. cauſe it to de heard ; as before: the copulative here is needleſs, See Pſal.40.9,10.

Merodach is broken in pieces,] Another of their idols ; from which ſome of their Kings had their names : and was, it may be,at firſt,the name of ſome King, who after his deceaſe was idolized : ſuch as were many of the Pagan deities. See Eſay 39.1.

her images are broken in pieces.] Eſay 21.9. the term here uſed cometh from a word that ſignifieth dung, Ezek. 4. 12. Zeph. 1.17. and importeth conſequently dungy, durty idols ; idols, as vile, baſe, loathſome, abominable, as dung and dirt.

V.3.For out of the North there cometh up a nation againſt her,] or, there is come up (a military term ; as Chap.49.22.)or, ſimply is come (as Exod.16.13.and he ſpeaketh of it,as of a thing already done) againſt her,a nation (the Medes and Perſians accounted as one nation , becauſe belonging to one crown, See Eſay 13. 17.) from the North : from Media, lying North from Chaldea ; and from Aſſyria , through which Cyrus marched unto Babylon,ver.9,21,41.

which ſhall make her land deſolate ; and none ſhall dwell therein:] Or,ſo that none ſhall dwell therein : the copulative for the finitive ; as Chap.29.6,26.Heb.ſhall put it unto deſolation ; as Chap.2.15.See Eſay 13.20.ver.40.

they ſhall depart both man and beaſt] Heb.from man to beaſt ; as Chap.9.10.Eſay 10.18.See Chap.51.61. and the like, Ch. 4.25.& 33.10,12.Zeph.1.3.

V. 4. In thoſe days,and in that time,ſaith the Lord,] As ch. 33.15.When Babylon ſhall be taken by Cyrus,ver.2.

the children of Iſrael ſhall come,they,and the children of Judah together;] The Jews being ſet at liberty by Cyrus, Ezr.1.1, 2. and many of the other ten tribes joyning themſelves to them.See Ch.30.3.& 31.5,6.

going and weeping:] Or, weeping as they go; as Chap.41.6. as with grief for their ſins whereby they had grieved God, and provoked him to wrath, and procured thoſe fore-paſſed calamities to themſelves : ſo for joy alſo in the apprehenſions of Gods preſent gracious goodneſs toward them in remitting their ſins, removing his wrath, reconciling them to himſelf,reducing them from their long captivity again : for tears there are of joy,as well as of grief,& ſome mixt ones of either.See Gen.29.11.& 42.24.& 43.30.& 45.2,14,15.& 46. 29. Nor need we therefore to underſtand theſe words, as a learned Writer therein following the Chaldee , of their weeping what time they went out into captivity, Pſal. 126.6. and while they continued there,Pſal.137.1. but of tears ſhed in their return,as before,and after it alſo. See Ch.31.9. Ezr. 3.12,13.

they ſhall go and ſeek the Lord their God.] Or, go to ſeek ; as, aroſe and warred,for,roſe to war,Joſh.24.9. or,go ſeeking ; as, ſtand and feed, for,ſtand feeding, Eſay 61. 5. to ſeek after him who had ſhewed ſo much mercy, goodneſs, and kindneſs to them ; to acknowledge their thankfulneſs for the ſame. See Pſal.24.6.& 105.4.

V. 5. They ſhall ask the way to Zion with their faces thitherward,]Heb.They ſhall ask after Sion ; the way thither ſhall their faces be : they ſhall enquire the way to Jeruſalem, (ſee Ezr.8.21,23,31.) and that more ſpecially in regard of Sion, the ancient ſeat of Gods reſidence among them,and principal place of his ſolemn ſervice,Pſal.84.7. See Chap. 31. 21,12, Zach.8.21,22.and their faces ſhall be ſet that way. Of which form of ſpeech,ſee on Ch.42.15.

ſaying,Come and let us joyn our ſelves to the Lord, in a perpetuall covenant,that ſhall not be forgotten.] Let us renew our covenant with God again ; let us enter into a firmer and more conſtant covenant with him then ever : (Heb. a covenant of perpetuity : ſuch as God promiſeth to make with them, Chap.32.40. Ezek.16.60. & 37. 26.) ſuch as we will never ſtart from again,Pſal.80.18. Chap.32.40. See the like form of expreſſion in another kind, Chap. 23. 40. there is in the text a defect of the relative ; as Chap.31.21,24.and the word ſaying is ſupplyed ; as Chap. 48.39. Howbeit, the Chaldee acknowledgeth no ſuch ſupply,but rendreth the words in an enunciative form ; they ſhall come and joyn themſelves to the Lords people : which ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors following, expound the text of thoſe ſtrangers that ſhould adjoin themſelves to Gods people,either upon their return from captivity,Eſay 14.1.or in the days of the Meſſias, Zach. 2. 11. becauſe the ſame word is there uſed : and of ſuch it is uſed indeed alſo,Eſay 56.3, 6. But neither is the word people, here, which the Chaldee crammeth into the text : nor is there any neceſſity that the word ſhould here be ſo taken , ſince that the current of the context runneth cleerly for Judah and Iſrael : it may rather imply , that they had ſo broken their conjugal covenant with God,and God ſo caſt them off thereupon,Chap.3,1,8. & 31.32. that they were in a manner become as mere ſtrangers to God,Chap.2.5,15.Hoſ.9.10.Amos 9. 7. and may ſeem as ſuch to be now new joyned again to God , from whom they had ſevered themſelves before by their ſins, Eſay 59. 2. And of them a learned late Writer aright underſtanding it, but for the notion of the words concurring with the Chaldee,rendreth the text; They ſhall come and adjoyn themſelves to the Lord ; and the ſame way go both the ancient Greek and old Latine : nor is this Verſion improbable ; though ſome difficulties there ſeem in it ; for as concerning the former word of coming, the form here uſed is generally an imperative, no where found in an enunciative notion : but to remove this ſcruple,that learned man produceth two of the ſame ſtamp with it in an enunciative notion, the one in theſe words,they were abaſhed. Chap.14.3. the other in thoſe,they are pleaſant, Cant.4.10. for the latter, the Jewiſh Criticks,whom moſt of our Grammarians concur with go another way : they take it for an imperative , and render the words therefore,as the former,come ye; ſo this, be ye adjoyned, or,adjoyn your ſelves : the paſſive form in a reciprocal notion ; as Chap.4.4.& 23.4.& 36.19.and ſome Interpreters of prime note, whom the learned Scholiaſt alſo followeth, do herein agree with them: an irregularity indeed; they acknowledge in it ſo taken: but they ſuppoſe another imperative, juſt of the ſame making, to be found in thoſe words, and be gathered together, Joel 3. 11. But this place produced by them, is as queſtionable as the preſent; and I incline therefore to the former, which is neither peſtered with much irregularity, and doth very ſmoothly and eavenly, without any ſupply, carry on the context: conceiving the words to contain a prediction, what the faithful party of Gods people, being ſet free from their fore-mentioned captivity, ſhould do. Though ſome Interpreters of prime note read and render this whole paſſage concerning Gods people, as ſpoken by way of exhortation or advice. Let them come—— let them ſeek—— let them ask—— let them ſay, ver. 4,5. But I leave that to the conſideration of others.

V. 6. My people have been loſt ſheep:] Gods word ſpeaking of the Jewiſh people, as ſtill owning them; My people; as Chap.33.24. hath been loſt ſheep, or, as loſt ſheep: a defect of the note of ſimilitude; as Pſal.141.2. Eſay 21. 8. Chap.26.18. ſtraying from God, Eſay 53.6. Mat.18.11,12. 1 Pet. 2.25. and chaſed out of their own country into forrein parts, Pſal. 119.176. ver.17. Heb. periſhing, or, periſhed; and ſo Pſal. 119.176. that is ready to periſh; as Eſay 27. 13. and becauſe the noun ſubject is ſingular, the attribute plural; ſome render it, a flock of periſhing ſheep: as if there were a defect of ſome other ſubject to be ſupplyed; as Ezek. 13.11. but neither doth the word ſignifie a flock properly; and yet being here in a collective notion, the ſyntax is not unuſual; yea with the very ſame ſyntax is the word found uſed, 1 Sam. 25.18.

their ſhepherds have cauſed them to go aſtray, they have turned them away on the mountains:] Their Rulers, Princes, and Paſtors, Magiſtrates and Miniſters, (for the word comprehendeth Governours as well Eccleſiaſtical as Civil, Eſay 56. 11. Chap.3.15.& 23.1.& 25. 34. Ezek.34.2.) have by their bad example, and falſe doctrine, led them out of the way, and made them to go aſtray from God, Eſay 3.12. & 9.16. Chap. 23.13,14,15. & 28. 16. & 29. 32. and by means thereof they cauſed them to be turned out of their own land, as ſheep out of their paſture, and driven into ſtrange countries, as ſheep to graze on barren hils and bare mountains, Nah.3.18. See Chap.27.10. Lam. 2. 14. and it ſeemeth an alluſion to thoſe mountains which they were forced to paſs, when they were carryed away in captivity to Babylon, Chap.13.16. Yet want there not, both of the Jewiſh and others, who underſtand this of the mountains on which they worſhipped their idols, Eſay 65.7. Ezek.18.6,11. and they render the words, ſome, they have broken them upon the mountains; as they ſuppoſe the word to be uſed, Ezek.38.4.& 39.2. Others, they have made them to rebell upon the mountains: as the word is uſed, Eſay 47.10. Chap. 8.5. the latter whereof ſeemeth the more probable; but neither to ſuit ſo well with the Prophets purpoſe, and the reſemblance uſed by him in this place.

they have gone from mountain to hill,] That is, as ſome, they have run up and down from one idol to another, Chap.2.23, 24. or, as others rather, they have been hurried up and down from place to place, during the time of their captivity; as ſcattered ſheep are wont to be, Ezek.34 5, 6.

they have forgotten their reſting place.] Heb. place to ly down in; as Prov.24.15. that is, as ſome, they have forgotten God their onely true reſt, Chap.6. 16. while they run thus after idols, Chap.2.31——33. & 23.27. Hoſ.8.14. or rather, as others, they have been ſo long abſent from their own country the place of their reſt, Deut.12.9. Pſal.95.11. Chap.31.2. that they may ſeem to have forgotten it; as in continuance of time, by long diſcontinuance, folk are wont to forget perſons or places, that they formerly either converſed with or abode in.

V. 7. All that found them have devoured them:] As ſilly ſheep when they ſtray, without any to look after them, and ſecure them, become a prey to every Wolf, or other ravenous wild beaſt, that lighteth on them, Ezek.34.8. Thus the moſt: onely one learned Interpreter renders it, All that lead them out devour them; as Chap.23.1. Zach.11.5. and ſo it ſhould be much the ſame with that before, ver. 6. But the vowel points in the text will not admit this reading.

and their adverſaries ſaid; We offend not, becauſe they have ſinned againſt the Lord,] Thoſe that prey upon them, pretend that they deal but juſtly with them, no otherwiſe then as they have deſerved for their ſins againſt their God, Chap. 40. 5. Zach. 11. 2. and we are therefore faultleſs. But ſee the contrary, Chap.2.3. nor indeed did thoſe wicked wretches intend or regard any ſuch thing; whatſoever they pretended, Eſay 36.7,10. but the ſatisfying of their own ambitious diſpoſitions, and the enlargment of their dominions, Eſay 10. 6,7. Heb. they have ſinned to the Lord; as Pſal. 51. 4. and ſo both the ancient Greek, and old Latine rendreth it: but the particle is frequently uſed alſo for againſt; as Job 7.20. & 8. 4. Chap.3.25.

the habitation of juſtice] This our preſent Verſion, as others before it do, as by way of appoſition, adjoyn to the former; and make an attribute of God, and ſo the Jewiſh Doctor expoundeth it, a juſt habitation, a ſure dwelling: according to that, Lord, thou haſt been our dwelling, Pſal.90.1.& 91.1. The Chaldee rendreth it, they have gone far, or, kept aloof off from the habitation of his holineſſe; ſeeming to underſtand it of their leaving his Temple to go after their idols. The old Latine goeth the ſame way herein with ours, but rendreth it the beauty, or goodlineſſe of righteouſneſſe. But I find not where the word here uſed hath any ſuch notion, though one neer to it hath. Other Interpreters of good note, conceive a defect of the particle in, oft ſuppreſſed; as Job 1.13. Eſay 26. 8,18. Chap.5.7. and the place here deſigned, in which they ſo ſinned, which did much aggravate their offence; and they render the words, ſome, in the fold of righteouſneſſe; becauſe they find the word ſo uſed, 1 Sam.7.8. 1 Chron.17.17. See Ezek.34.14. Some, in the habitation of righteouſneſſe; that is, in the Church of God, in the land of Judah, and the city of Jeruſalem; the place where righteouſneſs ſhould dwell. See Chap,31.23. or, righteouſneſſe, as ſome, for men of righteouſneſs; righteous ones; as Eſay 1.21. See Eſay 60.21.

even the Lord, the hope of their fathers.] Heb. and the hope, or, expectation of their fathers the Lord. That which divers diverſly render and expound: the old Latine retaining the copulative; and the expectation of their fathers the Lord: nor do our Engliſh Verſions much ſwarve from this; onely they make the copulative, not ſo much a note of conjunction, as of amplification, or exaggeration; as Chap.15.13. & 23.9. But others make the copulative a note of ſimilitude; as it is, Prov.17.3. & 10.25. rendring the text, Who would have been a ſure habitation to them, if they had not ſinned againſt him, as he had been the hope of their fathers. Others take it in a relative notion, Whoſe fathers expectation he was, and of them, for, whoſe: the copulative with the pronoun demonſtrative, for the relative; as chap.15.19.& 17.7. Some laſtly, with whom I cloſe, take the copulative in a diſcretive notion, as it is frequently uſed, Pſ.78.23. Eſay 35.9. Chap.32.33. and make it an entire ſentence. So a learned Scholiaſt rendreth it, albeit the Lord was the expectation of their fathers, that is, he, on whom their anceſtors depended, and from whom they expected relief, ſuccour, ſafety, and all manner of good. See Chap.17.13.

V. 8. Remove out of the midſt of Babylon, and go forth out of the land of the Chaldeans:] Or, Remove out of her; as Eſay 5. 8.& 7.22. See Eſay 48.20. ſo Chap.51.6. Rev.18.4.

and be as the he-goats before the flocks.] Or, as the great he-goats, that are as ring-leaders to the reſt of the flock. See Eſay 14. 9. and goats he mentioneth rather then ſheep; though Gods people are more uſually compared to ſheep, Mat. 25.32,33. becauſe they are the nimbler and the ſwifter of the two. Strive to go one before another, in making haſte to your own country again. See Eſay 60.8.

V. 9. For lo, I will raiſe, and cauſe to come up againſt Babylon, an aſſembly of great Nations from the North country;] Heb. I am raiſing (as Eſay 13. 17.) and making to come up, or march (as ver.3.) againſt Babylon, an aſſembly (a company, as called together; as Zeph.1.7.) of great nations (as Chap. 27.7. the Medes and Perſians, Eſay 13.17.) from the land of the North. See Ver.3.

and they ſhall ſet themſelves in array againſt her,] Or, ſet the battel in array; as 1 Chron.12.33. & 19.9. the like defect is, 2 Sam.10.17. Heb. to her, for, againſt her; as ver.3.

from thence ſhe ſhall be taken:] From thence; that is, by people and forces coming from thoſe parts. So rather, then as a learned late Writer, from thence; that is, out of hand, ſuddenly, unexpectedly: or, as one of the Rabbines, from the place, where they ſit down, and ſet their forces in array againſt her, not needing to remove to any other place from thence: ſhall ſhe be taken, ver.2.

their arrows ſhall be as of a mighty expert man,] Heb. their arrows ſhall be as a mighty man, for, as the arrows of a mighty man: as, he maketh my feet like hinds, or harts; that is, like the feet of hinds, or harts: Pſal.18.33. and Eſay 63. 2. garments like one that treadeth the wine-fat, for, like the garments of one that treadeth the wine-fat. In the latter term here uſed, there is ſome variety of reading; as in the pronunciation of Sibboleth, and Shibboleth, Judg. 12.6. according to the diverſe placing of a point upon the right or left corner of the initial letter. The Chaldee, and the Jewiſh Doctors, with whom the old Latine concurreth, place it on the right hand, and then it ſignifieth one that deſtroyeth, that bereaveth wives of their husbands, children of their parents, and parents of their children; as the word intimateth, Hoſ.9.14. Others turn the point over to the left ſide, and then it ſignifieth one expert, or ſkilfull; and ſo the ancient Greek here rendereth it, which our Verſions follow: unto which I ſhall add a third Interpretation, from the root, which the word cometh from in the latter form; wherein it ſignifieth, not to deal prudently, and skilfully only, but to proſper alſo, and be ſucceſſefull. See Eſay 52.13.& Jer.23.5.and ſo it may be rendred of one ſucceſſefull, whoſe ſhafts never miſs, like thoſe Benjamites, Judg. 20.16.hence it followeth.

none ſhall return in vain.] But ſhall hit and ſpeed, 2 Sam.1.12.effect what it was ſhot and ſent for; as Eſay 55. 11. underſtood of their arrows; becauſe like the arrows of a man both of ſtrength to draw the bow, and of skill to guide the ſhaft, and that directeth it to the ſpeeding places, and is ſucceſsful in his ſhot. But the words in the text rather are, it ſhall not return empty; as the term is uſed, Chap.14.3.that is, as ſome other expound it, the aſſembly of nations, before-mentioned, ſhall not return empty; but furniſhed and laden with ſtore of rich ſpoyls; as Exod.3.21. the contrary whereunto, ſee Ruth 1.21.See ver. 18. thoſe that go the former way are fain to render it, there ſhall not any of them, to wit, of their arrows, return empty, or in vain: Either may ſtand with the terms of the text.

V. 10. And Chaldea ſhall be a ſpoyl, all that ſpoyl her ſhall be ſatisfied, ſaith the Lord.] They ſhall find wealth enough in her to ſatisfie them to the full: the ſtate of Chaldea, and city of Babylon being the richeſt place at that time in the world. See Eſay 13.19.& 14.4 & 45.3. Chap.51.13,44.

V. 11. Becauſe ye were glad; becauſe ye rejoyced,] Becauſe ye have rejoyced at, and ſported your ſelves in the miſeries and calamities of my people; as of Moab, Chap.48.27. or, as ſome read it, When (as Chap.10.2.) ye ſhall be merry and revel it; as alluding to the feſtival, at which Babylon was ſurpriſed, Chap.51.39,57.

O ye deſtroyers of mine heritage,] Ye Chaldeans, that have made ſuch ſpoyl and havock of my land, Lev.25.23. Chap. 2.7.& 16.18.or of my people, Chap.12.7—9. as dear to me, as any mans inheritance is to him, 1 King.21.3.

becauſe ye are grow fat,] Or, big, or corpulent; as ſome: or when (as before) ye abound: or, as others, are grown fat, or, laſcivious: as, fulneſs and fatneſs is wont to produce wantonneſs, Deut.32.15. Chap.5.8. Ezek.16.39. the ſame word is found, Mal.4.2.but in no evil notion there: and from thence a word for abundance, Job 35.15. Others again, Ye are diffuſed, and skit up and down; as alluding to beaſts that grow skittiſh, when they are full fed, and run at large; becauſe the word is found in a notion of diffuſion and diſperſion, Habb.1.8. Nah.3.18.

as the heifer at graſs,] Or, like an heifer, or calf, (the ſame word with that, Chap.48.34.) feeding on, or fed with tender graſs: for it is an adjective derived from a term that ſignifieth ſuch herbage as doth firſt ſprout out, and is not grown over-rank, or exhauſt, but is full of moiſture and ſweetneſs, and doth therefore ſuddenly fill and fat. See Eſay 15.11.& 66.14.as alſo, Deut.32.2. 1 Sam.23.4. inſtead hereof to the ſame purpoſe, is calves, or, heifers of the ſtall; that is, ſtalled ones, Mal.4.2.

and bellow as buls.] The word here uſed ſignifieth properly to neigh; the peculiar note of horſes, Chap.5. 8. & 13. 27. Job 6.5. Pſal.23.2. and becauſe not without cauſe it may be queſtioned how buls ſhould be ſaid to neigh: ſome ſuggeſt from a Jewiſh Maſter, that the word is uſed for any ſhrill, or, loud voice, or, cry, of what kind ſoever. See Chap.31.7. but we need not flee to any ſuch metaphorical uſe of the word: or, to Oxen uſed for treading out of corn, Hoſ.10.11, to which employment, the ſtrongeſt of them ſhould be deſigned, (which ſeemeth nothing probable; and that of Hoſea implyeth the contrary) and uſed to grow yet fatter and luſtier by that employment, having by the Law liberty to feed the more freely, Deut.25.4. for the latter word here uſed ſignifieth as well horſes as beeves, as well ſteeds as buls. See on Ch. 46.15.& 47.3. and it would therefore be rendred, ye neigh as ſteeds, or, luſty ſteeds: for the word hath a note of eminency in it, as hath been before ſhewed: and this Verſion the Prophet leadeth us unto from Chap.5.16. where both the terms here uſed are the ſame found joyned together; ſave that the noun of the one is there, the verb whereof is here, in thoſe words, the neighing of his ſteeds.

V. 12. Your mother ſhall be ſore confounded, ſhe that bare you ſhall be aſhamed:] Your former routing and revelling, inſulting over and deriding of others, ſhall be ſeconded with ſhame and confuſion; as Chap.48.26,27.for your mother city Babylon, or your native country Chaldea; as Eſay 23.4. & 51.18. Chap.15.8,9.ſhall be aſhamed of you, that could defend her no better: as they of their idols, Ch.48.14.

behold, the hindermoſt of the nations ſhall be a wilderneſſe, a dry land, and a deſart.] Or rather, as moſt both Jewiſh and others, the laſt of Kingdoms ſhall it be, &c. She that was the foremoſt of nations before, ſhall become the hindermoſt, the laſt, the loweſt: ſhe that was before ſo rich and wealthy ſhall become a wild waſte; as of Judah the like, Lam.1.1. and of Egypt the ſame, Ezek. 29. 12, 15. See Eſay 13. 20.

V. 13. Becauſe of the wrath of the Lord,] This clauſe would rather have annexed to the words fore-going; as the like, Chap.41.18. Heb, bubbling, or, boiling wrath, Eſay 34.2. Chap.10.10.& 21.5.

It ſhall not be inhabited, but ſhall be wholly deſolate.] Heb. It ſhall not ſit, or dwell. See Eſay 13.20. Chap.17.6. So ver. 3, 39.

every one that goeth by Babylon ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and hiſs at all her plagues.] In diſdain and deriſion; as chap.49.17.

V. 14. Put your ſelves in array againſt Babylon round about:] Or, Set the battel in array round about againſt Babylon. See ver. 9,29. Gods ſpeech to the Medes and Perſians, and their aſſiſtants. Of whom ver.9.and chap.51.11.

all ye that bend the bow ſhoot at her,] Heb. tread the bow; as chap.46.9. So ver.29.and throw, or caſt, or caſt out (as Lam. 3. 53. Joel 3.3. Zach.1.21.) to wit, arrows, or ſhafts: a defective ſpeech: the like whereunto, ſee chap.4.29.

ſpare no arrows,] Heb. have no pity on arrow: for ſo the word properly ſignifieth, having in it a notion of pity, and ſparing out of pity, Exod.2.6. 2 Sam.12.6. 2 Chron.36.15. arrow, collectively, for, arrows; as Pſal.91.5. and el, for, al; as alſo, Chap.51.3. this latter particle being of more frequent, almoſt general, uſe in this form. See chap.48.11. and one of the Jewiſh Doctors ſuppoſeth that there might be in the word a cloſe preoccupation of a ſecret ſuggeſtion, whereby the Perſian ſouldiery might think, when they ſhould be called upon to ſpend their arrows apace, that it would be great pity to have ſo many arrows caſt away and loſt: to which anſwer ſhould be returned here, that no ſuch pity ſhould need, for none ſhould be loſt; they ſhould every one do execution, as had been before ſaid, ver.9. But this I conceive to be ſomewhat over-nice.

for ſhe hath ſinned againſt the Lord] That which they pretended to be their ground for afflicting Gods people, ver.7. and it is, to the Lord, here alſo, as there: though it may be underſtood, they have ſinned exceedingly; as it is ſaid of the Sodomites, They were ſinners unto God, or, of God; that is, exceedingly great, or grievous ſinners, Gen.13.13. the words are in either place the ſame. See ver.29.

V. 15. Shout againſt her round about:] Aſſault her on every ſide with a warlike ſhout, ſuch as aſſailants are wont to make, therewith partly, to incite, and ſet on one another, and partly to affright thoſe whom they aſſail, Chap.4.19. & 49. 2. So rather, then as ſome, who would have it underſtood of ſhouts uſed in a triumphant manner after victory obtained, and conqueſt of a place made: though of ſuch alſo the word be uſed; as Pſal.47.5.

ſhe hath given her hand: That is, ſaith a learned late Writer, ſhe hath entred into confederacy with the Lydians our adverſaries, (for which he citeth Herodote) and therefore we muſt not ſpare her: and theſe words he would have to be uttered by the aſſailants in the ſhout enjoyned: for to give the hand, is uſed for to enter into ſociety and confederacy, Ezek.17.18. 1 Maccab.11.50. Gal.2.9. and ſo, to put hand, Lev.6.2.and to ſtrike hands, Job 17.2. But the moſt and beſt go rather another way, underſtanding it, as it is in other languages alſo, as well as in Hebrew, very frequent, in the Latine eſpecially, for to yield up ones ſelf into the power of another, as utterly vanquiſhed, and unable to hold longer out. So 2 Chron.30.8. Lam.5.6. it implyeth, as a learned Writer ſuppoſeth, an holding up of ones hand to be bound and manacled, as ſlaves, priſoners, and captives were wont to be. See chap.40.4. But I conceive rather, as ſhewing them quitted of arms, making no oppoſition, but ſuing for mercy; as Pſal.68. 31. uſed alſo as a ſignal of ſubmiſſion and allegiance, 1 Chr.29.24.

her foundations are fallen, her walls are thrown down:] So Chap.51.58. the broad walls of Babylon ſhall be razed: but here ſpeaking of it in a prophetical ſtrain, as of a thing already done. Howſoever a learned Writer would have it taken, as ſpoken by the enemy, in way of incitement at the time of the aſſault; Let her foundations be razed, let her walls be thrown down: like that, Pſal.137.7. Strabo, lib.16. reporteth that a great part of her walls were razed by the Perſians, and the reſt ruined by neglect and continuance of time; ſo that it might well be ſaid of it, the great city (the greateſt, ſaith Pauſanias, in his Arcadiacks, that the ſun had ſeen) was become a great waſte.

for it is the vengeance of the Lord:] Againſt whom he had ſinned, ver.14.as that execution done upon Moab, is called the work of the Lord, Chap.48.10.the pronoun demonſtrative for the verb ſubſtantive; as Pſal.25.11.So alſo ver.25.

take vengeance upon her; as ſhe hath done, do unto her.] Pay her in her own coyn, deal with Babylon, as ſhe dealt with Jeruſalem, Pſal.137.8.no juſter Law then that of retaliation, Exod.21.23,25. Deut.19.19,21. acknowledged ſo to be, even by thoſe that have themſelves ſuffered it, Judg.1.5. So ver.29. Rev.18.6.

V. 16. Cut off the ſower from Babylon, and him that handleth the ſickle in the time of harveſt:] Sickle, or, Sithe: ſo Joel 3.13. Deſtroy her ſo that none of hers be left, either to till the ground, or to take the crop of it, if any come up of it ſelf; which yet God cauſed the Chaldeans to leave, when they carryed the Jews away captive, 2 King.25.12. The Chaldee rendreth it, Cut off the King from Babylon, and whet the ſword for the time of ſlaughter. But that departeth too far from the text.

for fear of the oppreſſing ſword, they ſhall turn every one to his people, and they ſhall flee every one to his own land.] Her hired ſouldiers and aſſiſtants. See the ſame before of Egypt, Chap. 46.16. See alſo, chap.51.9.

V. 17. Iſrael is a ſcattered ſheep:] Or, as a ſcattered ſheep; as ver.6. he is ſcattered among the nations, Joel 3.2.

the lions have driven him away:] That is, as the Chaldee, fierce and mighty Kings compared to lions the King of beaſts; have driven him out of his country. See Chap. 4. 7. yet the term may be more general, and comprehend any potent adverſaries, Pſal.57.6. Chap.2.15.

firſt the King of Aſſyria hath devoured him] Or, firſt the King of Aſſyria did eat upon him. See Chap. 10. 25. moſt underſtand it of the Aſſyrian Kings vexation of the ten Tribes by Pul and Tiglath-Pileſer, 2 King.15.19,20,29. 1 Chr. 5.26. and the deportation of them by Salmaneſer, 2 Kings 16.7. & 17.3,4. Yet I conceive that it may have more ſpecial reſpect to the people of Judah invaded and much ſpoiled by the hoſtile incurſions of Sennacherib, 2 King.18.13—17. and Eſarhaddon, 2 Chr.33.11.

and laſt this Nebuchadrezzar King of Babylon hath broken his bones.] Heb. hath boned him; that is, as the moſt, hath utterly ruined him by carrying away captive Judah and Benjamin, 2 King.24.14—16. & 25.7,11,19,20. as the other had done the ten Tribes: or referring both to thoſe two Tribes; making up joyntly the State and Kingdome of Judah, he hath utterly deprived him of all ſtrength and ſupport, which lyeth in the bones. See Eſay 38.13. Lam. 3.4. the other tore his fleece and his fleſh off him; but this latter hath even broken his bones too: to bone, for, to break bones, or, to unbone: as, to neck, for, to break the neck, or, cut off by the neck, Exod. 13.13. Deut.21.4. Eſay 66.3. and, to tail, for, to curtail, or, cut off the tail, Deut.25.18. Joſh.10.19.

V. 18. Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael,] As Chap.48.1.

Behold, I will puniſh the King of Babylon, his land, as I have puniſhed the King of Aſſyria.] I will pull down the one, as I have already done the other: and the one produced the rather to give aſſurance of the other: as Eſay 14.25. Heb. viſit upon, as Eſay 10.12. So Chap.51.44.

V. 19. And I will bring Iſrael again to his habitation;] Or, to his fold; as 2 Sam.7.8. or, his paſture: as Ezek 34.14. See on Chap.9.9. (for he continueth ſtill the former metaphor taken from ſheep, Ver.6,17.) to their wonted places of feeding and lodging.

and he ſhall feed on Carmel and Baſhan,] Which were of the richeſt and fertileſt parts of that country, Num.32.4. Pſal.18. 12. See Eſay 33.9. & 35.2.

and his ſoul ſhall be ſatisfied upon mount Ephraim and Gilead.] Or, he ſhall be ſatisfied, or, ſatiated; as Eſay 58. 10. Pſal.63.5. he ſhall feed as largely as he can deſire to his fill: of Gilead, ſee Chap.22.6. and of mount Ephraim, Chap. 31. 5,6. that theſe places were after the return from the captivity, by ſuch Kings as prevailed in thoſe parts adjoyned to the State of Judea, Some Writers obſerve here from Joſephus Antiquities, L.13. c.5,8.

V. 20. In thoſe dayes, and in that time, ſaith the Lord;] As before, Ver.4.

the iniquity of Iſrael ſhall be ſought for, and there ſhall be none;] Or, it ſhall not be; as Pſal.39.13. Chap.31.15. it ſhall no more be, then as if it never had been, God forgiving and forgetting it, Chap.31.34. Zech.10.6.

and the ſins of Judah, and they ſhall not be found:] The ſame thing in divers terms: not to be found, for, not to be; as Pſal. 10.15. with 7.9. & 37.36. Dan.2.35.

for I will pardon them whom I reſerve.] And God where he forgiveth ſin, forgetteth it, and utterly aboliſheth the guilt of it, Eſay 43.25. Mic.7.19. Heb. I will be propitious to them; as Chap.5.7. & 33.8. in Chriſt, the only true propitiatory, Rom.3.25. 1 Joh.2.2.

V. 21. Go up againſt the land of Merathaim, even againſt it, and againſt the Inhabitants of Pekod.] Gods ſpeech to Cyrus. The words Merathaim and Pekod, as ſome Interpreters of the beſt note deem, are here the names of two countries, thorow which Cyrus was to paſſe unto Babylon. The former is conceived to be that of the people called Mardi, ſo termed from their head City Marde; and the word ſeemeth to bear a dual form, in regard that the country was divided into two parts by the river Tigris that ran thorow it; that nation inhabiting part of the one ſide of it, which ſtood in Aſſyria, and part on the other ſide, within the circuit of Armenia. See Ptolomy, l.5. c.13. Strabo, l.11. & 12. and Stephen the Byzantine, place them either within Hyrcania, or in the confines thereof; in whoſe works alſo they are called diverſly, ſometime Mardi, and ſometime Amardi: the latter, to wit, Pekod, is found mentioned, Ezek.23.23. whence ſome conceive it to have been a city or region of Chaldea; others rather of Aſſyria, ſituate in the lower part of it, and ſo termed as ſome ſuppoſe, becauſe it was inveſted with the prefecture and command of the parts thereabout; Nineveh that ſometime had the preeminence, being then ruined: that it belonged to one of thoſe Provinces, that place of the Prophet ſufficiently ſheweth: and that Cyrus marched thorow Aſſyria unto Babylon is apparent, by Herodote, l. 1. The words therefore may well thus be rendred, as they lye in the text, and according to the pointings of them there, againſt the land, (or, this land; for the article is here demonſtrative: as in that form; the day, for, this day, Chap.49.19,21.) from (or, by) Merathaim (a defect of the particle, as Gen.4.1. Exod.13.17,18.) go up (of which, ſee Ver.9.) againſt it; (a redundancy elegant and vigorous; as Eſay 8.13.) and by the Inhabitants of Pecod; ſo is the particle uſed, Gen.49.29. Job 29.19. or, as ſome, againſt them: el, for, al; as before, Chap. 49.34. ſuppoſing it to be a city of the Chaldees, which Cyrus took in his way to Babylon. Thus Jeremy deſcribeth the courſe of Cyrus his progreſs toward Babylon, as Eſay doth of Sennacheribs march toward Jeruſalem, Eſay 10. 20—32. Howbeit, becauſe thoſe names have ſome affinity in ſound and letters with ſome Hebrew or Syriack terms, the main ſhoal of Interpreters ſteereth another way, and taketh them, not for proper names, but for names of common notion, and will have both to be ſpoken of Chaldea, or Babylon: and the former the Chaldee, whom the old Latine alſo followeth, renders, the land of thoſe that rule: as if it came from a Syriack term that ſignifieth to rule: whence Maran-atha, 1 Cor. 16.22. Others, the land of rebellious ones; from an Hebrew term that ſignifieth to rebel, Lam.1.20. the ancient Greek, go up againſt the land of bitterneſſe; from a word, whence Marah, Exod.15.23. Ruth 1.20. the latter likewiſe ſome make a noun, expounding it, viſitation, or the land that is to be viſited, Ver.27. Others make it a verb, rendring the words, and viſit her Inhabitants: but that her, is not in the text. A late learned Annotator coming after all, addeth a peculiar Verſion of his own, thus rendring the whole paſſage; upon this land there is a double rebellion (that is, manifold, or much, as Chap.16.18. & 17.18.) go up againſt her, and againſt the Inhabitants of viſitation; that is, ſuch as are liable to viſitation, as deſerve to be viſited. But leaving this with the reſt to the conſideration of others, I concur with the firſt.

waſte, and utterly deſtroy after them, ſaith the Lord.] That this injunction is given againſt Chaldea and Babylon is generally agreed: but about the laſt clauſe of it, ſome difference there is. Some refer thoſe words, after them, to the places before mentioned; as if it were ſaid, having done with them, ſubdued and ſacked them, march on to Babylon. Others, and ſo ſome of the Jewiſh Commenters; purſue with the ſword thoſe that flee, that none may eſcape; and draw hither thoſe places, where God threatneth perſons, to draw and ſend a ſword after them, Lev.26.33. Chap.42.16. Ezek. 5. 2. Others laſtly, deſtroy utterly the poſterity, or, race, of them as Dan.4.11. and this ſeemeth the moſt probable. See Eſay 14.20—22.

and do according to all that I have commanded thee.] To wit, by a ſecret inſtinct; as 2 Sam.16.12. 2 King.18.25. 2 Chr.36. 23. Eſay 10.6. See Eſay 44.28. & 48.14. and Chap.34.22.

V. 22. A ſound of battel is in the land, of great deſtruction.] Heb. A voice of war; that is, either a report of it; as Chap.4. 15. or, ſuch a noiſe, as is wont to be raiſed in warlike conflicts. See Chap.48.33. and, of great breaking; as Chap.4. 6,20. & 51.64. See Chap.48.38. alluding withal to ſuch a noiſe, as in the breaking down and fall of high buildings is wont to be heard. See Chap.49.21.

V. 23. How is the hammer of the whole earth cut aſunder and broken?] Babylon that like a great hammer or ſledge, did ſubdue and deſtroy all the Princes and people of the world then known commonly in thoſe parts. See Eſay 14. 4—7,12,16,17. Chap.51.20. Such an hammer is Gods word compared to for the power and efficacy of it, Chap. 23. 29. and from ſuch an one had that Charles Martel his name with the French.

how is Babylon become a deſolation among the nations?] Over whom ſhe ſo domineered and tyrannized before. See Verſ. 12.

V. 24. I have laid a ſnare for thee, and thou art alſo taken, O Babylon, and thou waſt not aware:] Or, when thou waſt not aware; as chap.34.1. I have cauſed thee to be taken unawares, as a fowl in a ſnare, while it is feeding ſecurely, and ſuſpecteth no ſuch matter, Eccl.9.12. Luk.21.35. for the city was taken ſuddenly, when no ſuch matter was expected, and while they were feaſting and revelling;as Herodote relateth. See Eſay 47.11. Chap.51.39.

thou art found, and alſo caught; becauſe thou haſt ſtriven againſt the Lord.] Againſt whom there is no defence, and from whom no eſcape,Prov.21.30. Chap.23.24. & 48.43,44. Heb. haſt mingled thy ſelf with the Lord: the term is uſed properly of joyning iſſue at Law, or fight in the field, Deut.2. 5,19. 2 King 14.10. Prov.15.18. & 29.22.

V. 25. The Lord hath opened his armory,] Heb. treaſury, or, ſtore-houſe: but well rendred armory; becauſe a ſtore-houſe intended, not of bleſſings: as Deut. 28.12. but of judgements, though the ſame word be uſed of either; as God is ſaid *to open the windows of heaven,*as well to pour down wrath, Eſay 24.18. as to rain down a bleſſing, Mal.3.10. but in the ambigous or comprehenſive term of treaſury, the Prophet is deemed by ſome to have ſome glance at the Treaſures of the Temple,which her King had preyed upon,2 Chr.36.18. as if it were ſaid that God would open the treaſury of his wrath to be avenged on them that had pillaged the Treaſury of his Temple,2 Chr.36.18.

and hath brought forth the weapons of his indigantion:]Or,his weapons of indignation; as alſo Eſay 13.5.and an array of vengeance, Eſay 59. 17. and it is a figurative ſpeech borrowed from the practice of Princes and States,who when any weighty expedition is intended,or invaſion expected, are wont to ſet open the places of publike ſtores, and to bring forth the arms for ſuch occaſions there reſerved, 2 Chr.23.9. Eſay 22. 8.as the former word was very comprehenſive, ſo this much more. See on chap.49.29.and it includeth in it as well furniture, veſſels and utenſils of all ſorts, as inſtruments or weapons: whence it is alſo by ſome deemed,that ſome eye is here had to the holy veſſel, as intimating that theſe inſtruments of wrath ſhould be employed againſt them, for carrying away, and profaning the veſſels of Gods houſe,2 Chr.36.18.Dan.1. 3.& 5.3,23.

for this is the work of the Lord God of hoſts in the land of the Chaldeans.] It is not mans work, but Gods, though men be made uſe of,and employed as inſtruments in it, chap.48.10. See on Eſay 10.5,15.& 63.3. So ver.15. The pronoun demonſtrative,for the verb ſubſtantive: as there alſo.

V. 26. Come againſt her from the utmoſt border,] Heb.Come to her (as ver.7.) from the end; that is, ſay ſome, from a remote place,from a far country; as Mat.12. 42. as intimating that no remoteneſs of place ſhould hinder them from doing Gods work,Eſay 7.18.or, from the lands end; as ver.41. For the Perſians lay upon the Perſian Gulf, and the Medes coaſted upon the Caſpian Sea. See Eſay 13.5. which place parallel to this, helpeth to free and cleer it from thoſe forced conſtructions of the Jewiſh Maſter, of coming upon her from her end; when the term aſſigned for her ſtanding is at an end: as chap.51.13.or,come upon her at the end; that is,ſet upon her ſuddenly at the one ſide of the city, chap.51.31. the former, the ancient Greek followeth, but with a disjoynting of the text.As alſo it excludeth that new Interpretation of a learned late Writer,who expoundeth it in a notion of univerſality, but agreeth not with himſelf in the particular application of it: for in one place he would have it meant of an univerſality of perſons, and renders it, Come all of you together; as, ſaith he,it is taken,Gen.19.4.& 47.2. in another place,of an univerſality of place, and ſo it ſhould be rendred, Come on every ſide againſt her: and ſo, ſaith he again, it is taken both here,and chap.51.31. Of which place, when we come to it; as alſo further concerning that of Eſay on ver.41.

open her ſtore-houſes] Break open thoſe houſes, wherein her wealth and treaſure lieth locked up. The Hebrew word, here onely found, doth properly ſignifie granaries: and ſo the Chaldee rendreth it; but the ancient Greek more generally, as ours here ſtore-houſes: and it is obſerved that the Hebrew word anſwering to our treaſurie, hath a far larger conception, and taketh in all manner of ſtores, whereof ſee on Chap.41.8.ſo this of granaries, though in its original importing places of receit for ſtores of grain and vitail; yet doth in likelyhood here comprehend treaſuries, places deſigned unto,and employed for the keeping of coin,plate,jewels,and treaſure of all ſorts; whereof Babylon had great abundance.See Eſay 45.1,3. ver.10.

caſt her up as heaps;] As men uſe to caſt up earth and rubbiſh to raiſe the ground,when they are to make cauſeys; as Eſay 57.14. & 62.10. make her of a goodly ſtately city, nothing but heaps of earth,ſtones and rubbiſh; as Pſal. 79. 1. Eſay 25.2.& 37.26.See Chap.51.37. and this ſeemeth to be the genuine notion of the word, and the true ſenſe of the text: which one of the Jewiſh Maſters laying this for a certain ground,that the word here uſed is never found, but in a notion of lifting up,ſo far backeth: but in application of it goeth another way,expounding it,not of the city it ſelf, but of its wealth; as if it were ſaid,heap up the ſpoils of the city, caſt them together upon heaps. (See on Eſay 17. 11.) to which one of ours addeth, heap them ſo up, as if ye were to make a cauſey of them, make the heaps ſo broad, that men may walk many together a breaſt on them: and the Chaldee looking ſomewhat this way, Conſume her wealth, as the enemy is wont to do the heaps of corn in the fields. The old Latine looking to that of Eſay 62.10.rendreth it, Take up the ſtones out of the way,and make heaps: which is altogether here unſuitable. But our margent exhibiteth another reading,which many others embrace, tread her down as heaps: which ſome expound of the treading down of cauſeys,or materials caſt up to raiſe them,thereby to flat them, and ſo make them eaven and ſmooth.Others,and ſo moſt of the JewiſhMaſters,of beaſts treading on ſheaves of corn to threſh out the grain; whom a learned Scholiaſt of ours following, rendreth it, tread upon her,as on heaps, (or,as ſome, ſheaves of corn, from Ruth 3.7. where it ſeemeth uſed for the mow) and expounds it, As oxen tread the heaps of corn in the floor, Deut.25.4.Mic.4. 13. See Eſay 21. 10. which I ſhould willingly admit, the rather for the term of granaries before uſed, did I find the verb ſalal any where in that notion, which as yet I do not; and adhere therefore to the firſt.

and deſtroy her utterly] Of the word here uſed, ſee on Eſay 34.2.& 37.11.it is frequently uſed of ſome places in the land of Canaan that were utterly deſtroyed, Joſh. 8. 26. and 11.21.

let nothing of her be left.] Heb. *let there not be a remainder to her.*See Eſay 14. 21, 22. which may ſerve for a commentary upon this place.

V. 27. Slay all her bullocks:] Her great Princes and men of might. See Eſay 34.7. The Hebrew verb here uſed might well be rendred, ſword them, or put them to the ſword: for the word ſword in Hebrew cometh from it.

wo unto them for their day is come, the time of their viſitation.] As chap.27.7.& 46.21.So ver.31.and the like, Ezek.7. 7,10,12.

V. 28. The voice of them that flee, and eſcape out of the land of Babylon,]The Prophet ſpeaketh this as if he heard the Jewiſh people that were got ſafe out of Babylon, and were now on their way homeward, how joyfully they congratulated one with another, and bleſſed God together for their delivery. The ſentence is ſuſpended, as in ſpeeches full of paſſion and affection, is not unuſual. So Cant. 2. 8. The voice of my beloved: and the very like we may ſee Eſay 66.6. ſome to make the ſentence entire,inſert, is heard; rendring the text, as here, ſo in Eſay, A voice, there is heard: which though it be not neceſſary; yet I miſlike not. But that of the Jewiſh Doctor is ridiculous, who would have this voice,to be the ſpeech mentioned in the next verſe: for Cyrus, ſaith he,ſent out his proclamation of liberty for the Jews to return to their own country, Ezr.1.1. before that Darius came to ſit down before Babylon; who thereupon many of them got by ſtealth out of it: and the words following, Ver.29. are the ſpeech of thoſe Jews thus eſcaped, encouraging thoſe of Darius his forces, to go on couragiouſly in aſſaulting of the city, with aſſurance of ſucceſſe. But this may well go among other their groundleſſe figments, whereof they have not a few.

to declare in Zion] When they have gotten thither, and are arrived there, whither they are now bound, Ver.5. See Chap.51.10. what manner of voice that here glanced at was; though it may alſo not improbably be underſtood of ſuch, as having made ſhift to get before the reſt to Jeruſalem,ſhould there make report of what had been done at Babylon. V. 29. Call together the archers againſt Babylon; all ye that bend the bow, camp againſt it round about: let none thereof eſcape:] Gods ſpeech, not the Jews, as the Jewiſh Maſters would have it. See Ver.14,15. and the like, Chap. 4. 17. Heb. Make the ſhooters (as Job 16.13.) to bear (as Ver.2. So Chap.51.27.) unto Babel (for, againſt her: as chap. 49. 19, 20.) all treaders of bow, as Ver.14. A learned Annotator for ſhooters, readeth many: and the word may ſignifie either. But the Verſion generally received fitteth better here: tread the bow: as chap.46.9. & 51.3.

V. 32. And the moſt proud ſhall ſtumble, and fall, and none ſhall raiſe him up.] Or, And that moſt proud one (Heb. man of pride; as ver. 31.) ſhall ſtumble and fall (as Chap. 46. 6, 12.) So as (as ver. 3.) none ſhall be able to raiſe him up: the word taken in a potential notion; as Amos 7. 2. See Eccleſ. 4. 10.

V. 33. Thus ſaith the Lord of Hoſts, The children of Judah, and the children of Iſrael, were oppreſſed together,] Or, were oppreſſed alike: as the word is uſed, Deut. 12. 12. though at ſeveral times, and by ſeveral adverſaries: by the Aſſyrians principally the one, 2 King. 17. 6. by the Chaldeans chiefly the other, 2 King. 24. 12, 14. & 25. 11. for to the deportations of them eſpecially do the words here relate. See ver. 17.

and all that took them captives held them faſt, they refuſed to let them go.] They held them faſt as having good right to them, or imagining that no power was able to reſcue them. See Eſay 14. 17. & 49. 24.

V. 34. Their redeemer is ſtrong, the Lord of hoſts is his name.] Or, But (ſupplyed, as Chap. 5. 3. & 22. 10.) their ſtrong avenger (as Num. 35. 19, 27. here alluded to. See Prov. 23. 11. and Chap. 51. 35.) whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts; as Chap. 32. 28. & 48. 15.

V. 35. A ſword is upon the Chaldeans, ſaith the Lord, and upon the inhabitants of Babylon, and upon her Princes, and upon her wiſe men.] Sword, for hoſtile invaſion, doing execution upon them; as Lev. 26. 25. ver. 16. the Princes and Councellours of State are mentioned, as the chief ſtays of the State, (See Eſay 3. 2, 3.) and ſuch as might be moſt likely to eſcape, either by their power and wealth the one, or by their wiſdom and policy the other. See Eſay 28. 14, 15, 18. al, for, al; as before, chap. 48. 11. and ſo afterward, ver. 36.

V. 36. A ſword is upon the liars, and they ſhall doat:] The word here uſed is ambiguous: it is uſed ſometimes for bars, Exod. 25. 14, 15. whence ſome here would have it underſtood of great men in place, or power, that are as bars, the chief ſtrength and ſtays of a State: but of thoſe before, and hereafter; ſometime it ſignifieth a ly, and a liar, from a root that ſignifieth to deviſe, 1 King. 12. 33 and to fain, Neh. 6. 8. So it is taken, Eſay 16. 6. Chap. 48. 30. Job 11. 3. and the Chaldean ſouthſayers, and wizzards are here ſo termed; as alſo Eſay 44. 25. See Eſay 47. 12, 13. doat, be fooliſh, or play the fools; as Eſay 19. 13. Chap. 5. 4.

V. 37. A ſword is upon their horſes, and upon their charets,] The hoſtile forces ſhall ſeize upon and ſpoil all their warlike proviſions; ſo are horſe and charet frequently uſed, Pſal. 20. 7. & 76. 6.

and they ſhall become as women:] Full of fear, and void of courage, having no manlineſs in them, ſhewing no manly diſpoſition. Heb. they ſhall be for women, or, to women; as if they were turned into women; they ſhall become women; as, to be unto deſolation, and, to become utterly deſolate, are all one, Eſay 1. 7. & Joel 3. 19. So alſo, Chap. 51. 30. that which is ſaid, as women, Eſay 19. 16.

a ſword is upon her treaſures, and they ſhall be robbed.] See ver. 10, 26. Eſay 45. 3.

V. 38. A drought is upon her waters, and they ſhall be dried up:] Cyrus, as he had dealt before with the river Gyndes in Aſſyria on his way to Chaldea, which he cut out into ſo many ſeveral chanels, and made it paſſable for his people; ſo did he with Euphrates at Babylon, while he lay in ſiege before it, which by many out-lets he ſo drained, that his forces had thereby free acceſs without much difficulty to the walls of the city, and ſo came ſuddenly to ſurpriſe it. See Herodote, l. 1. and Chap. 51. 32, 36. there is in the words an elegancy ariſing from the affinity of ſound in thoſe two words, ſignifying a ſword the one, and a drought the other, differing but in a vowel point onely, which our Engliſh cannot expreſs.

for it is the land of graven images,] It is full of idols of all ſorts, Dan. 5. 4. as of the land of Iſrael, Eſay 2. 8. one ſort put for the reſt, as Eſay 40. 20. the pronoun demonſtrative for the verb ſubſtantive have here alſo, as before, ver. 15, 25.

and they are mad upon their idols.] The Chaldee, with whom the ancient Greek, and old Latine agree, rendreth it, they glory in them; as Pſal. 97. 7. and a word very neer to it, and ſpringing from the ſame root for letters, is frequently ſo uſed. But I find it no where in this form, but in a notion of madneſs; as Chap. 25. 16. & 46. 9. and madneſſe is uſed to expreſs any vehemency of inordinate affection, whereby perſons are ſtrongly taken with, and carryed headlong without reaſon or diſcretion unto or after ought. See Act. 26. 11. The word rendred idols, doth properly ſignifie terrours, Job 20. 25. Pſal. 88. 15. there were a race of giantly people, thence termed Emim, becauſe they were terrible and formidable to other neer neighbouring nations, Gen. 14. 5. Deut. 2. 11. Hence are the Chaldean idols here ſo termed, either, as ſome, in regard of the vaſt bulk, and giantlike ſhape and bigneſſe of ſome of them, Dan. 3. 1. or, as others rather, becauſe they are terrible and formidable to their followers, as ſcar-crows are to birds and beaſts, though being things contemptible and unable to do ought, Chap. 10. 1, 5. Baruc. 6. 70.

V. 39. Therefore the wild beaſts of the deſart, with the wild beaſts of the ilands, ſhall dwell there, and the owls ſhall dwell therein:] Heb. tſijim with ijim: Whereof ſee on Eſay 13. 21, 22. & 34. 14. and, daughters of the owl; as Job 30. 29. the moſt general term and form, where of that Fowl the Scripture ſpeaketh. Of Babylons deſolation, ſee further Chap. 51. 37. Rev. 18. 2.

So Pſal. 72. 8.

V. 42. They ſhall hold the bow and the lance: they are cruel, and will not ſhew mercy: their voice ſhall roar like the ſea, and they ſhall ride upon horſes, every one put in array like a man to the battel againſt thee, O daughter of Babylon.] Bow and Lance: The one to reach a far off, the other to pierce neer at hand. See chap. 6. 23. where the ſame things are ſpoken of the Chaldeans, who were now to meet with their matches, and be dealt with themſelves, as they had formerly dealt with others. See ver. 15, 29. chap. 51. 49. Eſay 33. 1.

See the very ſame before, chap. 6. 24. and Belſhazzars condition, Dan. 5. 6.

V. 44. Behold he ſhall come up like a lion from the ſwelling of Jordan, unto the habitation of the ſtrong; but I will make them ſuddenly run away from her: and who is a choſen man that I may appoint over her? for who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? and who is that ſhepherd that will ſtand before me?] See this whole paſſage opened at large, chap. 49. 19. where the ſame is ſpoken of Nebuchadnezzar's expedition againſt Edom, that is here ſpoken of Cyrus his expedition againſt Babylon. See the notes there.

V. 45. Therefore hear ye the counſel of the Lord, that he hath taken againſt Babylon, and his purpoſes that he hath purpoſed againſt the land of the Chaldeans: ſurely the leaſt of the flock ſhall draw them out : ſurely he ſhall make their habitation deſolate with them.] See the very ſame, chap.49.20.

V. 46. At the noiſe of the taking of Babylon the earth is moved, and the cry is heard among the nations.] The ſame in effect, chap.49.21.

CHAP. LI.

Verſ.1. T*Hus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will raiſe up againſt Babylon, and againſt them that dwell in the midſt of them that riſe up againſt me a deſtroying wind,*] A continuation of the prophecy againſt Babylon. The hoſtile invaſion of the country, and ſurpriſal of the city, is here ſet forth by a new reſemblance taken from a gale or guſt of wind, both blaſting, that ſpoils the fruits of the earth, and boiſterous, that ſweeps and carryeth away all looſe matter, not chaff, or ſtubble onely, and ſuch light ſtuff; but the corn it ſelf alſo, and the weighty grain with it, ver.2.

I will raiſe] Heb. I am raiſing; as Eſay 13. 17. Chap. 50.9.

againſt them that dwell in the midſt of them that riſe up againſt me] Heb. unto (el, for, al ; as chap.50.29.) *the inhabitants of the heart (*that is, the midſt ; as, the heart of the ſea, Pſal. 46.2. or, amidſt, within ; as Tyre is ſaid to be ſituate in the heart of the ſea, Ezek.27.4. and ſo, in the heart of the earth, Mat.12. 40.) of, thoſe that riſe up againſt me : the prepoſition ſwallowed up between the participle aud the noun: as the like in the ſame term, Pſal.18.39,48. & 44.5. & 74.22. againſt the inhabitants of Babylon, which dwell in the midſt of the land of Chaldea, in the royal ſeat and center of that State, and thoſe people, that have carried themſelvs ſo rebelliouſly and inſolently againſt me in the devaſtation of my land, the deſtruction of my Temple, and the deportation of my people, chap.50. 11,17,24,28,29. and this I take to be the plain and genuine ſenſe of theſe words, againſt Babylon, the city and ſtate it ſelf, and againſt the inhabitants ; thoſe that dwell in her thus deſcribed. But both the Jewiſh Writers, and others of note, do here find other myſterious and more abſtruſe ſenſes. For ſome of the Rabbines, by a device of others, which they call Athbaſh, whereof ſee on chap. 25.26. do out of the words leb kamai, the heart of thoſe that riſe againſt me, pick out Caſdim, the Chaldeans. Others of them ſuppoſe a trajection in the text, and would have the words thus ordered, againſt the heart of thoſe that riſe up againſt me the inhabitants of the land of Chaldea, before pointed to in Babylon : like that Eſay 10. 12, I will viſit upon the King of Aſſyria's great heart. And the Chaldee goeth ſomewhat the like way, but ſwarving more from the text, againſt the inhabitants of the Chaldeans, people murtherous, haughty of heart, and goodly of ſtature : as alſo the old Latine ſomewhat after the like ſtrain; but more ſuccinctly, and coming neerer to the text; againſt the inhabitants therof that have lift up their heart againſt me: one of our prime Interpreters, the inhabitants of the heart ; that is, thoſe that dwell in, and reſt upon their own counſels, devices and courſes. And a late learned Annotator, againſt thoſe that are ſecure in heart before me; for the word, ſaith he, is ſitting; and ſitting is a ſign of ſecurity ; and ſo one of the Rabbines ſometime uſeth that word : and Kamai is here an abbreviation of Kodomai, and the Talmudiſts oft ſo uſe it. But where doth the Scripture ever once ſo take it ? or where find we in Scripture ſuch a form as this, dwellers, or, ſitters of heart, for, ſecure ones, or perſons that ſit, dwell, or live ſecurely ? And to what purpoſe is it to have recourſe to ſuch forced and far-fetcht ſtrains, when we have a plain and familiar ſenſe freely and of its own accord offering it ſelf to us ?

V. 2. And I will ſend unto Babylon fanners, that ſhall fan her and empty her land:] As I ſometime fanned and ſcattered my people by them, Ch.4.11,12. & 15.7. ſo will I now fan them by the Medes and Perſians, who ſhall empty their land of them, as they formerly emptied my land of her inhabitants, ver. 35. 2 Chr.36.20,21. See Chap. 48. 12. & 49. 32,36.

for in the day of trouble they ſhall be againſt her round about.] They ſhall ſo beſet her, that none ſhall eſcape, Chap. 50.15, 29. as they ſometime begirt Jeruſalem, Chap.4.17. Heb. in the day of evil; as Ch.17.17,18.

V. 3. Againſt him that bendeth, let the archer bend his bow, and againſt him that lifteth himſelf up in his brigandine,] So the Jewiſh Commenters well expound it, Againſt thoſe that ſhoot with the bow, and thoſe that appear in their armour, among the Chaldeans, let thoſe of the Medes and Perſians that uſe the bow, bend it, and let fly their ſhafts at them. Heb. el, for, al ; againſt, or, at ; as ver.1. and tread, for, bend, becauſe that is the end of it ; as Chap.50.14. Of the word rendred brigandine, ſee Ch.46.4. ſhoot at ſouldiers, of all ſorts, whether in armour, or weaponed onely without harneſſe : there is a defect both of antecedent and relative ; as Exod. 23.20. Chap.2.8. Howbeit a learned late Writer thus rendreth the words, unto the bender, that bendeth his bow, and to him that advanceth in his brigandine, (to wit, thoſe of either ſort in Cyrus his army) thus ſaith the Lord, ſpare not her young men, &c. and the word of bending is thrice repeated, implying that they ſhould bend as deep as might be. And this way in part the ancient Greek ſeemeth to go ; but taking no notice of the initial particle in the text, while it thus rendreth the words, Let him that bendeth bend his bow, and let him that hath armour put it on. But the former ſenſe ſeemeth the more familiar, then either of theſe, and keepeth cloſer to the expreſs terms of the text, which the Chaldee, and the old Latine that followeth it, not leaving onely, but croſſing, while inſtead of el, they render al, the negative or inhibitive particle, and render it, Let not him that draweth the bow, draw it, ſaith the one ; and let not him that bendeth, bend his bow, ſaith the other ; nor let him go up in his brigandine. One of the words of bending in the text, is by the Jewiſh Maſters deemed ſuperfluous. And it is obſerved by ſome that they are willed to ſhoot at all, whether armed or unarmed, as not doubting but that their arrows ſhould pierce, whereſoever they lighted. See on Chap.50.14.

and ſpare ye not her young men ; deſtroy ye utterly all her hoſt.] This, and, controlleth the latter expoſition of the fore-going branch, which maketh this the beginning of Gods ſpeech to the enemies forces. See Chap.50.30.

V. 4. Thus the ſlain ſhall fall in the land of the Chaldeans, and they that are thruſt thorow in her ſtreets.] Heb. And (as Ch. 49.39.) the ſlain, or wounded, (as Chap.37.10.) ſhall fall in the land of the Chaldeans : there ſhall havock be made of them, as well within the city, as in the country alſo abroad. See Eſay 13.15. Chap. 50.30. A learned Annotator ſuppoſeth a trajection in the text, and would have the words thus rendred, And the Chaldeans being ſlain ſhall fall to the ground. But the diſtinguiſhing points in the original will not admit it.

V. 5. For Iſrael hath not been forſaken, nor Judah of his God, of the Lord of hoſts;] Heb. Iſrael is not widowed (a word in this form no where elſe found) nor Judah divorced from his God, from the Lord of hoſts : the latter word ſupplyed in a congruous term ; as 1 Cor.3.2. I gave you milk to drink, and not meat to eat. Neither is Iſrael a widow, that hath loſt her huſband ; nor is Judah as a woman divorced and put away, without hope of being taken home again, Deut.24.4. Their huſband liveth ſtill, and hath not utterly caſt off either, but will in his due time take them unto him again, though he have left them for a while, 1 Sam.12.22. Eſay 50.1. & 54.5,6. Ch. 3.1,8,14. Lam.1.1.

though their land was filled with ſin againſt the holy one of Iſrael.] This the Jewiſh Commenters underſtand of the Chaldeans country, and render it, for, or, but their land, that is, the Chaldeans, is full of delinquency and ſin, for the evil that they committed againſt the holy one of Iſrael in his people. But this is ſomewhat a ſtrange over-ſtraining of the text : and yet want there not divers that go this way, rendring it, becauſe the land of theſe men is full of guilt from the holy one of Iſrael ; contrary to that, that they preſumed Chap. 50.7. But this alſo ſeemeth to ſound over-harſh. Moſt others underſtand the words, their land, of the land of them both before-mentioned, as well Judah, as Iſrael : but in the term following they differ ; for ſome take the term aſham here uſed in a notion of delinquency ; as it is commonly uſed, Lev.5.2. Num.5 6. and render it as our Verſion doth, albeit, that they have deſerved to be irrecoverably caſt off, and cut off for their ſins, wherewith they have filled their whole land, Chap.16.18. And ſome again, becauſe the words of ſin and delinquency, or guilt, are taken alſo for the penalty due thereunto, would have it ſo to be here taken, rendring the words, for their land is full of penalty from the holy One of Iſrael : it hath received fully ſufficient from him. So it ſhould be as that Eſay 40. 2. But this alſo ſeemeth forced as well as the former. Others take the word in a notion of devaſtation : and although the noun here uſed, be not found elſewhere in that notion, yet is the verb from whence it cometh, Pſal.34.21. Eſay 24.6. Ezek.6. 6. & 25.12. Joel 1.18. and the tenour of the text requireth it here to be ſo taken ; for it is word for word, *though their land hath been filled (for it is a verb, not a noun) with devaſtation from the holy one of Iſrael* ; that is, though he have in his wrath cauſed their whole land to be waſted, and to ly thus waſte for a long time together, Ch.4.20,27.

V. 6. Flee out of the midſt of Babylon;] See the ſame before, Chap.50.8. Though that was directed to Gods people the Jews ; This, to me, ſeemeth directed, not to them, (though moſt ſo take it, and the like ſpeech be afterward made alſo to them, ver.45.) but to thoſe in her, that were aiding and aſſiſtant to her, Chap.50.16. ver.9.

and deliver every man his ſoul:] Or, himſelf; as Pſal. 3.2. Mat.16.25,26. Heb. deliver a man his ſoul : Shift every one (as Chap.49.5.) for himſelf, or for his life ; as Gen. 19. 17. Chap 48.6.

be not cut off in her iniquity:] Or, leſt ye be cut off in her penalty, or puniſhment; as the word is uſed, Gen.4.13.& 19.15. Some conceive this as an admonition to Gods people, not to partake in Babylons ſins; leſt they partake alſo with her in her ſufferings; as Eſay 62.11.Rev.18.4. But I conceive it rather to be intended as before, of ſuch, as taking her part, and ſtanding for her, ſhould periſh together with her, Eſay 13.15. Chap.50.37.

V. 7. Babylon hath been a golden cup] Such an one ſhe hath been hitherto; one by whom God hath cauſed other people to drink deep of his wrath; but now her turn is come to drink deep of it her ſelf, Chap. 25. 26. the cup of which, chap.25.15.called a golden cup, as here, ſo Rev.17.4. as moſt underſtand it, in regard of the great wealth and illuſtriouſneſs of that Empire: reſembled therefore by an head of gold, Dan. 2. 32, 38. and hence is Babylon called the golden one, Eſay 14.4. Howbeit, the Jewiſh Doctors, by a cup of gold, (for ſo the words are; as, a crown of gold, Pſal.21.2.) underſtand a cup of pure wine of the colour of gold: as, gold, for, pure yellow oyl, Zach.4.12. and, gold, for cleer winb, and fair wether, Job 37.22. But the former is more familiar, and ſeemeth the genuine notion of the word in this place.

in the Lords hand;] As Pſal.75.8. and ſo, take the cup from my hand, chap.25.15. becauſe he made uſe of that ſtate as an inſtrument to execute judgment thereby upon others, and the cup there mentioned is expounded to be the Chaldean ſword, chap.25.9,16.

the nations have drunk of her wine, therefore the nations are mad.] That learned Writer rendreth it, therefore they ſhall be mad: they ſhall for their joyning with her, ſuffer alſo and undergo ſuch judgments together with her, as ſhall make them even mad withall. But it ſeems meant rather of thoſe calamities that they had ſuſtained from her, and by her, as the Prophet fore-told they ſhould, uſing this very term, where he ſpake of this cup, chap.25.16. and it might well be rendred, therefore they are mad; or, ſo that they became mad, or, fared like mad men; as chap.46.9.

V. 8. Babylon is ſuddenly fallen] Babylon is fallen; as Eſay 21.9. Rev.14.8.& 18.2. as, Babylon is taken, chap.50.2. ſuddenly, unexpectedly. See chap.50.24. in one hour, Rev.18.10. read Dan.5.

Ezr.9.6. Jon.1.2. too great to be holpen by any humane helps. The word skies in our Verſion ſome render clouds: which the learned Scholiaſt controlleth, becauſe the word in his native notion ſignifieth ſmall duſt, or, fine powder, Eſay 40.11. whereas the clouds are air, condenſated or thickned: Our Verſion is the better and more exact; but that the word includeth alſo the clouds, or cloudy sky at leaſt, appeareth Pſal.18.12.& Prov.3.20. the clouds, or thick clouds, of the skies, being mentioned in the one place; and, the clouds, or skies, ſaid to drop down dew in the other.

V. 10. The Lord hath brought forth our righteouſneſſe:] The ſpeech of Gods people, acknowledging Gods mercy and goodneſs, yea, and righteouſneſs alſo in righting them upon their cruel oppreſſours, and owning thereby the religion profeſſed by them, and their relation therein to him. Howbeit, one of the Rabbines rendreth it, fether the arrows: deriving it from a word that ſignifieth a fether, Job 39.16. Eſay 40.31. fether them well, to make them fly, Job 39. 26. but the former is ſure the right. The words of God, as ſome, yea, the moſt, to thoſe that were to come againſt Babylon; as Chap. 50.14,15. But I ſuppoſe rather with ſome other, though fewer, that they are ſpoken in way of deriſion to the Babylonians, as calling upon them to make all the preparation they can, againſt the Medes and Perſians that are coming againſt them; as intimating what need of ſuch preparations there would be; but implying withall, that all the ſtrength and means they could make would not be able to ſecure them. See the like in like manner delivered, Eſay 21. 5. and again here, ver. 12. and this the very courſe of the context doth abundantly confirm. See the like alſo, Chap. 46. 3,4.

gather the ſhields:] Heb. fill the ſhields, get them altogether, make up the full number of them; ſee that none of them be miſſing. So, a fulneſſe, for, a full aſſembly. V. 12. Set up the ſtandard upon the walls of Babylon:] About this whole paſſage againſt Authors diſſent. For the Jewiſh Commenters, whom ſome other alſo follow, conceive this whole ſpeech, as that alſo, ver.11. to be directed to the Medes and Perſians, inciting them to uſe all poſſible induſtry and diligence in beſetting and aſſaulting the city of Babylon; and would have this firſt branch meant; ſome, of marching with their enſigns diſplayed towards Babylon; becauſe the Hebrew is el, that is, unto Babylon: but it hath been formerly obſerved, that el is oft uſed for al, upon; as chap.48.11.& 50. 35,36,37. And others therefore underſtand it of ſetting up their banners on the top of her wals and towers, in token of conqueſt and triumph, when they have taken it: like that, Pſal.74.4. But to omit that the words run then in a prepoſterous tenour, inciting to triumph in the firſt place; and to ſedulous, vigilant, and cautious courſes for ſurpriſal in the ſecond; the courſe of the context carryes it cleerly the contrary way. And others therefore rather deem the words directed to the Babylonians, in an irony adviſing them to uſe all the care, diligence, and caution they can, to ſecure and ſafeguard themſelves and their city againſt the enemies aſſaults, implying, ſay ſome, that they ſhould not want either courage to ſtand to it, and make their party good againſt the adverſary, or means ſufficient, as they ſuppoſe, to oppoſe them: but withall, as the moſt, that all their endeavours would not avail ought; or, as a late learned Writer conceiveth, twitting them with their remiſsneſs and wretchleſneſs, that little regarding the enemy ſet down before them, as if they were ſafe enough, and ſufficiently ſecured againſt him, by the river that ran about them, neglected the means of defence, and gave themſelves to jollity and revelling, which they were deep in, what time, by occaſion thereof, the city was taken. See on Ver. 39, 41. and this ſeemeth backed with that Eſay 21. 5. in which place the Prophet joyneth theſe two together: and thoſe that apply the paſſage to the Chaldeans, expound this firſt member of it, of an enſign to be ſet up on the wals, to bring up thither thoſe forces that were to be employed for the defence of the place, and repulſe of aſſailants, and to keep them together in ſuch employment.

V. 13. O thou that dwelleſt upon many waters,] The city of Babylon was ſituate upon the great river Euphrates, that ran both about it, and thorow it: to which is added, its ruling over many great nations in the other Babylon repreſented by it, Rev. 17.1,15.

thine end is come,] As Ezek. 7 2,3,6. Amos 8.2.

and the meaſure of thy covetouſneſſe.] Heb. the cubit of thy lucre, or, oppreſſion, or, covetouſneſſe. The cubit was the moſt common meaſure in dimenſions of length, breadth, height and depth among that people, Gen. 6.15. Exod. 25.10. it was taken, and ſo termed, as by the Greek term more plainly appeareth, from the former part of the arm, reaching from the top of the middle finger up to the elbow. Hence ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors expound it, the arm, that is, the might and power, (for ſo is the word arm, commonly uſed. See Chap. 48. 25.) wherewith thou haſt formerly ſubdued and kept down others, is now come to an end. But other of them take it rather in a notion of meaſure; yet the word following theſe alſo expound diverſly; ſome, the meaſure of thy covetouſneſſe; becauſe the word ſeemeth ſo uſed, Exod. 18. 21. Some; of thine oppreſſion; becauſe it is found joyned with oppreſſion, Ezek. 22.12. and theſe underſtand it of that recompence and retribution, that God would mete out to the Babylonians, for their inſatiable avarice, exerciſed in the ſpoyling of other people, Eſay 14.20. & 33.1. Chap. 50.15,29. Others, the time ſet and meaſured out for her viſitation, ſo the Chaldee; as Chap. 50.31. or, as another Jewiſh Maſter, whom the old Latine concurreth with, of her deſtruction, becauſe the word that it cometh of, ſignifieth ſometime to cut off, or deſtroy, Job 6.9. Eſay 38.12. But the word properly ſignifieth lucre, or gain, 1 Sam. 6.3. Pſal. 30.9. Eſay 33.13. Chap. 22.17. Ezek. 33. 32. And I conceive that the words may well be rendred, the liſt, or, limit of thy gain, or gettings. The ſet ſtint and term of time, that God hath preciſely limited and deſigned to allow thee, wherein to proceed in the fethering of thy neſt, and enriching thy ſelf by the ſpoils of other people; and which therefore thou canſt not exceed, is now expired and come to an end. See ſomewhat the like, but in a divers notion, taken from another kind of meaſure, Gen. 15.16. Zach. 5. 6—11. Mat. 23.32. 1 Theſſ. 2.16.

V. 14. The Lord of hoſts hath ſworn by himſelf, ſaying,] Heb. by his ſoul; as Amos 6.8. See ver. 6. a ſupply of the term, ſaying; as chap. 50.5.

Surely, I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers,] Heb. but if; that is, unleſſe; as Gen. 32.26. Eſay 55. 10. the uſual form of an oath. See chap. 44.26. & 49.13. for, if not; and, but if, or unleſſe, are in effect and force all one. And the learned Scholiaſt therefore, who here maketh another unuſual ſupply, and giveth the particles other notions, while he renders it, Certain it is that though I fill the with men as with locuſts: which he expoundeth of furniſhing Babylon with great multitudes of auxiliary forces, (becauſe of Nineveh the like is ſaid, Nah. 3.15,17.) doth herein leave a plain beaten road, to ſtep aſide into a more uncouth, and ſolitary by-path. It is generally expounded both by the Jewiſh Doctors and others, of the enemies ſouldiery, for their vaſt multitudes compared to locuſts, that ſhould fill her whole country firſt, and city afterward alſo; and ſo afterward again, ver. 27. The word here uſed is a kind of locuſt; as appeareth, Pſal. 105.34. compared with Exod. 10.4,5. So called, becauſe they lick up, and deſtroy all before them, Nah. 3.15. amiſs rendred caterpiller, in the Pſalm, and canker-worm, in the Prophet; for it is there ſaid to fly. And to multitudes of locuſts are ſuch vaſt companies commonly compared, Judg. 6.5. Chap. 46.23. Nah. 3.15,17.

and they ſhall liſt up a ſhout againſt thee.] Or, that ſhall (as chap. 50.9.) utter (Heb. anſwer; as Deut. 26.5.) or cry aloud, (as Eſay 13.22.) or ſing (as Hoſ. 2. 15.) a ſhout (as Chap. 25. 3. & 48.33.) againſt thee, or over thee; as Eſay 31.4. an alluſion, ſaith a Rabbine, in the words of ſinging and ſhouting, to ſuch ſongs and ſhouts, as the country peaſants uſed amids their treading of grapes for wine in the vintage, and at the bringing in of their wines and fruits. See Eſay 16. 9. Chap. 48.33.

V. 15. He hath made the earth by his power, he hath eſtabliſhed the world by his wiſdome, and hath ſtretched out the heavens by his underſtanding.] Or, Even he that made the earth, &c. for the word of making here is a participle, not a verb; and ſo the other two, that eſtabliſhed, and that ſtretched out. He it is, that hath ſworn it, and is able to make good what he hath ſworn. See the very ſame paſſage, chap. 10.12. The particle is ſupplyed; as Job 15.26. Pſal. 119.41.

V. 16. When he uttereth his voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, and he cauſeth the vapours to aſcend from the ends of the earth, he maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treaſures.] Or, At the uttering of whoſe voice, &c. The demonſtrative for the relative; as Exod. 18.20. Job 3.15. chap. 46.18. & 48.15. See of the whole verſe, chap. 10.13.

V. 17. Every man is brutiſh by his knowledge: every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falſhood, and there is no breath in them.] This paſſage is here inſerted, to diſcover and control the ſottiſh vanity of the Babylonians, that relied upon their idols for protection and ſafeguard; and to ſhew how unable they were to bicker with the true God, or to ſtand before any, that ſhould come furniſhed with power and commiſſion from him. See the whole, chap. 10.14.

V. 18. They are vanity, the work of errours; in the time of their viſitation they ſhall periſh.] See the ſame, Chap. 10.15.

V. 19. The portion of Jacob is not like them for he is the former of all things, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hoſts is his name.] See chap. 10.16.

V. 20. Thou art my battle-ax, and weapon of war:] Or, Thou haſt been my hammer. So was the word rendred, chap. 50.23. and it ſignifieth ſuch a weighty one as is able to break ſtones, and to make them fly aſunder, as the root it cometh from, properly ſignifieth, Pſal. 2.9. Eſay 27.9. thence alſo an inſtrument of diſſipation or deſtruction, Ezek. 9.2. See chap. 23.29. Howbeit, ſome ſuppoſe it here to ſignifie more ſpecially ſuch a warlike weapon, or ſpiked pole-ax, as horſemen make uſe of in fight, therewith to batter and break the armor, helmets, & harneſs, of thoſe they deal with; and warlike weapons; a defect of the copulative; as Eſay 5.6. chap. 3.21. Or, As an hammer haſt thou been unto me, and as warlike inſtruments: a defect of the note of ſimilitude; as chap. 5.8. & 26.18. & 50. 6. Howbeit, the Chaldee rendreth it, Thou breakeſt before me the fort, wherein the weapons of war are: and both the ancient Greek and the old Latine ſomewhat to the ſame purpoſe; Thou diſſipateſt, or breakeſt aſunder, for me, the inſtruments of war. They ſeem to have taken the word here uſed, not for a noun, but for a participle, the one differing but in a tittle from the other, and conſequently in the ſound of a vowel; which in verbs of this form doth oft vary and interchange; though in the participle ſeldome, if ever. Our Verſion ſeemeth to go with thoſe few, that underſtand it of Cyrus, whom God intended ſo to uſe and employ. See Eſay 41. 2. & 45. 1, 2. But the moſt underſtand it rather of the Babylonian King, who was in Gods hand, as the Aſſyrian before him had been, Eſay 10.5. and they render the words all along therefore not in the future, but in the time paſt.

for with thee will I break in pieces the nations, and with thee will I deſtroy kingdoms:] Heb. and; which thoſe retain, who admit the latter Verſion: but there want not that render it, not with thee, or by thee, but in thee; and turn the copulative into a diſcretive; as if it were ſaid, But I will now break aſunder the nations, that are in thee, and deſtroy the kingdoms that are in thee, or under thee: which latter clauſe the Greek rendreth, I will take away the Kings out of thee. But our Verſion ſeemeth herein the righter: the copulative is oft uſed in a cauſal notion; as chap. 48.27. & 49. 37. and it rendreth a reaſon why Babylon was ſaid to be Gods hammer, or wherein like unto ſuch an hammer, as the word before importeth, taken from the proper notion of the verb here uſed, from whence that term is deduced. Onely the words would be read in the time paſt; I have broken aſunder, and I have deſtroyed; unleſs, ſaith a Rabbine, this prophecy were penned by Jeremy before Nebuchadnezzar's conqueſts of thoſe ſeveral countries: whereof Chap. 46—49. See Chap. 50.23. But whether it were penned before a good part of his conqueſts or no, as it is not unlike it was; (for a copy of it ſeemeth to have been ſent in the time of Zedekiah, while the Jewiſh State yet ſtood unto Babylon. See Ver. 59—64.) the Prophet thorowout this whole prophecy ſpeaketh of Babylon, as having ſubdued all thoſe nations that were to come under the yoke of that Empire, and now drawing on to her downfall.

V. 21. And with thee will I break in pieces the horſe and his rider, and with thee will I break in pieces the charet and his rider.] Or, By thee have I broken: for it is the inſtrumental bet, as they term it, and ſpoken as in the time paſt; as before, ver. 20. and ſo alſo, ver. 22,23. As before all warlike weapons and inſtruments, ver. 20. ſo now the Warriours themſelves, with their horſes and charets; as chap.50.37. This enumeration of particulars hath much emphaſis in it, both here and there; as alſo, chap.50.35—38.

V. 22. With thee alſo will I break in pieces man and woman, and with thee will I break in pieces old and young; and with thee will I break in pieces the young man and the maid.] Or, By thee have I broken, &c. as before ver.21. and ſo alſo ver. 23. both ſexes and all ages. See 2 Chr.36.17. Heb. and, as before; and ſo ver.23.

V. 23. I will alſo break in pieces with thee, the ſhepherd and his flock; and with thee will I break in pieces the husbandman, and his yoke of oxen; and with thee will I break in pieces captains and rulers.] People of all ſorts, and of all ranks. So Chap.50.16,27,35—37. The former two, the ſupport of a State, for proviſion of ſuſtenance, 1 Chr.27.25.-31. 1 King. 4.21,22. Eccl.5.9. The two latter for protection, ſafeguard, and government, 1 Chr.27.32—34. Eſay 3.1,2,3.

V. 24. And I will render unto Babylon, and to all the Inhabitants of Chaldea, all the evill that they have done in Zion in your ſight, ſaith the Lord.] This Verſion fitteth well with the ſenſe of thoſe, who underſtand all that went before of Cyrus: who alſo ſome of them ſupply from the former, And I will by thee render to Babylon. But thoſe that conceive it, as the moſt do, to be intended of Babylon, take the copulative here in a diſcretive notion, and render it, But (as ver. 9.) I will render unto Babylon, &c. Though I have made uſe of thee for the puniſhing of many nations, and of mine own people in particular, yet will I now at length execute judgment alſo upon thee, for thine inſolencies againſt me; and thy cruelty ſhewed unto my people. So Eſay 47.6,8. chap.50.15, 29. See the like of the Aſſyrian, chap.10.5,6,12. thoſe words, in your ſight, (wherein God turneth his ſpeech unto his people) have reference not to the evill done, though next beforementioned, but to the evil returned, and the term of rendring though more remote, as if he had ſaid, Ye that are now in captivity at Babylon ſhall ſurvive to ſee this judgment executed upon her. So Pſal.79.10.

V. 25. Behold, I am againſt thee,] Or, I am coming againſt thee; as chap.50.31. and el here, for, al; which yet the old Latine retaineth, rendring it, unto thee.

O deſtroying mountain, ſaith the Lord,] A mountain is Babylon termed, not for her ſituation, as if it had ſtood upon an hill; for it was built on a plain, Gen.11.2,9. and ſo ſeated that it had abundance of water round about it, ver. 13. but it is ſo ſtiled, as ſome, in regard of the height of its power and eminency, wherewith it did, as a mountain, over-top other cities, countries, and kingdoms. Or, as others, in regard of its high and ſtately palaces, lofty Towers, and ſtrong Fortifications: that, as Beroſus reporteth of them, reſembled high mountains; and appeared as ſuch to folk afar off: by meanes whereof it ſeemed to reach as high, and to be as impregnable, as if it had ſtood upon ſome great and high mountain. Hereunto may be added the ſtrange height of her walls: whereof further on ver. 53. and thoſe ſtupendious orchards, or gardens, with groves and walks, furniſhed with variety of goodly tall trees, and erected on arches aloft far from the ground, that made the city ſhew a far off, like ſome Lebanon, or other foreſt-like mountain: whereof Diodore, lib.2.cap.2. See the like expreſſion, chap.22.23. Zach.4.7.& 11.1. yea ſo, ſaith the Jewiſh Doctor, the mountains of Gilead, for their ſtrong holds, Amos 1.13. which is not improbable.

and will make thee a burnt mountain.] Or, a burning mountain; alluding to thoſe mountains of ſulphury matter; ſuch as Mongibal in Sicily, Soma in Italy, Hecla and Hogla in Iſeland, that burn continually, and with the aſhes and cinders at ſome times belching out from them, waſte and ſpoyl all the country neer to them: Of which kind there was a field alſo ſometime in that region continually burning; as Strabo, lib.16. & Pliny, lib.2, cap.106. report: or to the heaps of aſhes and cinders, that cities and towns ruined and burnt down to the ground, are wont to leave behind them, Chap. 50.26. ver.37. Heb. I will give thee (as Ezek.22.4.& 35.3.) unto, or for, (as Chap.50.23. and ſo ver.29,43.) a mountain of burning: as, a land of burning, Deut.29.23.

V. 26. And they ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations;] That is, as ſome, there ſhall not remain any ſtone of thee, that may be uſeful for building: or, as others, there ſhall be nothing left of thee, whereon ſome hope or attempt may be to raiſe up a new State again; or thou ſhalt never be re-edified: that which the words following confirm. The Chaldee by corner ſtone underſtandeth a King, by foundation ſtones, Princes. But that ſeemeth over-curious. Theſe two ſorts of ſtones are mentioned, becauſe of ſpecial note and principal concernment in building, Pſal. 118.22. Eſay 28.16. Zach.10.4. Eph.2.22. Rev.21.12. The verb is indefinite, and it may well therefore be rendred, There ſhall not be a ſtone taken off thee, &c. as Luk.12.20.& 16.9.

but thou ſhalt be deſolate for ever, ſaith the Lord.] Or, for (as ver.5.) thou ſhalt be. Heb. deſolations of perpetuity, or perpetuall deſolations; as chap.25.12. Ezek.35.9.

V. 27. Set up a ſtandard in the land; blow the trumpet among the nations:] The ſtandard, and trumpet, both to call people together, that are to ſerve and be employed againſt Babylon. Of this uſe of the one, ſee Eſay 5.26.& 13.2. Of the latter, chap.4.19,21.& 6.1.

prepare the nations againſt her:] Heb. ſanctifie; as Eſay 13. 3. chap.6.4. ver.28.

call together againſt her the Kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, and Aſhchenaz:] Heb. make to hear againſt her (as chap.50.29.) the kingdoms; that is, people out of thoſe kingdoms; as Eſay 13. 4. The two former of theſe the moſt Writers bring within the compaſs of Armenia. Of the former mention is made in Moſes, where the Ark is ſaid to have reſted on the mountains thereof, after that univerſal deluge, Gen. 8.4. See on Eſay 37.38. And for the latter, to wit, Minni, the Chaldee here hath alſo Armenia: which country divers learned men ſuppoſe ſo to be termed by a word compounded of two other, either Aram and Minni, (becauſe Syria was ſometime deemed to take in Armenia; as Strabo, lib.1.& 12. Pliny, lib. 5.cap.12.) or of Har and Minni, as the more mountainy part of Minni; and under theſe two terms therefore conceive to be comprehended the higher and lower Armenia: nor want there of them who deem Minni to be the ſame country, which Nicolas of Damaſcus calleth Minyas, on a mountain above which in Armenia, he ſaith that one arrived in an Ark at the time of the deluge. See Joſephs Antiquities, lib.1.cap. 4. Aſhchenaz are a people deſcended from Japhet, whoſe ſons ſon by Gomer his eldeſt ſon was ſo called, Gen. 10.3. 1 Chr. 1. 6. Their ſeat ſeemeth to have been within Aſia the leſs in Bithynia and Phrigia, where the Aſcanian gulf, and lake, and river, and city, and region, all of that appellation are found. See Strabo, lib.12.& 14. Pliny, l. 5. c.31,32. and that out of theſe parts Cyrus having ſubdued them, took ſouldiers along with him to ſerve under him in his expedition againſt Babylon, is related by Xenophon, lib.7.

appoint a captain againſt her:] So the Jewiſh Commenter, one of them, following the Chaldee, expoundeth it as a military term and office, a captain: though another of them, a Prince; becauſe the latter ſyllable of the word is in a manner the ſame with the Hebrew term that ſo ſignifieth. And becauſe the former part of the word in Hebrew ſignifieth a little one: Hence, ſome Criticks over-curiouſly deſcanting upon it, would have it to import, an inferiour Prince, or one ſet over the meaner ſort: and the old Latine therefore in Nah. 3. 17. where the ſame word is uſed in the plural form, rendreth it, little ones. In this it retaineth the word, as a proper name, of a perſon, as ſome would have it, of a place, or people, as ſome other: Which becauſe it is ſingular here, ſome would have to denote therefore a General: and this, ſay ſome of them, muſt needs be Cyrus: but another controlling that conceit would have it to be a Lieutenant Generall under Cyrus, that may rule the Army by direction from him, and may from time to time acquaint the ſeveral regiments with his mind and pleaſure: and would have the word to import a Prince of inſtellation, or interpretation, from an Hebrew word that ſignifieth to diſtil, or drop, applyed ſometime to teaching, preaching, and prophecying, Job 29.22. Mic.2.6.11. But the word ſeemeth to be a forrein term, and theſe ſtrained interpretations rather witty then weighty. Some would have it to ſignifie an army; building on the old Latine, that biddeth, Muſter Taphſar. The Greek rendreth it βελοστάσεις, that is, engins to caſt arrows or darts. A learned Annotator would have it a Perſian word, but of the Hebrews, corrupted, partly by tranſpoſition, and partly by tranſmutation of letters, from one that is uſed, Eſt.9.13. and to be the ſame with that which by the Greeks and Latines is called Satrapa; and would therefore have the meaning to be, ſet a ſatrapa over it; make it of a Kingdom, a ſatrapy, that is, a Province; for the Satrapa were Governours of Provinces. Thus it ſhould be herein not unlike that of Rezin and Pekah concerning the ſon of Tabeel, Eſay 7. 6. But not to inſiſt on any debate about the deduction of the word, though more probable then any of the former, yet tiphſar from Achaſhdarpan, not ſo eaſily brought about: the whole tenour of the Prophets ſpeech here, both in the words next before, and thoſe that immediately follow after, is concerning the muſtering of forces againſt Babylon, not concerning her, as yet dealt with, much leſſe ſubdued. Amids this great variety I ſhall make bold to ſugget mine own thoughts, I conceive with thoſe Jewiſh Maſters above-mentioned, that the word ſignifieth a Captain, and to be a term of ſome military prefecture; and ſo it ſeemeth to be taken, Nah.3.17. for elſe-where, ſave here and there, it is not found in Scripture. But in one of the Chaldee Paraphraſes it is ſaid to be taken for Angels, that are as Captains of Gods hoſt, Gen.32.1,2. Joſh.5.14. and our Verſion in Nahum well rendreth it Captains; for of military men it is ſpoken: and ſo might it very well be rendred here; for the word is collective; as the word horſe in the next clauſe: and the text to me ſeemeth cleer and plain to this purpoſe, ſet up Captains, or, Commanders againſt her; to wit, over thoſe forces, that ye ſhall gather together out of the nations before mentioned: for in vain doth that great man preſſe this place, to exclude Darius, and to back his ſtrained interpretations of Kings for a King, ver.11,28. whereof ſee further there.

cauſe her horſes to come up as the rough caterpillers,] That the word horſe is here collectively taken; as Pſal.76.6. is not to be doubted: and that the word rendred caterpillers (ſingular alſo but taken collectively; as Pſal. 105. 34.) doth ſignifie a kind of locuſts, hath been ſhewed already, on ver.14. The queſtion is here onely in what regard theſe horſes are compared to locuſts, or ſuch a kind at leaſt of them, as this term importeth: and here ſome would have them to be intended like them for multitude, and render the words, bring on, or bring up, (as Exod.8.1. 1 Sam.19.15. Sometime a military term. See on Chap.50.21.) horſe as locuſts, for number, or numberleſs rather; as Pſal.106.34. ſo it was uſed here before, ver.14 and ſo both this and the like, Nah.3.15,17. Others would have the reſemblance to conſiſt in the nation of either; make the horſe to riſe like locuſts; that is, to prance, or to curvet, or to leap and run, as locuſts uſe to do, skipping and flying from place to place, either by ſhorter jumps when they remove not far, or by longer flights, as when they paſs ſometime over ſea. Of the motion of the locuſts, ſee Joel 2.4,5,7,9. where they are compared to horſes, as horſes here to them: and of horſe and charets, Nah.3.2. The former way the Greek goeth; the Chaldee the latter. I conceive the former here intended, though the latter not improbable. But there is an epithet given here to this kind of locuſts, concerning which there is ſome diverſity of opinion, and from which ſome draw new reſemblances. The word rough, that our Verſions yield, is by the Jewiſh Commenters approved, pointing us to the places, where the word it cometh of doth ſo ſignifie, Job 4.15. Pſal.119.120. and in theſe places alone it is found. Nor do I ſee why it ſhould be rejected, the original of the word backing it, and the relations withall concurring of thoſe that write of the ſeveral kinds of locuſts, among which they affirm ſome to be rough. Yet the Chaldee here rendreth it, gliſtering; as ſome kind of flies alſo do, as well as the glow worm: and this ſome would apply to the horſemens glittering armour, or the trappings of their horſe. See Rev.9.7. The Latine rendreth it, furniſhed with ſtings, or prickles; and that ſome ſuch thing the male locuſts have in their tails, both Ariſtotle, lib.5.cap.28. and Pliny, l.21.c.29. affirm: and hither alſo ſome would draw that, Rev.9.3,10. and thoſe would have theſe reſembled to ſuch locuſts, as thoſe in John, for the miſchief they ſhould do to men: onely they queſtion whether this attribute ſhould belong to the horſe, or the locuſt, which will come much to one. Laſtly, a late learned Annotator rendreth the word waſting; and ſeems to aſcribe it to the horſe, waſting as the locuſt: and of the locuſts laying all waſte before it, there is no doubt, Pſal. 105.34,35. Joel 2.3. Nah.3.16. for the word, ſaith he, written with ſhin, ſignifieth to waſte and deſtroy but the Chaldee dialect turneth ſhin into ſamec: the learned man ſeemeth to have read ſamad, for, ſamar, the letters being much alike. Howbeit, herein I concur with him, in that he taketh horſe collectively for horſes; and horſes, for horſemen.

V. 28. Prepare againſt her the nations] Heb. Sanctifie; as before, ver.27. but here repeated to add further vigour to it, again.

with the Kings of the Medes, the captains thereof, and all the Rulers thereof, and all the land of his dominion.] Either together with the nations before-mentioned, ver.27. that were to ſerve under them; or, ſimply, the Kings of Media, Darius and Cyrus; as ver. 11. for that great man ſeemeth very much here out of the way, who to exclude Darius from any copartnerſhip with Cyrus, would have Kings to be taken for King, both here, and before, ver. 11. the particle ſeemeth to note onely the nouns coming in regiment after the verb, Sanctifie, to which it hath reference: and it is not amiſs therefore omitted in the members enſuing; though there alſo in the text, the meaning is, employ all the power ye can make againſt Babylon.

V. 29. And the land ſhall tremble and ſorrow] The people of Chaldea ſhall quake for fear, and be in pain, as a woman in travel: ſo the word properly ſignifies. See Eſay 13. 8. Chap.50.43.

for every purpoſe of the Lord ſhall be performed againſt Babylon, to make the land of Babylon a deſolation without an inhabitant.] See Eſay 14.27. Chap.50.3. ver.11,12,62. the noun plural put in a diſtributive notion, joyned with a verb ſingular; as Eſt.9.23. Prov.14.1. Joel 1.20.

V. 30. The mighty men of Babylon have forborn to fight; they have remained in their holds:] They have no heart to fight, they dare not ſtir abroad; as the Philiſtines of the Iſraelites, 1 Sam.14.11.

their might hath failed,] So ſome of the Jewiſh Criticks, deriving it from a word that ſignifieth to fail, Eſay 19. 5. or to wax faint, Eſay 41. 17. but ſome other of them expound it, their courage is gone; fetching it from a word that hath a notion of diſlocation in it; as having reference to a limb put out of joynt and removed, Gen.32.32. ſo it would rather be, their courage is ſhrunk; as it is there rendred, or it is lame, and halteth, as it is ſaid there of Jacob, ver.31. The former ſeemeth the genuine.

they became as women:] Heb. they are unto women; or, they are become women: they are ſo affected, ſo timorous and heartleſs, as if they were turned into women; as if they were not men, but women indeed: the phraſe is the ſame with that, Exod. 4.3, 4. So Eſay 19.16. Chap.50.37. Nah. 3.13.

they have burnt their dwelling places:] Or, her dwellings are burnt: for the verb is indefinite; as the like, Chap.49.28. and as ver.26.

her bars are broken.] The bars of the gates, as well of her forts and palaces, as of her city: all flyeth open before the enemy, and all lyeth open to him: her gates are all broken open, as is wont to be, when the bars are broken, wherewith they were kept faſt ſhut, Pſal.107.16. & 147.13. Prov.18.19. and the enemy become maſter and commander of all. See Eſay 45.2.

V. 31. One poſt ſhall run to meet another, and one meſſenger to meet another, to ſhew the King of Babylon that his city is taken at one end,] Heb. A runner to meet a runner ſhall run; and a reporter to meet a reporter. Or, A poſt ſhall run meeting a poſt; and a meſſenger meeting a meſſenger. A poſt, and a poſt, for, one poſt, and another; and of reporter, or meſſenger the like: as, day to day; and, night to night, for, one day to another, and, one night to another, Pſal.19.2. and, to meet, for, meeting, or, in meeting; as 1 Sam.25.34. unleſſe thou hadſt made haſte, and hadſt come meeting me: and of this uſe of the particle, ſee Ch. 35.8,9. & 38.4. & 44.5,17. The meaning is, ſaith the Jewiſh Commenter, there ſhall come poſt upon poſt, and meſſenger upon meſſenger, that as one goeth away, he ſhall meet with another coming; and all to bring word to the King of the ſurpriſal of the city. (Heb. to report, or declare to the King of Babel) that his city is taken from the end, or, at the end: as, at my right hand, Pſal.16.8. & Exod.37.8. at the end on this ſide, and, at the end on that ſide; that his city is taken at the one end; as our Verſion rendreth it; and the like is again, Ver,46. and yet there needeth not here that reſtrictive ſupply; at, or, on the end, or, edge of it, is enough; for whether it were taken by aſſault made on the one ſide onely; or, on either ſide at once, (as a learned Interpreter would have it, both where the river entred into the city, & where again it paſſed out) at, or, on the end, or, skirt of it, it was. For whereas a learned Annotator would have it expounded; his city is taken from end, that is, it is all taken, the whole city is taken: and addeth withall, that this is a moſt manifeſt place, to prove that acception of this form, which he attributeth unto it, to wit, a notion of univerſity, or, as we uſe to ſpeak, univerſality: that which, I ſuppoſe, no one place produced by him proveth; and this here leaſt of any: that the term importeth preciſely, from the end, or, extremity, can not be doubted, much leſs denied. Now becauſe the end, or extream part of a company may be the beſt, or chief, one way; the worſt and meaneſt another way; hence the word is uſed ſometime for the chief: as where it is ſaid, that Joſeph took of the end (the better end) of his brethren, the chief of them, and ſet them before Pharaoh, Gen.47.2. ſometime, for the meaneſt; as where it is ſaid of Jeroboam, that he made Prieſts of the ends (of the fag end, as we ſay) of the people: of the meaneſt of them, 1 King. 12. 31. and the word is plural here, which was ſingular there, where applied, as may ſeem to the better part. As for that of the Sodomites, Gen. 19.4. the whole people from the end: the univerſality is in the whole people, young and old, the place or places from whence they came, noted onely in the word end, or quarter; as it is ſometime not amiſs rendred. So Eſay 56.11. every one from his quarter: and of the Danites, from their quarters. Judg.18. 2. and if it be rendred as our Verſion doth it, from every quarter: the univerſality will be, not in the word quarter, but in the note of generality ſupplyed; as 1 Sam.30.8. Eſay 30.17. but I ſhould rather render it from each ones quarter; as in diſtrubitive notions is wont to be expreſſed. See Eſay 2.20. & 26.

& 26.19. So Num.11.1. fire was kindled, and devoured in the quarter, or, quarters (the word being taken collectively) of the camp. And further, Chap. 50.26. enough was ſaid of it there. Yet will I not deny but that this form may ſometime ſignifie from among; as the Chaldee rendreth it, Ezek. 33.2. and if any ſhall deem it ſo to be taken, either Gen. 47.2. or 1 Kings 2.31. I ſhall not contend with him. But that implieth not an univerſality; which this learned man ſtriveth for. Nor do I ſee any colour of ground here to admit it: nor can it be ſo taken, but where it hath ſome other noun after it to reſt on, as in thoſe places it hath: nor yet in ſuch caſe neither, where it paſſeth on to ſome other end, or extreme; as Gen.47.21. Exod.26.28. & 36.32. But could his expoſition of it here be made good, and the matter of the meſſage brought to the King, thus by poſt after poſt, were, that his whole city was taken, it would much conduce to ſtrengthen the opinion of a late Writer of great note, who building upon a relation of Beroſus a Chaldee Writer, reported by Joſeph the Jew, againſt Apion, lib. 1. maintaineth very ſtiffly, that when Cyrus was marching with his army towards Babylon, the King of Babylon, whom he called Nabonidus, went forth to meet him, with ſuch forces as he had: but being worſted by him, fled with ſome few to a Town called Borſippus, whither Cyrus having taken Babylon, and given order for the demoliſhing of the walls thereof, afterward purſued him, and having there taken him, gave him his life, and beſtowed the Province of Carmania upon him. And he preſſeth this place very hard for the further proof of this ſtory: For what needed, ſaith he, ſuch poſting to the King, whoever he was, to acquaint him with the ſurpriſal of the city, if he were at that time in the city, and not rather in ſome remote place? And indeed if the whole city had been taken, as that learned Annotator would have it, the King and his court needed not be informed of it by meſſengers, they would have been themſelves in the midſt of the broil. But this relation neither ſorteth well with other the paſſages of the Prophet in this place; and it is far otherwiſe, and more agreeable to the Prophets diſcourſe, related by Herodote, lib.1. who wrote neer two hundred years before this Beroſus, and received what he wrote hereof from the Chaldeans, as alſo by Xenophon, lib.7. that wrote about an hundred before him: neither of them make mention of any ſuch flight of the Babylonian King to Borſippus; and the latter of them expreſly mentioneth the murthering of him in his palace at Babylon: whom if Cyrus had dealt ſo kindly with, as Beroſus reporteth, or had he heard of any ſuch thing, would not have failed to have inſerted it into Cyrus his life, whom for his humanity and kind uſage of thoſe whom he conquered, he ſtriveth by all means and upon all occaſions to extoll. And for the poſt upon poſt, or runner upon runner, as the Hebrew hath it, coming one upon the neck of another to bring tidings to the Kings Court of the taking of the city, we need not remove King or Court out of the city to ſome more remote place, if we do but conſider firſt what kind of meſſengers it is that the Prophet here ſpeaketh of; for neither are they horſemen, ſuch as thoſe, 2 King.7.14. & 9.18, 19. ſent out for ſcouts; nor Perſian poſts (as that learned Writer expoundeth the term here uſed) diſpoſed into certain ſtages, (whence ours have their name) to diſpatch meſſages and intelligences with ſpeed; but as the word is plain, curriers, or, runners, foot-poſts, as we uſe to ſpeak; ſuch as Ahimaas and Cuſhi, 2 Sam. 18.19—23. and again if we ſhall take notice of the ſtrange largneſs and amplitude of the city, even within the walls, in regard whereof Ariſtotle therefore in his Politicks, lib.3.cap.2. ſaith, that it deſerved the name rather of a country then of a city: and withall what both he and Herodote alſo report, the one of them, that the utmoſt parts of the city, the ends, as our Prophet here ſpeaketh, were taken, while thoſe that dwelt in the midſt were wholly ignorant of it, having heard nothing at all thereof, but went on with their revelling, (for at one of their drunken feſtivals it was taken, ſee on ver.39,41. the other from ſome other ancient hiſtorians, that it was three days after it was taken, before tidings came of it to ſome part of the city. And thus much may ſerve to cleer this place both from thoſe forced expoſitions of the terms therein uſed, and the removall of the ground thereupon laid, to thwart the received opinion concerning Cyrus and Darius their joynt ſurpriſal of Babylon, conjoyned with the ſlaughter of the King of Babylon, Dan.5.28,30,31.

V. 32. And that the paſſages are ſtopped] Or, rather, taken, as Ver.41. or, ſeized, or, ſurpriſed, as Chap.48.41. the paſſages; that is, ſuch places by which from the river Euphrates there was ordinarily entrance into the city: as one of the Rabbines expoundeth it: who addeth alſo not amiſſe, that by the paſſages, is conſequently underſtood the forts and towers ſituate in thoſe places, to inhibit enemies from entrance; as of Moab, Chap.48.41. or, as others, not unlike to that, Judg.12.5. where it is ſaid, that they took the paſſages of Jordan; that is, the places by which men uſually paſſed over it: ſo here paſſages are taken, whereby the river Euphrates is, or may be, paſſed over: and this way if we take it, it may be rendred, paſſages have been deprehended, or diſcovered, or found out: as the word is uſed of the wife ſuſpected of diſloyalty, it is hidden from her husbands eyes, and ſhe hath not been deprehended; that is, diſcovered, found in the deed, or, as our Engliſh rendreth it, taked with the manner, Num.5.13. By diverting and draining of the rivers there, have been paſſages made and diſcovered, whereof uſe hath been made for the taking of the city.

and the reeds they have burnt with fire,] That which is here rendred reeds; the Jewiſh Commenter expoundeth great ruſhes; deriving it from a word that ſignifieth a ruſh, Job 8.11. and making it the ſame with that rendred a bulruſh, Eſay 58.5. and theſe, ſaith he, Cyrus his ſouldiers burnt down, that they might not hinder their acceſſe to the walls of the city; but the words are not the ſame: and it would rather be rendred with the old Latine, meers, or pools. So the word is commonly, yea, generally, uſed; as Pſal.114.8. Eſay 14.23. & 19.10. & 32.6. & 41.18. & 42.15. Nor need we, with that Jewiſh Critick, have recourſe to the Arabick, who ſuggeſteth, that in that language, the word ſignifieth a fort; and would have it ſo taken here. The meaning is, that Cyrus had by draining ſo dryed up the meers, that were about Babylon, that they were as if they had been waſted, and burnt up with fire. And hither ſome think that of Eſay hath ſome reference, Eſay 44.27,28. For as for that which ſome ſurmiſe, that Cyrus his ſouldiery might fire the reeds, ruſhes, flags, and ſuch ſedgy ſtuff as grew in thoſe meery places, thereby to harden the ground, & make it the more paſſeable, to me ſeemeth very improbable; conſidering, how ſuddenly the attempt was to be made, and how covertly to be carried, whereas this would have retarded the enterprize, and partly with the ſmoke of the green, ruſhy, and ſedgy matter have ſmothered and choaked the aſſailants, partly by the flame and crackling of the dryer reedy ſtuff have diſcovered them, and given notice of their approach unto thoſe in the city, who might as eaſily then, as Herodote well obſerveth, have taken them as fiſh in a purſnet.

they have burnt] That is, the enemies: which ſome make ſo bold with as to thruſt into the text: but that is not ſo well done: the verb is indefinite; and may beſt be rendred in a paſſive form: the meers are burnt up. See on Ver.26.

and the men of war are affrighted.] Daunted, and diſmaid with the ſudden irruption of the enemy, whom before they ſlighted, little deeming or dreaming of any ſuch paſſage for them, or means of ſurpriſal by them. See Ver.30.

V. 33. For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael;] As Chap.50.18.

The daughter of Babylon] As Pſal.137.8. Of the term, ſee Eſay 47.1.

is like a threſhing-floor; it is time to threſh her: Or, as ſome render it, in the time that he threſheth her; that is, what time it is wont to be threſhed, as ſome, taking the word indefinitely. So there ſhould be a defect both of the particle in, and of the relative that: but the Jewiſh Maſter taketh it rather for an infinitive, in the time of threſhing it; the word ſignifieth to tread: but to tread, both in Hebrew and Syriack, 1 Cor.9.10. is uſed for to threſh, ſaith a learned Writer, and of the Syriac he giveth an inſtance; but none of the Hebrew, in which it is uſed for treading of grapes commonly; as Eſay 63.2,3. Chap.48.33. and of olives alſo ſometime, Mic.6.15. but of corn, for threſhing, or, treading it out, I find not where it is uſed. Yet thus alſo ſome of the Jewiſh Commenters here expound it, Babylon is like a floor full of ſheaves; the time of threſhing her approacheth; or, when the time of it, to wit, of the floor, (for the word of floor is in Hebrew feminine) approacheth. But to ſpeak properly, the floor is not ſaid to be threſhed, but the ſheaves of corn in the floor, whereof there is no mention in the text. And I concur therefore rather with thoſe, that take the word in its native and moſt uſuall notion, for to tread, as Judg.20.43. conceiving it to have reference to the uſual manner of preparing and fitting of floors for threſhing againſt harveſt time, by new laying, and claying, or plaiſtering of them, and then treading them down to make them as well firmer as evener. So the meaning will be; the City and State of Babylon muſt be thrown down and levelled, made even and plain, Ver.25. as a threſhing-floor againſt harveſt time, that her Princes and people may be threſhed in her. See Eſay 21.10. Joel 3.14. Chap.50.26.

Some for fleſh read remnant; as the like word is uſed in Shear-Jaſhubs name, Eſay 7.3. but the words differ in a vowel.

Chap.2.15. See ver.14. Other of them, of the Chaldeans, and their outcries forced from them by extremity of pain and grief, when the enemy ſhould break in upon them: becauſe of ſuch mournful outcries the word is found ſometime uſed, Job 3.24. Pſal.22.1. & 32.3. & 38.8. But I concur rather with thoſe of our Writers, who underſtand this paſſage of the Babylonians roaring and revelling it in their drunken feſtival, at which their city was ſurpriſed. Of which, ſee Herodote, lib.1. Xenophon, lib.7. before on ver. 31. and again, on ver.41. and this way the very next words direct us, ver.39. The latter word rendred yel, is no where elſe in Scripture found in this notion; though ſome of the Jewiſh Maſters would have it ſo taken, Zach.2.13. the Chaldee rendreth it, they ſhall lift up their voice on high; and the Jewiſh Commenters upon the place tell us, that it ſignifieth properly the braying of an aſs; and is ſo uſed among the Talmudiſts. To which ſome add, that it is ſometime uſed alſo with them of camels: that the braying of aſſes is a very uncouth noiſe is well known; nor is a camels like to be any other; but a lions roaring mixt with an aſſes braying muſt needs produce a very hideous noiſe indeed: ſuch as may very fitly be uſed to expreſs ſuch confuſed ſhouts and clamours, as are wont to be rife among revelling companies overmaſtered with wine. Howbeit, becauſe the word in Hebrew is uſed commonly for to ſhake off; as Eſay 33.9. or, to ſhake; as Neh. 5.13. Eſay 33.15. Hence, the ancient Greek rendreth it, they rouz up themſelves; and the old Latine, they ſhake their ſhaggy hair, as young lions uſe to do: and as with ſwaggering folk is not unuſal; and ſome of ours, which our margent exhibiteth, they ſhake themſelves. Our ancienter Verſions had it, As young lions when they are angry, ſo ſhall they bend themſelves; that which ſeems to look this latter way. But the former ſeemeth the more probable.

V. 39. In their heat I will make their feaſts, and I will make them drunken, that they may rejoyce, and ſleep a perpetuall ſleep, and not wake, ſaith the Lord.] Or, When they are hot I will diſpoſe their drinkings. When they are heated with drinking (as Eſay 5. 11.) I will temper and tender them ſuch a potion, as ſhall make them ſo drunk, as they ſhall ſleep their laſt, even an everlaſting ſleep with it: And a learned man obſerveth, that as to give, is uſed for to put; ſo to put is uſed ſometime for to give; as Gen.4. 25. and according to this Interpretation of the term here, it ſhould be rendred, I will give their feaſts, or, I will give them feaſts: but neither in that place of Moſes doth the word neceſſarily ſo ſignifie; and here it ſeemeth to be ſomewhat harſh. Our laſt Verſion is, I will make their feaſts; and ſo the ancienter ones, I will make them a dinner: the learned Scholiaſt, I will ſet on their potions. Others of prime note before him, which to me ſeemeſt fitteſt of any, I will diſpoſe their drinkings, or, their banquetings; for the word may have a notion of drinking in it; and drinking is in banquets deemed a principal matter, whereof both in Hebrew and Greek they have their appellations; yet the word doth generally ſignifie a banquet, though to the wine, therein plentiful, reſpect be more peculiarly here had. And in this paſſage there ſeemeth to be a two-fold reference: firſt of all to that great magnificent banquet that Baltaſar made to his grandees, Dan.5.1. and to that revelling feſtival that at the ſame day was for divers days kept thorowout the whole city, that gave Cyrus his forces the greater opportunity ſuddenly to ſurpriſe it, when the people of all ſorts were deep generally in drink, as Herodote, lib.1. and Xenophon, lib.7. See Eſay 21.5. And ſecondly, to that wine-cup of wrath, that God had threatned to temper for them, and tender to them, ſo as they ſhould not refuſe it, Chap.25.15, 16,26,28.

made them drunk] With another manner of wine, then that they feaſt with, and in another manner affecting them, then that is wont to do: ſuch a wine as ſhall fill them with dread and aſtoniſhment; ſuch as ſhall make them mad indeed, and at their wits end, Chap. 25.16. See the effects of it in Baltaſar, Dan.5.6.

that they may rejoyce] Or, make merry, or, revell it; as Eſay 22. 2. for the word ſignifieth properly a skipping, or, leaping; and by ſuch like motions an expreſſion of merriment and jollity; that they may revel it, and ſleep their laſt; for that while they are revelling it, they may ſleep their laſt. So the Jewiſh Commenter, that after they have revelled, and drunk themſelves drunk with their concubines in the veſſels of Gods Temple, they may be caſt into ſuch a ſleep, as they ſhall not awake out of it again, Dan.5.1—4,30. a Syntax, not unlike that Rom. 6. 17. God be thanked that ye were the ſervants of ſin, but have yielded obedience, &c. for, that though you were ſuch ſometime, yet it is otherwiſe with you now; ye yielded now obedience to the doctrine of Chriſt. The Chaldee is ſuppoſed to have found here another reading, rendring it, they may not be valorous, but faint, as that word ſignifieth, Eſay 51.20. Amos 8.13. and both the ancient Greek and old Latine, that they may be caſt into an heavineſſe, or ſleep. But to attempt to alter the text here is neither ſafe nor needful.

ſleep a perpetuall ſleep] Heb. a ſleep of perpetuity; as ver.57. the ſleep of death, Pſal.13.3. Job 7.21. Eſay 26.19.

and not wake] As after ordinary ſleep men are uſually wont to do, Pſal.3.5. Chap.31.26. but continue their ſleep, being once ſurpriſed with it, untill the heavens be no more, Job 14.12. until the laſt day, when all ſhall be awaked with the ſound of the trumpet that then ſhall be blown, Joh.5.28. 1 Cor. 15. 51,52. The Chaldee rendreth it, and ſhall not be quickned in the world to come; a ſpice of that Jewiſh Conceit, which ſome of their Doctors are tainted with, that wicked men ſhall never riſe again, abuſing to that purpoſe thoſe paſſages, Pſal. 1. 5. Eſay 26. 14. but the Scripture is herein expreſly cleer againſt them, Mat. 13. 39, 41. & 25. 30, 31, 46. Joh. 5. 28, 29. Yet true it is, that they ſhall never riſe out of a ſtate of deadly ſleep and death again: for they riſe to paſſe from death to death; from the firſt death to the ſecond death, not to ſhake off death, but to enter into a further and far deeper degree of it, Rev. 20. 6, 14. See the ſame paſſage again hereafter, ver. 57.

V. 40. I will bring them down like lambs to the ſlaughter, like rambs with the he-goats.] Or, I will throw them down, or lay them along, (as Eſay 10. 13. & 43. 14. Ezek. 26. 20.) like rams, (ſee Eſay 34. 6.) to the ſlaughter, (as Chap. 12. 3. & 48. 15. & 50. 27.) like belwethers, and great he-goats; as Deut. 32. 14. Ezek. 27. 21. for theſe two latter terms properly and more peculiarly import, the one the choice and chief of rams, from their ſtrength ſo termed: as the other the bigger and larger ſort of male-goats. See Eſay 14. 9. Chap. 50. 5.

V. 41. How is Sheſhach taken?] Some conceive it ſpoken in way of lamentation. Others, in way of admiration. Others again of both joyntly; both as bewailing Babylons fall, and withall wondring by what means or power ſhe could be in ſuch manner thrown down. See the like, Chap. 50. 23. Of the name, Sheſhac by which Babylon is here ſtiled, ſomewhat hath been already hinted, on Chap. 25. 26. The name is taken from an idol in no ſmall requeſt with them, in honour of whom they obſerved a feſtival every year divers days together, not unlike to the Greek and Latines Saturnalia, and our wonted Chriſtmas holy-dayes, wherein every man had liberty to do what he liſted, the maſters were at their ſervants command, they had in every houſe a maſter of miſ-rule, whom they called Zoganes; and all that time for ſome five days, which from the name of their idol, whom they thus honoured, were called the Seſacean, or the name being in common ſpeech cut ſhorter, the Sacean days; they abandoned themſelves generally night and day (for in ſuch liberty, or licentiouſneſs rather, how could it be otherwiſe?) unto all exceſs and extremity of revelling and riot. This is reported by Athenæus in his Supper-Sophiſters, or Table-diſcourſes, lib. 14. out of Beroſus his Bobylonian, and Cteſias his Perſian ſtories: as alſo Dion Chryſoſtome, in his fourth Oration of Kingly power, mentioneth it. And at the time of this feaſt, (for the ſame by all circumſtances it ſeemeth to have been) when the whole city was in this poſture of revelling and routing, and the people as well great as ſmall drownd in drink, did Cyrus take his opportunity to ſeiz upon the city as the Authors before-mentioned, both Herodote and Xenophon report: and the Prophet therefore the rather calleth Babylon by that name, as pointing with the finger to that very time, in which that State was to receive its fatal blow. Nor is it unlikely, as that during the time of this feſtival (according to that Pruſſian Writers relation) beſides their houſhold Maſters of miſrule, they had one, whom they made a publike ſpectacle of, for having made choice of ſome notorious malefactor or other condemned to die, they arrayed him as a King, and ſet him in a chair of eſtate, allowed him a table royally furniſhed, officers to wait on him, and concubines to make uſe of at his pleaſure; and thus he paſſed the time ſo long as the feſtival laſted; but that expired, they ſtript him, whipt him, and hanged him: ſo that the King, to add the more grace to that idol-feſtivity, might over and beſide the general revels, make that ſolemn invitation of his great ones, and give that royal entertainment unto them at that ſupper, which he then little thought ſhould be his laſt, Dan. 5. 1, 30. wherein by Gadates and Gobrias, two of Cyrus his Commanders, and their followers, he was ſlain, in revenge of ſome wrongs formerly done to them and their friends, as Xenophon relateth it. Nor fell it out much otherwiſe with King Baltaſar, then with that mock-King in the cloſe of his royal banquet.

and how is the praiſe of the whole earth ſurpriſed?] That city ſo famous over the whole world; praiſe, for, matter of praiſe; as Eſay 61. 11. & 62. 7. So Chap. 49. 35. Lam. 2. 15.

how is Babylon become an aſtoniſhment] As Ver. 37. rendred deſolation, Chap. 50. 23.

among the nations?] Over whom ſhe before tyrannized; as Chap. 50. 23. where is the ſame in effect with this here.

V. 42. The ſea is come up upon Babylon: ſhe is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof.] An anſwer returned to the former queſtion. That it is not to be marvelled, if Babylon be thus ſurpriſed and ſpoiled, when a whole ſea of hoſtile forces is broken in upon her, and hath with their numberleſs multitudes overwhelmed her. See the like expreſſions, Eſay 8. 8. & 59. 19. Ezek. 26. 3. 19. Lam. 2. 15. See alſo, ver. 14.

V. 43. Her cities are a deſolation, a dry land and a wilderneſſe, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth any ſon of man paſſe thereby.] This ſome reſtrain to Babylon, as conſiſting of two cities, the inner and the utter, divided of the river Euphrates running between them. But the moſt rather underſtand it of the other inferior cities, called hers as being the mother city to them (as alſo the cities of Judah are called Jeruſalems cities, Chap. 34. 1.) and were to undergo the like with her, Chap. 50. 3, 12, 13, 39, 40. as alſo the whole land was to do, ver. 29. The like deſcriptions of deſolation, ſee Ch. 2. 6. & 9. 12.

V. 44. And I will puniſh Bel in Babylon,] Heb. I will viſit upon (as Chap. 40. 18.) Bel, Babylons chief idol: whereof, ſee on Eſay 46. 1. Chap. 50. 2.

and I will bring forth out of his mouth that which he hath ſwallowed up,] Heb. his ſwallowing. The ſpoils of the Babylonians, whereof they had fleeced other people: aſcribed to their principal idol Bel, either becauſe they attributed their conqueſts and ſucceſſes in war to him, Habb. 1. 11. as the Philiſtins did theirs to their Dagon, Judg. 16. 23. and the Ammonites theirs to their Cameſh, Judg. 11. 24. or rather becauſe of their booties and ſpoils taken by them, rich preſents were uſually offered unto that idol. To which purpoſe Euſebius in his Evangelicall preparative, lib. 9. cap. 40, 41. relateth out of Abyden, an ancient Greeks Writer, that Nebuchadnezzar adorned and furniſhed the Temple of Belus very plentifully with ſuch ſpoils as he gat in war: and the ſacred records inform us, that the precious veſſels of the Temple of God at Jeruſalem were thence carryed away by him, 2 Chr. 36. 18. and put into the Temple of this his idol, 2 Chron. 36. 7. Dan. 1. 2. which he that had ſwallowed down, ver. 34. was afterward conſtrained to caſt up again, that they might be reſtored to their due and proper place, Ezr. 1. 7. & 5. 14. See Job 20. 12—15. But of the rich furniture of this Bels Temple at Babylon, ſee Diodore, lib. 2. cap. 9.

and the nations ſhall not flow together any more unto him;] They ſhall not flock to Babylon as they had wont to do, when ſhe was in the height of her Imperial eſtate; nor reſort to Bel their idol and to his Temple, with preſents as formerly they had done. See the contrary to be practiſed at Jeruſalem, by Gods people, after their return from captivity, Chap. 31. 12. and of the nations under the Meſſias, Eſay 2. 2.

yea, the wall of Babylon ſhall fall.] Heb. alſo the wall of Babel ſhall fall; on the ſtrength whereof ſhe ſo much relyed. See Chap. 50. 15. and hereafter, ver. 53, 58.

V. 45. My people, go ye out of the midſt of her, and deliver every man his ſoul from the fierce anger of the Lord.] That is to be poured forth upon Babylon. Of the terms whereof, See Chap. 4. 8. And this ſome underſtand of danger by ſtaying in Babylon, till Cyrus his forces come, as adviſing and admoniſhing the Jews that there were, to get away before: but this ſeemeth not to fit ſo well with that followeth. Others of prime note, not to ſtay in Babylon, when liberty was once publiſhed, as many might deſire to do, being loath to leave a place and that very delightful, where they had ſo long lived, and where they might now abide free from their former bondage; and chooſing rather now to continue there where they had built and planted, Ch. 29. 5. then to remove to their own land, that had lien along waſte and deſolate, and wherein they were to begin as it were a new world again: and this I take to be the genuine intendment and ſcope of the place: for the wrath of God was not all at once poured forth by Cyrus upon Babylon; as appeareth in that Darius continued in it for ſome ſpace of time, the royal ſeat of the Empire, but was afterward to be further inflicted upon it: and howſoever God ſhould ſecure them at Cyrus his ſurpriſal of it, albeit they were found there; yet he might juſtly leave them afterward to enſuing deſtruction, if having liberty to depart, they ſhould ſtill deſire, and deem it better, to abide there among heathen people, then to return to ſerve God in their own country again. See alſo the like admonitions of leaving Babylon before, Chap. 50. 8. ver. 6. So Rev. 18. 4.

V. 46. And leſt your heart faint,] Or, And ſee that your hearts faint not; or, let not your hearts faint; be not fainthearted: a defective ſpeech: the like whereunto, ſee Gen. 3. 22. Exod. 13. 17. Deut. 8. 12. Eſay 36. 18. Heb. be ſoft, or tender, as Eſay 7. 4. 2 King. 22. 19. Job 23. 13.

and ye fear for the rumour that ſhall be heard in the land;] The rumour or report of Cyrus his preparation to come againſt Babylon: This they are encouraged not to fear, which they might the rather do, becauſe they had by this our Prophet been formerly willed to pray for Babylons proſperity, their own ſafety and tranquility being wrapped up in its peace, Chap. 29. 7. but this, ſaith the Jewiſh Commenter not amiſs, to aſſure them, that God in his providence would ſo diſpoſe it, that Cyrus his acceſs ſhould be no way prejudiciall unto them. For that of a learned Writer, that this ſhould be ſubjoyned to the foregoing advice, ver. 45. to admoniſh them that yet they ſhould not make ſo much haſte as to get out of Babylon,upon the firſt report coming of Cyrus his intendment for Babylon, but ſtay till ſuch time as God ſhould further acquaint them with: ſeemeth not to ſuit ſo well with the reſt of the context.

a rumour ſhall both come one year, and after that in another year ſhall come a rumour,] Or, as ſome, for (as ver. 20.) or, when (as Chap.34.1.) a rumour ſhall come in one year, (a defect of the numeral,as ver.31.)or,this year,and a rumour after that in another (ſupplyed, as Chap. 32.20.) or, in the next year; that is,as ſome, in general: there ſhall come rumours frequently,or year after year. But ſome more diſtinctly,report will come one year of Cyrus his preparations for war, and that might take him up no leſs time then a twelvemoneth, for ſuch an expedition, as this againſt Babylon the head city of that vaſt Empire, was in reaſon required to be. The next year cometh the report of his ſetting forward, and being now on his way toward Babylon; but that year was ſpent in his march thorow Aſſyria, where the water paſſages proved troubleſome; and the draining of the river Gyndes, to be revenged on it for the loſs of an horſe of ſpecial note, and much account with him,drown'd in it,took him up much time,as both Herodote and Xenophon report: for in the third year having pierced into Chaldea, he came and ſate down before Babylon, and gave not over the ſiege thereof untill he had ſurpriſed it. Nor doth the Jewiſh Maſter here go far from them, who expounding the place, tels us, that Belſhazzar reigned three year, and in the firſt year of his reign a report ſhould come to Babylon of Cyrus his intendment againſt it; and in the ſecond of his reign the ſame ſhould be renewed; but in the third year he ſhould come indeed.

and violence in the land] Or, then (ſo ſome render it, as Chap.47.2.that is,in the third year) ſhall violence be on the land. That which the Jewiſh Doctors, and moſt others alſo expound of the Medes and Perſians haraſſing the land of Chaldea; and a learned Writer would have underſtood by the word here uſed, the reward, or recompenſe that ſhould from God be inflicted upon the Chaldeans for the violence, or wrongs,done to his people,ver.35. (See ver. 14.) as the word,ſaith he,is taken,Pſal.7.16. But the plain and proper ſenſe of the word doth well enough here. Though thoſe ſeem to go further out of the way, who taking the word ſo, apply it to the Chaldeans perſiſtance in their oppreſſions of Gods people, remitting nothing of their rigorous courſes towards them, but enhancing them rather, as Pharaoh did with them in Egypt, Exod. 5.6——9. and that this was it,againſt which God endeavoured here to confirm them.

ruler againſt ruler.] That is, Cyrus againſt Belſhazzar, and Baltaſar,as in other languages he is commonly termed. But ſome render the words,ruler upon ruler: expounding it of the frequent change of Rulers in a ſhort compaſs of time, firſt Baltaſar, then Darius, then Cyrus: and this way the Jewiſh Commenter,and a prime Writer of ours ſeem to go: and becauſe ſuch changes are wont to breed much trouble, that therefore againſt this in particular God here hearteneth his people,aſſuring them that theſe ſhiftings ſhould no way prejudice their ſafety; the new Kings ſucceſſively ſhould rather help and favour,then hurt them,or hinder their welfare.

V. 47. Therefore behold the days come, that I will do judgment upon the graven images of Babylon,] This Verſion of the particle agreeth well with thoſe that expound the fore-going words of the Chaldeans perſiſtance in their oppreſſions of Gods people. But I ſuppoſe it would rather be rendred, Moreover, as Chap. 23. 7. Heb. the dayes coming,and I will viſit upon (as Chap.48.12. ver.44.) the graven images of Babylon; one ſort of images put for all, as Chap.50.38. See the like hereunto,Exod.12.12.Chap.43.12,13.

and her whole land ſhall be confounded] The whole land, for, the inhabitants of the whole land, as Pſal.66.3.they ſhall be at their wits end, unable either to act, or to advice ought, Eſay 66 5.the ſame again hereafter,ver.52. ſhall be confounded, or,abaſhed, which in ſound alſo agreeth with the term in the text; or aſhamed of their idols that were not able to protect them. See Eſay 1.29.Chap.50.2.

and all her ſlain ſhall fall in the midſt of her.] Or, ſhall ly, or, ly fallen in the midſt of her; as 1 Sam.31.8. Lam. 2. 21. A learned late Writer would have it rendred, all her dancing ones,or,dancers,ſhall fall in the midſt of her: as, ſaith he, the word is uſed, Judg. 21. 21,23. 1 Sam.18.6.& 21.11. 1 King. 1.40. and is by the Greek in thoſe places ſo rendred: which would well fit with Herodotes' relation, who reporteth in expreſs terms, that the Babylonians were dancing, and in merriment paſſing the time away, what time their city was ſurpriſed. But the terms, though riſing from the ſame root, yet are not the ſame.

V. 48. Then the heaven, and the earth, and all that is therein ſhall ſing for Babylon:] Heb. And; as ver.46. and, over Babylon; as Eſay 63.5. or, for; as Chap. 47.4. All the creatures in heaven and earth ſhall ſeem to rejoyce at the ruine of Babylon; as eaſed of the heavy preſſures that the whole world had ſuſtained by her tyrannical dominion. See Eſay 14.6——8.Chap.50.23.Ver.23——25. or,as applauding of Gods juſt judgment, in avenging of the wrongs done his people by her. See Eſay 14.3——5.& 44.23. & 49.13. and the like expreſſions, Pſal. 96. 11———13. & 98.7———9. Howbeit, they ſeem ſomewhat too curious, who by heaven here underſtand the Angels; by the earth, the Jews, and other nations abroad: the outward face of the whole viſible world is commonly in Scripture by theſe terms deſcribed, Pſal.69.34.Eſay 1.2.& 45.8.

for the ſpoilers ſhall come unto her from the north, ſaith the Lord.] Or, When; as Chap.10.2.See Chap.40.3. and ver. 53,55,56.

V. 49. As Babylon hath cauſed the ſlain of Iſrael to fall: ſo at Babylon ſhall fall the ſlain of all the earth.] Not of the city alone,but of the whole country:and there is in the words a reaſon rendred of what was before menaced, that Babylons people ſhould be ſlain, and ly ſlain in the midſt of her, becauſe ſhe had dealt ſo with other people before, with Gods people more ſpecially among the reſt, Chap.4.27,29. And this Verſion is backed with the ancient Greek, old Latine, and others of ours. As for that, which ſome other of prime note ſuggeſt, Both Babylon muſt fall,O ye ſlain of Iſrael, and with Babylon ſhall fall the ſlain of all the land, ſeemeth overſtrained,and not to come ſo freely, without ſome force, from the text. Heb. alſo; and,alſo,for,As,and ſo; as ſomewhat the like,Pſal.49.2. Chap.14.18.& 23.11. and, to fall, for, to make to fall,ſaith the learned Scholiaſt; as Num.2.22.but the vowel points are not there the ſame.

V. 50. Ye that have eſcaped the ſword, go away, ſtand not ſtill:] Or,ſtay not. Heb. ſtand not; as Gen.45.1. Chap.4. 6. Ye that have eſcaped the ſword of the Chaldeans; as thoſe of the Egyptians, Chap.31.2. Or rather, ye who by Gods gracious proviſion, and powerful protection abiding on Babylon, at the time of its ſurpriſal, have eſcaped the ſword of the Medes and Perſians, make no ſtay, when you have liberty to be going, once granted to you; let nothing retard you from ſetting ſpeedily upon return to your own country.See on ver.25.

remember the Lord afar off, and let Jeruſalem come into your mind.] Heb. come up upon your heart; as Chap.3.16.Think upon God,and the ſeat of his ſolemn ſervice, the Temple at Jeruſalem; though ye be now in a place of much diſtance from it,Chap.4.16. Eſay 39. 3. let the remembrance of him and it, draw your hearts and affections thitherward, and incite you to haſten thither,Pſal.102.14.& 137.1,5. Chap.50. 4,5. A learned Annotator, with ſome others, maketh this the intendment of it, to ſhew them, what meditations they ſhould have, when they were upon the way homeward; expreſſed more fully in the words following, Ver.51. which to bring on therefore the more ſmoothly,he ſubjoyneth here a ſupply of the word,ſaying. I conceive rather as before.

V. 51. We are confounded,becauſe we have heard reproach, ſhame hath covered our faces.] The complaint and lamentation of Gods people, being put in mind of Jeruſalem the wonted ſeat of Gods ſervice, at the very mention of it, and the remembrance of its preſent condition; bewailing the reproachful language and carriage of the adverſary even againſt God himſelf, occaſioned by the deportation of his people,and the devaſtation of his Temple: Of which kind of inſolent and deſpiteful language,ſee Deut.32,7,8.Pſal.42. 3.& 115.2.Eſay 10.10,11.Ezek.36.20. aud the like laments in the ſame terms ſome of them, See Pſal.31.11,13. & 69.7. & 44.15,16.& 89.50,51. & 123.3,4. & 137.1———6. As thoſe Interpreters of note, and that learned Annotator before mentioned, annexed a ſupply to the latter part of the foregoing Verſe, to carry on their ſuppoſed connexion of it with this. So a learned Scholiaſt prefixeth another ſupply in the front of this,to wit, If ye ſhall ſay, as if it were ſpoken by way of preoccupation,as if they ſhould ſay, How can we remember Jeruſalem, when we cannot do it without much ſhame and confuſion: ſo it ſhould be not unlike that, Pſal. 137.4. But this alſo ſeemeth needleſs as well as that, and to ſtrain the context without cauſe.

V. 52. Wherefore behold the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will do judgment upon her graven images,] In conſideration of theſe lamentable complaints of my people, as Pſal. 12.5. or in regard of theſe inſolencies committed againſt me in the devaſtation of mine houſe; I will be avenged both on the Chaldeans themſelves, and on their idols, (together with their Temples too; as Chap.43.12,13.) which ſhall not be able to ſave either themſelves, or their ſervers. See the ſame before, ver.47.

and thorow all her land the wounded ſhall groan.] Their idols being not able either to deliver, or to relieve their people that depend upon them, to preſerve them from wounds, or to relieve them of their pains, and much leſs to ſave their lives, See ver.49.

V. 53. Though Babylon ſhould mount up to heaven,] Though her walls were as high as heaven; as they ſpeak, Gen.11.4. Deut.1.28. and they are reported to have been of a ſtupendious height, two hundred foot, ſaith Pliny, lib.6.cap.26. cubits, and thoſe royall ones, an hands breadth longer then the ordinary, ſaith Herodote, lib.1. though Strabo, lib.16. and Diodore, lib.2. ſay, fifty cubits onely between the towers, and at the towers threeſcore. See the like expreſſions, Obad.4.

and though ſhe ſhould fortifie the height of her ſtrength,] Though ſhe raiſe her Fortifications as high as heaven: So ſome, following the old Latine, that rendreth it, Though ſhe eſtabliſh in the lofty place of her power; that is, ſet it, or ſettle it aloft in heaven, in Scripture ſo frequently termed, Eſay 24.18.& 32.15. Chap.25.30. Lam.1.3. but the word is here in a contracted form, reſting in regiment upon the next. The meaning therefore ſeemeth rather, Though ſhe make their ſtrength equal with, and proportionable to their height.

Yet from me ſhall ſpoilers come unto her, ſaith the Lord.] Yet for all her height and ſtrength ſhall thoſe come unto her, that coming with commiſſion from me, ſhall not fail to plunder her, ver. 48. No height or ſtrength can ſecure againſt God, or thoſe that come furniſhed with power from him. So again, Ver.55,56. a defect of the diſcretive, as Chap. 25.1,10.

V. 54. A ſound of a cry cometh from Babylon,] A loud out-cry; as Eſay 65.19. Chap.48.3. the ſpeech is abrupt, the verb wanting, as Eſay 66.6.

and great deſtruction from the land of the Chaldeans.] Or, and of great deſtruction. Heb. breach, or breaking; as Chap.50.22. ſee Chap.6.1.& 48.3.

V. 55. Becauſe the Lord hath ſpoiled Babylon,] Or, For (as ver.5,27.) the Lord will ſpoil Babylon, by them that ſhall come with commiſſion from him, Ver.53. Heb. is ſpoiling; about to do it, as Chap.25.36.

and deſtroyed out of her the great voice,] Thus the moſt, both Jewiſh and others, underſtanding the place, ſome of that ſtreperous noiſe, that is wont to be in places where great concourſe of people is, Eſay 13.4. and ſuch was no doubt in Babylon, being ſo populous, and having ſuch reſort unto it out of all parts, Ver.44. Others, of thoſe confuſed clamors, that their roarers and revellers made at their drunken meetings, Ver.38,39. See Eſay 22.3. which God, whither way we take it, would now ſtill and lay, by bringing thoſe in upon them, that ſhould either make them change their note, or ſilence their multitude. See Eſay 16.9,10.& 22.1,2. & 25.5. Chap. 48. 45. But ſome Interpreters of note conceive it to be ſpoken of the enemies breaking in with ſhouts and clamor upon them, rendring the words, and he will deſtroy her ſtrength (ſupplyed from ver.53.) out of her with a great noiſe: the particle deſigning the manner of doing ought, omitted; as oft it is, Eſay 34.2. Chap. 23.28. and the words following ſeem to carry it this way. See Eſay 16.9. with Chap.48.32,33. Amos 1.14.

when her waves do roar like great waters, a noiſe of their voice is uttered.] Heb. and (which ſome render, for; as Ver. 20.) their waves ſhall roar like great waters, or, like many waters: the noiſe, or, ſhout of their voice ſhall be given out, or, when the ſhout of their voice (that is, their loud ſhoutings) are given out: the particle of time wanting; as Chap. 8.18. Eſay 17.6. & 26.10.& 41.17. the waves of that ſea, which ſhall break in upon her, ver. 51. ſhall make an hideous noiſe, ſuch as the waves of the ſea are wont to make, when they beat upon the rocks, or ruſh in with violence upon the land, having either broken thorow, or got over the ſea banks. See the like expreſſions, Eſay 5.30.& 17.12,13. See the term of giving out a voice, Chap.2.15.& 10.13.

V. 56. Becauſe the ſpoiler is come upon her, even upon Babylon,] Or, For (as ver.55.) the ſpoiler (as ver.53.) is come upon her (as ver.42,51.) upon Babylon: a redundancy, but ſuch as makes the ſentence the more vigorous; as Eſay 8.13. & 48.6. Prov.5.21. Habb.1.11.

and her mighty men are taken] Unawares, when they little dreamed of any danger. See ver.39,40.

every one of their bows is broken,] Heb. their bows is broken: a diſtributive form; as Eſay 26.19. Joel 1.14. their ſtrength is utterly ſpent and gone; as Chap.49.35.

for the Lord God of recompenſes ſhall ſurely requite.] As, the Lord of vengeances, Pſal.94.1. Heb. rendring render, or, requiting requite; as Exod.21.36. & 22.2. See ver. 6,24. Eſay 59.18.

V. 57. And I will make drunk her Princes, and her wiſemen, her captains, and her rulers, and her mighty men, and they ſhall ſleep a perpetuall ſleep, and not wake;] I will make them all drunk with the wine of my wrath, Chap. 25.26. Yet withall alluding to that drunken feaſt, at which they were to their utter deſtruction ſurprized and ſlain. See ver.39. and of the terms here uſed there: the enumeration of ſeveral ſorts, of thoſe of principal note eſpecially, maketh the ſentence more emphatical; as Eſay 3.2,3. So Chap. 50. 35—37. Verſ. 21—23.

ſaith the King, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts.] As Chap. 48.15.

V. 58. Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the broad walls of Babylon] Or, the walls of broad Babylon: Of the amplitude of the city, ſee on Ver.31. Strabo, lib 16. ſaith the compaſs of it within the walls was three hundred fourſcore and five furlongs: and Diodore, lib.2. with ſome abatement, three hundred threeſcore and five; juſt ſo many as days in the year: but Herodote, lib.1. ſaith, four hundred and fourſcore furlongs: with whom, Pliny agreeing lib.6.cap.26. ſaith, threeſcore mile. And for the walls of it, it is reported by Herodote, that they were fifty large cubits broad: though Pliny tranſcribing him, inſtead of cubits ſaith feet. So broad they were, as Strabo and Diodore agree, that two charets drawn with four horſes on breaſt, might eaſily meet on them, and leave ſpace enough on either ſide vacant. Of the height on them, ſee before on ver.53.

ſhall be utterly broken] Or, made naked. Heb. ſhall in breaking down be broken down; or, ſhall in making bare be made bare; for the word is ambiguous: the root at leaſt whence it ſpringeth. The Jewiſh Maſters ſay it is taken in a notion of demolition, or breaking down, Eſay 23.13. where our Verſion hath, raiſed it up; but they ruined it; and ſo ſay they here. But the ordinary uſe of the word is frequent in a notion of ſtripping, or making bare, Eſay 32.11. Lam.4.21. Habb.3.9. Zeph.2.14. (See Chap.17.6. on the word, heath) and in this notion being taken, as by divers Interpreters of the beſt note it is, it will in effect come fully home to the former: for the wall is ſaid to be laid bare in a figurative form of ſpeech; not ſo much when it is deſtitute of defendants, but when it is razed and her foundations are laid naked, and the ground made level on which it before ſtood. So Pſal.137.7. a place parallel to this, make it bare, make it bare, to the foundation: well rendred, raze it: for when the walls are razed, both the ground it ſtood on is made bare, and the town it environed is laid naked. As thick therefore and as ſtrong as her walls were, yet God threatneth and fore-telleth that they ſhould be razed: and Beroſus reporteth that Cyrus took order for the demoliſhing of them. Yet were they not then wholy razed, but then in part ruined, and utterly afterward. See on Chap.50.15. It is thrice repeated to give the ſtronger aſſurance of it; becauſe it would be deemed a matter incredible. See ver.44.

and her gates ſhall be burnt with fire,] An uſual form in deſcribing the devaſtation of a city, Neh.1.3. & 2.3,13,17. Ch. 17.27. Lam 1.4.& 2.9. Ezek.26.2. The gates of Babylon were built with ſtately and lofty arches, proportionable to the walls, as Diodore reporteth: an hundred there were of them, as Herodote ſaith, with their poſts and hinges all of braſs.

and the people ſhall labour in vain, and the folk in the fire, and they ſhall be weary.] Or, thus (as ver.4.) ſhall the people take pains for vanity, and the folk, untill they fire themſelves for the fire; that is, as ſome of the Jewiſh Commenters, people ſhall uſe their utmoſt endeavours to ſave Babylon from deſtruction; but all in vain, and to no purpoſe, ver.9. for with fire and ſword ſhall ſhe be conſumed, and all thoſe together with her that do aid and aſſiſt her, Ver.4,47. Or, as other of them rather, It ſhall then appear, that all the pains that people have taken, wearying and tiring out themſelves, about the building of Babylon, have been but labour in vain, and produced nothing but fewel, matter onely to feed the fire, Ver. 25. ſo are ſome ſaid to breed children for the ſword, Job 27.14. and Ephraim, for the murtherer, Hoſ.9.13. See the ſame expreſſions, Habb.2.13. A learned Annotator ſuppoſeth a trajection in the text, and would have it thus rendred, The labours of the people and folk that have been wearied (with building thy walls) ſhall come to nothing by the fire. But this both diſturbeth and disjoyneth the text over-much.

V. 59. The word which Jeremiah the Prophet commanded

Seraiah, the ſon of Neriah, the ſon of Maſeiah,] To this prolix Prophecy againſt Babylon, is ſubjoyned a courſe taken by Jeremy at Gods appointment, for the copying of it out, and conveying of a copy of it unto Babylon, Ver. 59, 60. there to be read unto the Jewiſh Captives abiding there, Ver. 61. and after ſolemn proteſtation made of Gods purpoſe to put in execution the matters therein menaced, Ver. 62 to be ſunk in the river Euphrates, Ver. 63, as a ſign and ſeal of Babylons irrecoverable downfal, Ver. 64.

The word,] Or, thing, or, matter; as Exod. 16. 16.

Jeremiah commanded,] Gave in charge from God.

Seraiah] Of this Seraiah we read nothing elſewhere: but of another of his name then high Prieſt, Chap. 52. 24.

when he went with Zedekiah King of Judah into Babylon in the fourth year of his reign;] So out of their Annals one of the Jewiſh Commenters telleth us, that Zedekiah went to Babylon, and this Seraiah in company with him, and returned thence ſhortly after to his Kingdom again: but others rather render the text, when he went for, or, on the behalf of Zedekiah. So one of the Rabbines; or, as others, from Zedekiah: and ſo the ancient Greek, and the Chaldee: and ſo the particle is uſed, Gen. 4. 1. & 44. 4. & 49. 26. Exod. 9. 29. ſent in embaſſage by him to the King of Babylon to treat with him about affairs of ſtate. Hence it appeareth that this Prophecy againſt Babel was penned ſeven year before the ſubverſion of the Jewiſh eſtate. See Chap. 39. 3.

and this Seraiah was a quiet Prince.] Or, now (as Chap. 37. 4.) this Seraiah was (as the Hebrew hath it) Prince of Menucha: which ſome take to be the proper name of a place, whereof this man had the rule and charge: as ſome alſo ſuppoſe it to be, Judg. 20. 43. but this is of a place in Judah, whence the Menuchothites, 1 Chron. 2. 52. Others, whom our Tranſlators follow, make it an attribute intimating the mans diſpoſition, a Prince of reſt, one that lived peaceably and quietly, as Solomon is called a man of reſt, 1 Chron. 22. 9. or one that laboured to make peace, and mediated for reconcilement between Zedekiah his maſter, and the Chaldean Monarch. Others again, would have it to be the name of an office; and of theſe, ſome, the Kings familiar favourite, with whom he uſed to recreate himſelf, when he had times of leiſure and liberty of reſt from other more ſerious affairs. Some, the Lord Chamberlain, he that had the charge of the Kings reſting place, or bed-chamber. Others, that he was Lord chief Juſtice of peace: one that by ſuch forces as he had the charge of, was to ſee the publike peace kept and maintained, and ſo procure reſt unto the State. The Chaldee deriving it from another root, expreſſeth it by a term uſed of him, Eſay 18. 7. anſwering to the Hebrew minchath, that ſignifieth a preſent, and rendreth it, the maſter of gifts, or, preſents; and ſo the ancient Greek alſo: that which ſome underſtand of preſents brought to the King, who were by ſuch an officer to have acceſſe. Others, of gifts, or, donatives, beſtowed by the King, either on the ſouldiery or communalty, which this man was by vertue of his office to diſpoſe of. The old Latine rendreth it, the Prince of Prophecy: which Popiſh Writers to little purpoſe ſtrain their wits to make ſomewhat of. Amids this variety and uncertainty, the two firſt ſeem moſt probable; and of the twain, that to me ſeemeth the more, that our Verſions generally pitch upon, being backed with an inſtance of the ſame ſtamp, and ſeemeth to have been here ſpecified, to intimate that this Seraiah was none of thoſe factious and turbulent courtiers, that oppoſed Gods Prophets, and diſturbed them in the execution of their miniſtery, and one therefore not unfit for ſuch an employment as this.

V. 60. So Jeremiah wrote in a book all the end that ſhould come upon Babylon: even all theſe words that are written againſt Babylon;] Or, as ſome render it, After that he had written in a book. Heb. And; but ſo is the copulative ſometime uſed; as Exod. 14. 21. & 16. 20. Lev. 9. 22. and the noun for the pronoun, as again, Ver. 61 and, in one book, for, in a book; as, in one pot, for, in a pot, Exod. 16. 33. and, words, for, things; as Deut. 30. 1. and, el, again in the firſt place, for, al, upon; as Chap. 50. 35, 36 and el the ſecond time, for al, either concerning, or againſt; as Chap. 50. 1.

V. 61. And Jeremiah ſaid to Seraiah, When thou comeſt to Babylon, and ſhalt ſee, and ſhalt read all theſe words,] Or, as ſome render it, and ſhalt have ſeen, or, beheld the city (as his Diſciples did the Temple, Mat. 24. 1, 2. and Chriſt himſelf Jeruſalem, Luk. 19. 41.) then ſhalt thou read all theſe words, or, thou ſhalt then look upon this book, or roll, and ſhalt read all theſe words, or things; as Ver. 6. out of it; as Neh. 8. 1, 3. and, for, then; as Chap. 47. 2. and words, for things; as Ver. 60. Howbeit, as it is not likely that Seraiah ſhould read this in ſome publike place, where the Chaldeans ſhould hear it: ſo nor is that probable that ſome of note have, that he was to read it onely privately in ſome cloſet apart by himſelf: for why that there, rather then before he ſet out, or when he was on his way thither? but that he was to read it unto his countrymen the Jews, who had together with Jeconiah about four year before been carryed captive thither, 2 King. 24. 12, 14. in ſome private houſe, whither as to an Embaſſador coming from Zedekiah, that I held from the King of Babylon, 2 King. 24. 17. they might have free acceſs.

V. 62. Then ſhalt thou ſay,] Or, And ſhalt ſay: if we follow the latter Verſion before mentioned, Ver. 61.

O Lord, thou haſt ſpoken againſt this place to cut it off, that none ſhall remain in it, neither man nor beaſt, but that it ſhall be deſolate for ever.] In the Hebrew text el, again, for al, concerning, or, againſt; as Ver. 60. and from man even unto beaſt; as Chap. 50. 3. and deſolations of perpetuity; as Ver. 26. Chap. 48. 34.

V. 63. And it ſhall be when thou haſt made an end of reading this book, that thou ſhalt bind a ſtone to it, and caſt it into the midſt of Euphrates.] On the banks whereof Babylon was ſituate: into the midſt of it, for, into it; as, out of the midſt of it, for, out of it, Ver. 6. In like manner is a mill-ſtone ſaid to be caſt into the ſea, to repreſent the irrecoverable downfal of the ſpiritual Babylon, Rev. 18. 11.

V. 64. And thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſhall Babylon ſink, and not riſe from the evill that I will bring upon her:] See Eſay 26. 14. Chap. 50. 39, 40. Ver. 26, 39.

and they ſhall be weary.] That is, ſaith the Jewiſh Doctor, they ſhall not be able to hold out againſt Cyrus: Or, as others rather render it, though they weary themſelves; as Eſay 40. 30. Ver. 58. the copulative in a diſcretive notion; as Eſay 10. 5. & 49. 5. Though they take never ſo much pains, even till they tire out themſelves, in endeavouring and ſtriving to raiſe and reſtore her again: as of Edom, Mal. 1. 4. Thoſe that render it; and they ſhall fly away; as Job 20. 8. Pſal. 90. 10. miſtake the root.

Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.] That is, as ſome, thus far concerning Babylon, as before, Thus far concerning Moab, Chap. 48. 47. Or, as others rather, Thus far of the Prophets own writing, For the Chapter following ſeemeth to have been afterward added unto this book of his prophecies by ſome other holy man of God, (as the laſt Chapter to the Writings of Moſes) for the further illuſtration, and fuller confirmation of ſome things therein contained. For that which one of the Jewiſh Maſters would have to be the meaning of it, that after he had finiſhed this prophecy againſt Babylon, he prophecied not, is apparently controlled by the inſcriptions of ſome other of the Prophecies in this volume recorded, that are of later date then this. See Chap. 32. 1. & 33. 1. & 34. 1. & 37. 5, 6. & 42. 7. & 43. 8. & 44. 1.

CHAP. LII.

Verſ. 1. Zedekiah was one and twenty year old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jeruſalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.] This Chapter is ſuppoſed to have been written by ſome of thoſe that lived in captivity at Babylon. The principal matter of it is concerning Zedekiahs wicked reign, Ver. 1—3. the ſiege and ſacking of Jeruſalem, V. 4—23. the ſlaughter of ſome chief ones, Ver. 10, 24—27. the deportation of the reſt, Ver. 28——30. and the enlargment of Jehojacin, Ver. 31—34. the moſt of it is related, 2 King. 24. and 25. 2 Chron. 36. 11—18. Heb. reigned, for, began to reign; as 2 King. 21. 1. & 22. 1. See 2 King. 24. 18.

according to all that Jehojakim had done.] Of whom ſee 2 King. 23. 37.

V. 3. For through the anger of the Lord it came to paſſe in Jeruſalem and Judah, till he had caſt them out from his preſence, that Zedekiah the King rebelled againſt the King of Babylon.] According to this Verſion, God puniſhed his fore-going evill carriages, ver. 2. by giving him up to his own perverſe will, and permitting him to perſiſt in a rebellious courſe againſt him, who had made him King, and unto whom he had ſworn loyalty, to the ruine of himſelf, and the whole State together with him. The like whereunto, ſee Pſal. 81. 11, 12. Rom. 1. 21, 24, 26, 28. Howbeit, I conceive the words may be thus rendred. Yea, unto the anger of the Lord it was againſt Jeruſalem and Judah —— that Zedekiah rebelled againſt the King of Babylon. Yea, ſo the particle is uſed in way of exaggeration, Eſay 32. 13. Chap. 14. 5, 18. unto the anger of the Lord; as add iniquity unto their iniquity, Pſal. 69. 27. where the ſame particle is uſed, it was; it accrewed, it was added further thereunto; as 1 King. 13. 34. compared with Chap. 12. 30. againſt Jeruſalem and Judah, as Pſal. 78. 21. & 106. 40. Eſay 5. 25. that (Heb. and; as Chap. 48. 12. & 49. 2.) Zedekiah rebelled againſt the King of Babylon; That which God taketh ſo hainouſly, as being ſuch a tranſgreſſion, as ſhould both ſurely and moſt ſeverely be avenged, in regard of his oath therein falſified, and Gods name thereby ſcandalized. See how eagerly God inſiſteth upon it, with oath upon oath, to puniſh him for the breach of his oath, Ezek. 17.15—21. See this alſo in the ſtory, 2 King.24.20. 2 Chron.36.13.

V. 4. And it came to paſſe in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth that Nebuchadrezzar King of Babylon came, he and all his army againſt Jeruſalem, and pitched againſt it, and built forts againſt it round about.] See 2 King.25.1. The one may point to the day of the Captains arrival at Jeruſalem: the other to the day wherein he ſet fire on the Temple: which alſo though it were fired on the ſeventh day, yet might not be burnt down before the tenth. Either rather, then what another ſuggeſteth, that he might ſet forth from Riblah upon the ſeventh day, and arrive at Jeruſalem upon the tenth. But howſoever, that learned Annotator is doubtleſs himſelf in an errour when he ſaith that Joſeph the Jew aſſigneth it the ninth: for he in his Antiquities, lib. 10. cap. 11. ſaith expreſly it was in the new moon; and that is neither ſeventh, nor tenth, nor ninth, but the firſt.

which ſerved the King of Babylon into Jeruſalem.] Heb. ſtood before him; as 1 King.10.8. & 17.1. Prov.22.29. It is ſaid ſimply a ſervant, 2 King.25.8. which ſheweth the relative here omitted, as Chap.50.5. to have reference to the Captain, not to the guard, which in the Hebrew is not ambiguous.

V. 13. And burnt the houſe of the Lord, and the Kings houſe, and all the houſes of Jeruſalem, and all the houſes of the great men burnt he with fire.] If he burnt all the houſes of Jeruſalem one and other, to what end is mention made of the great ones houſes after apart; But the words would be rendred, all the houſes of Jeruſalem, even every houſe of any great one (Heb. houſe of great; that is, noble, or rich, as Gen.24 35. & 26.13.) ch.41.1. he burnt. So that the copulative here is not in a notion of diſtinction, but of reſtriction rather, and further explication; as if it had been ſaid, when I ſay, he burnt all the houſes of Jeruſalem, my meaning is not, that he burnt all the ſorry dwellings of the meaner ſort; for of thoſe he ſpared ſome for ſuch as ſhould be left to husband the land thereabout; at leaſt, regarded not ſo much the demoliſhing of them, being no grace or ornament, much leſs ſtrength to the City: but that he burnt down all the great mens ſtately buildings, together with the Kings Palace, and Gods Temple, all the ſtrong and graceful edifices, that were in any part of the city: though it is not unlikely but that many others of leſſe note ſtanding neer them, were burnt down together with them. See the like uſe of the particle again, Verſ. 15. and ſuch additional reſtrictions, Pſal.73.1. & 145.18. For thoſe great Maſters ſeem to ſhoot wide here, who would have by this term intended, either their Chappels, or their Schools, becauſe God was by praiſe and prayer magnified in the one; and the Law by their Lectures of their Doctors in the other.

V. 14. And all the army of the Chaldeans that were with the Captain of the guard brake down all the walls of Jeruſalem round about.] They diſmantled the city that it might not be a place of ſtrength to ſecure any that might riſe again. So 2 King.25.10. Neh.1.3. Ezr.4.12,13,15,16. Lam.2.18.

V. 15. Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive certain of the poor of the people, and the reſidue of the people that remained in the city, and thoſe that fell away, that fell to the King of Babylon, and the reſt of the multitude.] Heb. And: as Ver.9,11. the Chaldeans brake, and carried all the braſſe of them to Babylon.] They brake them for the more eaſie and convenient carriage of them; as the Chaldean idols were dealt with by the Medes and Perſians, Chap.50.2. Eſay 46.1,2.

and the ſhovels] Inſtruments they were wherewith to remove the aſhes from the altar of burnt-offerings, Exod. 27.3. for they were of braſſe, 1 King.7.45. and they have this name from a term that ſignifies to remove, and do away, Eſay 28.17. in regard whereof ſome render it beſoms, or brooms; but that not likely: they would never be at the trouble to carry beſoms to Babylon. The ancient Greek and old Latine render it here fleſh-hooks; but without ground.

and the ſnuffers,] The ancient Greek retaineth the Hebrew term, though miſ-placed: the old Latine rendreth it Pſalteries, and the Jewiſh Maſters ſome of them make it ſome inſtrument of muſick: and the word indeed cometh from a root that is of various conception, and ſignifieth very frequently to make muſick by playing on ſome inſtrument: and for ſuch muſical inſtruments, is a word very neer to this frequently uſed. But what ſhould ſuch inſtruments do here; among braſen caldrons and ſhovels. The word is indeed rendred ſnuffers: as here, ſo 1 King.7 50. 2 King.12.13. 2 Chr. 4.22. and being ſo taken, it may come from another acception of the ſame root, whereby it ſignifies properly to prune, and by pruning, to trim trees and plants; and conſequently by a metaphorical uſe of it lamps: whence the ſnuffers might have their name; for that they pair off the ſuperfluous part of the wieke, as pruning hooks (from hence in Hebrew ſo termed, Eſay 2.4.) do the ſuperfluities of plants: but thoſe ſnuffers belonging to the lamps were of gold; as by the places above pointed to appeareth: whereas theſe were of braſſe, and are reckoned among thoſe implements that belonged to the braſen altar; and I conceive therefore it ſhould rather be rendred tongs; though by another name alſo ſo termed from a root that ſignifieth to take; becauſe by them men are wont to take up quick-coals, and the like, from the fire on the hearth, or in the chimney, Eſay 6.6. and yet is the ſame word uſed alſo for ſnuffers; ſo termed, becauſe they lay hold on the wieke, and take it by the end to raiſe it up: and it is ſo rendred in our Verſion among the implements which belong to the lamps, Exod.37.23. nor ſee I on what ground the ſame Interpreters turn them elſewhere into tonges, Exod. 25.38. and Num.4.19. whereas the very word next enſuing, in all the three places, to wit, ſnuff-diſhes, doth evidently ſhew the word before it, to intend no other then ſnuffers: (and indeed what uſe is there of tongs about lamps?) the very ſelf-ſame thing being ſpoken of in all thoſe places. Howbeit, in Solomons Temple, it ſeemeth, that there were inſtruments of two ſorts, that were uſed about the lamps, the one to raiſe up the wieke, called by this latter term, and another to ſnip it off, deſigned by the former: for both the terms are found diſtinctly mentioned 1 King. 7. 49, 50. 2Chron.4.21,22. though but one of them in Moſes: and tongs ſeemeth no fit term for either. But as the word that ſignifieth tongs, properly is uſed alſo for ſnuffers, in regard of ſome general notion deſigned in that term, common to either; ſo the word that moſt uſually ſignifieth ſnuffers, ſeemeth both here, and 2 King.25.16. uſed for tongs, in regard of that common uſe there is of them to trim lights with the one, and fire with the other. A learned Scholiaſt would have it to ſignifie fleſh-hooks; ſo termed, ſaith he, becauſe they cut the meat: but the office of ſuch inſtruments is not to cut or mince meat, but to take it up onely: ſo that neither obſervation, nor notation, backeth this his interpretation; wherein I ſuppoſe he walketh alone.

and the bowles,] So is the word rendred, Num.7.13. and oft in that Chapter: or, baſons, as it is rendred 2 King. 12. 13. Neh.7.70. The word is uſed ſometime for a bowl to drink in; as Amos 6.6. and ſuch in likelihood were thoſe that were in the Temple and Tabernacle, for the receiving of the wine or drink-offering, and pouring it out upon the ſacrifice: ſometime, for a baſon: ſuch as were thoſe that were uſed to receive the blood of the ſacrifices, ſo called, ſay the Jewiſh Criticks; becauſe out of them the bloud of the beaſt ſacrificed was ſprinkled part of it upon the altar, the reſidue being poured down at the foot of it. Now theſe whether bowls, or baſons, (for the word comprehendeth both) were ſome of them of braſſe, as thoſe that Hiram caſt for Solomon, 1 King.7.45. and thoſe that Moſes made for the braſen altar, Exod.38.3. Num. 4. 14. ſome of ſilver, as thoſe that the twelve Princes gave, Num.7.13,85. ſome of gold, belonging to the altar of incenſe, 1 Kiug.7.50. 1 Chr.28.17. thoſe of braſſe are here ſpoken of; the other, Verſ. 19. See there.

and the ſpoons,] Or, ladels, or, cups, or diſhes; for they were ſome of them to put incenſe in: and ſo are ſo called, becauſe they were hollow reſembling the palm, or hollow of the hand. Theſe ſeem to have been braſen ladels, uſed about the Caldrons before-mentioned, belonging to the ſervice of thoſe ſacrifices, whereof part uſed to be boiled: and of this ſort I conceive thoſe to have been, diſtinguiſhed from the veſſels of gold and ſilver, 2 Chr.24.15. Other there, though rendred ſpoons in our Verſions, yet indeed cups, or diſhes rather, in which the incenſe was placed on the ſhew-bread, Num.4.7. & 7.14,86. and thoſe were of gold, as all implements belonging to that Table were, Exod. 25.29. & 37. 16. 1 King.7.50. 2 Chr.4.22

V. 19. And the baſons,] This is omitted 2 King.24.15. The word is uſed ſometime for a baſon, or, a peice, as we term it: ſo where the blood of the Paſchal lamb is ſaid to be received in ſuch, Exod.12.22. and that ſuch both of gold and ſilver were uſed about the ſervice of God in the Temple, appeareth, 1 King.7.50. 2 King.12.13.

and the fire-pans,] Or, cenſers; as the word is rendred, Num.16.17,37,48. Theſe were ſome of them of braſs, belonging to the braſen altar, Exod.27.30. & 38.3 Num.16 39. But one ſuch at leaſt belonging to the golden altar, of gold, Lev.16.12. compared with Heb. 9. 4. & Rev. 8. 3, 5. and others, ſo termed, not ſo much from the uſe, as from the faſhion of them, belonging to the lamps, rendred commonly ſnuff-diſhes; becauſe they ſtood by the lamps with ſand in them, therein to bury the ſnuff, ſo oft as occaſion was to ſnuff them. Of theſe, ſee Exod.25.38. & 37.23. 1 King.7. 50. 2 Chr.4.22.

and the caldrons,] Or, pots: this is not mentioned 2 King.25.15. but in the verſe only before-going; and whether any ſuch ſilver pots, or poſnets, might be uſed in the Temple, ſome doubt may be made; though we read of ſome golden fleſh-hooks, 1 Chr.28.17. which yet one of the Jewiſh Doctors ſuppoſeth to denote there ſome other implement that did belong to the Table, and would have to be the ſame with the laſt here mentioned. But the Scribe having the former Verſe in his eye, when he was writing, might put that again here that he had there. See the like acknowledged ſuperfluous inſertion, Chap.51.3.

and the cups,] So the ancient Greek and old Latine render it. That by the term ſome implement is deſigned appertaining to the Table of Shew-bread, is apparent from Exod. 25. 29. & Num.4.7. And whereas there are two terms there joyned together, this and another, the Jewiſh Maſters ſome of them, tell us, if we may believe them, that thereby are deſigned certain golden pipes, or, half pipes rather, like to cleft reeds, or canes, and props, or, ſhores, made ſomewhat after the manner of a fork: and whereas the loaves or cakes of ſhew-bread were to be ſet on two rowes, ſix in either row one upon another, theſe half-pipes were to be laid three of them between every other cake, to make free paſſage for air between them, and ſo to keep the bread from moulding; and that thoſe forked props or ſhores were to keep up theſe half pipes, and enable them the better to bear up the weight of the bread: and that hence the term here uſed hath its name; becauſe theſe pipes or half pipes kept the bread pure and free from growing mouldy. But ſome of them of no ſmall note herein diſſent from their fellows; nor is there among thoſe of them, that go this way, an entire agreement: for ſome of them would have this here mentioned the pipes, and that other the props: others of them would have that to be the props, and this the pipes: and ſome of ours, becauſe the root it cometh from hath a notion of making or keeping pure, or clean, conceive thereby to be meant beſoms, and ſo render it: but of that ſomewhat was ſaid upon occaſion of another term on Ver.18. and of ſilver and golden beſoms, I remember not to have read. By thoſe places of Moſes pointed to, and compared together it appeareth, that the uſe of them both was one and the ſame, to wit, to cover the table, (ſo the words are expreſly in both places) that is, the things ſet upon the Table, to wit, the bread, the incenſe, which ſtood both upon the Table in two chargers the one; in two leſſer diſhes the other: which how thoſe pipes or props may be ſaid to do, is beyond my ſhallow capacity. But theſe were then both in nature of covers, if Moſes may be believed: and it may be (as to me ſeemeth) not improbably conjectured, that the one was of a larger ſize or bredth, flat-bottomed, not unlike to our plate-trenchers; that it might both cover the uppermoſt loaf, or cake, (which was in likelihood of ſome good bredth, containing, as each of the reſt, two ten parts of an Epha, Lev.24.5. of which meaſure, ſee on Eſay 5. 10. that is, two omers, Exod.16.16.) and have the incenſe-cup, or diſh, alſo ſet on it: the other of leſſe compaſſe to cover the incenſe, which in a cup, or diſh, ſtood on the uppermoſt loaf or cake of either row, Lev.24.6. both for uſe at leaſt, if not for faſhion, not unlike to ſuch ſort of covers, as we have oft for greater glaſſes and ſtanding cups, and the one to thoſe braſen-plates made of thoſe mutinous ones cenſers, to cover the altar, Num.16.38,39. nor is this uſe of them unſuitable to the term given the one of them, that is here mentioned: for by means hereof both the bread and incenſe were kept clean, and free from duſt or ought elſe that might caſually fall on them. But this my conjecture, I ſhall leave to the learned; reſting ready to yeild unto any, that ſhall produce and render ſome more probable matter.

that which was of gold in gold, and that which was of ſilver in ſilver, took the Captain of the guard away.] Heb. what gold gold, and what ſilver ſilver; that is, as ſome, whatſoever was of gold, or ſilver: ſuch repetitions ſometime importing an univerſality: as, man man, for, every one, Lev.15.2. and, day day, for, every day, Pſal. 61. 8. & 68. 19. and, morning morning, for, every morning, Eſay 50.4. or, as others, thoſe of gold apart by themſelves; and thoſe of ſilver apart by themſelves: and both of them entire as they were; not broken as the braſen ones were, ver.17. To which is anſwered by one, that the nethermoſt parts of the ſea are here meant by the word baſes; by a Jewiſh Doctor, that the meaning is, they ſtood below by, or, beſide the baſes: by a third, that there is in the text a defect thus to be ſupplyed, the twelve bulls that were under it, (to wit, the ſea,) and the baſes, beforementioned, Ver.17. The baſes are omitted, 2 King.25.6.

which King Solomon had made in the houſe of the Lord:] All which, as well pillars, and ſea, and bulls, as baſes, Solomon had made; that is, procured, or cauſed to be made; as, he built the houſe, Act.7.47. and this is added, to ſhew, as a Jewiſh Doctor obſerveth, that they were the very ſame that Solomon had made; having not been altered, or imbecilled; as ſome other things about the Temple had been, in ſome former Kings reigns, 2 King. 16. 17, 18. & 18.16. yet is it expreſly ſaid, 2 King.16.17. of Ahaz, that he mangled the borders of the baſes, and removed the lavers from off them; as alſo that he took down the ſea from the brazen bulls that were under it. But Ezekiah his ſon and next ſucceſſor, in likelihood repaired the one, and reſtored the other again.

the braſſe of all theſe veſſels was without weight.] Heb. of the braſſe of them, to wit, of all theſe veſſels there was no weight; the quantity was ſo great, that they could not well or eaſily be weighed; or that they regarded not the weight of them, they were not willing to ſtand to weigh them. See 1 King. 7.47. 1 Chr.22.3,14. 2 Chr.4.18. and the like ſyntax, chap. 51.56. and the ſame in effect, 2 King. 25.16.

V. 21. And concerning the pillars,] Heb. And the pillars; as Ver.20.

the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits,] This agreeth with what is related, 1 King.7.15. where the making of them is mentioned; as alſo, with 2 King.25.17. where the ſame ſtory with this is reported. But in 2 Chron.3.15. parallel to that, 1 King.7.15. the pillars are ſaid to be thirty five cubits long: for ſo the words are there, he made and placed, or to be placed before the houſe (a complexive form of ſpeech, for they were not there made, but in the plain of Jordan, 2 Chr.4.17. though to that place they were deſigned, and there they were placed, 1 King.7.21. See of the like on Ver.11,20) two pillars thirty and five cubits in length. Theſe ſeeming differences to reconcile, ſome have recourſe to the diverſity of cubits, which (ſay they) were of two ſorts, the civil or common cubit, conſiſting of one foot and an half, 6 hand bredths, 24 finger bredths, and 18 thumb-bredths; and the ſacred or holy cubit, that conſiſted of an hand-bredth, or four fingers more then that other, Ezek.40.5. & 43.13. that which exactly agreeth with what Herodote reporteth of the royall cubit in Egypt, that it was three thumbs bredth longer then the ordinary cubit, and the computation, ſay they, is made by the civil or common cubit in the one place, by the ſacred in the other. But becauſe this computation will not ſerve to bring up the leſs number to the greater, for an hands bredth added unto each cubit will not raiſe 18 to above 21, which cometh far ſhort of 35. Some tell us of a third ſort of cubits that was of a double length to the common cubit, called the chief cubit, 2 Chr.3.3. and the arm-hole cubit, becauſe it reached not from the top of the hand, to the bending of the elbow, as the common cubit, but up to the arm-hole, Ezek.44.8. And this being admitted, might indeed bring us home to the longer meaſure, and a little alſo beyond it, a cubit over either in the greater (ſay they) omitted, becauſe it belonged to the baſis; or in the leſs number, though but ſeventeen and an half indeed, added to make up a full number. But the places produced for it, are both ambiguous, the latter eſpecially, on which the main weight of this conceit lyeth; and by the word rendred arm-hole, ſome Interpreters of prime note conceive ſome part of the building it ſelf to be meant, which they render a wing. Certain to me it ſeemeth, that no other cubit can there be meant, then that which was before-mentioned, Chap.40.5. where the Angel is ſaid to have had in his hand a meaſuring cane, reed, or rod of ſix cubits, by the cubit and an hand bredth; and here, as having an eye to what he had there ſaid, he ſaith, that the foundations of the ſide Chambers were the fulneſſe of the reed of ſix cubits; that is, full as long as that meaſuring-cane of ſix cubits: and what cubit can there be any reaſon to imagine here intended, other then that ſo ſpoken of at firſt, and after repeated again? which may alſo juſtly be deemed to be the ſame with that chief one mentioned in the dimenſions of Solomons Temple; if the word at leaſt be there ſo to be rendred, whereof ſome alſo make doubt. This therefore unleſs better ground could be produced, will hardly here help us. Some other therefore have recourſe to the fabrick of the pillars. Theſe pillars, or columns, ſaith a learned Writer conſiſted of five parts, a ſquare table at the bottom, a rundle, or round baſis upon that, the ſhaft, or main body; the head, or Chapiter, and the crown, or powel. Unto which five I ſuppoſe a ſixt may well be added, the ſquare border on which the pomegranats were: whereof ſee on ver.23. Now, ſaith this learned man, the ſhaft, or the main body of the pillar was of eighteen cubits mentioned in the one place; the ſquare Table and round baſis below, together with the Chapiter and coronet above, made out between them the other ſeventeen; and theſe altogether with the ſhaft, make up the thirty five related in the other. The Jewiſh Doctors go a third way. The one place, ſay they, ſpeaketh of either pillar apart; which were either of them of eighteen cubits, in the ſhaft or main body; beſides the chapiters, the meaſure whereof is reported by it ſelf, 1 King.7.16. the other place ſpeaketh of them joyntly together, as they were caſt at firſt in one entire body, though after divided into two; and one cubit, ſay they, is not expreſſed in the whole number, becauſe it was divided between them, and went with either to the making up of the chapiter on the top, and to back this their opinion, they preſs the word of length uſed in the text: for it ſaith not, ſay they, the height of the pillars, as in other places, where they are ſpoken of as they ſtood, but the length of them, becauſe he ſpeaketh of them, as lying yet along on the ground in the place where they were at firſt caſt. Either of theſe two laſt ſeem to carry ſome good probability with them.

and a fillet of twelve cubits did compaſs it,] Heb. a thred (as Gen.14.23. rendred a line, 1 King.7.15. a cord, Eccleſ.4.13.) of twelve cubits will, or would, or might compaſſe it: the verb in a potential notion: as, it will, (for, it would, or could) contain; 1 King.7.25.

and the thickneſſe thereof was four fingers: it was hollow.] Before was the perimeter, or compaſs (ſaith a learned Annotator) here the diameter, or bredth, of the pillar: and here, ſaith he, the ſcribes muſt of neceſſity be out: for four fingers cannot make a dimetient of eight cubits in a column. But I doubt that this learned man is herein himſelf rather much miſtaken: the purpoſe of the Writer hereof, whoever he was, being not, as I conceive it, to give the diameter, or breadth, of the main body of the pillar, (what needed that when he had related the exact compaſs of it before, from whence the diameter might be eaſily gathered?) but to acquaint the Reader with the thickneſſe of the braſs thorowout the main body of the column; which though it were not entirely ſolid and maſſie, but hollow within, yet was the braſs of it four fingers thick, which to the dimetient maketh nothing at all. And this appeareth plainly by what is ſaid of the ſea, 1 King. 7.26. & 2 Chron.4.5. the thickneſs of it was an hand breadth: the very term here uſed, though the meaſure a fingers breadth more in that then in this here, whereas both the perimeter, and the diameter, or compaſs and breadth had been diſtinctly before mentioned, Verſ. 23. in the one place, Verſ. 2, in the other.

V. 22. And a Chapiter of braſſe was upon it, and the height of one chapiter was five cubits,] The word rendred chapiter ſignifieth properly a crown, or coronet; and ſo divers render it: that which is here ſaid of it, however we ſhall term it, and its mate agreeth with the dimenſions thereof reported, 1 King.7.16. But 2 King.25. 17. where the ſame ſtory with this is related; this work chapiter, or coronet is ſaid to be three cubits high, which falleth two cubits ſhort of this. This ſeeming difference the Jewiſh Commenters thus reconcile; the chapiters, ſay they, were divided into two parts, the upper and the lower; the lower part next to the ſhaft of the pillar had no figures on it; the upper part above that was ſet out, with figures and much curious workmanſhip: and this upper part onely is reſpected in the latter ſtory of the Kings, being of three cubits height: the lower of two cubits being let paſs, as belonging to the ſhaft. Some of ours more exactly divide the whole work above the ſhaft into three parts, the Chapiter, the Table, and the Coronet; and they aſſign to the Chapiter one cubit, to the Table one, and three to the Coronet: which therefore, ſay they, conſidered together with the Table, hath four aſſigned it, 1 King. 7. 19. Others again divide it into the table or ſquare, the belly and the crown: which I conceive to be the better diviſion, and ſuppoſe, that the ſquare or table with its riſe, untill it cloſed with the middle part, termed the belly, was of two cubits, omitted for that cauſe which the Jewiſh Doctors give, as comprehended in the pillar, and the belly with the crown to make up the three cubits between that mentioned in the place parallel to this.

with net-work and pomegranates upon the Chapiters round about, all of braſs: the ſecond pillar alſo, and the pomegranats were like unto theſe.] Heb. and; for, with; as Chap. 27. 2. Ezek. 23. 24. Of this net-work, or wriethed work; as it is rendred in the ſecond of Kings: as alſo of theſe pomegranates, ſee 1 King. 7. 17, 18. 2 King. 25. 17. and hereafter, ver. 23.

V. 23. And there were ninety and ſix pomegranates on a ſide, and all the pomegranates upon the net-work were an hundred in all.] There are here again ſome deeming differences both about the ſum in groſs, between this text and ſome others; and about the ſums themſelves here mentioned. Concerning the former we find it ſaid, 1 King. 7. 19. that the pomegranates were in rows two hundred about upon either Chapiter, and 2 Chr. 4. 13. that there were four hundred pomegranates upon the two wreaths; two rows upon either wreath. But theſe ſeeming differences, for the ſum in groſs, are by general agreement thus reconciled; that there were two rows of them on the top works of either pillar, one over another, and an hundred in either row, as is here ſaid; and this place therefore to be underſtood, as if it were ſaid, an hundred all in one row: and conſequently, two hundred, as the former place ſaith, in the two rows upon the one; four hundred as the latter hath it on both. There is a little more difficulty about making the two ſums here mentioned to agree; for according to the words here thus rendred it might ſeem, that there were ninety ſix pomegranates on each ſide of either Chapiter, or Coronet above-mentioned, which would riſe to the ſum of 384. in all for each either Chapiter or row, which none of the former ſums will admit: and whereas there is mention in the after ſum of an hundred onely; Unto this the common anſwer is, that the four that ſhould go to make up the hundred that was in each row were out of ſight, by reaſon that the pillar ſtood cloſe to the wall, either of the porch, or the houſe; and the Writer here mentioneth thoſe alone that were in ſight. Thus both the Jewiſh and others: which yet ſeemeth not very ſatisfactory: for neither is it probable, that two ſuch goodly columns erected, not to bear up ought, but for a grace and ornament to the houſe, ſhould be ſituate ſo cloſe to the wall, that the curious workmanſhip of them might not be conſpicuous on every ſide: Nor again do they take notice, either of the tranſlation, or of the text, which may ſeem to raiſe the computation of ſuch an exceſſive ſum as was hinted before. In the Hebrew text, for that which is here rendred on a ſide, it is word for word, windward; that is, toward the four winds, or quarters of the world: as the word wind is uſed, 1 Chr. 9. 24. Chap. 49. 36. Ezek. 42. 20. whence it may well be deemed that the table, or border on which the pomegranates were engraved, was ſquare; albeit that the belly or main body of the Chapiter were round; as the borders of the baſes on which the lavers ſtood, ſet out with the like imagery, were ſquare, although the mouth and main body of the baſes were round, 1 King. 7. 29, 31. and that the pomegranates ſtood twenty and four on each ſide, to which number the four corner ones added to the number here mentioned, make up the ſum of an hundred hereafter ſubjoyned, and underſtood as before. And this I conceive to be the moſt probable way of reconcilement. For as for that apprehenſion of the late learned Annotator, who would make but two ſides of them, and would have ninety ſix in each row on either of thoſe ſides, which with the two parting ones in each row, being eight in all ſhould make up the 400. neither doth it ſuit well with the term of wind, unleſs we make but two winds: nor will it with that addition of thoſe eight, make up that entire ſum, unleſs four more be added.

V. 24. And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief Prieſt, and the Zephaniah the ſecond Prieſt, and the three Keepers of the door.] The Hiſtorian returneth from the ſpoiles carried away, to ſome perſons of note, that Nebuzaradan took away from Jeruſalem, at his return from thence to Riblah, where by Nebuchadrezzars appointment they were ſlain. Thoſe mentioned in this Verſe, he took out of the Temple; thoſe in the next, out of the city. Seraiah, the ſon of Azariah, 1 Chr. 6. 14. the chief Prieſt: another from him of that name mentioned Chap. 52. 59. and Zephaniah; of whom, Chap. 21. 1. & 29. 25. the ſecond Prieſt: the next in place to the chief Prieſt, who upon any extraordinary occurrent reſtraining or diſabling him, was to ſupply his place, Chap. 21. 1. 1 Chr. 5. 12. 2 King. 23. 4. and three (not the three, for there were many more of them) Keepers of the door. Heb. threſhold. See Chap. 35. 4. three ſelect ones of thoſe, it may be, that uſed to attend at the three gates, the Eaſt-gate, 2 King. 11. 6. 2 Chr. 23. 5. Ezek. 44. 1, 3. & 46. 1. and the North and South gates, Ezek. 36. 9. which ſeem to have been the chief end and of moſt uſe. See the ſame, 2 King. 25. 18.

V. 25. He took alſo out of the city an eunuch which had the charge of the men of war;] Heb. And out of the city (for the former out of the Temple, Verſ. 24.) he took an Eunuch, or, officer; as Gen. 39. 1. Eſay 39. 7. one, as Chap. 51. 60. who was overſeer of the men of war; or, the Muſter-Maſter.

and ſeven men of them that were near the Kings perſon,] Heb. that ſaw the face of the King; as neer attendants, ſtanding before ſuch, uſually do. See the manner of ſpeech, Mat. 18. 10. In 2 King. 25. 19. there is mention of five only. But Joſeph the Jew, lib. 10. cap. 11. hath, as it is here, ſeven: two of them might be men of leſſe note, and in that regard it may be, there omitted. Some of the Jewiſh Maſters ſay, that they were the two Scribes that belonged to the Judges. But for this aſſertion they give no ground.

which were found in the city;] Either were taken there; as Chap. 50. 7, 24. or, ſimply, that were abiding there: as Eſt. 1. 4.

and the principal Scribe of the hoſt,] So the old Latine; but others rather with the Jewiſh Commenter, the Scribe of the Captain of the hoſt, or the General: the office that Joab had under David, 1 Chr. 27. 34. alluded to Joſh 5. 14.

who muſtered the people of the land;] Heb. that hoſted, or, armied, if we might ſo ſpeak: that made an hoſt, or an army of them. This ſome refer to the Commander, that framed the people into an army, and ſo led them out to ſervice: others, to the Scribe, that enrolled and liſted them for ſervice: and this latter ſeemeth the right. See the like office, Eſay 33. 18.

and threeſcore men of the people of the land that were found in the midſt of the city.] Or, that were (as before, and Chap. 41. 3.) in the city; as it is 2 King. 25. 19. the like ſee Chap. 41. 7. & 50. 8. Ezek. 3. 24.

V. 26. So Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard took them; and brought them to the King of Babylon to Riblah.] Heb. And. as Ver. 5. See the ſame, 2 King. 25. 20.

V. 27. And the King of Babylon ſmote them, and put them to death in the land of Hamath:] See Ver. 10. and the ſame, 2 King. 25. 21.

Thus Judah was carried away captive out of his own land.] Heb. And. as Chap. 51. 4. But the copulative may we[illegible] be retained here; or elſe it muſt have reference to what was before related, Ver. 15. but this ſeemeth rather to look further backward then ſo, as appeareth, Ver. 28. and to be in nature of an introduction, uſed as a paſſage to a new diſcourſe, concerning ſuch as either had been before, or were at this time carried away captive, containing the ſum in general of the enſuing relation, Ver. 28—30.

V. 28. This is the people whom Nebuchadrezzar carried away captive in the ſeventh year, three thouſand Jews and three and twenty.] This was done in the ſhort reign of Jehoſacin related 2 King. 24. 12, 14, 16. But there ſeemeth ſome difference between the relation of it here and there: for firſt what is ſaid to have been done in Nebuchadnezzars ſeventh year here, is ſaid to have been done in his eighth year there. That which may eaſily be reconciled, as being tranſacted in the latter end of his ſeventh year, and about the beginning of his eighth: and ſo ver. 29. the like whereunto, ſee 1 King. 15. 25, 28. and on Chap. 25. 1. Another difference more difficult is in the number, which are but three thouſand, and add here, but ten thouſand there, 2 King. 24. 14. and ſeven thouſand, if not eight thouſand, as may ſeem more to them, Ver. 16. for it is there ſaid; and all the men of might, ſeven thouſand and craftſmen and ſmiths, a thouſand: Which ſome ſo reconcile, as if the firſt number included the two latter; to wit, that of the ten thouſand, ſeven thouſand were men of arms, and a thouſand of them cunning workmen: and this ſeemeth not improbable; becauſe they were mentioned together with the groſs ſum in the ſame Verſe before. But for the reconciling of this and the former, both the Jewiſh Writers and others give joyntly this anſwer, that of that ten thouſand, the three thouſand and odd, were of the Tribe of Judah, Jewes ſtrictly ſo termed, the reſidue of the Tribe of Benjamin, and ſome other that adhered unto them; which for ought I ſee muſt be admitted and ſtand for good, unleſs ſome errour have by the Scribes default crept into the account.

V. 29. In the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar he carryed away captive from Jeruſalem eight hundred thirty and two perſons.] That is, what time the city was taken in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, 2 King.25.2. ſaid to be the nineteenth of Nebuchadnezzar, 2 King. 25. 8. from which place a learned Writer would have this to be corrected. But thereof there is no need; in the eighteenth expiring, and in the nineteenth then entring, may well ſtand together, as before, Ver.28. Heb. ſouls, for, perſons; as Exod.1.5. Chap.34. 6. So after Verſ.30.

V. 30. In the three and twentieth year of Nebuchadrezzar, Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carryed away captive of the Jews ſeven hundred forty and five perſons:] This ſeemeth to have been done after that barbarous murther of Gedaliah, Chap.41.2. 2 King. 25.25. to prevent ſome new rebellion. Heb. ſouls, for, perſons, again, as before, Ver.29. and ſo in the next clauſe.

all the perſons were four thouſand, and ſix hundred.] The whole number made up exactly from the ſeveral ones before particularly recited.

V. 31. And it came to paſſe] Or, Now ſo it was; as Chap. 36.22,23.

in the ſeven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehojakim King of Judah] Or, after the deportation: ſo the particle ſeemeth here to import; as alſo, Eſay 38.17. Ezek.40.1. Dan.11. 6. ſix and twenty years after the diſſolution of the Jewiſh State, 2 King.25.2,8. when Jehojacin was now about fifty and five years old, 2 King.24.8.

in the twelfth moneth in the five and twentieth day of the moneth,] Here again cometh ſome ſeeming difference between the relation of this paſſage here, and that in the hiſtory of the Kings: for what is ſaid to be done on the five and twentieth day here, is ſaid to be done on the twenty ſeventh there, 2 King.25.27. Now this to reconcile the Talmudiſts tell us a tale of Nebuchadnezzar and his ſon Evilmerodac; to wit, that when Nebuchadnezzar died and was buried, his ſon Evilmerodac was afraid to take the Kingdom upon him, for fear leſt his father ſhould return again, (either not being dead in deed, or riſing again, as he did before, after his ſeven years frenſie, Dan.4.32,36. and ſhould then kill him, as he had done other of his ſons before, whom he found then ſitting upon his throne; though ſome of them ſay, (for they are not all in one tale neither) that it was this Evilmerodac that he found in his royal ſeat, and that he did but impriſon him; but that he feared now, if he came again the ſecond time, he would deal worſe with him: and durſt not therefore take the Kingdom upon him, untill he had ſeen his fathers corpſe taken out of the grave, and before his face cut in pieces and caſt to the vultures, that flew away ſeveral ways with the goblets of it; and that Jehojacin, (with whom he had been fellow-priſoner, whereby they were grown into ſome familiarity) then ſtanding by him, told him that his father would then come again, when all thoſe pieces of him, that the vultures flew away with, ſhould meet together in that place again: and that thereupon he releaſed him from his impriſonment: And thus after all this long tale told, the knot is readily united, and they will ſhew you how: for, ſay they, Nebuchadnezzar died the five and twentieth day of the moneth, and was buried on the ſix and twentieth: (they made haſte belike to be rid of him) and on the ſeven and twentieth day his corpſe was taken up, and uſed as ye have heard, to fulfill that prophecy of Eſay 14. 19. and Jehojacin withall releaſed. And how helps all this, if all of it were true, to aſſoil the doubt? One of them therefore a little wiſer then his fellows, though he relate their ſtory too, telleth us, that this enlargment of Jehojacin was reſolved upon, and order given for it on the twenty and fift day, though not put in execution till the twenty and ſeventh; and this our Interpreters alſo approve: nor is it either unreaſonable or incongruous to allow a day intervenient, for the fitting of one in ſuch a condition for a ſuitable receit.

that Evil-Merodach King of Babylon, in the firſt year of his reign,] Heb. in the year of his Kingdom; that is, in the ſame year wherein he came to his Kingdom: as, in his reigning, or, when he reigned; that is, when he began to reign, Ver.1. and ſo it is 2 King.25.27. in the year of his reigning: well rendred there, that he began to reign.

lifted up the head of Jehojacin King of Judah,] To lift up the head, is ſometime uſed for to advance, ſet up, or, above: as, thou liftest up my head, Pſal.3.3.& 18.43,48. and he ſhall lift up the head, Pſal.110.7. but ſometime it ſignifieth to ſurvey and take account of; or, upon ſurvey, to take ſpecial notice of, be it for good, or evil. So it is ſaid of Pharaoh, that making a ſolemn feaſt upon his birth-day, he took a liſt of his ſervants, and among the reſt he lifted up the head of two of them then in reſtraint, that is, he took ſpecial notice of them both, but to contrary purpoſes, to releaſe and reſtore the one of them to his former place, and to execute the other, Gen.40.20—22. In the former ſenſe the word is not here to be taken, (for he did not advance him before he releaſed him) but in the latter taking a liſt or ſurvey of ſuch Princes as his father Nebuchadnezzar had left under reſtraint at his deceaſe, he took ſpecial notice of Jehojacin among the reſt.

and brought him forth out of priſon.] Heb. out of the houſe of reſtraint; as Chap. 37. 15. See Ver. 33. much diſpute and debate there is among Writers, what the reaſon ſhould be why that Chaldean King ſhould ſhew Jehojacin this kindneſs and the Jewiſh Maſters tell us, as was hinted before, becauſe he and Jehojacin had been ſometime fellow-priſoners? but that relation is of as much credit as any other tales that they tell. Some other ſay it was done in regard of his voluntary yielding himſelf unto Nebuchadnezzar, 2 King. 24. 12. whereunto ſome add, that he did ſo by the advice of Jeremy, which God would hereby make to appear that he approved of. But neither do we read of any ſuch advice given by Jeremy to Jeconiah, though to Zedekiah he ſo did, Chap. 38.7, 8. But it may well be thought rather that he did it by his mothers direction, by whom he was in other things in likelyhood too much led. Nor did Nebuchadnezzar, unto whom he ſo yielded himſelf, ever ſhew him any ſuch favour, ſo long as he lived. Others would have it again ſo diſpoſed by Gods ſpecial providence, to fulfil Jacobs prophecy, concerning the continuance of the Scepter with Judah, until the coming of the Meſſias, Gen.49.10. which had failed, ſay they, had not Jeconiah been ſet at liberty to be head of the captivity, in which heads, him and his iſſue after him, being of that ſtock, the government was continued. But what anſwer will theſe men then give to the Maccabee Commanders, who were of another tribe, and yet that prophecy by their government not fruſtrated? Nor doth this therefore give any ſatisfactory reaſon of this kindneſs ſhewed by Evil-Merodac to Jehojacin. If conjectures may be given in a buſineſs ſo uncertain, I ſhould ſuppoſe that Jehojacin being a youth of eighteen years when he was brought captive to Babylon, 2 King. 24.8. and it may well be, well-favoured, and comely withall, and one that had been King of one of the kingdoms of ſpecial note and name in thoſe times. Evil-merodac being alſo but a young ſtripling then, might take ſome liking to him, and ſet his affection upon him: and howſoever during his fathers life, he could not in this kind ſhew it, yet did it, when he had power ſo to do, after his deceaſe. But whatſoever the ground or occaſion on mans part was, which is not eaſie to define, thus God made good, what the Pſalmiſt, whoſoever he were with thankfulneſs, to the amplification of Gods mercy to that people, acknowledgeth, that God gave him, and others of them, at ſeveral times favour in the ſight of thoſe, with whom they were under reſtraint, Pſal.106.46. See Chap.15. 11. Dan.1.9.& 2.48,49. & 3.30. & 6.2,28. Neh.1.11. & 2.8. Act.7.10. In the book of Kings, this is delivered in a more conciſe form, but in Scripture very frequent, he lifted up his head out of priſon, for, he lifted up his head and took, or brought him out of priſon: as more fully here we have it. So, thou haſt loved, or affected, my ſoul from the pit, for, thou haſt loved, or affected, my ſoul and delivered it from the pit, Eſay 38. 17. See the like, Ver.20.

V. 32. And ſpake kindly unto him,] Heb. ſpake good things with him; as Chap.12.6. So 2 King.25.8.

and ſet his throne above the throne of the Kings that were with him in Babylon.] Divers whereof it ſeemeth Nebuchadnezzar his father had with him there; before whom he gave Jeconiah the precedency, as ſome think, in regard of the great fame of his anceſtors David and Solomon; but might as well be out of ſome other private reſpect, or affection to his perſon.

V. 33. And changed his priſon garments:] Heb. the garments of his reſtraint; or, his garments of reſtraint; that is, of the houſe of reſtraint: as it was more fully, Ver.31. the priſon. So 2 King. 25. 29. The like is ſaid of Joſeph when he was to appear before Pharaoh, Gen.41.14. becauſe it was not fit for him to come into the Kings preſence in ſuch ſorry raiment in the priſon he wore. But there ſeemeth more then ſo implyed in it here; to wit, that inſtead of ſuch raiment as had formerly been allowed him, while he was under reſtraint, he had apparel now allow'd him ſuitable to the condition of one of his quality, a Prince living at liberty: as it is ſaid of Joſeph afterward, that the King put him into a veſt of fine linnen, Gen.41.42.

and he did continually eat bread before him all the days of his life.] Either he mealed frequently with him; (ſo ſome) as did Crœſus with Cyrus; he was conſtantly at table with him, as was David with Saul, 1 Sam.20.5,27. or he had a table in the Kings court prepared of courſe for him. See of Mephiboſeth the like, 2 Sam.9.7.

V. 34. And, or, for: the copulative in a cauſal notion, as Chap.51.20. becauſe in theſe words is contained a further confirmation, and fuller explication of what before had been delivered, Ver.33.

for his diet] Or, as concerning his proviſion; that is, the proviſion made for him, or aſſigned him: for it is a nominative abſolute, as the like before, Ver.20,21. The word ſignifieth, properly, that which the Latines call viaticum, proviſions for a journey; as doth alſo the Latine commeatus; whence our Engliſh meat: though reſtrained ſometime to vitall; whence it is uſed for a meal, Prov.15.17. See on Ch. 40.5. here it may well be rendred proviſion; though having reference chiefly to diet, yet including alſo all other ordinary accommodations together with it.

there was a continuall diet given him of the King of Babylon,] Heb. a proviſion of aſſiduity; that is, a daily, or conſtant proviſion, as, a ſacrifice of aſſiduity, for, the daily, or, ſet conſtant ſacrifice, Ezr.3.5.

every day a portion,] Heb. word, or, matter, (as Chap.38.27.) of a day in its day. See the very ſame form, Exod. 5.13.

untill the day of his death, all the dayes of his life.] The like manner of forms of ſpeech conceived in the poſitive and privative, or affirmative and negative conjoyned, and both intimating one and the ſame thing, is in Scripture very riſe, and addeth ſome emphaſis to the things ſo related. See Gen. 40.23. Deut.9.7. 1 Sam.1.11. Pſal.118.17. Joh.1.3,20. & 3. 15,16. 1 Theſſ.5.6.

ANNOTATIONS
On the LAMENTATIONS of JEREMIAH.

The ARGUMENT.

T*He Book of the* Lamentations was compoſed by Jeremiah in the time of the Babylonian captivity. Therein he bewaileth the grievous calamities, that had befallen his people, the ruine of their State, the devaſtation of their Land, the deſtruction of their chief City, and of Gods Temple therein with it; the profanation of his holy things in it; and the deplorable condition of all ſorts and States, both during their ſtrait ſiege at home, and afterward in their heavy bondage abroad: complaineth of the manifold ſins and exceſſes of all ſorts; whereby they had enforced God to inflict thoſe judgments upon them; and exhorteth them to patience, under Gods juſt chaſtiſing hand; to repentance of their ſins, the procuring cauſes of thoſe evils; and to inceſſant ſeeking unto God, for the remiſſion of the one, and the removal of the other; with an hopeful expectation of a gracious reſtitution in his due time, and of the righteous execution of his judgment upon thoſe, who now inſulted over them.

The whole work is conceived in a very artificial frame, full of rhetorical amplifications, and pathetical expreſſions: and for the better help of memory, all of it, (the laſt Chapter onely excepted) is contrived according to the order of the letters in the Hebrew Alphabet; as alſo ſundry of the Pſalms are.

Some of the Jewiſh Doctors affirm that it was penned by Jeremy in the fourth year of Jehojakim; and that part of it at leaſt is that roll, that the Prophet at Gods command then compiled, Baruc his Scribe wrote out and read, and Jehojakim burnt, Jer.36.1,4,10,23. which at the firſt, ſay they, conſiſted but of theſe three ſingle Alphabets, in the firſt, ſecond, and fourth Chapters: but was afterward new written with addition of a threefold Alphabet, contained in the third Chapter; ſtraining to this purpoſe thoſe terms, Jer.36.32. there were added unto them many like words; that is, ſay they, written in an Alphabetical manner as thoſe former were. But this other of them control; and it appeareth to be a very frivolous fancy; for it is apparent, that that roll was, according to the charge given the Prophet by God, a large volume, containing the ſum of all thoſe ſermons that the Prophet had preached from the time of his calling to the Prophetical function in the thirteenth year of Joſias, Jer.1.2. unto that day, Jer.36.2. being about the ſpace of three and twenty years, Jer.25.3. the moſt whereof, if not all, we have in likelyhood yet extant: and are both for the ſubject matter, many of them, and for the manner of compoſure generally, much different from this. Others of thoſe great Maſters, whom ſome of ours alſo concur with, ſuppoſe this to be that ſad Poem, or doleful dity, wherein this our Prophet lamented the death and loſſe of that, in ſome regards, matchleſſe King, Joſias, 2 King.23.25. whereof mention is made in the ſacred Annals, 2 Chron.35.25. But of this alſo there is no likelyhood; that ſeemeth to have been loſt: neither doth any mention at all of Joſias cleerly diſcover it ſelf in the whole work, whom yet it ſhould principally treat of, if it were that: and the main ſubject of it is apparently concerning ſuch matters as fell out many years after his deceaſe. And this I thought not amiſſe to ſubjoyn here to remove thoſe miſtakes, which yet ſome of note ſeem to be taken with, as, at leaſt, not unlikely.

CHAP. I.

Verſ. 1. H*ow doth the city ſit ſolitary,* that was full of people?] The firſt alphabet of this doleful lamentation is ſpent in bewailing the ſad and forlorn condition of the Jewiſh State; the inſolencies of her profeſſed adverſaries; the perfidiouſneſſe of her pretended friends, and her own grievous tranſgreſſions, the procuring cauſe of theſe her ſufferings: theſe all interwoven one with another, and ſeconded with prayer unto God for mercy to her, and juſtice againſt them. In this firſt verſe he lamenteth her as in the perſon of a woman, that had been ſometime a ſtately Lady, richly marryed, and abundant in iſſue; but now become childleſſe, a widow, a dejected one, bereaved of children, husband, and ſtate.

How] The word is here not ſo much an interrogative, making a demand, and moving a queſtion, as ſome would have it, (who carry on ſtill the whole tenour of the context in this interrogative form for four verſes together; to all which the anſwer ſhould be at length returned, ver.5.) but as a note rather of admiration and aſtoniſhment, mixt with grief and commiſeration, wondring at ſo ſtrange an alteration, and compaſſionating the party whom ſuch a change had befallen. The like ſee 2 Sam.2.25. Jer.49.25. & 51.41. Chap.2.1. & 4.1. Ezek.26.17. Rev.18.10,16,19.

doth the city ſit] Sitteth ſhe; that is, as ſome, continueth, abideth; as Deut.5.31.Luk.24.49. or, as others rather, ſitteth down on the ground; after the manner of mourners, Ezr.9.3. Chap. 2. 10. See Eſay 3. 26. And it is obſerved by a learned Annotator, that on ſome of Veſpaſians coin the ſtate of Judea is deciphered in form of a captive woman, with a ruful aſpect ſitting under a palm-tree.

ſolitary] Having loſt her daughters, (ſee Jer. 34. 1.) and being bereft of her people, Jer.39.9. not affecting ſolitude, as ſome would have it, becauſe mourners commonly ſo do, Jer. 15.17. who ſeem likewiſe to ſtrain both too far, as well this as the former term of ſitting; when they would have an alluſion therein to womens ſitting apart, during the time of their infirmity, Gen.31.35. Lev.15.19. though to one ſo affected ſhe ſeemeth to be compared, Ver.17.

that was full of people?] Heb. much of people; that had many people, was populous: as, much of treaſures, for abounding in treaſure, Jer.51.13.

how is ſhe become as a widow?] Having loſt her King, who is to the State as an huſband to the wife, as an head, Epheſ.5.23. this, ſome Interpreters of note underſtand of Joſiah; as alſo that Chap.4. 20. ſuppoſing this book to be that of Lamentation for his death mentioned, 2 Chr.35.25. and would have all this whole piece ſo far as it concerneth the ſiege and ſacking of the city under Zedekiah, together with the captivity, and other conſequents of it, to be penned in way of prophecy, becauſe of ſuch things in his Sermons under Jehojakim he foretold much before. But this ſeems to me to carry no ſhew of probability at all with it. Zedekiah was a King, though a bad one, in whom the royal State expired. See Chap.4. 20. Some go further, and expound it in regard of God, who ſeemed for a time to have left her, having taken away, and given up into the hands of his enemies, all thoſe viſible pledges of his ſpecial preſence with her, and conjunction to her, and withdrawn his wonted protection from her, in regard whereof ſhe might be ſaid to be, if not a widow, ſimply and abſolutely, yet as a widow, at leaſt, like a woman, whoſe huſband, though not deceaſed, yet upon ſome diſtaſt and diſcontent liveth apart from her, and looketh no more after her, then as if he had no ſuch relation at all to her. See Eſay 49.14,21.& 50.1.& 54.1,4,6,7.& 62.4.

ſhe that was great among the nations,] The word here uſed is the ſame with that before, but in a notion of multitude there, of greatneſſe here. Howbeit, the ancient Greek taketh it in the former notion here, knitting this member to the ſecond branch, and rendring the text, Is ſhe become a widow, that was filled with nations? and ſo making a diſtinct antitheſis expreſſed in each branch: ſo the meaning ſhould be, ſhe is become as a widow, that is, as a lone woman, Eſay 49. 21.& 60.15. who was formerly frequented with people from all parts round about her. The old Latine alſo, though it take the word in a divers ſenſe from that in the firſt branch, yet carryeth it on to the next limb, rendring the text, ſhe is become as a widow, that was a Lady of nations: ſhe that had a command over neighbouring nations, or was much reſpected by them, as one of great ſtate and power, while her huſband lived and abode with her, hath now loſt her former either command or eſteem and regard, and ſitteth as a widow that none looketh after, Jer.30.17.

and Princeſs among the Provinces,] Either one that was of chief eſteem among them, or one that had ſome power and authority over them, as that State had ſometime over the Syrians, Philiſtines, Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, and others, 2 Sam.8.1,2,6,12,14.& 10.19.& 12.29—31. 2 King. 1. 1. & 3. 4. and to this latter the words enſuing add weight.

how is ſhe become tributary?] Firſt to Egypt, 2 King.23.33, 35. then to Babylon, 2 King.24.1. the ſupply is both in the ſecond and third branch from the firſt. So Chap. 3. 1. and 4. 1.

V. 2. She weepeth ſore] Heb. weeping weepeth; as Eſay 30.19. Jer.13.15. Mic.1.10. So ver.16.

in the night?] In the night, ſay ſome, of her affliction; as Amos 5.8,18,20. but as others rather, having no reſt, night or day; as grief commonly groweth more rife in the night, ſilence and ſolitarineſs then concurring to let looſe the reins to ſuch cogitations and imaginations, as may feed and foment that affection, and to ſtill all that may help to ſtay it, 1 Sam.15.11. Job 7.3. Pſal.6.6.& 22.2. & 77.2,4. Job 30.17. Jer.14.17. Rev.14.11.

and her tears are on her cheeks:] Some render the text, the tears fall down upon her cheeks: but our Verſion hath a more familiar ſupply, and affordeth a notion more emphatical; as if it were ſaid, her cheeks are continually bedewed with tears, as if ſhe had a ſpring of them in her head, Jer.9.1. and they never wanting upon her cheeks. So rather, then as ſome, becauſe as it is with perſons oft in hard ſervices, ſhe had no time or leiſure to waſh them off.

among all her lovers ſhe hath none to comfort her,] Her wonted allies and confederates, the Aſſyrians and Egyptians, afford her now no help or relief. See Jer.2.18,19,36,37.& 4.30.& 30.14,& 37.7. Chap.5.8.

all her friends have dealt treacherouſly with her, they are become her enemies.] The Edomites and Moabites, and other neighbouring nations of the ſame ſtock with her, joyn with the enemy againſt her, 2 King.24.2. Pſal.83.6,7.& 137. 7. Obad.7.

V. 3. Judah is gone into captivity becauſe of affliction, and becauſe of great ſervitude:] Heb. greatneſſe of ſervitude. This ſome, with the Chaldee Paraphraſt, expound, as pointing to ſome of the principal crimes, that had been the procuring cauſes of their captivity; to wit, their cruel oppreſſions of the poorer ſort, and hard uſage of their brethren that ſerved them, Eſay 3.14,15.& 58.3,4. Jer.6.6,7.& 34.11,17. Mic.3. 2,3,10,12. Others underſtand it of ſuch of the people of the land, as either in regard of ſuch oppreſſions from their governours and great ones; or for fear of the enemy invading the country, or the harſh uſage they ſuſtained by them, when they were become maſters of it, had voluntarily betaken themſelves into forrein parts, by a kind of tranſmigration rather then deportation, of which they underſtand the word here uſed. See Jer.6.1.& 40.11. The former agreeth better with the terms of the text, and ſuiteth well with what followeth, Ver.5,8.

ſhe dwelleth among the Heathen,] Or, ſhe abideth; as Jer. 40. 6. which ſome underſtand of thoſe Jews, that ſojourned ſometime in forrein parts, Jer.40.11. Others rather of their abiding in captivity at Babylon, and in other ſtrange countries, Pſal. 137.4.

ſhe findeth no reſt] As it is ſaid of the dove in the deluge, Gen.8.9. or, ſhe hath no reſt: to find none, for, to have none; as Ver.6. Chap.2.9. ſhe is hurried to and fro from place to place, at the pleaſure of thoſe in whoſe hands ſhe is: or ſhe enjoyeth no quiet of mind among them, but is continually in a reſtleſs condition. See Deut.28.65,66. Or, if it be underſtood of voluntary flight, it is as that of Tyre, Eſay 23.12. ſhe findeth no where any quiet abode.

all her perſecutours over-took her between the ſtraits.] They did ſo ſtraitly beſet her people on every ſide, and ſeiz on them, that they had no way to eſcape their hands, Jer. 4. 16, 17.& 23. 25. & 52. 8. An alluſion to the practice either of hunters that ſurprize wild beaſts, or robbers by the high-way ſide, that ſeiz upon paſſengers, when they have gotten them into ſome ſtrait or narrow place, where no means appear any way to decline or avoid them. So had Pharaoh the Iſraelites between the jaws of the cliffs, Exod.14.2,3,9. and ſo met the Angel with Balaam, Num.22.26.

V. 4. The ways of Zion do mourn,] They have as ruful an aſpect, as if they mourned, lying waſt, and being over-grown, through want of paſſengers. See the like figurative form of ſpeech, Eſay 24.4. Jer.23.10. Chap.2.8. Joel 1.10.

becauſe none come to the ſolemn feaſts:] As in times paſt with much mirth and jollity, they had wont frequently to do, 1 Sam.10.3. Pſal.42.4. Eſay 30.29. Howbeit, the word here uſed is more general comprehending all ſolemn aſſemblies, as well faſts as feaſts. See on Eſay 1. 14. it ſhould here be the ſingular, but collective; as Chap.2.6. But it may ſeem rather to reſpect here the place of their ſet aſſemblies; as Eſay 14. 13. then the ſet-times of meeting, which were not many, Lev.23.4. and ſo the ſingular notion may well ſuffice; that place for ſuch ſolemnities deſigned, being but one, Deut. 12.4—6,11.

all her gates are deſolate:] Either her cities; as Jer.34.1. or, the gates of Jeruſalem, Chap. 2. 9. Neh. 1. 3. See Jer. 14.2.

her Prieſts ſigh:] Heb. are ſighing. So of the people alſo, Ver.11.

her Virgins are afflicted:] Or, are in heavineſſe, or grief; as Zeph.3.18. where it is made a note of Gods faithful ſervants, of ſuch as he will ſave; that are in grief and heavineſſe for the ſolemn aſſembly, that is, for the want, or miſs of it: as, for the fruits; that is, for want of them, Chap.4.9. The virgins, or, damſels, are mentioned, becauſe they were wont to be employed at thoſe feſtivities to make mirth, Pſal. 68. 25. See Jer. 31. 4,13.

and ſhe is in bitterneſſe.] Heb. and for her (a nominative abſolute; as 1 Chr.28.2.) bitterneſſe is to her; if it be a noun, as 1 Sam.15.32. it is bitter with her; if it be a verb, as it may well be. So Ruth 1.13. bitterneſſe, for ſore grief, or affliction and vexation of heart and mind, Ruth 1.20,21. So Chap.3. 15.

V. 5. Her adverſaries are the chief:] Heb. are for the head; as Pſal.18.43. they have the better of her, and rule over her; See Deut.28.13,14,43,44.

her children are gone into captivity,] Or, little ones: ſo the word properly ſignifieth. See Jer.6.11.& 9. 20. the word here the rather uſed to move compaſſion,and make her condition the more lamentable , when even little children are not ſpared,but are carryed and hurryed away in the throng, to paſs among them into forrein parts. Heb. have walked,or, are gone into captivity: as was before threatned, Deut.28.41, 50. Jer.6.11.and fulfilled accordingly, 2 Chr.36.17. 2 King. 24.14—16. & 25.11. Jer.52.15,27,28. See the form of ſpeech alſo,Jer.30.16.and here again,ver.18.

before the enemy.] Not fleeing from them : as Deut. 28. 25. and as ver.6. but being driven before them like beaſts : as thoſe,2 Chr.28.5,8.

V. 6. And from the daughter of Zion all her beauty is departed:] Or,glory; as it is rendred,Eſay 5.14. where it is ſaid to go down; as here,to be gone: Of the daughter of Zion, ſee on Eſay 1.8.

her Princes are become like harts that find no paſture;] They are, what for famine, what for fear, clean out of heart , as heartleſs as ſtags or deer, pined away for want of paſture.See Ier.14.3,5.find none,for,have none; as ver.3. and as, not to be found,for,not to be,Luk.17.18.See Ier.4 9.The old Latine by miſtake of the vowel-points inſtead of harts, or, ſtags, ſubſtitutes rams; nothing ſo fitly.

and they are gone without ſtrength before the purſuer.]Not being able to make head no more then deer againſt them : no more then deer , out of heart eſpecially , againſt hunter or hound.See Ier.39.4.& 52.7,8.

V. 7. Jeruſalem remembred in the days of her affliction, and of her miſeries,all her pleaſant things that ſhe had in the dayes of old,] Or,as ſome render the words, Jeruſalem in the dayes of her humiliation (for the verb it cometh of ſignifieth to humble) and of her ejections,or exilements, (ſee on Eſay 58.7.and hereafter,Chap.3.19.) remembreth (thinketh now upon) all her deſireable things, (ver.10,11.Chap.2.4.) that ſhe had in times paſt,or,formerly. Heb. in dayes of antiquity, or, of before. So Chap.2.17. The memory of her former ſtate,wealth, plenty, proſperity,much enhanceth her preſent grief and miſery.So Job 29.Pſal.42.4. The old Latine taking the word, miſeries, in a notion of rebellion,or,prevarication, disjoynteth the text, and jumbleth the words together without any good coherence , which yet Popiſh Expoſitors in vain ſtrive much to make ſomewhat of.

when her people fell into the hand of the enemy,] Hand, for, power ; as Chap.2.7. 2 Sam.24.14.

and none did help her,] Or,could help her : the verb in a potential notion ; as the like, Eſay 46.7. Ier.51.9. none of her own children : See Eſay 51. 18, 20. nor any other from abroad ; among whom,ſome were falſe and perfidious : other too feeble and unable to do ought for her.See on ver.2.

the adverſaries ſaw her,] Or,her adverſaries look on her;with a malignant or a ſcornful eye: as feeding their eyes,and delighting themſelves , with the ſight of her preſent miſery: See Pſal.22.17.& 35.21.Mic.4.11.

and did mock at her Sabbaths.] Or,they deride her Sabbaths, or,ceſſations: which ſome expound of the enemies ſcoffing at their religious obſervation of the Sabbath : as many heathen Writers do. Others,of their deriding them, in regard of the ceſſation of their wonted ſolemn ſervices, which the Temple being demoliſhed, they were conſtrained to intermit. See Pſal.137.3. Others again of the Sabbatical ceſſation of their land, lying untilled during the time of their captivity, Lev. 26.34,43. 2 Chr.36.21. The firſt as it is plaineſt, ſo to me it ſeemeth the beſt.

V. 8. Jeruſalem hath grievouſly ſinned,] Heb.hath ſinned ſin; as Exod.32.30.well rendred,as here, ſo there : and the Chaldee here,as our Verſion there, hath committed a great,or grievous ſin; for thoſe that would reſtrain it to the ſin of idolatry here, becauſe that was the ſin that they had been faulty in there, do too much needleſly and groundleſly narrow the text. See ver.3.

therefore ſhe is removed,] Heb. therefore is ſhe for, or, unto removing, or,wandring : from a word that ſo ſignifieth, Ier. 4.1. & 15.4. & 24.9. whereof the land of Nod alſo had its name,Gen.4.14,16.So ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors,and moſt others,expounding it of the captivity, and removing of them out of their land,as the Chaldee alſo doth : nor doth the Greek ſeem to ſwarve much from this, therefore is ſhe become unto fluctuation : and the old Latine,it may be, intended no more , when he rendred it , therefore is ſhe become unſtable : though Interpreters that follow that Verſion expound it , ſome,of falling from her former felicity into miſery, Ver. 9. Others,of a reſtleſs,and unſetled diſpoſition ; ſuch as is deſcribed,Eſay 57.20,21. or Epheſ.4.14. Heb. 13. 9. Jam.1.6, 8. Howbeit, ſome other of the Jewiſh Maſters expound it, is in ſhaking at ; that is , in deriſion ; one, at whom every one ſhaketh the head ; becauſe from the ſame root come two words differing little from this, that ſignifie both of them a motion,or,ſhaking : the one, applyed to the lips,Iob 16.5. the other,to the head in a notion of deriſion,or mockery, Pſal. 22. 7.& 44.13.Ier.48.27. Others, conceiving it to riſe from another root, render it, ſhe is become as a woman ſeperated for her uncleanneſs: Nidah,for,Niddah : So is ſuch an one termed,Lev.15,19.Ezek.22.10.& 36.17. or, as ſome, abominable thing : for ſo alſo is the word uſed in an abſtract notion, Lev.20.21. 2 Chr.29.5. Ezr.9.11. So ver.17. The word is not in this form elſe-where found ; and though many go the firſt way , yet this laſt receiveth much ſtrength from what preſently enſueth both in this verſe,and the next.

all that honoured her, deſpiſe her, becauſe they have ſeen her nakedneſſe,] Her filthineſs is laid open to common view, as it befalleth ſome notorious ſtrumpet,produced and expoſed to publike ſhame and puniſhment ; or as women captives ſo ſtript and contumeliouſly uſed,that they have not wherewith to cover their ſhame : See Eſay 3.17.& 20.4. So is the word nakedneſſe commonly taken in Scripture, Gen.9.22,23.Lev. 18.6.Ier.13.22,26.Ezek.16.37.& 23.29.Hoſ.2.10.

yea, ſhe ſigheth, and turneth backward.]For ſhame ; as thoſe in ſuch caſe would do, that have any ſhamefacedneſs , or ſpark of ingenuity at all in them : See Eſay 47. 5. for they ſeem to ſwarve here from the genuine ſenſe, who underſtand the term of turning back ; as intimating a want of power to ſtand to it,or to riſe and recover again ; as Ier.46.5.

V. 9. Her filthineſſe is in her skirts;] The ſignes and marks of it appear on her garments,are ſeen every where about her, Eſay 3.9.Ier.2.34.Ezek.24.7,8.

ſhe remembreth not her laſt end:] Or,ſhe remembred not : She conſidered not, when time was, what the iſſue of her wicked courſes would be,what they would bring her to at laſt : See Deut.32.29. So was it with Babel, Eſay 47.7. and with this people,though fore-warned of it,Ier.2.25.

therefore ſhe came down wonderfully.] From an high pitch of felicity, to the very loweſt degree of miſery : See the like of Babylon,Eſay 47.1.and of this State,Eſay 3.8. Ier.13.18. O Lord,behold mine affliction ;] Some would have here inſerted She ſaith ; She ſaith,See O Lord ; and ſo again verſ.11. and elſe-where ; but thereof there is no neceſſity : in writings of this kind, interlocutions, and enterchanges of perſons,and abrupt addreſſes to God, are not unuſual : So Gen. 49.18.Eſay 38.14.See the like,ver.11. and the ſame,Pſal.25. 18.See on Eſay 37.17.

for the enemy hath magnified himſelf.] Or , how (as Eſay 66.24.) he magnifieth himſelf : How they inſult over me,and over thee alſo in me,Deut.32.27.Pſal.35.26.& 38.16.& 140. 8.Ier.48.26,42.Zeph.2.10. a ſupply of the pronoun; as Ier. 48.26,42.Zeph.2.8,10.

V. 10. The adverſary hath ſpread out his hand upon all her pleaſant things,] Or, deſireable things ; as ver.7,11. He hath ſeized upon all things of price and worth with her , the rich gifts and whole furniture of the Temple,among which thoſe pretious pledges of Gods ſpecial preſence amidſt her , together with the Temple it ſelf,2 King.24.13. & 25.15. V. 12. Is it nothing to you all ye that paſſe by?] Heb. that paſs by the way: Or rather, paſſengers of the way! as Job 21.29. and ſo Chap. 2. 15. Do ye make light of mine afflictions? or, Do ye not regard them, and lay them to heart? as complaining that her calamities were ſo ſlighted by others, and endeavouring to move them to ſome commiſeration of her. See ſomewhat the like form of ſpeech in the prayer of thoſe holy men to God, Neh.9.32. Many read the words by way of enunciation; It is not to you: and expound them, ſome, to the ſame effect as before, as a complaint that her ſorrows were ſo ſlighted. Others, as an admonition of them, that had not yet befallen them, that had befallen her. Others again, as in way of well-wiſhing to them, let not that befall you, that hath befallen me. But the interrogative ſeemeth the beſt, and moſt ſuitable to what enſueth.

Behold, and ſee, if there be any ſorrow like unto my ſorrow, which is done unto me. See Dan. 9. 12. Some ſuppoſe an alluſion herein to be unto thoſe inſcriptions upon tombes, wherein paſſengers are wont to be called upon, and invited to conſider of the party deceaſed, whoſe corpſe lies there interred, and of the manner how, or means whereby he came unto his end. But whether ſuch were in thoſe times among that people in uſe, is uncertain. The manner of perſons that ſit weeping and wailing, as wandring out-caſts, by the way ſide, is wont to be no other then is here deciphered, in a proneneſs to acquaint others with their calamitous condition, (ſo Ver. 18.) and to aggravate them in the relation of them, as being ſuch as had never the like been known or heard of before. See Chap.3.1.& 4.6.

wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me] So before, Ver.5. and it is as if ſhe had ſaid, by the tranſcendent greatneſs of mine affliction ye may eaſily perceive, that there is a ſpecial hand and work of God in it. See Eſay 10.5.

V. 13. From above hath he ſent fire into my bones,] He hath in his wrath burnt up and conſumed all my ſtrength, as with fire from heaven: fire, as Ier.17.27.& 21.14.& 52.13. Chap.4.11. from above, for, from heaven; as Eſay 24.18. Jer. 25.30. Rom.1.18. alluding to thoſe material fires, Gen.19.24. Job 1.16. and bones, for, ſtrength, and vigour; as Pſal. 32. 3. & 51.8. Jer.20.9. & 50.17. and therein alſo may be an alluſion to thoſe ſulphureous flames, that pierce deepeſt into the moſt ſolid parts of thoſe bodies below that they light upon, and exerciſe their power moſt upon them: and by bones may be underſtood their ſtrongeſt holds and fortifications, wherein the chief of their ſtrength conſiſted: ſo Jer. 49. 27. Amos 1.7,10.

As for that Rabbine, who becauſe the word is uſed ſometime for to take; as Judg.14.9. would have it ſo taken here, he hath taken it; that is, my ſtrength away, or the marrow out of my bones: not unlike that, Job 6. 4. it ſeems over-far-fetcht: either of the former the words will bear.

he hath ſpread a net for my feet;] As Pſal.57.6. Ezek.12. 13.& 17.20.& 32.3. Hoſ.7.

he hath turned me back:] Caſt me down backward: thrown me down, and laid me on my back, Chap.2.1.

he hath made me deſolate, and faint all the day.] Or, faint (as Ver.22.) all day long: continually, without intermiſſion; as Pſal 38.26. & 44. 22. The attribute here uſed ſeemeth to have an eye to the condition of women in the time of their diſeaſe: as that other alſo before, Ver.8. but that there with reference to their legal uncleanneſs; this to that infirmity and faintneſs that is wont then to ſurpriſe them, Lev.15.33. & 20.18.

V. 14. The yoke of my tranſgreſſions is bound by his hand;] God hath, for my tranſgreſſions, laid a grievous and heavy yoke of affliction and thraldom upon me, that ſo preſſeth me down to the ground, that I am not able to riſe from under it, and is ſo faſtened to my neck, that I am not able to ſhake it off.

yoke] For vexation and ſervitude; as Gen.27.40. Deut. 48.18. 1 King.12.4,9——14. Pſal.2.3. Eſay 9.4. & 10.27.& 14.25.& 47.6. Jer.2.20.& 5.5.& 27.8,11. & 28.2,4,11,14. & 30.8. Chap.3.27. Ezek.34.27.

is bound by his hand:] It is he that hath impoſed it, and bound it faſt to me. See Ver.12. The word here uſed, ſaith one of the Jewiſh Criticks, hath neither father nor mother in the Hebrew tongue; but the meaning of it is, it is drawn out, it is haſtened: by the diverſity of notion he giveth unto it, it appeareth how uncertain he was of the ſenſe of it. And another of them telleth us, that though it hath no kindred in their language, yet in the Syrian it is found uſed for to prick; and thence a word, but written with a ſamec, for a goad: but what affinity between a goad, and a yoke? Yet hence ſome of them would wring out a forced expoſition, as if it were ſaid; that God as with certain pricks marked out her tranſgreſſions upon his hands, that he might keep them in mind. So it ſhould be like that Eſay 49.16. A third ſaith, it ſignifieth to be tied, or bound, joyned, or faſtened: and this moſt of ours take to, who render it, ſome, it is compoſed, or joyned together; framed and made up: ſome, it is impoſed and laid on: ſome, it is bound, or, faſtened by his hand; and one of note, conceiving it a complexive form of ſpeech, it is impoſed, or faſtened to my neck, and held in his hand: he hath not onely compoſed and framed it, impoſed or laid it upon my neck, and bound or faſtened it to my neck, but he holdeth it faſt in his hand, as by ſome cord or the like, that I cannot get or ſhake it off, or by any means be rid of it. The Chaldee rendreth it, it is aggravated, made hard, heavy and grievous. The old Latine, it hath watched: the Author of it ſeemeth to have read miſhcad, for miſcad; which that Jewiſh Critick ſeemeth alſo to have tripped at, when he rendreth it, it is haſtned: having an eye in likelyhood to that, Jer.1.12. where the other word is uſed: but that word in a paſſive form is no where elſe found. The ancient Greek goeth the ſame way; nor doth one of our ancient Verſions ſeem to ſwarve from it: who yet (becauſe the waking, or watching of a yoke ſoundeth ſomewhat harſh) to qualifie the phraſe, do both alter the terms; ours rendring it, the yoke of my tranſgreſſions is come at laſt; and the Greek, He hath awaked, or, watched over mine iniquities; as Dan.9. 14. But this manifeſtly corrupteth the text, turning ol, that is, a yoke, into al, upon, or over. That of binding, or faſtening, which our Verſion followeth, ſeemeth the moſt probable; and this alſo our former Verſions, moſt of them, agree with; ſave that one of them rendreth it, is faſtened to his hands; another, is bound upon his hand; neither of which ſeemeth ſo plain or familiar, as that, which this our laſt exhibiteth.

they are wreathed,] They, that is, the penalties, whereunto by them I have made my ſelf liable, and which God hath juſtly inflicted upon me for them, are made up together as in a wreath. The word here uſed is very pregnant and made vigorous: it is derived, as ſome think, from the boughs, or twigs of trees or ſhrubs, that growing thick together, are entangled one with another: ſo termed Gen.40.10. As others, from threds, that are twined and twiſted together to make up a line, cord, or, cable, Eccleſ.4.12. whence a word for bed-cords in the Talmud: Or, as others again, from withs and twigs, that are wreathed together for the making of baskets; or as others laſtly, from nets and ſnares made of lines ſo twiſted, wherein birds, beaſts, and fiſh, are wont to be entangled, or, weels made of ſuch withs and twigs, for the catching of fiſh; becauſe in the Chaldee and Syriac, the word is commonly uſed for ſuch nets, Job 19.6. Ezek.12.13. & 19.8. and ſuch baskets, 2 Cor.11.33. So that the meaning ſeems to be, as if ſhe had ſaid, God hath made up, of thoſe penalties that he had before threatned me with twined and twiſted, or wrapped and wreathed together, as a ſtrong cord, wherewith he holdeth and keepeth me down, or as ſuch a wreath, as is wont to be put about the necks of unruly beaſts, wherewith he holdeth me ſo faſt, that I cannot either get it off, or get out of it, no more then fowl or fiſh, taken in a net or ſnare, which the more they ſtrive and ſtruggle to get free of, the more they do but maſh and entangle themſelves. See Prov.5. 22.& 29.6. Eſay 51.20. Ezek.12.13. The ancient Greek and old Latine joyn ſome part of the former branch with this, rendring the text, by his hand are they wrapped, or wreathed together.

and come up upon my neck] The wonted place of yoke, or wreath, Eſay 10.27.& 52.2.Jer.27.2,12.

he hath made my ſtrength to fall:] Heb. he hath made my ſtrength to ſtumble; and by a complexive notion conſequently alſo to fall: ſo to ſtumble as to fall. So Neh. 4. 10. Pſal. 31.10. 2 Chron.25.8.& 28.23.and by ſtrength ſeemeth to be underſtood men of ſtrength: as, might, for men of might, and valour, Eſay 3. 25. where the ſame is threatned. See Ver.15.

the Lord delivered me into their hands, from whom I am not able to riſe.] Hand, for, power; as Jer.34.20. Heb. in hands of thoſe, from whom I am not able to riſe up: for the word, hands, is in a form of regiment: and there is a defect both of the antecedent and relative: the like whereunto, ſee Jer. 2.8.

V. 15. The Lord hath troden under foot] The term foot is not in the text; but the word ſignifieth to tread down, or trample upon; (as Pſal.119.118. where and here alone the word is found in that notion) as men do on a common path, or cauſey: from whence in this notion the word that ſo ſignifies, ſeemeth to have its original, See Eſay 51.23. to tread down, is uſed frequently for to ſubdue and deſtroy, Pſal.7.5. & 44. 5. & 60.12.Dan.7.7. See another expreſſion of the ſame thing in the laſt branch.

all my mighty men] The word here uſed importeth any chief, eminent, or excellent in that kind, whereof it is uſed, ſee on Jer.50.11.

in the midſt of me.] Or, with me; as Jer.46.21.

he hath called an aſſembly againſt me,] An alluſion to the ſummoning of the people to their feſtivals and ſolemn meetings by ſound of trumpet, Num. 10. 2. See Chap. 2. 22.

to cruſh my young men] Heb. to break (to deſtroy; as Eſay 14.25.) my young men, or my choice youngſters; as Eſay 40. 30. before her chief men for place and wealth, fitteſt for civil employments and government: now her choice youths, fitteſt for ſervice and military employments, Jer.9.21. & 11.22.& 18.21. & 49.26. & 50.30. And in theſe two ranks is comprehended the whole ſtrength mentioned, Ver.14.

The Lord hath troden the Virgin, the daughter of Judah, as in a wine-preſs.] Or, hath troden the wine-preſs of the damſell the daughter of Judah: He hath troden her as grapes, in the wine-preſs of his wrath, and ſquiezed out her bloud as wine: See the like expreſſions, Eſay 63.3.Rev.19.15.and of the ſtile of Virgin or damſel given to Judah, Eſay 37.22.& 47.1.Jer. 31.4.

V. 16. For theſe things I weep,] As Ver.2.

mine eye, mine eye runneth down with water,] As Jer.13.17. & 24.17.Chap.2 18. & 3.48. and the ingemination maketh the ſpeech more paſſionate: mine eye, mine eye: as, mine head, mine head, 2 King. 4. 19. and, my bowels, my bowels, Jer. 4.19.

(becauſe the Comforter that ſhould relieve my ſoul, is far from me;] Becauſe God that ſhould comfort me (Heb. bring back, or fetch again my ſoul; as Ver.11.Pſal.23.3.) by his word and Spirit, as he had wont to do, hath now withdrawn himſelf and ſtandeth aloof off from me, Pſal.10.1. Chap.3.43,44. Yet the words may be taken more generally, and ſeem ſo to run in the text; becauſe there is far from me a comforter, or reliever of my ſoul, that is, of me; as Pſal.3.2. becauſe they keep aloof off, all that ſhould comfort or relieve me, (as Pſal.38.11. & 88. 18.) there is none at hand to perform either office to me, Verſ. 1, 2, 17, 21. ſo Pſal. 22. 11. & 142. 4. Eſay 51. 18,19.

my children are deſolate, becauſe the enemy prevailed.] They that ſhould relieve me, are themſelves deſtitute of ability to help and relieve themſelves; the enemy proving too ſtrong for them, and having prevailed againſt them. So the ſame term is uſed; Exod. 17. 11. Pſal. 65. 3. See Eſay 51. 18,20.

V. 17. Zion ſpreadeth forth her hands,] As craving help, or ſeeking relief and comfort; as Pſal.143.6.Jer.4.31. there is a particle in the Hebrew before the word, hands, from whence ſome, as well Jewiſh, as others, have taken liberty to coin a ſtrange and uncouth interpretation of the text, thus rendring the words; ſhe breaketh, or diſtributeth bread with her hands: not to others, as Prov.31.20. but to her ſelf; as wanting thoſe that ſhould in this mourning condition perform that office to her. See on Jer. 16. 7. But one of the Jewiſh Maſters well obſerveth, that the particle here uſed is oft redundant; as Pſal.65.4.& 80.5.Eſay 26.4.& 40.10. Jer. 17.3.Hoſ.13.9.

and there is none to comfort her:] Heb. there is not a comforter to her, or for her. See Ver.16.

The Lord hath commanded concerning Jacob, that his adverſaries ſhould be round about him.] Becauſe they regarded not to keep Gods charge, to obſerve his commands, Ver.18. God therefore by a ſecret inſtinct gave it in charge to their enemies, and made out a commiſſion to them, commanding them (as Eſay 10.6.Jer.34.22.) to beſet and begirt them on every ſide, Jer.4.17. So Jer.49.5. and 50.15,29. See Ver. 3.

Jeruſalem is as a menſtruous woman among them.] Or, as an abomination; as a perſon ſevered from the ſociety or acceſs of any; ſuch an one as every one ſhunneth, that none can abide to come neer: or, as ſome abominable thing, ſo vile and foul, that none can endure once to touch, for being polluted and defiled therewith. See Lev.15.19——27. & 20.21. Ezek.17.19,20.& 36.17.and before, Ver.8.

V. 18. The Lord is righteous,] Though ſhe complain of Gods harſh and ſevere carriage towards her, and ſharp dealings with her; yet ſhe acknowledgeth Gods juſtice therein, and that ſhe had ſuffered no more then what ſhe had juſtly deſerved, and had procured to her ſelf by her ſins. So Dan.9.7. Neh. 9. 33. Pſal. 119.137. and 145. 17. Jer. 12. 1.

for I have rebelled againſt his commandement.] Heb. againſt his mouth; that is, againſt the words of his mouth; as Job 23. 12. Or, the law of his mouth, Pſal.119.72. as it is in thoſe places more fully expreſſed. See the like reaſon of affliction rendred, Pſal.107.11.

my Virgins and my young men are gone into captivity.] Or, my damſels and youths. See Ver.3,4. no ſex or age hath been ſpared, 2 Chr.36.17.

V. 19. I called for my lovers, but they deceived me;] Or, When I called to my lovers, they failed me; as Chap.3.55. See Ver.2.Jer.22.20.& 30.14.Job 19.13——19.

my Prieſts and mine Elders gave up the ghoſt in the city, while they ſought their meat to relieve their ſouls.] They periſhed through famine, wanting food to relieve them, and not meeting with, but miſſing of what they ſought for, Chap. 2.10,19. Jer.14.18.& 38.9.See Ver.11. Heb. and they brought back, or fetcht again their ſouls, for, ſo to do, or, that they might ſo do; as Joſh.24.9. 2 King.4.42,43.Mal.1.19. Or, wherewith they might ſo do; as Pſal.109.19. Of the form of ſpeech, ſee on Ver.11,16.

V. 20. Behold, O Lord, for I am in diſtreſſe,] Or, In what diſtreſſe I am: Or, how I am in diſtreſſe. See Ver.9,11.

my bowels are troubled;] They boil and work within me, as the ſea, Job 41. 31. Or, as waters that become thick and miry, when they are much ſtirred and troubled, Eſay 57.20. Ezek.34.18. for from thence is the word taken, Job 16. 16. Pſal.46.3.See Eſay 16.11.Jer.48.36.So Chap.2.11.

mine heart is turned within me;] Heb. in the midſt of me; as Pſal.39.10.& 55.4.& 109.22.Jer.23.9. Or, my heart turneth it ſelf up and down: it cannot reſt or be quiet; for theſe paſſives have oft a reciprocal ſenſe; as Jer.36.19. See the ſame expreſſion applyed to God himſelf, Hoſ.11.8.

for I have grievouſly rebelled;] Or, becauſe; as Ver. 16. Heb. rebelling rebelled: ſhe aggravateth her own ſin; as David his, 2 Sam.24.10.

abroad the ſword bereaveth,] Or, bereaved, ſlew: without the city the ſword made havock. See Deut.32.25. Jer.6. 25. & 14,18.Ezek.7.15.

at home there is as death.] Or, there was within the city famine, Ver.11,19.as bad as death by the ſword, or worſe rather, Chap.4.9.See 2 King.25.3.Jer.52.6.

V. 21. They have heard that I ſigh, there is none to comfort me,] My pretended friends, though they heard of my doleful condition; yet would none of them afford me any relief or comfort. See Ver.2,16,17,19.for the ſame things in paſſionate ſpeeches are oft repeated. See 2 Sam. 18. 33. though there want not that expound this of her profeſſed adverſaries, they have heard of my diſtreſſed and diſconſolate State, that there is none to comfort me; even all mine adverſaries have heard of theſe ſtraits, that I am in, and rejoyce to hear how thou haſt dealt with me. But the former floweth from the text more freely.

all mine enemies have heard of my trouble, they are glad] Or, and are glad: my miſeries are matter of joy to them. So Pſal.38.16.& 40.15.Jer.48.27.Ezek.25.6.

that thou haſt done it:] That thou haſt dealt thus harſhly with me, and given me up to the mercy of my mercileſſe adverſaries, Eſay 47.6. or, as ſome read the words, but (as Jer. 31.33.& 43.3.) thou haſt done it, and I muſt bear it; as Pſal. 39 9.Mic.7.9. there is a defect of the pronoun; as Pſal. 22. 31.& 109.27.

thou wilt bring the day that thou haſt called,] Or, proclaimed; as Dan.3.4.& 4.14. that is, publiſhed by thy Prophets, Eſay 13.& 14.& 46.& 47.Jer.25.12,13.& 29.10.& 50.& 51. Thou haſt ſet a certain time, and that in his due ſeaſon ſhall come, wherein thou wilt both relieve and deliver thy people, and take vengeance on thoſe that now in their calamities inſult over them, Prov.24.17,18.Jer.51.49.Chap.4.21. CHAP. II.

Verſ. 1. H*Ow hath the Lord covered the daughter of Zion with a cloud in his anger,*] This ſecond ſingle Alphabet conſiſteth much of the ſame ſubject, ſome further amplifications only added, with the former; being ſpent moſt of it in complaints of the grievouſneſſe of their forepaſſed and preſent calamities, Ver.1—20. and ſhut up with ſome addreſſes unto God, ver.20—22.

How] Theſe paſſionate interrogations, as Chap.1.1,2. & 4.1. are very vigorous, and add much force and life to the things ſpoken of, of what kind ſoever; as intimating them to be matters beyond expreſſion. So Pſal.3.1,2. & 31.19. & 139.17. Rom.11.33. 1 Pet.4.17,18.

covered with a cloud] Or, with a thick cloud. Heb. thickned, or, clouded: for it cometh from a word that hath a notion of thickneſſe, Jer.52.21. and ſignifieth not a cloud ſimply, (there is another word for that) but a thick cloud, Exod.19.9. Eſay 25.5. and the Prophet may ſeem to have coined the word of purpoſe, to expreſſe the darkſome and gloomy condition of his people in their preſent calamity, into which they were brought out of that lightſome eſtate and ſun-ſhine of proſperity, that they had formerly enjoyed: for the word is no where found but here; and it is by ſome not altogether improbably deemed, to have in way of oppoſition ſome glance at that glorious bright and reſplendent cloud, wherein God appeared, as a ſign of his gracious preſence and protection, on Mount Sion, at the dedication of the Temple, 1 Kings 8.10. alluded to Eſay 4.5,6. See the like expreſſions, Chap.3.2. Joel 2.2. Amos 5.18,20.

and caſt down from heaven unto the earth the beauty of Iſrael,] Or, how hath he thrown down, &c. ſupplyed from the former branch; as Chap.1.3. from heaven to earth. A proverbial expreſſion of a great and grievous downfal from the higheſt pitch of proſperity, to the loweſt degree of adverſity and miſery. So Eſay 14.12. Obad.4. Mat.11.23. a defect of the particle of motion to a place, as 2 Sam.24.20. Eſay 49.33. Jer.2.10.

and remembred not his footſtool in the day of his anger?] The whole earth is in general termed Gods footſtool, Eſay 66.1. but the land of Iſrael in a ſpecialty, as ſome think, here, in reſpect of other lands: but in it more ſpecially his Temple, and the Ark therein, 1 Chr.28.2. Pſal.99.5. & 132.7. which God not ſpared, but had ſuffered to be ſurpriſed by the Chaldeans; as before by the Philiſtines, 1 Sam.4.11. Pſal.78.60,61. and that, at this ſecond time without recovery.

V. 2. The Lord hath ſwallowed up all the habitations of Jacob;] Deſtroyed the whole country and all his cities. So verſ.5. See of the metaphor, Eſay 49.19. Some Interpreters of prime note continue the interrogative in this Verſe, and ſo forward all along unto ver.12. but of that there ſeemeth no neceſſity.

and hath not pitied;] So ver.17.

he hath thrown down in his wrath the ſtrong holds of the daughter of Judah:] So Pſal.89.40. Ver.5.

he hath brought them down to the ground:] Heb. made them touch the ground; as Eſay 25.12.

he hath polluted the Kingdome and the Princes thereof.] Dealt with it and them as with a thing polluted and unclean, Eſay 29.12. or, as with a thing no more ſacred and inviolable; by delivering them up into the power of profane people, 1 Sam. 26.9. Pſal.89.39,40. & 74.3. Eſay 43.28.

V. 3. He hath cut off in his anger all the horn of Iſrael:] Heb. burning heat, or, fervour, of face, or noſe; as Deut.29.24. Chap.1.12. and, horn, for, glory and ſtrength, 1 Sam.2.1. Pſal.75.10. Jer.48.25. royal majeſty eſpecially, Pſal.89.24. & 132.17. So ver.17.

he hath drawn back his right hand from before the enemy;] Heb. he hath cauſed his right hand to turn back. This ſome underſtand of Gods right hand, Pſal.17.7. & 44.3. & 118.15,16. and expound it of his withdrawing from them his powerfull protection and ſuccour, upon the enemies approach, which he was wont formerly to afford them, Pſal.74.11. and this may ſeem backed with what followeth, Verſ.4. Howbeit, I conceive it may well be underſtood of his, that is, Iſraels, right hand; that God had cauſed his hand to turn backward; for though God be ſaid to withdraw his hand, even his right-hand; in that place of the Pſalmiſt: yet is he no where ſaid to turn it backward: but as one is ſaid not to draw back his hand, when he goeth on conſtantly in the purſuit of his enemies, Joſh.8.26. ſo is he not unfitly ſaid to withdraw, or, turn his hand backward, when he ſurceaſeth either to purſue, or oppoſe them, and fleeth away before them: and God is ſaid to cauſe their right hand to turn back; as elſewhere to turn the edge of their ſword; when he doth not enable them to ſtand to it in fight, Pſal.89.43. And this I take to be the genuine ſenſe of the place.

and he burned againſt Jacob like a flaming fire, which devoureth round about.] he, that is, God in his wrath: or, it, that is, the fervour of his anger, beforementioned, (ſo one of the Jewiſh Doctors, not amiſſe) hath burnt, as Pſal.79.5. & 89.46. Heb. like a fire of flame; as Eſay 4.5. it hath devoured round about, Eſay 42.25. So Pſal.50.3. & 97.3.

V. 4. He hath bent his bow] To wit, againſt him. So Chap. 3.12. Pſal.7.12. Heb. trod it; as Jer.50.14.

V. 6. And he hath violently taken away his tabernacle, as if it were of a garden;] He hath violently taken away (as the word is uſed Jer.13.22. thrown down and removed) his tabernacle, (his Sanctuary or Temple, ſo termed, Pſal.27.5. & 31.20. & 76.2.) as of a garden; that is, as a ſhade, or hovel of a garden: ſome ſuch ſorry thing as the Keeper or gardiner ſetteth up in a garden, wherein to repoſe himſelf, Job 27.18. Eſay 1.8. a defect of the noun regent to be ſupplyed from the former branch, as the like, Pſal.18.33. & 103.5. Eſay 5.29. & 63.2. Jer.50.9. howbeit, the ſupply need not be preciſely the ſame, but of ſomewhat proportionable thereunto; as Dan.4.33. Some render it, his hedge, or fence; becauſe the word it cometh of, ſignifieth as well to protect, or fence, as to hide and cover: and expound it of Gods withdrawing his protection from them, Pſal.5.12. & 80.12. & 89.40. Eſay 5.5. But I find not where the word is uſed for an hedge; and the former ſorteth better here with what followeth.

he hath deſtroyed his places of the aſſembly:] Heb. his aſſembly, or, ſet place of aſſembly; put collectively, as ſome, for his places of aſſembly: not the Temple onely, but the Synagogues alſo, as Pſal.74.7,8. but he ſeemeth here more ſpecially to intend that of Jeruſalem on Sion. See Chap.1.4.

The Lord hath cauſed the ſolemn feaſts and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion;] The places wherein people were wont to meet on ſuch dayes, and for ſuch purpoſes being demoliſhed.

and hath deſpiſed in the indignation of his anger the King and the Prieſt.] For the enemy ſpared neither, ver.20. Chap.4. 16. & 5.12. the words are indefinite King and Prieſt; but yet they ſeem to have a more ſpecial eye to the deſpiteful uſage of Zedekiah, Jer.52.10,11. and the ſlaughter of Seraiah the chief Prieſt, Jer.52.24,27. indignation of wrath, for, wrathful indignation: as, fervor of wrath, for, wrathful fervour, Chap.1.12.

V. 7. The Lord hath caſt off his Altar:] That was as his ſtanding boord or table, Ezek.41.22. but was demoliſhed together with his houſe the Temple.

he hath abhorred his Sanctuary:] Or, diſſolved, or, deſtroyed; as the word is uſed, Pſal.89.39. and the word is no where elſe found in Scripture.

he hath given up into the hand of the enemy the walls of her palaces;]

laces:] Heb. ſhut up in their hand; given up wholly unto, and left in their power: as Pſal.31.8. Chap. 1. 7. as well the Kings and Princes palaces, as the Temple his own, Ier.52. 13. So Ver.5. the walls of them, becauſe the principall parts of ſtrength that ſhould ſecure the reſt. So ver. 8. Amos 1. 7,10.

they have made a noiſe in the houſe of the Lord, as in a day of a ſolemn feaſt.] The enemy is now as loud in blaſpheming of God with ſhouting and ſounding their triumphant ſongs to his diſhonour in his houſe, as his own people had wont to be in ſinging of hymnes and Pſalms of praiſe there, at the ſolemn feaſts, to his honour, Pſal.74.3,4. with 81.1,2,3.

V. 8. The Lord hath purpoſed to deſtroy the wall of the daughter of Zion:] Or, The Lords purpoſe was to do it: and what he was reſolved upon, he hath done, ſee Verſe 17. the wall; as before, Verſe 7. becauſe the chief ſtrength of a city: So verſe 18.

he hath ſtretched out a line;] He hath ſtretched out over Jeruſalem the line of deſtruction: not ſuch a line, as workmen uſe to mete out their building by, to make it proportionable to their model; but ſuch a line, as they uſe to mark by, what is to be cut off, and how far to be demoliſhed: See 2 Sam.8. 2. ſo ſome; or, as others, a levelling line, to level the ground with, where the city ſometime ſtood, and to lay it all eaven: See the like expreſſions, 2 King. 21. 13. Eſay 34. 11. As for thoſe conceits that a learned Writer here ſuggeſteth either of a cord; wherewith a beaſt is tied to be led to the butcher; or of a line of exact juſtice, in rendring to perſons delinquent according to their demerits, Eſay 28. 17. they ſeem both to ſwarve from the intendment of the Prophet in this place.

he hath not withdrawn his hand from deſtroying:] Or, he withdrew not his hand: as Joſh.8.18,26. See on verſe 3. he gave not over untill he had ruined all. Heb. from ſwallowing up; as verſ.2,5.

therefore he made the rampart and the wall to lament,] Or, but he made, or untill he made, (Heb. and; but ſo the copulative is uſed, Ier.23.12. Dan.12.12.) bulwark and wall (Eſay 26.1.) to mourn, as Chap. 1. 4. Eſay 24. 4. Ier.4.28. and 23.10.

they languiſhed together.] Or, fainted; and were made to fall, as a man doth when he fainteth away: See the like expreſſion, Eſay 24.4. & 33.9. Jer.14.2.

V. 9. Her gates are ſunk into the ground;] The Jewiſh Doctors upon the place, out of their Talmudiſts, tell us ſtrange ſtories, of the gates of Jeruſalem ſinking down into the ground, that they might not come into the enemies power, becauſe they were the work of David's hands: And ſome of ours run as wildly wide another way, expounding it of the Prieſts and Judges that were wont to ſit in the gates, Chap. 5.14. I conceive no more to be meant, then that the gates were thrown down to the ground, and lying along there, (ſuch of them, and ſuch parts of them, as had eſcaped the fire, Chap 1.4. Neh.1.3. & 2.3,13,17.) were buried in the rubbiſh when the walls were demoliſhed: See Neh. 2.13,14. and 4.10.

he hath deſtroyed and broken her bars;] He, that is, the Lord, verſe 8. or, (the verb taken indefinitely; as Iob 7.3. Habb.3. 17.) her bars are deſtroyed and broken; the bars that kept faſt the gates, Pſal.107.16. Ier.51.30.

her King and her Princes are among the Gentiles:] Zedekiah, and ſuch of his Princes as eſcaped the enemies ſword, are abroad in captivity, 2 King.25.7. 2 Chr.36.20.

the law is no more:] Heb. Is not; as Ier.31.15. It is neither read nor regarded, neither publikely taught, nor conſtantly kept: Yea the Tables of it loſt, and the Volumes burnt together with the Temple: They are now juſtly deprived of it, that little regarded it before time when they had it, Ier.5. 4,5. & 8.8,9. Hoſh.8.12. Habb.1.4. A learned Annotator annexeth this clauſe to the fore-going member, thus rendring the words, Her King and her Princes are among the Heathen, without Law: that is, deprived of authority and legiſlative power: but when a plain and familiar ſenſe freely offereth it ſelf, it is but loſt labour to ſeek out one further fetcht, and leſſe probable.

her Prophets alſo find no Viſion from the Lord.] Find none, that is, have none; as Chap. 1.3.6. See the like complaint, Pſal. 74. 9. and the ſame menaced, Ezek. 7. 26. Mic. 3. 6.

V. 10. The Elders of the daughter of Zion ſit upon the ground,] Not in thoſe chaires, and on thoſe ſeats, wherein they were wont to ſit in judgment, Pſal.122.5. Mat.19.28. & 23.2. See Chap.5.14.

and keep ſilence:] Or, they are ſilent; they paſs no ſentence now as they had wont to do, Deut.17.9,11.

they have caſt up duſt upon their heads:] In token of extream grief; as on ſuch occaſions was uſual with them, Iob 2. 12. 2 Sam.13.19. Eſay 15.3. Ier.48.38 they have girded themſelves with ſackcloth;] Or, they are girt with ſackcloth. Heb. ſacks: ſo Ier.4.8. & 49.3.

V. 11. Mine eyes do fail with tears;] As Pſal. 6.7. See Chap.5.17.

my bowels are troubled,] See Chap.1.20.

my liver is poured upon the earth;] My gall or choler is caſt up; as with extremity of grief, mixt with indignation, is oft done: So Iob 16.13. my gall is poured upon the ground. They ſtrain the text too far, who would give it an hyperbolical notion, as if it were ſaid, all the bloud is gone from my liver, the forge wherein it is framed, and is ſpilt upon the ground: and they much more, that go further, expounding it, as if it were ſaid; my belly is broken, and my bowels poured out, as it was with Judas, Act.1.18. as alſo they warp it no leſſe, who, becauſe the liver is deemed the ſeat of deſire and delight, would have the meaning to be, all my deſires or delights are gone, though they are all fallen to the ground, all come to an end; as it is with the dead, Eccl.9.6.

for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people,] Heb. breach as Chap.3.47. Ier.4.20. Of the term daughter, ſee on Ier. 9.1, becauſe the children and the ſuckling ſwoon in the ſtreets.] Or, faint, and go away, for want of food. Heb. are covered, or overwhelmed. See on Eſay 57.6. and it may ſeem to be a borrowed form of ſpeech, taken from that miſt or cloud that cometh before the eyes of thoſe that are fainting or ſwooning, and taketh away their ſight. See Eſay 25.7. Of the children and ſucklings, ſee Ier.6.11. & 9.20. & 44.7.

V. 12. They ſay to their mothers,] Or, ſaid; as of a thing paſt, in the time of the ſiege: they called to them for food, Chap.4.4.

when their ſoul was poured out into the mothers boſome.] Heb. poured out it ſelf; as Job 30.16. when they went away in their mothers laps, wanting wherewith to relieve them, Ch. 4.9. verſe 11.

V. 13. What thing ſhall I take to witneſſe for thee? what thing ſhall I liken to thee, O daughter of Jeruſalem? what ſhall I equall to thee, that I may comfort thee, O Virgin daughter of Zion?] What arguments ſhall I uſe wherewith to comfort thee, or to convince and perſwade thee, that thou haſt not ſo much cauſe of grief as thou pretendeſt? Or rather, What example ſhall I give of any that have been in like miſery? that may be a fit parallel to thy preſent calamitous condition? ſo Eſay 51.19. Chap.1.12. Nah.3.7. Of the terms here given her, ſee Eſay 37.22. Chap.1.15.

for thy breach is great like the ſea;] As vaſt and wide, as the ſea is broad, Job 11.9. or rather, as a breach of the ſea: the word breach ſupplyed from the former branch: See the like on verſe 6. ſuch a breach as not ſome ſmall river, but the ſea is wont to make, when it hath rent aſunder and got thorow the ſea-walls, that before kept it out; ſuch as cannot be made up again. See the like, Ier.51.42. Ezek. 26. 3. Iob 30.14.

who can heal thee?] Heb. ſhall heal thee: the verb in a potential notion; as Ier.55.9.

V. 14. Thy Prophets] Not mine, ſuch as I ſent to thee; but thine own, ſuch as thou hadſt choſen to thy ſelf, and waſt willing to be led by, Ier.2.8. & 5. 31. & 14. 13, 14. & 29. 8,15.

have ſeen vain and fooliſh things for thee,] Heb. vanity, and unſavoury, or without reliſh, Iob 6.6. that is, viſions of vanity, and ſuch as were not ſound and unſavoury: the noun ſupplyed from the verb; as Ezek.13.11. They took upon them to be ſeers, but ſaw not what they ſhould ſee, and told what they ſaw not, nothing but vain and frivolous ſtuff, the froth of their own fancies, Ier.23.16,26. & 27.14,15.

and they have not diſcovered thine iniquity to turn away thy captivity:] They laid not thy ſins before thee, to bring thee to repentance, whereby thy preſent miſeries might have been prevented, Ier.6.13,14. & 8.11. & 23.17,22.

but have ſeen for thee falſe burdens, and cauſes of baniſhment] Heb. and; as Ier.52.8,16. and burdens of vanity, and of expulſions; that is, ſay ſome, burdenſome, or ſad and heavy prophecies, (as Eſay 13.1.) but falſe ones, againſt the enemy, againſt Babylon, Ier.28.2——4,11. & 29.21,31. But the word ſeemeth here to be taken in a larger ſenſe; as Prov. 31.1. Zach. 12.1. for any ſpeech, leſſon, ſermon, or ſaying, uttered; as the verb, whence it cometh, is uſed for to take up; that is, to utter, report, make uſe of in ſpeech or diſcourſe; as Exod. 20.7.& 23.1.Num.23.7,18.& 24.3. Eſay 23.7. & 14.14. and the meaning is, ſuch falſe and flattering ſermons or propecies, as were a means of heartning the people on, and hardning them in their ſinful courſes, and conſequently of procuring their captivity, Eſay 3.12.Ier.23.14,15,17,31,32. and 27.9,10.

V. 25. All that paſſe by thee clap their hands at thee:] Heb. Paſſengers of the way (as Chap.1.12. Pſal.89.41.) clap at thee, or, over thee, with the hands; to wit, in way of deriſion and contempt, Iob 27.23. See Chap.1.18. the pronoun is wanting; as Ier.6.3.& 20.11.

V. 16. All thine enemies have opened their mouth againſt thee,] Or, widened it; as in mocking is wont to be done, Job 16.10.Pſal.22.13.Eſay 59.4.Chap.3.46.

They ſay, We have ſwallowed her up:] So Pſal.35.25. the ſame term ſee alſo, Pſal.56.2. (where the like defect of the pronoun) & 124.3.Prov.1.12.Ver.2,5.

certainly this is the day that we looked for; we have found, we have ſeen it. That which we have long looked for, and much deſired, having at length compaſſed, we now behold with delight. See Pſal.35.21. & 59.10. & 92.11. Job 16.9. Mic. 4. 11.Chap.1.7. The pronoun demonſtrative in the former branch for the verb ſubſtantive; as Eſay 66.1. Jer. 10.19. and a defect of the pronoun it, in the latter; as Jer. 12.11. & 17.21. Yet the text may thus be rendred, this the day that we expected, we have found, we have ſeen; this the day: as, him the child, Exod.2.6. and, him the wicked one, Prov.5.22.

V. 17. The Lord hath done that which he had deviſed:] Or, performed (as Chap.1.21.) what he purpoſed: as the like word was before rendred, Ver.8. See the like, Jer.51.12,29.

he hath fulfilled his word that he had commanded in the dayes of old:] Or, he hath put in execution, (as Eſay 10.12.) that decree, or edict, of his, (as the like word is uſed, Eſt.1.15. and 9.32.) which he had enacted (as Deut.33.4.) long ſince. Heb. from dayes of antiquity, or, foretime; as Chap.1.7. Eſay 37.26. the menaces that by Moſes he long ſince denounced, and annexed in way of ſanction unto thoſe Lawes that then he preſcribed his people, at his taking of them into covenant with him, Lev.26.16,&c. Deut.28.15,&c. to which may alſo be added the renewed comminations of Jeremy and other of Gods Prophets, both in former and later times. See Jer. 7.25. & 25.3,4.

he hath thrown down, and hath not pitied:] As Ver.2,21.

and he hath cauſed thine enemy to rejoyce over thee:] Or, but, as Ver.14. See the like complaints, Pſal. 38.16. & 89.42. Chap.1.21.

he hath ſet up the horn of thine adverſaries.] Advanced them; given them occaſion of triumphing in thy ruine. See 1 Sam. 2.1. Pſal.75.10. Ver.3. and the like in effect, Pſal.89.42.

V. 18. Their heart cryed unto the Lord;] Some render theſe words in an imperative form, Let their heart cry unto the Lord: and of thoſe ſome would have them to be the Prophets words to the people; inviting and inciting them to ſeek unto God for mercy and relief: other ſome the Chaldeans, in way of deriſion, adviſing them to call to their God for protection and delivery, as Elias did Baals Prieſts, 1 King. 18.27. But the moſt conceive them as ſpoken in way of enunciation, relating what the people did, when they ſaw the enemy break in upon them, and that by the wall of the city, it may be, having ſome breaches made in it, (which might give occaſion of the next paſſage, either directed to it, or concerning it,) that then bethinking themſelves of him, whom they had neglected before, all other helps and hopes failing, they betook themſelves by prayer to him. So Eſay 26.16—18. Hoſ.5.15. & 6.1. The heart cannot properly be ſaid to cry, no more then to ſpeak. Yet as it is ſaid to ſpeak, Pſal. 27.8. when from the fulneſſe of it the mouth ſpeaketh, Mat.12.34. ſo is it alſo ſaid to cry; when it is with grief and ſorrow ſo full, that it muſt needs by ſuch means vent it ſelf. And yet can it not be hence concluded, that the perſons here intended, did ſincerely cry unto, or call upon God, becauſe their heart is ſaid to cry, and they conſequently to cry from, or with, the heart: for though to cry from the heart, be ſometime uſed for to cry ſincerely, to wit, when one cryeth out of a true touch and remorſe for ſin as ſin, as that which is offenſive and diſpleaſing to God, Ezek.6.9. and ſo it is ſaid of ſome that they cry not with their heart, though they howl upon their beds, Hoſ. 7.14. yet the heart may be ſaid to cry, and men to cry with the heart, or, from the heart, and to weep heartily, when they do either ſeriouſly, though not ſincerely; (and ſo crying with the heart, and with the whole heart; as Pſal.119.145. may be two diſtinct things.) when they do not fain nor counterfeit grief, make as though they were grieved at the heart, when there is no ſuch matter; as Iſmael did to delude ſome, Jer.41.6. but are ſerious in their grief, their heart is full of it, as well as their tongues with expreſſions of it: as it was with Eſau, Gen.27.38. Heb.12.17. and thoſe Iſraelites, Pſal. 78.34—37. it was ſerious with both, ſincere with neither: and ſo might be with the generality of thoſe, whom the Prophet here intendeth. See Jer.22.27,28.

O wall of the daughter of Zion,] The Prophet here abruptly cutteth off the thred of his relation, and ſeemeth to turn his ſpeech to the wall of the city, at the breach whereof in likelihood ſuch outcries were very general from all ſorts; as calling upon it, though a dead and ſenſeleſſe thing to weep and cry perpetually; and the walls may be ſaid to weep in a figurative ſpeech, as well as the wayes to mourn, Chap. 1.4. but by the wall, ſay moſt Interpreters, is here meant the city; and the city, ſay ſome, as being now nothing but bare walls without houſing and inhabitants. Others, the wall by a Synecdoche, put for the whole city; and the city then by a Metonymie, for the inhabitants: and ſo the wall at ſecond hand by a Metalepſis, for the wonted inhabitants of the city, that lived within compaſſe of it: but I ſuppoſe the wall here to be taken in its native ſenſe, for the wall of the city demoliſhed and ruined, as the ground and ſubject matter of the mourning in this manner and meaſure required. I ſhall add another Interpretation, and leave both to the conſideration of the reader. Theſe words, O wall, or, O the wall of the daughter of Sion, may be conceived as the ſubject matter of the outcries then uſed, when the walls were either battered in aſſault, or demoliſhed after the ſurpriſal of the city: which being annexed to the foregoing branch; the Prophet in the next place addreſſeth himſelf unto her, whoſe walls they were, that occaſioned the outcry, inciting her to that conſtant courſe of lamenting, to move God thereby to mercy and commiſeration towards her: thus taken, there will be no difficulty or harſhneſs at all in the whole paſſage, but all go on ſmoothly.

let tears run down like a river day and night:] Heb. make tear (for, tears, as Pſal.39.11.) to deſcend (as Jer. 13.17.) as a river, (in great abundance (as Pſal.119.136.) day and night: inceſſantly, as Jer.9.1. & 14.17. So Chap.1.16. & 3.48.

give thy ſelf no reſt;] Or, no intermiſſion; as it is rendred, Chap.3.49. or, remiſſion, abatement; as the verb it cometh of ſeemeth to import, Pſal.38.8. & 77.2. in which latter place either notion may well conſiſt.

let not the apple of thine eyes ceaſe.] Heb. let not (or, ſuffer not) the daughters of thine eye to be ſilent: that which we call the ball, or apple, of the eye; from the ſpherical figure of it; that the Hebrews call the daughter of the eye; either as the deareſt and tendereſt part of it, Deut. 32.10. Prov.7.2. or from the figures that ſeem to appear in it; whence alſo it is termed by the Greeks, the damſel, by the Latines, the babe of the eye. So Pſal.17.18. Zach.2.8. in the former of which places is another word alſo uſed of it, as for notion the ſame, ſo for notation, not much unlike to this latter: and to be ſilent, is commonly uſed for to ceaſe; becauſe men ceaſe or forbear to ſpeak, when they are ſilent. So Job 30.27.Pſal. 35.15.

V. 9. Her gates are ſunk into the ground;] The Jewiſh Doctors upon the place, out of their Talmudiſts, tell us ſtrange ſtories, of the gates of Jeruſalem ſinking down into the ground, that they might not come into the enemies power,becauſe they were the work of David's hands: And ſome of ours run as wildly wide another way,expounding it of the Prieſts and Judges that were wont to ſit in the gates, Chap. 5.14. I conceive no more to be meant,then that the gates were thrown down to the ground, and lying along there, (ſuch of them,and ſuch parts of them,as had eſcaped the fire, Chap 1.4.Neh.1.3.& 2.3,13,17.) were buried in the rubbiſh when the walls were demoliſhed: See Neh. 2.13,14. and 4.10.

It is neither read nor regarded, neither publikely taught,nor conſtantly kept: Yea the Tables of it loſt,and the Volumes burnt together with the Temple: They are now juſtly deprived of it,that little regarded it before time when they had it, Ier.5. 4,5.& 8.8,9.Hoſh.8.12. Habb.1.4. A learned Annotator annexeth this clauſe to the fore-going member, thus rendring the words, Her King and her Princes are among the Heathen,without Law: that is, deprived of authority and legiſlative power: but when a plain and familiar ſenſe freely offereth it ſelf; it is but loſt labour to ſeek out one further fetcht,and leſſe probable.

but have ſeen for thee falſe burdens,and cauſes of baniſhment] Heb.and; as Ier.52.8,16.and burdens of vanity, and of expulſions; that is,ſay ſome, burdenſome, or ſad and heavy prophecies, (as Eſay 13.1.) but falſe ones, againſt the enemy, againſt Babylon, Ier.38.2——4,11, & 29.21,31. But the word ſeemeth here to be taken in a larger ſenſe; as Prov. 31.1. Zach.12.1.for any ſpeech,leſſon,ſermon,or ſaying,uttered; as the verb,whence it cometh, is uſed for to take up; that is, to utter, report, make uſe of in ſpeech or diſcourſe; as Exod. 20.7. & 23.1. Num.23.7,18. & 24.3. Eſay 23.7. & 14.14. and the meaning is, ſuch falſe and flattering ſermons or propecies, as were a means of heartning the people unto, and hardning them in their ſinful courſes, and conſequently of procuring their captivity, Eſay 3.12. Ier.23.14,15,17,31,32. and 29.9,10.

V. 25. All that paſſe by thee clap their hands at thee:] Heb. Paſſengers of the way (as Chap.1.12. Pſal.89.41.) clap at thee, or, over thee, with the hands; to wit, in way of deriſion and contempt, Iob 27.23. See Chap.1.18. the pronoun is wanting; as Ier.6.3. & 20.11.

They ſay, We have ſwallowed her up:] So Pſal.35.25. the ſame term ſee alſo, Pſal.56.2. (where the like defect of the pronoun) & 124.3. Prov.1.12. Ver.2,5.

certainly this is the day that we looked for, we have found, we have ſeen it. That which we have long looked for, and much deſired, having at length compaſſed, we now behold with delight. See Pſal.35.21. & 59.10. & 92.11. Job 16.9. Mic.4.11. Chap.1.7. The pronoun demonſtrative in the former branch for the verb ſubſtantive; as Eſay 66.1. Jer.10.19. and a defect of the pronoun it, in the latter; as Jer.12.11. & 17.21. Yet the text may thus be rendred, this the day that we expected, we have found, we have ſeen; this the day: as, him the child, Exod.2.6. and, him the wicked one, Prov.5.22.

V. 17. The Lord hath done that which he had deviſed:] Or, performed (as Chap.1.21.) what he purpoſed: as the like word was before rendred, Ver.8. See the like, Jer.51.12,29.

Heb. from dayes of antiquity, or, foretime; as Chap.1.7. Eſay 37.26. the menaces that by Moſes he long ſince denounced, and annexed in way of ſanction unto thoſe Lawes that then he preſcribed his people, at his taking of them into covenant with him, Lev.26.16,&c. Deut.28.15,&c. to which may alſo be added the renewed comminations of Jeremy and other of Gods Prophets, both in former and later times. See Jer. 7.25. & 25.3,4.

V. 18. Their heart cryed unto the Lord;] Some render theſe words in an imperative form, Let their heart cry unto the Lord: and of thoſe ſome would have them to be the Prophets words to the people; inviting and inciting them to ſeek unto God for mercy and relief: other ſome the Chaldeans, in way of deriſion, adviſing them to call to their God for protection and delivery, as Elias did Baals Prieſts, 1 King.18.27. But the moſt conceive them as ſpoken in way of enunciation, relating what the people did, when they ſaw the enemy break in upon them, and that by the wall of the city, it may be, having ſome breaches made in it, (which might give occaſion of the next paſſage, either directed to it, or concerning it,) that then bethinking themſelves of him, whom they had neglected before, all other helps and hopes failing, they betook themſelves by prayer to him. So Eſay 26.16—18. Hoſ.5.15. & 6.1. The heart cannot properly be ſaid to cry, no more then to ſpeak. Yet as it is ſaid to ſpeak, Pſal.27.8. when from the fulneſſe of it the mouth ſpeaketh, Mat.12.34. ſo is it alſo ſaid to cry; when it is with grief and ſorrow ſo full, that it muſt needs by ſuch means vent it ſelf. And yet can it not be hence concluded, that the perſons here intended, did ſincerely cry unto, or call upon God, becauſe their heart is ſaid to cry, and they conſequently to cry from, or with, the heart: for though to cry from the heart, be ſometime uſed for to cry ſincerely, to wit, when one cryeth out of a true touch and remorſe for ſin as ſin, as that which is offenſive and diſpleaſing to God, Ezek.6.9. and ſo it is ſaid of ſome that they cry not with their heart, though they howl upon their beds, Hoſ. 7.14. yet the heart may be ſaid to cry, and men to cry with the heart, or, from the heart, and to weep heartily, when they do either ſeriouſly, though not ſincerely; (and ſo crying with the heart, and with the whole heart; as Pſal.119.145. may be two diſtinct things.) when they do not fain nor counterfeit grief, make as though they were grieved at the heart, when there is no ſuch matter: as Iſmael did to delude ſome, Jer.41.6. but are ſerious in their grief, their heart is full of it, as well as their tongues with expreſſions of it: as it was with Eſau, Gen.27.38. Heb.12.17. and thoſe Iſraelites, Pſal.78.34—37. it was ſerious with both, ſincere with neither: and ſo might be with the generality of thoſe, whom the Prophet here intendeth. See Jer.22.27,28.

O wall of the daughter of Zion,] The Prophet here abruptly cutteth off the thred of his relation, and ſeemeth to turn his ſpeech to the wall of the city, at the breach whereof in likelihood ſuch outcries were very general from all ſorts; as calling upon it, though a dead and ſenſeleſſe thing to weep and cry perpetually; and the walls may be ſaid to weep in a figurative ſpeech, as well as the wayes to mourn, Chap.1.4. but by the wall, ſay moſt Interpreters, is here meant the city; and the city, ſay ſome, as being now nothing but bare walls without houſing and inhabitants. Others, the wall by a Synecdoche, put for the whole city; and the city then by a Metonymie, for the inhabitants: and ſo the wall at ſecond hand by a Metalepſis, for the wonted inhabitants of the city, that lived within compaſſe of it: but I ſuppoſe the wall here to be taken in its native ſenſe, for the wall of the city demoliſhed and ruined, as the ground and ſubject matter of the mourning in this manner and meaſure required. I ſhall add another Interpretation, and leave both to the conſideration of the reader. Theſe words, O wall, or, O the wall of the daughter of Sion, may be conceived as the ſubject matter of the outcries then uſed, when the walls were either battered in aſſault, or demoliſhed after the ſurpriſal of the city: which being annexed to the foregoing branch; the Prophet in the next place addreſſeth himſelf unto her, whoſe walls they were, that occaſioned the outcry, inciting her to that conſtant courſe of lamenting, to move God thereby to mercy and commiſeration towards her: thus taken, there will be no difficulty or harſhneſs at all in the whole paſſage, but all go on ſmoothly.

let tears run down like a river day and night:] Heb. make tear (for, tears, as Pſal.39.11.) to deſcend (as Jer.13.17.) as a river, (in great abundance (as Pſal.119.136.) day and night: inceſſantly, as Jer.9.1. & 14.17. So Chap.1.16. & 3.48.

give thy ſelf no reſt;] Or, no intermiſſion; as it is rendred, Chap.3.49. or, remiſſion, abatement; as the verb it cometh of ſeemeth to import, Pſal.38.8. & 77.2. in which latter place either notion may well conſiſt.

let not the apple of thine eyes ceaſe.] Heb. let not (or, ſuffer not) the daughters of thine eye to be ſilent: that which we call the ball, or apple, of the eye; from the ſpherical figure of it; that the Hebrews call the daughter of the eye; either as the deareſt and tendereſt part of it, Deut.32.10. Prov.7.2. or from the figures that ſeem to appear in it; whence alſo it is termed by the Greeks, the damſel, by the Latines, the babe of the eye. So Pſal.17.18. Zach.2.8. in the former of which places is another word alſo uſed of it, as for notion the ſame, ſo for notation, not much unlike to this latter: and to be ſilent, is commonly uſed for to ceaſe; becauſe men ceaſe or forbear to ſpeak, when they are ſilent. So Job 30.27. Pſal. 35.15.

V. 19. Ariſe] From thy bed; as Pſal.119.62.

in the top of every ſtreet.] Heb. head: as Prov.1.21. Ezek. 16.31. Eſay 51.20. So Chap.4.1.

V. 20. Behold, O Lord, and conſider, to whom thou haſt done this:] this :] Heb. See and behold (as Eſay 64.9.) with whom thou haſt dealt thus ; to wit, with thoſe that are thine own people : and what more canſt thou do to thine enemies ? the uſuall plea of Gods people or others in their behalf, to move him to mercy towards them, Exod.32.11. Deut.9.26,29. Eſay 26. 17. & 63.19. & 64.9. Jer.14.19,21. & 30.14. thus the word here found is accordingly again uſed for to do, or deal, Verſ. 22. howbeit, becauſe it is ſometime uſed for cutting, or, gathering, of cluſters, to wit, of grapes in vintage, or rather of the gleaning of them, Lev.19.10. Deut.24.21. and from thence applyed to the cutting off and deſtroying of people, Judg.20. 45. Jer.6.9. upon this ground the ancient Greek and old Latine ſo taking the word here, render the text, See and conſider whom thou haſt vintaged : but this the ſtructure of the words will not admit : for that word in that notion is never found with the particle here ſubjoyned.

ſhall the women eat their fruit,] Or, ſhould (as Jer. 5.7.) women eat their own fruit ; their children, as Pſal.21.10. the fruit of their womb, as Deut.7.13. & 28.4,18. Pſal.127.3.

and children of a ſpan long ?] Or, children, &c. for the copulative is here needleſſe. The word here uſed cometh from a term, that ſignifieth properly, not a ſpan, but an hand bredth, or, four fingers bredth ; or, as the Latines uſe to expreſſe it, a palm breadth, Pſal.39.5. Eſay 40.12. and ſo the old Latine here rendreth it, of the meaſure of an hand, or, a palm bredth : and the term is uſed indeed proverbially, as in Hebrew, ſo in other languages, to deſign thereby any thing of a very ſmall and ſhort ſize : and ſo in the place of the Pſalmiſt before-mentioned. Howbeit, becauſe the verb drawn from it, ſignifieth to mete, or to ſtretch, out ought with the hand ; as Eſay 48.13. my right hand hath meted out, or, ſtretched out, the heavens : hence both the Chaldee Paraphraſt and the Rabbines here expound it, the children of ſwadlings ; the children whoſe limmes the mothers were wont to ſtretch out and ſtroke, as if they were meting or meaſuring them, with their hands, to faſhion them, and make them grow ſtraight and proportionable ; and to the ſame purpoſe alſo to make them up with ſwathing bands; for this root ariſeth from a word frequent in the Talmudiſts, for a wrapper of linnen, wherewith to wrap up ought ; as alſo for a veil; or, apron, or the like, in Scripture, Ruth 3.15. Eſay 3. 22. and this Interpretation receiveth further ſtrength from what followeth here, Ver.22. that for want of food women ſhould eat their children in the ſtrait ſieges that this people ſhould endure, was before threatned, Lev. 26.29. Deut. 28. 53—57. Jer.19.9. Ezek.5.10. and was accordingly at ſundry times effected, 2 King.6.28,29. Chap. 4.3,10. See Joſeph the Jew of the Jewiſh War, lib.7. cap.21.

ſhall the Prieſt and the Prophet be ſlain in the Sanctuary of the Lord?] Or, ſhould. Should God endure to ſee his own houſe polluted with the bloud of his own Prieſts, and ſuch as bear the name at leaſt of his Prophets : for I ſuppoſe there was no true Prophet ſlain there by the enemy ; though they had themſelves ſometime defiled it with the bloud of ſuch, 2 Chr.24.21. See before, Ver.6.

V. 21. The young and the old lye on the ground in the ſtreets : my Virgins and my young men are fallen by the ſword:] For the Chaldeans ſpared none, regarding neither age nor ſex, 2 Chr. 36. 17.

thou haſt ſlain them in the day of thine anger ; thou haſt killed and not pitied.] The Chaldeans were but thine inſtruments, the executioners of thy wrath, Eſay 10.5,15. See Jer. 33. 5. ſo Chap.1.12,15. Ver.17. the pronoun is not in the text, nor the copulative : nor is either here needful, no more then Chap.3.43. where both are omitted. See Ver.4,17.

V. 22. Thou haſt called as in a ſolemn day my terrours round about ; ſo that in the day of the Lords anger none eſcaped, nor remained:] Heb. and there was no eſcaper, and remainer : and, for, or ; as Jer 44.14. Thou haſt ſummoned in, muſtered up, and brought in upon me, matter of terrour and ſtraits, ſo on every ſide to beſet and ſurround me, that there is no means or hope of eſcape unto any, but all are environed together, and involved, in the ſame common calamity, Jer.4.17 & 20. 3,10. So Chap.1.17. a metaphor taken from the calling of the people together unto their ſolemn aſſemblies by ſound of trumpet, Num.10.2,3. So before, Chap.1.15.

thoſe that I have ſwadled] Or, ſwathed ; ſo rather then as ſome, which I carried in mine hands: of the word, ſee before, on Ver.20. it ſeemeth to comprehend all thoſe offices that mothers or nurſes exerciſe about their children, for the manageing of their lims, and keeping of them in their due proportion and poſture during the time of their tender infancy.

and brought up,] Heb. made great. So Ezek. 19.2. nor, multiplied ; as the learned Scholiaſt amiſſe rendreth it : for it is in this notion parallel to that other term uſed, Eſay 1.2. by which the Jewiſh Scholiaſt here rightly expoundeth it.

hath mine enemy conſumed] As if they had been bred for no other end, but to be made ſlaughter ; meat for the murtherers ſword, Job 27.14. Hoſ.9.13.

CHAP. III.

Verſ. 1. I Am the man that hath ſeen affliction by the rod of his wrath.] The two former Chapters conſiſted of a ſingle alphabet, either of them. This conſiſteth of a three-fold Alphabet ; as the Pſalm 119. of an eightfold one. Every three Verſes in courſe beginning with the ſame letter, as every eight in order there. The ſame ſubject matter that was handled in the former, is with much variety of expreſſions, and further amplifications, in more conciſe and quick ſentences, very artificially and pathetically continued and carried on thorowout this. The queſtion is, Who the perſon ſhould be that the Prophet here ſpeaketh of. Some of the ancients, whom therein ſome of the Popiſh Writers concur with, would have it ſpoken of Chriſt : but to let paſſe all other arguments ; the very tenour of the context doth every where almoſt ſufficiently confute that frivolous conceit. Others would have it all ſpoken in the perſon of Gods people; lying now under heavy preſſures in the Babylonian Bondage, relating both what they had formerly ſuffered, and at preſent alſo did ſuſtain. Others laſtly, of the Prophet himſelf, in this kind more unhappy then other his fellow Prophets, in that they had foretold onely the calamities that ſhould befal Gods people ; he had ſurvived to ſee, and to undergo no ſmall ſhare among the reſt in them. I conceive that the perſon intended, is principally the main body of the people, though the Prophet himſelf alſo included as a lim of the ſame.

I am the man] I, the people of the Jews, the Jewiſh State ; and I Jeremy alſo among the reſt, am one of thoſe that have taſted of Gods wrathful rod. See Jer.15.18. & 30.12,15.

ſeen affliction] Not barely ſeen it ; but ſuſtained it ; to ſee, for, to ſuffer : as Jer.5.12. & 14.13. & 42.14. Pſal.16.10. & 49.9. & 89.48.

by the rod of his wrath.] Or, his rod of wrath ; that is, his wrathful rod : the rod wherewith he ſmiteth in wrath. So Eſay 10.5. See the like form of ſpeech alſo, Prov.22.8.

V. 2. He hath led me, and brought me into darkneſſe, but not into light.] He hath led me into captivity, as the word is uſed, Eſay 20.4. darkneſſe, for, affliction and miſery, Pſal.112. 4. Eſay 8.22. Chap.2.1. and, light, for, proſperity and jollity, Eſt.8.16. Pſal.97.11. both together, as here, ſo Job 18. 18. and the ſame thing in croſſe terms reiterated ; as Chap.2.8.

V. 3. Surely againſt me is he turned ; he turneth his hand againſt me all the day] He is turned againſt me, who had wont to be for me, Exod.14.25. Pſal. 46.7. or he turneth again upon me ; as Eſay 1.25. to fetch and inflict new ſtrokes; and that continually and inceſſantly all day long ; as Pſal. 44.22. & 73.14. See Chap.2.3,8. Job 30.15,21.

V. 4. My fleſh and my skin hath he made old;] Either withered it, with leanneſſe and wrinckles, Job 16.8. or, worn out, and conſumed it ; as Job 13.28. Pſal.32.3. Eſay 50.9.

he hath broken my bones.] Taken all ſupport and ſtrength away from me, Ch.1.14,50. Eſay 38.13. Jer.50.17.

V. 5. He hath builded againſt me] Encamped about me, and raiſed forts and batteries againſt me. So Job 19. 12. Eſay 29.2,3.

and compaſſed me with gall and travel.] Or, with venome, and vexation. See Jer.8.14. So again, Ver.19. The pronoun wanting, but ſupplyed from the former branch ; as Ver. 3.

V. 6. He hath ſet me in dark places;] He hath laid me in the grave ; the region of darkneſſe, Job 10. 21,22. Or, He hath caſt me into priſons and dungeons, Ver.33.35. Pſal. 88. 6. Eſay 44.22.

as they that be dead of old.] In them I lye as a corpſe in the grave, wholly diſregarded and utterly forgotten, Pſal.31.12. & 8.4,5. Ezek.37.11,12.

V.7. He hath hedged me about, that I cannot get out:]Or, he hedged me about. As having reference to the cloſeneſſe and ſtraitneſſe of the ſiege, Jer.4.17. & 52.7. So Job 3.23. & 19. 8. Pſal.88.8. Heb. and (for, that ; as Mal. 1. 9.) I ſhall not go out, for, cannot ; as Jer. 13.23. there is no poſſibility of eſcape, Jer.34.3. & 39.4,5.

he hath made my chain heavy.] Laid an heavy affliction of thraldome and bondage upon me, Pſal.66.11. Heb. braſſe, or ſteel, as Jer.15.12. & 39.7.

V. 8. Alſo when I cry and ſhout, he ſhutteth out my prayer.] Or, When I cryed alſo and that aloud, or, eagerly ; (two words of the ſame notion to add the more emphaſis ; as Eſay 12. 6. & 58.1. See Chap.2.5.) he obſtructed, or ſtopt, (as the word properly ſignifieth, 2 King.3.19,25. 2 Chr. 32. 3,4,30.) the paſſage of my prayer ; alluding, as our Verſion rendreth it, to the manner of thoſe that ſhut the door to keep ſuiters out, where they are not willing to be troubled with them : but it ſeemeth rather, to the practice of thoſe that ſtop the ear againſt ſpeech or words about ſuch matters as they liſt not, nor like to hear; as Pſal.58.4. Prov.24.13. Act.7.57. it is not ſo much againſt the party, as againſt the prayer. So Ver.44. and ſome therefore render it, he ſtoppeth his ear to my prayer: a defect of the noun after the verb; as Gen.42.33. Jer.16.7. See the like complaints, Job 19.7. & 30.20. Pſal.22.1,2. Hab.1.2.

V. 9. He hath encloſed my wayes with hewen ſtone;] Or, He encloſed my wayes. He ſo blocked up all paſſages about me, having hemmed me in, not with a thorny hedge, as Hoſ.2.6. or ſome earthy mud-wall, that might with no ſuch great difficulty be broken down, or digged thorow, but with a ſtrong fence of hewen ſtone, that there might be no poſſibility of acceſſe for any relief or ſuccour from abroad to me. See Jer.13.19. and this ſeemeth aimed at here, the obſtructions of acceſſe; as the prevention of eſcape before, Verſ. 7. See Job 19.12.

he hath made my paths crooked.] Heb. he perverted my paths, Jer.3.21. He turned all my projects and deſigns a contrary way; becauſe I took courſes contrary to his wayes, Lev.26.27,28. Pſal.18.26. So Ver.11. See Jer.19.3,7. & 33.4,5. & 37.7—10.

V. 10. He was unto me as a bear lying in wait;] So Hoſ.3.8. as a leopard, Jer.5.6. Hoſ.13.8.

and as a lion in ſecret places.] Pſal. 17.12. See the like, Job 10.6. Eſay 38.13. Hoſ.5.14. & 13.7. a defect of the note of ſimilitude in either clauſe: as Gen.49.9,14,17.

V. 11. He hath turned aſide my wayes,] Or, He turned aſide: the ſame in effect with that before of perverting his pathes, Ver.9. for that is too ſlight that ſome ſuggeſt, he deprived me of liberty to walk abroad: rather, he made all mine attempts and endeavours fruſtrate. See Jer.21.4. & 33.5.

and pulled me in pieces:] Worried and tore me in pieces, Job 16.9,12. Hoſ.5.14. & 6.1. & 13.8. as a lion or a bear doth ſome beaſt that it hath preyed upon, Ver. 10. Deut.33.10. Pſal.7.2. Mic.5.8.

he hath made me deſolate.] As Chap.1.13.

V. 12. He hath bent his bowe;] Or, He bent his bowe. Heb. trod it. So Chap.2.4.

and ſet me as a mark for the arrow.] Job 7.20. & 16.12.

V. 13. He hath cauſed the arrowes of his quiver to enter into my reins.] Or, He cauſed, &c. Heb. the ſons of his quiver: as, ſparks are termed, the ſons of the quick-coal, Job 5.7. and, corn, the ſon of the floor, Eſay 21.10. See the like expreſſions, Job 8.4. & 16.13. Pſal.38.2. reins, for, inward vital parts: as Job 16.13. & 19.27. So, loines, Deut.33.8. Pſal.38.7.

V. 14. I was a deriſion to all my people;] That is, ſay ſome of the Jewiſh Maſters, to the wicked and perfidious ones among my people, as Jer.20.7. or to ſuch people, as had been before ſubject to me, as Moab, Amelek and Edom: or as one of ours, with all my people; as the particle ſeems uſed, Ezr.1.5. But it is the people that ſpeaketh it: and the words, as another Jewiſh Critick hath well obſerved, may be read and rendred, to all peoples; that is, to all forrain people: the word a plural, wanting only its laſt letter; as the very ſame word is found with the like defect, 2 Sam.22,44. compared with Pſal.18.43. See the like complaints, Pſal.44.13. & 79.4. Ezek.36.15.

and their ſong all the day.] Heb. their neginath, or, hand-inſtrument of muſick. So Job 30.9. See Eſay 38.20. I was unto them as ſome lute or kit, (the note of ſimilitude is wanting, as Ver.10.) one whom they played on at pleaſure, and that inceſſantly. So Pſal.35.15,16. & 69.12. Ver.63.

V. 15. He hath filled me with bitterneſſe;] Heb. ſatiated; cloyed, or glutted me (as Ver.30. Job 7.4.) with bitterneſſes, that is, with things extreamly bitter; as Deut.32.32. See the ſame, Job 9.18. See the like, Ruth 1.20,21. Chap.1.4.

he hath made me drunken with wormwood.] Or, hen-bane, or, wolfs-bane, rather; ſome kind of herb that is rank and deadly poiſon. See on Ier.8.14. & 23.15. of the juice of ſuch venomous ſtuff hath he forced me to drink; not ſome ſmall quantity, but in great abundance. See Ier.31.14,25. & 46.10. or ſo plyed me with it, that it hath beſotted me, and made me beſide my ſelf. See the like, Job 9.18. Pſal.60.3. Eſay 51.17,21,22. Jer.25.17,18. Ezek.23.32—34. Verſ.5,19.

V. 16. He hath alſo broken my teeth with gravel ſtones:] Such food he hath fed me with, as may ſeem rather to be ſtones then bread, Mat.4.3. & 7.9. An alluſion to men that eat gritty bread, of ſuch griſt as milſtones are at firſt wont to make, or to ſuch gravel, as having by accident fallen into, and being mixed with, bread or other food, not diſcovered, proveth offenſive to the teeth of him that eateth of it. See Prov.20.17.

he hath covered me with aſhes.] The word here uſed hath no brother, ſaith the Jewiſh Critick: and the notion of it therefore is very uncertain. Nor do their great Maſters agree about it, but render it, ſome one way, and ſome another. One, he hath polluted me. Another, he hath preſſed me down; citing ſome inſtances for that purpoſe from the Talmud; and ſo alſo the Chaldee. Others, he hath rolled me in aſhes: as, in duſt, Mic.1.10. So Jer.6.26. another, he hath covered me over with aſhes. Like that of Job, I am become like duſt and aſhes, Job 30.19. The ancient Greek and the old Latine, (whom ſome Hebrew profeſſors of note concur with) he hath fed me with aſhes. And to theſe the rather I encline, both becauſe it ſorteth very fitly with the courſe of the context; and the like expreſſions is found elſe-where, Pſal.102.9.

V. 17. And thou haſt removed my ſoul far off from peace:] Thou haſt ſet me and proſperity aſunder: taken me from it; or, taken it from me; caſt me out of that proſperous condition that I formerly enjoyed: the terms far off, are not in the text: peace, for, proſperity: as Jer.29.7. my ſoul, for, me: as Pſal.3.2. & 22.20,21. & 88.14. in which laſt place alſo the verb here uſed is found. A learned Annotator would have it read, Thy ſoul was removed from peace: which he expoundeth, thou waſt wholly alienated from thoughts of peace and welfare concerning me: and ſaith it was ſo anciently, untill the Scribes altred it: and the old Latine rendreth it, My ſoul is repelled, or, removed, from peace: which though in ſenſe it ſwarve not from what both Jewiſh Commenters ſuggeſt, and our Verſion holdeth out, yet neither doth it expreſſe fully, what the text thus taken exhibiteth, to wit, the attributing of the thing mentioned, to God, unto whom, the Prophet here turneth his ſpeech, nor doth it anſwer preciſely to the terms of the text, wherein the verb uſed is never found in a paſſive notion; that which alſo evidently refelleth that former learned mans conceit. The Chaldee rendreth it, My ſoul refuſeth to enquire after peace: which may better conſiſt with the terms of the text, then either of thoſe twain, and would be the ſame in ſubſtance with that, Pſal.77.2. my ſoul refuſed to be comforted.

I forgat proſperity.] Or, I have forgotten welfare. Heb. good; as Iob 9.25. I no more now mind it, then as if I never had enjoyed it, or knew what it meant: or, I think no more on it, then as one that never looketh or hopeth to be acquainted with it again. So Gen.41.51. Iob 11.16. See Iob 30.15.

V. 18. And I ſaid,] Or, Then (as Ier.52.7.) I ſaid, I thought with my ſelf; as Pſal.32.5. & 39.1.

my ſtrength and my hope is periſhed from the Lord.] Or, My ſupport; as God is called the ſupport of Iſrael, 1 Sam.15.29. and bloud; the ſupport of the living creature, Eſay 63.3,6. becauſe when that is ſpent and faileth, the body falleth: and the word hath a notion of ſubſiſtence and permanence in it. I was clean out of hope, either of ſubſiſtence or of recovery again. So Pſal.31.22. & 116.10,11. Eſay 40.27. & 49.14. Ezek.37.11.

V. 19. Remembring mine affliction, and my miſery, the wormwood and the gall.] Wherewith God had fed them, ver.5,15. See Ier.8.14. & 9.15. the word rendred miſery is by ſome rendred attenuation; by others, lamentation, but neither produce ought wherewith to back either interpretation; the old Latine rendreth it, tranſgreſſion; and the word it cometh of ſignifieth very commonly to rebell; but that ſeemeth to have no place here, nor doth it well ſuit with that expoſition of the place, that one of the Rabbines giveth an hint of upon the place, and that Verſion exhibiteth, conceiving the text as in form of a prayer to God, Remember mine affliction, or, humiliation: ſure they would never requeſt God to remember their tranſgreſſions, or, rebellions, but with David rather to forget them, Pſal. 25.7. & 79.8. howſoever that expoſition of the place ſeem not genuine. But ſome laſtly, both Jewiſh and ours, render it expulſion, or, exilement; that which ſeemeth to be ſeconded by that of Eſay 58.7. before pointed to on Chap.1.7. where the ſame term was uſed. Remembring, that is, In remembring; as Ier.17.2. Pſal.42.4. when I remember and think upon the great depth of affliction, and extremity of bitterneſs, that God hath brought me unto; and this Verſion the words following confirm.

V. 20. My ſoul hath them ſtill in remembrance, and is humbled in me.] The ſenſe is, I have them in mind continually, I cannot forget them; and am much dejected and caſt down, (Heb. bowed down; as Pſal.42.4,5,11. & 44.25.) ſo oft as I think on them. Heb. remembring remember; as Ier.31.20. and, my ſoul; as ver.17. Pſal.57.1. but this form maketh the ſpeech more emphatical and affectionate; as Pſal.57.4.

V. 21. This I recall to my mind; therefore have I hope.] Heb. reduce, or, make to return to my heart; as Deut.30.1. Yet when I conſider and call to mind Gods infinite mercies, I begin to conceive ſome hope again of recovery, and am not wholly ſwallowed up with deſpair. Thus, though in extremity of affliction and depth of temptation, are even the faithful toſſed to and fro between hope and fear, and brought down to the very pits brink of deſpair; yet the better part at length prevails, ſee ver.24. They ſeem to ſtrain the text, who would refer the ground of hope here pointed at to the foregoing relation, becauſe mans miſery is oft-times made a motive of mercy, Pſal.12.5. Chap.1. 11, 20. The text runs more freely of its own accord in way of reference to what enſueth. The diſcretive, yet, ſeemeth wanting, to be ſupplyed, and prefixed; as Pſal.119.83. Iob 14.9. Ier.51.53.

V. 22. It is of the Lords mercies that we are not conſumed] Or, To wit, (ſupplyed, as Ier.34.9.) that it is the Lords great mercy: ſo the word plural importeth, Pſal.89.1. ſee Eſay 63.7. conſidering our extream wickedneſs, it is a wonder that it is not far worſe with us, then as yet it is: it is of his mere abundant mercy that any of us do ſurvive and remain, and that there is not an utter riddance made of us at once, Ezr.9.13,15. ſee Ier.5.10,18. & 30.11. Mal.3.6. That which giveth hope of Gods intending ſome good to us, in that he reſerveth a ſeed of us, Eſay 1.9. Rom.9.29. & 11.4,5.

becauſe his compaſſions fail not.] Or, that (as Ier.49.13.) his tender mercies (or, compaſſionate affections; as Eſay 63.7. are not ſpent, or conſumed; as Mal.3.6.

V. 23. They are new every morning:] Or, That they (to wit, his mercies and compaſſions, ver.22.) are, or have been daily renewed. Heb. new in the mornings are they: as Eſay 33.2. See Iob 7.18. Zeph.3.5.

great is thy faithfulneſſe.] Or, that thy faithfulneſſe, (or, his faithfulneſſe: a change of the perſon, as Eſay 1.29. Ier.44.10.) is great, Pſal.36.5. See 2 Tim.2.13.

V. 24. The Lord is my portion,] I have an intereſt ſtill in him; as Pſal.16.5. & 73.26. & 119.57. Ier.10.6.

ſaith my ſoul,] Or, I ſay, as ver.20.

therefore will I hope in him.] Or, wait on him; with hopeful expectation wait and depend upon him, verſ. 21. Iob 13. ver.15.

V. 25. The Lord is good unto them that wait for him,] That with patience and perſeverance amidſt their afflictions depend upon him for delivery until his due time thereof do come, Pſal.40.1. Eſay 8.17. & 30.18.

to the ſoul that ſeeketh him.] Or, to him, to the perſon, (as ver.20.) that ſeeketh him, Pſal.9.10. and 24.6. and 27.8. and 105.4.

V. 26. It is good that a man ſhould both hope, and quietly wait for the ſalvation of the Lord.] Heb. No more but, Good, and he wait; which ſome render it, it is well with him that both doth wait; and this way ſhould I go, I ſhould rather render it, It is well with him, that doth wait; the copulative put for the relative, as Ier.41.8. & 48.45. But as I conceive, with leaſt ſupply, and moſt familiar, it may beſt be rendred, It is good that (ſo is the copulative uſed, Pſal. 144.3.) a man wait (as 2 King.6.33.) and be ſilent, (as ver.28. Pſal.62.1,5. & 131.2.) that is, wait ſilently (as, made haſte and came, for, came haſtily, 1 Sam.4.14. and ſit, be ſilent, for, ſit ſilently, Eſay 47.5. and reign and proſper, for, reign proſperouſly, Ier.23.5.) for the ſalvation of the Lord, Gen.49.18. Pſal.119.174. It is good for one to wait quietly, until God pleaſe to ſend deliverance, both becauſe it is his duty ſo to do, Pſal. 123.2. and becauſe there is hope of delivery, if he ſo do; Exod. 14.13. Eſay 30.15. ver.29.

V. 27. It is good for a man that he bear the yoke in his youth] That he be enured, as to the ſtrict obſervation of Gods law, Pſal.119.9. Mat.11.29. So to the patient enduring of his will, in ſuch afflictions, as God ſhall ſee good to exerciſe him with, Pſal.94.12. & 119.67,71,75. Iob 5.17. Prov.3.11,12. Heb.12.6—10.

V. 28. He ſitteth alone,] Or, That he ſit alone. See Ier.15.17. Pſal.102.7.

and keepeth ſilence] Or, and be ſilent. See ver.26. So Pſal. 39.9.

becauſe he hath born it upon him.] Or, when (as Ier.51.48.) it, to wit, the yoke) is laid upon him. Heb. when he had laid it upon him; as the verb is uſed, 2 Sam.24.12. but taken here indefinitely; and therefore beſt expreſſed by the paſſive; as Amos 4.2. Habb.3.17. Luk.12.20. So rather, or if it be referred to the patient, when he beareth it; as a verbal thence deduced is rendred, Zeph.1.11. then as the learned Scholiaſt, when he hath taken it up upon him: though the word be oft ſo taken; as Eſay 40.15. & 63.9. for the yoke of afflictions is not voluntarily taken up; but impoſed and inflicted even upon thoſe that are moſt willing and ready to bear it: compare, Mat.16.24. with Joh.21.18,19. See alſo, 1 Chr. 21.13,17.

V. 29. He putteth his mouth in the duſt,] Or, That he put his mouth in the duſt; Humbling himſelf even to the ground: or as if he ſhould ſtop his mouth with duſt for fear of breaking out into any repining or murmuring language, Iob 40.4,5. But this latter ſeemeth to be with the largeſt. It is an alluſion, as ſome conceive to the manner of thoſe, that having been ſubdued, are enforced to lay their necks down to be trampled upon, and to lick up the duſt under the feet of thoſe, by whom they have been ſubdued, Joſh.10.24. Pſal. 72.9. Eſay 49.23. & 51.23. & 60.14. or, as others rather, unto the uſual manner of ſuppliants, that uſe to bow down ſo low, or lay themſelves along in that manner, that as they ly groveling, their mouth toucheth the ground, 2 Sam.12.16. & 14.22. Eſay 9.8. Dan.8.17. Mat.26.39. and withall to that duſt and aſhes on which they were wont in ſuch caſes to proſtrate themſelves, Job 42.6. Eſay 58.5. Mic.1.10.

if ſo be there may be hope.] Heb. peradventure there is hope; as Gen.32.20. Dan.4.27. ſuch humble, patient, quiet, and ſubmiſſive carriage, may well give a man ground of hope. Yet it is thus propounded, implying that what God thereupon doth, is out of his mere mercy, not of mans merit, and therefore not to be preſumed on, or claimed as due debt. So Joel 2.14. Zeph.2.3.

V. 30. He giveth his cheek to him that ſmiteth him;] Or, That he give, &c. Be content to endure diſgraceful, deſpiteful and contumelious uſage, Eſay 50.6. Mic.5.1. Mat.5.39. & 26.67.

he is filled full with reproach.] Or, That he be filled (Heb. ſatiated, or cloyed; as ver.15.) with reproach: ſuſtain abundance of reproachful uſage. So Pſal.123.4.

V. 31. For the Lord will not caſt off for ever.] Though he do leave his people for ſome time, and that for the good of thoſe that either are ſincere and faithful already, or that are reclaimed and reformed by his judgments; yet he will not always ſo do, So 1 Sam.12.22. Pſal.94.14. Eſay 57.16.

V. 32. For though he cauſe grief, yet will he have compaſſion according to the multitude of his mercies.] Or, as ſome render it, For when he hath cauſed grief, or grieved, he doth alſo, or again ſhew mercy according to the amplitude of his benignities. But for the former part, I adhere rather to our Verſion. Heb. if, for, though; as Ier.15.1. and, and, for, yet; as Ier.50.10, 22. In the latter part, I ſhould rather ſay, abundance, then multitude: the word well admitting either; and ſo alſo, Pſal. 51.1. & 106.45. See Eſay 14.1. & 54.7,8. Mic.7.18,19.

V. 33. For he doth not afflict willingly, nor grieve the children of men] Heb. He doth not afflict from his heart. He doth not willingly afflict any, his own people eſpecially; but what he doth in this kind, he is in a manner enforced to by their ſins, 2 Chr.36.16. Ier.5.7,9. & 30.14. & 44.20. or, He taketh no delight in afflicting people; it goeth againſt the hair, and againſt the heart with him to be dealing roughly with them; it is a grief to him to be grievous to them, a pain to himſelf to be puniſhing of them, Eſay 1.24. Ezek.18.23,31,32. & 33.11. or, he puniſheth not according to his might; as either he might juſtly, or could do, if he would put out his might, and make uſe of his power, but with reſpect to mans infirmity, Job 37.23. Pſal.78.38,39. Eſay 27.8. & 48.9. & 57.16. or, he doth not afflict his out of any ſiniſter diſpoſition towards them, or evil affection to them, but to try their ſincerity and to exerciſe their patience, pſal.66.10. prov.3.11,12. Rom.5.3,4. Heb.5.8. & 10.32. Jam.1.3. 1 Pet.1.7. & 4.12. Rev.3.10. Thus divers diverſly, among which the firſt ſeemeth moſt proper, as beſt ſuiting with that form, from the heart, as we alſo uſe it, and ſo render, Eph.6.6. what the Apoſtle there ſaith, from the ſoul. Howbeit, I ſhall add how the phraſe is in the Hebrew uſed. A man is ſaid to ſpeak, or do a thing from his heart, or out of his own heart; for theſe terms in Hebrew differ not, when he doth it out of his own mere motion, or invention, without ſuggeſtion, information, direction, or occaſion given, or miniſtred to him, by any other. So it is ſaid of Jeroboam, that he kept a feſtival, which he had deviſed from his heart, or, out of his own heart, without any commiſſion or direction from God, 1 King.12.33. So Nehemy to Sanballat, thou feineſt theſe things from thine heart, or, out of thine own heart, Neh.6.8. having no ground for them, or upon no occaſion given from me, or information from any other. So the meaning here may be, that God doth never afflict out of his own mere Will or motion onely, without ſome good ground and juſt occaſion given him from thoſe whom he doth afflict. So one of the Rabbines here, He doth it not out of his own Will; for mans iniquity giveth occaſion: contrary to that which of natural parents the Apoſtle ſaith, that they ſometime chaſtiſe after their own pleaſure, if his meaning be ſuch as our Engliſh expreſſeth it: which yet I doubt much of, the words being onely, as ſeemed good, or meet to them, whether their children liked it or no, howſoever they deemed of it: but ſo worldly parents ſometime do in an humour, as we ſay, where no juſt cauſe is given of ſo doing: God never. His bounty and kindneſs floweth from him freely of it ſelf, his ſeverity and harſhneſſe ariſeth from ſomewhat in us.

V. 34. To cruſh under his feet all the priſoners of the earth.] The three next Verſes ſome Interpreters annex to the words next before-going; as more particularly relating what thoſe things were, that God did not from his heart, either himſelf do, or cauſe to be done. Others rather refer all that is here related to the laſt clauſe, in the cloſe of ver. 36. whereof more ſhall be ſaid when we ſhal come to that branch. The matters here mentioned are in general oppreſſions, referred to two heads; ſome hoſtile, executed in times of war, ver.34. ſome civil, exerciſed in times of peace, by force or fraud, ver. 35,36. The entrance into this paſſage ſeeming ſomewhat abrupt, divers Interpreters ſeek to cleer it by ſundry ſupplyes: ſome inſerting, To think, or, To ſay; as if the Prophet did here relate the words or thoughts of others, not deliver his own. Others, when a man is ready, to do as is here deſcribed: as, I am ready to halt, Pſal. 38.17. But our Verſion is plain and full enough. The infinitive is oft uſed in other languages, as well as in Hebrew for the noun; to do ſuch things, for, the doing of ſuch things: for any to cruſh under his feet, or, ſimply, the cruſhing under ones feet, ſuch as they have ſubdued and hold in captivity; when men exerciſe ſuch cruelty and oppreſſion upon them, that they tread them down and trample upon them, as upon dirt and clay; or upon morter and rubbiſh, untill they grind them to powder, that is, have worn them clean out by harſh and hard uſage, Eſay 10.6.& 14 15,16.& 16.4.& 51.23.Jer.12.10. Dan. 7.7. Chap.1.14. See Eſay 3.15.Mic.3.3.

all the priſoners of the earth.] Heb. all the bound of the earth, either of the earth, that is, the world in general; as Pſal.24.1. that which of the Aſſyrians and Chaldeans is ſaid, Eſay 10. 13,14.& 14.7,17. or, of the land; as Pſal.37.3. ſome particular country, Eccl.5.8. the land of Judea, more ſpecially aimed at, Jer.39.9.& 50.17.

V. 35. To turn aſide the right of a man] Heb. to cauſe to decline, ſway aſide, or overthrow; as Prov.18.5. Eſay 10.2. See there, and ver.36.

before the face of the moſt high.] In the ſight of God, Pſal. 51.4. Ver.38. not dreading him, or his diſpleaſure, Mal. 3. 5. who is an avenger of ſuch courſes, Pſal.94.1. Prov.22.22,23. & 23.10,11. 1 Theſſ.4.6. So the moſt. Howbeit, ſome expound it of God himſelf, as not doing himſelf what is here ſaid, to wit, that God doth not ſway or pervert judgment in any cauſe that cometh before him, Iob 8.3. & 34.5,12. and ſay they, the noun is put for the pronoun; the face of the higheſt, for, his face; as, the Lords heavens, for, his heavens, Ver. 66. But this ſeemeth not to ſuit ſo well with the tenour and courſe of the context. And there want not, which our margent alſo intimateth, that underſtand the word here uſed, not of God, but of ſome earthly Judge, of a man in place of Authority and judicature; rendring the words, before the face of a Superiour. Heb. on high one: and the word is uſed not of God alone, but of other things alſo, both places, as 2 King.15.35. 2 Chr.8.5. and perſons, as Deut.26.19. and I ſee not, why it ſhould be taken otherwiſe here: as a word of the very ſame notion is, of thoſe that ſit aloft in place of judicature above others, in a place parallel to this, Eccl. 5.8. There is one high above the high, and high ones above them; where the term high is given to God in the firſt place; to Judges in the ſecond place; to Angels (as ſome alſo think) in the third.

V. 36. To ſubvert a man in his cauſe,] Heb. To pervert a man in his controverſie; that is, by over-ſwaying the proceedings at Law, and cauſing the ſcale to decline and weigh down the wrong way, Ver.35. to overthrow a man in his ſuit: that which is termed, a wreſting of judgment, or right, Deut.16. 19. Thus, if we conceive the one, as ſome do, to be no more then a further illuſtration of the other: yet ſome Interpreters diſtinguiſh them, conceiving the former to be meant of over-ſwaying cauſes by power and might: the other of carrying things awry by cunning and ſlight: and this ſeemeth not improbable.

the Lord approveth not.] This clauſe is generally deemed to reach to all thoſe particulars before recited; but is very variouſly expounded. The words are in Hebrew, the Lord ſeeth not. Which ſome read by way of interrogation, Doth not God ſee it? as if it came in by way of objection, againſt what had been ſaid of Gods unwillingneſſe to afflict, Doth he not ſee ſuch things as thoſe to be done? to which the anſwer ſhould be returned, Ver.39. Others, as a ground laid for the enſuing aſſertion of Gods general providence and diſpoſal of all things; Should not God ſee it? can it be ſo done, that he ſhould not ſee and regard it? as Job 11.11. ſhould he ſee iniquity, and not conſider, or, regard it? But Others, and ſo the moſt, read them by way of enunciation, the Lord ſeeth not: that which ſome take according to the proper and native notion of the word, conceiving it to be delivered as the ſpeech and imagination of wicked men, that God ſeeth none of theſe things when they are done. So Job 22.13,14. Pſal. 10.11. & 94.7. But how ſuch ſhould be brought in ſpeaking here, is not eaſie to deſcry. Others therefore take the word of ſeeing, in a figurative ſenſe. Some, God ſeeth none of theſe things; that is, he knoweth them not, he is not acquainted with them, he doth not practice any of them; he doth not handle men cruelly without ſight and reaſon; nor make uſe of his power to oppreſſe any man in judgment; nor of his skill to pervert any mans cauſe, that cometh before him, but is willing to hear and try all indifferently, according to the rules of equity and right. Others, and ſo the moſt, he doth not ſee; that is, like of, or approve; he doth not behold any of theſe things with an eye of allowance and approbation; as Num.23.21. Hab.1.13. and this laſt ſeemeth the genuine ſenſe of the place. So it is a confirmation of that which was formerly ſaid, that God afflicteth not from the heart; ſince that, though he permitteth ſuch things to be done, and giveth way therein to mans malice, for the execution of his juſt judgment on ſome, and the chaſtiſement of others; yet he doth not approve the things done in thoſe whom he maketh uſe of as inſtruments therein. See Hab.1.12,13. If we read the words by way of interrogation, it will be part of an objection begun here; continued, Ver.37,38. and anſwered, Ver.39.

V. 37. Who is he that ſaith, and it cometh to paſſe, when the Lord commandeth it not?] Theſe words are very diverſly rendred, though for the ſenſe of them in general moſt agree, to wit, that nothing is done here below, but by a divine providence and diſpoſal. Some render them as a check to that impious conceit of men, as they conceive before mentioned, that God ſeeth not, or regardeth not what men here on earth do. Who is he, that ſaith this, that it is, (that ought is done) when the Lord hath not commanded it? Who is he that can or dare be ſo preſumptuous and impious, as to ſay that ought cometh to paſſe without Gods providence and appointment? Prov.16.4,33. & 21.30,31. & 29.16. Mat.10.29,30. Others, Who is he, that ſaith, and it is, (that which he ſaith cometh to paſſe and is effected) if the Lord have not commanded it? Who is he, that is able to effect and bring about what he ſpeaketh, or purpoſeth, unleſſe God permit and give way thereunto? Prov.16.1,9. Jer.10.23. Jam.4.13,15. And theſe two readings, as in ſenſe they little differ; ſo the words of the text will well admit either: but the latter, which our Verſion followeth, ſeemeth the right. There is a defect of the relative in either: in the former branch; of the particle of time with the former, as Jer.18.18. of the conditional with the latter, as Eſay 30.20. in the latter branch, as Jer.50.5. & 52. 12. Some reſtrain the text to the Chaldeans employment againſt Gods people, rendring the words in two diſtinct propoſitions; Who is he, who when he ſpake, it was done? (Heb. he ſpake and it was done; as Pſal.33.9.) hath not God enjoyned this? to wit, the Chaldeans breaking in upon us, and dealing with us, as they have done. But the ſentence ſeemeth more general, driving at this, to ſhew, that though God do nothing of this nature, either out of any deſire of, or delight in, the thing it ſelf; nor out of his own meer motion and pleaſure; but upon occaſion miniſtred by man, and juſt ground given him from the perſons themſelves that ſuffer; yet nothing befalleth any in this kind but by his diſpoſal; nothing but what he hath Commanded. that is, in his ſecret and unſearchable providence pre-ordained and appointed, either to act, or to permit and give way to. See 2 Sam. 12. 11,12. & 16.10. 1 King.12.15,24. Jer. 34.22. Act. 2. 23. & 4.28.

V. 38. Out of the mouth of the moſt high proceedeth not evill and good?] Heb. Cometh not the evill things, and the good? or, thoſe things that are evill, and that that is good? for the article prefixed with either is emphatical: and the former word is plural, the latter ſingular: which though ſome deſcant upon, as if it implyed that more evil things ordinarily befell men here then good; yet by an uſual Hebraiſm, joyning nouns plural with verbs ſingular in a notion of diſtribution, as Eſay 26.19. Joel 1.20. cometh evils and good; is no more then cometh each evil (as Amos 3.6.) as well as ought that is good. So the meaning is, that as well croſſe iſſues and penalties, as benefits and proſperous ſucceſſes come, all of them by Gods appointment, Job 1.21. & 2.10. Pſal.75.7. Eſay 45. 7. Amos 3.6. Gods mouth, for, his appointment: whether of direction, as 1 Sam.15.24. or of determination, 2 King. 24.3. and ſo here; ſee Deut. 8.3. Some repeat from the foregoing Verſe thoſe words, Who is it that ſaith? But neither is that Verſion there unqueſtioned, nor is the ſupply needful here.

V. 39. Wherefore doth living man complain, a man for the puniſhment of his ſins?] Heb. For his ſin. But the term is uſed in Scripture, not only for ſin it ſelf, or the act of it; but ſometime alſo for a ſin-ſacrifice; a ſacrifice offered for the expiation of ſome ſin, Lev.4.3. 2 Cor.5.21. ſometime, for the guilt of ſin, or, obligation to ſufferings for it, Gen.4.7.& 20. 9. and further again for any penalty inflicted, or to be inflicted in way of puniſhment for it, Gen.4.13. Zach.14.19. and ſo our Verſion here taketh it: of which yet there is yet no neceſſity. But there is more ambiguity about another word in the text: for the word rendred complain, ſome render mourn, or be ſorrowful, and in heavineſſe; ſome, vex himſelf; ſome, murmur. The two former ground their interpretation upon a word that hath a notion, ſometime of grief, and heavineſſe;

Deut.26.14. whence Benoni, Gen.35.18. and, mourners, Hoſ. 9.4. ſometime, of grievance, affliction, vexation, Job 5.6.& 15. 35. Hence, ſome render it, Why is the living man ſorrowfull? man ſuffereth for his ſin. So our Geneva Verſion, dividing the text into two diſtinct branches, a queſtion and an anſwer thereunto: which one of our former Verſions doth another way; Why then doth the living man mourn? let him mourn for his own ſin; that hath brought ſuch things upon him; as Chap. 5.16. To which purpoſe alſo a learned Scholiaſt; Why doth the living man complain? let each man complain of his own ſin: a man, for, each one; as Jer.5.8. and the ſupply from the former branch, as Gen.1.16. Others, Why doth he afflict himſelf by his ſins? why doth he procure evils to himſelf by the committing of ſin? And others again, Why doth he vex himſelf? (to wit, by impatient carriage under Gods hand, as thoſe, Prov.19.3. Eſay 8.21. Rev.16.9,10.) even a man in his ſin: perſiſting ſtill in the ſame, Rev.9.20,21.& 16. 10. But thoſe that go the laſt way, as the moſt do, following the ancient Greek and old Latine, therein going before them, build upon the uſe of the word, Num.11.1. where in a notion of murmuring, it is moſt generally taken. And the Greek rendreth it, why ſhould the living man murmur, a man for his ſin? which preciſely expreſſeth the Hebrew: the Latine followeth him exactly, ſave that for his ſin, he hath ſins: both uſe two ſeveral words for man, as the Hebrew alſo doth; but our Engliſh cannot ſo fitly expreſſe. Some other, Why ſhould the living man murmur, any one for his ſins? that which muſt be underſtood of the puniſhment of ſin: a man, for, any one; as Jer.5.1. Our ancienteſt Verſion, Why then murmureth the living man? let him murmur at his own ſin. The plaineſt Verſion ſeemeth to be, Why ſhould any living wight complain, or, murmur? (for either will ſuit with the uſe of the word, Num. 11.1.) any man, I ſay, ſuffering for his ſin? what cauſe hath any man to complain of God, or murmur againſt God, as dealing roughly and rigorouſly with him, when he ſuffereth nothing but what he hath procured to himſelf by his ſins? Chap.1.18. Ver.42. Jer.2.17,19. & 4.18. & 30.15. & 44. 8. Mic.7.9. In the term, living man, ſome would have to be intimated that kind of life that is common to man with the bruit beaſt, Gen.7.4,23, See Eſay 2.22. But the word ſeemeth rather to have reference to mans life here on earth, even that which is peculiar to man as man, ſubject and expoſed to manifold afflictions, and variety of annoyances, while he abideth in this mortal life. So Eccl.4.2,15,16. See Job 5.7. & 14.1.

V. 40. Let us ſearch and try our wayes,] A pious inference upon the former diſcourſe, ſince that it is ſo, that God neither deſireth nor delighteth in dealing thus with us, but that we by our ſins have provoked, yea, inforced him to do what he hath done; let us repent of our ſins, break them off, return from them, reform our lives, and take a new courſe: and that we may ſincerely and ſeriouſly ſo do, let us take a ſtrict view and ſurvey of our former courſes, that we may alter and amend whatſoever upon a due and narrow ſearch we ſhall deſcry and diſcover to have been amiſſe in them. This ſerious conſideration, and ſedulous examination of a mans ſelf, is the readieſt way to true repentance, Pſal.4.4. & 119. 59. Zeph.2.1. Hagg.1.5,7. 1 Cor. 11.28. The words ſeem to have ſome alluſion to the ſearching and diving into either the bowels of beaſts broken up in ſacrifice; or into the bowels of the earth for the diſcovery of rich mines and treaſure, Prov.2.4. & 20.27. Jer.17.10. and two words of the ſame notion are joyned together, to intimate the narrower and more accurate enquiry; as the like, Deut. 13. 14. and the ſame term repeated, Zeph.2.1.

and turn again to the Lord,] Return to him, from whom turning away by our ſins we have brought theſe evils upon our ſelves, Jer.1.15,16. & 2.13,15. & 5.25. Eſay 59.2. and unto whom we cannot return again, but by turning away from them, Eſay 55.7. Ier.4.1. Joel 1.11. Zach.1.3.

V. 41. Let us lift up our heart with our hands unto God in the heavens.] Heb. Let us lift up our heart to our hands. Whence ſome pick out myſtical notions, of joyning heart to hand in prayer; and ſeconding prayer with practiſe. And the Jewiſh Maſters go another way; and becauſe it is ſaid of a ſmall cloud, that it appeared like a mans hand, 1 King.18.44. and of God it is ſaid, that he covereth the light ſometime with clouds, as with his hands, Job 36.32. (for I conceive no other to be the genuine ſenſe of that place) they would therefore have the word both here, and in that place of Job, to ſignifie the clouds; put here for the heavens; and the heavens, for God that dwelleth in heaven, Pſal. 115.3. Luk. 15. 18. and it ſhould thus be no more then, Let us lift up our heart toward the clouds, (that is, to God above) unto God that is in heaven. But we ſhall not need to have recourſe to theſe ambiguous and far-fetcht about expoſitions: the particle here uſed is well rendred with; as the old Latine alſo hath it; (for the Greek is ambiguous, and the Chaldee roveth) and ſo the particle is uſed, Jer.25.26, and all the Kings of the North one with another; and Ezek.16.26. Thou haſt played the harlot with the Egyptians. The meaning then is plain; Let us lift up our hearts together with our hands; alluding to the uſual rite of lifting up the hands in prayer to God, Pſal.28.2. & 63.4. & 141.2. and withal, to that form of ſpeech, whereby prayer in Scripture is frequently deſcribed, by the lifting up of the heart, or ſoul, unto God, Pſal.25.1. & 86.4. & 143.8. in the one is implyed the ſincerity and ſeriouſneſſe of that office; in the other the intention and earneſtneſſe in it; to God in the heavens: unto that God, who alone is the true God, and hath his principall place of abode in heaven, Pſal. 115.3. Mat.6.9.

V. 42. We have tranſgreſſed, and have rebelled,] Confeſſion of ſin an individual companion of repentance, Pſal. 32. 5. & 38.18. & 51.3. and words of the ſame notion are joyned together, to expreſſe the greatneſſe, grievouſneſſe, and hainouſneſſe of their ſin. See Chap.1.8. See the like, Neh. 9. 26. Dan.9.5.

thou haſt not pardoned.] Or, ſpared, or, forborn; as Deut.29. 20. Amos 7.2. and no marvel; for he was through their obſtinacy made weary of forbearance, Jer.15.6. & 44.22.

V. 43. Thou haſt covered with anger, and perſecuted us:] This covering ſome refer to God, but diverſly, as covering himſelf with wrath; therewith, as in a military garb, to come arrayed againſt them. See Eſay 57.17. Others, of covering his face, that he might not behold the havock made of his people; as a tender-hearted father would cover his face, when ſome darling-child of his were for ſome diſeaſe to be cut in his preſence. But neither of them ſeem to ſuit ſo well here; the latter of them eſpecially. And the moſt therefore, make the people rather the object of the act here intimated; which ſome conceive to have in it an alluſion to the covering of mens faces, in extremity of grief, 2 Sam.15.30. Eſt.6.12. or upon ſentence of death paſt againſt them, Eſt.7.8. but this alſo ſeems not to have any place here. Others expound it of a beſetting, or environing of them with evils; as God is ſaid to have hedged ſome in with calamities, Job 3.23. See Ver. 7. Others, of overwhelming them with, and involving them in a dark cloud of afflictions; and purſuing them ſo encompaſſed with darkneſſe. See the like expreſſions, Pſal.35.6. Eſay 8. 22, Job 18.18. and this ſeemeth the right. See Ver.66.

thou haſt ſlain, thou haſt not pitied.] See the ſame, Chap. 2. 21.

V. 44. Thou haſt covered thy ſelf with a cloud, that our prayer ſhould not paſſe thorow.] Heb. Thou haſt beſet as a cloud to thee; that is, Thou haſt haſt drawn as it were a cloud about thee; or, Thou haſt environed thy ſelf as with a cloud; or, wrapped up thy ſelf as in a cloud: for the particle before the pronoun ſeemeth here redundant; as it is Pſal. 140.7. from paſſing prayer; that is, ſo that prayer cannot paſſe. So that our prayers can find no acceſſe to thee. See the like form of ſpeech, Eſay 24.10. the pronoun poſſeſſive is not in the text. As thou haſt caſt a cloud of wrath over us, that we may not ſee which way to eſcape, Ver.43. So thou haſt wrapped up alſo thy ſelf as in a thick cloud, that our ſuits and requeſts may not get to thee, to obtain audience, much leſſe to gain acceptance with thee. This cloud ſome expound Gods freſh remembrance of their ſins: and they were indeed the raiſers of this cloud between God and them, Eſay 58. 2. but the cloud rather ſeems his wrath, compared to ſome ſuch thing alſo, Ver.43. Joel 2.2. Amos 5.18, 20. See before, Verſ.8.

V. 45. Thou haſt made us as the off-ſcouring, and refuſe in the midſt of the people.] Thou haſt cauſed us to be had in as vile eſteem as may be; as if we were no better then off-ſcourings, or ſcrapings (for from a root of that notion, Ezek.26.4. cometh the word here uſed, and no where elſe found in Scripture; and the Greek word anſwering it, 1 Cor.4.13. from the like.) and refuſe; ſuch baſe, droſſie ſtuff, as cometh away from metal and oar in the melting and trying of it, Jer. 6.30. the words are in a proverbial form uſed among the Talmudiſts to deſign ſome extream vile and baſe thing. See Chap.1. 8,11,17. Heb. in the midſt of the peoples, for, among all other people, or, nations; as Mic.5.7,8.

V. 46. All our enemies have opened their mouthes againſt us.] Or, do open, or, widen; in way of deriſion and mockage; as Pſal.22.13. See Chap.2.16.

V. 47. Fear and a ſnare is come upon us,] Thus the old Latine, and all our Engliſh Verſions conſtantly. But the Hebrew text hath expreſly, not a ſnare, but, a pit: and that reading the Rabbines in their Commentaries acknowledge; as alſo the Tigurine, the Italian, and the French: the terms of either, indeed of ſnare and pit, come very neer the one to the other: it is but the addition of a letter to the one, that maketh up the other; and a change of that letter, a t into a d, that maketh out the third; and in other places, where the ſame proverbial form of ſpeech is found, all three are expreſſed, Eſay 24.17. Jer.48.43. If all were here, one is loſt: but though it were ſo, which is not likely, yet our Verſion would be altered; ſince that it ſwarveth from the received and generally approved Originals without any good ground. The meaning is, that terrours were fallen upon them; and pits, or pit-falls digged for them, that while being ſcared, they ſeek by flight to ſhun and eſcape the one, they may fall into the other. See Eſay 24.18. Jer.48.44. and what next both here and there enſueth. The Chaldee renders it, Terrour and trembling; the Greek, Fear and aſtoniſhment: neither any thing neer to the Hebrew.

deſolation and deſtruction.] Heb. devaſtation, (as another term neer it from the ſame root, Pſal.73.18.& 74.3. for this is no where elſe found) and breaking, or contrition, or deſtruction; as Chap.2.11. ariſing from the pit, that they fall into and are taken in, while they flee, for fear of ſome other purſuing evil: hence the ſame term ſignifieth both a pit and deſtruction, Pſal.7.15.& 103.4.

V. 48. Mine eye runneth down with rivers of water, for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.] So Chap.1.16 & 2.18. Pſal.119.136. See Ier. 9.1. & 14.17. Mine eye runneth down, or, floweth down with rivers, or ſtreams of water, for, ſtreams of water run, or, flow down from mine eyes, (for the word is collective; as alſo ver. 14, 50.) as, the mountains ſhall drop with new wine, and the hills flow with milk, and the ſtreams with water, for, new wine ſhall drop from the mountains, and milk run from the hills, and water from the ſtreams, Ioel 3. ver.18.

V. 49. Mine eye trickleth down, and ceaſeth not, without any intermiſſion.] Heb. Floweth down (Iob 20.28.) and ſtayeth not (as Ioſh.10.13.) or, is not ſilent (as Chap.2.18.) without intermiſſions, or remiſſions, as Pſal.73.2. intermiſſions, or remiſſions, for, any intermiſſion, or remiſſion at all: as, underſtanding, for, any underſtanding at all, Eſay 27. 11. the plural in a notion of diminution. See Chap.2.18. from whence alſo the received Verſion is confirmed, which ſome Interpreters of note, and the learned Scholiaſt following them, relinquiſh, rendring the words, becauſe there are no intermiſſions; to wit, of our miſeries and evils. But the compound form here found doth very commonly ſignifie without; as Eſay 6.11. Ier.4.7. & 34.22. & 46.19. & 51.29,36. without inhabitant, or, ſo that there be no inhabitant; as themſelves alſo there render it. So here, without intermiſſions, or remiſſions, that is, ſo that it doth not at all intermit, or remit, and abate ought.

V. 50. Till the Lord look down and behold from heaven.] Until the Lord be pleaſed by ſome relief and delivery afforded me to make it appear, that he doth regard, take notice of, and take to heart my preſent dejected and diſtreſſed condition. See Pſal. 80. 14. and 102.19. Eſay 63.15. So Eſay 62.6,7.

V. 51. Mine eye affecteth my heart,] Heb. my ſoul. The verb here uſed is very variouſly interpreted. Some render it, Mine eye fouleth, or ſlabbreth my ſoul: as they conceive the word to be uſed, Iob 16. 15. Others, Mine eye affecteth my ſoul. Others, It affecteth my ſoul with grief. Others, It moleſteth, or troubleth, or maketh my ſoul work; referring us to the uſe of the word, Chap.2.20.& 1,22. The ancient Greek, It ſtrippeth, or gleaneth my ſoul; as both it and the old Latine rendred the word, Chap.2.20. See there. The old Latine here rendreth it, hath robbed, or preyed upon my ſoul: Which Popiſh Writers expound, Some, of ſinful objects by the eye ſeizing on and ſurpriſing the ſoul, Others, of bereaving the ſoul of, and debarring it from all its wonted contentments and delights. I encline to that learned man, who rendreth it, Mine eye waſteth away my ſoul; that is, I am even conſumed and waſted away, or clean worn out and ſpent with weeping: or, I am ſo faint with continual weeping, that my ſoul is even gone, my Spirits are clean ſpent. See the like expreſſions, Pſal.6.7.& 102.3——5,9. Chap.2. 11. As the word conficere, in Latine, ſignifieth to make an end of ought, either in way of conſummation, or in way of conſumption, by making it up, or by marring it: and our Engliſh word to diſpatch is both ways uſed: in like manner doth the Hebrew word here uſed ſignifie to do, or to work, either way; ſometime by producing ought, as Exod. 10. 2. 1 Sam.6.6. ſometime, by reducing to nothing, or to as good as nothing. So Iob 16.15. I have done (that is, diſſolved) mine horn (that is, my ſtrength and ſtate, honour and dignity) into duſt. Heb. my ſoul, for, my ſelf; as Pſal.143.12. bring my ſoul out of priſon.

becauſe of all the daughters of my city.] Or, in regard of them: for the common calamity, either of thoſe that ſometime dwelt in the city of Jeruſalem; as Eſay 3.16. Luk.23.28. or of the cities ſometime belonging to her as their mother-city, Ioſh.15.45. Ier.49.3. See on Ier.34.1. There is another reading noted in the margent, of thoſe that render it, more then all the daughters of my city: And this the Jewiſh Commenters embrace, applying it to Jeremy, as profeſſing more ſorrow, being one of the Prieſtly rank, then any of the ordinary people or inhabitants of the city, for the ruine of the Temple, and removal of Gods ſervice. Nor want there of ours, that render it the ſame way, but expounding it more generally of the main body of the ſtate, by this manner of ſpeech expreſſing the greatneſſe of their grief, as affirming it to go beyond that, which even any women, the more tender-hearted Sex, are upon any occaſion wont to be poſſeſſed with. And it is true, that this particle is frequently uſed in a notion of collation; as Prov.22.1. Eccl.7.1. but it is no leſs frequently uſed in a notion of cauſality; as Pſal.12.5. Ruth 1.13. Eſay 31.4.& 48.4.& 53.5. Jer.8.19. and it ſoundeth in this place much better this way, then it doth that other. See Chap.2.11.

It is obſerved by ſome, that in this Chapter, as alſo Chap. 2.16,17. & 4.16,17. theſe two letters Ajin and Peh are tranſpoſed contrary to the order before obſerved, Chap.1.16,17. as alſo in other portions of Scripture, where the like alphabetical diſpoſition is uſed; whereof a learned man giveth this reaſon, Becauſe the letters were ſo ranked in the Chaldee Alphabet; and that Jeremy therefore writ the firſt Chapter after the Hebrew manner as a Jew, the three following after the Chaldee method, as now a ſubject to that King: but nothing is produced whence it may appear, that in the Chaldee alphabet the letters ſo ſtood. It may rather probably be thought, that in ſome Hebrew alphabets theſe two letters were diverſly placed; as are two of the precepts in the Decalogue, the ſixt and the ſeventh. See Mat.19.18. with Mar.10.19. Luk.18.20. Rom.13.9. as alſo the two branches of the laſt precept. See Exod.20.17. with Deut.5.21.

V. 52. Mine enemies chaſed me ſore, like a bird without cauſe.] There ſeemeth to be a trajection in the words, thus in their proper conſtruction to be ranged; Thoſe that were mine enemies cauſleſly (having received no wrong from me, as 1 Sam.24.11. Pſal.35.7,19.& 54.9.& 69.4.& 119.131.) did, or, do ſorely chaſe me, (Heb. chaſing chaſe. See Chap.4.18,19.) like a bird; that is, beaten and followed from buſh to buſh, 1 Sam. 26.20. Pſal. 11.1.

V. 53. They have cut off my life in the dungeon,] Or, cut it off by caſting me into the dungeon, Ier.38.6, 9. a complexive ſpeech, not unlike to that, thou haſt profaned his crown to the ground; that is, profaned it, by caſting it down to the ground, Pſal.89.39. with 44. or, cut it off, and caſt me into the pit: as, he ſlew them into the pit; that is, ſlew them, and caſt them into the pit, Ier.41.7. They have ſhut me up in dungeons, where I lye as one dead, ver.6. or, They have taken away my life (power and government is as the ſoul and life of a ſtate) and laid my dead corpſe in the grave, Ezek.37.11——13.

and caſt a ſtone upon me.] Rolled a ſtone over me, to make ſure work with me, to keep me from ever riſing or recovering again: alluding to ſuch ſtones as were wont to be laid on the mouthes of dungeons, Dan.6.17. and caves, Ioſh.10.18. and ſepulchres, Mat.27. 60. or, they have caſt ſtone, that is, ſtones (the word taken collectively, as Prov.26.27.& 27.3.) upon me: they have cut off my life, by caſting ſtones upon me, they have ſtoned me to death, 1 King. 12.18. 2 Chr.24. 21. Ezek.16.40. Act.7 58. as, know and try, for, by trial know, Jer.6.27. and, make bald and cut, for, by cutting make bald, Mic. 1.16. or having taken my life from me, they over whelmed my ſlain body with an heap of ſtones; as with corpſes of perſons executed hath ſometime been done, Ioſh.10.27. 2 Sam. 18.17. Which way ſoever we take it, it is a lively reſemblance of their grievous, and, in mans eye, irrecoverable captivity. Which they much extenuate and enervate, that expound this and all that followeth, Ver.55, &c. unto the caſting of Jeremy into the dungeon, Ier.38.6. as the former alſo, ver.6,7. of his impriſonment by Paſhur, Ier.20.2. As little heed is to be had of what ſome other here ſuggeſt, of the ſtoning of Jeremy to death in Egypt, concerning which, ſave a Jewiſh tale, which many cauſleſly give credit to, we have no certain or weighty record: But belike, according to theſe mens conceit, he prophecied before-hand, what end he ſhould come to.

V. 54. Waters flowed over mine head,] Afflictions, in Scripture, are frequently compared to great waters and deluges, Pſal.18.16.& 32 6.& 42.7.& 66.12.& 69.1,2,15.& 88. 17.& 93.3. Eſay 28.9,17,18. & 59.19. Ier.51.42,55. Now this ſome expound here of the Chaldean invaſion, who with their vaſt Armies breaking, as a Sea, into their land, overflowed and over-whelmed all with them, Ier.34.1. Chap.2. 13. But becauſe at this ſore inundation, God is ſaid not to have heard or regarded their cry, Ier.7.16.& 11.14. & 14.11, 12. Ver.8.44. whereas in that deluge here intimated, he is ſaid to have heard them, ver. 56. (for they ſtray wide, that would reſtrain it to Jeremies cariage in the dungeon;) Some therefore (whom I rather concur with) refer it to the Aſſyrian Invaſion by Sennacherib, and render the words, When the waters flowed over mine head; as Pſal.124.4,5. when I was in extream diſtreſſe by the Aſſyrian forces, who like a violent torrent or land-floud, had broken in upon me, and born down all before them, Eſay 36.1,2. Of this invaſion, ſee Eſay 8.7,8.& 59.19. places parallel to this. The adverb of time is ſupplyed; as Deut. 8. 12. Eſay 48. 13, 21. Ier. 8.18.

then I ſaid, I am cut off.] Or, and I ſaid (carrying on the ſentence) I thought with my ſelf; as ver.18. I am cut off. I am utterly undone. So Pſal.31.22. & 37.3. Eſay 38.10,11. Ion.2.3,4.

V. 55. I called upon thy name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon.] Or, yet (ſupplyed; as Ier.15.1,10. & 51.53.) I called upon thy name out of the low dungeon. Heb. pit of lowneſſes; as Pſal. 88.6. In the greateſt depth of mine affliction and diſtreſſe, pſal.130.1. ver.53. Ion.2.1. See 2 Chr.32.20. Eſay 37. 3,4,15——20.

V. 56. Thou haſt heard my voice,] Or, And thou heardeſt my voice. Thou waſt then pleaſed to hear the prayers of thy people, and to ſend them deliverance out of that their didiſtreſſe. See Eſay 37.11,12——36.

hide not thine ear at my breathing, at my cry.] So read, the ſenſe will be, vouchſafe thy people now the like favour again, that then thou ſhewedſt them; as pſal.4.1.& 22.4.5.& 85.1——4. hide not thy face from them, (Eſay 1.15.) be not deaf towards their cry, (pſal.39.12.) remove that cloud that thou haſt now drawn about thee, ver.44. that their breathing (ſo Exod.8.11.) or panting (here rather) or gaſping for breath, may together with their cries, find free paſſage and acceſs to thine ears. Howbeit, ſome read the words as ſpoken in way of a continued relation, Thou didſt not hide thine ear at my gaſping, at my cry, when I was in that grievous extremity that I ſeemed to ly gaſping for life and even drawing my laſt breath, but yet did ſtill cry and ſeek to thee for ſuccour and relief, (ſee Eſay 26.16——18.& 37.3. 2 Chr.32.20.) Thou didſt not then reject ſuch my ſighing and ſeeking to thee, Eſay 39.21——36. This admitted, the main current of the context will run on freely and ſmoothly without any interruption; or can ought be objected againſt it, ſave that al, the particle here uſed, hath ordinarily a notion of inhibition, not of a bare negative; but that is not univerſal; al, for, lo, is not altogether unuſual. Inſtances hereof, ſee Iob 20.17. & 36. 18. Pſal.34. 5.& 41.2.& 50.3. & 66.7. & 85.8. & 121.3. & 138.8. Eſay 2.9. Ier.7.6. Obad.12. The moſt of theſe places are cleer, the reſt all very probable, for this uſe of the particle, which the courſe of the context doth here very ſtrongly plead for.

V. 57. Thou dreweſt neer in the day that I called upon thee] Thou madeſt thy gracious and powerful preſence with thy people to appear by ſuccouring and ſaving them. So Pſal. 69.18. in the day that I called, for, when, or, what time I called. So Pſal.86.7. In the day of my trouble, for, when, or, what time I am in trouble.

thou ſaidſt, Fear not.] Thou ſaidſt ſo to me then by thy Prophet, Eſay 37.6. See the like encouragements, Eſay 41. 10,13.

V. 58. O Lord thou haſt pleaded the cauſes of my ſoul.] Or, Thou didſt plead, O Lord, (ſo the words ly in the text; and (of Gods manner of pleading for his people, ſee Eſay 49.25.& 51. 22. Ier.51.26.) either my cauſes in general, my ſoul, for, me, as Ver.17, 20, 24, 51. or more ſpecially ſuch cauſes of mine as concerned my life; as Pſal 31.13.& 35.4.

thou haſt redeemed my life.] Or, thou didſt reſcue my life: thou didſt reſcue or deliver me out of the hands of thoſe that would have taken away my life. So is the word of redeeming frequently uſed, Pſal.55.18.& 69.18.& 107.2.

V. 59. O Lord, thou haſt ſeen my wrong,] Or, thou ſeeſt my wrong, Heb. my perverſneſſe (a term no where elſe found; but the verb it cometh of we had before ver.36.) that is, mens perverſs, croſs, injurious, and untoward uſage of me: as, my wrong, or violence, for, the wrong offered me, the violence done to me, Ier. 51. 35. thou canſt not but ſee it, Pſal.10.14. See ver.36.

judge thou my cauſe.] Heb. my judgment; as Pſal. 9.4. & 43.1. decide my cauſe now, as in fore-going ages thou ſometime didſt, and haſt promiſed to do, Deut.32.36. Eſay 49.25, 26. Ier.51.36. And here I conceive, begins the firſt requeſt or ſuit of this people to God, all that went before, being but as a preparative, or introduction thereunto, drawn from their experience of Gods former favour and forwardneſs in this kind to do for them, produced, partly to induce God to maniſeſt his conſtant and continued goodneſs, in doing the like again for them; and partly alſo to raiſe up in themſelves ſome hopeful expectation of finding the like favour with God, that in former times they had found. See the like, Pſal. 44.1——4.& 74.12——14.& 85.1——4. Eſay 63.11——15.

V. 60. Thou haſt ſeen all their vengeance, and all their imaginations againſt me.] Or, Thou ſeeſt all that revengefull carriage of theirs towards me, whereby they deal with me, as with one that had done them ſome hainous wrong, and whom therefore they deviſe how to be revenged upon to to the utmoſt: do thou avenge me upon them, as they ſtudy now how to be revenged upon me, Jer.51.26. Heb. their contrivements (as Chap.49.20,30. & 50.45.) to me, for, againſt me; as it is expounded. ver.61. So is the particle uſed alſo, Pſal.51.4.& 56.2. Jer.50.7,26.

V. 61. Thou haſt heard their reproach, O Lord,] Or, Thou heareſt. Thou doſt as well hear all their reproachful language, as ſee their deſpiteful carriage, both againſt me, and againſt thy ſelf, Pſal.69.19.& 89.50,51. Eſay 37.3,4. So ver.59.

and all their imaginations againſt me.] As ver.60. So Pſal. 56.6.

V. 62. The lips of thoſe that roſe up againſt me, and their device againſt me all the day.] Lips, for, Language; as Gen.11. 1. Pſal.59.7. Zeph.3.9. Heb. riſers up againſt me: thoſe that roſe up againſt me and invaded me; the particle is ſwallowed up between the participle and the pronoun affixed to it. So Pſal.18.39,48.& 53.5. and their meditation; as Pſal.19.14. what they muſe or mind either againſt me, or, concerning me; as Eſay 1.1. all day long: continually; as Ver.14.

V. 63. Behold, their ſitting down, and their riſing up, I am their muſick.] This Verſe ſome divide into two diſtinct branches, making the former a petition, an aſſertion the latter. The former they thus conceive and expound, Behold their ſitting up, and their lying down; take notice of the whole tenour and courſe of their lives: for whereas mans whole life is taken up with, and ſpent in either employment or reſt from it, hence it cometh to paſſe, that unto theſe two heads is the whole courſe of his life referred, and under thoſe two terms comprehended, Pſal.139.2. And this way our Verſion ſeemeth to encline; but the point after, Behold, ſhould then be caſt out. Others rather make it one continued ſentence, rendring the words, with a very ordinary and familiar ſupply, ſuch as Eſay 23.5. Behold how at their down-ſitting, and their up-riſing, I am their muſick; that is, ſay they, at all times, and upon all occaſions, early and late: as having reference to their riſing up in the morning, and their lying down to reſt at even; as Deut.6.7. Pſal.139.2. and refer us back for this expoſition to Ver.14. Nor is this Interpretation improbable. Howbeit, I ſuppoſe the words have a more ſpeciall reſpect to their meals, or merry-meetings, at which they uſed to make themſelves mirth and ſport with the miſeries of Gods people. And I ſhould render the words, At their ſitting down, (to wit, at table, to eat and drink) and at their tiſing up, (to wit, from table, as Exod.32.6. 1 Cor.10.7.) I am their muſick-maker. The word is not the ſame with that Ver. 14. it is their muſick there, as the matter of their mirth; their muſick-maker here, one that maketh them ſport; as Sampſon did the Philiſtines, Judg.16.25,27. for the word ſeemeth to be, not a noun, as is commonly conceived, but a participle: the verbs of that ſtamp being ſometime regular, though therefore deemed in ſome ſort irregular, becauſe they retain that radical initial letter, which thoſe of that making do commonly caſt away: the like whereunto are found, Num. 5. 22. Ier.3.18. Ezek.22.20. So it is an alluſion to ſuch minſtrels and ſongſters, as they made uſe of at their feaſts, Luk. 15.23,25. The word is in a feminine form, either becauſe ſuch forms are ſometime uſed in an indefinite notion, as Pſal. 68.11. Eccl.1.1,12. whereof ſee on Eſay 40.9. or in alluſion to ſuch of that ſex as among the Jews, as well as with other people, were made to that purpoſe, Judg. 21.21. Pſal. 68.25. Eccl.2.8. It is as if he had ſaid, they need no other minſtrel to make them merry at their meetings, we are mirth and minſtrelſy enough to make them ſport firſt and laſt; with us at their ſitting down they begin, and with us at their riſing again they end. See Davids complaint of the like, Pſal.35.15,16,17. together with his ſupplication unto God that he would be pleaſed to take notice of it.

V. 64. Render unto them a recompence, O Lord, according to the work of their hands.] The like, ſee Pſal.28.4. Ier. 50.29. Chap.1.22. The ancient Greek and the old Latine render both this, and the two next paſſages, as delivered in way of prediction, not of prayer. But in the Hebrew the future is frequently in uſe, as well in way of petition, (ſo Pſal.83. 15. 102.13.) as of precept.

V. 65. Give them ſorrow of heart:] The word here uſed being no where elſe read, is very ambiguous and diverſly rendred. The old Latine rendreth it a ſhield; and the ancient Greek, protection: which a ſhield indeed ſometime ſignifieth, Pſal.91.4. but neither is this word the ſame with that which ſignifieth a ſhield: and protection can have no place here. Some Jewiſh Maſters render it, contrition of heart, ſorrow and grief: fetching it from a word that ſignifies to be in grief and heavineſſe: but this another of them controlleth; becauſe the radical letters agree not in either. Others, obduction, or obſtinacy, or brawnineſſe of heart, like to the hardneſſe of a ſhield; like that, 2 Cor.3.14,15. others, obtection, or blindneſſe of mind, that they might not foreſee evils, to prevent them, before they did befal them ; as Eſay 6.10. Others, diſeption, or perplexity, from evils ſo beſetting and environing them on every ſide, that they may not be able to find any iſſue out of them ; from a word that ſignifies to hedge in, or fence, Eſay 37.35. & 38.6. whence the name of a garden, Cant.4.12. Others laſtly, Contraction, or, abjection of heart ; from a word that ſignifies to deliver, or, give up, Gen. 14. 20. Hoſ.8.11. as men not able longer to hold out, are wont to do. The two laſt ſeem moſt probable : and of the two, as to me ſeems, the former. Howbeit, I ſhall hereafter add mine own thoughts. One of the Jewiſh Commenters obſerveth an elegant conſonancy between the term here uſed, and that in the Verſe before-going, manginah, and meginnah : whence a learned Writer would refer them both to one root ; and renders the text, as if it were ſaid, They make muſick of me ; and, do thou give muſick, but of ſome doleful ditty, to them : and, ſaith he, the word may well come from the ſame root with the former : for the initial letter is in ſuch derivatives oft loſt : but he might have conſidered, that where verbals are ſo formed, the middle radical letter, to recompenſe that loſſe, is ever doubled ; which is not ſo here.

thy curſe unto them.] Or, let thy curſe come upon them. The ancient Greek and old Latine render it, labour, by an inverſion of the radical elements : the term of coming, omitted, as Jer.21.13. & 31. 38. & 51.25. is in our Verſion ſupplyed. But this ſupply will not be needful, if we ſhall render the whole verſe in one ſentence, as I conceive we may, thus, Give to them for their obſtinacy, or, hardneſſe of heart, give, I ſay, (as Hoſh.9.14.) thy curſe unto them : the ſupply is no other then that, Mal.2.5. I gave them to him for his fear : the redundancy no other then that, Pſal.51.4. againſt thee, thee alone : and, not to us, not to us, Pſal.115.1. and, my deliverer unto me, Pſal. 144.2. and, 1 Sam.20.42. which we two have ſworn we ; and the like. But of this let others deem.

V. 66. Perſecute and deſtroy them in anger, from under the heavens of the Lord.] Or, Purſue them in anger, (as Pſal. 83. 15.) and deſtroy them from under the Lords heaven : or, that they may not be (may have no being ; as Pſal. 59.13.) under the Lords heaven ; that is, under thy heaven : as Pſal.8.3. the noun for the pronoun : as, Exod.40.17. 2 Tim. 1.20. Of the uſe of the particle, ſee on Ver.44. and the ſame form of ſpeech, Jer.10.11.

CHAP. IV.

Verſ. 1. HOw is the gold become dim? how is the fine gold changed?] This is the third ſingle Alphabet in this mournful Lamentation : of the ſame ſubject with the former ; deploring their calamities and concluding with menaces to Edom, and comfort to Sion. This Verſe of the gold and the ſtones, ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors expound of Joſiah the one, and of the ſons of Sion the other. And a learned Writer would have Princes and Nobles meant by the one, Prieſts and Levites, by the other. But it ſeemeth that the Prophet in theſe words bewaileth the deſtruction of the Temple.

How] In way of admiration at ſo ſtrange an alteration ; as Chap.1.1. & 2.1.

the gold] Wherewith the Temple was adorned and beautified, 1 King.6.22. Mat.23.16,17.

become dim] So the Jewiſh Critick ſaith that ſome expound it, and that the Chaldee Paraphraſt ſo uſeth the term, Lev. 13. But the Hebrew word ſignifieth to hide, conceal, or cover, Ezek. 28.3. & 31.8. Nor ſee I any reaſon why from that uſe of the word we ſhould ſwarve here : how is the gold, wherewith Gods houſe was ſo richly and royally adorned, now overwhelmed, and covered over with traſh, and buried in heaps of duſt and rubbiſh ?

the fine gold] The word it ſelf is deemed of it ſelf to ſignifie, not gold barely, but the finer ſort of gold : for I cannot concur herein with that prime Critick, who would have it the name of ſome pretious ſtone. See Eſay 13.12. Cant. 5.13. Howbeit, to enhance the price and worth of it, there is an attribute added to it, as Job 28.18. ſo here ; pure there, good here : as the ſame to the gold of Havilah, Gen. 2. 12. and that it was choiſe gold that Solomon made uſe of about his works, is noted, 1 King.10.18.

is changed] Either converted to profane uſes ; or jumbled together among the rubbiſh. The word is found in the ſame form, Dan.6.13.

the ſtones of the Sanctuary are poured out in the top of every ſtreet.] Or, how are (ſupplyed from the former branch, as before, and Chap.1.1.) the ſtones of the Sanctuary (Heb. holineſſe, for, a place of holineſſe ; an holy place : as, thirſt, for, a place of thirſtineſſe ; a thirſty place, Jer. 48.18. So Pſal. 20. 3. Ezek.42.14.) are poured out : (Heb. pour out themſelves ; as Job 30.16. Chap.2.12. come tumbling down from the demoliſhed Temple) into, or, at, the top (Heb. head ; as Chap. 2.19. of every ſtreet. Some expound it (as was before hinted) of Sions ſons for lightſomneſſe and comelineſſe of proportion and perſon, compared to the poliſhed ſtones of the Temple, Pſal.144.2. But that expoſition is needleſly forced, as well as ſome other there related.

V. 2. The pretious ſons of Zion comparable to fine gold, how are they eſteemed as earthen pitchers, the work of the hands of the potter!] From the place, city, and Temple, he paſſeth to the perſons the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and more ſpecially of Sion, the Princes and Prieſts, Sion being the ſeat, both of Gods Temple and the Kings palace ; and the principal of either ſtate therefore ordinarily reſiding there. Here is another word for fine gold, ſo termed, either from the exact refining of it, or from the country whence it came. See on Eſay 13.12. Jer.10.9. 1 King.10.8. Job 28. 16, 17. Heb. as bottles of Sherd, or, earthen ſtuff. So Jer. 19.1,10. as things of no repute or worth, 2 Cor.4.7. See Jer.22.28.

V. 3. Even the Sea-monſters draw out the breaſt, they give ſuck to their young ones:] From the principal perſons in either State, Civil and Eccleſiaſtical ; whoſe former height and worth made their preſent miſery and deſpicable condition the more remarkable, and ſuch as might well move the more commiſſeration ; he paſſeth now to the young children, to the ſucking babes, whoſe weakneſſe and tenderneſſe together with their harmleſneſſe, were the fitteſt objects of pity and compaſſion that could be, aggravating their miſery by the perſons, their own parents, their own mothers, at whoſe hands they ſuſtained it ; taxed here, as more unnatural then ſome of thoſe ſavage and vaſt creatures that live in the ſea, fartheſt off from any commerce or communion, either with mankind, or any tame creatures, ſuch as many are which live on the land. The term here uſed ſeemeth not to be ſo well rendred, ſea-monſters : for though ſome of them may ſeem to be of a monſtrous ſize ; in compariſon of any creature that liveth on the land, as a grown elephant, in regard of any beaſt in theſe parts : Yet monſters are properly ſuch, as either have ſome ſtrange deformity beſide the natural and ordinary courſe of their kind, or grow to ſuch an enormous bigneſſe and ſtature, as far exceedeth the common proportion of others of the ſame kind : but no kind of creature ſimply conſidered can properly be termed a monſter ; nor can it be ſaid that God made any monſters in his firſt work of creation. Sea-monſters therefore is not proper here ; and Sea-calves ſeems too narrow : ſeals might do well ; if that particular kind were aimed at ; which would include as well ſea-horſes, and ſea-hounds, as ſea-calves ; all covered with a rough and hairy skin ; ſuch as we ſometime cover trunks and boxes with : but I ſee not why the word ſhould not here be rendred, as in the ſtory of the creation it is, Gen.1.21. & Job 7. 12. and as it would be, Pſal.44.19. & 74.13. whales. See Eſay 27.1. for even whales alſo as well as ſeals, bring forth young, have teats, and give ſuck to their young ; which the Hebrew here termeth whelps ; and they are here ſaid to draw out, or let looſe, (Heb. looſen ; put out, rather then as the learned Scholiaſt, put off) their teats ; when they let them down for their young ones ſucking of them the more readily : the word tannin here uſed is deemed to be a plural contracted, for tanninim, in the Chaldee termination ; becauſe the verb adjoyned to it, is plural : but it may well be ſingular, as it is conſtantly elſewhere, and then being taken diſtributively, it maketh the notion more vigorous ; as if it were ſaid, the whale each of them, they ſuckle their whelps ; as Joel 1.20. the beaſt each of them they cry : there is none of them ſo ſavage or outragious otherwiſe, but they do it.

The daughter of my people is become cruel, like the oſtriches in the wilderneſſe.] Or, But (ſupplyed, to continue the context ; as Jer.50.34.) the daughter of my people (not the State in general, conſiſting of both ſexes, as Jer.9.1. and hereafter, Ver.6. but the women among that people, as, the daughters of Sion, Eſay 3.16,17.) is become cruel : (Heb. is turned into a cruel one ; as it is more fully, Job 30. 21.) to wit, towards her younglings : ſhe is ſo affected towards them, as if ſhe were wholly ſtript of all natural affection, like thoſe, Rom.1.31. 2 Tim.3.3. becauſe either by extremity of diſtreſſe and want, they were enforced to neglect their children in the time of the ſiege of the city, as moſt conceive it ; ſuppoſing them to be in that regard compared to the oſtrich, (ſo both ancient Greek and old Latine render it) that ſitteth not on her eggs, but leaveth them buried in the ſand, Job 39. 14—17. or rather to the owles, (for ſo the word generally ſignifies, Lev.11.16. Deut.14.15. but elſewhere conſtantly feminine and ſingular ; whereof ſee on Eſay 13. 21. Jer. 50. 39. in this place onely maſculine and plural.) that living in waſte places, Eſay 43.20. Job 30.29. Pſal. 102. 6. where many times they can come by no food, for either their young ones, or themſelves, do not onely ſometime leave them, (as it is noted of the ravens, Job 38.41. Pſal. 147. 9. the like whereunto the Jewiſh obſerve of the owles, from Mic.1.8.)

but even alſo make meat of them, and feed themſelves with them; as the women dealt with their own children in the ſiege of Jeruſalem, Chap.2.20. and hereafter, Ver.10. and this is that, which I conceive to be here intended, as an act of much cruelty.

V. 4. The tongue of the ſucking child cleaveth to the roof of his mouth for thirſt:] Or, did cleave, for drought, as Pſal. 22. 15. as for fear and reverence, Job 29. 10. ſo for famine and drought here, becauſe their mothers breaſts being dryed up through want of food and moiſture, they had no milk to ſuckle them withal. See the like phraſe, Pſal.137.6. This ſome take to be added as an explication of the former. I conceive it to be matter diſtinct and divers from that. See Chap.2.11,12.

*the young children ask bread,*and no man breaketh it unto them.] Or, when the children ask bread, (called for food, as Chap.1. 11.) there was none to deal it to them; as Eſay 58.7. Jer.52,6. The particle is ſupplyed, as Deut.8.12. Jer.8.18.

V. 5. They that did feed delicately,] Heb. that fed on delicates, or, dainties; that fared deliciouſly and daintily; as thoſe that are born and bred in Kings Courts,and great mens houſes are wont to do, Gen.49,20. Prov. 29. 21. Luk. 7. 25. & 15.19.

are deſolate in the ſtreets:] Or, being deſolate, and harbourleſſe, lay abroad in the ſtreets: a complexive form of ſpeech, like that, Chap.3.53.

they that were brought up in ſcarlet,] That had wont to be ſoftly and ſumptuouſly clad, 2 Sam.1.24. Mat.11.8. ſcarlet; the wear of Kings, Commanders, and great ones, Ezek.23.6, 12,15. Nah.2.3. but the Hebrew is rather, thoſe that were brought up upon ſcarlet: alluding to thoſe carpets that they uſe to ſpread under them, whereon to lye and repoſe themſelves, or to ſit upon at meat and meals; yea, to tread and ſet their feet upon, as is uſual in thoſe Eaſtern parts, even to this day. See on Eſay 14.11. a place parallel to this; and of the word rendred ſcarlet, on Eſay 1.18.

embrace dunghills.] Or, embraced; that is, ſay ſome, raked the dunghills to find ſomewhat to feed upon, were glad of any thing to eat, were it never ſo ſorry, though it came from the dunghill: as the prodigal of the husks, Luk.15.16. or raked the dunghills for any rag, that might help to cover their nakedneſſe. But I ſuppoſe neither of theſe to be here intended; but a further aggravation of what he had ſaid formerly, of their lying harbourleſſe in the ſtreets; to wit, that they were compelled to lodge there upon the dunghils, to take up their lodging on ſuch heaps of naſty ſtuff as the ſtreets afforded, having no other place to receive them, Job 24.8. They ſeem to ſtrain the text too far, who either going the former way, expound it, of making meat of pigeons dung, and the like, 2 King.6.25. or that taking the latter way, underſtand it of their corpſes lying unburied on the dunghils in the ſtreets, Jer.16.4. the words of the text neither ſort well with the former, nor will admit the latter.

V. 6. For the puniſhment of the iniquity of the daughter of my people, is greater then the puniſhment of the ſin of Sodom,] Heb. And (which need not here be altred) the iniquity of the daughter of my people (of which, ſee on Jer.9.1.) is great from (that is, greater then: as, good from, for, better then, Prov.22. 1.) the ſin of Sodom: that which ſome take, as the words ſound, as an acknowledgment of their ſin to be more heinous then the ſin of Sodom: agreeable to that, Ezek.16.48. and they adde, that therefore was their guilt greater then Sodoms; becauſe Prophets had been ſent unto them, which had not been done to Sodom. So, ſaith a learned Annotater, doth the Chaldee note it: but I find in him no ſuch matter; though our Saviour do thence aggravate the guilt of his people, Mat.11.23. But the words next enſuing ſhew, that by iniquity and ſin, is meant here the penalty and puniſhment of either; as Gen.4.13. Lev.24.15. Num.9.13. and as hereafter, Ver.22.

that was overthrown in a moment, and no hand ſtayed on her,] She ſuſtained not any long ſiege from ſome forrein forces, nor was kept long in pains and miſery, as I and my people have been; but was ſuddenly, as in an inſtant, diſpatched, Gen.19.24,25. See ver.9.

V.7. Her Nazarites] Either ſuch as according to a certain rite had by a ſolemn vow, for ſome ſet term of time, ſevered and debarred themſelves from ſome ordinary courſes of common carriage and uſage. Whereof ſee Num.6.2. Amos 2. 11, 12. during which time, ſay ſome, they uſed more frequent waſhings, then others ordinarily did. Or, as others rather, their nobles and courtiers, young gallants eſpecially: for the word Nezer is uſed for a crown, or enſign of honour, 2 Sam.1. 10. 2 King.11.12. & conſequently, for honour, wealth, or whatſoever maketh a man to be deemed honourable, and to be reſpected more then others, prov.27.4. Hence, perſons in regard of place or perſon more eminent then others, are as ſelect ones, termed Nazarites. So is Joſeph ſtyled, Gen.49.26. Deut.33.16. the ſelect one of his brethren: and from the ſame term, thy ſelect, or crowned, or honourable ones, Nah.3.17. and ſo I conceive the word here to be meant: for ſuch they had conſtantly, not a few with them, while their State flouriſhed; Nazarites not always, or it may be, not many.

were purer then ſnow, they were whiter then milk,] Fair and in good plight; proverbial expreſſions. See the like, Gen. 49.12. Pſal. 51.7. the ſame thing reiterated with a two-fold expreſſion to make the deeper impreſſion.

they were more ruddy] Heb. ruddy from, for, more ruddy; and ſo before, pure from, for, purer: white from, for, whiter. See on ver.6. ruddineſſe, eſpecially joyned with a mixture of whiteneſs in ſome parts, and cleerneſs of complexion, is uſually deemed very ſightly and lovely in either Sex, 1 Sam.16.12. & 17.42. Cant.5.10.

in body] Heb. in bone; as ver. 8. Ezek.37.7. & 39.25. but put here for body, as Job 2.5. and more ſpecially for the outward ſurface of the body, that lyeth open and is expoſed to ſhew and ſight: as, the body of the sky in its cleerneſſe, Exod. 24.10. where the very ſame word is uſed.

then rubies,] The Jewiſh Doctors render the word pearles; but ruddineſs is no commendation of pearls: the old Latine, as abſurdly, old ivory: Which popiſh Writers to juſtifie, ſtrain their wits immoderately and unreaſonably, to deviſe ſome ſorry ſhift, whereby to pick ſome colourable ſenſe from ſo ſenſleſs an expreſſion: and having ſpent divers very prolix and tedious diſputes and debates about it, they come at length to this, that ivory, in continuance of time, loſeth its genuine candor, and groweth red; (and it is then ſure very ſightly) or that anciently they were wont to colour it ſo: but where is the ivory it ſelf at all in the text? Some render it carbuncles: but becauſe that ſtone hath commonly rather a flamy then a bloudy hew: Some other would have it coral: which yet is not likely to have been a matter of any ſuch great eſteem among them, being in theſe parts ſo plentiful, as by divers paſſages in Scripture it appeareth that this here mentioned was. See Job 28.18. Prov.3.15. & 8.11. & 31. 10. And I concur therefore with our Engliſh Verſion, which conſtantly renders it rubies: the ruby, though deemed commonly a kind of carbuncle, yet having uſually a cleer and vegetous redneſs, enclining rather to the colour of bloud then of fire.

their poliſhing was of Saphir.] Or, their poliſhing was as the poliſhing of Saphir: the ſupply made from the former term. See the like Eſay 5.9. & 13.8. Chap.2.6,12. they were like poliſhed Saphirs, to wit, for ſlickneſs, ſmoothneſs, and cleerneſs of skin. See Exod.24.10. or, as ſome read it, Saphir was their cutting out; that is, they were as ſightly and cleer, as if they had been cut out, and made up all of Saphir.

V. 8. Their viſage is blacker then a coal,] So the old Latine: then ſoot, ſaith the Greek; but neither of both is in the text. Heb. their ſhape, or form, or hew, (ſee Eſay 52.14.) was obſcured, or darkned, from blackneſſe. Either was become more obſcure and dark then blackneſs it ſelf; as in the like uſe of the particle, ver.7. or, was become ſo obſcure with blackneſſe, (for the particle is uſed frequently in a notion of cauſality. See on Chap.3.51.) their viſage or countenance was ſo altered, and become black, what with famine, and what with grief, care, and fear, that thoſe to whom formerly they had been well known, did not, or could not, now know them, when they met them in the ſtreets. See Job 30.30. Jer.14.2. Chap.5.10. Rev.6.5,6. therefore it followeth;

they are not yet known in the ſtreets:] Or, were not; for he ſpeaketh ſtill of things paſt; and moſt of what befell them during the ſiege, or upon the ſurpriſal of the city.

their skin cleaveth to their bones.] Or, cleaved to their bones. Heb. bone; as Gen.2.23. Their fleſh was ſo waſted and conſumed, that they were become nothing but skin and bone. So Job 19.20. Pſal. 102.4,5. & 119.83.

it is withered;] Or, it was withered. See the like expreſſions, Pſal.22.15. & 102.4,11. Ezek.37.14.

it is become like a ſtick.] Or, it was a ſtick. Heb. a wood; that is, as dry and hard as a piece of wood, or board: either of which would do not amiſs here: as alſo the former, Num.15.32.

V. 9. They that be ſlain with the ſword are better then they that be ſlain with hunger:] Heb. Good were the ſlain of the ſword (as Jer.14.18.) from the ſlain of the famine; that is, it was better with them, better caſe were they in, that were ſlain by the ſword of the enemy, then thoſe that be periſhed by famine: good from, for, better then, as Pſal.118.8,9. Prov.16.19, 32. & 17.1. & 19.1. Eccl.4.3. & 9.4.

for theſe pine away,] The former are ſuddenly diſpatcht, and ſoon put out of their pain; whereas theſe are long waſting and pining away with a tedious diſeaſe, with a lingring death, Lev.26.39. See ver.6. Heb. flow away; as Jer.49.4. the like term is uſed of people ſlain with the ſword, Jer. 18. ver.21.

ſtricken thorow] Faring yet no better, and no leſs ſure to dy, then as if they were ſtab'd and thruſt thorow, Jer. 37.10. & 51.4.

for want of the fruits of the field.] For want of food; as Hag. 1.10, Heb. from the fruits of the field: a conciſe or defective form of ſpeech; not unlike that, Pſal. 109. 24. from fat; that is, for want of fat: and from knowledge; that is, for want of knowledge, Jer. 10.14. and that grieve for the aſſembly; that is, for the want of it, Zeph. 3.18. See on Chap. 1.4. So alſo, Gen. 18.28. wilt thou deſtroy it for five; that is, for want of five; as the place it ſelf plainly ſheweth.

V. 10. The hands of the pittifull women have ſodden their own children; they were their meat in the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.] This is that which before he complained of ver. 3. that women, who are naturally enclined to a tenderneſs of affection toward their own children eſpecially, 1 King. 3.26. Eſay 49.15. Yet ſhould be driven to that exigent, that with their own hands, they ſhould take away the lives of their own children, boil their bodies, and feed on their fleſh, Deut. 28.57. 1 King. 6.29. Chap. 2.20. Heb. breach, or breaking, for deſtruction; as Ch. 2.13. & 3.47.

V. 11. The Lord hath accompliſhed his fury,] Or, wrath; as Ezek. 6.5. & 7.8. & 13.15.

he hath poured out his fierce anger,] See Chap. 2. 4. Jer. 14. 25. Ezek. 7.8.

he hath kindled a fire in Zion, and it hath burned the foundations thereof.] As Deut. 32.22. Jer. 21.14.

V. 12. The Kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not have believed that the adverſary and enemy ſhould have entred into the gates of Jeruſalem.] It ſeemed unto them a thing incredible, almoſt impoſſible, ſuch a thing as could hardly be believed, nor in any likelyhood expected, that any adverſary, or (as Exod. 21.15) enemy ſhould be ſuffered to ſurpriſe that city, that was Gods own Seat, and the place of his royal reſidence: or, as ſome, in regard that it was deemed an impregnable piece. See Chap. 2. 1, 20. Pſal. 79.1.

V. 13. For the ſins of her Prophets, and the iniquities of her Prieſts,] But thus it is come to paſs, (that which ſome inſert for the better cleering of the paſſages, into the text) by reaſon of the ſins of the falſe Prophets and Prieſts: not that the people were not faulty, as well as either of theſe, in thoſe wicked pranks and practiſes that were then committed; but that theſe were foremoſt and forwardeſt ring-leaders and encouragers of them unto thoſe wicked courſes, which they ſhould have reproved in them, and from which they ſhould have endeavoured to reſtrain them, Eſay 3.12. & 9.16. Jer. 5. 31. & 20.2. & 23.21. & 26.11. Chap. 2.14.

her Prophets,] Such as they had made choice of; as Chap 2.14.

Prieſts] The Rabbine expoundeth, as the former of the Prophets of Baal, Jer. 23.23. ſo this of the Prieſts of the high places. But ſee 2 Chr. 36.14.

that have ſhed the bloud] The ſin that God would not pardon, 2 King. 24.4.

of the juſt] Perſons innocent, or guiltleſs, ſhed by them in the city, Eſay 59.7. Jer. 2.34. & 7.6. & 19.4. for they ſwarve, I ſuppoſe, from the intendment of the text, who expound it of their children ſlain in ſacrifice to their idols; though that alſo be termed innocent bloud, pſal. 106.37, 38. and they much more, that would have it meant of the better ſort of them ſlain by the enemy, brought in through the wickedneſs of the parties before-mentioned: according to that, pſal. 79.2.

V. 14. They have wandred as blind men in the ſtreets, they have polluted themſelves with bloud, ſo that men could not touch their garments.] Or, The blind, when they wandred in the ſtreets, were defiled with bloud; and, in that, or, becauſe they could not but touch their garments, or, they touched it with their garments, which they might not. This paſſage is very difficult and there is great variety of Verſions, and of interpretations again far greater. I have pointed at thoſe Verſions onely, which the words of the text may without much ſtraining admit, letting thoſe paſs, which they utterly reject: and with reference to ſome of theſe Verſions are given out the enſuing Interpretations. Some therefore expound them of blind perſons properly ſo termed; and this common way in general the Jewiſh Commenters go, yet ſo as they walk in two ſeveral tracks: for ſome of them expound it, of the bloud of thoſe guiltleſs ones ſhed by the Jews themſelves in Jeruſalem, ver. 13. wherewith the City was filled from the one end to the other, 2 King. 21.16. & 24.4. Ezek. 7.23. Others, of thoſe that were ſlain by the enemy: either during the ſiege, or upon the ſurpriſal of the city, whoſe bodies lay unburied in the ſtreets, weltring in their bloud; that the city was in every place ſo glutted at either time, with the bloud and carcaſſes of either, that poor blind men, when they wandred in the ſtreets, could not avoid, but while they ſtumbled at the one, and either trode on or fell into the other, they were ſo defiled with gore bloud, that none could endure to touch their clothes. But other Interpreters, moſt of them, underſtand the place of perſons, either ſpiritually blind, Eſay 42.18, 19. or ſo affected, as blind perſons are wont to be, Eſay 59.10. and then is the note of ſimilitude to be ſupplyed; as Ch. 3.10. Now this ſome of them underſtand of the people in general, but to two ſeveral purpoſes: Some, that the people, upon the ſurpriſal of the city, as men at their wits end, wandred up and down, like blind men, uncertain which way to take for the ſaving of themſelves; but which way ſoever they took to, they lighted on nothing but bloud, and men ſo beſmeared therewith, that there was no touching of them. See Eſay 9.5. Others, that the city was ſo full of pollutions, that which way ſoever men went, that were deſirous to keep free from them, they could not poſſibly avoid them, but muſt of neceſſity, as if they were blind, ſtumble upon them, and ſo impoſſible to keep themſelves from being at leaſt legally defiled with them: bloud, ſay they, put for all manner of pollutions; as Eſay 4. 4. Other again apply them to the murtherous Prieſts and Prophets mentioned, ver. 13. But theſe again tread alſo in two divers tracks. For ſome expound them, as relating what condition thoſe Prieſts and Prophets were in, when they ſaw the city now ſurpriſed, that they ran up and down like blind men, or men in a maze, either having their garments defiled, with the bloud that themſelves had formerly ſhed, Jer. 2. 34. So ſome, though very improbably: or, that while they ſo ran to and fro, ſeeking ſome way to ſhift for themſelves, they were ſo defiled with the bloud of the ſlain, that their garments were made loathſome with it; or they were defiled with the bloud of the ſlain, and touched their corpſes with their garments, which was not lawful for them to do, Lev. 21.1, 6. they could not, for, they might not; as Deut. 12.17, & 16.5. Others laſtly, as having reference to their former courſes and carriages, when they dealt in that manner with poor innocent perſons, either that others deteſting their cruel and bloudy courſes, though they did what they could to ſhun them, yet could not but ſtumble upon them, there were ſo many every where of them: or that themſelves, blind beetles as they were, Eſay 42.19. wandred and went a wry in judgment, Eſay 28.7. as blind men, that cannot diſcern their way, uſe to do in the ſtreets; inſomuch, that men for their cruel carriages abhorred them, and were as cautious to ſhun them, as they would one, whoſe garments could not be handled or touched without pollution and defilement, Judg. 23. And this laſt, made up of the notions of one or two Interpreters put together, ſeemeth to me the moſt probable of any that I can as yet meet with.

V. 15. They cryed unto them, Depart ye, it is unclean; depart, depart, touch not, when they fled away and wandered:] About this additional paſſage, there is no leſſe diverſity of opinion, then about the former: Nor can it otherwiſe be, becauſe it hath reference to the former. Some expound it of the caution given, either to the blind, or to others, whom men ſaw going ſome way, where ſuch carcaſſes lay, adviſing them to go ſome other way; for that the place they were making toward was unclean: and that notwithſtanding upon ſuch caution and adviſe given them, they made what haſte they could to be gone, and ſeek ſome other way, yet they could not eſcape the like defilements elſe-where. Others, to paſs by the reſt, ſuppoſe the words to have reference to that Law concerning the Leper, Lev. 13.45, 46. and theſe read the words, Some, as ſpoken to thoſe Prieſts, They cryed to them, or, men ſaid of them, Depart, ye polluted ones, touch me not; when they flew away, yea, and wandred; that is, got away, as faſt and as far, as they could from them. And this ſeemeth to me very probable. Howbeit, there want not, who conceive them to be ſpoken, not to the Prieſts, but of the Prieſts, reading, ſome, the former branch, They that cried to them, (that uſed to cry to others) Depart, &c. ſo cautious and chary were others of touching ought, or coming neer any that might in the leaſt degree defile them. See Eſay 52.11. & 65.5. Col. 2.21. Yet were now, as before was ſaid, ver. 13, And others, the latter, even they; to wit, thoſe Prieſts and Prophets, flew away, yea, and wandred; that is, were ſuddenly carryed away into captivity. See Jer. 49.9, 1 where is an elegant conſonancy in the terms; as if it were ſaid, they are flewen and fled.

they ſaid among the heathen, They ſhall no more ſojourn there] Heb. they ſhall not add to ſojourn: Of which form, ſee on Eſay 10.20. and the like, ver. 16, 22. So vile and abominable were their courſes, that even the heathen themſelves had this opinion of them, that they ſhould not, or could not continue long in that land & that city, which they had with cruel and bloudy courſes ſo notoriouſly defiled. See Lev. 18.16. Num. 35.33, 34. Pſal. 106.38. Mic. 2.10. The old Latine readeth it, He will not add to dwell any more among them; that is, God is reſolved to make no longer abode with them, that which would well agree with what followeth, Ver.16. But the form of the verb in the Hebrew will not admit it. Some expound it of the falſe Prophets, that promiſed the people ſpeedy delivery out of Babylon, and other places, where they remained in captivity, Jer.28.3,4. & 29.8. and they read the words, They ſaid that they ſhould not continue ſojourning among the nations. But as the terms of the text refuſe the former; ſo the diſtinguiſhing points in the text reject this latter.

V. 16. The anger of the Lord hath divided them;] Or, The wrath of the Lord will diſperſe them. Heb. The face of the Lord; as Pſal.34.16. and, to divide, for, to diſperſe; as Gen.49.7. God will ſcatter them himſelf.

he will no more regard them:] Heb. he will not add (as ver.15.) to behold, or look after them; as Pſal.84.9.

they reſpected not the perſons of the Prieſts, they favoured not the Elders.] Heb. they lifted not up the face of the Prieſts, (ſee the ſame form, Gen.19.21. & 32.20. 1 Sam.25.35. 1 King.3.14. Prov.18.5.) they ſhewed no favour, or, mercy, to the aged, or elders: the word may be a name, either of age, or office, as 1 Tim.1.17,19. This the Jewiſh Commenters expound of their own people, who had been faulty, and that not a little, in the diſgraceful, yea deſpiteful uſage of the pious and religious, both Prieſts, and others of like rank, that complyed not with them in their wickedneſs. See the dealing with Zachary, 2 King.24.21. with Uriah, Jer,26.23. with Jeremy, Ier.20.2. & 32.3. & 37.15. & 38.6. Act.7.32. Others, of the Chaldeans, as if in theſe words the Prophet returned again to complain, in the perſon of the people, of the harſh and cruel uſage of the adverſary, after the ſurpriſal of the city, regarding none, either for dignity or antiquity, but carrying themſelves alike roughly and rudely towards perſons of all ſorts, 2 King.25.18,21. 2 Chr.25.17. Chap.2.6. & 5.12.

V. 17. As for us. Heb. yet we: a nominative abſolute, as 2 Chr.28.2. or, while, as yet we were: ſo long as our ſtate ſtood, and we were not yet ſurpriſed.

our eyes as yet failed] Or, our eyes failed; as Pſal.119 82,123.

for our vain help:] Or, with looking after our vain help, (Heb. help of vanity. See Eſay 30.7.) ſo Eſay 38.14. mine eyes fail upward, for, with looking upward: we lived in expectation of relief and ſuccour from abroad, though in vain, and to no purpoſe, Ier.4.14. & 8.20.

in our watching we have watched for a nation that could not ſave us.] We watched long, or, earneſtly, (as Eſay 21.5.) for a nation that could not ſave. Heb. they will not, or, ſhall not ſave: but the word is in a potential notion, as the like, Iob 15.5. Ier.2.11. & 7.8. for the Egyptians, that were not able to do us any good, Eſay 20.5,6. & 30.6,7. Ier.2.18,36. & 37.7,8. 2 King.24.7.

V. 18. They hunt our ſteps that we cannot go in our ſtreets] Or, They hunted our foot-ſteps that we could not go, or, walk in our ſtreets. Heb. from going, or, walking in our ſtreets. See the like uſe of the particle, Eſay 24.10. Chap.3.44. The Chaldeans, being ſet down before it, begirt our city, and raiſed their forts and works ſo far above our walls, that they could at pleaſure ſhoot into the city; by reaſon whereof we could not with ſafety look abroad, or go to and fro in the ſtreets. See the like phraſe, Pſal.56.6. & 140.11. A learned Annotator telleth us here of a two-fold reading in the text, tſaru, and tſadu; and that Abraham the ſon of Eſdras and other Interpreters, follow the former, expounding it, they ſtraitned our ſteps: the Chaldee Paraphraſt, the latter. But I find no ſuch matter, either in that Abrahams notes on the place, or in any other Interpreters. In the next word indeed the Author of the ancient Greek Verſion, ſeemeth for tſaade, foot ſteps, to have read, tſaire, little ones, rendring it, they hunted (as the corrected copies exhibit it; not, we hunted) our little ones: but that was from a mere miſtake by the likeneſs of the letters d and r in Hebrew. There is an elegant conſonancy in the Hebrew between the two words here uſed, as if we ſhould ſay, they hunt our haunts.

our end is neer:] The one of our city and civil State approacheth, or draweth neer. So Ezek.7.7,12.

our dayes are fulfilled:] The term of our proſperity and ſtanding is expired. So 2 Sam.7.12. Jer.28.34.

our end is come.] The ſet-time for our ruine, what do I ſay, is neer at hand? it is already come, and arrived with us, Ezek.7.1,6,7,10,12. See Jer.51.13.

V. 19. Our perſecutours are ſwifter then the eagles of the heaven:] Heb. our purſuers, or, thoſe that purſued us, were light from; that is, lighter then: as, good from, for, better then, ver.9. and white from, for, whiter then, ver.7. light, for, ſwift; as alſo 2 Sam.2.18. Eſay 19.1. and ſwifter then eagles: a proverbial form of ſpeech, 2 Sam.1.23. Ier.2.14. Iob 9.25. eagles of heaven, that fly aloft in the ayr, Job 39.27. Prov.23.5.

they purſued us upon the mountains,] Or, they chaſed us, or, traced us, like bloud-hounds, upon the mountains; as 1 Sam.26.10. See Chap.3.52. whether we had fled for ſhelter and ſafeguard, Pſal.11.1. Judg.6.2. 1 Sam.13.6. Ier.13.16. Mat.24.16. The word ſignifieth an hot and eager purſuit: it is uſed, Gen.31.46. where it is aright ſo rendred: as alſo, 1 Sam.17.53. Pſal.10.2. See on Eſay 5.11.

they laid wait for us in the wilderneſſe.] Or, in the plain, oppoſed to the mountains. So Eſay 63.14. Chap.5.9. and ſo Luk.15.4,5. compared with, Mat.18.12. They lay in wait for us to intercept us in the plain, by which we hoped, aſſayed at leaſt, to make eſcape. See 2 King.25.4,5. Jer.39.4,5. & 52.7,8. So that there is neither ſafety for us in any place, nor poſſibility any way of eſcape for us. See Ier.6.23.

V. 20. The breath of our noſtrils,] This ſome of the Jewiſh Commenters, after the Chaldee Paraphraſt, whom ſome of ours alſo follow, underſtand of Joſias; becauſe Jeremy is reported to have penned a doleful ditty concerning his death, 2 Chr.35.25. But other of them herein control their fellows, and upon better ground underſtand it of Zedekiah, the laſt King of Davids line, in whom their State drew it's laſt breath, and by whom they hoped to have had it fully reſtored and firmly ſettled again after Jehojacin's captivity, 2 King.24.12—15. And this cometh in laſt as the upſhot of all, the utter ruine, death, and downfal of their State: for the thing alluded to, to wit, the free paſſage of breath by the noſtrils for the preſervation of life. See Gen.2.7. Eſay 2.22.

the anointed of the Lord,] In regard thereof deemed a ſacred and inviolable perſon, 1 Sam.26.9. Pſal.89.20—23, 51.

was taken in their pits;] As a lion or elephant, or other like beaſt falling into a pit, covertly made and contrived by the hunter to catch him: for the Prophet perſiſteth ſtill in his former reſemblance of hunting, See Ezek.12.13. & 17.20. & 19.4,8. the thing it ſelf, Ier.52.8. and the like borrowed form of ſpeech, Chap.3.47. and in the places there pointed to.

of whom we ſaid, under his ſhadow we will live among the heathen.] Under whoſe protection and ſhelter we made full account we ſhould live ſafe, and be kept free from the incurſions of neighbouring nations. See Ezek.31.17. Shadow, for, ſhelter; as Gen.19.8. Num.14.9. Eccl.7.12. Eſay 30.2,3. & 49.2. & 51.16. Ier.48.45. A metaphor taken from ſome high rock, Eſay 32.2. or, thick cloud, Pſal.105.39. Eſay 4.5. & 25.4,5. or, tall and ſhrowdy tree, Iob 40.21,22. Pſal.80.10. Ezek.17.23. & 31.3,6,12,17. Dan.4.12,21. Hoſ.4.13. or ſhady ſhrub, as Judg.9.15. Ion.4.6. or booth of boughs, Neh.8.10. or tent of other ſtuff, Eſay 4.6. or pavilion, Pſal.31.20. that with the ſhade thereof keepeth off the heat of the ſun, Pſal.121.5,6. or from the manner of hens, (the moſt familiar inſtance) and other fowls, that with their wings ſhadow, ſhroud and ſhelter their young, Deut.32.11. Pſal.17.8. & 36.7. & 57.2. & 63.7. & 91.1. Eſay 31.5. & 34.15. Mat.23.37.

V. 21. Rejoyce and be glad,] The Prophet in the cloſe of this his fourth mournful diſcourſe, turneth his ſpeech to the Edomites, not ſeriouſly inciting them to mirth and jollity; but in way of taunt and deriſion rather, cloſely taxing and nipping them for their preſent rejoycing at the miſeries of Gods people; and foretelling them what would ſhortly and ſuddenly come, that ſhould quite mar all this their mirth; as if he had ſaid, Ye do well to make merry while ye may; for your mirth or your merry time will not laſt long. The like manner of ſpeech, ſee Pſal.60.8. Eccl.11.9.

O daughter of Edom,] Ye Edomites that now inſult over me in my miſery, Pſal.137.7. Chap.1.21. Mic.7.8.

that dwelleſt in the land of uz,] Some part of Arabia poſſeſſed by the poſterity of uz, the ſon of Diſhan, of the linage of Seir, Gen.36.28. See before on Ier.25.20.

the cup] Of Gods wrath; whereof I now drink ſo deep, Eſay 51.17. Ier.25.18,29.

alſo ſhall paſſe thorow unto thee:] It ſhall go about, as quaffing cups at feaſts uſe to do, from country to country, Ier.25.15,32. and among the reſt in thy turn come unto thee, Jer.25.20,21.

thou ſhalt be drunk,] Drink ſo deep of it, that thou ſhalt be as one drunk with it; as Eſay 51.21. Ier.25.27. Ezek.23.33.

and ſhalt make thy ſelf naked.] Or, ſtrip thy ſelf, tearing off thine apparel, as perſons mad drunk ſometime do. See Ier.25.16. Ezek.23.34. or diſcovering thy ſhame; as oft befalleth perſons in drink, as having no regard or ſenſe of what is decent or undecent, while they are in that plight, Gen.1.21. Habb.2.15,16. thou ſhalt be expoſed to ſhame and deriſion, as perſons in ſuch caſe uſually are, Gen.9.22. Ezek.23.32. See Ier.49.10. The old Latine rendreth it, thou ſhalt be made bare, or ſtript: and the word, indeed, as ſome think, the ſame, in a reciprocal form, yet is uſed in no reciprocal ſenſe, Ier.51.58. as alſo it is true, (that which in favour of that Verſion a learned Writer obſerveth) that any one may eaſily ſtrip a man in drink: but yet there ſeemeth ſome emphaſis in the reciprocal form here, which would not therefore be ſo ſlighted.

The Greek rendreth it, thou ſhalt pour out: and it cannot be denied, but that the word is ſometime ſo uſed, Gen. 24. 20. Eſay 32.15. & 53.12. which a learned Writer preferreth, expounding it of ſpewing, the common ſymptome of the drunken diſeaſe, Eſay 19.14. & 28.8. Jer. 25.27. Habb.2.16. and adding that the word ſometime ſo ſignifieth: but I find not where it is ſo uſed; nor for pouring out neither in the form here found; and the former notion ſeemeth here more familiar. See further, ver.22.

V. 22. The puniſhment of thine iniquity is accompliſhed, O daughter of Zion.] Heb. Thine iniquity is, or, will be accompliſhed. See before on ver. 6. From the Edomites he turneth his ſpeech again to his own people, the inhabitants of Sion, that is, of Jeruſalem, (ſee Eſay 1.8.) concluding this ſad ſong with a word of comfort unto them, that a time ſhall come, when God having inflicted ſuch a meaſure and ſtint of afflictions and penalties upon them, as he hath determined to exerciſe them withall for their ſins, he will then no longer detain them in captivity, but will ſhew mercy again to them. See Eſay 40.2.

he will no more carry thee away into captivity.] To wit, after thy return from the preſent Chaldean captivity, Eſay 54.9. & 60.18. Heb. he will not add (as ver.15,16.) to depart, or captive thee: which may as well be underſtood of keeping in captivity, as of carrying into captivity: as, to enlive, or, quicken, is uſed as well for to keep in life; as for to reſtore unto life, Gen. 12.12. Exod.1.17,18. Pſal.22.29. and the text may well be rendred, when the penalty of thy ſin ſhall be conſummated, thou ſhalt no longer be detained in captivity: a defect of the adverb of time, as Chap.3.34. he, that is, God, ſay ſome. Others, the enemy: true of either; but the verb is indefinite; and therefore beſt rendred by the paſſive.

he will viſit thine iniquity, O daughter of Edom, Or, puniſh it; as Jer.50.18. God will have a day of viſitation for thee; as he hath already had with me. See of Babylon, Chap.50.27.

he will diſcover thy ſins.] God may be ſaid to diſcover ſins, when he taketh notice of them, puniſheth for them, proceedeth openly againſt them; and by the grievouſneſs of penalties inflicted upon the perſons of delinquents for them, maketh the hainouſneſs of them to appear, Job 20.27. as on the contrary he is ſaid to cover ſins, when he paſſeth them by, pardoneth them, forbeareth to proceed further againſt them, doth no more now regard them, then as if they were hidden and concealed from his ſight, Pſal.32.1,5. & 85.2. Neh.4.5. But becauſe there is a particle before the word ſins, which this Verſion taketh no notice of, and yet ſeemeth to be of uſe, I conceive the text may thus be rendred; he will diſcover thee for thy ſins: that is the frequent uſe of the particle, Amos 1. 3,6,9,11,13. & 2.1,4,6. a defect of the pronoun onely ſupplyed, as Eſay 14.9. & 51.23. & 58.9. & 60.15. and this expoſition Jeremy himſelf leadeth us to, who bringeth in God ſpeaking thus of Edom, I have ſtripped, or made bare Eſau; I have diſcovered his ſecret places, and he ſhall not be able to hide himſelf, Jer.49.10. and becauſe the term is here, as that before, indefinite, it may not amiſs be rendred; thou ſhalt be diſcovered for thy ſins. Some Interpreters of note, becauſe the word hath a notion of tranſmigration, and deportation, or removall, as well, and as commonly as of retection, revelation, and diſcovering, would therefore have it here ſo taken; the rather becauſe it was ſo uſed in the branch before going; and ſo there would be an oppoſition not inelegant, between this and that, Sion ſhall no longer be kept in captivity, but Edom ſhall paſs into captivity, as in her room: according to that of Solomon, The righteous is delivered out of trouble, and the wicked cometh in his ſtead, Prov.11.8. but the form of the verb in the former is diverſe from this here; nor is the verb ever found uſed in that notion, in that form wherein this clauſe hath it, but perpetually in the former onely.

CHAP. V.

Verſ. 1. R*Emember*, &c.] This laſt Chapter of this mournful Treatiſe for ſubject, matter much the ſame with the former; though not compoſed in ſuch an alphabetical ſtructure as they all were; beginneth with an addreſſe unto God, minding him of their preſent calamitous condition, Ver.1——16. proceedeth to a profeſſion of hearts grief for the deſtruction of Gods Sanctuary, Ver.17,18. and concludeth with ſupplication to God; that he would be pleaſed, to remit of his fierce wrath towards them, and to turn in mercy again to them, Ver.19——22.

Remember, O Lord, what is come upon us:] Take notice of it, and relieve us: as Pſal.25.7,18.

conſider, and behold] As, Behold and conſider, Chap. 1. 20. Heb. Behold and ſee; as Chap.1.11.

our reproach.] In what diſgrace we are, Chap.1.11. & 3. 61. Neh.1.3. & 4.4. Pſal.89.50,51. & 123.3,4.

V. 2. Our inheritance is turned to ſtrangers, our houſes to aliens.] The land of Canaan, which thou gaveſt us to hold as an inheritance from thee, Pſal.78.55. & 135.12. & 136.21, 22. together with our places of abode therein, is turned over to ſtrangers, and is poſſeſſed by them, as their own rightfull inheritance. See Deut. 28. 30——33. Eſay 63. 18,19. Chap.6.12.

V. 3. We are orphans, and fatherleſſe,] Being without King or Ruler, Hoſ.3.4. or being forſaken and left by thee, who waſt our Father, Deut.32.6. Eſay 63.16. & 64.8.

our mothers are as widows.] Our City and State are as wives left and caſt off by their husbands, regarded and protected no more by them, then as if they had none at all. See Chap.1.1. We are as orphans and widows, fatherleſſe and husbandleſſe, expoſed to wrong and injurious uſages of any.

V. 4. We have drunken our water for money,] We have not ſo much as water free; we muſt pay for it, or earn it, before we can have it; as Num.20.19. See ver.6.

our wood is ſold unto us.] Heb. cometh (as, is made to come, Ver.9.) for price to us; we pay for it, which in times paſt we had freely out of the common woods.

V. 5. Our necks are under perſecution;] We lye under a grievous yoke of thraldome. See Jer.28.13,14. Chap.1.14. or, we are driven up and down, by thoſe that follow us hard at the heels, like beaſts. Heb. on the neck, or, at the neck, are we purſued: on the neck; as, at the heels, Pſal.49.5.

we labour and have no reſt.] Heb. reſt is not afforded us; we are toiled and tired out with inceſſant pains-taking, and no time of reſt allowed us. See the like, but in ſomewhat a different notion, Eſay 23.12. Chap.1.3.

V. 6. We have given the hand to the Egyptians, and to the Aſſyrians, to be ſatisfied with bread.] We are fain to beg our bread of ſtrangers, having it not allowed us by thoſe whom we ſerve. Or, in our extremity we have been driven, either to ſeek, or to work, to theſe people for relief, Eſay 57.9. Hoſ.12.1. many fled into Egypt for fear of the Chaldeans, Jer.41. 17, 18. and many were carried captive into the land of Aſſyria.

given the hand] to give the hand, is uſed for to yield ones ſelf to another, to be wholly at their command, Jer. 50.15. and ſo it is a note of ſubmiſſneſſe, or ſubmiſſion in general; and it may here be taken, either in a notion of humble ſupplication, and addreſſe thereby, to the perſons here ſpoken of; as the like, Pſal.68.31. or of employment and ſervice; as the like, Deut.12.18. Prov.31.19. as if they had ſaid, glad are we to get any employment, on any never ſo mean terms.

to be ſatisfied with bread.] Only to have that that may ſatisfie our hunger. See the curſe denounced againſt Elies iſſue, 1 Sam.2.36. where the copulative being in a disjunctive notion, were it ſo expreſſed, as it ſhould, would make the doom paſt on them more remarkable, and help to cleer this place.

V. 7. Our Fathers have ſinned, and are not; and we have born their iniquities.] They are not, that is, they are dead and gone, Zach.1.5,6. So Gen. 42. 36. Pſal. 39. 13. Jer.31.15. Howbeit, I conceive not the meaning here to be, as in that profane proverb, the wicked ſort of them uſed to ſpeak, The Fathers ate the ſowr grapes, and the childrens teeth are ſet on edge, Jer.31.29. Ezek.18.2. thereby implying, that they ſuffered for the defaults of their forefathers, being faultleſs themſelves. For they are not ſuch in whoſe perſon the Prophet here ſpeaketh, but ſuch as made humble acknowledgment, both of their own ſins, and of the hand of God juſtly upon them for the ſame, Ver.16. Chap.1.8,14,18. & 3. 22, 39,42. but the meaning is, that their parents, in whoſe ſteps they had trod, being dead long ago many of them, had by deceaſe eſcaped the ſight and ſenſe of thoſe evils, which God, out of patience and forbearance, had deferred unto their dayes; and were now with the main ſhock lighted exceeding heavy upon them their iſſue. God making them exemplary ſpectacles of his wrath; incenſed as well by the ſins of their parents, as of them their poſterity. That which he oft doth, by inflicting upon the poſterity of ſome notorious delinquent ſuch remarkable judgments, that men may thereby diſcern that he had therein an eye, as well to the exceſſes of their anceſtors, as to their own perſonal tranſgreſſions. See Eſay 65.7. Mat.23.32,35,36.

V. 8. Servants have ruled over us:] Or, rule over us; not ſtrange Lords and Maſters only, Eſay 19.4. & 26.13. but the meaneſt of their ſervants alſo have us at command, and uſe us as they pleaſe; as Neh.5.15. So that the curſe of Canaan is befallen us, We are become ſervants of Servants, Gen. 9. 25. as in a family, ſaith one, it is not unuſual, that the ſervant that came laſt, is as a ſervant to the reſt.

there is none that doth deliver us out of their hand.] Or, and there is none; to knit the one branch to the other: none to do, as Nehemy ſometime for ſuch as were ſo oppreſſed, Neh. 5.13,15. but the word ſignifieth properly, by force and vio- lence to deliver, or, ſet free. Heb. no renter out of their hands: for it ſignifieth in the firſt place, to rend, or, break aſunder. So Pſal.7.2. leſt he tear me like a lion, renting, (that is the very term there uſed) while there is none to deliver: and in the ſecond place, by renting, to ſet free, or to reſcue. So Pſal. 136.24. and reſcued us from our enemies; by main might ſet us free: and there is in it an alluſion, either to the breaking of an yoke, and ſo ſetting a beaſt at liberty: as Gen.27. 40. where the ſame word is uſed: or of chains and bonds, whereby a captive or priſoner is reſtrained; as Pſal. 107.14. it may well comprehend any forcible reſcue: and it is a complexive form of ſpeech; to rend, for, by rending to deliver and ſet free: the like, ſee Chap.3.53.

V. 9. We gat our bread with the peril of our lives;] Heb. made it to come (as Verſ. 4.) with our ſoul. So it is ſaid of thoſe three that brake thorow the Philiſtines camp to fetch water for David, that they brought it with their ſouls, 2 Sam.23.17. They could not ſtart out of the city to get any relief in their great extremity, but with danger of their lives.

becauſe of the ſword of the wilderneſſe,] Heb. from the face of (either for fear of, or by reaſon of, as Eſay 21.15. Jer. 59. 10. ſo Ver.10.) the ſword (to wit, of the enemy) in the wilderneſs, or, in the plain; as Chap.4.19. the enemy lying round about the city diſperſed every where in the plains neer adjoyning thereunto, Jer.52.7.

V. 10. Our skin was black like an oven, becauſe of the terrible famine.] Or, as a chimney, Eſay 31.9. Heb. from the face of, or, from before (as Ver.9.) the terrours, (as Pſal.119.53.) or, ſtorms, (as Pſal.11.6. but the former rather here,) of famine: terrours of famine, for, moſt terrible famine: as, the King of terrours, for, a moſt terrible King, Job 18.14. See on Chap.4.8.

V. 11. They raviſhed the women in Zion; and the maids in the Cities of Judah.] Heb. humbled; as Deut.22.24,29. Judg. 20.5. 2 Sam.13.22.

V. 12. Princes are hanged up by their hand:] Or, were hanged by their hand; to wit, of the enemies: either their lives taken away, by that ignominious kind of death; of which Deut.21.22,23. See Joſh.8.29. or, their bodies, after they were ſlain by the ſword, being hanged up in diſgrace and contempt, and ſo expoſed to publike view. See 1 Sam. 31.10.

the faces of Elders were not honoured.] See Chap.4.16.

V. 13. They took the young men to grind;] Or, as ſome, The young men have carried the griſt: ſuppoſing it to be a noun; as ſome others of the like form are. The young men have been compelled to carry like horſes or aſſes, among other burdens, their corn and griſt to and fro: or, they have been conſtrained to grind as beaſts, by turning or driving the mill about: an employment that ſlaves were uſually put to in thoſe parts. See Exod.11.5. Judg.16.21. Eſay 47.2. The Chaldee Paraphraſt rendreth it, have born the mills, or, the milſtones: as the word whereby it is by him expreſſed, is found uſed, Deut. 24.7. whence a proverbial form among the Talmudiſts, of a man with a milſtone on his neck, alluded to Mat.18.6. uſed of one that lyeth under ſome exceeding heavy, and in a manner, unſupportable burden; which yet, ſay they, muſt not keep a man from ſtudying Gods Law. Thus taken, the word ſhould ſignifie not the griſt, but the mill; as alſo ſome expound it, Deut.9.21. where others would have it to be a file: but it ſeemeth to be neither: and ſome of the Talmudiſts tell a tale, that the Chaldeans made the young men carry milſtones with them to Babylon; becauſe there was ſome want of them there: whence it is not unlikely, that their Paraphraſt fetcht that his interpretation; which yet in ordinary acception, without any ſuch forged ſtory, might be true, that they were conſtrained ſometime to carry ſuch; or in a figurative form, by a proverbial manner of ſpeech, that they were put to bear burdens fitter for beaſts then for men to bear. Some of the Jewiſh Doctors, whom the old Latine alſo followeth, conceive the word to be uſed both here, and Judg.16.21. & Job 31.10. in an obſcene ſenſe; of young men abuſed contrary to nature, Gen.19.5. which howſoever it may in that place of Job ſound ſomewhat that way, like to the abuſe offered to the Levites concubine, Judg. 19.25. and that before here, Ver.11. yet hath no place in any probability here.

and the children fell under the wood.] Under ſuch burdens of wood, as beyond their ſtrength they were conſtrained to bear: and this as it refelleth that obſcene notion, by ſome faſtened upon the former branch; ſo it helpeth to back that other of milſtones, or the like, not carried from Jeruſalem, but to and fro in other places: the bigger and ſtronger ones being put to the carrying of ſtones, the younger and weaker ones to burdens of wood. Howbeit, Some of the Jewiſh Commenters by wood underſtand here the woodden poſt, or engine, by which they turned about the upper milſtone, the rider, or the runner, as we term it: for the lower was fixed and ſtirred not. See on Eſay 47.2. ſo the perſons ſhould be the ſame in either. But of this let others deem.

V. 14. The elders have ceaſed from the gate;] There is no more ſitting for them on the bench of judicature; which in the gates of the city they uſed to do, Jer. 38.7. It is in that regard as a perpetual Sabbath with them; for on the Sabbath they ſate not in judicature: and it is the word Sabbath that is here uſed; as alſo Ver.15.

the young men from their muſick.] Heb. their ſtriking, or, playing on hand-inſtruments of muſick. So Chap.3.14. but put here, as there alſo, for muſick in general: their wonted muſick, their melodious ſinging and playing is no more heard: the youth have no more merry meetings now, as they had wont to have. See Chap.6.11. & 31.13.

V. 15. The joy of our heart is ceaſed;] All hearty joy is gone. See Eſay 16.10. & 24.8, 9,11. Jer. 7. 34. & 16.9. & 25.10. Heb. hath reſted: the ſame term that was before, Ver.15. and it may ſeem to have ſome glance at ſuch mirth and cheer, as they were wont to have at their ſolemn feſtivals and on their Sabbaths, Deut.16.11,14. & 28.47,48. 2 Chr.29.36. Pſal.42. 4. & 81.1,2. & 92.1,2.

our dance is turned into mourning.] Dancing, the uſual and ordinary companion of mirth, Jer.31.13. See the contrary in the like expreſſion, Pſal.30.11.

V. 16. The crown is fallen from our head;] So read, there ſhould be a defect of the particle from; as Eſay 32. 6. & 33. 6. Jer.8.13. & 10.20. But that is not here needful; for it is word for word in the original, The crown of our head is fallen. All our glory and ſtate is gone. See Job 19.9. Pſal.89. 39. for the word is uſed more largely then for a royal diadem only. See Prov.4.9. And the Jewiſh Doctor underſtandeth it of the Temple; but I ſuppoſe it to extend farther then ſo.

Wo unto us, that we have ſinned.] And have brought all this miſery upon our ſelves, our land, and ſtate by our ſins, Jer.4.18. Chap.1.8. & 4.13. A woe, not of denunciation, but of lamentation; as Eſay 3.9. Jer.4.13.

V. 17. For this our heart is faint;] As Chap.1.22.

for theſe things our eyes are dimme:] Our eyes are waſted with weeping; as Chap. 2. 11. Pſal. 6.7. or, our eye-ſight faileth; as is wont to befall thoſe that are fainting away in qualms, or otherwiſe, 1 Sam.14.29. Pſal.38.10. Jer.14.6.

V. 18. Becauſe of the mountain of Zion which is deſolate;] The deſolation and deſtruction as of the City in general, ſo of Sion more ſpecially, the ſeat of Gods Sanctuary, Chap. 1. 10. & 2.1,7. ſeemeth to be aimed at and intimated, as that which they took moſt to heart; as Elies daughter in Law, did the loſſe of Gods Ark, 1 Sam.4.21,22, and ſo the Chaldee underſtandeth it.

the foxes walk upon it.] A Jewiſh Critick would have it to be a verb tranſitive; becauſe in the form here uſed, it is ſo ſometime; as Job 24.10. the poor they make to walk, or, go, naked: and ſo it ſhould be rendred here; they have made the foxes to walk, or, go, upon it: and it is, ſaith he, imperſonal, as that, Gen.50.26. and they embalmed him: meant, as of the Phyſitians, or embalmers there; ſo of thoſe that demoliſhed the Temple here. But there ſeemeth no neceſſity of this nicety, ſince that the verb in the form here uſed is far more frequently found in a ſtanding, then in a tranſient ſenſe; as Job 30.28. Pſal.38.6. & 85.13. & 86.11. & 89.15. & 104. 10,26. & 115.7. & 131.1. onely in this weighty form it ſeemeth to imply an uſual and ordinary walk: as if it were ſaid, the foxes that are wont to haunt waſte places, do freely and frequently walk up and down there, where Gods own Sanctuary ſometime ſtood. See Pſal.63.10. Ezek.13.4.

V. 19. Thou, O Lord remaineſt for ever;] Or, But, or, Yet, to be ſupplyed; as Pſal.119.23,83. Jer.50.34. & 51.53. thou, O Lord, Heb. ſitteſt; that is, abideſt; as Pſal.125.1. or, reigneſt, as Eſay 10.13. for ever. See Pſal.9.7. & 10.16. & 29.10. & 102.12. & 145.13. & 146.10. And though thou ſuffereſt theſe things to be done at preſent, yet neither is thy might and power impaired, Eſay 50.2. & 59.1. nor can thy truth, goodneſſe, and faithfulneſſe fail, Pſal. 89.34,37. & 102. 27, 28. & 146.6. Hab.1.12. Mal.3.6.

thy throne from generation to generation.] Heb. to generation and generation: as Pſal.89.4. Though they have by thy permiſſion thrown down thy ſtately ſeat and material throne here on earth, Jer.17.12. yet thy ſovereignty and dominion continueth ſtill, and ſo ſhall, thorow all ages, the ſame; and thy royal ſeat in heaven, which no power here on earth can reach to, ſhall abide with thee for ever, Pſal.45.6. and 103. 19. Eſay 66.1.

V. 20. Wherefore doſt thou forget us, and forſake us ſo long time?] The like complaints of Gods ſervants and people in their diſtreſſes, ſee Pſal.6.2. & 10.1. & 13.1. & 44.24. & 94. 3,4. and Gods anſwer to them, Eſay 49.14—16. Heb. for length of dayes, Pſal.23.6. which ſome ſuppoſe to have reference to the ſeventy years, the time aſſigned for the continuance of their captivity, Jer.29.10,28. But the form ſeemeth more indefinite.

V. 21. Turn

V. 21. Turn thou us unto thee, O Lord, and we ſhall be turned.] Do thou convert us, and we ſhall be converted, Jer. 31. 18. or, receive thou us into grace and favour again, and our preſent condition will be ſoon changed for the better, Pſal. 80. 3, 7, 14, 19. & 85. 4, 5. and this ſeemeth the genuine ſenſe of the text; eſpecially if taking the copulative in a finitive notion, (which I conceive to be the genuine ſyntax) we ſhall render the words, Turn thou us, O Lord unto thee, that we may be turned; as Pſal. 51. 7. cleanſe me with hyſſop, that I may be clean: waſh me that I may be whiter than ſnow. But the difference is not great: the one noteth the iſſue, the other the end.

renew our dayes as of old.] Reſtore us again to our former eſtate. See Jer. 30. 20. & 33. 11.

V. 22. But thou haſt utterly rejected us; thou art very wroth againſt us.] Thoſe that follow this reading expound the words, as delivered by Gods people, in way of controlling and checking of themſelves for craving a ſpeedy reſtitution in the words foregoing, Ver. 21. whereas God was reſolved to leave and caſt them off utterly, for a long time at leaſt. See before on Ver. 20. But this ſome other miſlike; and would have the particle taken as conditional; Reſtore us again; unleſs it be ſo that thou art reſolved utterly to caſt us off, in the extremity of thy wrath: and thus is the particle uſed, Gen. 32. 26. Eſt. 2. 14. But this ſome again rejecting as well as the former, require to have the particle rendred, Although, or, Albeit. Albeit, thou haſt caſt us off, and art exceeding wroth with us, yet vouchſafe to return in mercy to us again. So it ſhould be like thoſe Paſſages, Pſal. 60. 1, 2. & 89. 4, 7. And ſo the particle ſeemeth uſed, Jer. 2. 22. & 37. 10. But I conceive that the two particles here uſed do not here, as a compound, make up one joynt notion; but are two diſtinct ones, as well in notion as in delineation; as oft elſewhere they are: that the former of them is a cauſal; the latter an interrogative: and that the ſame humble expoſtulation is here continued, that was before begun, Ver. 20. The words therefore would be rendred, as in the margent of our Verſion is exhibited; For wilt thou, or, ſhouldeſt thou utterly reject us? (Heb. rejecting reject; as Jer. 14. 19.) wilt thou be, or, ſhouldeſt thou be, extreamly, or, perpetually wroth with us? Heb. unto extremity; as Eſay 64. 9, 12. or, unto perpetuity: as Pſal. 119. 8. As if they ſhould ſay, ſurely it will not ſtand with thy goodneſſe, and with thy gracious diſpoſition, ſo to do. See the like expoſtulations of Gods people, Pſal. 79. 5. & 80. 4. & 85. 5. & 89. 46.

The Jewiſh Doctors, becauſe they would not have the Sun here to ſet in a cloud, do after this Verſe, both in writing and reading this Chapter, or this book, repeat again the Verſe next before-going. Which howſoever they do out of a ſuperſtitious conceit, before-hinted, at the end of Eſays Prophecies; Yet I hope, I may without offence in theſe diſtracted times, ſhut up theſe my weak labours therewithal, as with no diſhonourable or unſuitable Prayer;

Turn us, O Lord, to thee, that we may be turned: renew our dayes, as of old.

ANNOTATIONS

On the Book of the Prophet

EZEKIEL.

The ARGUMENT.

EZekiel, of the Prieſtly race, was carryed captive to Babylon, in the ſecond captivity by Nebuchadnezzar; not accounting upon that time, when Manaſſeh was carryed to Babylon by the Captains of the hoſt of Eſar-Haddon, or Aſnapper, King of Aſſyria, Ezra 4. 2, 10. 2 Chron. 33. 11. as the beginning of the accompliſhment of that Prophetical denunciation of Eſay, 2 King. 20. 17, 18. Eſay 39. 6, 7. But when Nebuchadnezzar carried away Jehojachin, or Jeconiah, with his Mother, divers of his Princes, and many of the people, Namely, in the eighth year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign both over Babylon, and Judah, then was Ezekiel carried captive, 2 King. 24. 12. Ezek. 33. 21. & 40. 1. Ver. 1, 2, &c. In the firſt Captivity by Nebuchadnezzar, Daniel and his three Companions, among others, were carried away. And that was in the firſt year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, and in the fourth year of Jehojakim King of Judah, Jer. 25. 1. Dan. 1. 1, 2. In the Captivity of Jechoniah, and Ezechiel, ſay ſome: But much rather in the former, wherein Daniel was carried Captive; Then, as the moſt learned Chronologers do juſtly hold, began the deſolation of Jeruſalem, and the ſeventy years of Judah's Captivity, and Babels reign, Jer. 25. 1, 11, 12. In which time of diſtreſſe, God did raiſe up Prophets to tell his people of their woful troubles; and to aſſure them, that his Church ſhould have deliverance at the time appointed of ſeventy years; and that ſuch enemies as either afflicted them; or rejoyced at their miſeries, ſhould be deſtroyed. Jeremie in Judah taught that Jeruſalem ſhould be as Shiloh, Jer. 7. 12, 14. foretold, that Babel muſt reign for thoſe ſeventy years; and writing to Judah that was then in Babylon, he bids them not to look for return till thoſe ſeventy years were ended. Jeremy was oppoſed by falſe Prophets; by Hananiah in Jeruſalem, Jer. 28. 1, 2, 3. by Shemajah and others in Babylon, Jer. 29. 8, 9, 24—29. Wherefore to countenance him, God ſtirreth up Ezekiel in Babylon, to ſecond him, and confirm his Propheſies; and to perſwade the remnant in Judah by writing, to yeild to Babels yoak, to prevent greater Judgments. This Prophets example, and two Captivities already paſt, might have warned Judah ſufficiently, not to ſtirre up more wrath, by provoking God againſt them, to give them ſo up into the Chaldeans hands, as to burn their Temple, raze their City, kill their Princes, diſperſe the people, and to extirpate out of Jeruſalem all ſignes of Judah's Church, and Common-wealth; All which God, in theſe Prophecies, doth foretel ſhould come to paſſe, did they ſtill perſiſt and reſiſt. But all ſufficed not: And upon their continued obſtinacy and rebellion, All this did fall out accordingly. For his Courſe and general Method in this book, Ezekiel thus proceeds, upon theſe heads; After his vocation and calling to his Prophetical office, He foretels the woful Siege and deſolation of Jeruſalem, and the calamities, and captivity of Judah; He ſheweth the cauſes of ſuch evils, to be the violation of Gods Laws; and that in a tranſcendent manner. And for them already in Captivity, He reproves them alſo for many ſins ſharply; exhorting them to repent, and to be confident of their return to Canaan, and of the reſtauration promiſed at the time appointed. Furthermore, he Propheſieth againſt the neighbour Nations, who had been en- mies to the Jewes; eſpecially Tyre, Egypt, and Edom, that they ſhould be involved in the ſame Chaldean deluge. Then he goeth on to foretell the ruine of Gog and Magog, the laſt and Cruelleſt enemies of the Jewes, before the firſt coming of Chriſt, that theſe enemies ſhould be ſubdued, and the Church deliverd. The effect of the one, and the other, ſhould be chiefly performed by Chriſt, of whom, in this Book are many Notable Promiſes; and in whom the glory of the New Temple, City, and Kingdome, largely ſhewed him in Viſion, and deſcribed, ſhould be perfectly reſtored. He Propheſied in Chaldea at the time Jeremy propheſied in Judah; wherefore there is very great agreement between theſe two Prophets. But he began four and thirty years after Jeremy; namely, in the fifth year of Jehojachins Captivity; and that was about the year of the world, 3400. and afore our Saviours Incarnation, about 600 years. He continued Propheſying two and twentie years at leaſt, Chap. 29.17. Of the manner of his death, what ever divers Authors do record, yet we have nothing in Scripture.

CHAP. I.

Verſ. 1. NOw] Heb. And. So haply coupling his outward expreſſions in writing, with the inward notions and viſions of his mind. Or elſe it is an Hebraiſme, onely for grace of ſpeech; very uſual in that language: whereupon as here this Book, ſo in like manner with this word do begin the Books of Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Joſhuah, Ruth, Jonah, and moſt of the Hiſtorical Books of the old Teſtament.

This Chapter contains a Viſion of the glory of God, and of Chriſt.

in the thirtieth year] Not from the Jubilee; for this time agrees not with that accompt: but thirty years after that the book of the Law was found; which was the eighteenth year of the reign of Joſiah; when alſo the Covenant with God was renewed, Religion reformed, and a very ſolemn Paſſeover kept, 2 King. 22.3,8,22,23. 2 Chr. 35.19. The remembrance of ſuch benefits gave the Jewes occaſion of this account. A thing not unuſual with them in like caſes. So are years reckoned from the calling of Abram, the birth of Iſaac, the coming out of Egypt, the diviſion of the Kingdomes of Judah and Iſrael, the Captivity and deportation into Babylon: and others, that we need not here to flye and fetch it from an Epoche and æra of an Heathen King Nabopolaſſar, not mentioned in Scripture; though that Chaldean accompt may agree with this: nor refer it to the Prophets age, which he would not take upon him in this manner to ſet down; as being without any example of ſuch like reckoning in Scripture: and his birth-day a time but obſcure, and not vulgarly known abroad.

fourth moneth] Anſwering to part of our June and July. See Annotations on Chap. 40.1.

fifth day] Towards the end of our June. Thus particularly God would have us take notice of the times, and to obſerve the remarkable paſſages of Gods providence and acts in Church and States, which fall out in them, Hoſ. 14.9. That this fifth day was a Sabbath day, cannot be aſcertained.

among the Captives] Heb. in the midſt of the Captivity: when Jehojachin or Jeconiah was led Captive to Babel, 2 King. 24.12. then Ezekiel, Chap. 40.1. Mordecai, Eſt. 2. 5,6. and many of the people were led alſo away; ten thouſand Captives at leaſt, 2 King. 24.14,16. of which number were three thouſand and three and twenty of the Tribe of Judah, Jer. 52.28. In the midſt; that is, amongſt, as Joſh. 7.13. thus the Godly are mingled in this world with the wicked, Pſal. 120.5. Apoc. 29.13,14,15. and a Lilly among thornes, Cant. 2.2. yea thus they are wrapped up in the ſame outward Calamities and afflictions with the wicked, Eccl. 9.1, 2. 1 Pet. 5.10. And therefore we muſt not judge of men by their outward eſtate and condition. It was the great ſin of Jobs three friends, Luk. 13.1,2,3,4. Pſal. 73.15.

chebar] Chap. 3.15. a river of Meſopotamia, riſing, as is thought, from the mountain Maſius, and flowing into Euphrates; neer to which, it ſhould ſeem, were appointed ſome habitations for the Jewes, which were led into Captivity, Chap. 3.15. Pſal. 137.1. This ſeems to be that Chabor in Ptolomy, though ſome more probably take this for Euphrates it ſelf. Thus Daniel ſaw viſions by the ſide of the great river Hiddekel, or Tygris, Dan. 10.4. That this is called a Sabbatical river, and the reaſon why, is all but a Rabbinical Dream.

The heavens were opened] To his thinking, and in humane appearance; a kind of ſpeech much uſed in the deſcription of Viſions, Mat. 3.16. Act. 10.11. Rev. 4.1. and Chap. 19.11. to note a ſudden breaking forth of light from above, created by God miraculouſly, as if it came out of heaven it ſelf; in and through the midſt of which were ſhewen the repreſentation of divine things. Or, as Joh. 1.51. or Act. 7.56. God ſtrengthening his eyes to ſee at ſuch a diſtance.

I ſaw] Hence Prophets called Seers, 1 Sam.9.9. Eſay 30. 10. which points out their duty, Ezek.33.3,6.

Viſions] God hath revealed himſelf to his Prophets ſometimes mouth to mouth, and face to face, Exod. 33.11. Deut. 34.10. Num.12.6,7,8. ſometimes in Dreams, Gen.28.12, & 31.11. ſometimes in Viſions, as Gen.15.1. And ſo here. And theſe Viſions are repreſentations of viſible things to the eye of the body, or at leaſt of the mind, to a man awake, to ſignifie things preſent, or to come; and that with ſuch an irradiation of the mind, and impulſe upon the ſpirit, as ascertains the mind, and Will, and truth of God in them. See alſo Chap.7.26. & Chap.12.22,23.

of God] That is, which God ſhewed, or, wherein I ſaw God: or, notable and excellent viſions; ſo that it might be known it was no Natural dream, or illuſion of Satan, or lying fancy: but that the viſions in this Chapter came of God, ſee Annotations on Chap.40.2.

V. 2. Fifth year] Of Jeconiah's Captivity, and conſequently Zedekiahs reign. And from Jeconiahs Captivity doth Ezekiel conſtantly begin all his reckonings of the times. This doth in Certainty denote the time of thirty years, and the beginning of it, if it were doubtful in the former verſe: for if to theſe five of Jeconiahs Captivity, you adde eleven of Jehojakim, and the fourteen laſt of Joſiah, there will ariſe thirty ſpoken of in the firſt verſe: and ſo Ezekiel propheſieth thirty years after the finding of the book of the Law, in the fifth year of Jeconiahs Captivity. And from this time to that, Chap.8.1. is a year, and two moneths; within which ſpace all happened that is ſet down in the ſeven firſt Chapters of this Prophecy: and from this day and date of time, to the beginning of the ſiege, are four years, ſix moneths, and five dayes, Chap.24.1. Ier.52.4.

of King Jehojachins Captivity] This Jehojachin was eight years old, when his father Jehojakim began to reign; and himſelf likely in ſome ſort joyned with him, 2 Chron. 36. 9. And 18, when he began to reign alone, 2 King. 24. 8. He was Captive ſeven and thirty years, 2 King.25.27. He was called alſo Jechoniah, and Coniah; and, as ſome would, (though not ſo likely) Shallum, Ier. 22. 11. He is written Childleſſe, Ier.22.30. Salathiel was his ſon, 1 Chr.3.17. Mat. 1.12. onely by legal ſucceſſion, not by natural generation, Luk.3.27. In him ended the Kings, and royal line of David. Our Saviour came of Nathan, Davids other ſon, Luk. 3.31. The Crownes, Zech.6.11. are ſet upon the head of Jeſhuah the high Prieſt. Theſe five years of Captivity and affliction mended them not.

V. 3. The word of the Lord] That ſet down in the ſecond Chapter, and continued to the twelfth Verſe of the third Chapter.

Came expreſly] Heb. by being hath been; or, in coming it came: to aſſure the entity, evidence, and truth herein.

Ezekiel] Heb. Jechezkell, ſignifying the ſtrong God, or the ſtrength of God, or one ſtrengthened by God. A Name by Gods providence well fitting to his condition, and calling: as likewiſe the Name Iſaac, Solomon, John Jeſus.

the Prieſt] So he was both Prieſt and Prophet: and ſo very few of the Prophets were.

The ſon of Buzi] And therefore not the ſon, or ſervant of Jeremy, as ſome would.

Land of the Chaldeans] That is, in Meſopotamia a part of Chaldea. Abram had dwelt there, Gen.11.31. Act. 7.2,4. whereof Babylon was the chief City, built by Nimrod. The land called the land of Nimrod, Micah 5. 6. and of Shinar, Gen.10.10. It was a land of wickedneſſe, Zech. 5. 11. And they a martial, cruel people, Ier. 6.22,23. & Chap. 50. 41, 42. and yet here in this place God raiſeth up a Prophet in much mercy, for the good of his Church, in this diſtreſſe.

and the hand of the Lord] The Spirit of the Lord. God by his coeval and co-equal Spirit works, as a man doth by his hand, Act.11.21. See the power, virtue, and efficacy of his Spirit, 1 Joh.4.4.

was there upon him] Strongly; the intrinſecal power of his Spirit, excited and brought Ezekiel to this propheticall office and function, as it were againſt his will, he not thinking of it, much leſſe affecting or ambitiouſly deſiring it. See Chap.3.12,14,22,24. & Chap.37.1. For this John ſaith, Rev.1.10. I was in the Spirit. See 1 King. 18.46. 2 King. 3. 15. Then Gods Word and Ordinances are of power, and to purpoſe, when Gods hand and Spirit goeth with them, 1 Cor.2.4,5.

V. 4. A whirlwind] The beginning of the Viſion which continues to the end of the Chapter. The ſum of it is ſet down by the Prophet himſelf, Ver.28. in theſe words, This was the appearance of the likeneſſe of the glory of the Lord. More fully and particularly, it ſhadowes out the God of Glory, and the Son of Man, the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, guiding and governing the heaven and the earth, and all things in them; and their wheelings and turnings, and mutations, by his active providence; and more ſpecially his Church, and the affairs of it, by his eternal ſpirit, uſing therein the miniſtery of his Angels, and inferiour Creatures: This Viſion is eft-ſoons renewed, and mentioned in whole, or in part, Chap.3.23. Ch. 8.4. & Chap.10.15,20,22. & Chap.40.3. This Viſion ſerves for the Prophets heavenly confirmation in his future Calling, fitting and preparing him to it, and incouraging him in it; for the ſight of Gods glory is very efficacious upon the ſpirits of men: and it ſerves alſo for the divine credit of the propheſies hereafter following. The difficulties that ariſe in the explication of this Viſion, are acknowledged by all Authors.

a whirl-wind] Heb. a wind of tempeſt. This, and what followes, is a fore-runner of the glory and majeſty of God; as Job 38.1. and as Act.2.2,3. and to rouz up Ezekiels mind to due attention: and not unfitly figuring the enemies, which God would uſe as inſtruments, for the puniſhing of his people the Jews. As a whirl-wind, were the enemies and their armies. And ſo God threatens, Chap.13.11,13. & Jer.4.11, 12,13. See Prov.1.27. Eſay 41.16.

out of the north] And thence came the Jews enemies; the Babylonians, and other nations ſerving them. So Ier.1.13, 14,15. Habb.1.6,7,8,9,10.

a great cloud] A ſign of Gods preſence: ſo Exod.19.16. 2 Chron. 5. 13, 14. And as a great cloud likewiſe were the armies of the enemies, for numbers and ſwiftneſs; as clouds covering the face of the earth, Chap.38.9. 2 King.25.1. Hab. 1.8 and flying as a cloud, Eſay 60.8. bringing clouds of darkneſs and gloomineſs; as Ioel 2. 2. of troubles and diſtreſs, Zeph.1.15. Clouds of blood; as a great cloud pouring down upon the Jewes ſhowres of deſtructions, ſtorms and tempeſts, Eſay 28.2. ſo Ezek.30.18. & Chap.38.9. ſo Ier.4.13. as clouds full of floods and fire, and hail and lightnings, and thunderbolts, Pſal.11.6. Thus God ordereth, and ruleth both meteors and men, Eſay 19.1. Pſal.104.3. Amos 5.8.

and a fire infolding it ſelf] Vapours likely in the cloud, kindling, and burning into themſelves, the flame turning inward, catching it ſelf, as the Hebrew is, and making as it were a fiery Globe: ſome would apply the ſignification of this to ſin, and the Nature of it. But we rather conceive, it repreſents the fiery wrath of God; or ſecundarily of Nebuchadnezzar, his inſtrument, who burnt up Temple, City, and all.

and a brightneſſe was about it] As a ſhining about the fire; as raies about the ſunne. Gods fiery wrath and judgment upon ſinners make the ſplendor and glory of his juſtice to ſhine abroad, Exod: 15.6.

colour] Heb. eye. ſo Lev: 13.55. Num: 11.7.

of amber] Or a moſt lively colour, as of the pureſt burning braſs; or rather, as of red, hot, fiery burning coales, ver. 13. whence Angells are called ſeraphim Eſay.6.2.6. as fiery and burning in the ſpeedy and fervent execution of Gods will: Pſal. 103. See 2.King 6.17. Heb.1.7.

out of the midſt of the fire] This cleers the meaning of the word midſt next afore going; as alſo in the beginning of the next verſe. See Apoc.1.16.

V.5. Alſo out of the midſt thereof came] The meaning of this viſion ſeemes to be; that the ſon of God who had eſtabliſhed the Ark of the Covenant, with all the things belonging to it, for a ſign of his reſidence among his people, and for a figure of heaven where he dwelleth, and reigneth in glory among his Angels; doth here reveal his heavenly majeſty in formes and ſhapes anſwerable to the earthly figures of the Temple; appearing in judgment againſt his people; purpoſing to depart from them, and to deſtroy them, as it is declared Ezek.10.17,19. & 11.23. until the time appointed for the reſtauration of the Church: at which time he will return in the ſame form, Ezek.43.3. See the like viſions, Dan.7.9. Rev.4. 6,7.

four] Four-formed creatures; as Gods miniſtring ſpirits in all the four quarters of the world: In themſelves very numerous, Dan.7.10. Mar.5.9.

Living-Creatures] Or, weights; ſhadowing out and ſignifying, not the armies of Nebuchadnezzar, coming againſt Ieruſalem to deſtroy it, as ſome would have it, out of that, Chap. 43.3. but the angels called Cherubins, Chap.10.15,20. See Gen.3.24. which are Gods miniſtring ſpirits, Heb.1. 12. for the good of the godly, to inform and guide them, to defend and guard them, to eye them in the aſſemblies, comfort them in afflictions, and attend them at their deaths: And for the wicked, to oppoſe and withſtand them, and to execute Gods judgments upon them. Here they are repreſented in theſe Hieroglyphicks. As then Ezekiel ſeeth the glory of God, and of Chriſt; ſo alſo he ſeeth the miniſtery of his angels which are Gods great officers in the great Family of Heaven and Earth; and which, in wit, excel, in might are ſtrong, in ſervice unweary, in quickneſſe fleet. What ſome here write of the four Elements to be ſhadowed hereby,or the four Cardinal vertues, or the four faculties in the Soul, or four chief paſſions in man,or four monarchies in the world, or elſe the four Evangeliſts,Mathew,Mark,Luke and John;or yet of the Name tetragrammaton Jehovah, conſiſting of four letters, or of Chriſt our Saviour,his perſon,and offices as here myſtically meant,are all rather wandring fancies, and imaginations, then Notions ſuiting with, or proper to the words and context of this,and the following Verſes.

their appearance] Differing from thoſe four beaſts,Apoc. 4.6,7,8.And their appearances we may ſee, their eſſence we cannot.

the likeneſſe of a man] For ſtature, proportion, and all things,ſaving ſuch differences and alterations as are ſet down in the ſix Verſes following. They had ſuch qualities in likeneſs,as are ſet out by theſe parts of a man : principally, reaſon,which is the property and propriety of man among all viſible creatures,2 Sam.14.20.Apoc.46.8. 1 Pet.1.12. 1 Chr. 11.10.

V. 6. And every one had four faces,] Of this ſee more in the tenth verſe.

four wings.] To ſignifie their winged ſpeed,in doing Gods Will.Of theſe,ſee more,ver.8,9,11,23,24.25. and Chap.10. 12. Here they have four wings a piece, Eſay 6. & Apoc. 4. every one hath ſix wings. Their ſwiftneſs is beyond the ſwift motion of the Sun,and of the Stars, which yet is almoſt beyond all admiration.

V. 7. And their feet] Comprehending the thighs and legs withall, as may be gathered by that which follows.

ſtreight feet] Heb. a ſtraight foot ; round, without turning, to run readily any way,as a round bowl or globe is ready for motion any way,Heb.12.13.

ſole of a calves foot] To ſignifie,as it ſhould ſeem, the indefatigable motion of Angels in the ſervice of God , and his Church.

and they ſparkled] Themſelves ; Or rather their feet ſparkled with their ſpeed,and purity in doing Gods Will.

braſſe] Or,Steel, Apoc.1.15.

V. 8. The hands of a man] The hand notes action,Eccl. 9.10.Prov.3 27. This is to ſignifie their ability and action ; as formerly their will and readineſs of deſire was ſhadowed out. Here is the virtue and diverſity of the angels operations, Chap.10.7,8,12. They are for work and ſervice, they reſt not, Apoc. 4.8. and are without wearineſs. We ſhould do likewiſe, Ioh. 13. 17. Apoc. 22. 14. See more, Ezek. 10 12.

under their wings] Will and Work go together. Some here do ſtretch the ſituation of their hands under their wings,to further notions, then we can apprehend a warrant for.

four ſides] On the four ſides of the Waggon,on each ſide of which there was a Cherub,as ſome ſay: but rather under their wings on their four-ſides, as the expreſs words are. And ſo every one having four wings,ver.6. there were ſixteen hands under their ſixteen wings ; thus placed,in this order, Chap. 18.21.

V. 9. Their wings were joyned] Touched each other in their utmoſt parts.

one to another] Heb. a woman to her ſiſter. To ſhew their joint unanimity,harmony, and correſpondency, in ſpeeding to perform Gods Will injoyned ; which ever lay ready before them ; and they ready and prepared for it, of what nature or kind ſoever it were : ſuch unanimity, and joyning our helps together ſhould be in us, for the doing of Gods Will. The wicked practiſe it againſt him,Pſal.2.2.

turned not] See ver.12. ready ſtraight to all ſervices,without need or uſe of ſo much let, as the turning of themſelves. See our duty,Luk.9.62.Phil.3.23,14.That returning,ver.14. was in the ſame manner as they ran,without turning of their bodies, after they had done their work ; as if he ſhould ſay, they ran to and fro without any winding or Circulation.

V. 10. As for the likeneſſe of their faces,] They are likened to the faces of four principal creatures. They ſeem to repreſent,and hyeroglyphically deſcribe, (as earthly things may) the humane underſtanding, the Lyon-like power, the Ox-like uſefulneſs, the Eagle-like ſpeedineſs of the Angels, in their miniſtration and obedience to Gods Will , and for the ſervice of his Church and people,Apoc.4.7. Thus angels are ; and thus like ſhould we be.

They four had,&c.] Each one had four faces,ver.6. and ſo ſixteen in all. Each one,of a man,before : Of an Eagle behind: Of a Lyon,on the right ſide : Of an Ox,on the left ſide.

V. 11. upward] It may be,both faces,and wings : ſo ſome tranſlate upward , towards him that ſate upon the throne, above the firmament, that was over their heads, ver.22,23, 25,26.to admire and adore him, Heb.1.6. And as an Hawk upon the wing, ready, and watching unanimouſly to receive his Commands,to do his Will. Mat.18.10.& Chap.8.9.Pſal. 123.1,2. Thus it ſhould be with us, Mat. 16. 10. and our minds ſhould be upward, Col.3.1. Phil.3.20. The Church hath the Moon , and all ſublunary things under her feet, Apoc.12.1.

upward] Or,divided above,as it may be tranſlated. Namely above the ſhoulders, where the four faces did begin to divide themſelves ; and where the four wings of the Cherubines were alſo divided.

two covered their bodies] Ver.23.Every one had two which covered on this ſide, and every one had two which covered on that ſide their bodies. This might be ſo, by joyning of the wings one to another : So ver.23.Eſay 6.2.the words are, with twain he covered his feet. Likely this for decency , and modeſty ; as in thoſe caſes, Exod.20.26. & Chap.28.42. or elſe,as Moſes put a vail on his face, Exod.34 33,34,35. So providing to help and ſuccour humane infirmity ; as we uſe to ſhadow our eye with our hand,when we would look up to the bright body of the Sun.

V. 12. Whither the Spirit] The Spirit of God who is the guid of the holy Angels, in all their Functions, and performances ; the Spirit of him that ſate upon the throne, who did drive and put forward the live Wights, (as the wheels to the ſame kind of motion,ver.20.) for the Angels are his miniſtring Spirits,Heb.1.12. Or,we may underſtand it,of the Spirit of the living Creatures, guided indeed by the Spirit of God.

they turned not] See Verſ.7.12,17. Chap.10.11.

V. 13. Like burning,&c.] In love,and zeal, to obey Gods Will. And it may be,in zeal and fury againſt ſinners, ready, in indignation , to execute Gods vengeance upon them.

It went up and down] This likeneſs and appearance of fiery burning coals,and lamps, was in continual motion, darting out rayes inceſſantly.

and the fire was bright] This fire that went up and down, was bright and ſhining,gave light.

and out of the fire went forth lightning] That is, dreadful ſignes of Gods fiery indignation ; and judgments to be executed,by the angels,upon ſinners.

V. 14. Ran] With ſpeed,as a flaſh of lightning. God uſeth the miniſtery of angels, in his adminiſtration of things here below ; and particularly in the execution of his judgments againſt ſinners : examples whereof are very plentiful in the Scriptures : and the angels as readily do his Will, and have influence from Chriſt ſuitable to their adminiſtration.

and returned] That is, ran to and fro without turning about,ver.9.and they ran and returned ; not in a tumultuary way, or by chance, or according to their own minds,but according as their head did guide them ; and when they had executed his Will ; for afore they returned not, till God had changed the ſtate of things ; as Mat.8.9.

a flaſh of lightning] Moſt ſpeedily, as it were in the twinkling of an eye,Mat.24.27.Luk.17.24.

V. 15. One wheel] As one ; yet more in number, ver. 16. 17,18,19,20,21. The Cherubins covering the ark are called a Charet,1 Chr.28.18. And wheels are ſet to the Celeſtial throne,Dan.7.9. See Eccleſiaſticus,Chap.49.8. The meaning here is , that the Prophet did ſee a wheel by every one of the living creatures : So that they being four, there were alſo four wheels, ver. 16, 18. See Chap.10.9. what is meant by the wheels, is a thing full of obſcurity and difficulty : Yet moſt underſtand by them, this inferiour world ; which is as a wheel round, and ſubject to many wheelings, roulings,and turnings,various mutations,and changes. The turning of this wheel is daily ſeen in this world. And the ſtory of Seſoſtris King of Egypt,may be a lively embleme and expreſſion of it : and Chap.10.13.is tranſlated and expounded by ſundry learned Divines , for a divine warrant, to underſtand by the wheel this mutable inferiour orbe. In which the Church militant is tumbled and toſſed. See that verſe, and the Annotations on it. And others not much differing, hereby underſtand the godly people that are in the world, and their various ſtate and condition.

upon the earth] Newly upon that floor which appeared in this Viſion,ver.19,21.

by the living creatures]In,and upon which wheel the living Wights exerciſed their Offices and Functions.

with his four faces] The wheel had four faces, or ſides, ver.17.

V. 16. The appearance] The colour and ſhew.

of the wheels] Therefore more then one : four in this verſe, and verſe 18. yet as one, being as a wheel in the midſt of a wheel,as appears in this verſe. See Chap.10.9.

like unto the colour of a berill] A precious ſtone, of a green ſea-colour ; repreſenting likely the unſtable floating condition of this ſublunary world,and of all things in it. The Hebrew word is Tarſhiſh, and Tarſhiſh in Scripture is often uſed to ſignifie the Sea: and it is alſo the Name of the Metropolitan City of Cilicia, neer to the Sea, whither Jonas fled, Jonah 1.3. the Apoſtle Pauls Country, Act. 21.39. & 22. 3. But here it muſt be underſtood of a precious ſtone; as appears, Chap.10.9. and that of a green Sea Colour.

had one likeneſſe] In all reſpects, ſo that he which ſaw one, ſaw all, and thereupon called one wheel, ver.15.

a wheel in the middle of a wheel] Not comprehenſively one infolding another; then they could not be perfectly one like another: But tranſverſly, all made up one ſpherical figure, touching themſelves, at right angles; that without turning, or any delay, they might run and roul any away, on any ſide, as is ſhewed in the next verſe, Eaſt, Weſt, North, or South. This alſo may note haply the intricacy and perplexity of the carriage of the affaires of this world, to humane underſtanding.

V. 17. Went] See Chap.10.11.

Returned not] They had no ſtops, or retrogradations; they went on conſtantly, went through, they did not move out of the direct tract, wherein the living Creatures did lead them; but even as the live Creatures were led by their Chief, ſo did they alſo guide the wheeles. See ver.20. a figure of the agreeing harmony, which is in all the works of Gods providence towards his Church; and of the conſtant carrying of them on to their appointed ends, and periods, Eſay 43. 13.

V. 18. Rings] Or, rims, or ſtrakes, or trendels, or circumferences.

ſo high] Of a fearful height and compaſſe; and motion ſequently: Repreſenting likely the high, wondrous, unſearchable adminiſtration of things in this world, and of the paſſages of Gods providence in them; bringing fear and dread, amazement and aſtoniſhment to men, Job 21.7, &c. & Chap.12.6. Pſal.73.1, &c. Ier.12.1. Hab.1. ver.2,3. theſe wheeles are of ſuch a height, and their motions ſuch as none can reach, Pſal.36.6. Rom.11.23.

Rings were full of eyes] Inſtead of great nailes wherewith Cartwheeles are garniſhed, there were eyes, for to repreſent either the ſtars of heaven, or more particularly, Gods all-ſeeing providence, in all parts of his government, 2 Chr. 16.9. Prov.15.3. thereby guiding, as the leaſt, ſo the moſt high and formidable things of this inferiour orbe, and ſublunary world; Howſoever they may ſeem here to be carried blindly, raſhly, confuſedly. See Act. 4. 27, 28. yea though the ſecond cauſes be blind, and know not their own motions; or move otherwiſe, Eſay 45.4. & Chap. 10.7. yea or contrary wayes; yet he makes them ſubſervient to his ends. Yet here are not excluded the gifts of Gods Spirit in the inſtruments which he imployeth to this end, under him. See Zach. 3. 9. & 4.10. See Rev.4.6. In Ezek.10.12. the body, backs, hands, wings, of the four wights, were full of eyes alſo. Gods providence reacheth all: no place left to chance, or fortune, even in the leaſt thing.

V. 19. And when] See Ver.17. as the camp and Hoaſt of Iſrael removed and reſted, by the guidance of the Pillar of Cloud, and fire. See Apoc.14.4. Their movings, forward, upward, every way; their reſt depended upon the living Creatures, was guided and ordered by them. God orders both the Angels, and all ſecond Cauſes, in all their motions, by his eye of providence, and ſecret inſtinct.

were lift up] See Ver.20,21. Some do conceive hereby, that God doth ſometimes raiſe the ſpirit of the Creature to more then an ordinary height, and inables it to unwonted ſervices, Zach.12.8.

V. 20. Whitherſoever the Spirit, &c.] Ver.12. the impreſſion and impulſe of Gods Spirit was their guide and mover. Yea God acts in his juſt judgment, even in the motions of Satan and ſinful men, not changing their Wills, but making uſe of them to bring about his own deſigns 2 Sam.17.14.

for the Spirit of the living Creature] Heb. the ſpirit of life. Ver.21. that ſpirit wherewith the living wights were moved, was in the wheeles. That one Spirit of God works all in all. The ſame Divine Inſpiration which did drive the live wights, did alſo give a motion to the wheeles, not enliven them: To ſignifie that Gods Spirit, the vigour, vertue, and inſtinct of it, gives motion to all things according to their ſeveral principles, and ſervices: That God is preſent effectually in all the inſtruments of his providence; and that Chriſt doth do all in all in his Church, 1 Cor.12.6. Epheſ. 1.11. Col.3.11. Rom.8.9,14. 1 Cor.6.17.

they went] Without diſpute, without delay, immediately, chearfully. See Rom.8.14. Joh.14.17. Pſal.148.8.

V. 21. Thoſe ſtood, theſe ſtood] God puts ſtands to the motion of the wights, and of the wheeles, at his pleaſure. See Joſh.10.12,13. 1 King.12.24. Eſay 37.3.

for the ſpirit,] So Ver.20. here redoubled, to make it more remarkable; It is a lively Spirit, 2 Cor.3.5,6. Rom.8.2. It moves and works in all Creatures, with inſtincts and qualities according to their kinds. It hath choice operations in the elect; and common operations in the reſt of Mankind.

V. 22. And the likeneſſe of the firmament] Not the firmament it ſelf; all this was in viſion. See Gen. 1. 6. By this is meant Chriſts Celeſtial Glory, who is King of the Church; for above this firmament Chriſts ſits in his Throne, Ver. 26. Hence to the end of the Chapter, Ezekiel ſees in this viſion, the Glory of Chriſt the Son of Man, or of God in Chriſt.

upon the heads] Verſ.26. ſo this was between the Son of Man, the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and theſe wights, and wheeles: and this likely did ſupply the office of that pair of wings, Eſay 6.2. all Creaturesa re under Chriſt, he ſits above them, Phil.2.9. 1 Cor.15.27.

was as the Colour] Heavenly things are pure and glorious, Pſal.19.1. Job 37.18.

terrible Cryſtal] Tranſlucent ſtrangely; even terrible to aſtoniſhment; through the ſtrangeneſſe, the greatneſſe, and the glorious neſſe of it: ſuch are the things above, dreadfully glorious: and what then is the dreadful glory of God himſelf? 1 Tim.6.16. and all things below are viſible to him, as in and through a Cryſtal, Heb.4.13.

V. 23. And under the firmament were their wings ſtraight, the one towards the other] The Angels at a diſtance attend Chriſts Throne, with wings ſtretched out, ready to fly in his ſervice; as Mat.8.9. and unanimouſly perform it, with mutual ſweet agreement. See Ver.6,11. and the Annotations upon it.

every one had two which covered] More then four we may not admit, becauſe of Verſ. 6. either thoſe two wherewith they did fly, did ſerve alſo to Cover their bodies, at leaſt wiſe, when they ſtood, and let them down, Ver.25. Or elſe, out of Ver.11. the joyning of two wings, one of each Cherub or wight to another; might be counted two on a ſide: And thus Covering, they ſhew their reverence, and ſubjection to Chriſt; as 1 Cor.11.10. Pſal.89.7. And may ſerve as a pattern to man, either of decency and comelineſſe, or of modeſty and humility, to vail and cover the glory of our parts, leſt we ſhould grow proud, or others fall to idolize us. See Annotations on Ver.11.

V. 24. The noiſe of their wings] By ſeveral ſimilitudes much amplified.

of great waters] See Rev.1.15. Pſal.46.3.

as the voyce of the Almighty] Pſal.29.3——10. Apoc. 1. 10. as thunder, Pſal.18.13. Job.18.6.

the voyce of ſpeech] An articulate voyce, of dreadful ſound and greatneſſe. Gods Judgments have the voyce of ſpeech in them, Micah 6.9. we ſhould learn the language thereof, Eſay 26.9. Hoſ.14.9.

as the noiſe of an hoaſt] Of armies of men and horſes, in their armours movings, fightings, Cryes, with Drums, Trumpets, Cannons, (as the caſe is now) All this may ſerve to ſhadow out the ſwiftneſſe, and the dreadfulneſſe of Gods Judgments, Chap. 13.13. Pſal. 119. 120. Eſay 29. 6. And that of dreadful force, and efficacy are the Angels in their motions and actions; ſpecially in the execution of Gods judgments. Some refer all this to the noiſe of Nebuchadnezzars armies. See Eſay 5.27,28,29,30.

they let down their wings] They kept them quiet and without noiſe, ſignifying, that they had no power of themſelves, nor ought to do, but onely waited to execute Gods Commandements.

V. 25. A voyce] Or, noyſe, or ſound; as a fore-runner to prepare Ezekiel the more to attend Gods Word which ſhould be ſpoken unto him. So was John prepared to attendance, and hearing, Apoc.1.10. & ſo Exod.19 16.

from the firmament] Not from the firmament it ſelf, or from any thing under it; but from beſide, and above it; ſo the Hebrew bears; from Chriſt on the Throne.

when they ſtood and had let down their wings] And ſo were ſilent without that noiſe, Ver. 24. that the voyce might be heard, Job 4.16. ſedate, and ſilent minds and ſpirits, are fitteſt then to hear Chriſts voyce likeneſſe] Likeneſſe, and appearance, thirteen times uſed in this, and the two Verſes following. To ſhew that all here was in viſion only; leſt we ſhould otherwiſe miſtake: and God thus as it were, mantles up his Majeſty; elſe there could not be ſuch Communion between him and us.

V. 26. and above] The laſt and beſt part of the Viſion.

throne] Pſal.9.7. Dan.7.9. Heb.1.8. Apoc. 4.2——7. and Chap.20.11,12. Heb.4.16. See 1 King.22.19. The throne here may ſignifie the Judiciary power, Kingly dignity, triumphant glory, and divine Majeſty of Chriſt.

of a Saphire ſtone] A moſt glorious Throne of an heavenly Colour; of a sky, or pleaſant blew Colour, with a little purple in it, Exod.24.10. See Solomons Throne, 1 King.10.18, 19. 2 Chr.9.17. See Lam.4.7. Apoc. 21. 19. this addes to Chriſts glory.

of a man] Chriſt, θεανθρωπος, God and man; to be man; by his incarnation in the fulneſſe of time: the King of the Univerſe, and head of the Church. See Ver. 28. & Dan.9. 13. Eſay 6.1. with Joh.12. 41. Apoc.1. 13.& Chap.14.14.

of amber See ver.4. and the Annotations upon it. Here is Chriſt of an intenſe fiery Colour, like to the moſt hot burning gloing Coales, Apoc.1.14,15. & Chap.2.18. & 10.1. & 19.11,12,13. Thus Chriſt is preſented in a fiery way, when acts of wrath and judgment are to be executed upon a people. To ſhew that God and Chriſt is a conſuming fire to his enemies, Deut.4.24. Heb.12.20. Mal. 3.2,3. Jer. 51. 25, 26. Apoc.6.17.

round about within it] A fire, it ſeems, in a fire, within the outmoſt fire, reflecting upon it ſelf, burning within the concave of it, round about; as fire in a furnace. Two particular applications, and explications of theſe types, we may not ſo ſafely venture upon. Chriſt is moſt glorious, Mat. 17.2. Act. 26.13. and then take up that, Phil.3.21.

V. 28. bow] Of this bow, and the uſe of it, we read, Gen. 9.12—18. Eſay 54.9. This bow then is a ſign of mercy: it is a bow whoſe back is upwards, towards heaven; not ſhooting downwards towards us: a bow without arrows at all; a bow of freſh and lively delightful Colours, to intimate Gods mindfulneſſe of his Covenant of mercy to his, in the midſt of his fiery wrath and judgments againſt his enemies; that he will ark and ſave his, when he rains down floods and ſtorms upon other ſinners, Chap.38.22. Pſal. 11. 6. Thus juſtice and mercy do compaſſe his Throne.

of the brightneſſe round about] Of that brightneſſe in the end of the former verſe; though ſome extend it to be round about the Throne; or the head of him that ſate upon the Throne: according to thoſe places, Apoc.4.3. & Chap.10.1.

This was the appearance] The ſum of the viſion, as we formerly ſaid.

of the likeneſſe] To ſee God, and his glory as it is in himſelf, is not for this life, Exod.33.20. See Eſay 6.2. but reſerved for the life to come, 1 Cor.13.12. 1 Joh.3.2. And even then, though viſionally, yet not comprehenſively; for ſo no Creature can ever ſee the glory of the Creator, 1 Tim. 6.16. or comprehend his infinite eſſence: and therefore there is no doubt but with this clauſe, thoſe places, Gen.32.30. Exod. 33.11. are to be underſtood. This here was but the appearance of the likeneſſe of the Lord. And we ſee it in the volume of the Creatures, Pſal.19.1. and in his Church, and his Divine diſpenſations towards it, Pſal.29.9. & 63.2.

of the Lord] Jehovah. Chriſt is Jehovah; who as God, hath his being of himſelf, and gives being to all things, Jer. 23.6. Mal.3.1.

I fell upon my face] In adoration with fear and reverence, at the glorious preſence of the Divine Majeſty. So Gen.17. 3. Lev.9.24. Dan.8.17. & 10.8,9. Rev.1.17. and it was ſo uſually with Gods Saints, Abraham, Moſes, Manoah, Eſay, Daniel, and others. Or elſe, aſtoniſhed with amazement at the ſight of Gods Majeſty, alwaies terrible to ſinners, though Saints, through ſenſe of their own frailty, weakneſſe, and ſinfulneſſe, during this mortal life, Eſay 6.5. Mat.17.6.

a voyce of one] It was the Lords voyce, but the Prophet in his aſtoniſhment knew not whoſe voyce it was. However, he was then beſt fitted to hear the voyce, when he was thus humbled firſt at the ſight of this viſion.

CHAP. II.

Verſ.1. AND] Ezekiels vocation to his Prophetical function, and inſtructions therein, are the things contained in this whole Chapter; and continued to the 22. verſe of the third Chapter.

He ſaid] He, Chap.1.26. as appears in the three verſes following.

Son of man] So often, and very often, is Ezekiel ſtyled by God in this book, ſome reckon 80. times and upwards. So Daniel once, Dan.8.17. elſe this ſtyle is appropriated to our Savior Chriſt, where it is ſpoken of one Man, and not ſpoken of mankind in general: and ſo our Saviour ſtyles himſelf above four times. This compellation might ſerve to put the Prophet in mind of himſelf, what he was, even Man, earth and aſhes; of his original, and end; baſeneſſe, brittleneſſe, worthleſneſſe in himſelf, Gen. 3. 19. Pſal.9.20. and ſo to humble him, that he ſhould not be puft up with this heavenly glorious viſion, and ſo his pride to bloſſome, 2 Cor. 12. 1, 7. but magnifie Gods mercy in thus honouring him, Pſal.8.3,4. & 144.3. Job 7.17.

Stand upon thy feet] Chap.1.28. Ariſe, recollect thy ſelf, be ready to attend and hear. So Dan.10.11. Eph.6.14. Act.9.6. See Num.23.18. Judg.3.20. thus God in mercy and compaſſion, raiſeth and comforts him.

And I will ſpeak unto thee] That ſpeech which after followes, ver.3,&c.

V. 2. and the ſpirit entred] Either the Spirit of God, ſee Chap.1.20. & 3.24. or his own ſpirit of life which ſeemed loſt almoſt by his former fear and aſtoniſhment, as that, 1 Sam.30 12. However, Gods ſpirit received his languiſhing ſpirit; and here we ſee that God with the command, & by it, gives power & performance. ſee Dan.10.19. compare & couple Gods commands with his promiſes, Deut.10.16. ch.6 5. with ch.30.6.& Ezek.18.31. with ch 36.25,26,27.& Pſ.22.23. with Jer.32.40.

entred into me] By its operation & impletion: filling & fitting him for his office: ſee act.6.3.& ch.9.17.& 11.24.& 13.2. The uſe and neceſſity of the ſpirit, 1 Cor.2.14,12. The word is not ſufficient without it. But the Word is the Chariot of the ſpirit, as here. See 1 Theſſ.1.5. 2 Cor.3.6,8. Gal.3.2.

V. 3. I ſend thee] I make thee my legate and ambaſſador, miſſion, and ordination is requiſite, Rom.10.15. Falſe Prophets run before they be ſent, Jer.14.14.& Ch.23.21. & Ch. 29.9. and it is Chriſts prerogative to ſend Prophets and Miniſters, Mat.28.18,19. Rom.1.5. 1 Cor.4.1. 2 Cor.3.6. Eph. 4.11. act.20.28.

to the children of Iſrael] Evil branches of a good ſtock, Rom.9.6. Theſe were not praying and prevayling children, as their Father was, Apoc.2.9. Rom.2.28,29. Grace comes not by inheritance, Joh. 8.44.

to a rebellious] Sin is rebellion, 1 Sam.12.15.& Chap.15.23. & Act.5.39. Luk.19.14. let us do, as it is, Joſh.1.18. And herein is Gods mercy ſeen, in ſending to ſuch a rebellious people, 2 Chr.36.15,16. Jer.25.3.& Chap.35.15.

nation] Heb. nations. The Prophet propheſied againſt ſundry Heathen Nations: yet here are meant the Children of Iſrael; as is expreſſed: Called Nations, or Gentiles here, becauſe they ſinned as the Heathen Nations did: And ſo in reproach for their ſins, they are called elſewhere by reproachful names, Eſay 1.10.& 57.3. thus ſaith] The miniſter is Gods mouth, Jer.15.19. & 1.9.

V. 5. Whether] Ver.7. Ch.3.11,27. Jer.26.2,3. Mat.21.37. Gods primary intention in ſending his Prophets, is for the good of his people. In a ſecond place it is for to leave the wicked inexcuſable, and to juſtifie his proceedings towards them. See Eſay 55.11. 2 Cor.2.15,16. Joh.9.39. That place of Eſay, Ch.6.9,10. is ſix times alledged and repeated in the New Teſtament.

or whether they will forbear] Namely, to hear, and to obey thee from me: yet muſt the Prophet do his duty, and refer the iſſue & ſucceſs to God, Eſay 49.4,5. yea, he muſt deal roundly, as God himſelf here doth, and put ſuch vile ſinners to it. See Mat.10.14. Mar.6.11.

for they are a rebellious houſe] So charged with rebellion againſt God and his Commandements very often; obſtinate ſinners, with an high hand; whoſe hearts were fully ſet in them to do evil, Eccl.8.11. evil things, as they could, Jer.3.5. even with greedineſs, Eph.4.19. mighty ſinners, as thoſe, Amos 5. 12. ſons of Belial, filled with maliciouſneſs, madneſs, as Luk. 6.11. provoking moſt bitterly, Hoſ.12.14. as thoſe, Deut.32. 32. even the worſe for the means; in doing, they will do their idol-ſervice, Jer.44.17.& thus moſt do, Apoc.13.3. 1 cor.1.22. Eſay 53.1. few hear the word obediently, Mat.7.13,14. And thus the Lord tels the Prophet afore-hand, what he was to expect, that he might not ſtumble at it, nor deſpond, when he ſhould come to it, and find it ſo.

yet ſhall know, &c.] So ch.33.33.& ſo be convinced of their rebellion, & obſtinacy, for not taking warning by him, and ſo left without excuſe, Eſay 5.3,4. and ſo, it ſhall be eaſier for Sodom in the day of judgment, Mat.11.24. what language will their conſciences ſpeak in that day, or on their death-beds? In the end ye ſhall know it, Jer.30.24. See Jer.5.31.& 16.21. & 30.24. The Prophets ſhall witneſs it againſt them, to their further condemnation, 2 Cor.2.15,16.

V. 6. Be not afraid] Four times in this verſe. Stand it out, ſhew thy ſelf a man, a man of courage, a man of God. So Ch. 3.9. ſo Jer.1.8.17. He ſheweth hereby our aptneſs to fear; and yet, that for no fears or afflictions, Prophets ſhould forbear to do their duties. See Pſal.27.1.& 23.4.& 56.3,4. moſt rebellious] Heb. rebellion, in the abſtract : to note the height of their ſinning,ſee annotations on ver.5.

V. 8. Be not thou rebellious,] Amos 3.8. They ſhall come unto thee,not thou to them. God looks for more at a Prophets hand.We muſt not follow the example of wicked men; though the moſt and the greateſt. We muſt not write after their copy,trace their ſteps. Examples prevail much, Magnates,magnetes. Peter among the Jews would Judaize : but it muſt not be ſo with us.

what I ſay] Not what others ſay ; be they what they will be.

open thy mouth] Prepare and diſpoſe thy ſelf for it, Pſal. 119.131.& 81.10.

and eat that I give thee] Apoc.10.9.as he enjoyns him the duty of his prophetical function ; ſo he gives him the means and furniture for it. He gives ſeed to his Sowers. He furniſheth them with abilities. If they want bookes , he will provide them, Exod.4.11, 12. Mat. 10. 19. And miniſters muſt digeſt firſt,themſelves,what they deliver to the people after.

V. 9. an hand] See Dan.5.5,24. Gods creative and infinite power.

a roll of a book] Namely, a book, or a volume, wrapped and rouled up,according to the ancient faſhion, Iſa 8.1. Jer. 36.2. Pſal. 40. 8. This a fit ſymbol of the gift of prophecy, hereby, and herewith beſtowed on him by that great Prophet of his Church.

and woe] Lam.5.16.Mat.23.

CHAP. III.

Verſ.1. HE ſaid unto me,] Namely, He that had ſpoken to him in the precedent Chapter ; he which ſate upon the throne,and ſpread the book before him.

Eate that] All this was done in viſion ; and it may ſerve to repreſent the deep Impreſſion of the Word of God,in the heart of his Miniſters, who muſt apprehend it by faith, and digeſt it by meditation ; for to utter it, not as a meer Narration,but as a quick and lively doctrine.

that thou findeſt] Not ſome part of it, Rom.15.4. 2 Tim. 3.16.

findeſt] Namely that I give thee,whatſoever it be, ſweet or bitter,hard or ſoft,pleaſing or diſpleaſing : and it may ſerve to ſignifie that Miniſters ought to follow, their vocation, ſimply and readily, without contradiction or doubt whatſoever. And the obedience of all unto Chriſt,muſt be abſolute,in all and every thing,without diſputing the caſe,without conſulting with fleſh and blood. A kind of blind obedience is here beſt. So Gen. 22. 3.Luk.5.5.Mar.1. 18.Joh.15. 14.

Eates this Roule] Rev.10.9. The meaning here is that expreſſed,ver.10. 1 Tim.4.13,15.

V. 3. cauſe thy belly to eat] Concoct it, digeſt it, retain it. draw out all the vertue of it , live and act in the ſtrength of it. And thus ſhould we deal with the roul of Gods book, and Word, eat and take in all the truthes of it ; and not as weakly and ſickly ſtomacks do, caſt it up,and get no benefit by it ; but eat it by faith,and digeſt it by meditation, turn it to our ſpiritual nutriment, feel the power and efficacy of it in our heart,ſtrengthning the inner man, and act accordingly. Other bookes and roules we may look into, but this we muſt eate.

and fill,&c.] The inwards of the Soul are to be filled and fed with the Word and Will of God,Pſal.1.2. and that plentifully,Col.3.16.It is not enough then to hear, and know it.

Then did I eate it] Jer.15.16. Apoc.10.10. that is, in this in this Viſion, I ſeemed to eate the roul, in my own Imagination : and yet afterwards he ſeems, through humane frailty, ſomewhat to decline his vocation,ver.14,15.

It was in my mouth]Gods Word,and book of Scriptures, is ſweeter then honey,Pſal.19.10.& 119.72,103.Though ſinful men,as ſick-men, have loſt their taſte. And the office of a Prophet ſeemed at firſt pleaſant to him, by reaſon of the excellency of revelations : The communication with God, the profit that might hence come to the Church, and the honour which God did then do him,by this Seal of his Grace;but the bitterneſs did follow afterwards, ver.14. Apoc.10.9. Jer.15. 16,17,18.

V. 4. with my words] Chap.2.7.not thine,not the words of others,1 Cor.11,23. 1 Joh.1.3.Jer.23.26,21,22.

V. 5. for thou] That is,I will not employ thee in preaching to ſtrange and barbarous Nations, as Jonah,and others ; but thou ſhalt preach onely to thine own Nation,thy friends and familiars, which ſhould be a pleaſure and comfort unto thee,and ſhould ſtrengthen thee in zeal and vertue. Thus God appoints where,and to whom,Act.20.28.

V. 6. Of a ſtrange ſpeech, and of a hard language] Heb. deep of lip,and heavy of language. See Eſay 33.19.

of a ſtrange ſpeech] Heb.deep of lips,and heavy of tongue.

ſurely,had I ſent thee] Or,if I had ſent thee, &c. would they not have hearkened unto thee? or albeit I had not ſent thee (but thou hadſt gone of thine own accord) yet they would have hearkened unto thee.

They would have hearkened unto thee]Sooner then the houſe of Iſrael,they of the Captivity,Mat.11.21,23.& Chap.12.41. the unſearchable depth of Gods wiſdome , and wayes , and judgments : In denying the meanes of grace to thoſe that would embrace them,or better uſe them, and in giving them to thoſe that will refuſe them.

V. 7. will not] So Joh.5.40.Luk.19.14.& Ch.13.34.will not do what they are able to do : our will and willfulneſſe charged with the fault,Hoſ.13.9.

Receive in thine heart] He ſheweth what is meant by the eating of the book ; which is, that the Miniſters of God may ſpeak nothing as of themſelves , but that onely which they have received of the Lord,and lodged in their heart ; and in their heart likewiſe the people muſt receive Gods Word, Deut.6.6.Pſal.119,11.& Pſal.40.8. as Prov.6.20,21,22.Luk. 2.19.& Chap.8.15.

V. 11. To them of the Captivity,] That were carryed captive with Jechonias. Theſe were not ſo bad as thoſe yet remaining in Jeruſalem and Judea, under Zedekiah, Jer.24.5, 8. yet they were bad enough in their preſent affliction, ver. 6. of this Chapter; and haply grudged at their preſent ſtate and condition, that yet remained in the land of Jury. And therefore far ſorer judgments are denounced in this propheſie againſt Jeruſalem, and the Inhabitants of Jury, then againſt theſe mentioned in the text.

V. 12. The Spirit] Not the wind, or the vigour of his own ſpirit, as ſome would have it; but Gods ſpirit, Chap. 1.12, 20. called alſo the hand of the Lord, Chap.1.3. and in the 14. and 22. verſes of this Chapter, that ſpirit, Mat.4.1.

Took me up] Lifted him up higher, that he might at leſs diſtance, and more cleerly view and behold the glory of the Lord, the glory of the Son of Man.

Bleſſed] Moſt likely, the words of that voyce aforementioned: & the words, not of thunder, as that ſuppoſed, Joh,12. 29. but of the living wights the angels. It is their work and office to praiſe God, Apoc.5.10, 11. Eſay 6.3. Luk.2.13, 14. Job 38.4, 7. Pſal.148.2.

from his place] Sitting on his heavenly throne of glory, Chap.1.26. See Mic.1.3. Some underſtand this of the Lords removing from his temple, and forſaking it. And the voyce or noyſe of a great ruſhing to be like as when great Princes do remove their dwellings. And hiſtories do record the like to have fallen out, when the Romanes afterwards burnt the temple, Joſephus 6, 7. Chap.12. of the War of the Jews. Apollonius 6.1. Corn. Tacitus 6.21. of his Annals: Whence it may be the Gentiles had that opinion, That their gods forſook their Cities before they were taken and deſtroyed by enemies; as by many inſtances of theirs might be ſhewed. But this ſenſe ſeems rather to be put upon this text, then naturally to ariſe out of it. The plainer ſenſe is to take this for a doxologie, or prayſing of God; yea even when he is in a way of judgment, he is to be bleſſed and glorified.

V. 13. The noyſe of the wings, and of the wheels,] The noyſe of the Celeſtial and terreſtrial creatures, in way of acclamation and applauſe at the glory of the Lord.

touched] Heb. kiſſed.

one another] Heb. woman, to her ſiſter: Noting the angels harmony, and loving unity; In prayſing God, in executing their offices; they have like affections, as a woman to her ſiſter.

V. 14. And took me away] Ver.12. after the former ſight, and applauſe; took him away and corporally tranſlated him from the place where he had ſeen the viſion, to the chief reſidence of his countrey-men, which were captives in Babylon, verſ. 14, 15. A thing which did often befal the Prophets, 1 King.18.12. 2. King.2.16. Act. 8.39, 40.

And I went in bitterneſſe] After I had well thought upon the ſubject of my propheſies, and of my Commiſſion; finding them full of miſeries for my nation, and of dangers and troubles for my ſelf, Jer.20.9.

heat] Heb. hot anger. The Prophets weakneſs and infirmity; yea froward humour, and diſtemper, to be in a chafe and indignation of ſpirit, upon ſo divine a Call to this office, and ſo gratious a promiſe of aſſiſtance in it: ſo it was with Jonas. The beſt have their faylings. No perfection here. And the Prophet here conceals not his own fault; as not being grudged by his own pen, or ſpirit, in writing Scripture, 1 Pet. 1. 20, 21.

The hand of the Lord] That is to ſay, the power of Gods ſpirit in me overpowred my reluctancy, overcame all theſe fleſhly apprehenſions, Iſa.8.11. and comforted me, Jer.20.7, 9 & 39.3. Act.4.20. Gods Spirit offers not violence to the Wills of men, yet works invincibly; he inclines them to yield omnipotenti ſuavitate, & ſuavi omnipotentia. Some here make the meaning to be, that he went in bitterneſs, and hot anger of ſpirit, becauſe the hand of the Lord was ſtrong upon him, to force him, and over-power his Will, to this bitter and woful meſſage and office.

V. 15. Then I came] In that fourth moneth, Chap. 1. verſ.1. and I ſate] Sadly, no doubt; as Lam.1.1. & 2.10. And concealing my Calling, and idly forbearing and forgoing my function injoyned me.

aſtoniſhed] At the wofulneſs of the Roul given me in charge, as the matter of my Commiſſion, and argument of my Propheſies to my own countrey-men.

ſeven dayes] Mourning for his people in aſtoniſhment: as Job's three friends did, Job 2.13. There might be other ends and uſes alſo of this ſtrange behaviour.

V. 16. At the end of ſeven dayes] God bears with the weakneſſes of his ſervants, and leaves them not long, though they be in diſtempers, and ſo overpowers them, that their will and weakneſs ſhall not hinder the efficacy and execution of his decree.

V. 17. Son of Man] Chap. 2.1.

I have made thee] God makes him ſo. Heb.5.4. and becauſe of his former tergiverſation, his vocation and Prophetical function, is here again renewed, and reinforced.

The watchmans word and warning to the people, muſt be from the Lord and from him onely: and the warning muſt be given, not in his own name, but in the name of Chriſt, by and with his authority, and ſo ought to be received, 2 Cor. 5. 20. As Chriſt did come, and work in his Fathers Name, Joh. 5. 43. and 10. 25.

V. 18. When I ſay] When I ſhall have given thee Commiſſion to ſay ſo to him from me: and this according to the warrant of my Word, and dictate of my ſpirit.

ſurely die] In dying, thou ſhalt dye: the like phraſe in the original, is 1 Sam.26.25. and uſually in the Hebrew tongue, dy temporally, and eternally.

and thou giveſt him not warning, nor ſpeakeſt to warn] He muſt be ſolicitous, and frequent in warning, Act.20.31. Phil. 3.18.

to ſave his life] Manaſſes that exceeding ſinner did ſo, 2 King.21.11. 2 Chr.33.12, 13. And this is the end and ſcope of the Miniſtery, 1 Tim.4.16. Jam.5.20. 1 Cor.3.9.

dy in his iniquity] Ignorance, or not warning is no ſufficient plea for wicked men.

but his blood will I require] As Gen.9.5. Ezek.33.6. 2 Sam. 4.11. Act.20.26. 1 Cor.9.16.

at thine hand] So ver. 20. The Lord applyes it to Ezekiel, that he may take to heart his duty, and his danger. Theſe words ſeem not ſo much words, as thunderbolts; and what then will become of ſeducing Miniſters? 2 Pet. 2.1.

V. 19. Thou haſt delivered thy ſoul] Doing thy duty, and what lyes in thee. So ver.21. Act.20.26. & 18.5, 6.

V. 20. When a righteous man] Chap.18.24. righteous ſeemingly, in their own eyes, or in the eyes of others: Outwardly, though inwardly hypocrites, Luk.18.9. Mat.23.28. Children of the Kingdom eternally, Mat.8.12. & 5.20. The truly righteous turn not thus, 1 Pet.1.5. 2 Pet.1.10, 11.

commit iniquity] Joh.8.34. 1 Joh.3.8.

and I lay a ſtumbling block before him] Do by my juſt and provident adminiſtration turn againſt him his own iniquity; whereby he ſhall fall as by a ſtumbling block: or lay that before him, which he will make a ſtumbling block to himſelf. God himſelf, and Chriſt is a ſtumbling block unto them, Eſay 8.14. 1 Pet.2.8. 1 Cor.1.23. Pſal.94.23. & 64.8. Not infuſing any corruption into him, but for his former ſin, leaving him to himſelf, delivering him up to his own vile luſts, giving Satan leave to tempt and ſeduce him, and keeping back my aſſiſtance, and withdrawing my grace; and thus in juſtice, puniſhing one ſin with the occaſion or commiſſion of another, Rom. 1. 24, 26, 28. 2 Sam.16.21, 22. 1 King.22, 22. 2 Theſſ.2.11. The Sun is without fault that drawes with his beames, as well ſtinck out of a Carkaſſe, as a ſweet ſmell out of a Roſe. The cauſe is from within; onely the occaſion is from without.

Righteouſneſſe which he hath done] Heb. Righteouſneſſes: materially for the ſubſtance of the outward works; and ſo righteous in mens eyes, though not formally righteous, as not done in faith.

ſhall not be remembred] Chap.18.24. Nay more, it ſhall make againſt him, 2 Pet.2.21.

V. 22. and the hand] As Chap.1.3, & Chap.3.14.

There] At Tel-abib, Ver. 15. at the end of ſeven dayes, Ver.16.

Into the plain] Or, Valley by Tel abib: a place more free from concourſe and diſturbance, and more fit for divine contemplations, and viſions, which were there ſhewed and vouchſafed to him: The more ſeparate from the world, the more free communion with God, when the mind is ſerene and contemplative; then the Lord opened himſelf unto him.

V. 23. By the river of Chebar.] The ſame viſion, the ſecond time; ſuiting to the argument of his Propheſie.

and I fell on my face] As Chap.1.28. It affected him the ſecond time, no leſs then at the firſt: which further proves the majeſty and terrour of it, and mans weakneſſe and ſinfulneſs, Eſay 6.5.

V. 24. Then the Spirit] The Spirit acted in our Saviour, Eſay 61.1. In Stephen, act.6.10. in Apoſtles, act.1.4. in Cornelius, act.10.44. in all the godly, 1 Cor.6.11.

and ſet me upon my feet] As Chap.2.2. God ſoon viſits, revives, ſtrengthens, comforts with his Spirit thoſe that are thus humbled.

Go ſhut thy ſelf] Spoken by way of Irony: or rather a plain Injunction to him, from the Lord, ſo to do. It may be there to receive further Inſtructions from the Lord.

V. 25. They ſhall put bonds upon thee] This not in viſion onely, and imagination; but really, that thou come not forth to propheſie wrath and woes againſt them: or poſſibly ſeeing his behaviour, ver.15. It may be out of ſuch a conceit as that in Mar.3.21. and ſo done in his own houſe by them of his own houſhold, and his friends, for his credit ſake, as they thought. Some conceive, as if this ſhould emblematically ſet forth their ſhutting up in a ſiege; and the bonds of their captivity, Jer.40.1. However, bands, and bad uſage, beſide the Prophets, and Miniſters of God, Jer.1.19. Act.9.16. & 12.8. Mat.24.9. Joh.16.2,4. 1 King.22.27. Jer.37.15. & 32.2. & 38.6,7. 2 Cor.11.23,24. 1 King.18.4.

V. 26. And I will make thy tongue] Dumb, either not able to ſpeak; as Luk.1.20. or dumb, by the reſtraint of my prohibition. I will ſuffer it for a time. Thou ſhalt be as a man tongueleſſe and wordleſſe, as a man whoſe tongue cleaves, &c. ſo to revenge their rebellion and ingratitude. An heavy judgment of God upon a people, Amos 8.9,10,11. & 5.13. The contrary is promiſed as a bleſſing, Chap.24.27. Eſay 30. 20,21.

a reprover] Heb. a man reproving. This wiſe he was dumb.

for they are a rebellious houſe] Their Rebellion then, and Impudency, and hardneſſe of heart, in ſinning againſt God; and not the Prophets fear of them, was the cauſe of his ſilence, and ſilencing.

V. 27. But when I ſpeak with thee] When it ſhall ſeem good to me ſo to do: not unlikely but after other ſeven dayes, or very ſoon after. Compare Chap.1.1,2. & Chap.4.5. with Chap.8.1. And therefore this time is not to be prolonged to ſome Number of years, as ſome do.

I will open thy mouth] To ſpeak my word unto them, and to pronounce my words againſt them for their ſins. See Chap. 24.7. & Chap.33 22.

He that heareth] Thou ſhalt do thy office and duty; do they what they will, Chap.2.5. & 3.11. Apoc.22.11. God will try men, whether they be curable, or no.

CHAP. IV.

Verſ. 1. THou alſo] The ſumme of this chapter is the ſiege of Jeruſalem, and the famine in it; foretold and foreſhewed in types here; about four years before the ſame began.

Son of man] When thou ſhalt go forth among them, thou ſhalt thus doe, and to this effect; ſpeak to them from me, and thou ſhalt uſe no other kind of preaching or propheſying to them, during all this time, but this following, ver.7. or, thus ſhalt thou propheſie againſt it. Some take this to be done in the time of his ſilence, Chap.3.26.

Take thee a tyle] Here begins as it were the reading of that roul, Chap.2.10. a preaching of it, not to the ear, but to the eye in a more moving way.

Tile] Some doubt, whether unburnt, or burnt in a Kill, Others ſay the Hebrew word will bear a table, or Tablet, ſmooth, and ſquare, and ſomewhat large, and ſo fitter for the Prophets Pencil. See Eſay 8.1.

Jeruſalem] They then in the Captivity, had no cauſe to grudge themſelves; and murmure, or to envy them and their eſtate that were in Jeruſalem. Of this City, ſee Jer.32.31, 32. & Chap.26.6. Zeph.3.1—5.

V. 2. lay ſiege] Draw a deſign of a very ſtrait ſiege.

and build a Fort] Forts, and Fortifications, Towres, Trenches, Engines, Purtray theſe things upon the tyle round about the purtrature of the City; make a kind of Map of all; as Joſh. 18.4,9. by pencil rather then engraving. See 2 King.25.1.

Camp] Of the Chaldean armies.

battering rams] (Or, chief leaders,) Namely to batter the walls, according to the ancient manner.

V. 3. an iron pan] Or, a flat plate; It may be to ſhew the hardneſſe of the ſiege, through Gods inexorable anger towards them; and that all endeavours and reſiſtance that they of Jeruſalem could make againſt the beſieging Chaldeans, ſhould be to no purpoſe: and that it ſhould be impoſſible for any relief to come and deliver them.

for a wall] In reſemblance of the wall of the City; though moſt Interpreters conſtrue this wall of Iron in ſundry other meanings.

ſet thy face againſt it] As Lev.17.10. Jer.21.10.

and thou ſhalt lay ſiege againſt it] Thou ſhalt act the part of a chief Commander of an army, which doth ſtraitly beſiege a place, Jer.1.10. Thus he writes as it were in Hieroglyphiks, and preacheth in emblems; and this not unuſual with the Prophets. So Eſay 20.2. Jer.13. & 16. & 19. & 27. Chapters; & Zech. 11. and none more uſeth it then Ezekiel. Types and figures make truth more evident, and efficacious.

To the houſe of Iſrael] To thoſe now in Captivity; and to thoſe yet remaining in Judah, under the reign of Zedekiah, which would not be perſwaded that Jeruſalem ſhould be beſieged: and to thoſe alſo of the ten Tribes ſcattered among them.

V. 4. lye thou alſo] Not ſleep; as the vulgar Latine hath it. All this was done in a Prophetical viſion and extaſie, ſay many; made known from God to the people. And many ſuch things are in Prophets; as Hoſ. 1.2. & Ch. 3.1. And otherwiſe as they conceive, we ſhould here forge a Monſtruous thing, or a miracle: yet others take it not viſionaly, but literally; as that, Ch. 12.3,4,5,6. Eſay 20.2. as conceiving it of little, or no uſe to the People, if done in an Intellectual viſion onely, and the Prophets bare imagination. And beſides their qualifying the hardneſſe of it by their expoſitions; They ſuppoſe that God who gave the Command, did miniſter alſo extraordinary ſtrength, and Conſtancy for the performance of it. And they underſtand this lying, ſeconded by that, Ver.8. yet not to be ſo ſtrict and abſolute, but that he aroſe ſometimes to dreſſe his meat, and fetch his drink, Ver. 9,10, 11. and for other neceſſaries: But that his far greateſt poſture was lying; and his ſleep conſtantly on his left ſide, during this Number of dayes.

upon thy left ſide] Haply, becauſe Samaria and the Kingdome of Iſrael, the ten Tribes, lay on the left hand in relation to Jeruſalem, and the Kingdome of Judah; as left hand, and right hand are taken in Scripture; ſuppoſing the poſture of the face towards the Eaſt. So Chap.16.46. & 47.1,2. Exod.26.18, in the Hebrew.

and lay] As a type of God, in long patience bearing their iniquity, and the burden of it, though troubleſome to him; as it would be to a man to lie long upon one ſide: yet ſo beſieging them, as it were, and provoking them to a yielding and ſurrendring by repentance. But now at laſt ready to puniſh them fully.

the iniquity] Guilt, and puniſhment.

of the houſe of Iſrael] Of the ten Tribes.

according to the number] as Numb. 14.34.

V. 5. three hundred and ninety dayes] A year and about a moneth, & between Ch.1.1.2. and Ch.8.1. are a year and two moneths. Some begin theſe years from the ſeven and twentieth of the reign of King Solomon, when he and all Iſrael with him fell away from God to Idolatry; and end them in the fifth year of Zedekiahs captivity, Jer.52.30. When Nebuzaradan carried away captive ſeven hundred fourty five perſons of the Jews; having burnt the Temple and City four years before, Jer.52.12,13,30. And this ſeems beſt to ſuit with the trueſt Chronology of the times of the reigns of the kings of Judah. To the proof whereof, they expound and apply that Chapter 5.3,4. Others, begin them from the fourth year of Rehoboam, when he and Judah forſook the Law of the Lord, 2 Chro. 11.17. & 12.1,2. Others more likely then ſo, from the diviſion of the kingdoms in the firſt year of Rehoboam and Jeroboam; and both end them in the eleventh and laſt year of Zedekiah: and both labour to make their Chronologies of the kings of Judah to agree with this number. However for the main matter, the difference in all is not great. And withal, it is not unlikely, that the ſiege of Jeruſalem, by the Caldeans, continued three hundred and ninety dayes; by comparing the beginning and end of the ſiege, 2 King.25.1,2,3,4. and Jer. 39.1,2. & 52.4,5,6,7. and conſidering therein the time that the Chaldeans left the ſiege, upon the coming up of Pharaohs army out of Egypt, Jer.37.5,7,8,11. which may be gathered to be about five moneths ſpent upon that expedition. But thoſe Rabbies of the Jews that would underſtand this ſiege of the ſiege of Jeruſalem, by Veſpaſian and Titus; and aſſign the three hundred and ninety dayes, to the time of that ſiege; and the forty dayes to the time between our Saviours death and that ſiege; do ſeem herein wilfully to blind themſelves. However we ſee here Gods great patience, and his long ſuffering of ſins and ſinners: and yet at laſt hee doth viſit and puniſh.

of the houſe of Iſrael] Though the body of them were carried captive into Aſſyria by Shalmeneſar long before, in the ſixth year of Hezekiah; yet divers of them remained ſcattered in the land, 2 Chr. 30.6. & 31.1. & 34.6,7,9,33. and many of them joyned to Judah, ſoon upon, and ſhortly after the firſt rent and ſeparation by Jeroboam, 2 Chr. 11.16,17. & 15. 9. and continued ſo.

V. 6. And when thou haſt accompliſhed] art about to accompliſh them, that is, after three hundred and fifty, when thou art within forty of the laſt, as may appear by comparing the ninth verſe with the fifth, and this; and is clearly evinced by Chap. 1. ver. 1,2. Ch. 3. 15. 24,25,26,27. & Chap. 8.1. compared together.

of the houſe of Judah] Whoſe ſins have been in part confuſed and mixed, with the ſins of the other ten tribes.

forty dayes] Some take theſe years out of the firſt forty of the wicked reign of Manaſſeh. Others, begin theſe years from the eighteenth year of Joſiah; when though the Covenant with God was renewed, yet the people continued ſtill in their rebellions and provocations, Jer. 25. 3,4,7. 2 King. 23.26. and they end them in the fifth year after Zedekiahs captivity; in that laſt captivity by Nebuzaradan. Others, more likely, begin them from the thirteenth year of Joſiah, and end them in the eleventh of Zedekiah, which make forty years, and are the bounds of Jeremies Propheſie, Jer. Chap. 1. 2, 3. This difference is not great.

each day for a year] Heb. a day for a year, a day for a year.

V. 7. Set thy face] Do the actions of a Commander, who is very buſie about ſome ſiege: harden thy face, be ſtern, as one inexorable; ſhewing, that ſuch ſhould be their beſiegers, the Chaldies.

arme ſhall be uncovered] Iſa. 52.10. Stript up, and ſtretched out, ready for ſervice, and active; not put up in his boſom. Thus the Prophet perſonates the Chaldeans in the ſiege.

ſhall propheſie againſt it] By theſe ſigns, with words and expreſſions, ſuitable joyned thereunto.

V. 8. Lay bands] By the authority of my word, and power of my Spirit; not as thoſe bonds, Chap. 3. 25. ſhewing thereby, the firmneſſe of this divine decree.

from one ſide] Heb. from thy ſide to thy ſide.

V. 9. Take thou] a figure of the extream dearth in Jeruſalem during the ſiege, ſignified by the courſe miſcellany bread, made of divers ſorts of the worſt grain, and by the ſmall weight and quantity of it. See their complaints of this, Lam. 1.11, 19. & 2. 11, 12,19.20. & 4.4,9,10. & 5. 6, 9,10.

and fitches] Or, ſpelt.

bread thereof] A type of the ſore famine they ſhould endure in the ſiege. Many ſieges yield examples of terrible famine; as Samaria, 2 King. 6.25,28. and others in humane ſtories.

Three hundred and ninety dayes ſhalt thou eat it] Therefore the forty dayes, ver. 6. are included in the three hundred and ninety. And he ſlept not all the time, as ſome Papiſts imagine.

V. 10. twenty ſhekels a day] There are mentioned in Scripture ſhekels of gold, of ſilver, of braſs, of iron. Wee read alſo of the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, or the holy ſhekel. Hence ſome gather a common ſhekel, to be contradiſtinguiſhed to this, and make it leſſe by the half. This to be half an ounce, or two ſhillings ſixpence; the common, a quarter, or one ſhilling threepence. And ſo the weight of twenty ſhekels, here, to be five ounces; or at moſt, ten ounces. Which yet is ſcant enough to preſerve life. Some conceive the common and ſacred ſhekel to be all one, conſiſting of the twenty Gerahs, Exod. 30.13. Lev. 27.25. Numb. 3. 47. Ezek. 45.12. And the Gerah weighing ſixteen barley cornes.

V. 11 water by meaſure] Whereof there was alſo great ſcarcity during the ſiege; the ſprings without the City, being poſſeſſed by the enemies. See Eſay 30. 20. Lam. 4. 4. & cap. 5.4.

the ſixth part of an Hin] about as much as twelve Hens egg-ſhells will hold, that is, about a pint; or one of thoſe meaſures, called Logs, Lev. 14.10. whereof ſix went to the Hin; and the Hin containing the quantity of ſeventy two eggs-ſhells. See Exod. 29. 40. and the annotations upon it.

V. 12. Dung that cometh out of man] Signifying the great ſcarcity of wood, to bake their bread within the time of the ſiege; yea of the dung of Cattel; for their Cattel ſhould be conſumed in the ſiege and famine. And alſo that the Lord holding his people for prophane and unclean, would make them in exile and captivity, unable to obſerve that ceremonial purity in their meats, which God had commanded. See verſe 13. Hoſ. 9. 3. Dan. 1. 8. See Deut. 23. 12, 13, 14.

in their ſight] It ſeems then this was not done in viſion onely, and the Prophets imaginations; but actually before the peoples eyes.

V. 13. Defiled bread among the Gentiles] Defiled; not becauſe of the diverſity of ſeeds, ver. 9. but becauſe of the dreſſing.

Gentiles] To ſhew their extream miſery, not onely in the ſiege, but in their captivity alſo and exile.

whither I will drive them] Gentiles, here, then muſt not be underſtood of the Chaldeans, whiles they were beſieging them; as ſome would have it.

V. 14. Ah Lord] So Chap. 20.49. Jer. 1.6. & 14. 13. See Act. 10.14.

of that which dyeth] Exod. 22.31. Lev. 17.15. Deut. 22. 8. Ezek. 44.31.

Abominable fleſh] Deut. 14. 3. And the Prophet counted this enjoyned him, as abominable, if not more; and a defilement for him to touch it.

V. 15. Cows dung] Thus God condeſcends: and ſo, Amos 7.2,3,5,6. And ſhould not we condeſcend to one another? Rom. 15.1,2,3. This uſed, being dryed by the poor, in ſome Nations, for to dreſſe their meat; and was not abominable, as mans dung, Deut. 23.12,13,14. And this being the thing here changed, and condeſcended unto, ſhews that the thing complained of, as a pollution, was not the mingled ſeeds, but mans dung. And this might be a ſign of the mitigation of this threatning towards the Elect; but rather a peculiar priviledg to Ezekiels perſon, in this preſent caſe. For the Jews in the ſiege, endured, and did worſe then this, Chap. 5. 10. Lam. 1.11. & 2.11,12,20. & 4.10. See the like, 2 King. 6. 28, 29. See Job. 6. v. 7.

V. 16. I will break] an Hebrew phraſe, Lev. 26.26. Iſa. 3.1. That is, I will ſend an extream penury of bread, and of all things needful for the ſuſtenance of mans life: The evill arrows of famine, Chap. 5. 16, 10. the deficiency of bread; and haply too the inſufficiency of it to nouriſh, Micah 6. 14. Hag. 1.6. See the accompliſhment of it, Jer. 37. 21. 2 King. 25.3. Lam. 4.3—10.

ſtaff of bread] Chap. 5.16. & 14.3. Pſal. 104,15. Levit. 26. 26. Pſal. 105. 16. the whole ſtaff of bread: and Eſay 3. 1. the whole ſtay of bread, and the whole ſtay of water. See Eſay 5. 13.

V. 17. And be aſtonied] at their preſent aſtoniſhing-miſery; ſo contrary to their falſe hopes, conceived by their falſe Prophets propheſies.

and conſume away] Lev. 26. 39.

CHAP. V.

Verſ. 1. AND] This Chapter carries on the argument of the former. In it are types, ſetting forth the generall deſtruction of the people of the Jews for their ſins.

Take thee] This ſeems to be commanded, during the former viſion; or rather, preſently after the three hundred and ninety dayes were ended, verſ. 2. Compare together, Chap. 1. 1,2. & 3.15,23, 27. Chap. 4. ver. 5. and Chap. 8.1. And this to be really put in execution; to ſignifie a total deſtruction of the nation, here underſtood by the hair of the head and beard; whereof one part was conſumed in the ſiege, by famine and peſtilence, as it were by fire; another was killed by the Chaldeans; a third was ſcattered over the world, and periſhed by Gods vengeance; and a ſmall remnant eſcaped, whereof a part alſo periſhed by divers calamities. See verſ. 12. Jer. 15.2.

a ſharp knife] a razor is the ſharpeſt. Such was Nebuchadnezzar: as formerly the Aſſyrian, Eſay 7.20.

and cauſe] By himſelf, or by a Barber, or any other.

upon thy head, and upon thy beard] This in it ſelf was held for a reproach and ſhame, and ſign of greateſt ſorrow, Eſay 15.2. Jer. 47. 5. & 48. 37. 2 Sam. 10, 5. But the Prophet undergoes it at Gods command; even therein alſo to be a portentuous ſign of that ſhame and ſorrow, that ſhould befal the people.

upon thine head] The head Citie Jeruſalem, verſ. 5. So Eſay 7. v. 8,9. See Eſay 7. 20. Deut. 28.13,44.

ballances to weigh] The preciſe accurateneſſe of Gods dealing, in executing his judgements, Dan. 5.25. 27. 2 Sam. 8. 2. They are not too light, or heavy; but juſt to a hairs weight: yet mixed with mercy to him, Jer.46.28. Lam.3.22. Ezr.9.13.

V. 2. with fire] That is, famine, peſtilence, and other means; which as a fire ſhould conſume them.

a third part] Chap.7.15.

of the city] To wit of that City which he had pourtrayed upon the brick, or tyle, Chap. 4. 1. Or of Tel-abib; or ſome City, where the Prophet dwelt in Chaldea; for he was not brought unto Jeruſalem, not ſo much as in viſion yet.

when the dayes] Thoſe three hundred and ninety dayes, Chap.4. ver.5,8,9.

about it] That is, about the City: thoſe that did fight, or fled in the time of the ſiege; and of the entring in, or breaking up of the City; and thoſe ſlain in Riblah, 2 King. 25.18,19,20,21.

Scatter in the winde] Scatter them into other nations by flight or captivity.

a ſword after them] verſ.12. Lev. 26.33. See this accompliſhed, Jer. 42. 16, 17, 22. & 43.10,11. & 44. 27. Obad. verſ. 14.

V. 3. a few in number] Such as Nabuzaradan left of the poor of the land, to be vine-dreſſers and huſbandmen; and Gedaliah to be ruler over them, 2 King. 25,12,22.

skirts] Heb. wings. Meaning that a very few ſhould be left, which the Lord would preſerve among all theſe ſtorms; but not without troubles and trial. So Eſay 1. 9. & 6. 10.

V. 4. Caſt them] They which were with Gedaliah, ſoon by Iſmael come to nothing, 2 King. 25. 25. but the hairs of the head of the godly are all numbred, Mat.10. 30.

Thereof ſhall a fire] Out of that fire, to wit, by the death of Gedaliah, miſeries ſhall ariſe to the reſt of the Jews: which are ſet out by Jeremy 41. 42, 43,44. Chapters, and 52. verſ. 30. They look too far, that extend this to the times of the miracles.

V. 5. This is Jeruſalem] That is to ſay, This figure repreſents Jeruſalem, and ſheweth how I will uſe her. And in a like ſacramental phraſe, This is my body, Mat.26.26. So Gen. 41.26. 1 Cor.10.4.

I have ſet] amongſt many nations; as Prov. 30.19. I had ſanctified it, and made choice of it for my abode, and enriched it with ſingular graces, Pſal.48. & 87. 1, 2, 3. That ſhee ſate as a Queen among the Nations, Lam. 1. 1. Yea, and placed it much about the middle, and center of the known world; and to be indeed, a lanthorn and pattern, to them of piety and ſanctity, Deut.4.6, &c.

V. 6. And ſhe] The cauſes of Gods judgments againſt them, ver.6,7. ſhe that ſhould have been a light of Religion, and of life unto them, Deut.4.6.& 32.6. Eſay 1.2. Jer.2.12. Eſay 5.4.

my judgments] My Word and Law, into Superſtition, and wicked works, and wages, Chap.7.2. Jer.2.11. Rom. 1.23, 25. Jude 4.

more then the nations] More tranſgreſſed my holy judgments and ſtatutes, given from heaven, then the Nations and Gentiles have done theirs, by Natures light dictated unto them, 2 King.21.11. See the like, Ezek. Chap. 16.47,48,51. They could not do worſe then they did, Jer.3.5.

round about her] The Moabites, Ammonites, Philiſtines, &c.

refuſed] As Hoſ.4.6. deſpiſed; as a light thing.

V. 7. Becauſe ye multiplied] Becauſe your Idols are in greater number, and your ſuperſtitions more then among the profeſſed idolaters. See Chap. 16. 25, 26, 28, 29. Iſa. 65. Or, he condemneth their ingratitude in reſpect of his benefits, Deut. 32. 15. Hoſ. 13. 6. Their ſins cauſed God to come on to judgements; provokes him to do his ſtrange work, Eſay 28. 21.

According to the Judgements] Namely, by cleaving to your God, as every one of them hath done to their God. Jer. 2. 10, 11, 12. See Act. 19.34. Solomons wives were conſtant to their Gods; and drew him alſo to do as they did, Judg. 2. 12. and 10.6. Or, by following your meer natural reaſon, as the beſt among other Nations have done, Rom. 2. 14. Thus God convicts them of their ſins: to make way for a further conviction, namely of the equity and neceſſity of his judgements.

V. 8. Therefore] Gods judgements ſet down to the end of the Chapter, generally and particularly.

I even] By his inſtruments, Jer. 25.9. and ſo he did at other times, by Aſhur, Eſay 10. 5. 6, 7. by Cyrus, Eſay 41. 1—6. Amos 3. 6. Micah 1. 12. and 6. 9.

Am againſt thee] And then who, or what can be for us? and as true on the other ſide, Rom.8. 31. Ezek. 22.14.

judgements] Alluding haply to judgments in the former verſe; and implying here judgements of another kinde.

in the ſight of the Nations] Not ſecretly, or privatly; but openly: all ſhould ſee his dealing with them, even the Nations, in whoſe ſight they had ſo ſinned.

V. 9. which I have not done] Not the like judgments upon the heathens, Lam.4.6. Greater then the puniſhment of Sodom: that though ſharp, yet ſhort, and ſudden, Lam.4.9. Samaria's puniſhment, 2 King.6.28,29. ſhort of this, by conſidering the next words, ver.10. and Samaria then was delivered. However, this phraſe of ſpeech ſerves onely to expreſſe the exceeding height and weight of theſe judgments. A like phraſe is that, 2 King.18.5. & Chap.23.25 compared together. The like may be the meaning of that phraſe, Mat. 24.21.

becauſe of all thine abominations] Idolatry, Inceſt, and ſundry other ſins, are called abominations, 1 King. 11.5.7 Lev.18.27. whereof they were guilty.

V. 10. Therefore the Fathers] Chap. 4. 9. &c. Lev.26.29 Deut.28.53. 2 King.6.29. Lam.4.10. if the pitiful mothers, much more the fathers, Ier.16. 3.& 22. 8,9. Eſay 9.19, 20.

execute judgments] In theſe times of ſiege Ezekiel foretold extreme ſorrow ſhould be in Iſrael, by plague, famine, and ſword; Fathers ſhould eat their children, and children their fathers. Moſes fore-ſaw and fore-told that, Deut.28.53. Daniel after told of a greater deſolation, when Chriſt is utterly denyed by them, Dan.9.27.

V. 11. As I live] The Lords vehement aſſeveration, Ch. 16.48. often uſed in Scripture: but moſt often in this Prophet. It is an oath as the word is taken in its latitude, Heb. 6.13,14,17. Deut.32.40.

my ſanctuary] Pſal.20.2. my Temple, with their idols, altars, Ier.7.30.& 32.34. 2 King.16.10—16. & Chap.22.12, and with other defilements, Ezek.44.7.

neither ſhall mine eyes ſpare] Chap.7.4,9. & 8.18. Deut.7, 16.& 13. 8. See 1 Sam. 24. 10. God it is ſtill that doth it. 2 Chr.12.7. Amos 4.6,10.& 5.ver.6. Eſay 63.10. Now the eye is the Index, the Intelligencer of the mind, the caſement it lookes out at; the diſpoſitions of the mind, are viſible in the eye, as in a looking-glaſs. The meaning here is, You ſhall have no ſign of mercy, in mine eye, in all your miſeries.

neither will I have any pity] As 1 Sam.15.3. as Amos 1.11. See Zach.11.6. Ier.21.7.& 13.ver.14. Lam.2.2,17,21. Ezek. 8.18.

V. 12. A third part] The explication of that verſ. 2. no eſcaping from Gods judgments; one or other will overtake them, 1 King.19.15,16,17. Amos 9.1—5. and 2. 14, 15.16.

I will ſcatter] Chap.6.8. Lev.26.33. into Babylon, Moab, Ammon, Egypt, Pſal.44.12. Zech.7.14.

I will draw, &c.] Ver. 2. Lev. 26. 33. Ier. 46.10. and 48.2.

V. 13. be accompliſhed] Let out to the full, go on to the higheſt degree. He would ſtir up all his wrath, pour out his full vials.

my fury] No affections or paſſions in Gods immixt and immutable eſſence; but ſpoken after the manner of men, and for our capacities.

to reſt upon them] Reſt and reſide there; ſo as they ſhould be a people under fury, a generation of his wrath, Ier.7.29. a people of his wrath, Eſay 10.6. See Ier.7.20. or elſe, as ſome, my fury ſhall reſt and ceaſe, being ſatisfied. See Chap. 16.42.

be comforted] That is, I will not be pacified, untill I be avenged, Prov.1.26. Iſa 1.24. & 30.32. God again ſpeaks after the manner of men, and to our underſtanding. Thus are men eaſed, comforted upon revenge taken; Minuit vindicta dolorem, revenge is ſweet.

in my zeal] Fiery jealouſly, and hot hatred againſt them for their ſins. Like that, Prov.6.34. See Pſal.79.5. Eſay 59.17. Ezek.16.38. Deut.29.20.

V. 14. waſt] Jeruſalem, and all Jury. Jeruſalem was the praiſe of the earth, Pſal.132.13,14. Eſay 1.21.& 52.1.& 60.14. Lam.2.15. Jury the glory of all lands, Ezek.20.6. the Lords land, Hoſ.9.3. Immanuels land, Eſay 8.8. See Deut.11.10,11, 12. Zach.2.12. & 7.14. yet for their ſins, God would lay it waſte, Eſay 7.24. & 64.10,11. Pſal.107.34. See Neh.2.17. Lam.1.4.& 2.2,3.& 5.18.

V. 15. a reproach] As was threatned, Deut.28.37. and executed, Ezek.22.4. Ier.42.18.& 24.9. Lam.5.1, & Chap. 2. 15,16.

an inſtruction] nocumenta, documenta; νουθήματα, μαθήματα; as to themſelvks, ſo to others, by their examples, Eſay 26.8,9.

an aſtoniſhment] Through admiration, Deut.29.22,23,24. Ier.19.8.& 22.8.

in furious rebukes] See the height of Gods anger whereunto it was provoked by ſin. Theſe rebukes then were not to cure, but to deſtroy.

V. 16. when I ſhall ſend] Deut.32.23.

evil arrowes] Which were the graſhoppers, mildew, and whatſoever were the occaſions of famine: or rather, the famine in the ſiege, brought upon them by the beſiegers. This famine like arrowes ſhot, pierced, and pinched their ſtomachs, and inwards, wounded them to the heart, ſlew them, and laid them heapes upon heapes, Deut.32.23,24.

ſtaff of bread] Chap.4.16.

V. 17. Evil beaſts] As was threatned, Lev.26.22. Deut.32.24. 2 King.17.25. which uſe to multiply and increaſe upon vaſtations, and deſolations of Countreys.

I the Lord] Ver.11. as I live. He ſubſcribes it, as it were, with his hand; ownes and aſſerts it for his word, and doom; and that it is not the falſe figment of any other. And then ſhall the Lord ſpeak it, and not perform it. Chap.12.25. Ier.1.12. Eſay 14.27. whoſe word ſhall ſtand, Ier, 44.28. His words ſhould not be as wind, but as thunderbolts: and they ſhould be convinced of it by woful experience. So Ver.13,15.

CHAP. VI.

Verſ.1. And the word] This Chapter contains a more ample explication of the former Types, and threatnings; propheſied and denounced ſoon after the 390. dayes, Chap.4.5. were paſt: as may be gathered by comparing together, Chap.1.1,2.& Chap.8.1. Together with a promiſe of mercy inſerted to a repenting Remnant that ſhall be among the Gentiles.

V. 2. Set thy face] By this ſign ſhew whereunto thy propheſie looketh and tendeth, Chap. 35. 2. and Chap. 38.2.

Towards the mountains of Iſrael] Chap.36.1. Iſrael and Judah were both mountains, Exod.15.17. Deut.11. 11. 1 King 28.23. Pſal.87.1,125,2. Eſay 14.25. 2 Chr.27.4. Ier.32.34. Ezek.38.21. Amos 3.9.

V. 4. your Images] Or, Sun-images; and ſo ver.6. See Lev. 26. 3. 2 King.23.11. 2 Chr.34.7.

V. 5. Lay the dead] Heb. give.

Their Idols] In contempt of their power and force, which ſhall neither be able to deliver you, nor themſelves, 2 King. 23.20. See ver.13. of this Chapter.

V. 6. Your works may be aboliſhed] Your idols, altars, chappels, and all other ſuperſtitious inventions of man.

V. 8. Yet will I leave] A promiſe to a remnant repenting, he ſheweth that in all dangers God will preſerve a few, which ſhall be as the ſeed of the Church, and ſhall call upon his Name.

V. 9. I am broken] That is, my patience hath been overcome. Or, I have been grieved and afflicted; even as a huſband would be at the evil carriage of his adulterous wife. See Pſal.78.40. Iſa 7.13. & 63.18.

Loath themſelves] They ſhall repent, 2 Cor. 7. 11. Iob 42.6.

V. 11. Smite] A repetition, if not exaggeration of the fearful judgments, to the end of the Chapter. Theſe two ſignes are here of grief, ſhewing thereby the woful deſtruction to come; yet ſmiting the hands together, is ſometimes a ſign of anger; as Num.24. 10. ſometimes of heartning, encourageing, and ſetting on; as Ezek.21.17. and ſometimes of joy; as Pſal.98.8. Ezek.25.6.

V. 13. under every green tree] Iſa 57.5. Hoſ.4.13.

V. 14. More deſolate then the wilderneſſe] Or, deſolate from the wilderneſſe.

Diblath] This place is not mentioned elſe-where; unleſs it be Diblathaim: of which Ier. 48.22. which was in the Countrey of Moab, neer unto that great and terrible deſert, mentioned Deut.8.15.

CHAP. VII.

Verſ.1. Moreover] This Chapter is a continuation and confirmation, if not an exaggeration, of the judgments denounced in the former Chapter.

V. 3. Thine abominations] I will puniſh thee as thou haſt deſerved for thine Idolatries, and other crying crimes, ver.8.

V. 4. And mine eye] Chap.5.11.

ſhall be in the midſt of thee] That is, they having been never wiped out, nor cancelled by my pardon, nor by your repentance, I will make you endure open puniſhment for them which you ſhall not be able to avoid, ver.9.

The Lord] That ſmiteth, ver.9.

V. 5. An onely evil] Chap.5.9. as 1 Sam.26.8.

V. 6. An end is come] Theſe reduplications following, ſhew the certainty and celerity of the judgments.

it watcheth] Heb. Awaketh againſt thee.

V. 7. The morning is come] Ver.10.

and not of the ſounding of the mountains] Not any vain eccho of falſe fears or fooliſh joyes.

V. 8. Shortly] About four years after (as was formerly ſaid) the ſiege began by the Chaldeans, Chap.1.2.& Jer.52.4. compared together.

V. 9. I will recompenſe thee] Heb. upon thee.

V. 10. Behold the day] As if it were preſent before their eyes.

The rod hath bloſſomed] A proverbial kind of ſpeech, to ſignifie, that the peoples ſins were ſprung up to ripeneſs and maturity, to the filling up of the meaſure heap full, which draweth Gods judgment upon them, Gen.15.16.

V. 11. None of them ſhall remain] They ſhall all periſh, I will ſuffer them no longer.

wailing for them] Chap.24.16,22,23. Jer.16.5,6. Their own affliction ſhall be ſo great, that they ſhall have no regard to lament for others; yea ſcarce any left remaining, to wail for then.

V. 12. Let not the buyer rejoyce] For the preſent profit.

ſeller mourn] For he ſhall loſe nothing.

V. 13. For the ſeller] By reaſon of the deſolation of the land, all manner of right and title to the property of land, ſhall be loſt by the buyers or ſellers, and neither ſhall come again to his land; not the ſeller, though he had not ſold it: no not in the year of Jubile, though he live unto it, Lev.25. 13,23.

Although they were yet alive] Heb. Though their life were yet among the living.

ſhall any ſtrengthen himſelf] None ſhall be able by art or cunning, by good or by evil means, to avoid my ſentences of death.

In the iniquity of his life] Or, whoſe life is in his iniquity. Heb. his iniquity.

V. 14. They have blown the Trumpet] Though they make great preparations, their hearts ſhall fail them at their need, and they ſhall not be able to do any thing for to defend themſelves.

V. 15. The ſword] Deut.32.25. Lam.1.20.

V. 16. On the mountains] Scattered up and down to ſeek ſafety there, in the moſt remote and inacceſſible and ſecret places of the mountains.

mourning] For their miſeries, and their ſins, the cauſe of them.

V. 17. All hands ſhall be feeble] Iſa 13. 7. Jer. 6. 24. all manner of ſtrength to defend themſelves, and to ſubſiſt ſhall fail.

ſhall be weak as water] Heb. go into water.

V. 18. And baldneſſe upon all their heads] According to a lawful cuſtome of plucking off, or ſhaving off ones hair, in token of great grief: though in ſome kind and way God had forbidden it, Lev.19.27,28. Deut.14.1. See Iſa 3.24.& 22.12. Jer.48.37. Ezek. 27.31. Amos 8.10. Mic.1.16.

V. 19. They ſhall caſt] Taking care for nothing but to ſave their own perſons; or they ſhall leave their wealth to their enemies, thinking to ranſome their lives therewith; but it ſhall all be but in vain. See ver.12. & Iſa 13.17.

removed] As the things were which were ſeparated from them, by reaſon of their uncleanneſs by the Law: and this becauſe they ſhould not find any help in them, as their truſt had been; as the words following do ſhew.

Their ſilver] Prov.11.4. Zeph.1.18. Eccl.5.8.

becauſe it is a ſtumbling block] Their iniquity hath made a ſtumbling block to themſelves.

V. 20. As for the beauty] The ark, and ſanctuary or temple, the ſignes of Gods preſence, and means of his worſhip, therefore have I ſet it far from them] Or, made it unto them an unclean thing, 1. 2. I decree to ſeparate and put away from them, as an unclean thing by the Law is, and uſeth to be caſt away, Eſay 30.22.

V. 21. Strangers] That is, of the Babylonians.

pollute it] Ver.22. by entring into it, ſpoiling it with the bloud (likely) of ſlain perſons in it: and by all manner of means profaning, ſacking, and ruining it.

V. 22 My face] Though they call and cry upon me in that time of their calamity, that I would pity and ſpare them, and mine own Temple.

My ſecret place] Even the moſt holy place, whereinto none might enter but the High-Prieſt, and where God by the ſigns of his preſence did dwell.

robbers] Or, burglers.

enter into it] Namely, the ſanctum ſanctorum, or ſecret place.

defile it] Shall ſack and deſtroy it, as a profane and polluted place, without any reſpect at all had to it, 2 King.25.9. 2 Chr.36.19. Jer.52.13.

V. 23. Make a chain] For a ſign of the peoples Captivity. See Jer.27.2.

bloudy crimes] That is, of ſins that deſerve death.

V. 25. Deſtruction. Heb. Cutting off.

V. 26. Miſchief ſhall come] Pſal,42.7. Jer.4.20.

they ſeek a viſion] In the midſt of theſe great troubles they ſhall require ſome counſel, direction, or comfort from the Prophets: but not onely propheſie, which is an extraordinary gift, ſhall fail them; but alſo the ordinary preaching of Gods Word, and all good advice and proviſion of humane wiſdome.

from the ancients] Both in Church and State.

but the law ſhall periſh] Pſal.74.9.Lam.2.9.

V. 27. Hands of the people] The people ſhall be ſo diſmayed, that they will be able to do nothing in their own defence.

According to their deſerts] Heb. with their judgments.

CHAP. VIII.

Verſ. 1. A*Nd it came to paſſe*] This and the three Chapters following, contain one viſion. In this eighth Chapter are ſhewed divers wayes the abominable Idolatries of the Jewes, yet remaining in Jeruſalem, under the reign of King Zedekiah.

in the ſixth year] Fourteen moneths, that is one year, and two moneths, ſince that time mentioned in Chap. 1.1, 2. and about a fortnight after the end of thoſe three hundred and ninety days; Chap.4.5. as is moſt likely, upon conſideration had of thoſe words, Chap. 3.15,24,25,26,27.

ſixt moneth] Which containeth part of Auguſt, and part of September.

ſixt day] Towards the end of our Auguſt.

in mine houſe] In Meſopotamia.

And the elders] That were in Captivity with me.

ſate before me] Likely come to ask counſel from God by me, Chap.33.31. and by Gods providence, whileſt they were there, this viſion befel the Prophets, which made for the greater notification, and credit of it.

hand of the Lord] As Chap.1.3.

V. 2. And loe, a likeneſſe] Of a man, as appears by the words following.

As the appearance of fire] As Chap.1.27.

of brightneſſe] Of the bright ſhining Sun.

of amber] Chap.1.5.

V. 3. And he put forth] That man in the former verſe, (Dan.5.5.) All this was done in a mental viſion, and not really in a body.

to the door of the inner gate] That is, to the door of the gate of the inner court. See Chap.10.3. or Prieſts Court, namely, of Solomon's temple; though ſome learned men would underſtand hereby the very ingreſs of the great Court which was for the people.

that looketh toward the north] This ſeems to be the North door and gate of the Prieſts court; for that court had four gates and doors: on the Eaſt, Weſt, North, and South; that is, on each ſide one; and porters appointed to them; as appears, 1 Chr.9.19,22,23,24. & 1 Chr.26. and they ſeem to have theſe names, viz. 1 Sur the Eaſt-gate, 2 King. 11. 6. called alſo the gate of the foundation, 2 Chr.23.5. from the foundation of it, becauſe it had the greateſt and loweſt foundation, (for the great court of the people joyning to it, ſtood upon the declivity of an hill) called alſo the higher gate of the houſe of the Lord, 2 King.15.35. becauſe it was the higheſt, and the greateſt, reckoning from the foundation to the top. This was the chief gate. 2 The gate behind the guard which is the South gate, 2 King.11.6. which ſeems alſo to be called the gate Sippin, that is, of the doors, or threſholds, 2 Chr.23.4. 3 Shallecheth, the Weſt gate towards the Kings houſe, 1 Chr.26.16. 1 King.10.5,12. 1 Chr.26.16,18. 2 Chr. 9.4,11. 4 The North gate behind the brazen altar, as appears in theſe words, and in the words of the fifth verſe following, likely ſo called from that time and fact mentioned, 2 King.16.14.

the ſeat of, &c.] The Image it ſelf was at the North gate of the brazen altar, in the entry, ver.5.

Image of jealouſie] It is very uncertain what Image this was, but it is plain it was a very abominable one, (as the Idol of Baal was) to which the people bare great devotion; built likely by Achaz firſt after the example of Ahab, 2 King. 16. 3,4. 2 Chr.23.2. and after repaired by Manaſſeh, 2 King.21. 3,4,5. and the wicked Sons of good Joſiah: and it is called the Image of jealouſie, becauſe it was the principal object of the peoples ſpiritual adultery. See Jer.7.30. & 23.11. & 32. 34,35.

V. 4. ſaw in the plain] Chap. 1. 23. & 3.22,23.

V. 5. Northward at the gate of the altar] Namely, the brazen altar of burnt offerings; which being in the forefront, about the middle of the inner-court, the North and South doors of this Court, were by direct line oppoſite to the ſaid altar, in equal diſtance. And therefore it is not known, why the Northern gate ſhould be ſo called peculiarly, unleſſe this name was given it, when Ahaz removed the altar out of its place, and did ſet it neer to this gate, 2 King. 16. 14.

V. 6. from my ſanctuary] For God will not be where idols are.

V. 7. To the doors of the court] Which court is not named, and hereupon the opinions are divers. The tabernacle had but one court, and that court but one gate, Exod. 27. The temple of Solomon, which is here ſpoken of, had but two courts, one for the Prieſts and Levites, which was the inner court, next to the temple, and compaſſing it, which was the inner court; and the other for the people, which was the great and utter court, compaſſing the court of the Prieſts, 1 King. 7. 12. King. 21. 5. & 23. 12. 2 Chro.4.9. We may not then underſtand this court, here, of a middle court, proper to the Levites, betwixt the court of the Prieſts, and that of the people; for ſuch a one Solomons temple had not. That in Ezekiels viſion mentions ſuch a middle court, Chap. 40.28. to 44. But that was fourteen years after the city was ſmitten, and this temple deſtroyed, Chap.40.1. And it was in viſion onely; never in being: a type only of the Church of Chriſt under the Goſpel. This court then here named, muſt needs be underſtood, to be, either that of the Prieſts, or that of the people: but whether of the two, is not eaſily and certainly known. But it ſeems rather, by comparing what goes before and after, to be that of the Prieſts; and the Eaſt door of it.

V. 7. of the court] Namely, the Prieſts court.

A hole] To ſignifie, as it ſeemeth, the Jews carefulneſs, in preſerving and repairing Gods temple, and the chambers of it.

in the wall] He ſeemeth to mean the wall, that was on the one ſide of this portall, where the door-keepers chambers were.

V. 8 a door] It is likely that this was the chambers ordinary door, but now was ſhut: and that the door, by which the Idolaters came ſecretly into this Chappel of Idols and imagery, was on ſome other by-part of the chamber.

V. 10. creeping things, and abominable beaſts] Kinds of idolatry, taken from the heathen neighbouring nations, and ſpecially from the Egyptians, whom now they courted for help, who worſhipped Dogs, Cats, Crocodils, Serpents, and other abominable beaſts, forbidden in the law, Lev.11.

V. 11. Seventy men of the ancients] Not unlikely, but thoſe of that number and order, appointed by God, Num.11. 16,&c. Or at leaſtwiſe, ſuch as ſhoul have kept all the reſt in the fear and true ſervice of God, and yet were the Ringleaders to all abominations; and by their example, pulled others from God.

A thick cloud] It was in ſuch abundance.

V. 12. do in the dark] For beſides their common idolatry, they had particular ſervices, which they had in ſecret chambers. As the Egyptians had their dark devotions to Oſiris; and afterwards, both Grecians and Romanes, had the like blind, and cloſe ſpiritual adulteries and idolatries, in a ſecret and hidden way and manner, to ſome of their falſe gods and goddeſſes.

The Lord ſeeth us not] Chap. 9. 9. He takes no more care of us, he hath forſaken both us and the land, wherefore wee will flye to the gods of other Nations, which do relieve them; and ſince he hath renounced us, we will alſo renounce him. See 2 Chro.28. 23. Jer.44.17.

V. 13. greater abominations] Wicked Idolaters proceed from evil to worſe, 2 Tim.3.13.

V. 14. To the doors of the gate of the Lords houſe, which was towards the North] The North-gate of the court of the Prieſts.

women] That ought not to have entred into that place; moſt likely the women Prieſts, and unchaſt worſhippers of the Egyptian Iſis.

weeping for Tammuz] Called, Ammuz of Herodotus and Plutarch; and ſeems to be the ſame, called Oſiris, or Apis, or Serapis, a king of Egypt, and the husband, brother, or ſon of Iſis, Queen of Egypt. Thus various are the heathen writers in their hiſtories and narrations. This Oſiris and Iſis, became ſo famous in Egypt, as they grew to be worſhipped: and upon his loſs, and death by Typhon, Iſis ordained an yearly mourning for him, in their fourth moneth, from him, called Tammuz. In which feaſt the women uſed very immodeſt rites and ceremonies. Thus out of heathen authors do Chriſtian writers report. And this ſhameful, and whoriſh, and beaſtly idolatry, came in practice among the Jews, even in the houſe of the Lord. And to this do thoſe places ſeem to relate, 1 King.14.24. and Chap 15.12. & Chap.22. 46. & 2 King.23. 7.

V. 16. The porch and the altar] the porch of the temple, wherein were thoſe two huge and high pillars, Jachin, and Boaz, 1 King.6.3. & Chap.7.15,&c. 2 Chro.3. 4, 15, 16,17. in the Eaſt part of the temple; and the altar of braſs for burnt-offerings placed in the Prieſts court, between the Eaſt gate of the Prieſts court, and the porch of the temple: as the altar was in the court of the tabernacle, Exod.3.18,19,20. and 38. 1,&c. & 40.6,7. 2 Chro.4.1.

were about five and twenty men] about, ſo that this number is ſomewhat uncertain. Not ſo as thoſe, Chap.11.1. Neither doth any reaſon inforce theſe to be the ſame with thoſe. However prime men, likely they were, and againſt the Law, came into this place, and exerciſed moſt abominable idolatry in it.

with their backs] A ſign that they had utterly renounced God and his ſervice; and in that poſture that they might worſhip the Sun toward the Eaſt.

The Sun toward the Eaſt] Deut.4.19. 2 King.23.5.11. Job 31.26. Ier.44.17.

V. 17. Is it a light thing to the houſe of Judah, that they commit the abominations] Or, Is there any thing lighter then to commit? or, Is it lighter? This queſtion is a ſtrong negation. See Gen.18.17. The meaning is, that the Jews thought nothing lighter; although theſe abominations againſt the firſt Table were the moſt grievous and fearfulleſt; yet there was no Command ſo great, which the Jews thought not light of, to tranſgreſſe it.

with violence] By oppreſſion of the innocent, and of the poor; which is done either in Common, by unrighteous judgment; or in particular, by all kinds of injuſtice.

To provoke] In profaning my Temple.

They put the branch to] הזמורה, is a branch of a tree; ſo is the Hebrew word taken, Numb.13.24. & Chap. 15. 2. and here is ſet forth a practiſe of Heatheniſh Idolaters, in worſhipping the Sun, which they call upon, becauſe it quickneth the fruits, and makes them ripe, in token whereof they kiſſe the branch, or the hand, as Job 31.26,27. So did they to Bacchus, 2 Maccab.6.7. See Ier. 44.17. Hoſ. 2. 8. Others thus, they bring the ſtink to their noſes; that is to ſay, they offend themſelves by committing ſuch abominations.

V. 18. Eye ſhall not ſpare] Chap.5.11. & 7.4.

Cry in my Eares with a loud voice] Prov.1.28. Iſa.1.15. Ier. 11.11. Mic.3.4.

CHAP. IX.

Verſ. 1. HE cryed] In this Chapter is figured out the ſlaughter to be made in Jeruſalem, of the people that were therein, excepting the godly mourners that were marked out to be ſpared.

Cauſe them that have charge over the City] The viſitations of the City draw neer; that is, The time to take vengeance: when the viſitors are called for, the viſitation will be kept.

even every man] In this viſion, being a figure of what was to be done on earth, God ſpeaks to his Angels, executioners of his judgements: by which are meant the Chaldeans, inſtruments of the Jewes deſtruction. See Dan. 10. 13, 20. & 11.1.

V. 2. ſix men] Which were Angels in the ſimilitude of men; as Gen.18.2. Act.10. Theſe ſix may haply have ſome relation to the ſix chief Commanders under the King of Babylon, who did invade and take Jeruſalem, Ier. 39.3. And likewiſe to be ſix in number, with a reference to the ſix gates of Jeruſalem. The City being divided into three Townes, each of them had two chief gates, to which the ſtreets and quarters of the whole City did belong. In the City of David (wherein was the ſtrong hold, or Caſtle of Zion) were the port of David, or the fiſhgate; and the old port. In the town of Benjamin, the gate of Ephraim, and the corner gate, 2 Chr.25.23. In that town or port that belonged to the lot of Judah, were the dung-gate, and ſheep-gate.

Higher gate] Likely it is, that every gate belonging to the Courts of the Temple, had a portal belonging to it; which was a great building that had two overtures, with a gallery or entry between; one of theſe doores was toward the outward Court, the other towards the inner Court: Now the plain on the outſide being lower, ſome conceive that that gate was likewiſe lower, and that the other of the inner Court was higher; and they went up to it by ſteps. Thus it was in that Typical viſion of the Temple, Ezek.40.18,19,20. See 2 King.15.35. 2 Chr.27.3.

which lyeth toward the North] Heb. which is turned. And from the North, by the Chaldeans, and their armies, this ſlaughter and deſtruction came, Ier.1.13.

and one man] Many underſtand this of Chriſt our Saviour, but it may ſeem rather to be meant of a created Angel, (as the reſt) appointed to this gracious office; and ſo here ſet forth, not armed, as the reſt, but in a Prieſtly habite. See Chap.10.2.

among them] Heb. in the midſt of them: but none of the ſix, ver.2. becauſe thoſe every of them had weapons, and were ordained to deſtroy the wicked; but this had a Writers inkhorn.

inkhorn] To mark them in the forehead that mourned for the ſin of the City, ver.3. that they might be kept ſafe. That falleth out in Jeremy, Baruc, Abedmelech, and ſuch godly perſons. So in the ſpiritual fall from the faith to Idolatry, which the Apocalyps revealeth, an angel cometh from the Eaſt, and ſealeth a great number, Apoc.7.

by his ſide] Heb. upon his loynes.

brazen Altar] Namely, the altar of burnt-offerings, 2 Chr. 4.1. Now theſe angels do here preſent themſelves, as it were, to receive their Commiſſion from God coming out of his Temple, ver.3,5.

V. 3. And the glory of the God] Seen in the full viſion and deſcription of it by the river Chebar, Chap.1,3,28. and again in the Plain, Chap.3.23. and laſtly, at the North door of the inner gate (of the Lords houſe) in Jeruſalem, Chap. 8.4. viſiting his houſe, and ſhewing to Ezekiel the abominable Idolatries of his people there.

was gone up] Or, went up; that is, his glory more properly and peculiarly. So called, Chap.1.25,26,27,28. was gone up from the Cherubins and wheeles, leaving them at the North door of the inner gate, Chap.8.4.

from the Cherub] Cherubins: not thoſe in Sancto Sanctorum; there was no mention of them before, nor any notification or ſpecification made of them now; neither was there any viſible ſign of Gods glory ſitting upon the Cherubins that were over the propitiatory in the moſt holy place, that might be ſaid here to be gone up from thence. Theſe therefore here are to be underſtood of the ſame four living creatures, wights and Cherubins, which alone are mentioned and deſcribed, Chap.1.5,&c. & 8.4. and ſo all along after in the 10. Chapter throughout, & Chap.11.22,23. to the end of this heavenly viſion, and were now (as hath been ſaid) at the North door of the inner gate, Chap.8.4. from whence it appears they removed to the right ſide of the houſe, Chap. 10. 3.

to the Threſhold of the houſe] Or, Temple; there to pronounce the ſentence, for marking ſome to be ſpared, and for ſlaying others. We read not that the Cherubins were there at the threſhold. That place, Chap.10.4. makes not to the contrary; as it is well cleared by our tranſlation.

And he called to the man] Namely, the Son of God which ſate upon the Throne, Chap.1.26. called to this Angel.

V. 4. A mark] The Hebrew word is תו which ſignifies a mark; and is not the bare letter ת. All this happened in viſion, for a figure of the diſtinction which God makes in his general judgments, between his elect Believers and the wicked. See Exod.12.7,13. Apoc.7.3. & 3.12. we read of antichriſts mark, Apoc.13.16.

That ſigh] He ſheweth what is the manner of Gods Children whom he marketh to ſalvation; to wit, to mourn and cry out againſt the wickedneſſe which they ſee committed againſt God.

V. 5. Mine hearing] Heb. Mine eares.

V. 6. Slay utterly] This executed, 2 Chr.36.17.

The Mark] Thus in all his plagues the Lord preſerveth his ſmall number, which he marketh, as Exod.12.23. Rev.7. 3. But the chief mark is the Spirit of adoption, wherewith the heart is ſealed up to life everlaſting.

and begin at my Sanctuary] 1 Pet.4.18. begin at the very place where you are. My Sanctuary ſhall be no Sanctuary to priviledge them from ſlaughter, 1 King.1.50,51. & 2. 28. becauſe by their ſins they had ſo prophaned it, 2 Chron. 36. 14.

The ancient men] Chap.8.11.

V. 7. defile the houſe] Make a ſlaughter there, and bear no reſpect to the holy place; for according to the law a place was defiled by a dead carcaſſe, or by blood ſpilt therein.

the Court] Of the Prieſts, and of the people.

V. 8. and I was left] Rom.11.3.

Ah, Lord God] This declareth, that the ſervants of God have a compaſſion, when they ſee his judgements executed.

V. 9. Then ſaid] Jer.9.3. to 17.

of Iſrael and Judah] The conjunction copulative ſeemeth to be put by way of interpretation; ſo that the former word is expounded by the latter: Or it may be ſaid, that among the tribe of Judah, ſome of the ten Tribes did remain.

full of bloud] Heb. filled with; That is, with all kind of wickedneſſe; read Iſa.1.15.

perverſeneſſe] Or, wreſting of judgement.

The Lord hath forſaken] Chap.8.12.

V. 10. Mine eye ſhall not ſpare] Chap.5.11. & 7.4. & 8.18.

V. 11. The man clothed] Ver.2.

reported] Heb. returned the word.

CHAP. X.

Verſ. 1. THen] This Chapter figures out again more fully Gods ſcattering the fire of his wrath upon the City of Jeruſalem; and alſo ſhewes the withdrawing of his gracious and glorious preſence from it.

in the firmament] Chap.1.22.

The head of the Cherubins] Which in Chap. 1.5. he called four living creatures; deſcribed there at large.

A Saphire ſtone] Chap.1.26. Heb. as a Saphire ſtone; as the appearance of the likeneſſe of a Throne, appeared over them; and Chriſt in his glory upon it: as is perceived by the next verſe. See Chap.1.26.27.

V. 2. The man clothed] Of whom, Chap.9.2.

between the wheeles] Ver. 13.

under the Cherub] Cherubins, which were not far off, on the right ſide of the houſe in the next verſe.

fill thine hand] Heb. the hollow of thine hand.

coales of fire] Of this fire, mention is made, Chap.1.4,5,13, 27. A ſign of Gods Majeſty, in wrath and judgment, who is a devouring fire, which devoureth the wicked, and ſuch as are his enemies, Pſal.18.8,13. And here we ſee the ſame man or Angel, formerly a Miniſter of mercy, Chap.9.2. now in this place an executioner of Gods fiery wrath and vengeance.

over the City] This ſignified that the City ſhould be burnt; which viſion of Ezekiel took effect, almoſt five yeares after, Chap.8.1. & Jer.52.4,5,6,12,13. compared together.

V. 3. Now the Cherubins] With all the reſt of the frame, the wheeles.

ſtood on the right ſide of the houſe] Being removed from the North door of the inner gate, where the glory of the Lord left them, Chap.8.3,4. with Chap.9.3. The right ſide is the South; the Scripture ſuppoſing a man in poſture with his face towards the Eaſt, as hath been ſaid: and ſo thereupon the Sea, that is the midland Sea, is called the Weſt, Dan.8.4.

when the man went in] Namely under the Cherubins for to take ſome of the fire coales.

Cloud] That Cloud, Chap.1.4. or cloudy darkneſſe, in which was hidden this apparition of Gods glory; or rather another cloud, being now, as at many other times, an uſual token of the glorious preſence of the Divine Majeſty, Exod. 40. 34. Num.9.15. & 16.42. 1 King.8.10,11.

inner Court] Namely the Prieſts Court, or the Court of the Temple.

V. 4. Glory of the Lord] Chap. 1. 25, 26, 27, 28. and Chap.9.3.

went up] Heb. was lifted up.

Threſhold of the houſe] Chap.9.3.

Court] To wit, the Prieſts Court.

V. 5. ſound] Chap.1.24.

utter Court] That is the peoples Court, which way the Lord was now going, as he departed from his Temple.

voice] Namely, as thunder, Pſal.29.3,4,5.

V. 6. and it came] Returns to the fuller proſecution, and explication, of that which he began to ſpeak of in the ſecond Verſe.

V. 7. Stretched] Heb. ſent forth.

V. 8. a mans hand] Chap.1.8.

V. 9. And when I looked] A repetition and deſcription of the former viſion in the firſt Chapter, with ſome alterations made for the further clearing and confirmation of it.

beryll ſtone] Chap.1.16.

V. 11. When they went] Chap.1.12,17.

head] According to ſome, he meaneth the Cherubim which ſtood by each wheel; but it is better to be underſtood of him that ſate upon the throne, who guided the whole chariot by an univerſal and equal inſpiration, Chap. 1. 12, 20, 21.

V. 12. And their whole body] In this varying ſomewhat from the former viſion, Chap.1.18. and being more glorious then it: ſetting forth more fully the all-ſeeing providence of God; cleerly guiding and governing all things whatſoever.

wheeles] The outward circle and rings of them, Chap. 1. 18.

That they four had] Chap.1.18.

V. 13. it was tryed unto them] Or, they were called in my hearing, wheel, or galgal, or round world. What was commanded them is not here ſet down; but all this ſeems to ſignifie nothing elſe, but that the wheeles did abſolutely obey the Son of God, as well as the Cherubims, who had life in them, and that they received all their motion from him.

V. 14. And every one] Chap.1.10.

the firſt face was the face of a Cherub] Seeing that, Ezek.1.10. among the four faces there is an oxes face, inſtead of which here is ſet down a Cherubs face; ſome conceive that Cherub, ſignifieth properly the figure of an oxe, under which Hieroglyphically was repreſented an Angel; as indeed in the Syriac tongue, the word Cherub, is taken from a word which ſignifieth drawing the plough, which is the Oxe his proper labour; and therefore they are called the ſame faces, ver. 22. Howbeit, Cherub is commonly taken for a beautiful childs face.

V. 15. The living Creature] So ver.17,20. and ſo Chap.1.20. yet called alſo living Creatures, Chap.1.13,14,15,19. and four in number, chap.1.5,21,22. This is the ſame living wight, with the difference aforenamed.

V. 16. And when the Cherubins went, the wheeles] There was one conſent between the Cherubs and the wheels, chap. 1,19,20.

V. 17. Spirit of the living] Or, of life.

V. 18. Then the glory of the Lord] Chap.10.4. & 9.3.

ſtood over the Cherubims] Came from the threſhold of the houſe, chap.9.3. & 10.4. and ſtood over the Cherubims, that ſtood on the right ſide of the houſe, ver.3.

V. 19. At the door of the Eaſt gate of the Lords houſe] Namely of the peoples court, which was the firſt coming in of the Temple: and ſo by degrees the Lord and his glory departed more and more from his temple. See chap.11.22,23.

V. 20. And I knew that they were the Cherubims] The ſame, though with theſe ſmall variations.

V. 22. ſame faces] ver.14.

CHAP. XI.

Verſ. 1. M*Oreover*] This Chapter which ends the viſion, ſheweth Gods fierce wrath purſuing the remnant of the wicked deſperate Idolaters, that ſhould eſcape out of the deſtruction of Jeruſalem; the promiſes of Gods mercy to the godly penitents among thoſe that were already in Captivity in Babylon: and the glory of God finally departing, leaving, and forſaking the Temple and city of Jeruſalem.

The Spirit lift me up] In viſion I thought I was carried up into the ayr from the Prieſts Court.

to the Eaſt gate] Of the court of the people, that chap.10. 19. where the glory of the Lord now was.

five and twenty men] Theſe ſeem not to be the ſame that were ſpoken of, chap.8.16. But theſe ſeem rather to be the Senate of Jeruſalem, whereof the two here named, were chief. And hither the Princes and Magiſtrates did often uſe to reſort, for judgment: as Jer.26.10. Theſe twenty five, being after that charge given, chap.9.1,2,5,6,7. ſeem to be freed from that judgment in the city; and are ſentenced to another judgment afterwards, ver.7,8,9,10,11. ſave that Pelatiah, one of the chief among them, was ſtrucken with preſent ſudden death, ver.13. for a ſign and token of Gods wrath againſt them.

V. 3. It is not neer] Or, it is not for us to build houſes neer. There is no likelihood that theſe Prophets predictions, concerning the taking and deſolation of Jeruſalem, ſhould happen ſo ſoon; wherefore without taking any more care about it, let us take our eaſe; the ſtorm is fallen, and hath ſpent its rage upon the Jews which are already gone into Captivity with Jehojakim. See Ezek.12.22,27. Amos 6.3. 2 Pet.3.4. or rather, if we ſhould build houſes neer the walls of Jeruſalem, the Chaldeans would come, and make uſe of them againſt us, and thereby the rather take the city; and ſo indeed it ſhould become the Cauldron, and we the fleſh in it. They likely herein having an eye to Jeremies propheſie, chap.1.13. though betwixt fear, and ſcorn.

V. 4. Propheſie againſt them] Namely, in viſion, uſing ſuch geſtures, and doings, as if thou wert in Jeruſalem ſpeaking to this people.

V. 5. And the Spirit] Chap.1.3. & 3.14.

O houſe of Iſrael,] And chiefly thoſe, chap.25.1,2.

V. 6. ye have multiplyed] This may as well be referred to the murthers and violences committed by the Inhabitants of the city; as to the occaſion which they had given, through their perfidiouſneſſe to the king of Babylon, and their obſtinacy in not yeelding to him according to Gods command, to cauſe a very great number of the people to dye by famine and peſtilence; and ſo they made up the fleſh for the cauldron.

V. 7. your ſlain] Chap.24.3. to the 14. Mic.3.3.

they are the fleſh] They indeed ſhall remain there: but you the chief and heads ſhall be carried out to the ſlain, Jer. 39 6. & 52.10,24,25,26,27.

V. 8. ye have feared the ſword] Iſa.66.4. Jer.42.16. Prov. 10. 24.

V. 9. hands of ſtrangers] That is, of the Chaldeans.

among you] Or, upon, or againſt you.

V. 10. In the border of Iſrael] That is, in Riblah, 2 King. 25.6,21. which city was placed in the land of Hamath, 2 King. 23.33. & Jer.39.5. on the Northern border of Iſrael, Num. 34.8. Joſh.13.5. 1 King.8.65. See the fulfilling of this propheſie, Jer.52.10,24—27.

V. 11. Shall not be your Cauldron] That is not to ſay, ye ſhall not remain in it, nor dye in it; but in the border of Iſrael.

V. 12. for ye have not] Or, which have not walked.

V. 13. when I propheſied] The Prophet ſaw this ſudden death in viſion, as an execution of the foreſaid threatnings; whereupon he feared that God would preſently deſtroy every thing, and make a full end.

fell I down] Chap.9.8.

V. 15. Thy brethren] They in the captivity in Babylon, are they that are thus wronged and reproached: They that remain ſtill at Jeruſalem, thus deem and doom you, as caſt off and forſaken of God, who forſook his land and worſhip, and have nothing now to do with the Lord: and that they remaining in Jeruſalem, are alone Gods people, and heires of all the priviledges of grace.

V. 16. Yet I will be to them] That is, though they want that in Jeruſalem, yet they ſhall have from me really, and in ſpiritual vertue, that which was figured by the material Sanctuary in Jeruſalem, namely the preſence of my grace and favour; my protection, comfort, and conduct of my Spirit, &c.

a little Sanctuary] Heb. little is after Sanctuary: and it may be read, yet will I be to them a Sanctuary for a little, (to wit time) in the countries where they are, or ſhall come to; namely for thoſe 70 years in Babylon, Jer. 25. 11. & 29.10. Or, a little Sanctuary imports no little bleſſing of Gods favour to them, and protection over them, in the countries where they ſhall be ſcattered.

V. 17. I will even gather you] Under the corporal return from the captivity, is alſo underſtood the ſpiritual gathering together of the Church under the Meſſias.

V. 19. I will give them one heart] Chap.36.26,27. Jer. 24. 7. & 31.33. & 32.39.

a new ſpirit] Pſal.51.12. Eph.4.23. inlightning the mind, which before was darkneſſe in ſpiritual things, neither ſeeing nor able to perceive them; and changing the will which before was enmity againſt God his grace, neither ſubject to it, nor could be ſubject. So God challengeth the whole work of mans firſt converſion to himſelf.

ſtony heart] Zach. 7.12. neither milſtone: meaning the heart whereinto nothing can enter and regenerate them; giving them a will pliable to my Word and Spirit, ſenſible of my motions, and of my acts of mildneſſe, or ſeverity; ſoft and ready to receive my grace, 2 Cor.3.3.

V. 20. will be their God] Chap.1,4.11. & 37.27.

V. 21. Whoſe heart walketh] Who cannot turn by any good reaſon, or ſound judgment, from their fooliſh inclination to Idolatry.

I will recompenſe] Chap.9.10.

V. 22. Then did the Cherubims lift up their wings] And the whole heavenly viſion of the glory of the Lord.

V. 23. from the midſt of the city] Whither it was formerly come from the door of the Eaſt gate of the Lords houſe, or of the utter court of the Lords houſe, chap.10.19.

and ſtood] This is Gods laſt ſtep at his departure; by which is ſignified, that God would yet make one tryal more, to ſee if the people would call him back by invocation, and lively repentance: Or, that God being gone out of the city, ſtood there to be preſent at, and ſee the ruine of it. See the promiſe of his returning upon the ſelf-ſame hill, Zach.14.4.

the mountain] Which is the mount of Olives, 2 Sam. 15. 30.

V. 24. by the Spirit of God] Not corporally, nor in a dream and natural imagination, but in a divine and ſupernatural rapture, cauſed by the Holy Ghoſt.

went up from me] As Gen.17.22.

V. 25. unto them of the Captivity] To thoſe Elders, that were in ſome kind witneſſes of this rapture and exſtaſie, chap. 8.1. and to the reſt of the captivity.

CHAP. XII.

Verſ. 1. T*He word*] This Chapter ſhadows out the flight, deportation, captivity, and calamity of King Zedekiah, and of the Jews yet remaining in Judea; and avoucheth the truth and ſpeedy execution of it, againſt their proverbial ſcoff, and ſtout ſcorn to the contrary. This propheſie, and the reſt to the 20. Chapter, came to Ezekiel, and were uttered by him, within the ſpace of eleven moneths and few dayes, in part of the ſixth and ſeventh year of Jehojachims captivity, and Zedekiahs reign, and within three years before the ſiege began, Chap. 8.1 & 20.1. & 24.1. & Jer.52. 4. compared together.

V. 2. have eyes to ſee] Iſa.6.9. & 42.18,19,20. Which is taught, and illuminated in the knowledg of my will, but make no uſe of this gift; but doth out of meer malice withſtand it, and endeavours, and ſtrives as much as it can to put it out; wherefore the ſin is ſo much the more aggravated, Joh.9.41. Eph.4.18.

V. 3. prepare thee] This is a ſign or type, whoſe interpretation is ſet down, verſ.10,11.

ſtuff] Or, inſtruments; as thy Hat, Cloak, Shoes, Staff, Houſhold-ſtuff, &c. Mat.10.9,10.

It may be] Whiles there is any hope left, trial ſhall bee made even this way; to convert them, or elſe convince them the more.

They be a rebellious houſe] Becauſe they are not touched with thy plain ordinary preaching, therefore add this expreſs ſign thereunto.

V. 4. Bring forth thy ſtuff] Take all theſe things which thou haſt prepared, to have them all ready at thy need.

V. 5. Dig] the more lively to expreſſe their fearfull flight.

V. 6. in the twilight] verſ. 12. By night, Zedekiah fled through the kings garden, and through the gate, between the two walls; and he went through the fields: the Chaldeans took him at Jericho, brought him to Riblah, condemned him, ſlew his children before his eyes, and brought him to Babel; but he never ſaw Babel, being made blinde before.

Cover thy face] verſ. 12.

V. 8. And in the morning] after that he had done that, verſ. 7.

V. 9. What doeſt thou] Do they not deride thy doings? Not ask thy meaning in ſhewing this type and figure? Are they ſo ſtupid, not ſo much as to enquire? The falſe Prophets, it ſeems, had ſtrangely bewitched them, Chap. 13. & Jer.28.1,2,3,4,10,11. & Chap. 29. 8,9,15,21. to the end of the Chapter.

V. 10. This burden] a prophetical ſign of threatning, and calamity, Iſa.13.1. Jerem.38.23.

V. 11. I am your ſign] Eſay 7. 3, 16. & 8. 3, 4, 18. and 20. 3.

they ſhall remove] they in Jeruſalem, and in the land of Judea.

captivity] that is, into the Babyloniſh captivity. See the accompliſhment of this, 2 King. 25.

V. 12. and the Prince] ver. 4, 5, 6. to wit, Zedekiah with his Courtiers, ſhall flee in the night time; he in the habit of a poor traveller; his face covered, either that he might not be known; or by reaſon of ſorrow and grief. See 2 King. 25. 4. Jer 39. 4.

V. 13. My net alſo will I ſpread] When the king ſhall think to eſcape by flying, I will take him in my net; as Chap. 17.20. (& 32.3.) by ſending after him the Chaldean ſouldiers which ſhall purſue and catch him, 2 King. 25. 5.

yet ſhall he not ſee it] For his eyes were put out at Riblah, 2 King. 25.7.

V. 14. Draw out the ſword after them] Chap.5.2,12.

V. 15. And they ſhall know] Even experience ſhall teach them, the ſchool-miſtriſs of fools; when they ſhall ſee me to be the God of truth, in the executing my judgments upon them, which I know threaten againſt them: that I do not threaten in vain, but ſay the word, and perform it; as it is, Chap. 12.25,28.

V. 16. A few men] Heb. men of number; that is, which may eaſily be numbred; or few in number; as Gen.34.30.

declare all their abominations] that is, confeſſing their ſins and idolatries, give teſtimony for Gods judgements againſt them.

V. 18. Eat thy bread with quaking] Another prophetical ſign or type: that is, in the taking of thy food, ſeem to be an affrighted and perplexed perſon, Chap.4.16.

V. 19. people of the land] Namely, the common ſort of the people of Judah, of the city and land.

They ſhall eat their bread with carefulneſs] During the diſtreſs of the ſiege; by the means of which, and after which, all the countrey ſhall be waſted, according to my decree.

all that is therein] Heb. the fulneſs thereof.

V. 22. the dayes are prolonged] Of Gods judgement, foretold by the Prophets, they ſhall either be prolonged, or diſanulled and brought to nothing. Becauſe they did not immediately ſee the propheſies accompliſhed, they contemned them, as if they ſhould never be fulfilled; ſee verſ. 27. Chap.11.3. Amos 6. 3. 2 Pet.3.4.

V. 23. effect of every viſion] that is, the things fore-told, and ſignified by the viſions.

vain viſions] Chap. 13.23.

V. 25. in your dayes] Within ſix years, all theſe judgements threatned, were executed and accompliſhed.

V. 27. for many dayes to come] verſ.22. that is, It ſhall not come to paſſe in our dayes, and therefore we care not for it. Thus the wicked ever abuſe Gods patience and benignity.

of the Lord] Chap. 1. 3. This command from the Lord, which hereafter followes.

came unto me] The manner how, not particularly ſet down.

V. 2. out of their own hearts] And not by Gods commiſſion and direction, ver. 3. Jer. 14.14. & 23. 9, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 21, 22, 25, 26, 27, 28, 30, 31, 32.

V. 3. follow their own ſpirit] Heb. walk after. That do meddle with propheſying after their own proper motion, being driven thereunto by their own carnal affections; and declare nothing but their own imaginations, and inventions, fancies and dreams, deſerts] Heb. in dry places. Where no poultrey, or other birds are to feed upon; whereupon, being hunger-ſtarved, they gape after prey; and ſeaze upon the meaneſt food, ver. 19.

V. 4. Foxes] Which ſpoil the Lords vine-yard; as Foxes do, Cant. 2.15.

V. 5. Ye have not gone up] Manners of ſpeech taken from ſiegers, in which the duty of Captains are to repair and fortifie the place, and then ſtand to defend it, if there be any breach made. The true ſtrength of the Church, is faith, obedience, piety, &c. The defence, is, invocation, interceſſion, repentance, and zeal to repreſs the wicked, &c. Pſal. 106.23, 30. Chap. 22.30. The falſe Prophets are here reproved, for failing in both theſe duties.

day of the Lord] Of his judgements.

V. 6. The word] Which they falſly fained, Jer. 28.2, 3, 4, 10, 11.

V. 9. And mine hand] See Jer. 20.3, 4. & 28.16. & 29. 21, 22, 31, 32.

They ſhall not be] I will root them out of the world; ſo that they ſhall not onely be debarred from having any voice or place, in publike aſſemblies, Jer. 26.7. but they ſhall not ſo much as be members of the people.

Aſſembly of my people] Or, ſecret, or, counſel.

they ſhall not be written] Not written in the Regiſters among the number of them, that ſhall return out of the Captivity; nor ſhall enter and repoſſeſs the land, Ezr. 2. & Chap. 8. Neh. 3, & Chap. 7. & 10. & 11. & 12.

And ye ſhall know] See Chap. 12.15.

V. 10. Peace] They did not as was requiſite, ver. 5. See ver. 16. Jer. 6.14. & 8.11. & 7.4, 10.

built up a wall] Whereas the true Prophets propheſied the deſtruction of the city to bring the people to repentance; the falſe Prophets ſpake the contrary, and flattered them in their vanities, (Jer. 28.8, 9.) ſo that what our falſe Prophet ſaid, (which is here called the building of the wall) another falſe Prophet would affirm, though he had neither occaſion, nor good ground to bear him out in it.

daubed it with untempered morter] See ver. 15. Chap. 22.28.

V. 11. an overflowing ſhowre] Hereby are meant Gods extreme judgments.

V. 12. ſhall it not be ſaid unto you?] You will bear the juſt reproofs of your flattering predictions.

V. 14. in the midſt thereof]. You ſhall be enfolded in the ruines of it.

and ye ſhall know] Ver. 9. So ver. 21. & 23.

V. 15. untempered morter] Whereby is meant whatſoever man of himſelf ſetteth forth falſly, under the colour and authority of Gods Word.

The wall is no more] I will preſently deſtroy both the wall and the daubers thereof.

V. 17. Againſt the daughters] Women that were falſe Propheteſſes; that look ſo much upon them contrary to the modeſty of their ſex, and to the truth of God. Indeed God raiſed up Miriam, Exod. 15. Debora, Judg. 4.5. Hulda, 2 King. 22. 2 Chr. 32. Annah, Luk. 2.36. Philip's daughters, Act. 21.9. and the Devil would never be behind to raiſe up his like Inſtruments; as theſe here; as Noadiah in the dayes of Nehemiah, Neh. 6.14. Jezebel in the Church of Thyatira, Apoc. 2. women laden with ſins, led away with divers luſts, 2 Tim. 3.6.

their own heart] See ver. 6.

V. 18. That ſow pillowes]. They did uſe theſe ſignes and ceremonies after the manner of the Prophets: and it ſhould ſeem that the pillowes were a ſign of peace and eaſe for the one; and the vailes, of mourning and calamity for the other, according to the cuſtome of covering their faces in like caſes, 2 Sam. 15.30. & 19.4. Eſth. 6.12. & 7.8. Job 9.24. And to this, that which is ſpoken, ver. 19. & 22. ſeemes to have relation.

To all] Indifferently to whom they pleaſe, without regarding either Gods Will, or the worth, or the unworthineſs of men.

arm-holes] Or, elbowes.

and make kerchiefs] Head-tires, vailes, bound to the heads, and to cover the faces.

every ſtature] Namely, of all conditions and qualities of men, great and ſmall, young and old, to fit all ſorts.

hunt ſoules] To enſnare them in errour; and conſequently in perdition.

V. 19. pollute me] Making me the author and maintainer of your lyes, and deceits; without any reſpect to my moſt holy name.

handfuls of barley] For any light reward, Mic. 3.5.

ſlay the ſoules] Denouncing death and unhappy chances to good men, and raiſing perſecution againſt them among the people; and contrariwiſe promiſing life and proſperity to wicked men, and ſo ſome way defending them againſt the juſtice of men.

V. 20. Behold, I am againſt your pillowes] I will quickly cauſe you and your falſe Ceremonies to periſh.

To make them fly] Or, into gardens, or, groves, for ſpiritual and corporal idolatries.

V. 22. heart of the righteous ſad] By threatning them that were godly, and upholding the wicked.

ſtrengthened the hands of the wicked] Jer. 23.14.

by promiſing him life] Or, that I ſhould ſave his life. Heb. by quickening him.

V. 23. See no more vanity] I will root you out, that you may no more ſeduce my people, with your deceits, Chap. 12.24.

CHAP. XIV.

Verſ. 1. THen came] This Chapter ſhews the Idolatry and impiety of the Jews; and denounceth Gods judgments againſt them, and their falſe Prophets; and that by an irrevocable decree.

came] To inquire of the Lord, ver. 7. Chap. 20.1.

Certain of the elders of Iſrael] Namely, of the heads of the people that were in Babylon.

ſate before me] In Babylon. Therefore theſe ſeem to be elders that were already captives in Babylon. Indeed ſome learned men take theſe to be certain elders, not yet in captivity, but ſent as ambaſſadorus from King Zedekiah to Nebuchadnezzar, or prime men in the ambaſſadours company: And this the rather, becauſe the matter and contents of this Chapter ſeem beſt to agree to the Jews in Jury, under the reign of Zedekiah, not yet captivated. But that ambaſſage being in the fourth year of Zedekiah; and this being two years after, as appears by Jer. 28.1. & 29.3. & 51.49. & Ezek. 8.1. & 20.1. compared together, makes that opinion the leſs probable. However this their geſture and demeanour ſhewes the hypocriſie of the idolatours, who will diſſemble to hear the Prophets of God, though in their hearts they follow nothing leſs then their admonitions: and alſo how by one meanes or other, God doth diſcover them.

V. 3. Idols] The word ſignifies dung: ſuch are idols, baſe things, or dunghil deities: and as dung offends a mans eyes and noſe, ſo do idols offend God; yet Idolatours will make their hearts Temples for them.

and put the ſtumbling block] They are not onely Idolatours in heart, but alſo worſhip their filthy Idols openly; ſeeking out objects and baites fitting to nouriſh and kindle that wicked inclination to Idolatry, and catching occaſion to fulfill it. See Zeph. 1.3. or they themſelves by their ſins will be the cauſers of their own ruine, Chap. 18.30.

ſhould I be enquired of at all by them?] Being ſuch, how dare they once appear before me, to inquire counſel of me? is it not a meer hypocriſie and ſcoff in them. to come to me to ask for help and counſel, in their diſtreſſe, ſeeing their hearts are ſeparate from me, and they being the onely cauſers of the evils which they ſuffer? Should I anſwer them when they ſeek me?

V. 4. Prophet] To enquire of things which the Lord hath appointed to come to paſs.

according to the multitude of his idols] Not anſwering him to what he asketh; but to ſpeak onely as his abomination hath deſerved: his Idols ſhall not ſhut up or cloſe my mouth, but they ſhall rather open it againſt his Idolatries, ver.5.and to denounce the ſentence of puniſhment againſt him for it.

V. 5. That I may take] That is, my anſwers ſhall be like ſo many ſnares, or ſtings, to their conſciences convinced by my Word, will they, nill they; and thereby will I keep them, as it were, ſhut up in exſpectation and fear of my unavoidable judgments: or, I will give them over to the deluſion of their own hearts, as their idols lead them, 2 Theſſ. 2. 11,12.

V. 7. ſtranger that ſojourneth] Strangers and ſojourners not to be tolerated in their idolatry, Exod.20.10.

ſeparateth himſelf] Like unto a harlot that ſeparateth her her ſelf from her husband. See Hoſ.4.14.10.& 9.10.

by myſelf]. Not according to his deſign that asketh the queſtion, not merely and ſolely according to the Prophets pleaſure; but I will take the matter upon me my ſelf, and I will anſwer according to my moſt holy truth and juſtice; as in the verſe following.

V. 8. Set my face] Chap.15.7.Lev.17.10.

a ſign and a proverb] Deut.28.37.Chap.5.15. namely for a ſpectacle of my judgments, of whom every body ſhall ſpeak.

Cut him off] Some for example.

ye ſhall know] See Chap.12.15.

V. 9. If the Prophet be deceived] God, for mans ingratitude, raiſeth up falſe Prophets, to ſeduce them that delight in lyes, rather then in the truth of God; and thus without ſin, in juſtice he puniſheth ſin by ſin, 1 King.22.20,22. and deſtroyeth as well thoſe Prophets, as that people, ver.10. See Job 12. 16. Ier.4.10.

when he hath ſpoken a thing] Or, word, to pleaſe them; placentia.

I the Lord have deceived] 1 King.22.ver.23. 2 Theſſ. 2. 11, 12. Rom. 1.24. He deceives him by ſuffering him to be deceived, by their rewards, as Judges ſometimes are by bribes; and birds, and fiſhes by baites; by withdrawing alſo his ſpirit, and reſtraining grace from him; and by ordering wiſely and juſtly ſuch occaſions, and occurrences as work upon his corruption.

I will ſtretch forth mine hand] Though he doth but what I by my ſecret providence, have ſuffered him to do, yet will I puniſh him, becauſe he ſinneth againſt my law, which is the rule of humane actions.

V. 10. And they ſhall bear] Both the falſe Prophet whom God makes uſe of in ſeducing of others; and the ſeduced; though they would plead for themſelves, and lay the fault upon their ſeducers; yet God will puniſh both.

V. 11. Iſrael may go no more aſtray] Thus Gods judgments againſt the wicked, are admonitions to the godly to cleave unto the Lord; and not to defile themſelves with the like abominations.

V. 13. Land ſinneth] The meanig is, when I have once reſolved to puniſh a land, I will not forbear to do it for any manner of interceſſion: all interceſſion were but loſt labour, the final decree being once paſt, Jer. 7. 16. & 11. 14. and 14.11.

Then will I ſtretch] Or, and I ſtretch.

and will break] Or, and break.

ſtaff of bread] Chap.4.16.& 5.16.Lev.26.26.Eſay 3.1.

and will ſend] Or, and ſend.

and will cut] Or, and cut.

V. 14. Though theſe three men] A caſe ſuppoſed; as Jer. 5.1.& 15.1. to ſhew his ſentence here to be irrevocable, his decree unalterable (as thoſe of the Medes and Perſians; himſelf inflexible, inexorable

Noah, Daniel, and Job] Jer.15.1. Moſes and Samuel are named in the like caſe. Daniel a man here of this ſingular note and eminency, though living now among them in the Captivity, and being carryed away young, about 14. years at the moſt before this time, 2 King.24.1.Jer.25.1.Ezek.20.1. by their righteouſneſſe] Though in other caſes the effectual fervent prayer of one, righteous man availeth much, Jam.5. 16. And the ſentence againſt Sodom was revocable, if ten righteous perſons could have been found in it, Gen. 18.32. and Jeruſalem it ſelf, in ſome part of Joſiahs time, would have been ſpared and pardoned, if a juſt man could have been found in it, Jer.5.1. But here now the decree was paſt, an end was come, Chap.7.2,4,5,6,10. However no place here for the prayers of the dead: nor for the pretended works of ſupererogation, which the Papiſts imagine: The meaning in this place is, that a very few (which he calleth a remnant, ver.22.) ſhould eſcape theſe plagues, whom God hath ſanctified and made righteous: So that this righteouſneſs is a ſign that they are the Church of God, whom he would preſerve for his own ſake.

V. 19. In bloud] The peſtilence by corruption of the bloud, is deaths bloudy and ſpeedy executioner.

V. 21. How much more] That is, I do alleadge all theſe examples of particular ſcourges, to conclude, that I ſhal much leſs be entreated, when I ſhall reſolve to joyn them all together, for a deluge of evils, which are brought to the height.

comforted concerning the evil] When ye ſhall know their grievous ſins, you will have cauſe to acknowledge Gods juſtice, and ſtrengthen your ſelves againſt the ſcandal of this deſtruction, and give glory to God; and likewiſe be comforted in your Captivity, knowing the far greater evils and miſeries which they in Jeruſalem and Judea had ſuffered and endured.

V. 23. When ye ſhall ſee their wayes, and their doings] The juſt rewards of their evil works; as the words following do ſhew.

CHAP. XV.

Verſ.1. AND the word] This ſhort Chapter again ſets forth Gods heavy judgment, againſt Hieruſalem and the land of Judea; in a type, and the expoſition of it.

V. 2. What is the Vine-tree more] As if he ſhould ſay, What is there in the Jewes at Hieruſalem, and in the land of Judea: yet under the reign of King Zedekiah, why they ſhould ſo vaunt, and ſooth up themſelves? or why I ſhould ſo ſpare them?

V. 3. ſhall wood] The wood of the Vine, which is the thing here brought in compariſon, is of leſs uſe then other wood; not good to make ſo much as a pin of it; nor for any other uſe, but fit for the fire.

V. 4. Is it meet for any work?] Much leſs is it meet when it is half burnt: ſo it is expounded in the next verſe, Ioh. 15.6.

V. 6. As the Vine-tree] The explication of the former Type.

V. 8. Committed a treſpaſs] Heb. treſpaſſed a treſpaſſe, Chap. 14.13.

CHAP. XVI.

Verſ.1. AGain] In this Chapter the Prophet ſets down the hiſtory of Gods dealing with the Church of the Jewes from firſt to laſt, under a continued allegory of a wretched maid, miſerable in her birth and infancy, unpitied and caſt away; till God took care of her life and preſervation, cauſed her to grow up to comelineſs and beauty, and by Covenant took her unto himſelf. After which he beſtowed all manner of rich and pretious bleſſings upon her; till ſhe became renowned through his comelineſs which he had put upon her. But ſhe then ſhamefully abuſed all his bleſſings, and played the whore in all abominable manner: whereupon he pours out his wrath upon her even by her idolatrous Lovers: and recounting her ſinnes above Samaria's, and Sodom's, he awardeth her a condigne puniſhment, and yet addeth, in the end of all, Evangelical promiſes of repentance, grace and mercy in after times.

V. 2. Cauſe Jeruſalem to know] Namely the remnant of the Jews which are in Jeruſalem, which repreſent the whole body of the Nation and State, as being the ſeat of the Church, and head of the Kingdom.

V. 3. Thy birth] Heb. Cutting out; or, habitation. Though you be of Abraham's race, yet you are ſo degenerate, that you deſerve rather to be called Amorites and Hittites which were two accurſed nations, ver.45. Gen.26.34,35.& 27.46. See Iſa.1.10.Ioh.8.33,37,40,44.Rom.2.28.& 9.7,8.

V. 4. Thy nativity in the day thou waſt born] Hoſ.2.3 An allegory, continued in all this Chapter; wherein the peoples eſtate, both ſpiritual and temporal, is repreſented by a wretched maid; after foſtered, marryed, exalted, and enriched through mere grace. If their Nativity be referred to the time when it came to ſome form and perfection of a Nation; and was brought from Egypt, the multitude of Iſrael, then foreſook not the idols of Egypt, Ezek.20.8. But more likely it is to be referred to the calling of Abram their father out of Ur of the Chaldees, where, he likely, and his anceſtors ſure, were idolators, Ioſh.24.2,14,15.

Thy navel was not cut] Terms taken from that which uſeth to be done to little children newly born, to ſhew, that the people had no humane help or aſſiſtance; but were utterly forſaken in their miſery.

thou waſt not ſalted at all] Salt being uſed about theſe little creatures, to bathe and rub them, to dry up, cleanſe and ſtrengthen the body of the child.

V. 6. Polluted in thine own bloud] Heb. or, troden under feet. Being thus in thy filthineſs, and forſaken of all men, I took thee, and gave thee life; whereby is meant, that before God waſh his Church, and give it life, there is nothing but filthineſs and death.

yea I ſaid] God often repeated his promiſe to Abraham, Gen.12.& 13.& 15.& 17.& 18.& 22. Chapters.

V. 7. I have cauſed thee to multiply] Heb. Made thee a million.

To multiply] According to my promiſe, Gen.12.2. & 13.16.& 15.5.& 17.2,4. & 22.17. See the accompliſhment of it, Exod.1.7. Deut.1.10.

excellent ornaments] Heb. ornament of ornaments.

thy breaſts are faſhioned] He continueth the ſame figure of a maid, that is now come to age to have a husband: to ſignifie the time appointed by God to ſet his people at liberty, and honour them with the title of his Church, and to make his covenant with them in Horeb, Cant.8.8. Hoſ.2.15.

naked and bare] Without any honour, or defence; as ver. 4, 5, 6, yea even in Egypt thou waſt in miſery and Captivity.

V. 8. was the time of love] For me to marry thee: That time fore-told, Gen. 15. 13. yet the true cauſe of this love is ſet down, Deut.7.7,8.

I ſpread my skirt over thee] Took thee to wife, Ruth 3. 9. Gen.20.16. This ſeemes to be an ancient ceremony, wherein the husband, in ſign of the right and property which he obtained in his wife, and for a pledge of his duty of protection and love, did when he marryed her, cover her with the skirt of his garment. Figuring here the righteouſneſſe, innocency, and merit of Chriſt, which hideth all the blemiſhes of his Church from his ſight, and protects her; and hereby ſhewes himſelf to be her head, Lord, and husband: which hath at all times been the foundation and ſum of the Covenant of Grace.

and covered thy nakedneſſe] Theſe words, as bloud, pollution, nakedneſs, and filthineſs, are oft-times repeated to beat down their pride, and to cauſe them to conſider what they were before God received them to mercy, favoured them, and covered their ſhame.

I ſware unto thee] I made a ſolemn Covenant with thee, that I would take thee to be my people, Exod. 19. and 24. Chapters. Jer.2.2.

V. 9. Then waſhed I thee with water] Corporally, I took away from thee all ſignes and tokens of miſery, and of thy former oppreſſion; and inriched thee with my gifts and benefits: and ſpiritually, I purged thee from thy ſins, which are the uncleanneſs of thy ſoul, in which man is born; and indued thee with the graces of my Spirit, ſignified by the anointing.

V. 10. Badgers skin] Which were ſome way neatly dreſſed for to make handſome ſhooes.

V. 11. I decked] I furniſhed thee with all things neceſſary, and delightful; with grace, and glory.

V. 12. Thy forehead] Heb. thy noſe. See touching this kind of ornament, Gen.24.47. Iſa.3.21.

Crown upon thine head] Hereby he ſheweth how he ſaved his Church, enriched it, and gave it power and dominion to reign.

V. 13. Proſper into a Kingdome] That is, didſt grow up ſo high, that thou becameſt a great and glorious Kingdome.

V. 14. Thy renown] 2 Sam.8.13. 1 King.4.31.

Comelineſſe which I put upon thee] He declareth wherein the dignity of Jeruſalem ſtood, to wit, in that the Lord gave them of his beauty and excellency.

V. 15. But thou didſt truſt] Here comes in her lewdneſſe; Thou art become preſumptuous and bold, by reaſon of the gifts received from me, and wouldſt be no longer ſubject to me, nor contain thy ſelf within the Chaſtity of my ſervice and obedience, but didſt chooſe to live a looſe life.

playedſt the harlot] In the times of the Judges and Kings; but ſpecially for theſe three hundred and ninety years, mentioned Chap.4.5. See Chap.23. Iſa.57.8. Ier.2.20. & 3.2,6,20. Thou haſt joyned thy ſelf alſo by unlawful covenants, and by imitation of Idolatry to profane people, which thou haſt drawn to thee by the greatneſſe of thy State, and the preheminency which thou hadſt above other Nations.

powredſt out] Thou haſt indifferently, and impudently proſtituted thy ſelf. See Chap.16.36. Jer.3.13.

his it was] He might ſatisfie his luſt as he would, for thou gaveſt him free liberty to do it.

V. 16. high places] Namely, the Altars, Chappels, and Temples of thine Idols, garniſhed with ornaments and rich tapeſtry, which I had beſtowed upon thee for thine own uſe; Hoſ.2.8.

V. 17. of men] Heb. of a male. Namely, of idols, which were as adulterers to the Idolatrous ſouls; though there were many female Idols alſo.

V. 18. Coveredſt them] Thus Idols clothed, ſerved, and worſhipped.

V. 19. a ſweet ſavour] Heb. a ſavour of reſt: burning thoſe offerings, as it were, to pleaſe and appeaſe the Idols; as God had appointed they ſhould do to him.

Thus it was] All theſe things were notoriouſly known and verified; and they are not to be denyed, nor excuſed.

V. 20. whom thou] Who at their birth were mine, by vertue of my Covenant, whereby the whole body of the Nation was a wife to me, and the particular perſons as Children; wherefore thou ſhouldeſt have conſecrated them to me.

And theſe haſt thou ſacrificed] Chap.20.26. 2 King.16.3.& 17.17. & 21.6. Pſal.106.37. Iſa.57.5.

to be devoured] Heb. to devour: meaning by fire, read Lev. 18.21. 2 King.3.27. & 23.10. Jer.7.31.

V. 22. in all thine abominations] Thine unbridled idolatry hath been accompanied with an infamous ingratitude, and preſumptuous confidence, that thou couldeſt no more fall into thy former miſery.

V. 24. Thou haſt alſo] Like to an unchaſte woman, who after ſhe hath uſed diſhoneſty privately with ſome particular men, doth alſo proſtitute her ſelf publikely in a brothel-houſe; whereby is meant Idolatry which is commonly practiſed, and allowed by publike authority. See Eſay 3.9.

eminent place] Or, brothel-houſe.

and haſt made thee an high place] Iſa.57.5,7. Ier.2.20,23. & 3.2,6. & 13.27.

V. 25. Thou haſt built] Prepared all accommodations for thy notorious and raging Idolatry.

V. 26. with the Egyptians] He noteth the great impiety with this people, who firſt falling from God, to ſeek help from ſtrange Nations, (Eſay 30. & 31. 2 King.24. & 25.) did alſo at length imbrace their Idolatry, thinking thereby to make their amity more ſtrong. See chap.8.10,14. & 23.19.

great of fleſh] A figurative term taken from the ſhameleſs deſires of laſcivious unchaſte women, Chap.23.20. to ſignifie that the power and wealth of Egypt did intice the people to deſire to adhere, and to be linked unto them.

V. 27. have diminiſhed thine ordinary food] I have weakened thy eſtate, and taken away the abundance of my bleſſings from thee.

the daughters of the Philiſtines] 2 Chr.28.18.

Are aſhamed] They deteſt and abhor thine unconſtant and wavering Idolatry; they holding themſelves conſtant to their ancient Idolatry, which was firſt eſtabliſhed. See Jer. 2. 10,11,33.

V. 30. weak is thine heart] Weakened and melted in ſpiritual luſt; which worketh the ſame effect in the ſoules, as bodily luſt doth in the bodies; extinguiſhing all manner of true vertue in them, and effeminating them to a baſe and ſenſual eſteem of God and his ſervice, and weakening the true worſhip of him in Spirit and truth.

an imperious whoriſh woman] That is to ſay, licentious, unbridled, and uncorrigible; that taketh liberty to do what ſhe pleaſeth.

V. 31. Thou ſcorneſt hire] As much as to ſay, thou haſt not been ſought after, nor ſollicited, nor rewarded, nor payed; but thou thy ſelf haſt ſollicited and payd thine adulterers, which in a woman, is the extream of impudency. See 2 King. 16.7,8,10. 2 Chron.28.21,22,23. Iſa.30.6. Hoſ.8.9.

V. 34. And in that thou giveſt] No body hath deſired nor ſollicited thee. So is the ſin of the people aggravated, who without any bodies inducement of their own proper motion, were run into Idolatry.

V. 35. O harlot hear] The denunciation of judgment, and condigne puniſhment upon her.

V. 36. Thy filthineſſe] Heb. Thy poyſon, Jer. 2. 23,24. The meaning is, Thou haſt ſinned without ſhame, and I will puniſh thee with infamy and diſgrace, even by them with whom thou haſt ſinned.

V. 37. All thy Lovers] The Babylonians, and other Nations in their armies, whom thou tookeſt to be thy Lovers, they ſhall come and deſtroy thee, Chap.23.9,22,23,24,28.

and all them] Aſſyrians, Egyptians, &c.

and will diſcover] Chap.23.29. Ier. 13. 22,26. Lam. 1. 8. Hoſ.2.10.

V. 38. as,&c.] Heb. with judgements of.

break wedlock] I will judge thee to death as adultereſſes, Lev.20.10. Deut.22.22. and murtherers, Gen.9.6.Exod.21. 12. deſerve.

ſhed blood] That do murther the Children which they do bring forth, ver.36.

V. 39. thine eminent place] Namely, the City Jeruſalem it ſelf, or the whole State where Idolatry had been publickly practiſed, and without controll, ver.24,31.

Thy fair jewels] Heb. inſtruments of thine ornaments, verſ. 10, &c.

V. 40. ſtone thee] He hath relation to the puniſhment appointed for adultereſſes by the Law, Deut.22.24.

V. 41. they ſhall burn] 2 King.25.9. 2 Chron.36.19. Jer. 52.13.

in the ſight of many women] Namely, of many kind of people, and Nations, whereof the Chaldean Army ſhall be compoſed; of all the Nations round about, that thou ſhalt be an example, or rather a mocking ſtock unto them, Pſal.137.7. Lam.1.7,21. Ezek.25.3,6,8. & 26.2.

V. 42. my jealouſie] When it is fully ſatisfied with revenge upon thee.

V. 43. Thou haſt not remembred] ver.22. thy firſt condition, and my firſt dealing with thee, ver.4,&c.

fretted me] Thus God takes on for Idolatry.

V. 44. Proverb] Taunting proverb.

ſo is her daughter] As were the Canaanites, and the Hittites (who were taxed with ſerving of devils, and ſacrificing their children to them, Levit.18.21,24. Deut.18.9,10.) and others your predeceſſors; ſo are you their ſucceſſors, ye do not degenerate from them.

V. 45. thy mothers daughter] She an Hittite, in the end of this verſe.

her husband] Namely, God the Creator of all, and Lawgiver to all, whoſe knowledg and ſervice thoſe Nations utterly forſook, to worſhip devils; and ſo did ſhe.

thy ſiſters] that is, of Samaria and Sodom. Thou, and Samaria, (that is, the ten tribes) and Sodom, are like one another in ſinning, as if ye were one and the ſelf-ſame Mothers daughters, Deut.32.32. Iſa.1.10. Jer.3.8.

your mother was an Hittite] verſ.3.

V. 46. Thine elder ſiſter] Having more Tribes, and a larger Countrey.

at thy left hand] That is Northward; for the Hebrews call the forepart the Eaſt, and the hinder part the Weſt, the left ſide the North, and the right ſide the South: ſuppoſing the poſture of a man with his face toward the Eaſt, as hath been ſaid, Exod.26.18. Southward, or on the right hand.

thy younger ſiſter] Heb. leſſer then thou.

at thy right hand] Southward, Exod.26.18.

V. 47. their abominations] Thou haſt not been content with imitating and equalling them, but haſt gone beyond them; as is further avowed in the verſes following.

as if that were a very little thing] Or, that was loathed as a ſmall thing.

V. 48. As I live] God confirms it by an oath.

Sodom thy ſiſter] Mat.10.15. & 11.24.

hath not done] Sodom wanted all ſpiritual means of grace, Mat.11.23.

V. 49. Pride] Sodoms ſins here recorded are only againſt the ſecond Table. Out of that plenty, Gen.13.10. and after that Abram had reſcued them from their enemies, Gen. 14. ſhe had gotten none but temporal excellencies from me, and not the ſpiritual ones of my Word and Covenant, as thou hadſt: and beſides, her greateſt ſin was but againſt the ſecond table, and not againſt the firſt, as thine is in violating my ſervice.

ſtrenghthen the hand] See their ſins againſt the two Angels, and Lot, Gen.19.

V. 50. before me] Gen.13.13.

I took them away] Both Sodome, and Samaria, Gen. 19. 24. 2 King.17.

as I ſaw] Or, after I had ſeen; to wit, their abominations, Gen.18.21.

V. 51. Neither hath Samaria] Which worſhipped the Calves in Dan and Bethel.

half of thy ſins] Becauſe thou receivedſt more favours at my hands, the true Prieſthood being in Judah, and haſt been longer ſuffered, exhorted, and corrected; and haſt ſeen my judgments upon the other: therefore thy ingratitude, rebellion, and obſtinacy, cannot be equallized, Chap.23.11. Jer. 3.6,7,8.

haſt juſtified thy ſiſters] Made their ſins to ſeem but little ones, and excuſeable, by the exceſſe of thine; and them innocent in compariſon of thee, Jer.3.11.

V. 52. judged thy ſiſters] Condemned them without any pity as wicked, and not deſerving any mercy.

bear thine own ſhame] Mat.10.15. & 11.24. Lam.4.6.

V. 53. When I ſhall bring] That is, as I will never re-eſtabliſh thoſe Cities and Nations into their former eſtate; ſo the Jewiſh Nation, whatſoever their falſe Prophets ſay, yet ſhall never be perfectly reſtored after the ruine which ſhall come upon them by the Chaldeans; in reſpect of the glory of the Temple, and the ſtate of the Kingdom, and other advantages. But as concerning the ſpiritual good, the people had alwaies a remainder of grace, and hope of reſtorement to ſalvation, verſ. 60, &c. which the other Nations had not, Iſa. 1. 9.

the captivity] This word is taken for all kinds of extream miſery, Job 42.10.

the captivity of thy Captives] Namely, free them from ſervitude, and other continued and ſucceſſive Calamities.

V. 54. A comfort] Chap.14.22. A common kind of ſpeech; as if thoſe other Nations had any way been eaſed, by ſeeing the Jews as much, or more puniſhed then they were, Lam.4.6.

V. 55. Then thou] As verſ.53.

V. 56. mentioned] Heb. for a report, or, hearing.

by thy mouth] Thou wouldeſt not call her puniſhment to mind, when thou waſt aloft, to learn by her example to fear my judgments.

pride] Heb. prides, or, excellencies.

V. 57. diſcovered] Till thou was brought under by the Syrians and Philiſtines, 2 Chr.28.18,19. Or thus, thou waſt not convinced in thy conſcience, of thy obſtinacy and wickedneſſe, when thy ſiſter Samaria was reproachfully handled by the Syrians and Philiſtines, which ſhould have been a leſſon unto thee.

Syria] Heb. Aram.

about her] Which joyned with the Syrians, or compaſſed about Jeruſalem.

deſpiſe thee] Would have ſpoiled thee, but for my preſerving of thee, Eſay 7. & 8. Chapters.

V. 59. the oath] Joyned with an execration, or curſe, in caſe of failing. By which oath thou hadſt bound thy ſelf to me, as a people to their King, and a wife to her husband; as ver.8.

V. 60. Neverthieleſſe I will remember my Covenant] I will pity thee, and ſo ſtand to my Covenant of Mercy and Love; though thou haſt deſerved the contrary, Gen.8.1.& 9.15,16. Exod.6.5.

I will eſtabliſh] Jer.31.31,32. Hoſ.2.19.

everlaſting Covenant] Namely, a ſpiritual Covenant, made with the true Iſrael in ſpirit.

V. 61. Then thou ſhalt eemember] Chap.20.43. thou ſhalt be touched with true compunction and repentance.

when thou ſhalt receive] Namely, when I ſhall convert both Iſrael, and the Gentiles, and make them members of the Church, (and perform that great promiſe, Gen.9.27.) whoſe body was repreſented by the old Jewiſh Nation, which was alſo firſt imployed in the preaching of the Goſpel.

elder and thy younger] Samaria, Sodome; Jew, and Gentile.

for daughters] Gal:4.26. See Eſay 54. & 55. Chapters.

but not by thy Covenant] Not by virtue of the old, external, and outward Covenant, in which the natural Jews had onely part, or ſuch as joyned themſelves to their Religion and Ceremonies; but by vertue of the new, ſpiritual, and eternal one, grounded upon the Meſſias, and upon his righteouſneſs, redemption and Spirit, which is made with the whole Iſrael, according to faith, Jer.31.31,32,33,34. 2 Cor.3.3.Gal.4.24, 25. Heb.8.8.

V. 63. That thou mayſt remember] Theſe things are here written and ſet down, to the end, that after thy re-eſtabliſhment, eſpecially in the time of the Goſpel, thou mayſt give God all the glory for thy deliverance, by a ſincere acknowledgment and confeſſion of thy ſins, approving of, and adoreing in ſilence thoſe judgments, which had been formerly inflicted upon thee, Job 5.16. Rom.3.19.

CHAP. XVII.

verſ. 1. AND the word of the Lord] The Prophet under the parable of two Eagles and a Vine, ſets forth the taking of Jechoniah from the Kingdome, and the placing of Zedekiah in his room, by the King of Babylon: Zedekiah's rebellion by relying upon the King of Egypt: Gods ſevere threatning of him, and his adherents for the ſame. And laſtly, concludes with Evangelical promiſes of Chriſt, and of the largeneſſe and benefits of his Kingdome.

V. 2. Put forth a riddle] Or, parable; or a figurative ſpeech, repreſenting one thing by another, with a convenient correſpondency.

the houſe of Iſrael] Principally is here meant the Kingdom of Judah.

V. 3. A great Eagle] That is, Nebuchadnezzar, Jer.48.

40. & 49.22. who hath great power, riches; and many Countries under him, ſhall come to Jeruſalem, and take away Jeconiah the King, as ver.12.

divers Colours] Heb. embroidering. Hereby is meant Nebuchadnezzars Empire over many Nations of divers cuſtomes, and languages; or his Army compoſed of ſeveral ſorts of people.

unto Lebanon] To Judea, which is oftentimes likened to a wood of excellent trees.

higheſt branch] Namely Jehojachin, led into captivity, 2 King.24.12.

V. 4. He cropt off] Hereby is ſignified the captivity of the chief of the Kingdome, led away with Jehojachin, ver. 12.

merchants] Or, traffick. He meaneth Babylon, famous for merchandiſe and traffick.

V. 5. of the ſeed] Seed-Royal; namely, Zedekiah, the uncle of Jeconiah, who was of the blood-Royal. See Annotations upon ver.13.

planted it in a fruitful field] Heb. put it in a field of ſeed; to wit, in the Kingdome of Judea, not yet made deſolate, where Zedekiah was made King inſtead of Jeconiah, 2 King. 24.17. Ier.37.1. and might have maintained himſelf, and grown proſperouſly.

and ſet it as a willow-tree] Or, with moſt curious circumſpection; that is, with all cautions and conditions, oath and pledges, to make firm the Covenant between him, that is, Nebuchadnezzar, and Zedekiah. See ver.13,14.

V. 6. And it grew] Zedekiah proſpered while he was faithful to the Chaldeans.

of low ſtature] ſignifying that he was but a Vaſſal, not Soveraign, nor abſolute; that he might not have power to rebel againſt Babylon; as ver.14.

whoſe branches] Being a dependant, and ſubject to Nebuchadnezzar.

the roots] That is, he ſtayed in his own countrey, and was not tranſported into any other place; and the State remained in its ancient form and ſeat: onely the Kings power was diminiſhed, and ſubjected to the King of Babylon.

brought forth branches] Zedekiah begat and brought up Children, Jer.52.10.

V. 7. another great Eagle] Namely, the King of Egypt, who was alſo a mighty King, with whom Zedekiah joyned himſelf againſt Nebuchadnezzar, verſ. 15, 17. 2 King. 24.20. Jer. 52.3.

This Vine] King Zedekiah.

her roots] By ſecret embaſſies, ver.15.

water it] That is, uphold and relieve him with his forces, againſt the Chaldeans. See Jer.37.7.

the furrowes] He alludeth to the Channels and pipes wherewith the Egyptians conveyed the waters of Nilus to their Land. See Deut.11.10.

V. 8. it was planted] There was no cauſe for Zedekiah to rebel, and fly to Egypt for ſuccour; for he proſpered well under the Babylonian; as ver.6. Or, though it were very likely that Zedekiah and Judah, by this league with Egypt, might have maintained and bettered himſelf, and rid himſelf from ſubjection to Nebuchadnezzar; thinking to be moyſtened, by the waters of Nylus; (thence to get Chariots and horſes to keep them from Babylon) yet in vain did they reſiſt one ſet up a Conquerour for their ſins, when they daily more and more provoked God againſt them.

V. 9. Shall he not pull] Shall not Nebuchadnezzar the great Eagle deſtroy it? ver.3.

without great power] He ſhall not need a great Army to ſubdue King Zedekiah, for God will deliver him into his hand for violating his oath. The King Nebuchadnezzar himſelf was not there with all his Army; but his Princes took Jeruſalem, and brought Zedekiah to the King to Riblah, Jer. 37.7,8,9,10. & 52.7,8,9.

V. 10. Eaſt-wind] Eaſt wind is hurtful to vines, Jonah 4. 8. By this tempeſtuous and ſcorching wind, is meant Gods Judgments executed by the means of the Chaldeans, chap.19. 12. Hoſ.13.15.

furrowes] Notwithſtanding Egypts aſſiſtance and relief.

V. 12. The King thereof] That is, Jehojachin, ver. 2, 3. 2 King.24.12,15. who was called Jeconiah, 1 Chr.3.16. and Coniah, Ier.22.24. & 37.1.

V. 13. of the Kings ſeed] To wit, Mattaniah, whoſe name was changed to Zedekiah, 2 King. 24.17. who was ſon to King Joſiah, 1 Chr.3.15, yet he is called ſon to Jeconiah, 1 Chr.3.16 not by nature, for he was uncle; but ſon, by ſucceſſion in the Kingdome: alſo Zedekiah is called Jeconiahs brother, 2 Chr.36.10. by general term of kindred.

taken an oath of him] Heb. brought him to an oath, ver. 16. 2 Chr.36.13. for his ſubjection and obedience.

the mighty of the Land] That is, he hath carried them away with him, to weaken the Kingdome, and for to have hoſtages by him.

V. 14. But that by keeping of his Covenant, it might ſtand] Heb. to keep his Covenant, to ſtand to it.

V. 16. But he rebelled] 2 King.24.20.

horſes] Iſa.31.1,3.

V. 16. in the midſt of Babylon he ſhall dye] Ier.32.5. & 34.3 Chap.12.13.

V. 17. Make for him] He ſhall do Zedekiah no good, who was ſtraitly beſieged by Nebuchadnezzar, Ier.37.5,7,8.

by caſting up mounts] Chap.4.2. Ier.52.4.

V. 18. He had given his hand] Becauſe he took the name of God in vain, and brake his oath, which he had confirmed by giving his hand, therefore the Prophet declareth, that God would not ſuffer ſuch perjury and infidelity to eſcape puniſhment. See Ier.50.15. Job 17.3.

V. 19. Mine oath] Namely, the puniſhment for breaking the oath he had made in my name. God calls it his oath, though made to an Heathen King. See Joſh. 9. 19. 2 Sam. 21.1.

V. 20. I will ſpread my net upon him] Chap.12.13. & 32.3.

V. 21. and all his fugitives] Chap.12.14. which fled with him, Ier.39.4.

They that remain] As we ſee in Gedaliah, Johanan, and thoſe that fled into Egypt, Ier.41,42,43,44. Chapters.

V. 22. I will alſo take] Promiſes of reſtoring and enlarging of the Church in Chriſt. This begun to be put in execution in Zerubbabel, who was of the blood-Royal, and brought the people out of Babylon; but the perfect accompliſhment is in Chriſt, the everlaſting King, and Son of David, Iſa. 11.1.

a tender one] Hereby are meant Chriſts weak beginnings in his humane nature, who was deſcended from the ancient ſtock of the Kings of Judah.

And will plant it upon a high mountain] That is, God would ſet this King upon his holy hill of Sion, Pſal. 2. 6. and over his Church.

V. 23. of the height of Iſrael] Namely, in my Church, which ſpiritually is higher then any worldly height, Chap. 20. 40. Iſa.2.2,3. Mic.4.1.

and under it] The Iſraelites, and all the Tribes, and ſpiritually the Elect of all Countries, both Jewes and Gentiles; ſhall come under the Meſſias, to ſhelter themſelves from all evils, Iſa.66.23.

V. 24. All the trees] All the great ones of the world ſhall know, that I have plucked down the proud enemies; and ſet up my Church, which was low and contemned. So it came to paſſe by Gods ordering, that Babylon was overthrown by Cyrus; and the ſpiritual kingdome of the Devil by Chriſt; that the Jewiſh people were returned from Captivity, and the Elect from their ſpiritual bondage into the liberty of the ſons of God.

CHAP. XVIII.

Verſ. 1. AND the word] The Prophet ſharply reproves, and ſtrongly refutes, a wicked proverb uſed in Iſrael, impeaching the juſtice of God, in his judgments; and ſeriouſly calls them to repentance; with aſſurance of life and ſafety thereupon.

V. 2. The fathers have eaten] That is, have ſinned, and the Children have ſuffered for it; as the ſins of Manaſſeh are remembred upon Judah; and the ſins of Jeroboam upon the ten Tribes. See Lam.5.7. See more, Ier.31.29.

V. 3. any more] Since you make my patience an argument whereupon to taxe my Judgments, I will hereafter bring them preſently upon him that ſinneth; and lay open your iniquities, like unto the iniquities of your fore-fathers, for which I have heretofore puniſhed them.

V. 4. All ſoules are mine] I am equally God, and Judge of all, not accepting of perſons; and if I do delay my general puniſhments, it is out of my ſuperabundant goodneſſe; and if the children do bear the iniquities of their fathers, it is to terrifie the fathers the more from ſinning; and yet done according to juſtice: The children imitating their fathers in ſinning, and having ſufficient and abundant cauſe in themſelves for the puniſhment; elſe in no wiſe ſhould they dye; But ſeeing ſuch ill uſe is made of my delaying, and putting off my judgements, as I have formerly done in your fathers times, I ſhall hereafter leſſe uſe it, and make ſpeedy demonſtration of my juſtice, by my deeds; to cleer it the more from theſe wicked aſperſions.

V. 5. That which is lawfull and right] Heb. Judgement and Juſtice.

V. 6. hath not eaten] Namely, of the idols ſacrifices, whoſe ſervice was done upon hills and mountains, Ezek.22.9. See Deut.32.38. Pſal.16.4. & 106.28. 1 Cor. 8,1,4,7,10,13. & 10,19,20,21.

to lift up his eyes] To pray to them, or make worſhip to them, Pſal.123.1,2. but doth deteſt them rather.

defiled his neighbours wife] Lev.18.20. & 20.10. by adultery.

To a menſtruous woman] Lev.18.19. & 20.18.

V. 7. And hath not oppreſſed any] Exod.22.21. Lev. 19.15. & 25.14,17.

pledge] Exod.22.26. Deut.24.12.

hath given his bread to the hungry] Deut. 15. 7. Iſa. 58.7. Mat.25.35.

V. 8. upon uſury] Exod.22.25.Lev.25.36,37. Deut.23.19, 20. Pſal.15.5. uſury, and increaſe: the firſt word in Hebrew properly ſignifieth biting, from the effect, becauſe it doth bite or eat out a mans eſtate; the latter word ſignifieth multiplication, or increaſe; in Greek it is τόκος, Mat.25.27. Luk. 19.23. a birth, becauſe hereby money begetteth money, as Ariſt. ſhewes, in Polit. book 1. Chap. 7. Thus money was not to be lent to the poor, Exod. 22. 25. Levit. 25. 35, 36, 37.

V. 10. That doth the like to any one of theſe] Or, that doth to his brother beſides any of theſe; or, any one of theſe; in verſ.9.

V. 11. and that doth not any of thoſe] Or, though he hath not done any of theſe things: hath not done all the good deeds ſet down before, ver.7,8,9.

even] Or, either.

and defiled] Or, defiled.

V. 12. hath oppreſſed] Or, or hath oppreſſed. And ſo in the clauſes following, in this and in the next verſe.

all theſe abominations] Or, any.

he ſhall ſurely dye] He ſheweth how the ſon is puniſhed for his fathers fault; that is, if he be wicked as his fathers was, and doth not repent, he ſhall be puniſhed as his fathers was; or elſe not.

his bloud] Or, his bloods. He ſhall ſuffer capital puniſhment for his own ſin, and he ſhall be the cauſe of his own death, Lev.20.9.Act.18.6.

V. 16. Hath not with-holden the pledge] Heb. hath not pledged the pledge, or, taken to pledge.

V. 17. Hath taken off] That is, keeps himſelf from wronging or oppreſſing, though he might have ſome reaſon to do it.

V. 19. Yet ſay ye, Why? doth not the ſon] He ſheweth that thoſe profane men contending with the Prophets did ſeek ſtill to urge and preſs on that proverb; and haply to catch them, and make them confeſs, that either Gods judgments were not juſt, in puniſhing the child for the fathers ſins, or at leaſt that the Prophets limitations and expoſitions, were contrary to Gods law, Exod. 20.5.Deut.5.9. Thus the wicked perſiſt in their blaſphemies, and will not be beaten off from them.

when the ſon]. God again avowes his juſt dealing in his judgments againſt their blaſphemy, as if he ſhould ſay, The meaning of my law is, that I will puniſh the ſins of the father upon the children, in caſe that they follow their fathers examples, which I do often ſuffer to fall out ſo, through my ſecret judgment; and if through my ſpecial grace I do ſanctifie them, ſo that they do not follow their fathers ſteps, they ſhall alſo be exempted from their fathers puniſhment.

V. 20. The ſon ſhall not bear] Deut. 24. 16. 2 King.14.6. 2 Chr.25.4.Jer.31.29.Namely, the innocent ſon which is by my ſpirit purged from his fathers wickedneſs: yet this is no general rule, in reſpect of the body and bodyly goods, in which God hath, and may, viſit and chaſtiſe the child for his fathers ſins, by temporal chaſtiſements. But this muſt principally be underſtood of the everlaſting puniſhment of ſoul and body.

the righteouſneſſe] That is, every one ſhall receive either a reward for his good workes, or puniſhment for his evil workes.

V. 21. But if the wicked] Chap 33.12.

my ſtatutes] He joyneth the obſervation of the Commandement with repentance: for none can repent indeed, except he labour to keep the law.

V.22. He ſhall live] He ſhall be delivered from the plagues and puniſhments of the wicked, and ſhall attain to everlaſting life; to which the true way and direction, is the pure converſion of a ſinner, and perſeverance.

V. 23. Have I any pleaſure at all] Ver.32.Chap.33.11. He ſpeaketh this to commend Gods mercy to poor ſinners; who rather is ready to pardon, then to puniſh, as his long ſuffering declareth.

V. 24. But when the righteous] Chap. 3. 20. and 33. 12, 13.

his righteouſneſſe that he hath done] That is, the falſe opinion that the hypocrites have of their righteouſneſs, ſhall not move God to ſpare them. See ver.22.

V. 25. Yet ye ſay] Or, in Heb. and will ye ſay? Will you yet dare to tax, either mine actions with injuſtice, or my words and my law with contradiction?

The way of the Lord is not equal] Chap.33.20. in puniſhing the father with the children.

are not your wayes unequal] All the injuſtice is in you who follow your fathers ways, and not in me: my law agreeth well with this doctrine, but your underſtanding is perverted.

V. 26. when a righteous man] This is the rule of my ſoveraign juſtice, that the death of every one ſhall be the puniſhment of his own proper ſin: as the order of my mercy is, to give a ſinner hope that he ſhall be reſtored by repentance. Both the one and the other is well enough known unto you, but that in this conteſtation, you fight againſt your own conſciences.

V. 29. Yet ſaith] The wicked, deſperate ſinners, will never make an end of cavelling and ſinning.

V. 30. Every one according to his wayes] And not for the ſins of their fathers, as you impute it to me.

ruine] Heb. a ſtumbling block; to cauſe the ruine, Jer. 5. 25.

V. 31. Make you a new heart] Chap.11.19.& 36.26.Jer.32. 39.Eph.4.22,23,24. 2 Cor. 5.17. Give way to the Spirit of Grace, to whom it properly belongeth to regenerate a man, who cannot do it of himſelf, Jer.13. 23. Ezek. 11, 19. and 36.26.

V. 32. I have no pleaſure in] Chap.33.11. 2 Pet.3.9.to the great comfort of poor penitent ſinners.

CHAP. XIX.

Verſ. 1. Moreover] This Chapter contains a Lamentation for Jehoachaz, and Jehojakim, Kings of Judah, under the parable of a Lyoneſs and her Whelps; and for the whole Kingdom and State of Iudah under the parable of a vine.

for the Princes of Iſrael] Namely for Jehoahaz, and Jehojakim; which indeed were rather Princes then Kings, as being under the Kings either of Egypt, or Babylon. And under the King of Babylon were alſo Jehojacin, and Zedekiah, the two laſt Kings of Judah.

V. 2. What is thy mother] Namely, the mother of the Kings, or the royal ſtock, or the nation of the Jewes?

ſhe lay down] Securely in former ages.

ſhe nouriſhed] Her ſelf brought up, and made her Kings; but not ſo now.

V.3. One of her whelps] Namely Jehoahaz, who was made King three moneths in Jeruſalem, 2 King.23.30,31.

it devoured men] Turned his regality and ſoveraignty, to inhumane cruelty, 2 King.23.32.

V. 4. He was taken in their pit] A term taken from the manner of hunting of Lyons. Pharaoh Necho carryed him to Egypt, and put him in chains, 2 King.23.33. Of him Ieremy told he ſhould return no more to his native country, but dy in Egypt, Ier. 22. 10, 11, 12. So it fell out, 2 King. 23.34.

Egypt] See 2 King. 23.34. Ier.22.11,12. the places afore cited.

V. 5. when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had waited] Namely Ieruſalem, when ſhe ſaw that there was no hope that Iehoahaz ſhould be reſtored.

another of her whelps] Namely, Iehojakim, appointed to be King, by the King of Egypt, 2 King. 23.34.

V. 6. He went up and down] This haply may relate to his various eſtate, between the King of Egypt, and the King of Babylon.

devoured men] As ver.3. ſee Ier.26.20,21,22,23.

V. 7. And he knew] That is Iehojakim viſited and ſpoyled the palaces of thoſe whom he did deſtroy, or in hoſtile manner ſlew with the ſword, ver.6.

their deſolate palaces] Or, their widows.

he laid waſte] 2 King.23.35,37.& 24.3,4. 2 Chr.36.8. Ier. 22.17,18.

noiſe of his roaring] By his cruel and tyrannical commands.

V. 8. The nations ſet againſt him] Nebuchadnezzar with his great army, which was gathered of divers nations, 2 King. 24.2.

V. 9. Into holds] Where it ſeems he dyed, being upon the way to Babylon; and his body was afterward thrown out upon a dunghil. See 2 Chron.36.6. Jer.22.18,19.

V. 10. Thy mother is like a vine] After thy tyranny was ceaſed, which was ſignified by the Lyons roaring, Ieruſalem ſeemed to flouriſh again, eſpecially under Zedekiah, who had many ſons fitting to ſucceed him in his Kingdom, and to prop him up; which is ſignified by the following terms: or elſe, this verſe, and the next, may relate to the flouriſhing ſtate of the Kingdom of Iudah, in former times and ages, for the majeſty of their Kings, largeneſs of dominion, multitude and wealth of ſubjects.

V. 12. But ſhe was plucked up] In ſuch manner, and by ſuch means, as were ſhewed in the former part of this Chapter.

V. 13. She is planted in the wilderneſſe] The whole body of the nation, is partly already, and the reſt ſhall be carryed away into Babylon within a ſhort while, to live there in extream miſery.

V. 14. Out of a rod of her branches] Namely, out of Jehojakim, or rather Zedekiah, who through his perfidiouſneſs, and rebellion againſt Nebuchadnezzar, ſhall be the cauſe of the laſt deſolation, 2 Chr. 36. 13. So that none of Judah's Kings were ſtrong, nor after ſhould be, till Chriſt came, to whom the Kingdom did belong.

And ſhall be for a lamentation] Not onely at the preſent time, but in after ages likewiſe: like that of Jeremies, in his book of Lamentations.

CHAP. XX.

V. 1. A*Nd it came to paſſe*] In this Chapter the Prophet reprehends certain elders of Iſrael, for their vile and baſe hypocriſie, pretending to ask counſel of God by him, and yet continuing in the abominations of their fore-fathers. Whereupon he recounts their rebellions and idolatries, againſt God, notwithſtanding his marvellous, and merciful good dealings with them: and all this, in Egypt, in the wilderneſs, and in the land of Canaan. He denounceth therefore grievous judgments againſt them, with promiſes of comfort to a repenting remnant. And laſtly, in the end of this Chapter under the type of a Foreſt, he denounceth extream deſolation unto Ieruſalem and Iudah.

In the ſeventh year] Of Jechoniah's Captivity, or Zedekiah's reign: that is two years, one moneth, and five dayes, ſince the beginning of Ezekiels propheſie, Chap. 1. 1, 2. And two years and five moneths before the ſiege began, Ier. 52. 4. and two years, ten moneths, and nine and twenty dayes, before the city was taken, Ier. 52. 5, 6.

Certain of the elders] See Chap. 8. 1. & 14. 1.

came] In diſſimulation and hypocriſie, ver. 31.

V. 3. Are ye come to inquire of me] In that true manner as I have appointed you, to deſire my favour, by the way of faith and repentance? with a mind willing to learn, and obey my Word? or rather with prejudicate opinions, and hearts ſettled upon your own wayes, whatſoever you ſhall hear from my Prophet? Ier. 42. Do ye not come to tempt me, having no other aym, but to get ſomething out of my Prophet, as may be pleaſing to you? Chap. 14. 3.

I will not be inquired of by you] Or, I will not anſwer you, or, you ſhall not find me.

V. 4. Wilt thou judge them?] Chap. 22. 2. & 23. 26. or, ſhouldeſt thou plead and intercede with me for them? Ier. 14. 11. They ſhould rather be roughly handled with checks, and comminations, Chap. 14. 3.

Cauſe them to know] This declareth his goodneſs and juſtice, which calleth ſinners to repentance, before he condemn them, though here he doth it with a kind of indignation.

The abominations of their fathers] Imitated, and increaſed by their children; who would not amend by the examples, nor the puniſhments of their fore-fathers. ver. 30.

V. 5. In the day when I] When as my people being in Egypt, I declared by effects, Exod. 3. &c. that I had choſen them to be mine. Deut. 10. 15. according to my promiſes made to their fore-fathers, Gen. 15. 14.

known unto them] Exod. 3. 8. & 4. 31.

V. 6. Eſpied for them] That is, appointed it for them by my decree, as the moſt excellent above all other Countries. and for the conqueſt of which, I had prepared all things in my ſecret counſel; as into which I had marched before mine ark, to give them a ſecure entrance into it. See Numb. 10. 33.

glory of all lands] Or, flower. A title of the land of Iſrael, or Canaan, ver. 15. Dan. 8. 9. & 11. 16. Pſal. 48. 2. So, by its natural qualities, and by Gods ſingular bleſſing upon it, and being made a Type of the heavenly Canaan.

V. 7. Said unto them] Theſe things are not ſpecified in ſo many words in Exodus, but may be gathered thence. Exod. 3. 12. & 5. 1. and are revealed by the Spirit to the Prophet; and do agree with what is written, Joſh. 5. 9.

abominations of his eyes] That is, the idols, to the ſpiritual deſiring of which, mans heart is induced by the eyes; delighted with the matter, or the form of them: and generally by all the outward ſenſes, ſeeing they could not apprehend any deity in them by the Spirit. See Numb. 15. 39. and to which they lifted up their eyes, Chap. 18. 6.

defile not your ſelves] God had forbidden them to make mention of the idols, Exod. 23. 13. Deut. 12. 3. Pſal. 16. 4. Hoſ. 2. 17.

Then I ſaid] Or, Though I ſaid, Exod. 5. 3.

V. 9. But I wrought for my names ſake] Ver. 14. and 22. I proceeded on in my delivering of them. God hath ever this reſpect to his glory, that he would not have his name evil ſpoken of among the Gentiles, for the puniſhment that his people deſerved; in confidence whereof the godly ever prayed; as Exod. 32. 12. Num. 14. 13. &c. Deut. 9. 28. Joſh. 7. 9. 1 Sam. 12. 22.

V. 14. Heathen] Who might thereby take an occaſion to blaſpheme my name, and to accuſe me of lack of ability; or elſe, that I had ſought a means to deſtroy them more commodiouſly.

V. 15. Given them] That is, had promiſed and reſolved to give them, if they had not made themſelves utterly unworthy of it. Numb. 14. 29. and 26. 65. 1 Cor. 10. 5, 6.

V. 16. Sabbaths] That is, my true religion (the publick worſhip being on the Sabbath) which I had commanded them: and gave themſelves to ſerve me according to their own fantaſies. See Iſa. 56. 4.

V. 18. Children] Whom I ſpared. Numb. 14. 31.

Not in the ſtatutes of your fathers] Whereby the holy Ghoſt confuteth them that ſay, they will follow the Religion and example of their fathers, and not meaſure their doings by Gods Word, whether they be approvable thereby or no. See Jer. 44. 17.

V. 20. A ſign between me and you] A ſacrament of an enterchangeable agreement; namely, that I ſhall ſanctify you by my ſpirit, cauſing you to ceaſe from your evil works; and you likewiſe ſhall be conformable to the working of my grace.

V. 21. The children] Verſ. 18.

V. 22. Nevertheleſs I withdrew] Pſal. 78. 38.

V. 23. I lifted up mine hand] Though I did forbear them for that time; yet I ſwore to them, that if they continued in their ſins, after I had performed my promiſes unto them, by bringing them into the promiſed Land, I would drive and ſcatter them out of it. See Verſ. 5.

and diſperſe them] After they ſhould be come into the land. See Levit. 26. 33. Jer. 15. 7.

V. 24. They had not] The children in the Wildernes had not executed my judgements; nor their poſterity after they were come into the land of Canaan.

Their fathers Idols] Meaning, that they ſet their delight upon them.

V. 25. I gave them alſo ſtatutes that were not good, and judgments whereby they ſhould not live] I gave them in the Wildernes decrees and ordinances, that were not good for them, but hurtful; and judgments that did ſentence them to death; as that to hang up the heads and chief of the people before the ſun; and for the Judges of Iſrael to ſlay every one his men that were joyned to Baal-Pehor, Num. 25. 4, 5. and that judgment for the death of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram, and the 250 Princes, and the 14700 murmurers, Num. 16. And as that ſentence and judgment was of the fiery ſerpents, Num. 21. Beſides that the Lord by his juſt judgment gave them up to themſelves, that they ſhould follow their own luſts, becauſe they would not obey his laws; as ver. 39. Pſal. 81. 12. Rom. 1. 21, 24.

V. 26. And I polluted them] So deemed them, uſed them, and dealt with them, and their gifts, as polluted things, caſt them from me as unclean things.

to paſſe through the fire] Ver. 31. Chap. 16. 21. Though Moſes expreſs not this particular, yet it is moſt likely it was done then when Iſrael joyned himſelf to Baal-Pehor, Num. 25. 3. See 2 King. 17. 17. and 21. 6. 2 Chron. 28. 3. and 33. 6.

That openeth the womb] That is, the firſt born, which ought to be ſanctified to the Lord, Exod. 13. 2.

V. 27. Yet in this] Seeing that I give thee Commiſſion to lay all their Fathers ſins open before them, ver. 4. add this to all the reſt, this their treſpaſs in the land of Canaan.

committed a treſpaſſe] Heb. treſpaſſed a treſpaſſe.

V. 28. For when I had] Not onely in the wilderneſs, when I brought them out of Egypt, but ſince I placed them in this land: which declareth how prompt mans heart is to Idolatry; ſeeing that by no admonitions he can be drawn back.

Then they ſaw] Iſa. 57. 5, 6.

the provocation of their offering] That is, their offering which was the object and provocation of my wrath.

V. 29. Then I ſaid unto them] Or, I told them what the high place was, or, Bamah: I did often admoniſh them by my Prophets, and reproved them for their Idolatry. See Chap. 23. 43.

what is the high place?] Do you not know ſufficiently, by the very name of high place, which at all times hath been infamous, as a place of idolatry, and unlawful worſhip, that all that is done there is abominable; as the very name of a brothel is ſufficient to make any honeſt woman to fly the converſation and neighbourhood of it.

Bamah] Which ſignifieth an high place, ſo that for all that it was ſo odious to God, yet they continued it, and the Name of it, declaring thereby that they vaunted themſelves of their idolatry, and were not aſhamed thereof.

V. 30. Wherefore ſay] Seeing that reproving of the fathers ſins, ought to ſerve for a correction to the children which follow them; which thing yet they neglect; therefore tell them that I reject all their falſe ſhews of piety, which they make in ſeeking after my word, ver. 3.

V. 31. For when ye offer] Ver. 26.

ſhall I be inquired of] Ver. 3. He ſheweth that the ingratitude of the people deſerved, that God ſhould cut them off, and that they ſhould not have the comfort of his Word; that he would not henceforth ſuffer them, in this baſe and treacherous way, of ſuch groſs hypocriſie, to have any thing to do with him, or his Prophets; or ſo much as to pretend any thing thereunto, ver. 37.

V. 32. And that which cometh] Your projects and purpoſes ſhall not take place.

we will be as the Heathen] Idolatours as they; and ſo we ſhall proſper as they do, Jer. 44. 17.

V. 33. I will rule over you] I will ſhew my ſelf a King, and exerciſe my power over you in puniſhment, as over rebellious and diſloyal ſubjects; ſeeing you have not accepted of my government in due obedience: And I will not ſuffer in you, that are bound unto me by duty and obedience, the excuſes which I wink at in other nations, ſtrangers to my Covenant. See Hoſ. 9. 1. Amos 3 2.

V. 34. I will bring you out] I will not let you live at eaſe in the idolatrous countries, where you had ſheltered your ſelvs, See Jer. 40. 11, 12. & 43. 7. & 44. 1, 7, 8, 11, &c.

V. 35. I will bring you into] I will drive you into the moſt ſolitary and ſavage places of the world, for a fulneſs of miſery, ver. 38.

there will I plead with you] Execute my revenge; and yet ſo, as followes, ver. 37.

V. 37. I will cauſe you to paſſe] Even as a ſhepherd maketh his ſheep to paſſe one by one when they come out of the ſheepcot, and marketh them diſtinctly with his rod, to diſtinguiſh them from other, Lev. 27. 32. So I will ſever thoſe that are rebellious from among you, to puniſh them; and ſhew favour to the other, Ezek. 34. 17. Mat. 25. 32, 33.

I will bring you into] Will conſtrain you to acknowledge me for your God and King by thoſe puniſhments, the threatnings whereof I have joyned to my Covenant: by which I will chain you up like wild beaſts, and will tame your ſtubborneſſe.

V. 38. I will purge out from among] Signifying that he will not burn the Corn with the chaffe; but chooſe out the wicked to puniſh them, when he will ſpare his.

I will bring them forth] As ver. 35.

they ſhall not enter] Jer. 44. 14.

V. 39. Go ye] I do caſt you off quite, and give you over to all manner of wickedneſſe; that my name which you make profeſſion of worſhipping, may be no more profaned by your hypocriſie, nor be expoſed to the ſcorn of mine enemies.

V. 49. They ſay of me] Theſe prophane people do ſcoff at my propheſies, which thou doſt dictate to me, in allegorical and enigmatical terms, as if they were dreams and imaginations.

CHAP. XXI.

Verſ. 1. AND the word of the Lord] Ezekiel again doth propheſie and fore-tel againſt Jeruſalem, and the land of Iſrael, the ſword of the Chaldean: is commanded to ſigh at the grievouſneſs of it. And upon further declaration of the ſharp terrors of it, he is commanded to ſmite upon his thigh for ſorrow. After, by command, he ſmites his hands togeher; and God himſelf doth ſo, to hearten on the Chaldean to ſlaughter. He fore-telleth the manner of the King of Babylons conſulting about his coming againſt Jeruſalem; the overthrow of it, and of the King thereof. And laſtly, he propheſieth the deſtruction of the Ammonites.

V. 2. ſet thy face toward Jeruſalem] Seeing it is ſo, prophecie the ſame things in plain and proper terms.

the holy places] Namely, againſt the Temple, and the buildings adjoyning to it; which were not to be ſpared in this general deſolation. See Jer. 7. 14. Ezek. 9. 6.

V. 3. my ſword] The Chaldeans.

the righteous and the wicked] Chap. 20. 47. Righteous, here, may ſignifie thoſe leſs wicked then the others: for all were naught, Chap. 22. 18. Jer. 3. 8.

V. 5. it ſhall not return] Until it hath performed all its execution, Chap. 20. 47.

V. 6. the breaking of my loynes] Doing like a woman that travelleth, bowing and wringing her ſelf. See Eſay 16. 11. & 21. 3. Jer. 4. 19.

V. 7. for the tidings] Becauſe of the great noiſe of the coming of the army of the Chaldeans, which I ſee approaching to Jeruſalem to deſtroy it, as I have fore-told.

ſhall be weak as water] Heb. ſhall go into water.

V. 9. a ſword, a ſword is ſharpned] Deut. 32. 41. My judgment is ready to be put in execution; the inſtruments fully prepared.

V. 10. that it may glitter] That it may terrifie, and affright with the brighneſs of it, Job 20. 25.

ſhould we then make mirth] Can one do any thing but lament, as I do?

it contemneth the rod of my ſon, as every tree] Or, it is the rod of my ſon, it diſpiſeth every tree. Heb. the rod of my ſon contemning every tree. That is, the rod appointed by me to chaſtiſe my people, which is dear to me as a ſon, is now become a ſword; and ſo being uſed againſt ſuch a wicked people, it contemns all reſiſtance. Or thus, this ſword contemns, diſpiſeth, ſlights, as a ſmall matter, my other rods wherewith I chaſtiſed my children, or any rod that could be made of any tree or wood: this being a ſword far ſurpaſſing them. And ſhould we then make mirth? The meaning then is to this effect, Thou Nation, hardned againſt all fatherly puniſhments, as an evil child is againſt a rod, thou ſhalt now be puniſhed by the ſword. In the Hebrew text, there is an alluſion, between a rod or ſtaff, and tribe: The meaning whereof, is, Whileſt thine afflictions are moderate, as from rod to rod, thou doſt contemn them; but this ſhall be, as from rod to ſword, which thou ſhalt not be able to endure, nor withſtand.

V. 11. The hand of the ſlayer] To the King of Babylon, who is the executioner of Gods judgments.

V. 12. terrors by reaſon of the ſword] Or, they are thruſt down to the ſword with my people.

ſmite therefore upon thy thigh] Jerem. 31. 19. Deviſe all the actions of a grieved and moaning perſon.

V. 13. becauſe it is a trial, and what if the ſword contemn even the rod] Or, When the trial hath been, what then? Shall they not alſo belong to the deſpiſing rod? I am almoſt forced to come to the extremity of puniſhment; for all chaſtiſements, to try to bring them to repentance, would be vain, Iſa. 1. 5. Jer. 6. 28, 29, 30. Or, as if God had ſaid; Becauſe I have tried Judah with two captivities, and they are not bettered, therefore they are worthy to be further puniſhed with famine, peſtilence, ſword, and the burning of Temple and City; and Nebuchadnezzar, ſet up a Conquerour by me for their ſins, ſhall be the rod they ſhall not reſiſt.

V. 14. ſmite thine hands together] Heb. hand to hand, Either in token of extream ſorrow, Ezek. 6. 11. or, in an holy ſpleen and rage againſt them for their ſins, in that manner to animate the Chaldean to take revenge upon them. See verſ. 17.

the third time] The Chaldeans forces came three times againſt Jeruſalem after this propheſie; firſt time, when the City was taken in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, fourth moneth, nineth day. 2 When Nebuzaradan came in the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar, fifth moneth, ſeventh day. 3 when Nebuzaradan came in twenty third year of Nebuchadnezzar, when Gedaliah was ſlain, &c. 2 King. 25. 1, 2, 3, 8. Jer. 52. 5, 6, 12, 30.

the ſword of the ſlain] By which there ſhall be a great ſlaughter in Jeruſalem, not onely of mean people, but of Princes and great ones alſo; and the King himſelf being overcome by this ſword, ſhall dye in captivity.

V. 15. I have ſet the point of the ſword againſt all their gates] Or, glittering, or, fear. I have cauſed their cities to be furiouſly beſieged, and ſet upon.

wrapt up for the ſlaughter] Or, ſharpened.

V. 16. Go thee one way or other] Heb. unite thy ſelf, &c. In which words, by Apoſtrophe, God ſpeaketh to the ſword, comparing it to a ſouldier, becauſe he commands it to unite it ſelf, to wit, with fellow-ſouldiers, to invade, with joyned forces, all parts of the land of Judah, and to oppoſe the Jews, whether they turn to the right hand or the left. Or, it is an expreſſion of the permiſſion which God gave the Chaldeans, to rout out at their pleaſure.

V. 17. I will alſo ſmite] As I have commanded thee Ezekiel, to ſmite thy hands, verſ. 14. ſo will I likewiſe ſmite mine, in ſign of joy that I have vented my wrath, and ſatisfied my juſtice. See Deut. 28. 62. Iſa. 1. 24. Ezek. 5. 13. & 16. 42.

V. 19. appoint thee two wayes] God comands the Prophet to draw out two wayes upon a tyle; as Chap. 4. 1, 2. the one leading to Rabbah, the royal city of the Ammonites; the other to Jeruſalem, v. 22. And becauſe the king of Babel was purpoſed to go againſt both the Prophets choice of, or pointing the ſide to which the King ſhould turn at the head of the way, (or croſſing of the road,) ſheweth his army ſhould take the way to Jeruſalem. The meaning then is, draw out in prophetick action, upon a tile, or upon the ground, two wayes, coming both from one plain place, to repreſent Nebuchadnezzars deliberation, where he had gathered his army, whether he ſhould go againſt Jeruſalem, or againſt the land of the Ammonites.

Chooſe thou a place] To make a muſtering place to muſter the Army in.

the head of the way] At the croſſing of a road way; ſuch as thoſe high-wayes were which led to great Cities.

to the City] Jeruſalem.

Jeruſalem the defenced] The fortified Jeruſalem.

V. 21. for the King of Babylon] Thus he ſhewes the meaning of the Type.

At the parting of the way] Heb. mother of the way. To know whether he ſhould go againſt the Ammonites, or them of Jeruſalem.

to uſe divination] According to the cuſtome of the Heathens in deliberations of any importance.

his arrows] Or, knives; likely to ſlay the multitude of his ſacrifices; as were uſual in divinations, Numb. 23. 1, 2, 14, 29.

images] Heb. teraphim.

he looked in the Liver] This was a kinde of divination, by the ſhape, colour, poſture, &c. of entrals of ſacrificed beaſts, and eſpecially of the Liver.

V. 22. At his right hand] They uſed lots, alſo in their divinations; as Eſther 3. 7. & 9. 26, 28, 92, 31, 32. And the lot which had Jeruſalem on it, came to the right hand; and likely the way, on the right hand, led to Jeruſalem.

to appoint Captains] The lots, and all his divinations, ſhewed, that he was throughly to prepare all things needful for the ſtrait ſiege and war againſt Jeruſalem: wherein he ſhould proſper and obtain a glorious victory.

to open the mouth in the ſlaughter] That he ſhould take it by aſſault, with ſhouts and cryes, uſed in ſuch actions, and with a general ſlaughter of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem.

V. 23. And it ſhall be to them as a falſe divination] The Jewes, who had oftentimes before broken, and renewed their Covenants with the Chaldeans, without falling into final ruine, ſhall think that the buſineſſe will paſſe ſo for this time alſo; and that Nebuchadnezzars enterpriſe will come to nothing, and thereupon they will charge and ſcorn thee as a falſe diviner, and as one that ſeeks to betray them into Nebuchadnezzars hands; but care not for it: thereby they ſhall not hurt thee, but themſelves.

To them that have ſworn oathes] Or, for the oathes made unto them; and are ſo often forſworn and perjured: and mind ſtill to go on in their perfidious treachery.

but he will call to remembrance] Nebuchadnezzar will at this time pay them for their former treacheries: And this very act of theirs againſt thee, ſhall conduce to the ſame end, Exod. 32. 34.

V. 24. Ye have made your iniquity to be remembred] Through your wickedneſſe and impiety which you make open profeſſion of; even by this your ſcorning of my Prophet, and ſlighting of your oathes, you give cauſe, firſt to me, whoſe name hath been uſed in your oathes, and next the King of Babylon, to puniſh you at once for your perjuries, and reiterated rebellions.

ye ſhall be taken with the hand] Of the Babylonian, ver. 9.

V. 25. wicked Prince of Iſrael] Namely, Zedekiah; who practiſed with the Egyptians to make himſelf high, and able to reſiſt the Babylonians. He ſpeaketh to him in Gods name, and ſentenceth him by his authority; and ſo omitting any honourable compellation, he ſlights him, as his ſin deſerved. So, 1 Sam. 13. 13. 1 King. 18. 18. 2 King. 3. 13, 14.

whoſe day is come] To wit, of thy juſt puniſhment.

V. 26. remove the Diadem] The royal ornaments.

this ſhall not be the ſame] The kingdome of Judah ſhall no more be that triumphant kingdome, which it was at other times.

exalt him that is low] This ſeems to relate to Jehojachin, now a priſoner; and afterward ſet at liberty, and exalted, 2 King. 24. 12. & 25. 27, 28, 30. Ier. 52. 31.

abaſe him that is high] Zedekiah. See his abaſement, 2 King. 25. 7.

V. 27. I will overturn, overturn, overturn it] Heb. perverted, perverted, perverted will I make it.

untill he come] The Kingdom of Judah ſhall never be reſtored to its former luſtre, (for after the return it was but very mean, and full of troubles and miſeries, as the books of Ezra, Nehemy, and Eſther, and the 11. Chapter of Daniel, and the hiſtory of the Maccabees do declare.) until the Meſſiah come, to whom by right it belongeth, as Davids Succeſſor according to the fleſh, and eſtabliſhed by God to be King over his Church, who ſhall alter it into a ſpiritual and everlaſting kingdome. See Gen. 49. 10. Luk. 1. 32, 33. To this place of Ezekiel Nathaneel ſeems to have reſpect, Joh. 1. 49. acknowledging him come, to whom the Kingdome did belong.

V. 28. Thus ſaith the Lord God concerning the Ammonites] This Prophecy againſt the Ammonites is inſerted here, by occaſion of thoſe words, ver. 20, 21. Their fuller hiſtory, and Gods Judgments againſt them, are ſet down, Chap. 25. 1—7. Though this expedition of Nebuchadnezzar proved, not to fall out againſt them; yet ſhortly after he ſhould deſtroy them; as is moſt likely, in the three and twenty year of his reign, when Iſhmael ſent by Baalis King of the Ammonites had ſlain Gedaliah, and the Chaldeans that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah; and after returned to the Ammonites again, Ier. 40. 14. & 41. 2, 3, 10, 15. & 52. 30. Of Gods judgments againſt the Ammonites,ſee more, Jer.49.1——7.Amos 1.13,14,15. Zeph.2. 7,8.

concerning their reproach] Namely , the wrongs and outrages offered unto my people, and their inſulting over them, Chap.25.3,6. Zeph.2.8,9.

V. 29. whileſt they ſee vanity] Whileſt thy Diviners and Soothſayers do foretel thee all manner of happineſſe and ſecurity ; perſwading thee that thou ſhalt trample upon the Jewes necks,which are ſlain for their ſins ; and that no harm ſhall come to thee.

the necks of them that are ſlain] Inſulting over the dead carcaſſes of the Jewes.

their iniquity] Ver.25.

V. 30. Shall I cauſe it to return?] Or, cauſe it to return; inſult over them no more.

in the place] O ye Ammonites, I will not ſcatter you into ſtrange lands,as I have done my people, but will deſtroy you in your own land.

V. 31. I will blow againſt thee] I will light and kindle it ; as Chap.20.47.

brutiſh] Or, burning men; the Chaldeans burning in wrath againſt thee.

V. 32. thy bloud ſhall be in the midſt of the land] All thy Countrey ſhall be overflown with bloud.

CHAP. XXII.

Verſ. 1. M*Oreover*] This Chapter contains a Catalogue of ſins in Jeruſalem, and of Gods judgments following thereupon : And that in Jeruſalem he will melt them, as droſs in a furnace. After more particularly, the Prophet from God chargeth upon her the ſins of her Prophets ; of her Prieſts ; of her Princes ; of her People : And not a man ſeeking to ſtop Gods anger againſt them.

V. 2. wilt thou judge] Or, plead for, Chap.20.4. & 23. 36. art thou ready to execute thy charge which I commit unto thee againſt Jeruſalem, that murdereth the Prophets, and them that are godly ?

bloudy City] Heb. City of blouds, Chap. 24. 6,9. Nah. 3. 1. Abak.2.12.

yea,thou ſhalt ſhew her] Or, wilt thou ſhew her. Heb. make her know.

V. 3. That her time may come] The time of her deſtruction.

againſt her ſelf] To her own undoing.

V. 4. Thou haſt ſhed] 2 King. 21. 16. & 24.4. Ier. 26.21, 22, 23.

reproach] As was threatned in the Law, Deut.28.37.

V. 5. infamous, and much vexed] Heb. polluted of name, much in vexation : whoſe very name all men hate ; that ſhall be famous for the greateſt deſolation that ever befell any City.

V. 6. power] Or, arm ; lending alſo the arm of their authority unto others, for the ſhedding of blood.

V. 7. In thee] Hereby he meaneth,that there was no kind of wickedneſſe which was not committed in Jeruſalem , and therefore the plagues of God ſhould ſpeedily come upon her.

V. 9. men that carry tales] Heb. men of ſlanders, Exod.23.1. Lev.18.16.

Thou haſt greedily gained] Againſt Gods Lawes, Exod. 22. 25. Lev.25.36. Deut.23.19.

V. 13. I have ſmitten mine hand] Chap.21.14,17. in token of my wrath and vengeance. A ſign, either of great joy ; or of extream ſorrow and anger : as in this place.

V. 14. Can thine heart endure] Wilt thou have Courage and ſtrength enough to withſtand my judgments ? or be able to defend thy ſelf ? thine heart, how hard ſoever, cannot bear it out.

V. 15. I will ſcatter thee] Deut.4.27. & 28.25,64.

and will conſume] Thy filth of ſin, and filthy ſinners out of thee ; cauſe thee to periſh, that thou mayeſt no more provoke me by thy enormities, Chap.23.27,48. Or, I will take away the occaſion of thy wickedneſſe.

V.16. And,&c.]Thou ſhalt be no more the inheritance of the Lord,but forſaken ; or, Heb, and thou ſhalt be profaned, and defiled ; that is to ſay, filled with bloud, deſolated , not regarded as a holy City ; but like a wicked place, which God hath caſt off, and abandoned.

V. 18. become droſſe] Iſa.1.22. Ier.6.29,30. it is quite degenerate, like to good ſilver turned to droſſe.

droſſe] Heb. droſſes.

V. 19. midſt of Jeruſalem] As in a furnace , Chap. 24. 10.

V. 24. Say unto her] Namely, to the Jewiſh Nation, or to Jeruſalem.

not cleanſed] The fire of my judgements hath not cleanſed thee from thy filthineſſe, and there is nothing ſound , nor good in thee ; therefore I will lay a moſt extream burthen upon thee , and uſe no clemency at all towards thee,Chap. 24.6. See Ier.4.11. & 6.28,29.30. & 24.8.

nor rained upon in the day of indignation] Not eaſed or holpen with any ſhowre of rain, to quench and allay the flame and fire of my indignation.

V. 25. There is a Conſpiracy] All this may have relation to the perſecutions which the falſe Prophets by plots and conſpiracies uſed againſt good men. See Ier.20.2. & 26. 8,20. & 29.25,26. Lam.4.13.

They have devoured ſoules] Chap.13.18. Mat.23.14.

CHAP. XXIII.

Verſ. 1. T*He word of the Lord*] This Chapter under the names of Aholah,and Aholibah, two ſiſters,ſets down the ſpiritual whoredomes of Samaria , and Jeruſalem. How Aholah played the harlot with the Aſſyrian,and formerly with the Egyptian ; and was therefore delivered into the hands of the Aſſyrian,to execute judgments upon her. How Aholibah, notwithſtanding plaid the whore more then her ſiſter,and doted upon the Aſſyrian, and the Chaldean, and not forgetting the Egyptian ; and therefore is ſhe alſo delivered up into the hands of her lovers, the Chaldean and others with them , for ſorer Judgments. And afterwards it joyns them both together,in ſins,and in puniſhments.

V. 2. Two women] Meaning Iſrael and Judah, divided into two Kingdomes; both came out of one family.See Ier.3.7, 8,10.Ezek.16.44,45.

V.3. And they committed whoredomes] Lev.17.7. Joſh.24. 14.Ezek.20.8.ſpiritually,by idolatry.

There were their breaſts preſſed] A figurative deſcription of the peoples firſt going aſtray after idols.

V.4. Aholah the elder] Theſe ſeem names framed and fitted to the preſent purpoſe in hand.Aholah ſignifieth a manſion,or dwelling in her ſelf,meaning Samaria, which was the head city of the ten Tribes,Iſa.7.9.who having forſaken the Temple of God,had eſtabliſhed a Worſhip of God according to their own minds,1 King.12.16,28,31. and Aholibah ſignifieth my manſion in her , whereby is meant Jeruſalem,where Gods temple was, in which the pure worſhip of God remained,2 Chr.13:10,11.

and they were mine] Chap.16.8,20.

V. 14. Increaſed] Not ſatisfied and content with the Aſſyrians.

men pourtrayed upon the wall] A deſcription of unbridled luſt; like a woman that ſhould fall in love with ſtrangers that are abſent, only by ſeeing their pictures, and ſhould ſend to ſeek after them into far Countries.

V. 16. And as ſoon as ſhe ſaw them with her eyes] Heb. at the ſight of her eyes.

ſent meſſengers] Likely in Hezekiah's time. And partly thereupon that judgment ſeems threatned, 2 King. 20.17,18. Eſay 39.6,7. and afterwards in the times of Manaſſeh, and the ſucceeding Kings.

V. 17. Babylonians] Heb. children of Babel.

her mind was alienated from them] Heb. looſed, or, diſjointed. So Jer. 6.8. and often here in this Chapter. The meaning is, the Jews had broke the league which they had made with the Chaldeans, to joyn with the Egyptians, their enemies and emulators, 2 King. 24.1,20.

V. 20. Their paramours] Heb. concubines. By the Egyptians concubines or paramours are to be underſtood the neighbouring nations, adhering to them, and imitating their idolatry. And ſo likewiſe did Aholibah.

whoſe fleſh is as the fleſh of aſſes] Chap. 16.26. Theſe are terms taken from the ſhameleſs luſts of unchaſte women, and do ſhew the ſtrength and riches of Egypt, which moved the Jews to make a league with them.

V. 21. Thou calledſt to remembrance] Repeating thy firſt lewdneſs, ver. 3. which yet was then more excuſable, then now it is: becauſe when thou waſt in thy ſpiritual Childhood, thou hadſt but ſmall knowledge and experience of my pure worſhip; which thou canſt not now pretend, being fully inſtructed in it: as a young maid, if ſhe were ſeduced, might partly be excuſed for her ſimplicity, which a marryed woman which is of full age can not plead.

V. 22. Behold I will raiſe] Chap. 16.37.

V. 23. Pekod, and Shoa] Names of ſome people of Aſia, which were ſubjects to Nebuchadnezzar, of which his army was alſo compoſed, Jer. 50.21.

V. 24. with charets, waggons, and wheels] Such were the ancient manner of Carriages and weapons in war.

judge thee according to their judgments] They ſhall indeed by the ſecret guidance of my Spirit, execute my judgments; but I will leave the manner of the execution of them to their diſcretions. And men uſually do it with leſs mercy, and pitty, then God doth, 2 Sam. 24.14. Zach. 1.15.

V. 5. They ſhall take away thy noſe] A kind of ſpeech taken from the ignominious puniſhments uſed in ſome countreyes againſt adulterous women; ſo to deform the beauties they ſo abuſed: or, from the cruelties of enemies enraged againſt priſoners, before they kill them.

V. 49. your lewdneſſe upon you] Namely, the juſt puniſhment for it.

CHAP. XXIIII.

Verſ. 1. A*Gain*] This Chapter contains the laſt denunciation of judgment againſt the Jews, before the final ruine and deſtruction of that kingdom: uttered in Babylon, the very day that Nebuchadnezzar began his laſt ſiege againſt Jeruſalem; declaring than, and there, the very day of the ſiege. And propheſying the utter deſtruction of the City, under the parable of a boyling pot, whoſe ſcum is in it. And under the ſign of the Prophets not mourning for the death of his wife,ſhewing the woful calamity of the Jews,to be indeed, either beyond all ſorrow; or to be ſuch, and ſo ſuddain,as they ſhould not dare, or elſe not have time to bemoan it; ſhutting up this propheſie (and ſo confirming it) till the time that the news ſhould be brought to Ezekiel of the fulfilling of it.

in the ninth year] Of the ſecond captivity, viz. ſince Jeconiah,Mordecai, Eſth. 2.5,6. and Ezekiel, Chap. 40. 1. were carried captives, and Zedechiah made King; the tenth moneth,and the tenth day of the moneth, Ezekiel is told in Meſopotamia, that Nebuchadnezzar, that very day, in Judea laid ſiege to Jeruſalem, 2 King. 25. 1. Ier. 39. 1. and 52. 4.

in the tenth moneth] Called Tebeth, which containeth part of December,and part of January.

V. 2. Write thee] That ſo it may be certainly remembred and known.

this ſame day] Ier. 52. 4.

V. 3. Set on a pot] That is, ſet a pot on the fire. See ſuch a ſimilitude,Ier.1.13. Ezek. 11. 3, 7. The pot is Jeruſalem; the fleſh and fat pieces, are the chief, the richeſt, and the Nobleſt that are in her; the fire,are Gods judgements, by which he would have humbled, and mollified his peoples hearts, to bring them to repentance; but that having taken no effect, by reaſon of their obſtinate rebellion, he would convert thoſe judgments, into a total conſumption.

V. 4. every good piece] The great ones.

V. 5. burn] Or, heap.

bones under it] Meaning,it ſeems, the bones of the innocents whom they had ſlain; who were the cauſe of kindling Gods wrath againſt them.

ſeethe the bones of it therein] It ſeems that the bones were put into the bottom of the pot, verſ. 4,10. and not, as others have underſtood it, without the pot to kindle the fire. By the bones, may be meant the great ones and Governours, which bear up the body of the State: Or rather, the mean and vulgar ſort of leſſe eſteem; as oppoſed to the former.

V. 6. wherefore] To make the accompliſhment anſwerable to the figure.

woe to the bloudy Citie] Chap. 22. 2. Nah. 3. 1. 2 King. 21. 16.

to the pot whoſe ſcum] Namely,to Jeruſalem, that hath not been celanſed from her open and notorious ſins,by my puniſhments, Chap. 22. 24. See Ier. 4. 11. & 6. 29.

let no lot] Let all the people, without any difference, be burnt in it,or driven out of it, and carried away; let none be pardoned: though in Wars, oftentimes, they caſt lots to ſlay ſome,and to ſave ſome.

V. 7. her bloud is in] She is full of miſ-deeds, eſpecially of murders and oppreſſions.

ſhe ſet it upon] This City ſhewed her crueltie to all the world,and was not aſhamed thereof, neither hid it; contrary to what God had commanded,namely,that the very bloud of beaſts ſhould be covered over with duſt, Levit. 17. 13. Deut. 12.16,24. & 15.23.

V. 8. ſet her bloud upon the top of a rock] I will puniſh her openly; and the ſigns and monuments thereof ſhall remain for ever.

V. 9. Woe to the bloudy city] verſ. 6.

I will even make the pile] That is, what I have commanded thee to do for a ſign, that I will do in act, making ready the Chaldeans great fire, Ier. 1. 13.

V. 10. kindle the fire] God would do it, that ſo the City ſhould be utterly deſtroyed; and that he would give the enemies an appetite thereunto.

V. 11. ſet it empty] To ſignifie, that Jeruſalem, after the inhabitants were gone out of it,ſhould be burnt by the Chaldeans,as it were, to cleanſe it perfectly from all its excrements, Chap. 16. 36,37.

V. 12. ſhe hath wearied] Inſtead of the onely means of deliverance, which was repentance and converſion, ſhe hath with great care and toyl, ſought out other worldly and unprofitable means, that will prove falſe and unfaithful to her, and in the end deceive her.

V. 13. lewdneſs] Thy wicked obſtinacy, hath been the onely cauſe that thou haſt not been cleanſed.

I have purged thee] I laboured, by ſending my Prophets to call thee to repentance; but thou wouldeſt not, 2 Chro. 36. 15. Ier.18.11,12. & Ch. 25.3,&c, & 35.15.

till I have cauſed] Chap. 16. 42.

V. 14. I will not go back] Eſay 47. 3, 11, 12, 13. Nothing ſhall hinder or alter me.

ſhall they judg thee] That is, the Babylonians. See Chap. 23. 45. & 16. 38.

V. 16. the deſire of thine eyes] Namely, thy dear wife; as ver. 18. Another type of their doleful and deſperate condition.

with a ſtroke] By a ſudden death, proceeding from ſome ſupernatural and divine cauſe, for whom he is forbid to mourn; ſignifying, that their ſorrow for the loſſes of their deareſt things, in their miſerable calamities, ſhould be greater,then open mourning might expreſs. See verſ. 22. Ier. 22. 10.

V. 25. In the day when I take] In the time when I ſhall have fulfilled theſe Propheſies, by the taking and ruine of Jeruſalem,I will cauſe tydings thereof to be brought unto thee, and then ſhalt thou put the people in mind of theſe things, for their inſtruction and conviction.

that whereupon they ſet their minds] Heb. the lifting up of their ſoul; that is,that which they deſire moſt;all thoſe things which are moſt dear unto them.

V. 26. He that eſcapeth in that day] Of my viſitation, and their deſtruction. See the accompliſhment of this, Chap. 33. 21,22. The diſtance of time betwixt the taking of Jeruſalem, and that tydings brought to Ezekiel, was one year,five moneths, and twenty ſix dayes. No doubt but the Prophet heard of it long before that time. But at that time he received the moſt full and perfect relation, of all that Nebuzaradan alſo had done, ſince the taking of the City. And that was the time that it pleaſed the Lord to open his Prophets mouth again.

V. 27. In that day ſhall thy mouth be opened] See Chap. 3. 26,27. & 33. 22. not that he was miraculouſly ſtrucken dumb in the mean time; for we may not multiply miracles, without a juſt and ſufficient warrant. But he became as dumb, for holding his peace; as if God had ſaid, Thou haſt ſpoken enough already to this people for to warn them ſufficiently; forbear that argument any more: let them alone, until that by the bringing to paſſe of theſe things thou haſt already told them, thou mayſt thereupon take occaſion to convince and waken them again. And therefore in the mean time,He propheſies only againſt the Forrain Nations, from this place to Chap. 33. that is, from the time of beginning the ſiege, in the ninth year, tenth moneth, tenth day,till this newes here ſpoken of was brought to the Prophet, in the twelfth year, tenth moneth, fifth day. And ſo in that mean time,he propheſies againſt Egypt, on the tenth year, tenth moneth, twelfth day, Chap.29.1. And again on the eleventh year, firſt moneth, ſeventh day, Chap.30.20. And again on the eleventh year, third moneth, firſt day, Chap.31.1.

CHAP. XXVI.

Verſ. 1. A*Nd it came to paſſe*]In this Chapter the Prophet denounceth Gods fearful judgments againſt Tyrus,for inſulting againſt Jeruſalem: and to be executed by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; The deſtruction and deſolation he makes; The Iſles tremble at it; for ſo woful and irrevocable a downfal.

V. 6. her daughters] The Townes that belonged unto her, as a mother-City; or rather, her people, without ſparing of either ſex.

V. 7. Nebuchadnezzar] Shewes now by whom this judgement ſhall be executed, Chap.28.7. & 30.11. & 32.12. This name Nebuchadnezzar, is no leſſe then ſeven divers wayes written in Scripture. There were divers of this name; Inſomuch, as ſome think this to be a common name to the Kings of Babylon; as Pharaoh was to the Kings of Egypt; Abimelech to the kings of the Philiſtines; Sylvius to the Latin Kings: Cæſar and Auguſtus to the Roman Emperours; Arſacidæ to the Perſians: and Ceropidæ to the Athenians. But this Nebuchadnezzar appears by the ſacred Hiſtory to be the ſame that had taken Jehojakim, Jehojacin, and Zedekiah, deſtroyed Ieruſalem, burnt the Temple; and in after times, through Gods juſt judgment, became mad for ſeven yeares, as a mad beaſt. We may not then take this Nebuchadnezzar to be him that is mentioned in the Apocryphal ſtory of Judeth; and much leſſe to be either Cyrus, or Alexander the Great; as ſome have weakly imagined.

a King of kings] Namely, him that is poſſeſſor of this mighty Monarchy, which calleth it ſelf the univerſal. See Ier.27. 6,7. Dan.2.37. See the phraſe, King of Kings, Ezr.7.12. and ſuch like is the phraſe, God of gods, Deut.10.17.

V. 21. I will make thee a terrour] Heb. terrours, Chap. 27. 36. & 28.19. Thou ſhalt be brought into ſuch an extreme deſolation, full of horrour in thy ſelf, and a ſubject of terrour to others. Others render it, I will bring thee to nothing, and to perdition.

ſhalt be no more] Verſe 14.

CHAP. XXVII.

Ver.1. T*He word of the Lord*] In this Chapter the Prophet ſets down a Lamentation for Tyrus; by ſetting forth her former glory, in her building, ſhipping, army, power, merchandizings, praiſe; and then oppoſing to it her preſent ruine; concluding with the extream wailing and aſtoniſhment of the neighbouring Iſles, Nations, and Kingdomes, at her fall.

V. 3. The entry of the Sea] Built there firſt by the Sidonians, as Juſtin relateth; in a very commodious place to reſort unto by Sea, from divers places, and to carry merchandize from thence into the Continent or firm Land.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Verſ.1. THe word of the Lord] In this Chapter the Prophet ſets down the blaſphemous pride, and preſumptuous confidence of the King of Tyrus: Gods great Judgments againſt him: and a lamentation which the Prophet is commanded to take up,at his fall. Afterwards he propheſies againſt Zidon; and concludes with a prophetical promiſe of the reſtauration of Gods own people.

V. 2. I am a God] Thou art grown vain,and haſt exalted thy ſelf,through thy glory,wiſdome,and happineſs,as if thou wert no more a mortal man,but a petty god.

the terrible] Chap.30.11.&26.7.

againſt the beauty] By ſtrength they will overcome all thy counſels,and arts of prevention and defence. Or,they will kill thee,not reſpecting thy wiſdome, which maketh thee ſo majeſtical and venerable.

V. 8. The deaths] Namely,of all kinds of violent death,in the general ſlaughter of thy people. See Iſa.14.19.

V. 9. Slayeth] Or, woundeth.

V. 10. The uncircumciſed] Like the reſt of the Heathen and Infidels,which are Gods enemies: for circumciſion was a ſign of the Covenant of ſaving grace. Others, like to the ancient Canaanites, condemned to a curſe, See Chap. 32. 21.

V. 12. A lamentation] As Chap.27.2,&c.

thou ſealeſt up the ſum] Ruleſt the matter in the affaires of merchandiſe. Or,thou makeſt up the accompt: a term which may ſeem to be taken from them which tell money.

full of wiſdome] He derideth the vain opinion and confidence,that the King of Tyre had in his riches, ſtrength and pleaſures.

V. 13. In Eden] Like to a tree planted in an earthly Paradiſe, Gen.2.8. See the like ſaid of Aſhur, Chap. 31. verſ. 8, 9.

workmanſhip] He hath relation to that,that the art of Muſick was alwayes held in great eſteem amongſt the Tyrians, Chap.26.13.Eſay 23.16.

in the day that thou waſt created] Even at the firſt founding of thy State,muſick began to flouriſh in thee, and all pleaſures.

V. 14. Anointed] Endowed by God with ſeveral prerogatives.

Cherub] Amongſt the great Ones of the world, which are Gods Miniſters upon earth,thou waſt exalted in glory, even as the heavenly Cherubins are.

covereth] Being a ſecure defence to thy people, covering them with thy wings; which are attributed to this King, becauſe he is called Cherub,whoſe ſhape and form is ſet down in the Scripture with wings,which ſhadowed the ark.

the holy mountain] Having likened him to a Cherub, he compares his ſeat, being full of magnificence, to Mount Sinai,where God appeared with millions of his angels, having a fiery pavement under his feet,Exod.24.10.

in the midſt of the ſtones of fire] To wit, among my people Iſrael,which ſhined as precious ſtones: or, clad with a garment of pearl and pretious ſtones, glittering, and ſparkling, as fire,ſuch as were in the breaſt-plate of Iſraels high Prieſt; as appeareth by comparing with this the verſe before. Or rather, as having power among,and over the fiery thunderbolts,and meteors.

V. 15. Perfect in thy wayes] Which may be alſo underſtood of the ſtate and condition,or of the enterpriſes,ver.12.

from the day that thou waſt created] From the time thou waſt firſt a ſettled Kingdom; as ver. 13. He may haply ſeem to allude to the fall of wicked angels.

till iniquity was found in thee] Whileſt thou haſt continued in Juſtice and integrity, I haue born thee up; but ſince thou and thy city have given your ſelves to violences,deceits,and other manner of wickedneſſes, thy ruine hath been ready at hand.

V. 25. When I ſhall have gathered] This propheſie hath in part, and according to the letter, a relation to the return from the Captivity of Babylon; but perfectly and in ſpirit, to the ſpiritual re-eſtabliſhing of the Church by the Meſſias.

ſanctified in them] He ſheweth for what cauſe God will aſſemble his Church, and preſerve it ſtill, though he deſtroy his enemies; to wit, that they ſhould praiſe him, and give thanks for his great mercies.

V. 26. Safely] Or, with confidence.

deſpiſe] Or, ſpoil.

CHAP. XXIX.

Verſ.1. I*N*] In this Chapter are two grievous propheſies, againſt Pharaoh and Egypt. One in the time of Jeruſalem's ſiege. Another about, 16 years after Jeruſalem was taken: with a promiſe, both of Egypts reſtauration, though not in its former ſplendour and power, at the end of 40 years, after it had been laid waſte by Nebuchadnezzar; and alſo of ſome good and comfort to Gods people at that time.

the tenth year] To wit, of the Captivity of Jeconiah, or of the reign of Zedekiah; that is, one year, and two dayes, after the ſiege of Jeruſalem was begun.

V. 2. Pharaoh] This was Pharaoh Hophra, Jer.44.30.

againſt all Egypt] Iſa.19. & 20. Chapter, Jer.25.19. and 46. Chapter.

V. 3. Dragon that lyeth in the midſt] Chap.32.8. Pſal. 74. 13,14. Iſa.27.1. & 51.9. The Hebrew word ſignifieth any great water creature. Here is meant the Whale, or Leviathan Job 41. or the Crocodile, the figure of Pharaoh.

my river is mine own] Ver.9. I poſſeſs a moſt fruitful Kingdom, and ſo ſtrongly ſituated by reaſon of the river Nilus, that it cannot be taken from me by any ſtrength.

I have made it for my ſelf] I do not depend upon any one: as I have gotten, and increaſed my kingdom of my ſelf, ſo am I ſufficient to maintain it againſt all men.

V. 4. But I will put hookes] See this phraſe, Chap.38.4. Eſay 37:29.

I will bring thee up] I will draw thee out of the countrey which is ſo ſtrong, together with all thy ſubjects, which will follow thee, to the end, that you being all ſlain, your bodies may lie for food for the fowls of the air, and the wild beaſts of the field, Pſal.74.14.

V. 5. into the wilderneſſe] If we may give credit to the hiſtory of Herodotus, this is to be underſtood of the deſerts of Lybia, neer Cyrene; where the Cyreneans gave a great overthrow to Pharaoh, ſoon after he fled from Nebuchadnezzars hoaſt, that left the beſieging of Jeruſalem, to go againſt him. Otherwiſe, if we underſtand it of the overthrow and conqueſt, made of him, by Nebuchadnezzar, we muſt refer it to a later time, according to that propheſie, particularly uttered againſt him, above ſixteen years after this, ſet down in the latter part of this Chapter. verſ. 17. to the end.

thou ſhalt fall] Thy army: For he eſcaped back to Egypt.

open fields] Heb. face of the field.

nor gathered] To be buried.

V. 6. have been] They have ſolicited my people to rebel againſt the Chaldeans, promiſing them aſſiſtance, and have violated their faith; and ſo have not been only unprofitable, but alſo very hurtful unto them, Eſay 30.1, &c.

ſtaff of reed] verſ. 7. 2 King. 18. 21. Iſa. 36. 6. Ierem. 37.7, 8.

V. 7. and madeſt all their loyns to be at a ſtand] The meaning ſeems to be this, Thou haſt left them to defend themſelves with their own ſtrength, and alone to bear the burden of the War, which they had undertaken for thy advantage, or at thy inſtigation.

V. 8. Therefore] Ier. 43.8. & 44. 30. & 46. 13, &c. This ſeems to fore tel their deſolation by Nebuchadnezzar.

V. 9. The river is mine] verſ.3. Thus God cannot ſuffer that man ſhould arrogate any thing to himſelef, or put his truſt in any thing, ſave in him alone.

and I have made it] He ſpeaketh in the perſon of this King, or in general, of all the kings of Egypt, his predeceſſors, who with great charges and labour, had brought Nilus with channels, over all the land of Egypt.

V. 10. utterly waſte] Heb. waſts of waſts.

from the tower] From one end of Egypt to the other. See Chap. 30. 6.

Syene] Heb. Seveneh. It hath been, and is commonly thought, by reaſon of the likelineſſe of the name, that it was the City of Syene, ſtanding upon the South confines of Egypt, in Thebais, where there might be ſome tower, to mark the defect of ſhadows, in the very day of the Summer-ſolſtice: as there was a well alſo to that purpoſe; as ſome write.

of Ethiopia] Heb. of Chuſh. That is, to the borders of the Chuſhites, or Arabians, Gen.10.7. for beween Seveneh and Arabia, is ſituated all Egypt: for Seveneh was South-border of Egypt, confronting and joyning to Ethiopia; and the Chuſhites or Arabians, the North-border. So we are to underſtand, Chap.30.4,5,9.

V. 11. Neither ſhall it be inhabited fourty years] verſ. 12. From the time it ſhall be deſtroyed by Nebuchadnezzar.

V. 13. At the end of fourty years] Likely about the time, Cyrus took Babylon, Ier.46.26.

V. 14. Pathros] Gen.10.14.

baſe Kingdome] Heb. low. Namely, ſubject and tributary to the Perſian, who ſhall people it again. See Chap. 17. 6, 14.

V. 16. the confidence] For any greatneſſe and power the houſe of Iſrael ſhall ſee hereafter to be in them.

which bringeth] By their former truſting and confidence in them, and not in me. And thereupon breaking their faith and oath to the Babylonian, Chap.21.23,24. and by complying with them alſo in their Idolatry, Chap.8.10,14. & 23.19, 20,21. as Ahaz did. 2 Chr.28.22,23.

V. 17. Seven and twentieth year] Counting from the captivity of Jeconiah. Of the order of theſe propheſies, and how the later ſometimes ſtand before the former, ſee the Annotations on Jer.27.1. This here placed is the laſt in time of all Ezekiels propheſies. For that, Chap 40, &c. was almoſt two full years before this. Two years ſpent in ſubduing Moab, Ammon, and neighbouring Nations; and 13 years in beſieging Tyrus, as Joſephus relates, libro 1. cont. Appionem Alexandrinum, will riſe up to this accompt of 27 years, in which year Tyre was deſtroyed.

V. 18. Cauſed his army to ſerve] Namely, to execute my judgments upon Tyre, and therefore I will requite him.

every head was made bald] That is, they have ſuffered long and hard labours, and toyles, and have worn out themſelves about it.

for Tyrus] Or, from, or, out of Tyrus.

V. 19. Take her ſpoil, and take her prey] Heb. ſpoil her ſpoil, and prey her prey.

V. 20. For his labour] Or, for his hire.

they wrought for me] To execute my judgments, though they did not know my will, nor had any intent to obey it, Iſa.10.7.

V. 21. In that day] When I ſhall beat down the Egyptians, then will I begin to raiſe up my people again in Babylon, by the exaltation of Jeconiah, Jer.52.31. which certainly cauſed a great deal of eaſe, and liberty to the Jewiſh priſoners. See Dan.2. 2 King.25.27, &c.

bud] Pſal.132.17.

I will give thee] The like words ſee Chap.24.27. & 33.22. The meaning is, I will make it ſo, that thou Ezekiel, as all the reſt of the true believers, may freely, and with open mouthes, praiſe the Lord in your aſſemblies.

CHAP. XXX.

Verſ.1. T*Hen the word*] A propheſie of the deſtruction and deſolation of Egypt, and her helpes and confederates, by Nebuchadnezzar King of Babylon. And again repeated, in the eleventh year, firſt moneth, ſeventh day of Jehojacins Captivity.

V. 2. Howl ye] Namely, ye Egyptians and other Nations, which are ſubject to, and confederates with you.

wo worth the day] To wit, the day of the ruine of Egypt; whereof he ſpeaketh hereafter.

V. 3. A cloudy day] Of horrible and ſtrange calamities: as rainy dayes are very rare and ſtrange in Egypt.

heathen] In which the profane Nations, Egyptians, Chuſhites, and others, their confederates, ſhall be viſited, and puniſhed.

V. 4. Pain] Or, fear.

Ethiopia] Heb. Chuſh. A neighbouring and confederate Nation with Egypt; a people of Arabia.

V. 5. Lybya, and Lidia] Heb. Phut and Lud. Here are meant two Nations, auxiliaries to the Egyptians; the one a people living in Aſia; the other, in Africa, if not both in Africa. Lydia ſeems to be Maræolis in Egypt, or Cyrene, the Southern parts of Africa. See Gen.10.6,13,22. Eſay 66.19.

mingled people] See Jer. 25.20,24. auxiliaries likewiſe to the Egyptians.

Chub] The name of ſome part of Africk, not mentioned elſewhere; yet moſt likely here are meant the inhabitants of the inner Lybia, by the river Niger. See Ptolomy in the fourth book of his Geography.

men of the land] Heb. children.

that is in league] It might be ſome land that was confederate with Egypt: or ſome country of divers Nations, which governed themſelves in Commonalties, which were confederate one with another.

V. 6. They alſo that uphold] Namely, thoſe armies, or nations, which ſhall take their parts, or relieve them.

Syene] Which was a ſtrong city of Egypt, Chap.29.10. on the South border of it.

V. 7. And they ſhall be deſolate] Chap.29.12.

V. 8. Fire in Egypt] By the Chaldeans indeed, but by my inward and ſecret working in them.

deſtroyed] Heb. broken.

V. 9. From me] Namely, from Egypt; but by my ſecret inſtinct and providence.

in ſhips] Upon the red ſea, Iſa, 18.2.

as in the day of Egypt] As formerly all neighbouring Nations were aſtoniſhed at the report, of this plague that ſhall now come upon Egypt. Or, at the report of the Egyptians plagues, and final diſcomfiture, of old, in the red Sea, Exod. 7,8,9,10,12,14. Chapters.

it cometh] To wit, the foreſaid Calamity.

V. 11. the terrible] Chap.26.7. & 28.7.

V. 12. And I] Iſa.19.5.

will make the rivers dry] Heb. drought. That which is moſt fruitful by reaſon of the abundance of waters which are in it, ſhall become barren, and deſolate, as if it were ſcorched up with the Sun. Or, I will make the rivers thereof to be no ſafeguard for it; but I will dry them up, to make the way plain and eaſie for the Babylonian to come, and deſtroy it. See Ier.50.38. & 51.32.

all that is therein] Heb. the fulneſſe thereof.

V. 13. deſtroy the Idols] Zech. 13. 2. Ier. 43. 12. and 46. 25.

Noph] Called Moph, Hoſh. 9.6. afterward by the ancients, Memphis; ſeated upon Nile in Egypt on the borders of Ethiopia. See Eſay 19.13. Ier.46.14.

Prince of the land of Egypt] Heb. out of the land; that is, a Native, or Egyptian ſhall rule them; but ſtrangers.

V. 14. Pathros] The name of a Country in Egypt. See Chap.29.14.

Zoan] Which is Tanais, one of the chief Cities of Egypt. See Num.13.22.

No] Ier.46.25. Nah.3.8. which is Alexandria.

V. 15. Sin] Which is Peluſium, a ſtrong frontier City of Egypt, over againſt Arabia Petræa. Whence likely the wilderneſſe of Sin hath its name.

V. 17. Aven] Or, On. Which is the City Heliopolis, Gen. 41. 45.

Phi-beſeth] Called by Authors Pubaſtum.

Theſe Cities ſhall go into captivity] ver.18. to wit, the multitude of people which is in them.

V. 18. Tehaphnehes] This is the City of Daphne, called here Tehaphnehes, and Tahpanhes, Ier. 43. 7. likely from the name of that Queen, 1 King.11.19. This ſeems to be as it were the gate of Egypt, at which the Chaldeans came in, Ier.43.7,8,9.

darkened] Or, reſtrained. An extream Calamity, deſolation, and confuſion ſhall overtake them.

yokes] Their imperious tyranny. See Lev.26.13.

a cloud ſhall cover her] As if one ſhould ſay, a ſudden ſtorm of evils, ver.3.

daughters ſhall go into Captivity] That is, the Cities which are ſubject to the City-Royal, Chap.26.6.

V. 20. eleventh year] Of the Captivity of Jeconiah, or Zedekiah's reign. In which year Jeruſalem was taken, three moneths and two dayes after.

V. 21. broken the arm] This hath relation, either to the firſt overthrow of the Egyptians under Neco at Carchemiſh, Ier. 46.2. 2 Chr.35.20. 2 King.23.29. Or rather, to that newly received by the Cireneans, as was ſhewed upon Chap. 29. 5. After which loſſe they could never recover, nor defend themſelves, againſt the Chaldeans. See Chap.29.14,15.

it ſhall not be bound up] Ier.46.11. See Eſay 1.6.

V. 22. break his armes] His Forces and powers.

V. 24. ſword in his hand] To execute my judgements.

V. 25. When I ſhall put my ſword] Whereby we ſee, that Tyrants have no power of themſelves, neither can do any more harm, then God appointeth; and when he will, they muſt ceaſe, Eſay 10.5.

CHAP. XXXI.

Verſ. 1. And it came to paſſe] In this Chapter the Prophet confirms the truth of his former Propheſie concerning the overthrow of Pharaoh, and Egypt, by the example of the like Judgment upon the Aſſyrian; ſetting forth the Aſſyrians pride, his downfal; and How others were affected with it: with an application of it to Pharaoh.

in the eleventh year] Of Zedekiah's reign, or Jeconiah's Captivity, Chap.1.2. one moneth, and 14 dayes, ſince the former propheſie, Chap.30.20. and one moneth and 8 days before the taking of Jeruſalem, Jer. 52. 5. 6.

V. 2. Whom art thou like] Meaning, that the Egyptian was not like in ſtrength to the King of the Aſſyrians, whom the Babylonians overcame. This again is repeated in the concluſion, verſ. 18. ſee Iſa. 23. 13. where the example is to be underſtood, of the Aſſyrian formerly overcoming the Babylonian; as more appears, 2 King. 17. 24, 30. and 10. 12.

V. 3. Cedar in Lebanon] See Chap. 17. 3. 22, 23. Dan. 4. 10.

with fair branches] Heb. fair of branches.

V. 4. Waters] The Aſſyrian was grown great, through abundance of all proſperity.

made him great] Or, nouriſhed.

ſet him up] Or, brought him up.

with her rivers] The great ſea of his happines did ſeem to run round, as it doth at the coming in of great Rivers, at the foot of this tree: and he, the Aſſyrian, out of his grace and plenty, ſeemed to ſend forth ſome ſmal ſtreams out of it to other kingdoms; alluding likely herein, to the waters of Nilus, Chap. 29. 3.

little rivers] Or, conduits.

V. 5. When he ſhot forth] Or, when it ſent them forth.

V. 6. Fowls of heaven] Dan. 4. 12. The greateſt part of mankinde, retired under dominion and protection of the Aſſyrian.

V. 8. Cedars in the garden] Gen. 2. Signifying that there was no greater power in the world, then that was of the Aſſyrian.

V. 10. Mighty one of the heathen] Verſ. 12. Chap. 28. 7. and 30. 11. that is of the Babylonian. Some underſtand this of Merodac Baladan, who, as they ſay, overthrew Eſarchaddon the Aſſyrian: but Ptolomy ſhewes in his Can. Regum, that this Merodac died before Eſarchaddon (otherwiſe called the great and noble Aſnapper, Ezr.4.2,10.) reigned, and that Eſarchaddon left Saoſduchinus his ſucceſſour in the Aſſyrian and Babylonian Empire. This mighty one here is rather to be underſtood of Nebuchadnezzar, who after was the Babylonian Monarch, and onely ruler of the world.

he ſhall ſurely deal with him] Heb. in doing he ſhall do unto him.

V. 12. Strangers] Hereby is ſignified the deſtruction of the power of the Aſſyrians by the Babylonians.

V. 13. Shall] Or, did.

fowls of the heaven] The Nations which were ſubject to the Aſſyrians, after the overthrow of the empire, did prey upon them with contempt.

Shall] Or, did.

V. 14. To the end that] I have ſet forth this ſpectacle of my judgments upon Aſhur, to this end, for to teach all Princes that are grown great through my bleſſings, not to raiſe themſelves againſt me, through pride; for they are all mortal by Nature, and I can bring down their eſtates as I have raiſed them.

neither ſhoot up their top] As the Aſſyrian did.

ſtand up in their height] Or, ſtand upon themſelves for their height.

for they are all delivered] Pſal. 82. 7.

V. 15. Cauſed a mourning] By this fall of Aſſyria, I raiſed a general horrour, and terrour in them all, ſeeing him on a ſudden deprived of my help and bleſſing, by the meanes of which he had proſpered ſo well.

to mourn for him] Heb. to be black.

V. 16. All the trees] Ver.8,9.

ſhall be] Or, were.

comforted in the nether parts of the earth] To cauſe this deſtruction of the King of Aſſyria to ſeem more horrible, he ſetteth forth other Kings and Princes which are dead; as though they rejoyced at the fall of ſuch a Tyrant. A figurative and Poetical repreſentation; as Iſa.14.8,9,10. Ezek.32.31. Hab.1.6,7,8.

V. 17. His arm that dwelt under his ſhadow] That is, all under his power and dominion.

V. 18. To whom art thou] He applyeth the foreſaid things by compariſon to Pharaoh; as if he ſhould ſay, Compare thy ſelf to whom thou wilt, thou canſt not avoid the ruine that I ſhall bring upon thee; as thou mayſt ſee in the foreſaid example of the Aſſyrian.

uncircumciſed] Chap.28.10.

This is Pharaoh] All this allegorical ſpeech hath relation to Pharaoh.

CHAP. XXXII.

Verſ.1. A*Nd it came to paſs*] In this Chapter are the two laſt propheſies againſt Egypt: the one a fortnight after the other. In the former under the title, and by the ſimilitude of a Whale, is ſet down the fearful deſtruction of Egypt, by Gods judgments; with the manner of them, and univerſal aſtoniſhment at them, and by whom to be executed. In the latter is ſet down Egypts Funeral ſolemnity, as it were, and manifold welcoming to the grave.

in the twelfth year] Of the Captivity of Jehojachin, Chap. 1.2. one year, ſeven moneths, and 22 dayes after the city was taken, Jer. 52.5,6. a moneth after the taking whereof, both Temple and City were burnt, Jer. 52.12.

V. 2. Lyon of the nations] In cruelty and violence. See Ch. 19.2, &c.

Whale] Or, Dragon, or, Crocodile. See Chap. 29.3. Thus the Scriptures compare tyrants to cruel and huge beaſts, which devour all that be weaker then they, and ſuch as they may overcome.

cameſt forth] By reaſon of the convenient ſituation of thy Kingdom, Nilus at many ports running into the midland ſea, thou diddeſt undertake divers enterpriſes, annoying and invading other Countries: a ſimilitude taken from Crocodiles which come up into the land by divers armes of Nilus.

their rivers] The States of neighbouring Nations.

V. 3. ſpread out my net] Chap. 12.13. & 17.20.

with a company of many people] That ſhall be as it were my fiſhers, under the ſtandart of the Babylonian.

V. 4. Then will I leave thee] Chap. 29.5.

V. 5. With thy height] With heapes of the carcaſſes of thine army, ſeemeſt thou in thine own eyes never ſo high and haughty.

V. 6. The land wherein thou ſwimmeſt] Or, the land of thy ſwimming; that is, the land ſubject to thy empire; namely, Egypt; and as Nilus overfloweth Egypt, ſo will I make the bloud of thine hoſt to overflow it.

v. 7. Put thee out] Or, extinguiſh.

I will cover the heaven] Joel 2.31. & 3.15. Mat. 24.29. I will fill the world with horrour, and terrour, at thy ruine. See Iſa. 13.10.

V. 8. bright lights of heaven] Heb. light of the light in heaven.

dark over thee] Heb. them dark.

ſet darkneſſe upon thy land] The darkneſs of ſorrow, the darkneſs of confuſion. I will deprive thee of all wiſdome, and direction, and will bring all thy ſtate into confuſion, extream miſeries, and deſolation.

V. 9. I will alſo vex] Heb. provoke to anger, or, grief, with horrour and fear, they ſeeing Egypt ſo mighty a Kingdom, periſh, and the King of Babylon grown ſo great.

V. 10. Brandiſh my ſword] In their ſight, againſt thee, with ſuch ſpeedy and bloudy execution.

moment] Chap. 26.16.

V. 12. The terrible] Chap. 28.7. & 30.11. & 32.12. & 26.7.

V. 13. All the beaſts thereof] Their horſes, in the multitude whereof they truſted ſo much, Eſay 31.3.

great waters] From off the land of Egypt, which is abundantly watered, and therefore very fruitful.

neither ſhall the foot] Chap. 29.11.

trouble them any more] A figurative deſcription of a mighty deſolation of a wateriſh Countrey, wherein there is neither man, nor beaſt, for to trouble the waters.

V. 14. waters deep] It ſeems to be underſtood of the Chaldeans, their enemies, which ſhall quickly enjoy all their commodities. Or elſe, of other Nations, formerly, as waters, troubled with the feet of the Egyptians, as ver. 2. which now henceforth ſhould be quiet, as deep waters, and oyl, runs ſmoothly and quietly, not turbulently.

V. 15. deſtitute of that whereof it was full] Heb. deſolate from the fulneſſe thereof.

V. 16. The daughters] The Cities, and Commonalties.

V. 17. Twelfth year] See verſ. 1. Fifteen dayes after the former propheſie: a kind of funeral dirge and exequie over Pharaoh and Egypt.

Moneth] Namely, the twelfth moneth, ver. 1.

v. 18. Wail for the multitude] Make ſome kind of funeral exequies for Egypt, by lamentations, or mournful ſongs, according to the cuſtome; and for the funeral of other Nations likewiſe.

caſt them down] That is, prophecie, that they ſhall be caſt down. Thus the Lord giveth his Prophets power to plant and to deſtroy, by his word: Read Jer. 1.10. Or, (as others) carry out as it were Egypts funeral, and bear it to the grave.

v. 19. whom doſt thou paſſe] O Egypt, what priviledge haſt, or deſerveſt thou, more then all the other profane Nations, and Kingdoms? Thou muſt even periſh, as all the reſt have, and muſt do, Chap. 31.18.

with the uncircumciſed[ver. 21——30, 32. See Chap. 28.10.

V. 20. ſhall fall in the midſt] God will make a general deſtruction of ſuch people by war. To do which, he hath already given the Chaldeans a commiſſion.

ſhe is delivered] Or, the ſword is laid.

draw her] Or, they ſhall draw; That is, Egypt; even as one would draw a dead carcaſſe.

V. 21. mighty ſhall ſpeak] To make the matter the more ſenſible, he uſeth a poetical and ironical repreſentation, of the entertainment which other Princes and warlike Nations, and eſpecially thoſe which were Egypts confederates, and were already dead, would give Pharaoh at his coming into Hell or the grave. See Iſa. 14.9, 12.14, 15.

V. 22. his graves] Namely, the graves of his men which were ſlain in the Wars. Or, the graves of the Aſſyrian compaſſing round about the grave of the new come Egyptian, ſurrounding him, and giving him the middle and chief place. See ver. 2, 3. & 25.

V. 23. Cauſed terrour] Or, cauſed diſmaying: who had alſo been violent and tyrannical in this world, like Egypt.

V. 24. There is elam] Meaning the King and people of Perſia, and Media; or of ſome part of it, Gen. 10.22. They had been overthrown ſooner after the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah, Jer. 49.34, &c.

in the land of the living] Whom, in his life, all the World feared.

V. 25. round about him] See ver. 22.

V. 26. There is Meſhech] Gen. 10.2. that is, the Cappadocians, and Italians, or Spaniards; as Joſephus writeth.

Tubal] Uſually joyned with Meſhech. See Chap. 27.13.

V. 27. Not lie with the mighty] Theſe Kings did not die glorioully, having overcome their enemies; neither are buried triumphantly with their arms, as it is the manner to honour Warriours burials; but theſe are dead baſely, being overcome and diſcomfited by their enemies. Others thus; That though Meſhech and Tubal were not dead, and lying with the mighty that are fallen of the uncircumciſed; but did now domineer over Elam; yet they ſhould fall before the time of the Egyptians fall; and their graves ſhould be round about his, as is here expreſſed.

their ſwords under their heads] The ancient manner of warlike funerals. Not much unlike ours in theſe times. Other funerals content themſelves with Scutchions, Coatarmour, and other enſigns of honour.

their iniquities ſhall be upon their bones] They which have not ſuffered puniſhment for their faults, and tyrannies in this life; yet it ſhall be reſerved for them, to be inflicted upon them after their death; by reaſon that no man durſt undertake to puniſh them whileſt they lived.

V. 28. Thou ſhalt be broken] Namely, thou O King of Egypt. Some underſtand it of Meſhech and Tubal.

V. 29. All her Princes] Gen. 36.40.

are aſhamed of their might] Becauſe that it could not ſav them, but is at the laſt come to nothing.

V. 31. ſhall be comforted] As the wicked comfort themſelves, when they ſee others partakers of their miſeries: but a poor Comfort.

V. 32. I have cauſed my terrour] I will make the Egyptians afraid of me, as they cauſed others to fear them. Others, I have ſtayed their fury through my terrible judgments.

CHAP. XXXIII.

Verſ. 1. A*Gain the word*] In this Chapter God declares the duty of a Watchman; applyes and enjoyns it to Ezekiel. Clears his Juſtice againſt the Cavill of the Jewes, that his wayes are not equall. And upon the Prophets hearing of the taking of the City, God commands him to Propheſie the further deſtruction of the remnant left in Judea; And ſhews him the hypocriſie of thoſe with him in the Captivity.

V. 2. unto the Children of thy people] Though for a time I did ſilence thee from preaching to them, Chap. 24.27. (And thereupon from that Chapter to this, his Propheſies are againſt forraign Nations;) yet now the ſign being come that I then foretold, Chap.24.26. & 33.21. According to my promiſe then made, I do again open thy mouth, that thou be no longer dumb and ſilent towards them: But I enjoyn thee again to ſpeak and propheſie unto the Children of thy people. Attend therefore unto thy function; to the duty, and neceſſity of it.

when I bring] God the Author of puniſhments, by wars, &c. Amos 3.6.

the ſword upon a land] Heb. a land when I bring a ſword upon her: That is, war, with all the ſudden invaſions, inroads, and dangers belonging to it.

of their Coaſts] For, on the Coaſts and borders of the land, watches are ſet in times of war, and invaſions.

watchman] He mindeth, that the people ought to have continually Governours, and Teachers, which may have a care over them, and to warn them ever of the dangers which are at hand.

V. 4. whoſoever heareth] Heb. he that hearing heareth.

his bloud ſhall be upon his own head] Onely, not on the Watchmans head; his death muſt not be imputed to any other, but to himſelf.

V. 6. He is taken away in his iniquity] Signifying, that the wicked ſhall not eſcape puniſhment, though the Watchman be negligent; but if the watchman blow the trumpet, and then he will not obey, he ſhall deſerve double puniſhment.

but his blood] The Watchman muſt anſwer for his part, for the blood of all that periſh through his fault and negligence.

V. 7. So thou] God applies the former caſe to the Prophet.

I have ſet thee a watchman] Chap.3.17,&c.

at my mouth] Which teacheth, that he that receiveth not his charge at the Lords mouth, is a ſpye, and not a true watchman.

V. 8. when I ſay unto the wicked] Chap.3.18.

V. 10. Thus ye ſpeak] Againſt me, and thee, and thy Propheſies; and againſt themſelves.

if our tranſgreſſions] The meaning is, it is true that you Prophets have admoniſhed us heretofore; and we having neglected your admonitions, do bear our puniſhment, and are now ruined paſt all relief; how ſhould we then live? How canſt thou now propheſie and promiſe life unto us? What good doth it do then to ſpeak to us any more of theſe preſervations againſt the evil, into which we are already fallen? The Lord anſwereth, I even then proteſted and promiſed life to the repentant, Chap.18.23. And yet your ruine is not ſo extream, but that you may riſe again by true repentance; which cometh alwaies in time, either before, or after the puniſhments, ſo it come during life.

V. 12. The righteouſneſſe] Chap.18.24.

V. 13. that he ſhall ſurely live] If he perſevere to the end: A condition neceſſarily annexed to all the promiſes of the Law.

all his righteouſneſſe ſhall not be remembred] Or, not any of all his righteouſneſſe ſhall be remembred.

V. 14. that which is lawful and right] Hereby he condemneth all them of hypocriſie, which pretend to forſake wickedneſſe, and yet declare not themſelves ſuch by their fruits; that is, in obeying Gods Commandments, and by godly life.

V. 22. Now the hand] I was indued with the ſpirit of propheſie, Chap.1.3. & 8.1.

had opened my mouth] He had again appointed me to ſpeak to the people, after I had a while held my tongue by his command; and had revealed unto me, and inſpired me with what I ſhould ſay, according to the prediction, Chap. 24.26, 27. And hereby is ſignified, that the Miniſters of God cannot ſpeak till God give them Courage, and open their mouthes, Chap.29.21. Eph.6.19.

V. 24. Speak] Proudly and preſumptuouſly.

Abraham was one] And yet God gave him this land by promiſe. We are many, and Abrahams heires; Therefore we ſure ſhall inherit it. And if out of Abraham alone could come ſo numerous an iſſue, as could conquer and people all this Country; how much more may we hope that are left in great Number, that we may be reſtored to our former eſtate, which is beaten down by the Chaldeans; and once again repoſſeſſe, and be maſters of the Countrey? Thus the wicked think themſelves more worthy to enjoy Gods promiſes, then the Saints of God to whom they were made; and would bind God to be ſubject to them, though they would not be bound to him.

V. 25. ye eat the bloud] Contrary to the Law, Gen. 9.4. Lev.7.26. & 17.10. & 19.26. Deut. 12. 16. which ye tranſgreſſe; and ſo declare ye are not true ſons of Abraham, Joh.8.39.

and lift up your eyes] Chap.18.6.

V. 26. Ye ſtand] Ye men ſtand upon the ſword, and force, or violence; and ye women work abomination: meaning, that every one righteth himſelf, defends, and revengeth himſelf, and wrongs others by violence; and juſtice, and good order, and honeſty, are quite beaten down.

V. 27. they that are in the waſtes] That inhabite thoſe waſtes of the land of Iſrael, verſ. 24. thoſe now left in the land, 2 King.25.12,22. Jer.40.5,&c.

by the walls] In all places.

V. 31. as the people cometh] Heb. according to the coming of the people: very frequently, and with a ſhew of devotion, as were, to an Eccleſiaſtical aſſembly, Chap.14.1.

they ſit before thee as my people] Or, my people ſit before thee.

for with their mouth] Iſa.29.13.

they ſhew much love] Heb. they make loves, or, jeſts. This declareth, that we ought to hear Gods Word with ſuch zeal and affection, that we ſhould in all points obey it; elſe we abuſe the Word to our own condemnation, and make of his Miniſters, as though they were Jeſters, to ſerve mens fooliſh fantaſies.

V. 32. A very lovely ſong] Heb. a ſong of Loves.

V. 33. when this Cometh] That, ver.27,28,29. that is, the accompliſhments of my threatnings in the laſt ruine of the whole Nation.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Verſ. 1. And the word of the Lord] A Prophecy againſt the Shepherds of Iſrael; their mal-adminiſtration. The hurt of it to the ſheep. Gods judgments upon them for their mal-adminiſtration. He will deliver his flock from them; gather them, bring them back, and be a good Shepherd to them. He will judge between the ſheep, bad and good. He will ſet up one ſhepherd; with many gracious promiſes thereto annexed.

V. 2. Shepherds of Iſrael] Jer.23.1.

wo be to the ſhepherds] By the Shepherds, he meaneth the King, the Magiſtrates, Prieſts, and Prophets, all Governours both Eccleſiaſtical, and Politick.

that do feed themſelves] Or, that ſhould feed them; that is, the Sheep of Iſrael.

ſhould not] Their duty.

V. 3. Ye eat the fat] Do the contrary to your duty. You ſeek to enrich your ſelves by their Commodities; and ſo ſpoil their riches, and ſubſtance, Zach.11.5,16.

V. 4. the diſeaſed have ye not ſtrengthened] By their faults, and failings, he ſhewes the office and duty of a good Paſtor, who ought to love and ſuccour his flock, and not to be cruel toward them.

with force and with cruelty have ye ruled them] 1 Pet.5.3.

V. 5. And they were ſcattered] Spiritually, by running into errours, ſuperſtitious Idolatries, vices, and diſorders: or corporally by their diſſipation out of their Countrey by the ill leading of their guides. Here is the hurt the ſheep received by their mal-adminiſtration.

becauſe there is no ſhepherd] Or, without a ſhepherd; and ſo ver.8. that is, no true and faithful ſhepherd. For lack of good Government, and Doctrine, they periſhed, Zech. 11. 17.

V. 6. and none did ſearch] As ſhepherds in duty ought to have done, See ver.12.

V. 8. As I live] God, as it were, in a paſſion againſt theſe evil Shepherds; to grate again upon their faults, breaks off his ſentence, begun againſt them in the former verſe; and reſumes it, after this verſe.

V. 10. for I will deliver my flock from their mouth] By deſtroying the Covetous hirelings, and reſtoring true ſhepherds; whereof we have a ſign, ſo oft as God ſendeth true Preachers, who both by doctrine and life, labour to feed his ſheep in the pleaſant paſture of his Word, ver.22.

V. 12. As a ſhepherd ſeeketh] Heb. according to the ſeeking.

in the day that he is among his ſheep] When after they have been ſcattered by ſome ſudden ſtorm, the ſhepherd tells, and reckons up his ſheep, to ſee whether any be wanting; and then ſeeketh them out, and brings them back, and gathereth them together, and feeds them, and folds them.

in the cloudy and dark day] Which is full of Calamities, and publick deſolations, Joel 2.2. And this promiſe is to comfort the Church in all dangers.

V. 13. and will bring them to their own land] Corporally, and according to the letter, into the Land of Iſrael, by delivering them out of captivity, Chap.36. 24. and ſpiritually, into the Church, which is the true ſheepfold of all the elect, Joh.10.16.

V. 14. I will feed them in a good paſture] Pſal.23.1,2.

upon the high mountains of Iſrael] A countrey full of high and fruitful mountains, Chap.36.1.

V. 15. I will feed my flock] This doth not infer any aboliſhment of either Eccleſiaſtical or Politick Government in the Chriſtian Church: but doth infer a more effectual and renewed preſence of God in it, by his Spirit, providence, grace, and virtue; or the myſtical and inward operation of Chriſt, true God, upon all the members of his body, in quickening, conducting, comforting, and defending them.

V. 16. deſtroy the fat and the ſtrong] Thoſe who in my Church ſhall abuſe my benefits unto pride, and rebellion againſt me; and to contempt and oppreſſion of their brethren, ver.21. See Iſa.10.16. Amos 4.1. Deut.32.15. Pſal.78.31.

with judgment] That is, by putting a difference between the good and the bad; and ſo give to either according to his work: as in the next verſe. See Pſal.62.11,12.

cattel and cattel] Heb. ſmall cattel of lambs and kids.

he-goates] Heb. great he-goates.

V. 18. Seemeth it a ſmall thing unto you] O ye powerful and rich Jewes, is it not ſufficient for you to enjoy my bleſſings in abundance, unleſſe ye trouble the Poor in the poſſeſſion of their ſmall portion?

to have eaten up the good paſture, but, &c.] By good paſture, and deep waters may be meant the pure word of God, and the adminiſtration of juſtice, which they did not diſtribute to the poor, till they had corrupted it.

CHAP. XXXV.

Verſ. 1. Moreover] Gods Judgments of deſolation upon Mount Seir, for their hatred, bloodineſſe, envy, and anger againſt the Jewes; for their greedineſs after their land and poſſeſſion, and joy at their fall: and for their boaſting, and blaſphemy againſt God.

V. 11. And I will make my ſelf known amongſt them] I will make my ſelf known to my Church, by new tryals of my juſtice and power againſt her enemies; and of my love and mercy towards her.

V. 12. to conſume] Heb. to devour. See Pſal.137.7.

V. 13. boaſted]. Heb. magnified.

and have multiplyed your words againſt me] 1 Sam.2.3.

V. 14. when the whole earth rejoyceth] Namely, when I ſhall cauſe all the world to rejoyce at my peoples deliverance, and their re-eſtabliſhment in their Countrey, then will I increaſe thy deſolation. This was partly verified in the Idumeans; but hath been accompliſhed in the enemies of the Church; whoſe curſe and condemnation increaſed, when ſalvation appeared to the Elect, and Believers through Chriſt. Or, as ſome do render and interpret the words; As that whole land rejoyceth, (that is, though all Edom rejoyce now at Judahs fall) I will make thee deſolate; that is, yet for all thy preſent joy, I will make thee Edom deſolate. And this ſeems beſt to agree with the next verſe.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Verſ. 1. Alſo thou ſon of man] A ſumme of the former Chapter; for Gods Judgments upon Edom, and the Cauſes thereof, here repeated. And notwithſtanding his peoples ſinning, & being therefore chaſtiſed and ſcattered among the Nations, and yet continuing there to ſin, nevertheleſſe for his own names ſake, the Lord gives, and will make good unto them, many great and gracious promiſes, both ſpiritual, and temporal; chiefly in Chriſt.

The ancient high places] Heb. the everlaſting hills. An epithet ordinarily given to high hills, Gen. 49. 26. Deut. 33. 15. Hab. 3. 6. by reaſon of their immoveable firmneſſe; but by figure is chiefly meant the Church, founded upon Gods promiſes, and therefore the chiefeſt of all the world, Deut. 32. 13.

V. 3. becauſe] Heb. becauſe for becauſe.

ye are taken up in the lips of talkers] Or, Ye are made to come upon the lip of the tongue.

V. 4. rivers and to the valleys] Or, bottomes, or, dales.

V. 5. which have appointed my land into their poſſeſſion] they appointed with themſelves to have it; and therefore came with Nebuchadnezzar againſt Jeruſalem for this purpoſe.

V. 6. the ſhame of the heathen] Becauſe you have been a laughing ſtock unto them.

V. 7. I have lifted up mine hand] As Gen. 14. 22, by makeing a ſolemn oath: read Chap. 20. 5.

V. 8. Ye ſhall ſhoot forth your branches] Ye ſhall be endowed with new fruitfulneſs, which my people ſhall enjoy, being ſhortly to come out of Captivity: a figurative deſcription of the happineſs which ſhall be in the world under the Meſſias, in the behalf of the Church.

for they are at hand to come] I will ſhortly bring back the Iſraelites unto you.

V. 9. I will turn unto you] Take care of you, Deut. 11. ver. 12.

V. 11. Then at your beginnings] Which was accompliſhed under Chriſt, to whom all theſe temporals did direct them.

V. 12. Men to walk upon you] That is, upon the mountains of Jeruſalem. Some render the words and ſenſe thus, I will bring men unto you, with my people Iſrael. Men of other Nations, together with the Jews, into the inheritance of my people, to be my people. And in this ſenſe they take alſo the laſt verſe of the 34. Chapter. But this ſeems not ſo genuine and proper to the Nature and Letter of the original words.

bereave them of men] By conſuming them in the land, or ſpewing them out of the land. See Lev. 18. 28. & 20. 22. & 26. 20, 22. God ſeems to attribute here the deſolation which happened to his people, by hunger, peſtilence, and war, to the countrey; by a ſimilitude of evil women, that do kill their burden in the womb.

V. 13. Thou land devoureſt up men] Thou art an accurſed countrey, condemned to all manner of miſery; the inhabitants of which cannot live; the Chanaanites having firſt been rooted out of it; and ſince that, the Iſraelites. This the enemy imputed, as the reproach of the land, which God did for the ſins of the people, according to his juſt judgments, Num. 13. 32.

V. 14. Therefore thou ſhalt devour men no more] Thou ſhalt no more be ſubject to thoſe frequent calamities, which have made thee infamous.

V. 15. the nations to fall any more] By miniſtring to them any occaſion of that reproach, ver. 13. But thou ſhalt foſter thine inhabitants, and yield forth to them all accommodations, and commodities, Hoſ. 2. 22, 23.

V. 17. as the uncleanneſſe of a removed woman] Which is extremely abominable, Lev. Chap. 12. & Chap. 15.

V. 20. they profaned my holy name] By their ſinning amongſt them, Rom. 2. 24. and likewiſe through their miſery, and ſlavery, occaſioned by their own ſins, they have given their enemies occaſion of blaſpheming me; as if I their God could not have ſaved them; or as if I were not faithful in my promiſes. See Eſay 52. 5.

when they ſaid] Theſe are they which call themſelves the Lords people, and come as it were out of his ſchool, and yet are ſo wicked. Thereby they profaned Gods holy Name among the Heathen.

V. 21. but I had pity for mine holy name] Or, tendred mine. For to free my Name from theſe imputations, I have reſolved to forgive my people, and to re-eſtabliſh them.

V. 22. but for my holy names ſake] ver. 32. This excludeth from man all dignity, and mean to deſerve any thing, by ſeeing that God referreth the whole to himſelf, and that onely for the glory of his holy name, Deut. 7. 7, &c. & 9. 5. Iſa. 43. 25.

V. 23. I will ſanctifie my great name] Chap. 28. 22. I will cauſe my divine perfections to be known by the effects, contrary to thoſe ſlanders; that my holy name may be reſpected, and honoured by all men, as it ought to be.

their eyes] Or, your.

V. 24. I will take you from among, &c.] By the return from Babylon, is figured and comprehended the ſalvation of the Church by the Meſſias; together with the abundance of all ſpiritual graces; of vocation, juſtification, regeneration, and holineſs of life, in the verſes following.

V. 25. Then will I ſprinkle clean water upon you] I will largely communicate my grace unto you, and grant you pardon for all your ſins, purchaſed with the price of my ſonnes bloud, which was ſhed for the ſins of the world, Eph. 5. 26. Heb. 9. 14. 1 Joh. 1. 7. Iſa. 44. 23. 1 Pet. 1. 2.

V. 26. A new heart alſo will I give you] Chap. 11. 19. Jer 31. 33. & 32. 39.

the ſtony heart out of the fleſh] Namely, the hard heart, which hath been inflexible to my Spirit, of my Word and Judgments, and impenetrable to my grace.

of fleſh] Pliable, and capable of being inlived and governed by my Spirit; as amongſt natural bodies, there is none fitting nor apt to receive and contain the vital Spirit, but onely the fleſhly body.

V. 27. Spirit within you] Chap. 11. 19.

V. 29. Save you] By my free juſtification, I will free you from that puniſhment which your filthineſs deſerves: and by the ſanctification of my Spirit, I will free you from the corruption and ſlavery of ſin.

I will call for the corn] By mine almighty Word, I will cauſe all manner of good things to be brought forth unto you, as if they came upon a call; as Pſal. 105. 16.

V. 31. Then ſhall ye remember your own evil wayes] Chap. 6. 9. & 20. 43.

lothe your ſelves] Ye ſhall come to true repentance, and think your ſelves unworthy to be of the number of Gods Creatures for your ingratitude againſt him.

V. 32. Not for your ſakes do I this] Not for any deſert or worth that is in you; as ver. 22.

V. 35. the garden of Eden] Chap. 28. 13. Eſay 33. 20, &c.

V. 36. ſhall know] He declares, that it is God that brings a Kingdom and Countrey, from ruine and deſolation, to a flouriſhing eſtate; and that it ought not ſo much to be referred to the ſoil or plentifulneſs of the earth, that any countrey is rich and abundant, as to Gods mercies: as his plagues, and curſes do declare, when he can, and doth make it barren for ſin, Pſal. 107. 33, 34.

I the Lord have ſpoken it] Chap. 17. 24. and 22. 14. and 37. 14.

V. 37. I will yet] I will be prompt and ready to do it: or, though I have promiſed to beſtow on them theſe good things, yet I will by prayer be ſought unto for them, and will give them multitudes of people to enjoy them; as ver. 10. 11.

enquired] Or, ſought to; as Iſa. 55. 6. Pſal. 111. 2.

V. 38. as the holy flock] Heb. flock of holy things, which was brought into Jeruſalem, at the three ſolemn feaſts, for ſacrifices, in innumerable quantities; ſo ſhall the multitudes of the faithful be, who are all made ſpiritual prieſts in Chriſt, to offer up ſpiritual ſacrifices, Rom. 12. 1.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Verſ. 1. THe hand] Under a Type of dried bones is ſhadowed out the Jewes deſperate condition in, and wonderful deliverance out of, the captivity of Babylon; and under the type of two ſticks united, is ſet forth the union of Judah and Iſrael; of Jew and Gentile, in the perfect inſtauration of the Church, under Chriſt.

of a valley] Meſopotamia, and all Chaldea, were full of Champains, plains, and valleys, Gen. 11. 2.

full of bones] He ſheweth by a great miracle, that God hath power, and will alſo deliver his people from their captivity in Babylon; in as much as he is able to give life to the dead bones, and bodies, and to raiſe them up again.

V. 2. very many] verſ. 10.

valley] Or, champain.

V. 3. theſe bones] So dry.

live?] By any way, or natural power, that thou knoweſt, be brought to their former ſtate of life in this world? for the article of reſurrection is not here queſtioned.

V. 4. Propheſie upon theſe bones] Be thou the inſtrument and interpreter of mine almighty Will and Word; by which in viſion theſe bones ſhall ſeem to thee, to have life put into them; for a ſign that by my power, my people ſhall be reeſtabliſht in their former eſtate.

V.7. there was a noiſe] A fore-going ſign of Gods glorious preſence, ſhewing his power, in a miraculous and ſupernatural work, Chap.3.12. Act.2.2.

bone to his bone] Joyning themſelves again into their natural Joints.

V. 9. wind] or, breath.

And ſay to the wind] To the ſoul of man, or to the holy Ghoſt it ſelf; whoſe perſonal property is to quicken, and cauſe all things to live, Pſal.104.30.

Come from the four winds] For to ſignifie the reſtauration of the people from all thoſe places where they had been ſcattered.

And breath upon theſe ſlain] Send the Soul and Spirit of Life into every one of theſe dead bodies, by the operation of thy divine power. He ſeems to have reſpect to the manner of the creating, and infuſing the Soul into Adam: deſcribed Gen.2.7.

V. 11. theſe bones are] The interpretation and application of the fore-going Type.

our bones are dried] We are deſtroyed beyond hope of reſtauration; we are in Babylon like dried bones, in a ſepulchre, or ſcattered at the graves mouth, Pſal.141.7.

V.12. I will open your graves] Iſa.26.19. Hoſ.13.14. Ioh.5. 28,29.

V.13. when I have opened your graves] That is, when I have brought you out of thoſe places, and townes, where you are captives.

V. 17. into one ſtick] Which ſignified the joining together of the two houſes of Iſrael and Judah, ver.22.

V. 19. I will take] The interpretation, and application of this Type.

ſtick of Joſeph] Of the ten Tribes repreſented by the ſtick of Joſeph: by reaſon that the tribe of Ephraim, the ſon of Joſeph, had ruled over them.

V. 22. And I will make them one nation] verſ.19, Iſa.11.13. Jer.3.18. Hoſ.1.11. And under this, as a type, may be ſhadowed and comprehended, the gathering together of Jew and Gentile, into one viſible Church, under Chriſt; annihilating by the Croſs of Chriſt, the diviſions and enmities of the Nations; as of Judah, and of the ten tribes; which oftentimes are uſed by the Prophets for a figure of the diviſion, which was between the Jews and the Gentiles, Iſa.11.13. Eph.2.14, 15,16. And laſtly, the uniting of all the elect, of what Nation ſoever they be, into one ſpiritual body.

one King ſhall be King to them all] verſ. 24. Joh.10.16. the Meſſias.

V. 23. their dwelling places] Whereſoever they ſhall be in exile or captivity, as in Babylon, in Egypt, and other places of the world; where either willingly, or by compulſion, they have been partakers of Pagan idolatries, Ezek.14.3. & 20.30. 39. Jer.44.8.

V. 24. David] Chap.34.23. Iſa.40.11. Jer.23.5. & 30.9. Dan.9.24,25. Hoſ.3.5. Jeſus Chriſt the ſon of David according to the fleſh.

V.27. I will be their God] Chap.11.20. & 14.11.

V.28. Do ſanctifie Iſrael] That is, do take it, and conſecrate it to my ſelf, and by my preſence do keep it holy, and inviolable, againſt all manner of injuries and offences.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

Verſ.1. AND] The army, malice, and miſchief of Gog and his adherents, againſt the Jews, after their return out of Captivity, and before the coming of the Meſſias. Gods judgments upon Gog therefore.

the word of the Lord came] That theſe two Chapters following belong to the ſame thing, it plainly appears. In the Chapters before, the Prophet fore-told two things: firſt the reſtoring of his people from the Babyloniſh Captivity: Secondly, their uniting in Chriſts Kingdome. But after their return, and before the coming of the Meſſiah, and ſetting up of his Kingdom, God ſheweth them afore-hand, in theſe two Chapters, that many calamities ſhould happen to them, and many judgments from God ſhould fall upon the enemies of the Church. The like anticipation is uſed, Jer. 31. verſe 15.

V. 2. Set thy face againſt] Chap.6.2. & 35.2. This Propheſie is to be referred to the deſolation that ſhould come upon the Jewes after their return from Babylon, Dan.8. and 11. Chapters.

Gog] Rev.20.8. that is, the Kings of Aſia minor, and Syria, whoſe hiſtory is in the bookes of the Maccabees: where it is ſhewed how it came to paſs, that they, and their armies fell in Judea. And theſe two names Gog and Magog largely note the Kingdome of the Seleucidæ; in Aſia Minor, Græcia, Syria, and thoſe parts, wherein divers of the name of Seleucus, as Antiochus, Demetrius, Nicanor, did reign and rule. To the ſame alſo do belong Meſhech, Tubal, Paras, Gomer, and Togarma, verſ.5,6.

the land of Magog] Or, in the land. Moſt likely the inhabitants of Scythia, or Sarmatia: which did over-run the countries, even to Syria, and built Hierapolis, called in the Syrian tongue Magog; as ſome note out of Pliny, lib. 5. Chap. 23.

the chief prince of Meſhech] Or, prince of the chief; that is, of a province which ſhall rule over others, or be governour of many: for the Prophet reciteth the names of certain Nations, by whom are to be underſtood, all they, whoſe endeavour and help the Kings of Syria uſed to invade Judea; as appears ver.5. and in the following verſes.

of Meſhech and Tubal] See Annotations on Chap. 27. ver.13.

V. 3. O Gog] That is, all the Nations, Miniſters to the king of Syria, to overthrow my people. Gog, or Gyges properly, was ſervant to Candaules King of Lydia, whom the Queen would have killed, becauſe the King might ſet him where he might ſee her naked, going to bed to her husband, except he would agree with her to kill his maſter Candaules, and marry her, which he did perform; and to root out Candaules his name, who came of Lydus, of whom the countrey was named Lydia, he called the country Lydia, by the name of Gygea, or Gogs land. Cræſus, Gogs ſucceſſour, was conquered by Cyrus the Perſian. The Perſians were conquered by the Greeks, who holding that land, are here called Gog and Magog.

V. 4. I will turn thee back] Chap.39.2. After thou haſt aſſaulted my people, thou ſhalt turn into Syria, and to thine own place. The Syrian kings made many incurſions into Judea. Or rather, After the aforeſaid aſſaults, and return, I will turn thee back thither again to re-aſſault them; but to thine own deſtruction.

and put hooks into thy chaws] 2 King. 19. 28. Ezek.29.4.

I will bring thee forth] That is, I will bring thee, and the Nations, which are named in the following verſes, forth out of their countries: ſhewing that the enemies ſhould bend themſelves againſt the Church; but it ſhould be to their own deſtruction.

all of them] Chap.23.12.

clothed with all ſorts of armour] That is, compleatly furniſhed with military neceſſaries.

V. 5. Perſia] Whereof part paid tribute to Antiochus Epiphanes, Macc.3.31.

Ethiopia] In Hebrew, Cuſh: he was the firſt born of Cham, Gen.10.6. The Ethiopians came of him; and here, as divers times elſewhere, the firſt Fathers are put for the poſterity ariſing from them.

Libia with them] Or, Phut, the third ſon of Ham, Gen.10. 6. of whom came the Cyreneans. By the help of the Ethiopians (ſpoken of before) and the Cyreneans, Alexander was put to flight, and Demetrius reſtored to the kingdom by Ptolemy Evergetes, 1 Macc.18. & 11. Chapters.

V. 6. Gomer] Gomer was Japhets firſt ſon, and Togarmah the third ſon of Gomer, Gen.10.2,3. and are thought to be they that inhabite Aſia Minor, whoſe poſterity were ſubject to the Seleucidæ.

Togarma] See Annotations on Chap.27.14.

V. 7. Prepare for thy ſelf] Signifying, that all the people of theſe countries, ſhould aſſemble themſelves againſt the Church of the Jews, and that the land of Gog and Magog, by Grecians, ſhould afflict them; with great helps from many Northern countries, ver.15. Chap.39.2.

V.8. a guard unto them] That is, be thou their Emperour, to keep them from hoſtile aſſault. Some ſay, that Gog ſhould compaſs the mountains of Iſrael, as in the next verſe, with the multitude of his armies, and think to hold all the Jews, as ſhut in priſon, or incloſed in a pit. And that kings of Syria have done ſo, all hiſtories teſtifie; ſo verſ. 9. Others ſay, it is an ironical ſpeech; as if he ſhould ſay, Defend them, if it may be, from my power and battel, which I will give them.

V. 8. after many dayes] To wit, in the times of the Maccabees, above two hundred years after this Prophecy; in the parted kingdom of the Greeks, under the Selencidæ, and Lagidæ; the kings of the North, and South, Dan. 11. This fell out, viſited] That is, in anger: Or, God will puniſh thee, O Gog; and from the times of Selencus Nicanor, the wonderful judgments of God began to be executed, for the defence of his people, againſt the Grecian kings.

in the latter years] A little before the coming of Chriſt in the fleſh: whence there ſhould begin a new world.

brought back from the ſword] Saved from the precedent ruines of war: a deſcription of the land of Iſrael. But by the land is to be underſtood the inhabitants; becauſe it is ſaid to be brought back, as it was promiſed, Chap. 37.

againſt] Or, upon.

alwaies waſte] That is, a long time, and which ſeemed never to have been reſtored to its former ſtate.

V. 9. like a ſtorm] See Prov. 1.27. Job 30. 14.

V. 10. think an evil thought] Or, conceive a miſchievous purpoſe, to moleſt and deſtroy the Jews.

V. 11. of unwalled villages] Meaning Judea; which was deſtroyed, and not yet built again. And this black face, or ſad condition befel her, from the vaſtation wrought, by the Chaldeans, under King Nebuchadnezzar, who deſtroyed the Cities and defenced places, leaving them but unwalled towns. See Deut. 3.5.

reſt] Haply relating hereby, in part, to the ſimplicity of the godly, who ſeek not ſo much to fortifie themſelves, by outward force, as to depend on the providence and goodneſſe of God.

Safely] Or, confidently: or, ſecurely.

V. 12. to take a ſpoil] Heb. to ſpoil the ſpoil, and to prey the prey.

to turn thine hand upon the deſolate places] To renew, and bring again the ancient deſolations of this poor Country, reſtored from its former ruines; to ſpoil them again.

midſt of the land] In Hebrew, Upon the Navel of the land. That is, in the higher places, as mountains and hills; or, in the heart or middle, where there is more ſecurity, then in the confines: a metaphor; ſuch as is, Judg. 9.37.

V. 13. Sheba and Dedan] The Arabians; Sheba and Dedans poſterity. They came of Chuſh, Gen. 10.7. See Annotations on Chap. 27.15, 20, 22.

merchants of Tarſhiſh] There chiefly are to be underſtood, they of Tyrus and Sydon, and others paſſing the ſeas for gain: meaning the Arabians and Marine Nations, will come to thee to partake in thy ſpoils.

young Lions thereof] The Pirates and Robbers at ſea, which are, as it were, the ſea-beaſts. Others ſay, merchants that lye in wait for gain, as the Lion doth for his prey.

Art thou come?] Without us? As if they ſhould ſay, If therefore thou comeſt, we will joyn with thee. Others thus, One enemy ſhall envy another; becauſe every one ſhall think to have the ſpoil of the Church.

V. 14. dwelleth ſafely] Or, ſecretly; at peace with all, and ſuſpecting nothing; Then ſhalt thou ſpie thine occaſions to come againſt my Church, when they ſuſpect nothing.

ſhalt thou not know it?] That is, Thou ſhalt ſurely know my judgment againſt thee for this; as may appear, by comparing the 16. 18. and following verſes.

V. 16. latter dayes] Meaning in the latter age, before the coming of the Meſſiah.

be ſanctified in thee] When in puniſhing thee, O Gog, I ſhall manifeſt my ſelf to be a holy and powerful God, Chap. 28.22. See Levit. 10.3.

V. 17. Art thou he?] Meaning, ſurely thou art he.

old time] There are no footſteps of this prediction before Ezekiels time; and therefore this word, Old, ſhould be underſtood in compariſon, not of the Prophets age? but of the time of execution, which fell out above two hundred years after this Prophet.

by my ſervants] Heb. by the hands. Hereby God declareth, that no affliction can come to the Church, whereof they have not been advertiſed afore-time: to teach them, to endure all things with more patience, when they know that God hath ſo ordained it. And this affliction, is fore-told by this Prophet Ezekiel, in this, and the next Chapter, and by Daniel, Chap. 11. & Zach. 14. See the like, Eſay 48. 3, &c.

V. 18. fury ſhall come up in my face] Pſal. 18.8. A ſpeech after the manner of men; taken from them that puff in the noſe, when they are exceeding angry.

V. 19. great ſhaking] All creatures ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and afraid, at the preſence of my glorious Majeſty, in the puniſhment of my enemies.

V. 20. ſo that the fiſhes of the Sea] By theſe ſtrange expreſſions, God ſetteth forth the grievouſneſs of his anger that was to come.

ſteep places ſhall fall Or, towres, or ſtairs. All means, whereby man may think to ſave himſelf, ſhall fail; the afflictions in thoſe dayes ſhall be ſo great, and the deſtruction of the enemies ſhall be ſo terrible.

V. 21. I will call for a ſword] This was in part fulfilled by the Maccabees; and partly by Civil Wars of the Grecian Kings; whence the ruine of that Empire did ariſe.

every mans ſword] That is, of the Souldiers of Gog; as it happened to the Midianites, Judg. 7.22. 2 Chr. 22.23.

V. 22. I will plead againſt him] My ſelf; that is, with many, and great Judgments will I deſtroy him.

I will rain upon him] I will make a miraculous diſcomfiture and deſtruction. Theſe terms ſeem to be borrowed from the fire of Sodom; and the hailſtones of Joſhua, Joſh. 10.11.

V. 23. I will magnifie my ſelf] Chap. 36.23. & 28.22.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Verſ. 1. THerefore thou ſon of man] Further Judgements againſt Gog, to be executed on him, and his, in the land of Iſrael, viz. to be diſarmed, and armes burnt, to be ſlain; and part buried there, ſet out with the circumſtances thereof; part unburied, for a prey to the birds and beaſts. The end and uſe of theſe Judgments, both to the Jewes and heathen Nations. Concludes with a glorious promiſe to his people, of bringing them back, and bleſſing them with Grace.

againſt Gog] Chap. 38. 2, 14. Further denunciation of Judgment againſt him; Chiefly to be executed in the Land of Iſrael.

V. 2. And I will turn thee back] as Chap. 38.4.

and leave but the ſixth part of thee] Or rather, as the marginal reading is, draw thee back with an hook of ſix teeth.

North parts] Heb. the ſides of the North.

V. 3. ſmite thy bow] I will diſarm thee. This appears fulfilled in the hiſtory of the Maccabees, ſundry times.

V. 4. fall upon the mountains] Where they came to vanquiſh Iſrael in their own Land, there ſhould theſe enemies be deſtroyed by them.

ſort] Heb. wing.

to be devoured] Heb. to devour.

V. 5. the open field] Heb. the face of the field.

V. 6. fire on Magog] That is, an extream deſolation and ruine; as Chap. 38.22. will God ſend upon the Inhabitants of the Land of Magog.

careleſly] Or, confidently.

in the Iſles] Iſa. 41.1, 5. as the Tyrians, and Sidonians, and all the confederates of Magog. Confer with this, Chap. 38.39. In all places where the enemies of my people dwell, ſeem they never ſo far ſeparate, or ſecure.

V. 7. Pollute my holy Name] Be polluted by the blaſphemies, and inſultations of my enemies.

V. 8. It is come] That is, This plague is fully determined in my Counſel, and cannot be changed; ſhall as ſurely come, as if come already.

V. 9. ſhall go forth] Hyberbolical terms, to expreſſe an exceeding great diſcomfiture. After which the Church ſhall have great peace and tranquillity; and burn all the weapons of the ſlain Macedonians; ſee ver. 10. becauſe they ſhall no more fear the enemy. And this is chiefly effected at the accompliſhment of Chriſt his Kingdome; when by their head Chriſt, all enemies ſhall be overcome.

hand-ſtaves] Or, javelins.

burn them] Or, make a fire of them.

ſeven years] How often in Scripture, is a finite number put for an indefinite? yea this number of ſeven. See Gen. 4.15. Job 5.19. Prov. 9.1. & 24.16. Meaning here by ſeven years, a long time. See ver. 12.14.

V. 11. A place there of graves] Not a poſſeſſion of the land which he did earneſtly covet; but contrarily I will ſlay them there, ſo that in that land, part of the enemies ſhall be buried, unto verſ. the 17. Part unburied ſhall be torn of beaſts, thence to the 21. verſe: which declareth, that the enemies ſhall have an horrible fall.

the valley] There is no mention elſewhere of this valley. It is likely, it was a fair and large valley, much frequented by ſtrangers that came to Judea. The end is to ſhew the immenſe ſlaughter by the place deſtined for burial, which was ſo great a valley, which ſhould ſeem, in ſome ſort, to be filled up, and obſtructed to paſſengers, by bodies, and bones.

on the Eaſt of the Sea] He underſtands either the dead Sea, the lake of Sodome; or elſe the Sea of Tiberias, the lake of Geneſareth.

ſtop] The Noſes, by reaſon of the ſtink: or, the mouthes of the paſſengers; that ſeeing ſuch a ſlaughter there, they ſhall not dare to open their mouthes againſt the Jews.

Hamon-Gog] That is, the multitude of Gog.

V. 12. Cleanſe the land] Becauſe, according to the Law, a dead body unburied, defiled the land, Deut.21.23.

ſeven moneths] ver.14. See Annotations on ver.9.

V. 13. it ſhall be to them] This great mountain, as it were, of bodies and bones, ſhall be to them inſtead of a glorious Trophee and Monument.

I ſhall be glorified] To wit, over thoſe enemies of my people, by cutting them off. See Chap.28,22.

V. 14. ſever out] Becauſe thoſe people were unclean according to the Law, Num.19.11.

men of continual employment] Heb. men of continuance. Men of publick employment, for the burying of the dead.

to bury] Partly, that the holy land ſhould not be polluted; and partly for the Compaſſion that the Children of God have even on their enemies.

with the paſſengers] Likely, taking the help of ſtrangers, whom they ſhall meet with in the way.

V. 15. He ſet up a ſign] Heb. build. To ſhew to the buriers, that yonder be bones of dead bodies to bury; and ſo to cleanſe the Countrey.

V. 16. The name of the city] There ſhall remain a perpetual memory of diſcomfiture; ſo that the next City, as it may ſeem, on the top of this valley, ſhall bear the Name Hamonah, that is multitude. Or, according to ſome, From this multitude of the ſlain ſhall grow a name and fame to the City Jeruſalem, 1 Macc.13. & 14. Chapters.

V. 17. unto every feathered fowl] Heb. to the fowl of every wing.

Aſſemble your ſelves] Iſa. 18. 6. & 34. 6. Jer. 12. 9. Rev. 19. 17.

gather your ſelves on every ſide] Whereby is ſignified the horrible deſtruction that ſhould come on the enemies of his Church.

to my ſacrifice] Or, ſlaughter; that is, to the ſupper prepared by me, conſiſting of ſlain men, and fatlings.

V. 18. the mighty] Perſons not vile or baſe; and the fleſh, not of unclean or ſtarveling beaſts: but renowned and delicate fleſh, fatted in Baſhan; which was a mount excellent for feeding Cattel; as you may ſee, Numb. 32. 4. Deut. 32. 14.

goats] Heb. great goats.

V. 20. Table, with horſes] Warriours on horſes, and in Chariots.

V. 21. and I will ſet my glory] That is, make it clearly appear. Here is the end of Gods judgments.

and my hand that I have laid upon them] My hand of judgments, Job 23.2. & 27.11.

V. 23. For their iniquity] The Heathen ſhall know, that they overcame not my people, by their ſtrength, neither yet by the weakneſſe of mine arm; But that this was for my peoples ſins.

therefore hid I my face from them] Pſal.10.1. & 13.2. & 27. 9. I laid aſide the care of them; I withdrew my help from them.

ſo fell they all by the ſword] The whole ſtate or body of the people; or indifferently, of every condition, or quality.

V. 25. Now will I bring again] The Prophet concludes with Gods glorious Promiſes to his people, to bring again their Captivity, and to bleſſe them with grace.

V. 27. am ſanctified] Chap.36.23.

V. 28. which cauſed them to be led into captivity] Heb. by my cauſing of them, &c.

V. 29. poured out my ſpirit] Joel 2.28. Act.2.17. whereupon they being ſanctified by me, I will take pleaſure in them for ever. As on the contrary, ſin is that which turns Gods face from his Church.

CHAP. XL.

Verſ. 1. IN] The difficulty of the right underſtanding of this viſion following; and ſpecially of the three firſt Chapters of it, the 40,41,42. is ſuch as gave chief occaſion to that Order and ordinance, among the Jews, that none under the age of 30 years, ſhould be admi[illegible] to the reading of it. And ſome of their learned Rabbie[illegible] Expoſitors have profeſſed, that divers paſſages of it muſt be left to the comeing of their Elias, whom they again expect; deſpairing, but by him, of the true meaning of them. Some Papiſts have ſpent many years, and beſtowed much labour, in commenting upon this viſion; yet fall ſhort of their own ſatisfaction; and fully acknowledge their own inſufficiency for ſo hard a Task. They tye themſelves to their Latine Tranſlation, which is a ground of erring to them: and ſparingly touching upon the literal ſenſe, they largely run out into Allegorical, Analogical, and Tropological ſenſes, and uſes of their own. And ſome of them, in this regard of difficulty, hardly abſtain from blaſphemous expreſſions againſt the holy textman, and his text. As Sanctius in his Argument upon this Chapter, calls the Deſcription of the Temple, with its Courts, and Chambers, in this Viſion, inſulſam deſcriptionem. And afterwards, it ſeems, pleaſeth himſelf in laying the ſame imputation upon it, the ſame word, the ſecond time. And among all ſorts of Divines, Ancient and Modern, Greek and Latine Fathers, and Late and learned Writers of the Reformed Religion, many have waved this Viſion of Ezekiel, and not undertaken the expoſition of it. We may not yet paſſe by it, lying thus in our way; But ſhall endeavour to give ſome light unto it, and be an help to thoſe that ſhall come after us.

the five and twentieth year of our captivity] He reckoneth, not by the years of Kings, but by the years of their Captivity. And this captivity was that of Jehojachin, or Jeconiah, called alſo Coniah; and falls in with the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah. See 2 King.24.12——17. and compare Ezek.24.1,2. with 2 King.25.1. And the Prophet beginning his compt from this date, Chap.1.2. he ſtill goes on to make the ſame his conſtant Epoche, or riſe of all his reckonings of the times. See Chap.8.1. & 20.1. & 24.1. & 26.1. & 29.1, 17. & 30.20. & 31.1. & 32.1,17. & 33.21. There are twenty years between Ezekiels firſt Viſion, and this viſion. That was in the twelfth of Nebuchadnezzar, and fifth of Ezekiels Captivity. And this in Nebuchadnezzars thirty two, and Ezekiels five and twentieth. This indeed is the fiftieth year from the eighteenth of Joſiah; whereof Chap. 1.1. But no Jubilee, (as ſome would have it,) not falling in with the Jubilees juſt accompt.

our Captivity] He ſo calls it, becauſe being young, was then led away Captive. See Annotations on Chap.1.1.

Captivity] Heb. migration, Mat.1.11,17. tranſmigration, tranſportation, carrying away.

in the beginning of the year] Heb. the head of that year; that is, the firſt moneth. See Annotations on Exod. 12. 2. That moneth was called Abib, and Niſan, which beginneth with or about our vernall equinoctial, and anſwereth to part of our March; and it is ſtill called the firſt moneth, where ever the moneths of the year are Numerically named, and counted in Scripture. And though the in-gatherings, or end of harveſt, which fell in their Tizri, and our September, be ſaid to be at the years end, Exod.23.16. & Chap.34.22. and the year of Jubilee be appointed to begin in that ſame moneth, Lev.25.9. yet there it ſelf that moneth is called the ſeventh moneth, not the firſt: ſo conſtantly are the reckonings of the moneths of the year kept according to that Ordinance, Exod.12.2. And therefore the beginning of the year here muſt be underſtood to be in the Vernal, not Autumnall equinoctial. See Annotations on Chap.8.1.

in the tenth day] When the Paſchal Lamb was to be taken up, and kept, Exod.12.3,6.

in the fourteenth year after] The fourteenth year from the eleventh of Zedekiah, when the City Hieruſalem was deſtroyed, and the Temple burnt, 2 King.25.2,3,7,8,9. which fourteen added to the eleven of Zedekiah, make up the five and twentieth mentioned immediately before.

in the ſelf-ſame day] Heb. in the bone, or, in the ſtrength of the day.

The hand of the Lord was upon me] Chap.1.3. & 8.1. & 33. 22. & 37.1. His Divine power was upon me, as after is ſhewed in this Prophetical Viſion; and I came under the power of his Hand, and Spirit. I was in the Spirit, rapt and raviſhed; as Rev.1.10. 2 Cor.12.2.

and brought me thither] To the place where the City and Temple had been.

V. 2. In the viſions] There are many parts and particulars in this viſion.

viſions of God] Great and wonderful, and divine viſions. See Annotations on Chap.1.ver.1. Thus the goodlieſt Cedars are called the Cedars of God, Pſal. 80. 10. and mighty mountains, the mountains of God, Pſal. 36.6. And thus we read of the garden of God, the city of God, the man of God. the increaſing of God; the wraſtlings of God, Gen. 30. 8. Jonah 3.3. Theſe viſions ſet forth the ſpiritual building, and reſtauration of the Church, by the coming of Chriſt, and preaching of the Goſpel. They are ſhadowed out, under types and figures of corporal things. Thus for mans weakneſs, ſpiritual things, ſuch as eye hath not ſeen, nor can ſee, muſt be ſet forth by earthly compariſons. And herein the Prophet from God, applies himſelf to the place where, the time when, and the perſons among whom he was. He prefigures here, the perfect ſtate and conſtitution of the Chriſtian Church, under the types of the re-building of the temple, Chap.40.41,42. of the reſtauration of the Levitical worſhip and ſervice, Chap. 43. 44. of the re-poſſeſſion, and inhabitation of the whole land; the kingdom of Canaan, and of the city of Jeruſalem, in the four laſt Chapters.

brought he me] Not in body, but in ſpirit. Yet the viſion of his mind was ſo clear, and perſpicuous, as if not in phanſie, but with bodily eyes he had beheld the ſame. See Chap. 8.3.

And ſet me upon] From thence he comes down to the foot of it, verſ.5.

a very high mountain] The mountain of the temple: on the South-ſide of which, the city it ſelf lay. Mount Moriah, where Iſaac, by Gods command to Abraham, was bound to be ſacrificed, Gen. 22. 2.9. where David buying the place, built an altar, in the threaſhing-floor of Araunah, or Ornan, the Jebuſite, and there offered to the Lord burnt-offerings, and peace-offerings, and the plague was ſtayed, 2 Sam.24.16, 21,25. 1 Chro. 21 16. where afterward, by Solomon, the temple was built, 2 Chro.3.1. This mount was high, for it was ſeen far off, Gen.22.4. This mount Sion (for ſo moſt uſually it is called) was a type of the Church, Pſal. 2.6. & 48. 2. And as it was a figure of the ſpiritual temple under Chriſt, when the Church was to be made Catholick; ſee of it, Eſay 2. 2, 3. & 25. 6,7,8,9,10. Mic. 4. 1,2. Rev.21.10. The mount may ſhadow out the Churches ſtrength, and firm ſtability; its ſafety, ſplendor, and viſibility. And yet a city upon a mount, may be hid ſometimes with clouds, miſts, fogs, tempeſts; and ſeen onely of them that are within it. And it may alſo mind us to mount our thoughts on high, to heaven-ward, Col.3.1,2. The woman hath the Moon under her feet, Apoc.12.1.

By which was as the frame of a city on the South] Or, upon which mountain, was as the frame of a city on the South. The city Jeruſalem had formerly been built thereby; and was after by Zerubbabel and Nehemiah built there. But here the City Jeruſalem is not meant: For in this viſion it was to be built from the temple ſouthwards, ſundry miles; as appears, Chap. 45.1,2,3,4,5,6. & Chap. 48.8, 9, 10, 13, 15,16,17,18,19,20. See the Annotations on Chap. 48.15. Which among other things, ſhews this viſion of the temple and city, not to be meant literally; but miſtically, of the ample and flouriſhing eſtate of Chriſts Church under the Goſpel. And the words here are, as the frame of the city; that is, The temple here ſhewen in viſion, was built like the frame of a city, of ſuch largeneſs, and with ſo many walls, gates, courts and towers, as a city. And this building appeared on the South to the Prophet, that came in viſion from Babylon, which ſtands thence moſt northerly; not that this building was on the South part of the hill. See Pſal.48.2.

V. 3. And behold] To raiſe attention; See Gen. 28. 12.13.

a man] An Angel in the likeneſſe of a man, prefiguring Chriſt, Chap. 1.26. & 9. 2. & 43.6. where he ſeems diſtinct from the Lord, ſpeaking out of the temple, Zeph.6. 12. The man Gabriel is named, Dan. 9. 2. but yet here, moſt likely is meant the Angel of the Covenant, Chriſt himſelf, uſually appearing as a man, and ſtyled a man, Gen. 18. 1, 13. & 32. 24,30. Joſh.5.13,14. Judg. 13. 11, &c. Dan.7.13. Act.17.31. Rev.1.13. & 11.1. & Chap.14.14.

like the appearance of braſſe] As burniſht, and burning braſs; as fire, Chap.1.7.Rev. 1.15. This may intimate, Chriſts purity, ſanctity; yea, his divinity, as ſome will. He appears not here, as an angry Judge; as Chap.1.27. But lovingly, as a Maſter Builder.

with a line of flaxe in his hand, and a meaſuring reed] Likely the one, in the one hand; and the other, in the other. This line or cord might be to meaſure the greater ſpaces; as the compaſs of the outer wall, the floores of the whole building, and of the Courts, the waters, Ch.47.3. ſerving well for ſuch uſes, Zach. 2. 1,2. And the Reed, or Rod, to meaſure the height and thickneſs of the walls, and the proportion of the gates, chambers, porches, and things of the Temple. And this much uſed, and moſt fit, for lightneſs, ſtiffneſs, and other ways, for ſuch purpoſes, Rev. 11.1. & Ch.21.15. A golden Reed is there, to meaſure the golden and heavenly Jeruſalem. Our meaſuring line, and Reed, muſt be the ſacred Scriptures. By them muſt Gods houſe be built and ordered. To this doth allude the manner of ſpeech, Eſay 28.10. Gal.6.16. Phil. 3.16. See Exod. 25.9,40. Act.7. 44. Heb.8.5.

and he ſtood in the gate] Or, by the gate. As the keeper of the Temple, as the Guider and Teacher of the Prophet; He having, indeed, the direction and adminiſtration of the Spiritual Building; as the Lord of the houſe, and heir of all, having the charge and power of opening and ſhutting, Heb. 1. 2. & 3.6. Joh.10.2,3. Rev.3.7. In the North gate of the outmoſt wall, moſt likely, next to one coming from Babylon, and next to the Eaſt angle or corner on that ſquare. Chriſt is the gate, and way, and as it were the door keeper to the father, Joh.14 6. & 10.9 Rom.5.2. Cant.2.9.

V. 4. Son of Man] See Annotations on Chap.2.1. Here is the end and uſe of the viſion, behold with thine eyes, and hear] So did the Lord reveal to Moſes in viſion, the faſhion of the Tabernacle; To David, the faſhion of the Temple; and to John, the new Jeruſalem Here Ezekiel was to learn ſome things by ſight, ſome things by hearing, Prov.20.12. yet theſe words are not to be underſtood here of the bodily ſenſes properly; for he was now in body, in the countrey of Babylon: but of the anſwerable faculties of the mind.

Set thine heart upon all] He was to lay up all in his heart, take it to heart, as the phraſes are uſed, Pſal.62.10. 2 Sam. 21.11. 2 Sam.19.19. to mark and weigh all, to mind and remember all, with all diligence poſſible, Mat. 11.15. Apoc.2. 11. Mat.24.15. Jer.48.10. & Ezek.44.5.

for to the intent —— to declare all, &c.] The Angel is a Prophet, to the Prophet Ezekiel; and Ezekiel the Prophet, is an Angel to the Church.

Declare] We muſt learn to teach others: what uſe of a candle hid under a buſhel? Mat.10.27. 2 Tim. 4.2. For to teach others, for their uſe and ſake; as Joh.12.30. is Ezekiel here inſtructed, Ezek.43.10,11. Thus Paul did, Act.20.20,27. Thus our Saviour preſcribes, Mat.28.20. and practiſeth, Joh. 15.15.

declare all] By words, deeds, geſtures, to the Church. Not any thing here is ſuperfluous or impertinent.

To the houſe of Iſrael] This concerns both Jew and Gentile, Rom.11.20.

V. 5. And behold a wall on the outſide of the houſe round about] The outmoſt wall of ſtone, incloſing the houſe, temple, and courts, porches, chambers, and whole buildings. So largly is Houſe taken; as elſewhere, 2 Sam.7.5,6. 1 Chr. 22.5. So Ezek. 43. 12. And this wall was four ſquare, as after appears, Chap.42.16. &c. and ſo compaſſing the houſe round about; or, as the Hebrew is, round about, round about. See Eſay 26.1. Zach.2.4,5.

A meaſuring reed of ſix cubits long, by the cubit, and an hand breadth] The length of the meaſuring reed, or rod, is here ſet down, as the ſure rule of the meaſures following. But here two queſtions, and doubts are made; Firſt, of the length of the Cubit. And ſecondly, whether the hand breadth is to be added to every one of the ſix Cubits in the reed, or onely one hand breadth to the whole reed. The length of the cubit is a thing very conſiderable. For by cubits are reckoned almoſt all meaſures of buildings in Scripture. By cubits are meaſured the Ark of Noah, and the prevailing of the waters. By cubits are meaſured Moſes Tabernacle, the Ark, Mercy Seat, Table of ſhew-bread, Curtains, Boards, Altar of incenſe, Altar of burnt-offerings, Court, and hangings of it. By Cubits are meaſured Solomons Temple, the Oracle, Sanctuary, Porch, Pillars, Chambers, Cherubins, Molten Sea, Lavers, with their baſes and wheels, Altar of burnt-offerings. And ſo here in Ezekiels Temple, by Cubits are meaſured, the Gates, Poſtes, Porches, Arches, Chambers, Courts, Tables, Altar of burnt-offerings, and all within and adjoyning to the houſe it ſelf, Porch, Temple, and Oracle. And ſo by Cubits is meaſured the wall of the heavenly Jeruſalem, Apoc. 21. ver.17.

Now a Cubit properly ſignifieth the elbow, and in meaſuring it ſignifieth commonly the length from the elbow, to the end of the longeſt finger: which is ſomewhat more then the fourth part of a mans ſtature. And thus it differs, and is uncertain according to the ſeveral ſtatures of men, in one age, much more in ſeveral ages. Virgil ſpeaking of the ſtone lifted up and thrown by Turnus hath theſe words, vix illud lecti bis Sex Cervice ſubirent, Qualia nunc hominum producit Corpora tellus. Æneid.lib.12. See Auguſ. de Civ. dei lib.15.cap.9.

We have ſome diſtinction of Cubits intimated in Scripture by theſe expreſſions; Og's bedſtead was nine Cubits long, four broad, after the cubit of a man, ſaith the text, Deut. 3.11. & Apoc.21.17. the wall of the new Jeruſalem is meaſured to be 144 Cubits, according to the meaſure of a man, that is of the Angel. The length of Solomon's Temple is ſaid to be ſixty cubits, after the firſt meaſure, 2 Chr.3.3. ſo implying a ſecond meaſure of cubits: and Ezekiel 41.8. is mention made of great cubits. See Annotations in ver.42.

And finding the two pillars Jachin and Boaz, to be counted 18 cubits high a peice, in 1 King.7.15. and to be 35 cubits high a peice, in 2 Chr.3.15. and the baſis added to it, making thereto fit: This occaſioneth the common diſtinction of cubits, into common and ſacred cubits; as there is, in common opinion, of ſicles, into common and ſacred ſicles: the ſacred cubits doubling the length of the common cubits; as the ſacred ſicle doth the waight and worth of the common ſicle; and this will reconcile the foreſaid difference in the height of the two pillars. And hereupon ſacred cubits, are conceived to be uſually underſtood in ſacred buildings; and the cubits of the meaſure of the houſe of the forreſt of Lebanon, to be underſtood for common cubits, leaſt otherwiſe that Houſe ſhould exceed in meaſure the Lords Temple. And likewiſe Cyrus his decree found in a roll at Achmetha, in the Province of the Medes, doth ſeem to reckon by common cubits; becauſe it doubles ſome of Solomons meaſures. Though poſſibly Cyrus, a heathen, might miſtake in the right meaſures of the Temple; or the record be corrupted, Ezr. 6.3. And ſome learned men, for a ſeeming need, do apply ſacred cubits to the building of Noahs ark. And more then this, we read not of the length of cubits in Scripture. What learned men have added above this; ſome making the ſacred cubit, called alſo, ſay they, the Royal Cubit, and the Legal Cubit, to conſiſt of one hand breadth more then the Common Cubit. Some again making the Common cubit to conſiſt of four hand breadths, or twelve inches: ſome of five hand breadths, or fifteen inches: ſome of ſix hand breadths, or eighteen inches, that is our foot and half foot; and ſome of four and twenty inches, or two of our feet: And ſome making the cubit here mentioned to be our Yard; Some, our common Ell. All theſe are rather raiſed upon probable Conjectures from uncertain Antiquities, and Traditions, then grounded on certain truths. And what Cubit is here meant, we muſt leave to conjecture, upon the premiſes. Now for Hand-breadths, being four fingers breadth, or three inches; in common acompt, three hand breadths are our ſpan, that is, twelve fingers, or nine thumbs or inches; and four hand breadths are our foot, that is, ſixteen fingers, or 12. thumbs or inches. And ſo to come to the ſecond Queſtion and Doubt, To what the Hand breadth, here mentioned, muſt be referred. Some conceive it is to be added to every one of the ſix cubits in the reed: and this ſeems to be ſeconded by that Text, Chap.43.13. where the cubit is defined by a cubit and an hand breadth: and it is further ſtrengthened in them, by their apprehenſion of the ſuitableneſſe of ſuch a Meaſure in compliance with the ſeveral parts of all the buildings. But that Cubit then did not conſiſt of ſix hand breadths; elſe moſt likely the Reed would have been reckoned to conſiſt of ſeven Cubits exactly: But the cubit then muſt be of a longer extent; and ſpecially it will be ſo, if it be the ſacred Cubit. But moſt underſtand this of one cubit to be added to the whole reed; and that as part of the meaſure, and not only for the uſe of the hand to hold it withal. In iſſue the point reſts upon probabilities on both ſides. And ſo the Reed it ſelf may rather be gueſſed at, then poſitively aſcertained. But ſure it is between three, and ſix yards.

The breadth of the building one Reed, and the height one Reed] That outmoſt wall being as a Parapet, or Breaſt-wall, or a kind of outward ſconſe, round about all the Courts and Temple: and that it was of this breadth and height, one Reed or Rod. The length of it, in the four ſquares of it, is ſet down, as moſt conceive, Chap.42.16,17,18,19,20. See the Annotations there, and on ver.6. of this Chapter, and on Chap.45.2. This compaſſed the edge of the hill of mount Zion; very deep and ſteep valleyes being on the outſide of it round about. It was uſeful among other things, againſt the danger of falling: and this wall, and the other walls, of the ſame thickneſs about the ſeveral Courts, and the Temple, may note the great ſtrength and defenſibleneſs that the Lord ſetteth about his Church, Pſal.34.7. & 46.1,&c. & 125. 1, 2. Eſay 26.1. Zech.2.5. & 9.8. Rom.8.31,&c. Joh.10.28. We read not of ſuch a Wall as this compaſſing Solomons Temple: which, among many other things, as will after appear, ſhews, that this Temple ſhewed in Viſion to Ezekiel, is not the ſame with Solomons Temple: Though ſome learned Papiſts too ſtiffly, if not groſly, maintain the contrary. See Annotations on Chap.8.7.

V. 6. Then came he toward the gate which looketh toward the Eaſt] Heb. whoſe face was the way, &c. This is the Eaſt gate. But whether of the outward wall, laſt mentioned, and meaſured, ver.5. compaſſing a Court common to the Gentiles, and unclean; (if ſuch a court there were) or of the wall compaſſing the court for the Jews only, in ſome reſpects common both to people and Prieſts, is a thing wherein learned Interpreters do doubt, and differ; and which cannot be eaſily determined. We conceive it not to be the Gate of the outmoſt wall; becauſe that wall was but as a Parapet, or breaſt-wall: and the height of that wall and Gate is ſo low, and little; and the Chambers, and other buildings, within this gate, and annexed to it, are ſo many, and ſo great; ſet down, ver.6. to 17. which buildings ſeem moſt proper to that Gate entring into the Court for the Jewes. The gate may mind us of Chriſt, the Gate, and true door, Joh.10.7. & 14. 6. Zech. 6.12. And in all the Gates, in each Court, there is a conſtant regular Uniformity obſerved; which may ſchool us to Conformity, and Uniformity; that all things in the Church may be done decently and in order, 1 Cor.14.40.

And went up the ſtaires thereof] The Temple was built on the top of Mount Zion. And we read of three, or rather four degrees of levelled floores, or courts, by which they went up unto it. The firſt and lowmoſt had ſeven ſteps, by which they aſcended from the Level or floor, or plain within the Outmoſt wall, to the exteriour court for the People. For that pretended court for the Gentiles hath no ſuch ſufficient warrant for it: Or, if any were to be ſo called, it was that next within the Outmoſt wall. The Gentiles (when they became Proſelytes, at leaſtwiſe the Proſelytes, not of the gate, but of the Court, as in after times they were diſtinguiſhed) had the ſame priviledges in Gods worſhip with the Jews. The number of ſeven ſteps, though not here mentioned, yet are ſet down in the North and South gates of this Court, ver. 22,26. The ſecond aſcent was from the Level of this exterior court, to the Level of the Inner and Middle Court, for the Prieſts and Levites; and this was by eight ſteps, ver. 31. 34,37. The third aſcent was from the Level of the Inner Court, to the Level of the inmoſt Court of the Temple it ſelf; proper it ſeems to the Prieſts only. The number of theſe ſteps are not ſet down: But may ſeem to be gathered from thoſe of the former Court. Laſtly, there was another aſcent from that Inmoſt Court, to the Porch of the Temple, and Temple it ſelf, ver.49. The Aſcent from court to court, or from Level to Level, was only by the ſteps: For the Gates and Buildings in them were of the ſame Level with their Courts; and ſo the ſteps or ſtaires, were not behind the Gates, or in the thickneſſe of the walls; but before the walls and Gates. And therefore he meaſures here the Threſhold, after he went up the ſtaires. Theſe ſteps and ſtaires here, no doubt, were not high, and large ſteps; but eaſie ones, ſuch as men and Cattel for ſacrifice might eaſily aſcend. See annotations on Verſ. 17.

And meaſured the Threſhold of the Gate] The Hebrew word here uſed, ſignifieth the Threſhold properly ſo called; and alſo the upper lintal; and likewiſe the ſide poſts of the gate. Which of theſe is here underſtood, is dubious; and accordingly the minds of Interpreters various. We conceive, that the word here is taken in its proper ſignification, for the Threſhold on the ground. Yet ſome would underſtand it ſo, as including a building of wall thereupon, of the ſame breadth, and thickneſſe; which might ſerve as for other uſes, ſo for ſide-poſts to the gate. And ſo the two Threſholds on the grounds and the walls on them, (being of the ſame breadth and thickneſſe with the wall of the Court) they conceive them to run from the wall of this Court, along by the Eaſt ſide; that is, from South towards the North, one Threſhold, one Reed; and from North towards the South, the other Threſhold, another Reed: And thus ſhall the middle ſpace be left open, for the entry of the Gate: And the Chambers within the Gate, on each ſide, being each of the ſame meaſure, Reeds apiece, ſhall run in a manner in a line along with theſe Threſholds, and walls builded thereupon; and leave ſtill the way in the middle open for paſſage: and this alſo is conceived, will beſt agree with the reſt of the Buildings and Meaſures mentioned in this Gate, and Porch. And ſo likewiſe do they underſtand the Threſhold of the Gate, by the Porch of the Gate within, ver.7. Or rather, taking it in its moſt proper ſignification for the Threſhold only of the Gate, as the very letter of the text runs; then theſe Threſholds, being Reeds apiece, had a two-leafed door, meeting in the middle, upon a ſtrong poſt wherein they ſhut, and ſo left the breadth of the entry, or the wideneſſe of the opening of the Gate, ten Cubits; as it is ver. 11. Theſe Threſholds likely were a little lifted above the earth or floor. The height of this Gate is ſet down, ver.11. Of this, and all the other Gates, ſee that in the Pſal.87.2.

V. 7. And every little Chamber] Within the wall, towards the Temple, was a Reed ſquare. So Verſ.12. as, ſay ſome, was the Threſhold and wall upon it, Ver.6. and ſo both kept one breadth. It may be doubtful, whether the Chambers were each a Reed ſquare within the wall, or without. And yet the inner walls of them might run level with the Threſhold, and wall of the Eaſt gate; and the back walls go further out, Northward and Southward. Of their number, and uſe, ſee Ver.10. and the Annotations upon it.

and between the little Chambers were five cubits] The Chambers then were not continued together, nor contiguous; but a ſpace betwixt each of them. Some conceive it beſt, to agree with the letter and words of the text, and with the due conſideration of the length of the whole gate, porch and portal, from entrance to end, from Eaſt to Weſt, mentioned to be fifty cubits, verſ. 15. to underſtand here five cubits to be between each chamber; and four of thoſe intervals to be on each ſide. Thus, five cubits between the Eaſt wall, and the firſt chamber; five between the firſt chamber and the ſecond; five cubits between the ſecond chamber and the third; and five between the third chamber, and the Inner-gate weſtward; ſo reckoning in all, twenty cubits on each ſide of the gate beween the chambers. And then theſe ſeveral ſpaces of five cubits apiece, moſt likely, were taken up with ſeveral poſts or pylaſters, arched on the top, reaching from one poſt to another, of that breadth apiece of five cubits, as is intimated, verſ. 10. And under three of thoſe arches, on either ſide, were the three chambers placed. Or, poſſibly the poſts might be much leſſe for breadth and thickneſs, and the far greater part of the five cubits, left for cloyſters, or entries into the North and South walks, galleries or cloyſters, that lay within by the ſides of the Court. Others, underſtand the diſtances, or intervals between the chambers, to be but two on a ſide; and make each of them, to be five cubits. Yet others, underſtand but five cubits in all, between three chambers on a ſide. And ſo other five, between the other three chambers on the other ſide of the gate. Suppoſing ſo, the firſt chamber to joyn to the Eaſt wall, and the third chamber to joyn to the inner gate Weſtward; and the middle chamber, to have two cubits and a half on the Eaſt ſide of it, and two cubits and a half on the Weſt ſide of it. In theſe uncertainties, men may ſooner ſay their mind, then ſafely determine, and ſoundly prove it.

and the threſhold of the gate, by the porch of the gate within was one reed] That is, the inner gate, weſtward, anſwering to the outward gate, eaſtward, (between which two, the porch, or entry-houſe, and the chambers were) had the like threſholds, and of the ſame meaſure, as the outward gate had. Here one of the threſholds, by analogy of number, or ſynecdoche of one part for the whole, is onely mentioned; implying, the other to be equally underſtood. See Annotations on verſe 6.

V. 8. He meaſured alſo the porch of the gate within, one reed] The threſhold of the inner-gate was meaſured, verſ. 7. The porch of it, here; both of one meaſure: theſe two diſtinct names, and relations, being contained in the ſame building. See Annotations on verſe 6. There were two porches, after the gate of the firſt entrance; the Exterior porch, and the Inner-porch. The exterior, verſ. 6. And this here; of the ſame length, from North to South, with the opening or light of the gate it ſelf, ten cubits; and of the ſame breadth, from Eaſt to Weſt, with the breadth or thickneſs of the wall of the court, which on the inſide of it joyned to the chambers: and this was one Reed, as is here mentioned. This was, as it were, θυρωρεῖον, πυλώρειον, πρόςῷον, the outward portal, porch, or entry. And this place ſeems to lye open to the skie; for there is no mention of any roof over it; but onely it is barely meaſured; and the Eaſt eaves of the chambers reach into it; and the exterior front of the inner-porch, is beautifully garniſhed; which would not be ſo, if the outward porch did cover it, by joyning to it. The inner-porch is meant, and mentioned in the next verſe.

V. 9. then meaſured he the porch of the gate eight cubits] Some conceiving, in theſe words, a kind of relation had to the length of the whole porch, from Eaſt to Weſt, underſtand them thus, That the poſts therein ſuſtaining the arches (between which the chambers were) were at eight cubits diſtance one from another. Others, that this porch ſtood croſſing, as it were, over the way, that went forward, as you paſſed through it, to go ſtraight up to the temple. And it was eight cubits over, from North to South. And that the poſts thereof being two cubits, did make it anſwerable to the breadth of the entry of the outward gate, mentioned after, verſ. 11. And indeed, ten cubits is the conſtant meaſure of the breadth of all the entrances and entries, in the gates, porches, courts of the temple, verſ. 22, 24, 28, 32, 35. Chap. 41. 2. But here the eaſier, and fairer underſtanding of the word, is, That this porch exceeded the other porch, and other parts of this body of building; in greatneſs, being eight cubits; and in the garniſhing of the frontiſpices, both Eaſt and Weſt, being more beautified and precioully garniſhed.

and the porch of the gate was inward] Or, This was the porch of the inner-gate; ſo meaſured as aforeſaid.

V. 10. and the little chambers] Three on each ſide, ſtood along the way, on the right and left hand. The meaſures and quantities of them were ſet down, verſ. 7. Theſe were for the Porters to dwell in, to obſerve and watch the gate, on both ſides; to keep that no unclean perſon, or any other, forbid by the Law, might enter in, 2 Chro. 23. 19. Theſe Porters were of the Levites; and were many in number. We read of four thouſand, divided by David into courſes, 1 Chro. 23. 5, 6. and aſſigned by Lots, to the ſeveral gates, Eaſtward, Northward, Southward, and Weſtward, 1 Chr. 26. 13—18. They were keepers of the doors, gates, entries. And this they did by wards, by their courſes: after ſeven dayes ſtill new came. And they lodged round about the houſe of God, becauſe the charge was upon them; and the opening of the doors thereof every morning, pertained to them. They were alſo over the treaſuries of the houſe of God; had charge of the miniſtring veſſels, and other holy things; and were in many ſervices, about the ſacrifices and offerings, under the prieſts. Thus it was in Solomons temple. See 1 Chron. 9. Chap. verſ. 17—33.

And the poſts had one meaſure] Alike on both ſides. See Annotations on verſ. 7.

V. 11. and he meaſured the breadth of the entry] See Annotations on verſ. 9. The breadth of the firſt entry, or entring in of that outward Eaſt gate; from North to South; or from the one hand to the other: And not the breadth of any other particular place, or ſpace that was within the entrance.

and the length of the gate thirteen cubits] The length of the gate from the bottom to the top, which indeed is the height of the gate, is here rightly underſtood; and that by the common conſent of Interpreters.

V. 12. The ſpace alſo before the little chambers was one cubit] Space; Heb. limit or bound. This is variouſly underſtood. Some take it for a rail, or ſome ſuch partition, one cubit broad, from the wall and poſts of the chamber, on both ſides, running up ſtraight along by them, towards the temple; and make it ſo ſerve, as a narrow cloyſter, or through-paſſage on both ſides, North and South, of the gate before the chambers. And ſo they narrow the entry of ten cubits, contrary to that, ver. 11.

Others, That there was the ſpace of one cubit broad (and as much high) before the chambers, on either ſide of the gate, North and South; ſo built, as to ſerve for ſeates, for the Porters, and others, upon occaſions to ſit on: leaving the diſtance of the entry, between the chambers on both ſides, all along, ſtill ten cubits broad and open. Others, underſtand this, of one cubit onely, between the wall of the threſhold and entry gate, and the firſt chamber, on either ſide, North and South, at the Eaſt end. Some alſo of the like cubit, between the laſt chamber, and the wall, on either ſide at the Weſt-end. But we conceive the moſt eaſie, uſeful, and likely Interpretation to be this, That this cubit ſerved for eaves at either end, Eaſt and Weſt, to keep off the injuries of weather, as ſun and rain, on both ſides of the chambers, that were on both ſides of the gate. See Annotations on ver. 13. The other interpretations have their difficulties, encountring, and encombring them; of which this is more free.

And the little Chambers were] Every Chamber on both ſides was ſix Cubits; as ver. 7. not ſix cubits ſtanding Inward, and diſtant ſo far from that one cubit on either ſide, laſt mentioned; For that would croſſe the meaſures and frames of the Buildings formerly mentioned.

V. 13. He meaſured then the gate] The breadth of the gate which he repeats in every of the Gates following, verſ. 21, 25, 29, 33, 36. Some here would run this reckoning of five and twenty Cubits Eaſt and Weſt, from one outmoſt bound of the Chambers, to the other, all along the doors of the ſixe Chambers, on both ſides of the Gate; And ſo make it five and twenty cubits, on each ſide thus; The three Chambers eighteen cubits; between them five cubits; and one cubit at the Eaſt end; and another at the Weſt end of the chambers, for the Eaves: The three chambers not having each a ſeveral Roof; but one continued Roof being to ſerve them all three. Others would run them Eaſt and Weſt, from the Front of this Gate, (and ſo of the others) to the end of its Portal, thus; In the breadth or thickneſs of the wall, ſixe cubits; the gate-houſe as it were, or Porters-Lodge, ſix cubits; The Portal it ſelf eight cubits: Threſholds of the Portal at each end two Cubits; Eaves for the front of the Gate, and the Weſt end of the Portal, each half a Cubit: In all five and twenty. But what are theſe to the Breadth of the gate? The better reckoning ſeems to be taken from North to South; for ſo lyes the breadth of the gate. And then the breadth of five and twenty Cubits from the Roof of one Chamber to the roof of another, from the outmoſt parts of them, ſeems to be taken up thus; The breadth of the gate ten Cubits; The breadth of the Chambers on either ſide of the gate, ſix cubits; ſo on both ſides twelve cubits: and one cubit and a half the thickneſſe of the back walls of the Chambers, on the North ſide, and ſo on the South ſide: In all, five and twenty Cubits; from the outmoſt point North, to the outmoſt point South, as aforeſaid: which is the breadth of the whole building of the Gate.

door againſt door] Not meant of the door of the great Eaſt Gate, being over againſt the door of the Inner Gate, lying Weſt to it, and correſponding to it. But this is meant of the little doors of the little Chambers, laſt named, on the South and North ſides of the Gate; which either did in a direct line face the one the other: Or, as ſome more probably, underſtand them, That the doors to each Chamber were two, and ſo framed, that door was againſt door, in a line running from Eaſt to Weſt; ſo that the doors ſtanding open, one might ſee through the three Chambers, from end to end, at one ſight. And that thus it was on both ſides of the gate.

V. 14. He made alſo poſts of ſixty Cubits] He made; that is, by meaſuring ſhewed, or deſigned to be made.

Poſts of ſixty Cubits] Here the Jewes cry for the help of Elias. And here many learned men ſlide over, or ſlightly touch upon this: and that with undue, if not unlikely ſatisfaction to themſelves, and others. Some here conceipt a Number of Poſts, of ſixty Cubits high, pitch'd on end, in the Courts: But know not to what end or uſe. Some ſpeak of a three-fold row of Poſts, or Pillars, and three ſtories built upon them, one above another; each Poſt in each ſtory twenty Cubits high; and they ſtanding juſt one upon another, the floores only betwixt them, they may be ſo reckoned, as if high ſixty Cubits apiece. And this they apply to the Porches or Galleries round about the Court; and to the Buildings and Chambers over them. But the Prophet comes not yet into the Court, till ver.17. And theſe Poſts here do but reach unto the (firſt) Poſt of the Court, as the words expreſſe it. Theſe words then ſeem to be confined to the Buildings of the Gate; taking it in the full length and breadth of it. And then muſt be underſtood, either for the Fronts of the Gate, ſixty Cubits high; or for certain Eaves, to cover ſome part of the buildings of the Gate, and running along ſixty Cubits: and ſo Poſts are interpreted, Eaves; and the ſixty Cubits covered by them, are counted ſo many, and no more; without any ground for it. And both theſe very hardly and harſhly. Or elſe, as by ſome, for a Cloyſter, or Walks, ſupported with theſe Poſts, running upon the ground, from the Eaſt gate, before the Chambers, up to the opening and entrance into the Court before it, towards the Temple. But this ſhewes nothing how, or which way theſe Poſts ſhould be of ſixty Cubits. Or, if they apply the number to the length of the Cloyſter, they ſo force the words; and lengthen the Gate ten Cubits beyond its due. Neither doth this Conceit ſtand and agree any thing well with the other Meaſures and Buildings within the Gate formerly mentioned. We rather do humbly conceive, (and ſome ſuch thing, ſome learned men do ſeem to intimate,) That in Analogy and correſpondency to all the Buildings round about the Courts, there were two ſtories built above this Gate, (and ſo above the others, Ver.20,24,28,32,35.) of the full length, and breadth of the Gate; one ſtory above another. The Poſts whereof are here only mentioned: (as we meet with divers ſuch abbreviations; over and above that we find many things clean omitted in this ſhort and intricate deſcription, as in due place ſhall appear) And theſe Poſts reckoning from the ground, in ſuch manner as formerly was touched, were each ſixty Cubits high. And without this conſtruction made, there will appear no ſmall diſproportion, and indecorum between the Buildings of the Gates, and the buildings of the Courts adjoyning. But thus the buildings of the Gates will bear equal height with the buildings about the Courts. Yet ſome reckon theſe ſixty cubits thus; that is, The roof of the Chambers, with the Eaves on the one ſide, five and twenty cubits; on both ſides fifty. And ten cubits the Inner Porch; as the outward Porch was, ver.11. In all, ſixty. And that theſe Poſts, Frontiſpieces, or Forefronts, did compaſſe the building.

even unto the Poſt of the Court round about the Gate] Of this Court, ſee ver.17. This court had poſts round about it; and buildings on them. And theſe joyned on both ſides of the Gate; each gate being in the middle of its own wall.

V. 15. And from the face] This is the length of the Gate, from Eaſt to Weſt. And ſo fifty cubits are conſtantly reckoned the length of the other gates, ver.21,25,29.33,36. Theſe fifty cubits are reckoned by all from Eaſt to Weſt: yet for the parcels and particulars, they are clean omitted by ſome. By others reckoned up; but very uncertainly and obſcurely. Some do make this ſum up thus; viz. Eighteen cubits the three Chambers; twenty cubits the four ſpaces, or elſe Pillars or Poſts between them three chambers, and walls at the Eaſt and Weſt end of them: Thoſe ſpaces, or elſe Pillars, being five cubits a piece. And ſix cubits apiece the thickneſſe of the ſaid Eaſt and Weſt walls. So eighteen, twenty, and twelve, make up the fifty Cubits. And all theſe Covered with buildings. Others reckon thus; from Face to Face, fifty cubits; and make the Porch of the Inner gate to be ten cubits more. Others, from the face of the Gate of the Entrance, ſtanding in the outſide of the wall incompaſſing the Court, unto the Inner Gate, opening into the Court it ſelf, fifty Cubits, thus; Eighteen the Chambers; five the middle ſpaces, and two the Eaves: All theſe five and twenty, and all covered. And the other five and twenty from beyond the Inner Porch, to the Entrance of the firſt Court, uncovered and open to the skye. And ſo they make the Portal of one Reed, to ſtand before the face of the gate of the entrance, and not to be included in this Number. See Annotations on Ver. 8. In theſe uncertainties and obſcurities, we can get little, or no light, out of Moſes Tabernacle, or Solomons Temple; becauſe the Courts and Gates of them are ſo ſcantly touched there; which Ezekiel here doth ſo much, and ſo long inſiſt upon.

V. 16. And there were narrow windowes] Having diſpatched all the parts of the ſtructure of the Gate; Now in this place he comes to deſcribe the windows for light; and Palm-trees, for ornament and garniſhing of the parts of the Building.

Narrow windowes] That is, narrowed: moſt likely, placed in the middle of the thickneſſe of the wall; and broader, and wider, both outward and inward: the wall being to this end ſloped on both ſides, both within and without; the better to gather and receive the light abroad; and to diſperſe and dilate it within. And theſe windows haply were like our Lettice windows, as the Original word ſeems to import, darting in the light: Or elſe, they were with leaves to open and ſhut; or elſe with glaſſe, or ſome ſuch thing, cloſed and ſhut up, 1 King.6.4. Theſe windowes for Light, may ſhadow out that light of ſpiritual illumination, and joy, whereby God ſhines in the hearts of his people, 1 Theſſ. 5. 16. Rom. 5. 2. Phil.2.17.

To the little Chambers] On which parts of them, we know not. They might be towards the Cloyſters, on the Eaſt and Weſt ſides of the middle Chambers.

and to their Poſts within the gate round about] Poſts, or rather upper lintels; ſo ver.9.10. that is, in the walls above the doors, to give light to the inferiour parts of the Chambers; the doors, as ſome ſay, opening towards, or into, the main entry and paſſage, on both ſides ver. 13. Or elſe the word for poſts, may ſignifie the Cloyſters, arched from Poſt to poſt, between the Chambers. And theſe were within the gate, round about, or, on both ſides; and windowes were made to them. But they ſeem rather to be intended in the next words.

and likewiſe to the Arches] Or, Galleries, or, Porches; thoſe ſpecified in the laſt words of the former Annotation.

and windows were round about inward] Windows on both ſides, as hath been ſhewed; inward, or within the gate; beſides the great lights of the Eaſt, and Weſt ends; or doors of the outward, and inward gate. All which gave abundant light to all the Chambers, places, and paſſages within the whole Gate.

and upon each poſt were Palm-trees] Engraven for ornament, and beauty on each poſt, or pillar, or front, and Chapiter of the pillar, or tops of the wall within on both ſides. This Ornament of Palm-trees may ſhadow out to us, our enſigns of triumph and victory over the World, the Fleſh, and the Devil, Rom.8.31.—37. Apoc.12.11. & 7.9. 1 Cor.15.54,55. And thus he hath wholly finiſhed the Eaſt gate, with the Buildings in it.

V. 17. Then brought he me] The man, ver.3. did it.

into the outward court] Here he firſt enters out of the Gate into the Court; going on Weſtwards towards the Temple. The Gate and Buildings in it formerly mentioned, ſtood in this Outward Court; we mean within this ſecond wall. And Now he is paſſed between them, and got through them, into the Outward Court it ſelf; to ſee what is behind theſe Buildings; and what ſpace before them, and betwixt this and the next Court; and what Compaſſe on either hand him, Towards North and South.

Now in Moſes Tabernacle, we read but of one Court: and that was long, from Eaſt to Weſt an hundred cubits: Broad from North to South, fifty cubits; and high all about five cubits. And but of one gate in it, of twenty cubits wide, placed in the middle of the Eaſt ſide, Exod.27. & 38. Chapters. And all this, and things in it, were under the hands and Charge of the ſons of Gerſhom and Merari: And to the ſons of Kohath belonged the charge of the Tabernacle it ſelf, Num. Chap.3.& 4. In Solomons Temple we read of two Courts; & they ſo named, & numbered, 2 King.21.5.& 23.12. 2 Chr.33.5. The one, the Inner Court, or the court of the Prieſts, or the court of the houſe of the Lord, or before the houſe of the Lord, 1 King.6.36. & 7.12. & 8.64. 2 Chr.4.9. & 7.7. The other called the great Court, 1 King.7.9,12. 2 Chr. 4. 9. which was for the People. A new Court is mentioned, 2 Chr. 20.5. But that is, the old renewed by Aſa, when he renewed the Altar of the Lord, 2 Chr.15.8. Or elſe, as ſome would have it, the court of the People, newly divided by a partition wall, to diſtinguiſh between men, and women, in it. And a middle court is named alſo, 2 King. 20. 4. But the Margin reads, City, for Court: ſhewing the word ſignifies both. And to city, the ſenſe of the place might ſeem to carry it; for there was a double city of Jeruſalem, (the word is of the duall number) beſide that called the City of David. And theſe, part in the Tribe of Judah, and part in Benjamin. Compare together Jud.1,8. 2 Sam.5.6,7,8,9. 2 King.22.14. But chiefly, That place ſeems to import the middle Court of King Hezekiahs palace: And that conſidering the Perſon of Iſaiah, and the place where the king lay ſick, and Iſaiah delivered his meſſage. And of ſuch a like Court we read, 1 King.7.verſ.8. Of an outmoſt Court for the Gentiles, we read not. But ſome labour to gather it out of, 1 King.8.41, 42,43. Eſay 56.3,4,5. Mar.11.17.

Now Ezekiels temple had more Courts. And they are, by divers men, diverſly numbred and named. 1 The Court or plain within the outmoſt wall. 2. The outward Court, ſo called, in relation to the inner Court. 3. The inner Court. 4. The inmoſt Court. Within this, the temple was, with its Porch and ſtructures of Chambers, joyning to the outſides of the temple, and of the Oracle, round about. And ſome add two Courts more toward the Weſt. And the firſt of all theſe, they make to be for the Gentiles: the ſecond, for the people of Iſrael that were clean, according to the Levitical law. The third for the Levites and Prieſts, and their accoutrements and imployments; wherein the altar of burnt-offering was. And the fourth, for the Prieſts onely. Yet moſt writers do reckon, but upon three Courts, viz. The firſt Court within the outmoſt wall: the ſecond, called here the exterior, the outward Court, in reference to the inner Court; this being the court of the people. The third, called the inner court, belonging to the Prieſts; and in part alſo to the people, in their ſervices and ſacrifices. But to theſe muſt be added the fourth court, wherein the temple was; and that proper to the Prieſts onely; as the Chapter following doth evince. And theſe four courts alſo, beſides very many other, arguments, do evince, that this temple of Ezekiel is not the ſame with Solomons; contrary to the moſt common tenet of the moſt learned Papiſts. Which errour of theirs, together with the captivating of their judgements, to the letter of their vulgar latine text, doth much miſlead them in the true literal underſtanding and interpretation of this viſion and temple. Now by Court here, we muſt underſtand and comprehend, not onely the plain floor, lying open to the skie; but alſo porches about it and their chambers, and other buildings, as the text ſhews. And theſe ſeveral courts, with the riſings and varieties of them, may put us in mind of the diverſities of Gifts and Graces, and Offices, in the ſeveral members of Chriſts myſtical body here; and alſo of ſeveral degrees of Glory in the Courts and manſions of heaven; as there are ſtars in ſeveral ſphears; and ſtars of ſeveral magnitudes in the fixed firmament. Of theſe Courts, See Pſalm. 84.2, 10.

and loe there were chambers] Being now in the Eaſt floor, and open plain of the outer exterior court, he ſees and obſerves.

chambers] Cells, repoſitories, ſtore-houſes. For the Prieſt and Levites to dwell in, whileſt in their turns, they kept the ſervice of the temple; and wherein they did reſt and repoſe themſelves; and laid up in them part of the tithes, offerings and other things, belonging to them from the people; and of the frankincenſe and veſſels, and other things belonging to the temple, and the ſervice of it. See Neh.13.5,9,12,13. And haply, into theſe might the people alſo retire themſelves for accommodation, the better to order and compoſe themſelves, and their buſineſſes about their offerings, and ſacrifices of all ſorts. Yea, ſome make theſe to belong to the uſe of the people onely. Of theſe chambers, of this, or the other courts, we read not any thing in the ſtructure of Solomons temple; but what is in Davids preparation, and proviſion for his ſon Solomon, on this behalf, 1 Chro. 28.11, 12,13. and that in Chap. 9. 26,33. & Chap.23.28. And of them, we read alſo mention to be made, 2 King. 23. 11. 2 Chro.31.11. & Jer.35.2,4. & Chap.36.10.

and a pavement made] For ornament and uſe; of ſtone and porphiry moſt likely; and curiouſly wrought with checkquer-work, as ſome tranſlations have it. See Chap. 42. 3. 2 Chro.7.3. See Ahaſuerus pavement, Eſth. 1.6. And the uſe of this was to prevent duſt, and dirt.

round about] The pavement was all over the court, and the chambers; round about the court and pavement.

thirty chambers] Fifteen on either ſide of this Eaſt-gate, that is, northward and ſouthward. And as ſome think, fifteen alſo on either ſide of the North, and of the South-gates, eaſtward and weſtward.

upon the pavement] Or, about the pavement, or built over the pavement, above, and upon it.

V. 18. Pavement] That laſt mentioned.

by the ſide of the gates] Not that pavement, within the firſt, and outmoſt breaſt-wall, lying before the Eaſt-gate, of the ſecond wall and exterior court, as ſome would have it. But this lyeth within the ſecond wall, and exterior court; and by the ſide of the gates of that court.

gates] So plurally, ſaith the text. And the 20, and 24, verſes, ſhew, that it had a North-gate, and a South-gate, beſides this Eaſt-gate, all within this outward [not outmoſt] wall, or court. Which gates, running fifty cubits from the wall into it, did further occaſion a diviſion; and break this one exterior court, into more particular and leſſer courts.

over againſt the length of the gates] Not then the pavement, lying in the length of the gates, between the chambers, and other buildings of each gate; as ſome would have it. But that lying by the ſides of the gates, that is, the North and South ſides of this Eaſt gate; and ſo alſo correſpondently the Eaſt, and the Weſt ſides, of the North and of the South-gates, of this exterior and outward court: And theſe were directly, and punctually over againſt the lengths of theſe gates, butting thereon; and lying within the pointings in, and ends of the entrances from the three gates. The lengths of theſe gates were fifty cubits, running from the wall into the courts; counting therein the thickneſſe of the wall. And that ſame length, was the breadth of theſe pavements, which did run from each ſide of theſe gates, ſo compaſſing the court, or little courts. The breadth then, we ſay, of theſe lateral pavements, was equal with the lengths of the gates. And the ſame was the conſtant breadth of all the porches, or galleries, that were round about all the courts; and built upon, or over and above thoſe pavements. They were made as broad, as the gates were long. Their length was a great deal more, as will after appear.

the lower pavement] Lower then that pavement, in the inner and upper court of the Prieſts. Or, lower then that other part of this pavement, which lay in this ſame court, from under the porches or galleries, open to the skie; and likely, a little higher then this; or lower in the two ſides, then in the middle. This pavement, haply, being a little convex in the midle, and a little declive, or declining on the two ſides.

V. 19. Then he meaſured the breadth from] The breadth; that is, the broad flat, and plain floor of this inward court.

from the forefront of the lower gate] From the inner, and weſtern front of it. For each gate had two fore-fronts. And ſo leaving out the length of the gate it ſelf out of this meaſure.

of the lower gate] That is, of this Eaſt gate of the outward court, formerly meaſured: which is lower then the gate of the inner court, as the ſteps of aſcent ſhew, from the one to the other.

unto the fore-front of the inner court] That is, the Eaſt fore-front of the Prieſts court, and of the gate of it.

without] Or from without, that is, leaving out likewiſe the gate it ſelf, and the length of it, out of this meaſure.

an hundred cubits Eaſtward] That is, between the two gates, lay this broad plain, in the open aier, and hundred cubits from Eaſt to Weſt.

and Northward] That is, ſo much alſo from North to South, even an hundred cubits. No other wayes can this meaſure be taken or made. The plain ſo being, not onely quadrangular, but a perfect quadrant or ſquare, equilateral. This was the Eaſt flat or floor. The like was that of the North, verſ.23. and that of the South, ver.27. For from each of theſe gates, to their oppoſite gates, lay an hundred cubits between. The meaning is, that he meaſured that floor, or flat, open to the skie, that lay between the gates of the outward and inner courts, on the Eaſt ſide; excluding the gates themſelves; and found it to be an hundred cubits broad, and long.

V. 20. And the Gate] This North Gate, and like wiſe the South gate, verſ.24. are in all points and particulars, ſo like, or rather the ſame with the Eaſt Gate, formerly deſcribed, that there needeth little, or no further explanation of them. All things for buildings, parts, meaſures, ornaments, are common to them all. See verſ. 6. 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16.

V. 21. And the little Chambers] See Verſ. 7, 10, 12, 13, 15.

firſt gate] Eaſt gate: and ſo named, ver. 22.

V. 22. And their windowes] See ver.16.

ſeven ſteps] And ſo in the South gate of this Outward Court. Which evinceth the number of the ſtaires in the Eaſt, to be likewiſe ſeven, ver.6. though they be not there named; they being all three Gates of the ſame Court; and the Gates, and Court, or little courts in it, being of one level and height. By theſe ſteps they came up from the floores of the lower court, to the gates of the higher court. See Annotations on ver.6. And this, with all the other ſteps in the other Courts, and to the Porch of the Temple, may mind us of our increaſing, riſing, and aſcending from ſtep to ſtep, from degree to degree, in knowledge, faith, vertue, and all ſaving graces, 2 Pet.1.5. ſtill climing up towards heaven, and Gods Temple there, Pſal.84.7. See alſo, 1 Cor.13.9,10,12, Eph.4, 12,13,14,16.

V. 23. And the gate] The North gate of the Inner court was right over againſt the North gate of the outward Court.

and toward the Eaſt] And ſo it was towards the Eaſt; that is, the Eaſt Gate of the Inner Court, was right over againſt the Eaſt Gate of the Outward court.

an hundred Cubits] That is, between the two North gates, that of the Outward, and that of the Inner court, was a ſpace of an hundred cubits long, and broad; a juſt ſquare, altogether like that, ver.19. The North Flat, or floor, or little court, was of the ſame ſpatiouſneſſe with that of the Eaſt.

V. 24. After that he brought me] The South Gate of the Outward Court. See ver.21.

V. 25. and there were windowes] See ver.22. & 21.

V. 26. and ſeven ſteps] See ver.22. 16.

and the Arches thereof were before them] The ſteps alſo before the Gates may ſeem to have their poſts, Arches, and garniſhing of Palm-trees.

V. 27. And there was a gate] See ver.23.

an hundred Cubits] That is Southward, and Eaſtward. See ver. 23.

V. 28. And he brought me to the Inner Court] So that here is no gate mentioned, on the Weſt quarter, of this Outward Court; not yet on the Weſt quarter of the Inner Court. Joſephus records that in his time, there was no gate on the Weſt quarter. Joſeph of the War of the Jews, lib.6. cap.6. yet it was otherwiſe in Solomons Temple, 1 Chr.9.24. and Chap.26.14——18. This Inner Court is within the third wall, and in the Court of the Prieſts. And this Gate here meaſured, is the South gate of it. He comes to it directly from the South Gate of the Outward Court.

To theſe Meaſures] To the meaſures of the three former Gates in the Outward Court. And as the Gates, ſo the Porches, and Arches of the Inner Court were equal, and of the ſame meaſure with the Porches and Arches of the Outward Court.

V. 29. And the little Chambers thereof] See Verſ. 7,10,13, 15,21,25.

V. 30. And the Arches round about were five and twenty Cubits long] Some here expound long, to be meant broad; and five Cubits, to be five tens or decades of Cubits, alledging the like Ellipſis to be the 2 Sam.8.4. & Chap.10.17. And ſo, by the laſt word, broad, they underſtand long. And thus the meaſure of the Arches would fall in with the meaſure in the former verſe, and be the ſame with it: that is fifty Cubits long, and five and twenty Cubits broad. And ſome are ſo forward for this, that they ſtick not to charge the Text it ſelf with corruption, through errour of Copies, and default of the Scribes; and would have it altered to their opinion aforeſaid. But this offers open violence and injury to the ſacred Text. And that their Expoſition would ſeem to be but a needleſſe repetition, falling in with that which is ſo often ſet down before. Others therefore underſtand it thus, That the Poſts which did bear up the Arches within the Gates, (for what is ſaid here of one gate, they apply alſo to the reſt of the gates,) and were between the three Chambers, on each ſide of the Gates, were long, or high in the top of their arches 25 Cubits; and broad in their bottomes or ſettles at leaſt, five Cubits. But beſides other things, the next words following in the next verſe, that the Arches were towards the Utter or Outward Court, do ſeem to us to croſſe this Interpretation. Others would bring theſe Arches alſo within the Gates. But yet with much more Intricacies and difficulties, what Arches they ſhould be, and how to fit theſe meaſures to them. We rather conceive, That as the Prophet, after finiſhing the deſcription, and meaſuring of the firſt gate in the Outward Court, was brought into the Court it ſelf, to ſee it deſcribed; ſo here, after the deſcription of the firſt Gate in the Inner Court, he is brought now out of the Gate, into the Inner Court it ſelf, to ſee it in part deſcribed; & finds here the Arches of thoſe Pillars, round about the inner court, to be 25. cubits long, or high; and five cubits broad apiece. And theſe Arches to look towards the Outward court, as it followes in the next words; which they could no wayes do, if they ſtood within the Gate.

V. 31. And the Arches thereof were towards the Outward Court] Herein this Inner Court differs from the Outward. There the Arches were before them, ver.22,26. that is, forward: Here the arches were toward the Outward court, that is, looked backward. And this evinceth the truth of the expoſition of the former verſe.

and Palm-trees] See Annotations on ver.16,22,26.

eight ſteps] And ſo in the other two Gates of this Inner Court, verſ.34,37. And herein likewiſe is a difference between this, and the Outward court: That had but ſeven ſteps in the aſcent to it; This eight: which might amount to the height of about two yards.

V. 32. And he brought me] The Eaſt gate of the Inner court. And this lay then next in his way. See Ver,28.

V. 33. And the little Chambers] See ver.29.

V. 34. And the Arches] See ver.31.

V. 35. And he brought me] The North Gate of the Inner Court. And this lay next after the Eaſt Gate. See verſ. 28, 32.

V. 36. The little Chambers] See ver.33.29.

V. 37. And the Poſts] See ver. 34. 31. Called Arches there, and Poſts here. The wall and Outward compaſſe of the Outward court, was of ſtone. But it ſeems the Outward compaſſe and bounds of the Inner court, was only diſtinguiſhed by Poſts at certain diſtances. And if ſo, the People in the Outward court might ſee the ſacrifices, and ſervices performed by the Prieſts in the Inner court.

V. 38. And the Chambers] Here, among the parts and meaſures of the fabrick, He begins to intermingle the uſe of ſome of the parts; and ſhews, at, and about the North Gate of the Inner court, the uſe of Chambers, to waſh the ſacrifices in, ver.38. of Tables, to ſlay the ſacrifices on, ver.39,40, 41,42. and of Hooks, to hang on them, and their parts, ver.43.

Chambers] Some imagine one, ſome two, one upon each ſide of the Gate; ſome ſix, viz. three on each ſide: underſtanding them of the three little Chambers, on each ſide, within the North gate; whereof ver.36. But theſe ſeem to be other Chambers, without any certain Number ſet down, built for this uſe; with veſſels of braſſe, with water in them, to waſh therein the burnt-offerings and ſacrifices, their entrails and Fleſh: and ſeated by the poſts of the gates; either thoſe, by the Cloyſters, which run Eaſt and Weſt, along from the two ſides of the North gate, and faced thoſe parts of the Inner court; or elſe, thoſe by the entries into the open flat, or floor of the Inner Court; which were cloſe by the other, and under the Fronts or Arches of that court; and in thoſe vacant places between the Bounding Poſts mentioned in the former verſe. Yet all this onely on the North quarter of this Court; as the Text ſeems to give it: and not round about all the quarters of it, as ſome upon probabilities do conjecture.

waſhed] In Solomons Temple we read of a molten Sea, for the prieſts to waſh in; and of ten Lavers of braſſe, to waſh in them ſuch things as they offered for the burnt-offerings, 1 King.7.23,38. 2 Chron. 4. 2, 6. And thoſe may ſeem to be placed in the Temple, 1 King.7.39. However, yet herein appears a difference between Solomons, and Ezekiels Temple. We read but of one Laver in Moſes Tabernacle, Exod.30.18,19,20,21. & Chap.40.30. and that was between the Tabernacle of the Congregation and the Altar.

V. 39. And in the Porch] We have the place, Number, Matter, Form, Meaſure, and Uſe of the Tables, in this and the three Verſes following. The place and ſituation of them is the moſt difficult.

in the Porch of the gate] Some place the Tables here, even all the eight tables, within the Gate; and make the Sacred ſlaughter to be acted there; partly in the very Porch of the Gate, in the very Threſhold, and Exterior part of it: and partly in the more Inward parts of it: But we conceive this place to be too narrow, and full of inconveniencies, for ſuch a purpoſe. And finding theſe other expreſſions of the place, at the ſide without, at the Porch of the gate, Ver.40. by the ſide of the gate, four on this ſide, and four on that ſide; we rather underſtand thereby, not the inward, but the outward ſides of the Porch and Gate, by the Cloyſters, which run Eaſt and Weſt from the two outſides of the North Gate, hard by the waſhing Chambers, and under covert of the cloyſters; ſo to ſave the Prieſts from the injuries of weather, wind, ſun, and rain, whiles they were ſlaying and preparing the ſacrifices; and to prevent diſturbances, which in the Gate were likely to fall out.

Two tables] Here begins the number of the tables.

on this ſide] Both, not inſides, but outſides; leaving the Gate, entrance, and paſſage free.

to ſlay] So ver.41,42. and to lay the fleſh of the Offering on them, ver.43. and the Inſtruments for the ſlaughter, ver.42. Here is the uſe of theſe tables. The ſacrifice then was not ſlain cloſe by the ſide of the Altar, but on the North ſide of it, agreeing therein, with that, Lev.1.11.

the ſin-offering, and the treſpaſſe-offering] Lev.4. 5. 6. and 7. Chapters.

V. 40. And at the ſide] As one goeth up from without to the entry of the North Gate. And therefore they miſtake, that place theſe Tables, mentioned in this verſe, in the South Gate.

V. 41. Four tables] The number, ſite, and uſe of all the Tables. Though the Text affords no more, then is ſaid; yet men will raiſe various opinions, where any the leaſt probability may poſſibly appear, and give them advantage. And ſo, ſome place theſe Tables in the open Court, and open ayr. Some m[illegible]e them in number twelve; that is four for the whole burnt-offerings, for the conſtant burnt-offering, and for the ſin-offering, and treſpaſſe-offering of the congregation, tion, ver. 42. And 8. more for other ſacrifices of particular men, in this Verſe. Some others make them fifteen; ſome, four and twenty; aſſigning to each of the three Gates eight a piece. Some (which is ſtrange) deny that there was any Table at the North Gate. But theſe all do ſooth up themſelves in their own fancies, without any warrant from the Text.

V. 42. And the foure tables] Not other four beſides the former eight, as ſome would have it. But four of them, or rather, the four Tables, on either ſide, in ſuch manner as they are reckoned in the former verſe, that is, all the eight Tables.

of hewen ſtone] The matter, and form of the Tables. It may be of one ſtone apiece. However, they were of hewen ſtone, well wrought, and poliſhed; not much unlike thoſe, 1 King.7.9.

of a Cubit and a half long] Theſe Tables may ſeem very little on the ſquare top, for the uſes whereunto they are aſſigned; unleſſe Cubits be here taken to be of the largeſt meaſure. A place of ſpecial note for this purpoſe. See Annotations on ver.5.

The Inſtruments] Knives, baſons, bowles, and ſuch other. See Ezra 1.9,10. Some make four of the Tables to be for Inſtruments, and the other four for ſacrifices, and fleſh of the offerings, Ver.43.

V. 43. and within were hooks] Some tranſlate end-irons; ſome ledges at the edges of the Tables, an hand breadth high, and turning inward, to keep in the Inſtruments, and fleſh, that lay on the Tables, from ſliding, or falling off. Some, Tripets, or Brand-irons, or fire-ſtones, ſet two and two together, to ſet pots or kettles upon, and to keep in the fire. See Pſal.68.13. But we have it tranſlated hooks; and ſo the word bears. And that beſt agrees with the buſineſſe in hand. Hooks then were in the ſlaughter-houſes, where the Tables were. And the word being of the dual number, ſeems to imply, that two tangs were made upon one ſtem, an hand breadth one from another: and theſe were faſtened round about the wall, at convenient diſtances, that if need were, the two tangs of one hook might hold two ſeveral beaſts legs upon them. Theſe were neceſſary for the ſlaying, and quartering of the beaſts, and other uſes.

offering] The word Corban, is here in the Hebrew. The word uſed by our Saviour, Mat.7.11. and whence Corbana is uſed for treaſury, Mat.27.9.

V. 44. And without the inner gate] Or, rather, without at the Inner gate. Here are various tranſlations, and interpretations; and the place is obſcure, through ſuch brevity as the Hebrew language uſeth. However, the learned Papiſts profeſſe, That they will ſtick here to their vulgar Latine, and interpret accordingly, though they acknowledge the Hebrew differs from it: which indeed is their grand errour, as we have ſaid, and ground of their miſtakes, in their Expoſitions of this viſion.

were the Chambers of the ſingers in the inner Court] Sure it is, that the Prophet ſtill here ſpeaks of the Inner Court of the Prieſts and Levites; and hitherto in the North gate of it, he meaſured the Gate it ſelf, and ſpake of the Chambers for waſhing, and places for ſlaughter. Tables and hooks, at the ſides of that gate. Now he comes from without the Inner Gate, into the Inner Court it ſelf; and there ſees the chambers of the ſingers, in this verſe; of the Prieſts, the keepers of the Charge of the Houſe, verſ.45. and of the Prieſts the keepers of the Charge of the Altar, ver. 46. The number of theſe Chambers, and the right places of them, in what quarters of this Court they are ſituated, is the greateſt point of difficulty. Some make two Chambers here to be only ſpoken of; and them for the ſingers onely, attending the charge of the Houſe, and of the Altar. Some make only four chambers In the Inner Court, two for the ſingers, and two for the Prieſts. The Prieſts did offer ſacrifice to God. And the ſingers, during the ſacrifice, did offer unto him the ſacrifice and ſong of praiſe. And of theſe men, ſome make theſe four Chambers to be for the ſingers and prieſts to dwell in, ſucceſſively by their weeks, as they attend the ſervice. Others, not for habitation, but for the keeping of the muſical inſtruments, and the veſſels, and things requiſite for the ſacrifice. Other learned men to each of the three gates, both in the Outward, and in the Inner Court, do aſſign ten Chambers, five on the one ſide, and five on the other ſide, of each gate. Whence ariſeth the Number of 30. in the outward court, mentioned ver.17. And that in theſe the Miniſters of the Temple did dwell by turns, each according to their ſeveral degrees, orders, and offices. And that thoſe ten Chambers, by this North gate, of the Inner court, were for the ſingers: Thoſe by the Eaſt gate were for the prieſts, the keepers of the charge of the Altar: And thoſe by the South gate, were for the prieſts, the keepers of the charge of the Houſe. Others yet, do place theſe Chambers mentioned in this, and the two verſes following; at the backſide (latus or dorſum) of the aforeſaid buildings of the north gate of this inner court, joyning to the partition wall, or cloiſter that ran on the north quarter, between the outward, and this Inner court; and ſo make them opening toward the ſouth. And they aſſign theſe chambers to the prieſts, the keepers of the charge of the houſe, as it is ver.45. and likewiſe one at the ſide of the eaſt gate; that is, one row or rank of chambers, at the back ſide of the buildings of the eaſt gate, viz. on the north ſide of theſe buildings; which ſtood not with their backs to the wall, or partition between the courts, as it was with them at the north gate; but with their backs to thoſe buildings of the eaſt gate, that ran along from eaſt to weſt into the court; and ſo their proſpect and facing was toward the north: and theſe they aſſign to the Prieſts, the keepers of the charge of the altar; as they find it, ver. 46. And laſtly, ſome do aſſign the chambers from the eaſt to the north, to the ſingers: from the eaſt to the ſouth, to the keepers of the charge of the altar. And in this great and doubtful variety of opinions, we forbear to interpoſe, otherwiſe then in the notes following.

ſingers] We read in Moſes time, that the Prieſts were appointed to blow with the ſilver trumpets over the burnt offerings, and Peace-offerings, in the ſolemn Feaſts, Num. 10. 10. But of ſingers, and muſick, in Gods ſervice, we read much more, in the days of David, Solomon, Hezekiah, Joſiah, Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah. David appointed them; and that from God, and by the counſel of Gad, and Nathan; for the ſervice of Song, when the Ark had reſt at Jeruſalem, 1 Chr.6.31. & 16.4,5,6. and for the ſervice of the Tabernacle at Gibeon, 1 Chr.16.37,39. he appointed four thouſand of them, all Levites, 1 Chr. 23.5. Teachers 288. 1 Chr.25.7. whereof Heman, of the Kohathites; Aſaph, of the Gerſhonites, on his right hand; and Ethan, of the Mezarites, on his left hand; and Jeduthun were chief, 1 Chr.25.6. & 6.31,33, 39,44. and Chenaniah, the maſter of the Song, 1 Chr. 15.22, 27. Others, their brethren, beſides the 288. were ſchollers, or of the ſecond degree. He divided them by lot into 24. orders, and that for the ſervice of the Temple which Solomon was to build. They were to wait by courſe, in their place and ſtation; their office was for praiſe and thanks to God: and that with voice, lifting up the voice with joy, and with inſtruments, cornets, trumpets, cymbals, pſalteries, harps, horn; with the inſtruments of David, ſaith the text, and with the words and ſongs of David, becauſe both of his making and compoſure, 1 Chr.16.7. they did thus all the time of the burnt offering, 2 Chr.29.25,26,27,28. they were imployed in that work day and night, 1 Chr.9.33 & 16.6. we read how David uſed them, in the bringing up of the ark, from the houſe of Obed Edom, 1 Chr. 15. Solomon at his bringing of the ark into the oracle, they being arrayed in white linnen, having cymbals, and pſalteries, and harps, ſtood at the eaſt end of the altar, and with them 120 Prieſts, ſounding with trumpets, 2 Chr. 5. 12. Hezekiah likewiſe uſed them, and Joſiah, in their ſolemn Reformations, and Paſſeovers. Many of them came with Zerubbabel, and Ezra, out of the captivity. Zerubbabel had them at his laying the foundation of the temple; and Nehemiah at his dedication of the walls of Jeruſalem: all uſe of muſick and ſongs is not excluded in Gods worſhip and ſervice, in the New Teſtament, Epheſ.5.18. Col. 3.16. 1 Cor.14.26. See the uſe of muſick, 2 King. 3. 15, 1 Chr.25.3.

inner court] Out of the gate.

at the ſide] Eaſt and Weſt ſides of the North gate; or, at the back of the other Buildings, and next the North partition wall.

one at the ſide] One row, or rank of chambers, at the north ſide of the Eaſt gate; with their backs to the long ſide of that gate; and ſo their proſpect was toward the north.

V. 45. This Chamber] Or, row of chambers; a change of numbers.

for the Prieſts] We may here underſtand the Levites, given by God to and for the uſe and ſervice of the Prieſts, Num.3. 1 Chr.23.27,30. & chap.24.20. & ch.25. & ch.26. See Gods wrath on King Uzziah, for violation of his charge 2 Chr. 26.16. The Levites kept the charge of the houſe, in cleanſing, the holy places whereunto they had acceſs, and obſerving the lawes of all the ſeveral ſacrifices, 1 Chr.23.28,29. and being ſingers, 1 Chr.23.30. and Porters, 1 Chron.26.

V. 46. Toward the north] From the north ſide of the length of the Eaſt gate: that row of chambers, ver.44.

the Prieſts] Properly ſo called; as the words following import.

of the Altar] About the ſacrifices, and ſpecially and particularly, the charge of the perpetual fire upon the altar; which coming down from heaven, was commanded perpetually to be preſerved, and never to be ſuffered to go out, Leu. 6.13. & 9.24. 2 Chr.7.1,2. Mac. 2.10,11. In an apiſh imitation

Theſe are the ſons of Zadock] Zadock was made High Prieſt, and put in the place and room of Abiathar, by Solomon, 1 King.2.26,27,35. and he was of the right line, deſcended of Eleazar, the eldeſt ſon of Aaron, the ninth from him. Abiathar and his anceſtor Eli, and ſome others of that race, however they came to be High Prieſts, yet deſcended but of the younger brother Ithamar: and Abiathar was depoſed, to fulfill the Word of the Lord againſt the houſe of Eli. Zadock then was the right High Prieſt. He anointed Solomon King. He firſt ſerved in Solomon's Temple; and in his race, the High Prieſthood, afterwards continued. See Chap. 44. 16,17.

which come neer] Exod. 19.22. Lev. 10. 3. & 21. 17, 18, 21,23.

V. 47. the court] Inner court, between the three inner gates, the flat and floor of it.

an hundred cubits] Square, æquilatend. Of the ſame meaſure were the three open flats and floors of the outward court, ver.19,23,27. yea and the gates of both courts, all ſix, were all alike each other, in buildings and meaſures, fifty long, and five and twenty broad, each of them; ſo uniform was the frame of the buildings: and the porches, or galleries and chambers in both courts, moſt alike, though with ſome differences. This inner court had, it ſeems, but this one open flat or floor, and that lying before the 3 gates of it, wheras the outward court, by reaſon of the largeneſs of it, had three ſuch; one before each gate of it. The Weſt ſide of this Square ſeemes to be ſome ſmall partition between this Court, and the Temple.

and the altar that was before the houſe] The altar before the Temple it ſelf. To diſtinguiſh it from the altar within the houſe. That was the golden altar; this the brazen altar: That, to burn incenſe on it; This, the fleſh of the Sacrifices. This is deſcribed and meaſured, Chap.43.13—18. Here the place of it is ſet down to be before the houſe. So Exod. 40. 6, 29. That altar before the door of the Tabernacle of the Tent of the Congregation. This, we doubt, was placed in the very midſt of this Court, or open flat; over againſt the three gates of it, and before the houſe. And theſe gates ſtanding in a direct line with the three gates of the outward Court, It followes that the gates being open, through them, the altar it ſelf, the ſacrifices, the prieſts, and the miniſterial actions, might be ſeen of the people in the outward court, yea of them within the outmoſt wall. Chriſt is our both altar and ſacrifice; our ſalvation in the midſt of the earth, Pſal.74.12. Out of all the premiſes in this Court, we may gather, That many things which this inner court had in common with the outward court, for brevity ſake are here omitted. And further light will come to both theſe courts, by analogy with the court of Solomons Temple, by a right underſtanding of thoſe texts, 1 King.6.36.& 7.12.

V. 48. And he brought me to the porch of the houſe] Having done with the courts, he now comes to the Temple it ſelf, and the parts, chambers, and ornaments of it: which being the whole ſubject of the next Chapter, might beſt have occaſioned the beginning of it here.

porch] This porch ſtood juſt Weſt from the altar; and ſome think, 20 cubits diſtant from the former inner court of the Prieſts, Chap.41.10. and about 60. from the altar it ſelf. But others rather think upon a due and joint conſideration of the Symmetry of all the buildings in this Court of the Temple; that the ſtaires of this porch joyned to the Eaſt bounds of this court. Between the altar, and this porch of the houſe, ſeems to be a place of prayer; ſome open place where the Prieſts uſed to pray, Joel 2.17. abuſed to idolatry, Ezek.8.16. This porch did joyn to the body of the Temple, as part of it, and the entrance into it. This is not that called Solomon's porch, wherein Jeſus walked, Joh. 10. 23. and wherein the people ran together to Peter and John, and the Creeple healed by them, Act.3.11. and wherein the Apoſtles, and the people were all with one accord, Act. 5. 12. That muſt be ſome porch of the outward court. For into this, the people, or the Apoſtles, or our Saviour himſelf never entred; as not being of the tribe of Levi, and of Aarons line, who onely were to enter into it. The true door and porch is Jeſus Chriſt, Joh.10.9,28.& 14.6.

of the houſe] That is, the Temple, ſo called Κατ᾽ ἐξοχὴν, as we call the Bible; as if it were the onely houſe worthy of that name. So 1 King.8.27. 2 Chr.7.12. Pſal.78.69. Gods houſe for him to dwell in. His houſe of prayer, Eſay 56.7. Mat.21.13.

and meaſured each poſt of the porch] We have here in this and the next verſe, the porch, and the length and the bredth of it; the poſts of it, and their meaſure, and pillars by them. We have alſo the breadth of the gate of this porch, and ſteps aſcending to this porch. The length and the breadth of this porch are certainly ſet down in the next verſe, without admitting any ſcruple about them: yea and the breadth of the gate likewiſe, in this verſe; and yet great variety, and much difficulty ariſeth among Interpreters, upon other points and paſſages of the words. The main ground thereof is, becauſe ſome reckon the length of the porch from north to ſouth, and the breadth from eaſt to weſt. Others, clean contrary. The former, reckoning the eaſt front of the porch, running from north to ſouth to be 20 cubits, labour to make it up divers wayes. Some thus, in theſe particulars, viz. In the middle of it a door of four cubits broad: on either ſide of that door a gate, or leaves of a gate, to open when occaſion was, three cubits on this ſide, and three cubits on that ſide; and on either ſide of theſe leaves, cloiſters of five cubits long: and thus they take up the whole length or front of the porch: the 20 cubits. Others thus; a poſt in the middle, whereon the leaves of the door met, two cubits broad: the breadth of the opening leaves, three cubits a piece; and the poſts whereon they did hang and turn, one a piece: and the poſts or wall on either ſide the door, five cubits a piece; in all 20. And thus paſſing through the porch into the houſe, you paſs through the breadth of the porch, not the length of it. On the other ſide ſome conceive the meaning to be this; That the length of this porch ſtood eaſt and weſt, being 20 cubits within the walls; the breadth, north and ſouth, being 11 cubits within the walls; which breadth was taken up thus; a two leafed gate of three cubits a piece, for the light and opening of it, like one of thoſe, Ch. 41.24. and a middle poſt of one cubit whereon they met and cloſed; and a poſt on either ſide of two cubits a piece, joyned to and with the leaf, and opening of the gate, which ſo made up five cubits on either ſide the middle poſt, and ſo juſtly ariſeth the ſum of eleven cubits, for the breadth of the porch within the walls: and then the length of the porch remaining, will admit of no difficulty. See Annotations on Chap.41.13.

poſt of the porch] To diſtinguiſh it from the poſt of the gate which had the leaf adjoyning to it.

three cubits] Each leaf of the gate: and this joyning to the poſt of it, whereon it did hang and turn, made four cubits,

V. 49. the length] Some take it from eaſt to weſt; as the length was reckoned in the eaſt gates; and ſo in the body of the Temple. But this better ſuites with the deſcription of Solomon's Temple, and with the whole frame and meaſures of this building, to be taken from north to ſouth, along the breadth of the Temple.

and the breadth] From north to ſouth, eleven cubits, ſay ſome: But rather from eaſt to weſt. The breadth of Solomon's porch was but ten cubits, 1 King.6.3. In this, and in many other dimenſions this Temple differs from that of Solomon. The height of Solomon's porch was 120 cubits, 2 Chr.3.4.

by the ſteps] The text ſets not down the number of theſe ſteps, as it did in the 2 courts. And hereupon divers men take liberty to themſelves for divers opinions: Some ſaying 15. Some 12. Some 11. Some 10. Moſt 8. as were in the laſt, and inner court; and is ſo expreſſed in their Latine tranſlation, though without warrant of the Hebrew Canon; and Jerom himſelf, the author of their Latine tranſlation, as they will have it in his comment upon this place, leaves the number doubtful.

pillars by the poſts] Standing by themſelves, within the porch, neer the wall of the Temple, as moſt think; as Jachin and Boaz in the porch of Solomon's Temple, 1 King.7.21. 2 Chron.3.17. The meaſures and form of which pillars are ſet down 1 King.7.15,23. 2 Chron. 3.15,16,17. See the Annotations on the fifth verſe of this Chapter. This opinion ſtands well with thoſe, who make the length of the porch to run north and ſouth; which opinion we beſt allow: But it would much impeach the entrance into the Temple, if we take the breadth of the porch, being 11 cubits, to run north and ſouth, the breadth of the door of the Temple being 10 cubits, Chap. 41.2. ſuch therefore are forced to make theſe pillars to be fixed, and as it were, half incorporated into the wall, and that by the poſts, (theſe are the words of the text) namely, of the gate in the front of the porch. See Apoc.3.11, 12. And thus much of the porch of the Temple; whereupon we may here again gather, That divers things touching the porch, and the upper buildings of it eſpecially, are omitted here.

CHAP. XLI.

Verſ. 1. A*Fterwards he brought me to the Temple*] He proceeds ſtill from the outmoſt to the inmoſt, from the lower to the higher; from the porch, now to the temple it ſelf; the Sanctum, or the body of it. This part alone is often called by the name of the temple, the houſe. This is not that temple, ſo named very often, in the new Teſtament; wherein our Saviour is ſaid to have walked; and at twelve years old to have heard the Doctors, and asked them queſtions. Wherein he taught the people, and healed them, and wrought miracles; and through which he would not ſuffer any man to carry any veſſel; and out of which he caſt, and whipt out, and that twice, the buyers and ſellers. Not that temple wherein the children cryed Hoſanna; and Anna continued faſting and praying; neither the Phariſee and Publican went up to pray; wherein the Apoſtles daily taught; and the Beleevers daily continued with one accord. The temple in thoſe places muſt be meant, of the outward court of it onely; here it is taken in its proper ſignification, for the Sanctuary, the Sanctum, the Body, or Baſilick of the temple, called the firſt Tabernacle, Heb. 9. 2. Into which none might enter, no not the Levites themſelves, but onely the Prieſts of the ſeed of Aaron. This temple figured our Saviour and his body, Joh. 2. 19, 21. And we, and our bodies are, by grace become the temples of the Holy Ghoſt, 1 Cor. 6. 19. & 3. 16, 17. This material temple here, the Angel begins to meaſure, and proceeds to the Oracle, and the parts and ornaments of them both; and to the outward Chambers and buildings, which were appendixes of them. And firſt, the Poſts] Some here would underſtand Cloyſters, ſtanding upon Poſts, on either hand the Gate, at the Eaſt end, before the body of the houſe; each ſix cubits broad from the wall of the houſe, eaſtward into the Court; and running along the wall, five cubits on either ſide the Gate, to the North and South corners of the houſe. But this in no wiſe can ſtand with the being, and deſcription of the Porch already mentioned; which joyned to the temple. Some others, underſtand the Fronts of the wall on both ſides the Gate. But the meaſure of ſix cubits apiece, agrees not to the Fronts: and the ſtraitning of the Gate to eight cubits, to make way for ſix on both ſides, offereth too great violence to the Text, verſ. 2. Others, underſtand Chambers; but this carries no ſhew of probability from the text, or ſtructures. Others, more likely, underſtand the breadth of the wall, or thickneſſe of the wall, on both ſides the Gate of the temple or Sanctuary. Or, which differs not much, the Poſts of the Gate, the North and South Poſt, meaſured here in their length, or thickneſſe from Eaſt to Weſt; which is one reed, or ſix cubits; as alſo was the thickneſſe of all the walls of the temple, verſ. 5. See Annotatations on verſ. 21.

which was the breadth of the tabernacle] Some take tabernacle here for the upper threſhold, or lintel of the door: which was, ſay they, not arched, but ſquare or flat; and that was according to the thickneſs of the wall of ſix cubits. But this is a very hard and unheard of Catacreſis, an harſh, and abuſive conſtruction of tabernacle. More fair it is to underſtand, that the former two ſixes, of the breadth of the Poſts, fell in, and agreed with the breadth of the tabernacle of Moſes; as indeed they did. For Moſes tabernacle was broad eight boards, and each board was of the breadth of a cubit and an half, which made up twelve cubits, Exod. 26. 16. 22, 25. And for tabernacle, the LXX. here read and tranſlate, Poſts. And this meaſure of them, well agrees with the Symmetry and harmony of this wondrous ſtructure.

V. 2. And the breadth of the door was ten cubits] Door; or, entrance. This door was in the midſt of the outward, or Eaſt wall of the body of the temple or ſanctuary, joyning to the Porch.

ten cubits] The whole tabernacle of Moſes, was in all, but twelve cubits broad. And the breadth of the Porch, here, was eleven cubits; and of the door-way of it ſix cubits, Chap. 40. 48, 49. This door, in Solomons temple, was but five cubits broad, 1 King. 6. 33. the fourth part of the wall.

and the ſides of the door five cubits] Thoſe five on each ſide of the door, did remain of the wall to the two ſides of the houſe, to make the whole length of that wall twenty cubits, from North to South; according to the breadth of the temple within, from corner to corner.

the length thereof fourty cubits] Length, from Eaſt to Weſt, and breadth, from North to South, were of the ſame meaſure in Solomons temple, 1 King. 6. 2. 17. And therefore it ſeems the thickneſſe of the wall here, which divided between the body of the temple and the Oracle, is beſides the length of ſixty cubits, whereof fourty belong to the temple, and twenty to the Oracle. In Moſes tabernacle, and Solomons temple, there was but a vail, dividing thoſe ſacred places, Exod. 26. 31, 32, 33. 2 Chron. 3. 14. Which diviſion, or vail was reckoned in the ſixty cubits, 1 King. 6. 2. & 2 Chro. 3. 3. And a vail ſeems to be likewiſe in Zerubbabels temple, repaired by Herod; which was rent at Chriſts death. Matth. 27. 51.

V. 3. then went he inward] Through the body of the Temple, the holy place; to the Oracle, the moſt holy place.

and meaſured the poſts of the door two cubits] This partition differs from that in Solomons temple; as was ſaid in the Annotations upon the former verſe. Some imagine hereby, an entry, or cloyſter between the two holy places, beſides the door. But this is inconſiſtent with the ſpace and partition between them. Neither was there any entrance into the moſt holy place, but by the door. But this muſt be underſtood, either of the breadth, and thickneſſe of the partition wall; which was thinner, as reaſon required, then the other walls of the temple. Or, of two Pilaſters, by, or upon the poſts of the door, on either ſide; chiefly for ornament ſake.

and the door ſix cubits] Some underſtand this of the height of the door, and conceive that verſ. 5. 17, 20 have a relation to this height; and that the breadth is expreſſed in the next words, and meaſure of ſeven cubits. Others, and the moſt, take them for the breadth of the door. And of theſe, ſome thus, and that with moſt probability, That the door was a two-leafed door; as verſ. 25. and either leaf of three cubits, ſo making up ſix cubits for the opening of the door, and ſpace of entrance; with a middle Poſt whereon they met, of one cubit; and ſo making ſeven cubits for the whole breadth, as in the next words.

and the breadth of the door ſeven cubits] See Annotations next preceeding. Yet many force the words to mean thoſe parts of the wall, remaining on both ſides the door; ſeven, ſay they, on either ſide: which fourteen, with ſix of the door, make up twenty, the length of that wall and partition to the inſides of the Oracle. But here, the door and Poſt of it ſeem onely to be meaſured; and the ſide-walls, on both ſides of the door, to be omitted; as of themſelves plain enough.

V. 4. ſo he meaſured] The moſt holy place, within the walls, was a perfect ſquare of twenty cubits. And ſo was the Oracle in Solomons temple, 1 King. 6. 20. 2 Chro. 3. 8. Moſes Tabernacle, by the boards of it, and by the curtains of the Cherubins, may be gathered to be fourty cubits long; whereof the Holy place, thirty, and the moſt Holy place, ten. And the whole, eight cubits broad, Exod, 26.

before the Temple] That is, in the inner part of the temple. Or, thus, The breadth of it was juſt equal, with the breadth of the body of the temple, and ſtood ſtraight and even before it, at the Weſt end of it; therefore he calls that here the breadth; though the length, ſo called, were in it ſelf of the ſame meaſure, as the ſides are in a ſquare.

This is the moſt Holy place] Far more holy then any other place: Becauſe there was Gods Mercy Seat, and Propitiatory. It is called the Oracle, becauſe God ſpake with Moſes, and gave his Oracles and Anſwers there, Numb. 7. 89. Exod. 25. 22. & 26. 33. It is called the inner-Houſe, the inner-Temple, verſ. 15. 17.

V. 5. meaſured the wall of the houſe] Now he comes to the walls of the houſe, and the outward buildings. The wall of all the houſe, was ſix cubits thick, ſit to ſupport the height of the houſe.

and the breadth] Of that ſubſtruction of chambers, joyning to the out-walls of the houſe, the breadth, or bottom, or floor, was four cubits to the loweſt ſtory of them; and conſequently, five to the middle; ſix to the highmoſt. It was five in Solomons temple, to the nethermoſt; ſix to the middle-row, and ſeven to the third, and uppermoſt, 1 King. 6. 6.

on every ſide] That is North, and South, and Weſt. For the text clears it, that the Eaſt ſide, or end, which was for the Porch and Entrance, had no Chambers.

V. 6. three, one over another, and thirty in order] Three ſtories; and thirty in each ſtory, viz. moſt likely, twelve on the North ſide, and twelve on the South ſide, and ſix at the Weſt ſide or end, in each ſtory. And all the Chambers on each ſtory were of the ſame height, and breadth; about ſix cubits ſquare apiece, and five Cubits high; as thoſe, 1 King. 6. 10. that is, about one cubit above the ordinary ſtature of men in thoſe dayes. Some conceive theſe to be overlaid with gold within; by that in Solomons Temple, 2 Chr. 3. 9. But that place ſeems to relate rather to the high Chambers over the porch of the Temple. The uſe of theſe chambers was not for the habitations of women, or Nuns, as ſome Papiſts would fain, and fondly have it; but for the prieſts, and for the ſafer cuſtody of the gold and ſilver veſſels of the Temple, and ſuch other things, in thoſe ſafe and ſacred places.

and they entred into the wall] Not the outwall of five cubits thick, ver.9. but the wall of the Houſe or Temple; at leaſt the beams and floores of the middle, and upmoſt ſtories did ſo. But ſo entred, that the beams might have hold, and lye onely upon the outward ledges, narrowings, or Rabatements of the wall, as is ſignified in the next verſe.

V. 7. And there was an enlarging] The ſtories wider above, as the thickneſſe of the walls of the houſe was made narrower and thinner above; that is, abated a cubit, for the beams, floor, and uſe of the middle ſtory: and yet another Cubit more then that, for the beams, floor, and enlargement of the higheſt ſtory. So that the walls of the Temple were ſix Cubits thick at the bottome; five at the middle ſtory: and four at the higheſt ſtory. And the Chambers broad, four Cubits the lowmoſt rank, five the middle, and ſix the higheſt rank.

To the ſide Chambers] For them and their uſe; to receive the beams of them, and enlarge the Roomes.

the breadth of the houſe was ſtill upward] The breadth of the chambers was gained, and enlarged ſtill upwards on the houſe; increaſing, as is expreſſed in the next words. Not that the ſtories jutted outward, one above or beyond another. And winding ſtaireswent up to theſe ſide chambers; and then paſſages through them, from chamber to chamber; winding ſo about the houſe.

V. 8. I ſaw alſo the height of the houſe round about] Some underſtand this of the height of the Seats round about the Houſe, on the outſide, ſuſtained and ſupported by beames coming out of the walls, and being in height from the ground ſix cubits. Some, of the height of the Rebatements, Julets, or Menſolas, upon which the beams of the Chamber floor were laid, that they were ſix Cubits one from the other, drawing upwards. And others ſome, of the height of the Houſe, or Temple, thus; ſix cubits from the ground, to the floor of the loweſt ſtory, that is, ſix cubits the wall upwards, that was the foundation of the ſtories of Chambers; being of the ſame height with the breadth of the door of the Porch, Chap.40.48. and with the breadth or thickneſſe of the Poſts of the Gate of the Temple, ver. 1. And of all the walls of the houſe, ver. 5. and then after that, The three ſtories of Chambers, about five Cubits high apiece. Others underſtand it, of the height of each ſtory in each Chamber. But moſt, and moſt likely, of the height of the higheſt ſtory of chambers; He ſaw in the houſe, or at the Houſe, the height of that higheſt ſtory. The foundations of which ſtory, were a full reed of 6 great cubits; gained ſo, by the ſecond rebatement of the wall of the Temple. The foundations of the middle ſtory were but five; and of the loweſt, but four, ver.5. The number of them in each ſtory; and the height and breadth of them all alike. This height from the ground was about five and twenty cubits, viz. ſix to the firſt floor; five, each ſtory; one, the thickneſſe of each floor; and one, the top Cover, being a flat roof, as houſes in Paleſtine and Egypt in thoſe times uſed to be. And above this height, the windowes of the Temple were; and room enough for them.

A full reed] As Gen.23.9. full moving. See 2 Chr.3.3. See Annotations on Chap.40.5.

V. 9. The thickneſſe of the wall] Or, the breadth of it; in the ſame ſenſe. And yet ſome, without all cauſe, deny this to be underſtood of the thickneſſe of the wall, that it was thus thick, as five cubits; but that this wall ſtood at ſo much breadth and diſtance from the wall of the houſe.

wall] Of ſtone; not of wood, as of poſts, Joyſts, and boards; as ſome weakly imagine.

which was for the ſide Chamber without] That is, the exterior wall for the outſides of this building, and ſubſtruction of the ſide chambers, incloſing them all, as the outward wall and part of them.

was five cubits] And this alſo is the breadth of the place that was left, ver.11. And the thickneſſe of the wall of that building, ver. 12. each of them one cubit leſſe, then the thickneſſe or breadth of the walls of the houſe, ver.5.

and that which was left was the place of the ſide Chambers that were within] Some underſtand hereby, the place of the ſide chambers themſelves, that were within theſe bounds, and took up the ſpace and place that was left, between this exterior wall of five cubits, and the walls of the Temple; The chambers thus from the exterior wall ſtanding Inwards towards the Houſe: and this place or ſpace was alſo about five cubits whether you call it length, or breadth, ver.11. Others take this place that was left, to be a void place and ſpace of ground, clear and free from any buildings upon it, and lying next before theſe Temple-Chambers; and being of the breadth of five Cubits, round about the three ſides of the Temple, North, South, and Weſt; whence paſſage was to the doors of the foreſaid Temple-Chambers, one toward the North, and another toward the South, ver.11. This place is called the place that was left, that is, left void and free of buildings, ver.9,11. And the word there uſed in the Original, is no where elſe found in Scripture.

V. 10. And between the Chambers] That is, ſay ſome, Thoſe of the Temple laſt ſpoken of; as if between Chamber and Chamber there were the wideneſſe and diſtance of 10 Cubits. But this is incredible and impoſſible; as appears by what hath formerly been ſhewed. Others would make twenty cubits to ariſe out of all thoſe diſtances between thoſe chambers of the Temple ſummed together. But neither may this be admitted, upon the former grounds. The meaning is, Between thoſe chambers of the Temple laſt ſpoken of, which were for treaſuries, and other chambers adjoyning to the walls of the court, to the outmoſt part; we mean, of this inmoſt court, over the Porches, or Porticoes thereof; which chambers were chiefly for lodgings of the prieſts; and did face thoſe other chambers of the Temple; Between them was this wideneſſe here ſpoken of.

was the wideneſſe of twenty cubits] The words are plain. Some take them as they ſound. Some ſay twenty cubits, beſides the five cubits of the place that was left mentioned, ver. 9,11. Now of this wideneſſe of twenty cubits, it is not expreſly ſet down how it was taken up, and imployed. And hereupon opinions run divers wayes. Some ſay, ten of them were taken up in Galleries, or Cloyſters, upon pillars; thoſe mentioned ver.15,16. And the other ten, in floores or ſpaces open to the skye; that is, five cubits on each ſide of thoſe middle Galleries. Others ſay, This whole Interval of twenty cubits, was free of buildings, and lay open to the sky. However, They labour to fill up the number of an hundred cubits in this court of the Temple, from North to South: Some thus; The Temple with its ſubſtructions and chambers, ſixty cubits: This wideneſſe here mentioned 20 cubits: and the galleries and upper chambers thereof joyning to the walls of the Court, 10 cubits on the North ſide, and 10 cubits on the South ſide. But theſe heed not that theſe particulars corrupting the wideneſſe of 20 on both ſides the Temple, raiſe the ſum to 120. Others, more rightly, reckon thus; The Temple with its ſubſtructions and chambers 50. The foreſaid wideneſſe on either ſide 20. and the galleries and upper Chambers thereof, joyning to the wall on either ſide, five. Or, excluding thoſe laſt five cubits on either ſide for the Chambers of the walls of the Court, we may take in thoſe five on each ſide, mentioned ver.11.

round about the houſe on every ſide] Eaſt, Weſt, North, and South, ſay ſome: yet the ſymmetry, and architecture and fabrick of all the buildings in this court ſeem to deny any ſuch wideneſs to be left on the eaſt end. It muſt then be underſtood of the North, South, and Weſt ſides: though ſome would have it on the North and South ſides onely; and, without juſt ground, do deny any ſuch wideneſs to be left on the weſt end alſo.

V. 11. And the doors of the ſide Chambers] Chambers of the Temple; not of the counterfeits, or ſuppoſed Buttreſſes of the Temple. Thoſe ſubſtructions of Chambers, each of them had doors. What Papiſts write here of theſe doors opening into places for prayer, is beſides the text; through the errour of their vulgar Latine Tranſlation, to which they are tyed.

toward the place that was left] Ver. 9. of the breadth of five cubits round about, as it is in the end of this verſe, left clear and free from buildings, cloſe to the ſides of theſe chambers. Others, not ſo well, taking the place that was left to be the Temple, make theſe doors looking towards the Temple, if not into it. See Annotations on ver.9.

one door towards the north] The ſingular for the plural; that is, one ſort of theſe doors were toward the north; that is, the doors of thoſe chambers that were on the north ſide of the Temple, looked northward.

and another door toward the South] That is, the other ſort; namely, the doors of thoſe chambers that were on the South ſide of the Temple, looked toward the South: and ſo all looked towards that quarter of the heavens that lay juſt before them. On the eaſt end were no chambers; though ſome are otherwiſe minded; the porch of the Temple ſupplyed the place of the chambers there. Some conceive, without ſufficient ground, that there were but two doors onely, or at leaſt, that here are meant the two extream doors onely, one on the north ſide of the Temple, and north chambers, and placed at the corner towards the eaſt; and another on the South ſide of the Temple, and South chambers, at the end or corner toward the eaſt: and that neither looked towards the Temple, nor towards the court, or wide and open place, but served for a ſuppoſed ſtair caſe, at the eaſt end, on either ſide, whereby they went unto the chambers, and ſo through one chamber to another.

and the breadth] Some ſay, from the wall of the Temple, to the wall which incloſed the buttreſſes. Others ſay, the breadth of the chambers within, in their inſide. But moſt and beſt underſtand it of the place that was left void from buildings, cloſe to the outſide of theſe chambers, into which the doors opened.

five cubits round about] Not between the walls of the Temple, and theſe chambers; as if there were a void ſpace of five cubits broad, round about, between them: which ſome would therefore have to be filled up with earth; ſo burying, as it were, the Temple deep in ground. But no ſuch thing, nor any ſuch void place can be admitted; as the ſixt verſe doth evince. Neither ſeem theſe five cubits to be part of the 20 cubits, ver.10. But to lye between them, and the Temple-Chambers.

V. 12. Great here is the difficulty of the text, and the variety of expoſitions.

now the building] Some underſtand this of the Chambers of the Temple, and their ſtories and buildings, which can no wayes agree with the deſcription, ſite, and meaſures following in this verſe. Others, of the Chambers of the wall of the Court, ſtanding at 20 cubits diſtance from the former. And this as improbable, if not impoſſible, as the other. Some underſtand it, of a building of Chambers, in the middle of that wideneſs of 20 cubits, ver.10. And ſome, of a wall, diſtinguiſhing this Court into certain parts, viz. The ſegment, or ſeparate place, as it is here tranſlated; and the utter court, as it is called, Chap.42.1,3,7,8,9. But how theſe opinions can ſtand with the buildings premiſed, and within the compaſs of the Court of the Temple, we can not conceive. Others, more likely, and better agreeing with the words of the text, make this to be a building, Weſt from the Temple, meaſured here; and in a ſeveral Court, meaſured ver.15. and the wall, and the galleries or chambers of it, meaſured alſo, ver. 15. and the garniſhing of them, ſet down, ver.16.

before] Verſ.15. over againſt; oppoſite, and oppoſite unto it.

before the ſeparate place] Some underſtand this of the Chambers of the Temple. Some of the Chambers, together with counterforts or buttreſſes of the wall of the Temple. Some, of the Temple it ſelf. Some, of the Temple, and chambers or ſubſtructions, joyntly. Some, of that ſegment formerly mentioned. Others, more likely, of the middle open ſpace of 20 cubits between the chambers, of the walls of the Temple, and of the walls of the Court, that lay at the Weſt end of the Temple.

at the end towards the weſt] Toward the weſt end of the Building, ſay ſome. Of the ſeparate place, ſay others. The one making the building to be, before the ſeparate place. The other, behind it. Some thus, on, or from the North and South ſides of the ſeparate place; which by a direct line looked full Weſtward.

weſt] Sea, in the Hebrew, ſignifying the Weſt, becauſe the great midland Sea lay Weſt from Jury, as hath been ſaid.

was ſeventy cubits broad] Some reckon this breadth from Eaſt to Weſt, which in proper ſpeech is the length; and they make up the number thus. The length of the Temple, along the ſides whereof, ſay they, this building was, 60 cubits: and the breadth of the laſt ſtory of chambers, and of the wall of the Weſt end, 10 cubits. Or, if they amount to ſome more, then they make the beginning of the building and reckoning to be ſo much backward from the beginning of the temple. Some reckon this breadth of 70 in its proper acception from North to South, and at the Weſt end; and compute thus; The breadth of the oracle within, 20 cubits; The thickneſſe of the North, and South walls of the Oracle, 6 cubits a piece; the breadth of the chambers on both ſides, four cubits a piece; the breadth or thickneſſe of the exteriour wall of thoſe chambers, on both ſides of the Temple, five cubits a piece; the breadth of a void or open ſpace between the Chambers, and another exteriour wall compaſſing that void ſpace, five Cubits a piece: And the thickneſſe of this laſt named wall, five Cubits on either ſide the Temple, North and South: in all ſeventy Cubits. Others reckon this breadth from the walls of the Temple, to the walls of the Court, thus; The Chambers and Out-wall of them, nine cubits: The interval and void open ſpace between the chambers of the Temple, and thoſe of the wall of the Court, 20 Cubits; and the Galleries and Chambers over them, joyning to the wall of the Court, ſix Cubits: In all 35 on the North ſide of the Temple, and ſo many on the South ſide: in all 70 Cubits. But, reckoning this, in a ſeveral Court, all doubts and ſcruples are taken away.

and the wall of the building was five cubits thick round about] This was the breadth and groſneſſe of the wall of this building; and is the ſame thickneſs with that of the exteriour wall of the ſide-Chambers, ver.9. and with the breadth of the place that was left, ver. 11. one Cubit leſſe then the thickneſs of the walls of the houſe, ver. 5. Some place this wall clean behind this building, contrary to the Letter of the text. Some make the wall to be the onely thing here meant and meaſured in this verſe, how thick in it ſelf, where, and how far it did run in breadth or ſide-wiſe, from North to South; and how far long-wiſe, from Eaſt to Weſt.

and the length thereof ninety cubits] Some underſtand this of the diſtinguiſhing wall, and the proper length of it, ninety cubits, even the length of the court floor, or open plot and flat: Whereunto the walls, or buildings to the walls being added, makes it up a hundred Cubits, as the accompt is, ver.13. Others underſtand this of the outer wall, part of the building it ſelf, and reckon the length thus; the Porch eleven Cubits, the Temple and Oracle, with their walls, ſeventy; the Chambers, and walls of them, nine: in all ninety. Others, taking here the length for height, comparing this with the breadth of ſeventy, conceive this Building to be ninety Cubits high. In this variety of opinions and expoſitions, others ſay, they can rather tell wherein to find fault, then wherewith to content, and ſatisfie themſelves. But we conceive, that placing this in a ſeveral and diſtinct Court, theſe difficulties will be removed; as will after more fully appear.

V. 13. ſo he meaſured] The buildings being thus platformed, he now cometh to make their meaſures; or, what he meaſured in ſome parts, he now gathers into one ſum. He ſeems to ſome, in this, and the next verſe, to caſt the buildings into a ſquare, though there was ſome difference in the poſture of the buildings, and face of the floor of the cloſe, or inner Court. But indeed, the buildings are rather in ſeveral ſquares.

the houſe an hundred cubits long] Some vary ſomewhat, in gathering up this ſum; out of which variety, ſome further light, perhaps, may ariſe. All take this length, from Eaſt to Weſt. Some number thus; Porch twenty cubits; Wall of the Temple, ſix; Temple, and Oracle 60. Walls and Chambers, at the Weſt end, fourteen. In all, a hundred cubits. Some thus, The wall of the Porch, five cubits; the porch it ſelf, with its poſts, or cheeks of the door, 12. ½. Eaſt wall of the temple, 6. ½. The temple and Oracle, ſixty cubits; the Weſt wall of the Oracle, 6.; breadth of the Weſt chambers, five; the outward wall of them, broad, or thick, five cubits. In all, an hundred cubites. Others thus; The wall of the porch, 6. cubits; the breadth of the Porch, eleven; the wall of the Temple, 6. Then for ſettles, five cubits; the Temple. 40. cubits; The Eaſt wall of the Oracle, 6. the Oracle it ſelf, 20. cubits; the weſt wall of it, 6. cubits: In all, an hundred cubits. But we conceive, the rightest reckoning to be thus; ſtairs to the Eaſt porch, 6. cubits; or rather from them, the thickneſſe of the wall of the Porch, 6. cubits; breadth of the Porch, through which the entrance was made, in the inſide, eleven cubits; the wall of the Temple, 6. The Temple it ſelf, 40. cubits; The partition wall, two cubits; The Oracle, 20. The Weſt wall of the Oracle, 6. The breadth of the Weſt Chambers, at the bottom, four cubits; And the thickneſs of their exterior wall, five cubits: In all, an hundred cubits. The breadth likewiſe an hundred cubits, from North to South; thus; The breadth of the Temple, twenty cubits: the thickneſs of each wall, North and South, 6. apiece: The breadth of the chambers on each ſide, four; the thickneſſe of the exterior walls of the Chambers, on each ſide, five: the breadth of the place that was left on either ſide, five: the wideneſs between, on either ſide, twenty: In all, an hundred cubits.

and the ſeparate place] Some underſtand this of the chambers of the wall of the court, that ſtood facing thoſe of the Temple, at twenty cubits diſtance, on the North and South ſides; and that they were from the Eaſt to the Weſt point of them, a hundred cubits. Others, take it for a ſeparate building of Chambers, ſtanding by it ſelf, between the chambers of the Temple, and thoſe of the Court-wall, for the uſe of the Prieſts, and their lodgings: And that this building, with the walls thereof, was of the ſame length with the other of the houſe, even juſt ſo large to ſerve their uſes. Others conceive, That this explains, what the Prophet means, by Houſe, in the former words; And that is, even this ſeparate place, the Porch, Temple, Oracle, Chambers, and walls adjoyning. So that this ſeparate place was the temple; or at leaſt part of the Temple, the Chambers running by, and adjoyning to the ſides of it; and ſo of the ſame meaſure and length with it. But we rather, conceive here to be meant, that building in a ſeveral Court; as we mentioned in the Annotations upon the former verſe; and the ſquare of that Court to be an hundred cubits, thus; The wideneſſe of twenty Cubits, on the Weſt end of the temple; the breadth of this building, which run Eaſt and Weſt, ſeventy cubits, ver. 12. And the thickneſſe of the wall of it on either ſide, five, verſ. 12. In all an hundred cubits. And then from North to South thus, The length of this Building, ninety cubits, verſ. 12. And the thickneſſe of the walls as formerly, five on each ſide; which makes up an hundred cubits.

V. 14. Alſo the breadth of the face of the houſe] Here is meaſured, not the houſe it ſelf, but that which was before the face of it; the breadth between the Court of the Prieſts, and the Porch of the Temple, ſay ſome. Or, much rather, the whole Eaſt face of the Court of the houſe; which was an hundred cubits.

and of the ſeparate place] The meaning thus, which is the ſeparate place, that is the ſeparate place: Or rather, that other ſeparate place and court, which lay in a ſquare, juſt Weſt behind the temple. And ſo the face of it, was, as the face of the houſe.

toward the eaſt] Which lay eaſtward from the Temple, the eaſt plot, or empty ſpace, or open floor of this inmoſt Court of the Temple, ſay ſome. But we rather underſtand the breadth from North to South, of the Eaſt face of theſe two Courts of the Houſe, and of the ſeparate place juſt behind it, as we ſaid before.

an hundred cubits] From North to South; which ſome do open, and caſt up thus, That at the Eaſt end, between the Court of the Prieſts, and the Houſe or Temple, there was an empty open ſpace running from North to South, an hundred Cubits, viz. twenty in the breadth of the houſe, twenty on either ſide the houſe, in the ſeparate place, and 20 in the thickneſs of the buildings, on either ſide the ſeparate place. But we much rather gather up the ſum of an hundred Cubits, as we did before. Some conceiving all the Buildings, and void ſpaces, mentioned in this Court, (in the middle whereof the Temple is ſaid to ſtand) to be more then one Court of an hundred Cubits ſquare, will contain-, have thought, that this Court had an hundred Cubits ſquare on each ſide of it; as the Court of the Prieſts had. And ſurely ſuch difficulties and perplexities do ariſe touching the ſymmetries, and correſpondencies of theſe buildings, and void places, in one Court, one with another, that we conceive builders and Arts-men in this kind cannot reconcile, and therefore we rather make two Courts of them.

V. 15. And he meaſured the length of the building] Of that building mentioned, ver. 12. 13. See the Annotations there. Some here underſtand this of the buildings of this Court of the Temple, of thoſe Porticoes, or porches, made with Pylaſters, and Arches, joyning to the wall of this inmoſt Court, wherewith it was encompaſſed; or rather, the Weſt range of them, which ran along the Weſt quarter, at the back of the Oracle behind it. Others, of the buildings, which they ſuppoſe ran on the outſide of the ſeparate place, North and South; And that theſe did not reach clean up to the building that ſtood croſs to them, at the Weſt end; but brake off juſt againſt the ſides of the Chambers at that end of the houſe, and ſo left a ſpace to paſſe from the North buildings, through the Weſt, to the South buildings.

Again, ſome underſtand it of the buildings of that utter Court, mentioned Chap. 42. 1,3,7,8,9. which was behind the ſeparate place, behind the breaſt-wall of it. Which we conceive to draw neereſt to the letter of the text, and meaning of the Prophet; That the building within this ſeparate place and Court had theſe Galleries or Chambers on both ſides of it; and made up the meaſure of length in ſuch manner, as is here ſet down: yet we muſt needs confeſſe, that here we walk in the midſt of obſcurities, and difficulties.

over againſt] Ver. 12. before. The meaning may be within the breaſt-wall of it.

The ſeparate place] See Annotations on ver. 12.

which was behind it] Some underſtand this of the ſeparate place, that it was behind this building. But moſt, and moſt likely, mean it of the Building, that it was behind the ſeparate place, or breaſt-wall of it; which beſt agrees with the harmony and ſymmetry of the whole frame of all the buildings in this utter Court. At leaſtwiſe, this building was behind, that is, toward the Weſt, behind that Eaſt part, which he had meaſured before, ver. 14.

and the Galleries thereof] Some mean by theſe, Angles or Corners. Some, buttreſſes of this building. Some, Chambers, or Store-houſes. Others, more likely, do mean porches of this building; or Galleries, ſupported with pillars; or, much to the ſame effect, the Belconies of them, as we newly call them, the ornaments of them. Theſe being in the weſt had their proſpect, to the weſt part, and hindmoſt part of the Temple.

on the one ſide] North and South ſides of the houſe, or rather, Eaſt and Weſt ſides of this building in the ſeparate place.

an hundred cubits] Equal with the place, ver. 14. and it was according to the length of all the Porches in other Courts. Of theſe hundred Cubits, ſee the particulars, for length, and for breadth, (this Court alſo being an æquilateral quadrat) in the Annotations upon ver. 13.

with the inner temple] That is, the Oracle, the hindmoſt part of the Temple, or rather the whole Temple, which was the inner part of all the buildings, being in the middle of that Court, incompaſſed with porches, or Pylaſters and Arches, and Chambers over them, joyning to the wall of that Court; ſaving that on the Eaſt quarter of the Temple Court, moſt think there were no Porches, Galleries, or Chambers.

and the Porches of the Court] Not that one porch of the Temple; but the Porches of this Court: which Porches being the ſame in this Court, as in the precedent Courts, the Prophet thought it enough to touch them only in this one word. Theſe Porches, ſay ſome, running into the floor of this Court, divided it into ſeverall ſquares. Others make this verſe a kind of repetition or collection of what was ſaid before; that is, that he meaſured the Temple in the midſt of the Temple-Court; and the Porches about it. And this the rather, becauſe of the later words of the verſe. But thoſe words rather bear, that the Temple, and the Porches of that Court, were an hundred Cubits; as the buildings and galleries of this ſeparate place. And it ſeems upon this occaſion, the ornaments of the buildings as well of the Temple, as of this ſeparate place, are deſcribed Ver. 16—21.

V. 16. The door Poſts.] The Prophet in all this Chapter ſeems to contain himſelf within the limits of the Court of the Temple, and of the ſeparate place; and comes here to ſet forth the garniſhing of the buildings in theſe courts, Ver. 16—21. The door poſts then we take in a latitude, to comprehend thoſe, Chap. 40. 48,49. and thoſe, ver. 1,2,3,11,20, 23,24,25. Of this Chapter, even the door poſts in all the buildings of both the foreſaid Courts. Some extend them to the door poſts in the other courts alſo of the Prieſts, and of the people, in their gates and porches; and alſo to the Threſholds, and upper lintels of them, and to the Pylaſtors for ornament upon the walls.

and the narrow windowes] Either the ſmall windowes in the arches of the Cloiſters, and Porches, compaſſing the court of the Temple; or, the windowes of the Chambers joyning to the Temple it ſelf; narrow without, and broad within; or narrow in the middle of the wall, and broad and ſloaped both without and within, the better to receive the light, and to dilate it and diſperſe it; as in Solomon's Temple, 1 King. 6. 4. See Annotations on Chap. 40. 16.

We read of no windowes in Moſes Tabernacle, no not one in the holy place it ſelf. But of one Candleſtick there with ſeven lamps or lights, Exod. 25. 31,32,37. & Chap. 37. 17,18, 23. To be kindled, and burn alwayes, from evening to morning; and poſſibly for want of windowes, and light, from morning to evening again, Exod. 27. 20,21. & 30. 8. Lev. 24. 2, 3. 1 Sam. 3. 3. In Solomon's Temple we read of windows, and ten candleſticks beſides, 1 King. 7. 49. 2 Chr. 4. 7,20,21, 22. & 13. 11. of theſe Candleſticks we have no mention here; as not of many other things beſides that were in Solomon's Temple. Now theſe windowes, by the nature of the word, ſeem to be, like our lettice-windowes, or windowes of wood full of ſmall holes bored through, leſt birds might get in at them. But the matter of them ſeemes to be of gold, as Joſephus teſtifies of the Temple windowes in his time; and the rather, ſeeing Solomon covered the Oracle, Temple, Porch, Walls, floors, and all within, with gold: and made the Candleſticks, and ſome veſſels all of pure gold, 1 King. 6. 20,21,22,28,30, 32,35. 2 Chron. 3. 4—11. Chap. 4. 7,8,19,20,21,22. Theſe windowes, for light, may put us in mind of the light of the Scriptures, Pſal. 19. 8,9. Prov. 6. 23, 2 Pet. 1. 19.

and the galleries] Galleries, and Chambers of the houſe, ver. 5—12. and of the ſeparate place, ver. 15. and ſome add, of the Porches at the walls of the Courts, and of the Gates entring into them.

on their three ſtories] Some here underſtand the three ſtories of the Galleries, and Chambers, joyning to the walls of the Court of the Temple, on the three ſides, The North, South, and Weſt ſide. Others, the three ſtories of Chambers joyning to the walls of the Temple it ſelf, on thoſe three ſides; and that theſe were adorned and garniſhed, with the Cherubins and Palm-trees following; and that the Eaſt end or face of the Temple needed it not, by reaſon of the Porch and Gate thereof. Others, for ſtories, tranſlating parts, underſtand, Thoſe three parts or ſides of the Temple it ſelf. Others, in a greater latitude, and more likelyhood of truth, tranſlate and underſtand it thus, Galleries to thoſe three; that is, to the Temple, to the ſeparate place, and to the walls of the Court: yet in ſuch varieties, we deſire rather to be narrative, then too determinative.

over againſt the door] Some underſtand a door on either ſide of the Temple. Some, a Threſhold, or half-pace, or bottome of turning, winding ſtairs, at the Eaſt ends that led into the ſide-chambers. But the Galleries were not over againſt either of theſe. Others, underſtand doors oppoſite one to another; thoſe of the North ſide of the Court, to thoſe of the South ſide of the Court; and that they had the ſame meaſure, and manner of adorning. We rather conceive door for doors, by an allogy of numbers; and underſtand, that over againſt each door, of the Galleries aforeſaid, together with the doors of the Temple it ſelf; or, about them doors, and above them, as it is ver. 17, 20. were the garniſhings following.

ſieled with wood] Boards of wood: moſt likely of Cedar, or Olive-tree. Not that the tops or roofs of the Chambers were ſieled with them, inſtead of arches of ſtone, as ſome would. But the partitions between the Chambers rather, were made of them; or partly with them. And the doores, and poſts of the doors, namely of the Porch, Temple, and Oracle, and other places formerly mentioned, were made of them, and moſt likely ſieled with them; as the very walls of thoſe three ſacred places were, and had Cherubims and Palm-trees carved upon them, overlaid with gold, as we read in Solomon's Temple, 1 King. 6. 2. Chron. 3. and 4. Chapters.

and from the ground] Some interprete, as if the doors and poſts, on the out-ſide of the houſe, and the Windowes, Galleries, and ſide-buildings, In their ſeveral ſtories, had coverings, penthouſes, or weather-boards over them to keep off the rain from them. And ſo likewiſe under them, or at their ſtools; to keep the wall betwixt that and the ground unbeaten of the weather. Some underſtand this, as if from the ground up to the windowes, between the walls of the houſe on the out-ſide, and the three ſtories of chambers, there were an empty and void place, and that here ſaid to be filled up with earth; and the Temple ſo buried, as it were in the ground. But the words rather relate to the Inſide of the houſe, and ſhew that the walls within were ſieled ſo high, and graven with Cherubims, and Palm-trees, Knops, and open flowers: as in Solomons Temple.

and the windowes were covered]. The windowes of the Houſe, Temple, and Oracle, though many deny any windows to the Oracle.

covered] Not that they were windowes in ſhewes onely, or made in faſhion like to windowes, as we call damd windowes: But that they were like lettice-windowes, with ſuch little holes, as one could hardly diſcern them at ſuch a diſtance and height to be windowes: or elſe, ſo covered with the tops of the three ſtories of the ſide-chambers, that from the low pavements of the Courts they could not be ſeen; or, which is moſt likely, covered, if not with curtains, yet with leaves of wood; as the walls were covered and ſieled: And theſe leaves adorned with Cherubims, and Palm-trees, as the walls were. Theſe windowes were in the North, South, and Weſt walls of the houſe. The Eaſt end needed them not; nor had convenient place for them, unleſſe it were above the height of the Eaſt door. Theſe windowes in the Temple, no doubt, were uniform, all of alike height and bigneſſe, and the height great; above the three ſtories of the ſide-chambers, which muſt be about 25 Cubits, allowing ſix from the ground to the floor of the firſt ſtory; 6. to that ſtone (See 1 King. 6. 5, 6, 10.) and ſix to the ſecond ſtory; and ſix to the uppermoſt ſtory; and one Cubit to the flat roof of them; as thee roofs of buildings did uſe to be flat, in thoſe times and places.

V. 17. To that above the door] Some underſtand theſe words of windowes. But of them, in the former verſe. Here they are neither mentioned, nor meant, as may appear by the words following; and ſpecially by the 20. verſe, which explains this. The particulars here named, are about, and above the doors, as it is ver. 20. the doors of the Porch, exteriour, and inner houſe; and the ſide-walls, North and South, round about on both ſides; and the partition walls between them, within and without: all which amount to that ſet down in one ſom in the end of the 19 verſe. And all theſe were adorned, as followeth, with Cherubims, and Palm-trees; and that by meaſures, haply drawn out into ſpaces, borders, and quarters, moſt conveniently and exactly.

within and without] This is meant of the partition walls, as aforeſaid; and not of the ſaid walls of the houſe within and without: for the inſides of them differed much in adornings from their out-ſides.

V. 18. And it was made] Upon the walls mentioned in the former verſe; ſieled with boards of Cedar, with the ingravings or carvings of Cherubims, and Palm-trees upon them, by the art of the gold-ſmith; and overlaid with gold, yea and garniſhed with precious ſtones moſt likely, ſo as the inſide of the houſe gliſtered with them, as the heaven doth with the ſhining ſtars in a cleer night. For thus it was in Solomon's Temple, 1 King. 6. 15, 16, 18, 22, 25. 2 Chron. 3. 6.

Cherubims] Taken for the Pictures of Angels, made like beautiful young men, with wings adjoyned.

Palm-trees] Uſed anciently for emblems of victory, as well as laurels; as the Cherubims may put us in mind of the Angels miniſtring to Chriſt; ſo the Palm-trees of Chriſts victory over the Devil, and all our ſpiritual enemies, Luk. 11. 21. Col. 2. 15. Apoc. 5. 5.

between] A Cherub, and a Palm-tree were ſtill drawn, one after another: and ſo a Palm-tree was ſtill between two Cherubs, and a Cherub between two Palm-trees.

every Cherub had two faces] Theſe Cherubs do ſo much differ, from thoſe in Ezekiels viſion, Chap. 1. and Eſay's viſion, Chap. 6. and in Johns viſion. Apoc. 4. And from thoſe in the moſt holy place, in Moſes tabernacle, and in the Oracle, in Solomons temple, that we wonder how many learned Papiſts, can a vow them all to be the ſame; and will go about to undertake the reconciling of all the differences, for the maintenance of an aſſertion, ſo improbable, and unneceſſary. An aſſimilation may rather be made between theſe, and the Curtains of Cherubins that covered the Tabernacle of Moſes. Exod. 26. 1. and that vail which divided between the holy place, and the moſt holy, Chap. 27. 33. And much more between theſe here, and thoſe Cherubims, and palm trees, upon the walls of Solomons temple, 1 King. 6. 29. But they trouble themſelves with theſe former conceits, as they do, with others of like nature; namely, that Solomon, beſides his two Cherubims in the Oracle, placed there alſo the two Cherubims, that covered the Ark in Moſes Tabernacle. And again, that though Nebuzaradan, at the time of the Babyloniſh captivity, demoliſhed the Cherubims in the Oracle of Solomons temple, yet Jeremy preſerved the Ark, with Moſes Cherubims that had covered it, and hid them. As the Maccabees relate a like ſtory, of the hiding of the fire of the Altar, at the ſame time, Macc. 1. 19.

V. 19. through all the houſe round about] All the walls on the inſides, from bottom to top, were thus adorned: yet the numbers and meaſures of the Cherubims, and Palm-trees on the walls, are, by ſome, more preſumed upon, then can with any certainty, be truly determined.

V. 21. the Poſts of the Temple were ſquared] The Poſts of the doors of the Temple were not round, like Pillars, as was the entrance of the tabernacle, Exod. 26. 32, 37. Nor the tops arched, or vaulted; but the form and ſtructure of them ſquare, both of temple and Oracle, as in ancient buildings was uſual. That they were of one ſtone a piece, is more then any man can determine. Some here refer ſquare, not to the form, but to the magnitude, and quantity of the door of the temple, that it was a ſquare; that is, a fourth part of the breadth of the temple; namely, one leaf of the door five Cubits, and ſo the other, five Cubits, as it is verſ. 2. And thoſe ſix cubits broad on the one ſide, and ſix on the other, verſ. 1. are to be underſtood, as comprehending in them the middle Poſt, whereon they met and cloſed. But we adhere, rather to that we have ſet down in the Annotations, upon the ſaid firſt, and ſecond verſes.

the appearance of the one] Herein are compared, not the temples of Ezekiel and Solomon; but in Ezekiels temple, the poſts and face of the outward temple, or Holy place, and of the inward Sanctuary, or moſt Holy place, are compared and likened together; both were of one faſhion and appearance. Though not of the ſame quantity, verſ. 2. 3. As neither were thoſe two doors in Solomons temple, 1 King. 6. 31, 33. Nor yet in Moſes Tabernacle, Exod. 26. 32, 37. But ſtill the inner door was the leſſer of the two. The Poſts, upper Lintels, and buildings of the Porch, in Solomons temple, muſt needs be of an huge firmneſſe, by reaſon of the height of the walls, and ſuperſtructure, ariſing from the ground to the top; to an hundred and twenty cubits; four times as high as the temple was, 2 Chro. 3. verſ. 4 which makes the moving and ſhaking of them, the more wonderful, if they be included with the temple, in thoſe words, Eſay 6. 4. & Amos 9. 1.

V. 22. the Altar of wood] This was the altar of incenſe, that ſtood in the upmoſt end of the temple, next the vail of the Oracle, made of wood, and over-laid with gold, Exod. 30. 1—11. & Chap. 37. 25—29. & 40. 26. 1 King. 6. 20, 22. & 7. 48. At this, in Moſes tabernacle, Nadab, and Abihu offered incenſe, with ſtrange fire, Lev. 10. 1. The brazen altar of burnt-offering in the Court, had no wood in it. Chriſt is our altar of incenſe; at which we offer up the incenſe of our prayers; in his Name alone, through his onely merits, and mediation.

three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubits] Moſes altar was but two cubits high, and one cubit ſquare, Exod. 30. 2. And the meaſures of Solomons altar are not mentioned; and therefore the more likely to be of the ſame meaſure with that of Moſes. For Solomon made a new one; as he made all things elſe new, ſave the ark onely.

length thereof two cubits] The length of the ſuperficies, and ſquare face of the top of this altar; as Exod. 30. 2. Where likely was a little grate, or ſome veſſel to hold the fire, over which the perfumes were to be burned: if there were not Cenſers uſed for that purpoſe. And indeed ſuch Cenſers there were in Solomons temple, made of pure gold, 1 King. 7.50. See 2 Chr.26.19. Heb.9.4. Apoc. 8.3,5. Some conceive a great ſeat upon the top of the altar: Some conceive it hung by chains, at the corner, or ſide of the altar.

Corners] theſe were the ſquare wooden Poſts, on which the boards were faſtned, wherewith the altar was made; or rather horns of the altar; as we read in Moſes altar, Exod. 30.2,3. Lev.56.18. And ſo the altar of burnt-offerings, had four horns upon the four corners of it, Exod.27.2. Ezek.43.15,20. Pſal.118.27. Apoc.9.13.

walls thereof] Sides of the altar.

he ſaid] Chap. 40.3.

this] That is, Looking towards the North, (the Candleſtick was on the South-ſide, Exod.40.24.) and as it were with his finger, pointing to, not, as ſome would, the altar of incenſe, whereof, formerly till now, he had ſpoken; (though that ſeems to be called a table, Heb. 9.2.) but to the Table of Shew-bread, ſtanding on the North-ſide of the temple; whereof, Exod.25.23,23—31. & 40.22. See Mal. 1.7,12. Elſe alſo ſhould the Table of Shew-bread be omitted; as likewiſe the Candleſticks are: and the Ark, Cherubims, and all are omitted, which were in the Oracle. Solomons temple had ten tables of ſhew-bread, 1 King.7.49. and the bread ſet on them all, 2 Chro. 4.8, 19. whereof, ſome were of gold, and ſome of ſilver, 1 Chron. 28. verſ. 16. See 1 King. 7. 48. Chriſt is that true bread, &c. Joh.6.33,35,51.

before the Lord] Not in the Oracle, as ſome have miſconceived, but in the body of the temple; as being to be uſed weekly, or daily; and that by others then the high Prieſt; whether you underſtand it of the table of ſhew-bread, or of the altar of incenſe, Luk. 1.9. Heb. 9.2,3,4. The altar of incenſe, was placed in the middle of the breadth of the temple, right before the door and vail of the Oracle. He ſpeaks nothing of this table of ſhew-bread; of the matter, meaſures, crown, border, rings, ſtaves, bread, and veſſels of the furniture of it. Of theſe, we may read, Exod. 25.23—30. & Chap.37.10—17. Num. 4. 7. Of the Candleſticks, we may read, Exod.25.& 37. & 40. Chap. 1 King. 7. 48. 1 Chro. 28.16. 2 Chro.4.8. Where we obſerve, that ſeventy Candles were light, and ſhining in Solomons temple.

V. 23. And the temple and Sanctuary had two doors] That is, the Temple and Oracle had two doors. Not that each of them was double doored, as ſometimes with us; having one door of thick boards, or planks, and another within of wainſcot, or ſieling; and each of them a little wicket: But that the Temple and Oracle had doors apiece; and each of them was a two-leafed-door; as is expreſſed in the next verſe. So 1 King.6.31, 32, 33,34. where the word uſed is of the dual number, implying, the two leafs of each door. Some further conceive, that each leaf doubled, and in the opening, folded within it ſelf: and this the rather, becauſe the breadth of them was ſo great, as it ſet down, verſ. 2, 3. We read of Hinges of gold to theſe two doors, in Solomons temple, 1 King. 7. 50.

V. 25. And there were made on them] The garniſhing, and ornaments of the doors.

thick planckes] That is, the heads, or ends of thick beams, or joyſts, which ſupported the quarters, or rafters, for the boards and floorings of the chambers above the porch. Theſe did jet out, and were ſeen upon the face of the porch without. And this was the ancient manner of architecture. In following ages, the ſame manner hath been obſerved; but theſe jettings out have moſt been made of ſtone, in the void ſpaces of the freeze; and wrought for garniſh, in various forms and figures.

V. 26. And there were narrow windows and Palm-trees] See verſ. 16,17,18.

on the ſides of the porch] And of the Chambers upon the porch.

and upon the ſide Chambers of the houſe] Thoſe of three ſtories high, on each ſide of the temple and Oracle North, and South ſides, and Weſt end.

and thick Planckes] See ver. 25. Such alſo upon the ſides of the Porch, and of the ſide Chambers, and garniſhed alike.

CHAP. XLII.

Verſ. 1. THen he brought me forth] He was laſt in the Temple. Now he returns to the Courts, to ſupply what was wanting to the full and perfect deſcription of them. He mentions other Chambers, both the ſite, and fabrick of them, ver.1. to the 13. And the uſe and Imployment of them, ver.13,14.

into the utter Court] This is not to be underſtood of that utter ſpacious Court deſcribed, Chap.40.5. or of the Other courts you were to come into, as you went into the Temple; much leſſe of any court for women; or for laicks only. But this was a court that was on the outſide of the Buildings, that ſtood facing thoſe Buildings that joyned to the Temple, ſay ſome; which they conceive to be in the Inner court, properly ſo called; yet called here an outer court, in compariſon of thoſe Buildings which lay along before them, Chap.41.10. Theſe being on the back of them behind them. Others underſtand it as in the laſt clauſe of the former Annotation. Others, of the court of the Temple, that it is here further deſcribed; becauſe here are many things ſet down, which by no means agree to the Court of the Prieſts; but ſuit well and accord with the court of the Temple. See ver. 13,14,15. Yet others underſtand it of the outward court of the prieſts; but only ſo, as there to take a view of the other North and South Chambers, of the Inner or Inmoſt court; becauſe the ſtaires, or eight ſteps aſcending to the Inmoſt court of the Temple, were in the outward court of the Prieſts: and therefore that thither they muſt go to make this uſe of them. Though theſe opinions thus differ, yet we conceive it beſt to underſtand the utter court of the prieſts; as beſt ſuiting with the deſcription and words of the text; as will appear.

the way toward the North] In the Hebrew, the way of the North. And ſo it ſeems the court of the Temple had a North gate; and conſequently a South gate, as well as an Eaſt gate. Which is to be well obſerved againſt the opinion of many.

And he brought me into the chamber] One like a Caſtle, ſay ſome. But moſt, and moſt likely, Chambers; one Number being put for another: which is moſt uſual and common in the Hebrew tongue. Or, into the place, or row, or file of chambers. Or, into one of them. For Chambers were all along the North wall of the court, built over the Gallery of Pylaſtres and Arches there. And alſo a Building of chambers and Galleries were between thoſe of the Court wall, and thoſe of the Temple wall; as ſome conceive: To which the word here may haply refer. But we rather conceive theſe Chambers to be in the utter court of the prieſts; as will after better appear.

That was over againſt the ſeparate place] See Chap. 41.12. which ſtood South from theſe Chambers; and they on the North ſide of it; in whatſoever ſenſe you take the ſeparate place here.

and which was before the building toward the North] The Northern buildings of the Temple; or of the North Chambers of the Temple, over againſt the North ſide of the Temple, and ſeparate place, or building: Theſe Chambers ſtood North from them, behind the North wall of this Inmoſt court of the Temple. See Chap.41.5,6,10,12.

V. 2. Before the length] Some underſtand theſe meaſures to be in the North Portico, or Porch; as if you ſhould ſay, The porch wherein this door was, had an hundred Cubits in length, and fifty in breadth; was an hundred cubits long from Eaſt to Weſt; and fifty broad from North to South; as alſo the porches in the other courts were, Chap.40.15,19. & verſ.21,29. and ver. 25,27. and ver. 29. and ver. 33. and ver.36. For this was that conſtant length and breadth of all the porches of the Courts. And that the North door in this porch, and North chamber too, as ſome underſtand chamber in the former verſe, (which they make to be like a Caſtle or Turret) was with theſe meaſures thus incompaſſed; That theſe Meaſures were at the North door, before the face of it, and at the ſides of it. Others make theſe Meaſures to lye, not in the North porch; But that this North porch had an Eaſtern front, which lay over againſt another porch, an hundred cubits long, and fifty broad. Others make theſe Meaſures to lye in the court of the Temple: That this North door in this North porch had before it the length of an hundred cubits, which was the length of the court of the Temple; from North to South, running on the Eaſt end or ſide of the Houſe: And the Temple it ſelf, with its Chambers and ſubſtructions was 50 cubits broad; or that 50 cubits were on the North ſide of the Temple, between it and this North porch. But others underſtand theſe Meaſures to lye on the North ſide of theſe Buildings Northward; That, as there was a ſpace between them, and the Temple Inward: ſo there was betwixt them, and the North wall of the Inner Court of the Temple, this ſpace of an hundred cubits long, and 50 broad. But this makes the court of the Temple exceeding ſpacious; very much beyond thoſe bounds which the common ſtream of Interpreters do aſſign unto it, confining it only to an hundred cubits ſquare: which ſpacious enlargement of that court muſt yet be of neceſſity granted; or elſe this building of Chambers and Galleries, here, and hereafter mentioned, muſt be placed in a court by it ſelf; or rather in the utter court of the prieſts, as we formerly ſignified. And thereto the words of the text, touching their ſite, proſpect, and meaſures, will beſt accord and agree. And thus the North door of theſe Northern buildings, had before it toward the South, an hundred cubits, viz. the length of the Temple, and its Chambers from Eaſt to Weſt, Chap. 41. ver. 13.

North door] Not of the Temple; as ſome would have it; and make the meaning to be, as if the North door of the Temple did face this building of an hundred cubits long, and 50 broad. But indeed the Temple had no North door. And this door appears to be in the court, or in a porch, or building, in the Court of the Temple. And this door ſeems to open, not on the South ſide of theſe Chambers and buildings towards the Temple; but on the North ſide of them toward the Court wall; as thoſe doores do, ver. 4.

And the breadth was fifty cubits] Either the breadth of that hundred Cubits long, viz. of the Temple, whoſe breadth with the chambers and walls on both ſides, was exactly fifty: Or the breadth of theſe buildings wherein this North door ſtood, was fifty cubits; as the breadth alſo of all the Porches of the courts were, even according to the length of their ſeveral Gates, and the Buildings in them, Chap. 40. 21, 25, 29, 33, 36.

V. 3. Over againſt the twenty cubits] Thoſe, Chap. 41. 10. which compaſſed round about the houſe on every ſide. This, ſome make the third ſide of the Tower-Chamber, ſtanding toward the void ſpace of twenty cubits.

which were for the Inner Court] viz. of the Temple, Chap. 41. 10. yet ſome underſtand this as a Periphraſis of the ſegment or ſeparate place oppoſed, to the utter Court, ver. 1. Both which were in the compaſſe of the Inmoſt court of the Temple, as they ſay.

and over againſt the pavement] The paved floor: Namely of the remaining part of the court of the Prieſts. This, ſome make the fourth ſide of that ſuppoſed tower-chamber. But pavement here relates to the Galleries following, and to their ſituation; which was between theſe two, the 20 cubits of the Inner court of the Temple on the South ſide; and the remaining paved floor of the outward court of the Prieſts on the North ſide. This, and other floores were paved, to prevent annoyance by the dirt of winter, and duſt of ſummer. See Annotations on chap. 40. 17.

which was for the utter Court] Some underſtand this, and that, ver. 1. of a diſtinct and ſeveral court, as it ſtands oppoſed to the ſegment or ſeparte place. But the fair and eaſie Interpretation is, To take it for the exterior court of the Prieſts and Levites; as hath been ſaid.

was Gallery] Not Caſtel-Chamber, Fort-Chamber, Tower or Turret, as ſome would. For here is more then one chamber; a Porch of Galleries and Chambers: and not upon the Weſt end of the Tem[illegible] as ſome would; but on the North ſide, where now [illegible]ber was, ver. 1. See Chap. 41. 15.

againſt Gallery] N[illegible] or facing one another; but backing one another, and a chamber between them. Though ſome make the Chambers to be on each ſide, and the Gallery betwixt them. And thus they ſtood betwixt two fair open ſpaces: The one Southward, to the Inner court; the other Northward, in the court of the Prieſts.

In three] Some ſay, This ſuppoſed Caſtle or Fort-chamber ſtood on a ſide where three of theſe porches did meet, the Eaſt, the Weſt, and the North; or, as others, the Weſt, North, and South. But the Text expreſly ſpeaketh of Galleries, as hath been ſaid. And that theſe were in three, that is, in three ſtories, or heights, one over another, the loweſt, middle, and higheſt, as ver. 5, 6. do plainly ſhew: and three breadths in each ſtory, whereof the middle was a gallery; the other two on each ſide, were cloſed with walls, and made chambers or treaſuries. Others, more likely, hold that the middle was a chamber, and on either ſide galleries, as was ſaid. And this ſome make for the two upper ſtories; ſuppoſing the loweſt to conſiſt only of Galleries, with Pillars, and Arches, without any chambers in it. But this we make for the two lower ſtories; the uppermoſt being lower, and ſhorter, not ſo fit for uſe as the other, Theſe Buildings, as they were of a great length, ſo they were of a great thickneſſe. And as thus on the North ſide of the temple; ſo the like buildings were on the South ſide of the temple; as it after followes.

V. 4. And before the chambers] That chamber, or row of chambers, ver. 1. thoſe Galleries, ver. 3. Yet ſome, with leſſe probability, take theſe chambers to be thoſe adjoyning to the wall of the Inner court within.

was a walk] Leſt we ſhould think of the Galleries and chambers in the former verſe, that there lay nothing betwixt them, and the 20 cubits of the Inner court, he mentions this walk that lay between them. And indeed there was beſides that, the wall it ſelf of the inner court, and the Chambers adjoyning to it. Some make, not with ſuch warrant, this walk to be alſo between them, and the pavement, on the other ſide, that is the North ſide in the outward court of the prieſts.

of ten cubits breadth] The length ſeems to be the ſame with the length of the row of the chambers. And that ſeems to be 50 cubits, ver. 7, 8. not an hundred, as ſome would have it.

inward] That is, within the Gallery, on either ſide, (ſay ſome: And ſo the Galleries ſhould take up 20 cubits of the thickneſſe of the Building. Or, The Gallery or walk was thus broad, of 10 cubits, lying inward between the two rows of the chambers. And thus the thickneſſe or breadth of this row of buildings ſhould be 30 cubits; though the breadth of the porches joyning to the walls of the outward courts, was conſtantly 50 cubits. But the plain and eaſie meaning is, That this walk of ten cubits broad lay inward, out of theſe buildings, toward the 20 cubits of the Inner court.

a way of one cubit] Difficulties, and obſcurities run all along; and thereupon varieties of opinions and conjectures. Some think that this way of one cubit is to be underſtood of a paſſage ſo narrow at the Eaſt and Weſt ends of the Temple, that the Court being but an hundred cubits, the Building of the Temple took up all the ſpace; leaving but one cubit for paſſage at either end. But this way of one cubit is to the chambers here mentioned. And this opinion diſagreeth with the true quantity of the court, and of the buildings and open ſpaces in it. Others underſtand it thus, That upon the walls of theſe upper chambers, (ver. 9.) or elſe galleries, which were one againſt another, on each ſide there were Pylaſters, like to them in the Portico underneath, jetting out the way or ſpace of one cubit without the wall. Or rather thus; On the outſide of either Gallery, or elſe chambers, was a way of a cubit broad; ſomewhat like the flagged way, or path before the houſes in Cheapſide, or Covent-Garden. Or thus, There was a way of one cubit, into theſe Chambers; that is, narrow entrances into them: or ſo narrow a way before them, between the chambers and the galleries; into which way the chamber doors opened.

and their doores] doores, ſome ſay, of the walk. Others, more likely, of the Chambers.

toward the North] Some conceiving two rowes of chambers in this Building, underſtand this of thoſe chamber-doors that ſtood to the Temple ward: And that the doors of the oppoſite file ſtood toward the South: And that the doores of both files opened into the Gallery that was betwixt them. Others, which make but one row of chambers in this building, conceive their doors to be towards the North, opening into the North gallery, in reverence to the Temple: That though doors toward the South would have bin neerer to the Temple, yet in reverence to that Holy place, they muſt go to the back of theſe Buildings, or to their North, to go into them. To the ſame purpoſe ſpeak they, and moſt agreeable to the truth, that underſtand theſe Galleries to be chambers, and their doors to open toward the North, into that way of one cubit.

V. 5. Now] Here the Rabbies call again for the help of their Elias.

were ſhorter] Cut off, abridged, ſtraitned, were lower, not ſo high in themſelves as the Inferior chambers, and ſo their ſeiling not ſo high from the floor. The Lowmoſt bore all the weight, where the foundation on which the weight of the whole ſtructure lay; and ſo were broader, of bigger and ſtronger proportion, then the upper chambers built upon them; leſt otherwiſe they ſhould ſhrink under the burden of them.

for the galleries] Some underſtand this of the Galleries diſtinct from the Chambers. Others, of both comprehended under one notion. Others, of the Pylaſters, and half Columnes.

were higher then theſe] Some ſay, The galleries higher then the Chambers; the better to ſee the ſacrifices, and hear the ſervices of the Temple. Others inſiſt upon the Hebrew word, to ſignifie, did eat of theſe; And ſo make the meaning this, That the walls, as they grew higher, ſo grew narrower in each ſtory, ſtraight, and contracted on the outſide, and the roof ſtill lower; and that of that highmoſt ſo low, as made it ſcarce habitable. And this might be in ſome ſort for the honour and dignity of the Temple, as veyling their top to it; and ſo much the more too, in that they ſtood on lower ground then the Temple did. See ver. 6. Some underſtand this of the Pylaſters and half Columnes, as aforeſaid, ſet to the outſide of theſe upper Chamber walls: And that they were of a leſſer proportion, and not ſo maſſie, as thoſe beneath.

Then the lower] Some make the Building Commodious for uſe and habitation, to be only in the lower, and middlemoſt row and ſtory; having an eye herein to the Hebrew words, which bear this tranſlation thus, and the building conſiſted of the lower and middlemoſt.

V. 6. In three ſtories] Both Galleries, and Chambers; as in the precedent verſe. The middle rooms in each ſtory had light from the ſide rooms. To theſe ſtories, or rather to thoſe joyning to the walls of this Inner court, do thoſe words of, 1 Kin. 6.36. ſeem to bear a reference.

but be not pillars] Some underſtand this of the upmoſt ſtory, as it was not high rooft, with pillars, or rafters, but flat. Others, of that, and of the ſecond ſtories likewiſe; that the two upper rowes, or ſtories, were not made up with vaults, but up with maſſie pillars, as the lowmoſt row, which ſtood upon the plain of the Court; but with a continued wall, divided with little Pylaſters, or half columnes, which from ſtory to ſtory were leſſened, according to the rules of architecture; and they being leſſened in that kind, reaſon would have the height alſo to be abated. Others conceive, that neither chambers, nor galleries, ſtood upon pillars in any of the ſtories; as ſome other buildings in the Holy Verge did; For then the Galleries, in the ſecond and third ſtory, might have been inlarged, by jutting out towards the Courts, and not have trenched upon the breadth of the chambers; but that they were all built up with an even wall: only ſome large openings there were all along the galleries, for the more ayr, and better ſight.

as the pillars of the courts] They had not pillars, as the Porches of the other exteriour courts had. No, not as the pillars ſupporting the vaults or rooſes of the galleries.

therefore the building was ſtraitned] The walls or pylaſters in thickneſſe, and the ſtories in height. What the vulgar Latine tranſlation adds of 50 cubits, is more then is in the Hebrew text.

V. 7. And the wall] Of the foreſaid building, of this Northern file, and ſtories, of Galleries and Chambers. Here we go on ſtill in difficulties, about the right ſituation of this Wall.

that was without over againſt the chambers] Therefore no part of the Chambers, or Galleries, themſelves: but at ſome diſtance compaſſing and cloſing them, and that whole Body of Building.

toward the utter court] See Annotations on ver. 1,3.

on the fore-part of the chambers] Front, or head of them: Not on the eaſt end of them, as ſome would; but rather on the North ſide, called the fore-front, becauſe the doors were there, ver. 4. And this wall was to ſeparate and diſtinguiſh betwixt theſe, and other ſpaces, and buildings in this court.

the length thereof was fifty cubits] Fifty cubits was the breadth of the porches joyning to the walls of all the courts, generally; according to the length of the ſeveral Gates, as hath been ſaid. And here the length of this wall was fifty cubits; anſwerable, in all likelyhood, to the length of this Fabrick of Building, from Eaſt to Weſt.

V. 8. For the length of the chambers that were in the utter court was fifty cubits] As the length of their wall was, verſ. 7. And therefore this is given as a reaſon of that. Others, by length here underſtand the extent and breadth; and make this whole verſe but an explication of that in the latter part of the ſecond verſe. See the Annotations there.

and loe] The Angel, and the Prophet, coming from the North chambers, to the South chambers, in the way meets with theſe hundred cubits, which were before the Temple. See Chap. 41.14. that is, ſay ſome, from Eaſt to Weſt. But we rather conceive, That theſe hundred cubits before the Temple, were the length of the Temple Court, from North to South, the diſtance betwixt theſe Northern, and the other Southern chambers, to which now they were going. And theſe, not lying within the compaſſe and verge of the Temple-court, as ſome think, leaving the walls of the court, and the porches of them, at a diſtance behind them: which thing muſt needs inlarge much the compaſſe of this inmoſt court, The court of the Temple: But without that court, cloſe on the backſide of the walls of it, within the court of the Prieſts. Others conceive, That both thoſe parts of the court of the Prieſts, that contained thoſe Chambers and Buildings laſt mentioned, were ſquares, both on the North ſide, and South ſide of the Temple; and ſquares of an hundred cubits, which the Prophet marks with this note of admiration, Loe!

V. 9. And from under] Or rather, from the place; as the word will bear. If from under, then not perpendicularly; but as when we ſay, A town or houſe ſtands under an hill; ſo here, at the lower end of the court.

theſe chambers] Theſe Northern chambers. Though ſome would underſtand them of the Southern chambers.

was the entry] Or, He that brought me. So variouſly may the word be rendred.

He] That is, the Angel in mans ſhape, Chap. 40. verſ. 3,4.

on the eaſt ſide] By the coaſt of the eaſt he paſſed; or, the entry into theſe chambers, was on the eaſt ſide, or at the eaſt end. The coming in of them below was toward the Eaſt.

as one goeth] Or, as he came.

into them] The Southern chambers.

from the utter court] That is, by the Eaſtern tract or coaſt along of the utter court, that is, which ſtood eaſt from theſe chambers. In all theſe words in this verſe, The Prophet ſets down his paſſing from the Northern chambers, to the Southern chambers, by the tract of the eaſt, on the eaſt end of the Temple.

V. 10. the chambers] Still here we wade in doubts and darkneſſe.

were in the thickneſſe of the wall of the court] In the breadth of the fence, or precinct of the court; in the breadth of fifty cubits, ver. 2. in the breadth of the circuit or compaſſe.

toward the eaſt] Along the Southern ſide, drawing toward the eaſt, before the way of the Eaſt; having the entry on the Eaſt ſide, as the Northern chambers had, ver. 9. and ſo running along toward the Weſt, by the South ſide of the Temple.

over againſt the ſeparate place] By a direct line over againſt the ſeparate place, which ſtood weſt from it, before it. See Annotations on Chap. 41.12.

and over againſt the building] See Annotations on Chap. 41. 12. There was ſuch another building of Chambers, as on the foreſaid Northern ſide. None ſuch on the eaſt, and Weſt, ſides, or ends of the Temple.

V. 11. And the way] See Annotations on ver. 4.

before them] Before the chambers, and conſequently before the ſeparate place, and before the building laſt mentioned.

was the like appearance] That is, the appearance and proportion of the way, and of the Chambers, and Galleries; and their length, breadth, and out-goings, were according to the faſhions, and according to the doors of thoſe in the North formerly ſpoken of ver. 1—7. all alike in all reſpects, even the whole Fabrick, faſhion, contrival, diſpoſal, front, way of a cubit breadth before them, and meaſures, were all in every point ſo like thoſe on the North ſide, ſpoken of before, that they need no further illuſtration. Some make not onely theſe two ſide-buildings, North and South; but alſo that called the ſeparate place, as another diſtinct thing from the Temple, to have all three, alike buildings of chambers, galleries, and all, in all reſpects, of the ſame quantities, proportions, and faſhions.

V. 12. And according to the doores of the chambers] That is, like to thoſe doors of the chambers, was this door here deſcribed. Thus he proceeds on, in this verſe alſo, as in the former, to ſhew in the particulars, the likeneſs and correſpondency, between theſe Southern, and the Northern buildings.

that were toward the South] The Southern Chambers.

was a door] This, and the ſituation of it, is the thing deſcribed in this verſe.

in the head of the way] Or, beginning of the way. He ſpeaketh now onely of the buildings on the South ſide of the temple; and therefore of the way there, and door there.

toward the eaſt] In the very front of the building, at the eaſt, there was the door. Not therefore in that way of a cubit broad, ver. 4. which ran along under the walls of the Galleries on both ſides, as ſome imagine: but as the entry was into the Northern Chambers, mentioned ver. 9. which was partly alſo before the ſeparate place, as the vulgar Latine expreſſeth it.

which are before the ſeparate place] Chap. 42. 1,10. See Annotations on Chap. 41.12. Some would gather out of the verſe following, that theſe Chambers were included within the ſeparate place.

they be holy Chambers] Not in themſelves, and their own Nature, as not capable of Holineſſe ſo; but in their uſe. The ſame is to be ſaid of Holy Veſſels, Veſtments, Oyl, &c.

where, &c.] After he had deſcribed the Fabrick, and faſhion of the Chambers, he now ſetteth down the holy uſe of them; as after followeth.

the Prieſts] The Levites came not into the inmoſt Court of the Temple; but they did into theſe Chambers, if they were ſeated in the Court of the Prieſts, as ſome take them to be.

the moſt holy things] The Oracle is uſually called the moſt holy, meaning Place. But other things are called alſo the moſt Holy, Num. 4.14. 1 Chron. 23. 13. as the Tabernacle, Ark, Table, Candleſtick, Laver, Anointing Oyl, their veſſels, the perfume, the offerings, ſhew-bread, and all devoted things, Exod. 29.37. & 30.10,29,36. Lev. 2.10. & 6.17,25,29. & 7.1. & 10.12,17. & 14.13. & 24.9. & 27.28. Ezek. 45.3.

the meat-offering] See Lev. 2.10. & 6.16. & 7.9,10. which of them are not to be eaten. See Lev. 6.23.

ſin offering] See Lev. 6.26,29. which of them not to be eaten Lev. 6.30 & chap. 4.11, 12, 21. & Chap. 16.27.

treſpaſſe-offering] See Lev. 7.6,7. The difference and diſtinction between ſins and treſpaſſes, here mentioned, is not eaſie to conceive. Papiſts would fain get a colour hence for their diſtinction of venial and mortal ſins. Others, would underſtand by the one, ſins of commiſſion; by the other ſins of omiſſion. Others, and ſomewhat likely, by the one, ſinnes againſt knowledge; and by the other, ſins of ignorance, yet this fails ſhort of a full ſatisfaction.

V. 14. When the Prieſts enter therein] See Chap. 44.17,19. Exod. 28.43.

other garments] Common to them with the people; yea even in the porcloſe of holy duties, and ſacred actions, when they are to be done out of the holy place, Lev. 6. verſ. 10, 11.

to thoſe things which are for the people] Not meaning the ſacrifices of, and for the people; but the things of civil, and common converſe with them.

V. 15. Now when he had made an end] When he had thus meaſured all the particular buildings, He cometh now to meaſure the circumference of the whole holy place, or the holy mountain. So that here the whole compaſſe, or outmoſt wall of all the buildings is meaſured; and ſo this whole deſcription of the Courts, Temple and Chambers, ended.

the inner houſe] The temple, and all the ſubſtructions, Chambers, and buildings in the inmoſt Court, the Court of the temple: and thoſe Chambers, about which he was laſt imployed; and conſequently all the Courts and buildings, incloſed within the compaſſe of the outmoſt wall, Chap. 40. 5.

toward the gate] That gate, Chap. 40. 6. as ſome would have it. Or rather, the gate of the outmoſt wall, Chap. 40. 5.

and meaſured it] The outmoſt wall, Chap. 40. 5. Not the way to it, as ſome Papiſts do imagin.

round about] The four equilateral ſides of it. Not that the wall was round.

V. 16. He meaſured] Here is great variety of opinions, both touching the thing meaſured; and alſo touching the meaſure it ſelf. For the thing meaſured, ſome take it to be the wall of the City Jeruſalem. But thoſe being of 18000. meaſures or cubits, Chap. 48.35. Therefore, others do rather take it to be the wall of the upper City, or upper part of the City Jeruſalem, called the City of David, on, or next to mount Sion; See 2 Sam. 5. 7. Others, make it to be the wall incloſing, and compaſſing the exterior Court, the court of the people, Chap. 40. 17, 20. And this they much preſſe, and labour to evince, by a geometrical demonſtration; taking the inmoſt Court (of the temple likely) to be an hundred cubits ſquare, Chap. 40. 27.; and the outward Court (of the people) to be likewiſe an hundred Cubits ſquare, Chap. 40. 23. That then it will undeniably follow, that each ſide of that ſquare of the Court of the people, is, and muſt be, five hundred cubits. And they ſecond this by that, Chap. 45. 2. where the compaſſe of the Sanctuary is deſcribed, five hundred ſquare, as is here ſet down; and fifty cubits, by name, round about for the ſuburbs thereof, are expreſly ſet down. And ſo make this wall, to be that ſeparating and diſtinguiſhing wall, between the Sanctuary, and the prophane place, Chap. 42. 20. And yet, at the beſt, the ſuppoſed grounds of this demonſtration, are but ſeeming probable conjectures. And this verſe it ſelf is firmly enough, to clear it ſufficiently, to be indeed of the outmoſt wall, that breaſt-wall, or Parapet, in compaſſing all the foreſaid buildings, belonging to the Courts and temple; whoſe height and breadth, was firſt ſet down, Chap. 40.5. as may after appear. For the meaſure it ſelf, ſome make it to be five hundred cubits, meaſured out by ſo many reeds, each of ſix cubits and one hand-breadth; as would make up, or reach unto that number of five hundred cubits. And this they do, though with much violence to the text, onely to avoid that great, and unproportionable length of the wall, and huge quantity of compaſſe, that otherwiſe would ariſe, if they ſhould take them for reeds. Yet others, underſtanding them of reeds, would ſalve the foreſaid inconvenience, thus; by ſaying, theſe five hundred reeds were the total ſum, ariſing out of all the four ſides of the ſquare; allotting ſo, an hundred and five and twenty reeds, to each ſide of the ſquare: which is as repugnant to the text, as the former opinion. The iſſue may be this, to take the meaning, as the text holds it forth, and ſo underſtand this wall to be long, five hundred reeds: For ſo the text expreſſeth reeds, thrice in this verſe, and twice apiece, in each of the three verſes following. And theſe five hundred Reeds, to be on each ſide of the ſquare, as the Text alſo expreſſely avoucheth it; and ſo the whole ſumme in the compaſſe, to ariſe to two thouſand Reeds. This exceeding Largeneſſe and Compaſſe may well ſerve to typifie the exceeding great largeneſſe and diffuſed Compaſſe of the Church of Chriſt under the Goſpel. For the inconvenience ſurmiſed, it is not ſo much to be thought of in this myſtical Viſion, purpoſely ſet forth under Types, wherewith the Jews, Gods people then, were beſt acquainted, to repreſent the glorious ſtate of the Church of Chriſt under the Goſpel: Yet ſo as the Holy Spirit is far of from tying himſelf ſtrictly to thoſe Types in all particularities. Which thing we ſee, as here; ſo moſt plainly, in the Allotment out of the portions of land, for the Prieſts, and for the Levites, and for all the twelve tribes of Iſrael, Chap. 45. & 48. in placing the city about 15. miles diſtant from the Temple; and in the circuit of it, Chap. 45. and in the Viſion of the Waters, and Trees, and their monethly fruits, chap. 47. as hereafter will more fully and plainly appear.

the Eaſt ſide] This is not then the meaſure of the whole round about; but the meaſure of each ſide, or ſquare.

five hundred reeds] Not cubits, but Reeds; as in the Annotations aforeſaid. And here the Hebrew is אמות; whereupon the Keri of the Maſſorites will have it to be read מאות, as it is in the ſame meaſures following, ver. 17, 18, 19, 20. And the LXX. Jerome, and Targum do read it ſo.

meaſuring Reed] Which was uſed to ſuch large meaſurings. See Annotations on Chap. 40.3.

V. 19. Weſt ſide] Heb. the Sea; taken uſually for the Weſt, becauſe the great Inland Sea, or Mediterranean Sea, lay Weſt from Judea, being the Weſt bounds and border of it.

V. 20. He meaſured it] The wall aforeſaid. Though ſome would make this another wall, differing from the former; and underſtand this of the wall of the court of the People. And that it was of five hundred Cubits ſquare. But all this we conceive as was formerly ſaid, to be without any warrant of the Text; or rather, againſt it: which onely here ſummes up the former dimenſions, of the aforeſaid wall. And therefore though reeds be not expreſſed in the Text, yet the word to be ſupplyed, muſt not be of any other meaſure then that of reeds formerly ſo oft expreſſed, ver. 16——19.

to make a ſeparation] This ſhewes the true end, and due uſe of it, to make a ſeparation betwixt the Sanctuary, and the prophane place. And hereupon ſome would have the meaſure here to be taken of the Compaſſe of the mount it ſelf whereon the Temple was built: the ſtructure, fabrick, and proportion of the Buildings, have been thus platformed, meaſured, and viewed. It will not be impertinent a little, to look at the ſcope and intention of the deſcription, or at the ſubſtance ſhadowed under theſe figures.

Firſt therefore it is to be obſerved, That there was never any Temple built, of theſe dimenſions, and compoſure. That, builded within a while after this Viſion, by Zerobbabel and Joſhuah, had no relation to this. And indeed the meaſure of the circumference of the bounding wall, or that which ſeparateth betwixt the Holy and prophane, utterly denyeth any ſuch thing; being a meaſure that exceedeth, or at leaſt equalleth the full Compaſſe of all Jeruſalem, Temple, and all; yea though the Cubit be underſtood of the ſhorteſt ſize; if we take the Reeds in the proper ſenſe, which the Letter of the Text ſeems to urge and require. And ſo alſo the portions of the Prieſts, and of the Levites allotted to them, amount to ſpace neer as big as all the land of Canaan, chap. 48.8.—— 48.8——15. Theſe things therefore are ſpiritually to be underſtood. And howſoever the deſcription of this Houſe and Land were a prophetick aſſurance of the peoples return out of Babylon; (where Ezekiel wrote theſe things) yet do they chiefly aym at Chriſt, and his coming among them after their return, and the gathering of the numerous Congregation of the Gentiles; and the framing the ſpacious Temple and City of the Chriſtian Church under the Goſpel. And therefore this can no way countenance a Temporal Kingdom of the Meſſias yet to come, as the Jews imagine; nor a New Temple, or City to be built, ſince that the Temple here deſcribed, is as big as the city; and the Holy ground of the Prieſts, Levites, Prince, and City, Chap. 45. neer as big as all Canaan.

Secondly, it is obſerveable, That as Ezekiel meaſureth the Temple and the City here, Chap. 40. 41, 42, 48. ſo doth John, a New Temple alſo, Rev. 11.1, 2. and a new Jeruſalem, Rev. 21. Now in the opinion of ſome, though theſe agreed in this, that they all aymed at the ſpiritual Temple and City, the Church under the Goſpel; yet in this they differed, that they had reſpect to different times, and aymed at times and ſeaſons, in ſucceſſion one after another. This platform and deſcription of Ezekiel relateth, ſay they, to the Church, under the Goſpel, betwixt their return out of captivity, and the deſtruction of Jeruſalem; when the Gentiles firſt came in, and they and the Jews made one People. That in Rev. 21. pointeth, ſay they, at the new Jeruſalem, which ſhould be after the old one was deſtroyed, the Church under the Goſpel, after the rejection of the Jews, and deſtruction of their city; which hath now taken up about one thouſand five hundred and ſeventy years. And therefore that Jeruſalem is far larger then this in Ezekiel. In that, there is no Temple mentioned, nay there was no Temple at all, as the Text expreſly, Rev. 21.22. uttereth: for where there is mention of a Temple, there is ſomething to do with Jews; but the Church of this ſpace, ſay they, conſiſteth only of Gentiles, the Jews being all the while under obduration. Now the eleventh of the Revelation ſpeaketh of a Temple meaſured, as the caſe is here: For as this place ſpeaketh of the Church of the Jews, when the Gentiles were called in, and joyned to them, at Chriſts firſt coming; ſo that place, ſay they, ſpeaketh of the Church of the Jews, when they ſhall be called in and joyned to the Church of the Gentiles; which is yet to be before Chriſts ſecond Coming. And it is obſerveable, that in both theſe places, there is no mention of a Court for the Gentiles; as there may ſeem to be in the Material Temple: But all Jeruſalem muſt be ſuppoſed for that Ezekiel reckoneth many Courts; as hath been ſhewed: but for the Gentiles, there is no court there at all, expreſly named and bounded, or immured for them, becauſe of the boundleſſe dilating of the Goſpel: and ſo Rev. 11. 1, 2. there is onely one Court mentioned, the Court of the Prieſts, or that where the Altar ſtood: But the outer court is not meaſured, but caſt out without any bounds, becauſe it is given to the Gentiles to tread in the worſhip of God, (it is not καταπατησουσι,) and to come into it with the Jews; for when they ſhall be called, the Gentiles and they ſhall joyn together to ſerve the Lord, and to tread his Court.

Verſ. 1. HE brought me] From the Weſt ſide, where he had been meaſuring, Chap. 42.19.

toward the Eaſt] To the Eaſt Gate of the utmoſt wall, Chap. 40.6. ſo that the Angel of the Covenant, in the appearance of a man, chap. 40, 3. having ſhewed to the Prophet that magnificent Temple, whereby the ſpiritual Church is prefigured; and having deſcribed it, and the Buildings thereof, in the precedent Chapters; The proportion and meaſures whereof, in all the parts, was hard to find out and expreſſe; as that which is ſpoken of them ſheweth. He cometh now in theſe two next Chapters, the 43. and 44. to ſet out the ſacred Miniſtery and Worſhip therein. More particularly, In this Chapter is ſet down, the Returning of the Glory of God into the Temple; and the Promiſe of his continual Dwelling there amongſt his people, upon their Repentance; whereunto they are Exhorted. Afterwards, the Altar of Burnt-Offerings is deſcribed; And the Manner of its Conſecration, and its Uſe preſcribed. In theſe firſt words, the Prophet is brought from the Weſt ſide, where he ended the circumference of all the Holy place, chap. 42. 19. to the Gate where he began, ver. 15. of Chap. 42. and chap 40. 6. which Gate by a direct line looked toward the Temple. no more defile——by their whoredome] That is, by their ſpiritual fornications of idolatry: And this propheſie was fulfilled in them to the very letter. For after their return out of the captivity of Babylon, even to this day, they have forſaken their idols; and though they worſhip not the true God, as they ſhould, yet do they not worſhip falſe gods at all. And thus are they croſſe and contrary in their impieties; and yet impious ſtill. Before their captivity they were all for idols, and nothing for the true God at all; and ſince that captivity, they are not for idols at all, and yet not for the true God neither.

nor by the carkaſſes of their kings] So alſo ver. 9. Let them put the carkaſſes of their Kings far from me: not for that they defiled themſelves by touching their dead bodies; or, for that they were grown into the idolatry of the Heathen, to deifie their dead Kings, and to reſerve their corpſes for adoration; for we no where read at any time of that their idolatry; but rather that they defiled themſelves with humane carkaſſes, which they had ſacrificed alive to their idols; which in Scripture are ſometimes underſtood by the name of kings, as the Ammonites uſed to call their idols. See Lev. 18.21. 1 King. 11.5. 2 King. 23.10. Amos 5.26.

V. 8. In their ſetting of their threſhold by my threſholds] that is, in adding their traditions to my precepts, Iſa. 29.13. we muſt not add or diminiſh, Deut. 4.2. & 12.32. 1 Cor. 3.12, 13. Apoc. 22.18, 19.

and the wall between me and them] Or, for there was but a wall between me and them. This wickedneſſe was as a wall of ſeparation between me and them, Iſa. 59.2. which hath cauſed me to conſume them, by bringing on them the judgments threatned by the Law, Lev. 26. & Deut. 28. Or, for ſetting their idols, and performing their ſervice in my Temple, or in places and Chappels neer to the place ſet apart to my ſervice.

V. 9. Now let them put away, &c.] That is, all the true Elect, and eſpecially the Jews converted under the Meſſiah, ſhall caſt off idolatry, and ſerve God in all purity: which future time is expreſſed by Now, which in a ſort was preſent to the Prophet, namely, by viſion, or revelation from God.

V. 10. Shew the houſe to the houſe of Iſrael, that they may be aſhamed. And again, ver. 11. If they be aſhamed, ſhew them the form of the houſe] The houſe being an emblem and reſemblance of the Church of the Gentiles under the Goſpel, might ſhame the Jews to look upon it, by conſidering that they had become ſo abominable, that the Lord had refuſed them for his Church, and had choſen the Heathen: but if they ſhould be aſhamed with an holy ſhame, and ſorrow with an holy ſorrow, that they had been thus offenſive, then acquaint them with the form, lawes and ordinances of the houſe, that they may know it, and have the deſcription, marks, and delineation of it perfectly in their minds; for they alſo then ſhall have their intereſt in it; as it fell out, and was with the many thouſand Jews converted in the time of our Saviour, and his Apoſtles; and as it ſhall be with them at their converſion neer the end of the world.

V. 11. And all the formes thereof] and all the formes thereof] Theſe words are repeated; and is as much, as ſhew them, ſhew them the forms, both of the courts and houſe; and of the houſe, both within and without.

the whole limit thereof] As it is meaſured and bounded, Chap. 42. 16, 17, 18, 19.

V. 13. And theſe are the meaſures of the altar] The Fabrick of it ſeems to be thus, one cubit high was the baſis, or foot, or bottome, boſome, or ſettle, breadth, or projection of it, one cubit; Border of it, by the edge thereof, one ſpan. From thence two cubits, to the round ledge, or bench, or ſettle of a cubit broad, that went round about it. And the thickneſs of that ledge being one cubit, raiſed the height one cubit. This ledge or bench ſeems to be for them that ſerved at the Altar, to ſtand upon, and to go upon, round about the Altar, and to rake up the aſhes that were within the Altar: and therefore this altar was not cloſe boarded up upon the ſides every where; as the altar made by Moſes was, Exod. 38. 7. which was moveable, and of ſmall dimenſions; but this was boarded up, onely thoſe two cubits that were betwixt this ſettle and the ground, or baſis, to keep the aſhes together: but above this ſettle it was open at certain places, that they might go in, and get the aſhes out. Above this ledge or bench the altar did riſe four cubits; and this part of it ſeems to be called הַהַרְאֵל the Mount of God. And then, another ledge or bench, of the ſame breadth, round about the altar likewiſe: upon which the Prieſts might ſtand, for the diſpoſing and ordering of the ſacrifices themſelves. And theſe benches being a cubit broad, it cauſed that their compaſs increaſed two cubits above the compaſs of the altar it ſelf; and that the ſtanding of the Prieſts might be firm upon theſe benches, it ſeems there was a ledge of half a cubit broad, fixed upon the outward edge of them, that the Prieſts might not ſlip off into the court: and a ledge which the text calleth a boſome, fixed upon their inner edge, that the Prieſts might not ſlip into the hollow of the altar: and from thence upward were the horns at every corner. This uppermoſt ledge being likewiſe one cubit thick, raiſed the whole height of the altar to nine cubits. And this uppermoſt part, or the hollow part of it, where the wood and fire were put, ſeems to be called אֲרִי אֵל, the ſtrong Lyon, or the Lyon of God. The top of this altar was 12 cubits ſquare, ver. 16. The ſettle made it at that part 14 cubits ſquare, ver. 17.

even the bottome ſhall be a cubit] Heb. the boſome. Meaning as it ſeems, that ledge that went betwixt the higher bench, and the altar.

and the breadth a cubit] Of the bench it ſelf.

and the border thereof by the edge thereof a ſpan] A border carved, a ſpan-breadth upon the edge of that boſom or ledg, moſt likely that roſe betwixt the bench and the altar.

V. 15. ſo the altar ſhall be four cubits] From the lower to the upper bench: this is properly called the altar, becauſe that ſpace, beneath the lower bench, was the place of aſhes. In the Hebrew this verſe is literally thus: And the mount of God, Hareel, four cubits; and from the Lion of God, Ariel, and upward, four horns. Where the body of the altar, as was ſaid, betwixt the two benches, is called the mount of God, as if God dwelled upon the altar, in a ſingular manner, as on a little mount, in the greater mount of the Sanctuary. And the grate, whereon the ſacrifices were laid, is called the Lion of God, becauſe it devoured ſo much fleſh, and ſo many beaſts in ſacrifice. See Exod. 27. 4, 5. & 39. 39. This may mind us of our altar, Jeſus Chriſt, who ſanctifies our ſacrifices of prayer, and praiſe, and ſervice, and obedience, Mat. 23. 19. Apoc. 8. 3, 4. 1 Pet. 2. 5.

four horns] So in the altars of Moſes and of Solomon; both in the brazen, and golden altars. See Apoc. 9. 13. Theſe were of the ſame material with the altar it ſelf, Exod. 27. 2. Some of the blood of ſome ſacrifices, was put upon the horns of the altar, ſprinckled thereon by the finger of the Prieſt, Lev. 16. 18, 19. See Pſal. 118. 27. The horns were counted very ſacred. Adonijah and Joab, fled to them, as to a ſanctuary, 1 King. 1. 50, 51. & 2. 28. Let us thus flye to Chriſt, and lay hold on him.

V. 16. ſhall be twelve cubits long, and twelve broad] Eight and fourty cubits round about. The altar in the tabernacle, was but twenty cubits round about, Exod. 27. 1. being made to be moveable, and portable. Solomons altar was twenty cubits, on each ſqare ſide, eighty in all, 2 Chro. 4. 1. So this here came ſhort of that 32. cubits. The height of Moſes altar, was three cubits, Exod. 27. 1. Of Solomons, ten cubits, 2 Chro. 4. 1. Of this, ſome think the height to be but ſix cubits; but rather it ſeems to be nine cubits; as was formerly ſhewed, upon the thirteenth verſe.

V. 17. and the ſettle ſhall be fourteen cubits——in the four ſquares] That is, fourteen, from ſide to ſide; the bench being a cubit broad, on each ſide of the altar.

and the border about it ſhall be half a cubit] See Annotations on verſ. 13.

and his ſtairs ſhall look toward the Eaſt] Steps are forbidden to be made to an altar, Exod. 20. 26. But this was to an altar that was built occaſionally; as Gideons, Judg. 6. 24. and Elijahs, 1 King. 18. 32, &c. However, the Lord is of power to diſpence with, and at liberty, to vary from his own temporary commands; eſpecially, in matters of this nature and quality. The ſtairs of this altar were eaſtward; ſo that, as the Prieſts mounted them, their faces were toward the temple: and when they were riſen to the higher bench, they walked on the North, and South ſide of the altar; and ſo, many of them might ſtand there, and order the ſacrifices together.

V. 11. they ſhall ſlay the burnt-offering] This was part of the Prieſts office; not he that brought the offering, but the prieſt was to ſlay it, and flay it, Lev. 1.5, 6. So Moſes, at firſt, ſupplying the place of the Prieſt, was commanded, Exod,29.10. and did it, Lev.8.15. The Levites onely helped them therein, in caſe of neceſſity; as 2 Chron.29.34. Here then theſe lapſed Prieſts, are either re-admitted to this one part of the Prieſts office: or elſe, are but onely to ſtand before them to miniſter unto them, at that time; as the words following ſeem to import.

CHAP. XLV.

Verſ. 1. MOreover] In this Chapter are ſet down, the Portion of Land for the Prieſts, and Sanctuary; for the Levites; for the City: for the Prince. And Ordinances for the Prince and people; in rules of juſtice: and for Oblations. The Princes part and duty for offerings in all Feaſts and ſolemnities. And particularly in the firſt moneth, firſt day, and ſeventh day; and in the Feaſt of the Paſſeover, and of Tabernacles.

divide by lot the land] Chap.48. This much differs from the diviſion made by Moſes, and by Joſhuah: and is ſuch as never was; nor ſhall be when the Jews ſhall be called to the Goſpel, Rom.11.25,26. But by this of the land, as alſo of the City and Temple, and Worſhip, God applies himſelf to the weakneſſe of his people that then were, ſhadowing out hereby, as by the beſt means unto them, the perfect inſtauration and glorious ſtate and condition of his Church under the Goſpel. And generally, this land of Canaan is made a type of the heavenly Canaan, Heb.11.9,10.

an holy portion of the land] For the Sanctuary, Prieſts, and Levites. They, in the firſt place are cared for, and provided. After them, the Prince. Thus the Church, and magiſtrate ſhould firſt be rewarded and provided for; and then the people and Tribes.

five and twenty thouſand] Neither reeds nor cubits are expreſſed. Our tranſlation underſtands it of Reeds or Rods. And a Reed, being ſix cubits, and eighteen Inches, as ſome will have it, Chap.40.5. This length of five and twenty thouſand Reeds (counting the eighteen Inches for an half cubit) comes to 162500 cubits. Which taking the cubit for an half yard; and a thouſand paces, or yards to a mile) comes to 81 miles and ¼. And taking the cubit for a yard, comes to miles 162 ½. But counting the Reed to be 6 cubits, and 3 inches, or one hand breadth; as we rather muſt. See Annotations on chap.40.5. Then this Length, reckoning 18. inches for a cubit, and the cubit ſo to be one half yard, comes to 77. miles, and a little more. And counting the cubit for a yard, it comes to 154. miles, and ſomewhat more. Now, if we leave Reeds, and underſtand this 25000 of Length, to be 25000 cubits, as ſome do; Then it comes to 12 miles and ½, after the half yard to the cubit: and to 25 miles, at the rate of a yard to the cubit. This Length of 25000 runs Eaſt and Weſt, chap.48.10.

and the breadth ſhall be ten thouſand] Our Tranſlators underſtand it of Reeds. And ſo the Breadth will be, 65000 cubits; (counting therein ſtill the eighteen inches for an half cubit) which number of cubits, taking the cubit for half a yard, comes to miles 32 ½. And taking the cubit for a yard comes to 65 miles. But inſtead of 18 inches to each Reed, taking but three, as was ſaid before. So the Breadth will come to 30 miles and above ½ mile of ½ yard to the cubit. And to about 61 miles counting the cubit for a yrad. Others, with leſſe probability, underſtand this 10000 Breadth, to be meant, not of Reeeds, but of Cubits, do raiſe the accompt thus; to five miles, taking the cubit for ½ yard; Or to 10.

miles, taking the cubit for a yard. This breadth runs North and South, chap. 48. 10.

V. 2. Of this] Part of that, Ver. 1.

for the Sanctuary] Deſcribed, Chap. 40. & 41. and circumſcribed, chap. 42. 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20. Though ſome would fain underſtand this, not of the outmoſt wall, but of the wall of the court of the people. See Annotations on Chap. 42. 16.

five hundred ——— ſquare round about] For the Sanctuary, or utmoſt compaſſe or wall of it. And underſtanding it of Reeds, as moſt do, by comparing it with chap. 42. 15, &c. it ſo comes to 3250 Cubits, counting 18 Inches to be put to each Reed. Which, reckoning a cubit for half a yard, ariſeth to one mile, and half mile, and half a quarter, and reckoning it for a yard, it ariſeth to three miles and a half, on each ſquare. But add only three Inches to each Reed, the accompt comes to ſomething leſſe. And underſtanding it, not of Reeds, but of cubits only, it ſo comes to ¼ of a mile on each ſquare, after half a yard to the cubit. And to ½ mile on each ſquare, after one yard to the Cubit. Some, as we ſaid, apply this meaſure to the wall of the court of the people: But very improperly, and improbably.

fifty Cubits round about for the Suburbs thereof] Here cubits are expreſly named. Which may ſeem to ſway againſt the opinion of Reeds, in the former words of this verſe, and in the former verſe; were it not that, chap. 42. 16. ſeems to over-rule it. See the Annotations there. And this comes to 25 yards, after half yard the cubit; or, to 50 yards round about, at a yard the cubit.

V. 3. And of this meaſure] This may ſeem to relate to the meaſure of cubits, which are ſo lately mentioned in the words aforegoing: and none other expreſſed in the two former verſes. But the due conſideration of thoſe meaſures, mentioned Chap. 42. 16, 17, 18. ſeemeth ſtrongly to oppoſe this Opinion of cubits here to be meant. This verſe ſheweth, that the Sanctuary and moſt Holy place, and that utmoſt Compaſſe or wall mentioned and meaſured, ver. 2. ſhall be part of, and placed within that Holy portion of land, mentioned, and meaſured, ver. 1.

V. 4. for the Prieſts] The Levites might alſo ſeem here to be included. But much rather, the Levites have as much for their ſeveral portion, ver. 5. and chap. 48. 13, 14, 20.

V. 5. ſhall alſo the Levites have for themſelves] Another 25000 long, running Eaſt and Weſt along by the ſide of the prieſts; and 10000 broad, joyning to the South ſide of the prieſts, and running Southward; both wayes as much in quantity, as the prieſts had.

the miniſters of the houſe] Porters, ſingers, and adjutants, to the prieſts in their miniſtration. Such of them as ſhould not be rejected, as thoſe were, Ezra 2. 60, &c. and thoſe, chap. 44. 9, &c.

for twenty chambers] Twenty rows of Chambers. And theſe, not to be, and lye, in that poſſeſſion of land of 25000 in Length, and 10000 in Breadth: But in the Compaſſe and building of the Sanctuary. There being ten gates, viz. one in the wall of the utmoſt ſurrounding compaſſe, the Eaſt gate; and three, viz. Eaſt, South, and North, in each of the three Courts. And each Gate having Porches; there were two rowes of Chambers in each Gate, one on either ſide along between the Porches: and ſo twenty in all.

V. 6. the poſſeſſion of the city] Deſcribed, chap. 48. 15, &c. and ver. 30. to the end of that 48. Chapter.

five thouſand broad] Comes to miles 32 ½: or to 16 ¼: or to 5, or to 2 ½ according to the ſeveral wayes of reckonings by Reeds, or Cubits, and the quantity of the Cubit, ſet down on the firſt verſe of this chapter.

and five and twenty thouſand long] Over againſt the oblation of the holy portion of the land; or, by the ſide of it; This comes to 162 miles, and a half: or, to 81 and a quarter: or, to 25: or to 12 and a half; according to the ſeveral ways of reckonings, by reeds or cubits, and the quantity of the cubit, ſet down on the firſt verſe of this Chapter. Reckoning here to the reed 18 inches, beſide the 6 cubits. But adding onely three inches, or one hand breadth, to each reed; as the 10 rather is: Then the meaſures by the Reeds fall out to be proportionably leſs.

it ſhall be for the whole houſe of Iſrael] This Metropolitan City ſhall be common to all the Tribes: and therefore it is divided into 12 ſtreets, and a gate aſſigned to every ſeveral Tribe, Chap. 48. 31, &c.

V. 7. For the Prince on the one ſide] On the Weſt, and Eaſt ſide of that holy portion of the land; and of the poſſeſſion of the city. This ſituation of his portion, ſome way, points out the nature of his office and duty, to be in the middle of his Kingdom; ready to take care of all; but firſt, and more immediately, of the Church, and Worſhip of God.

and the length ſhall be] Length of the Princes portion on the Weſt ſide of the holy portion; for Prieſts, and Levites; and of the poſſeſſion of the city, ſhall be to the Weſt Sea. And the length of the Princes other portion on the Eaſt ſide of the holy portions of land, and of the poſſeſſion of the city, ſhall be to the utmoſt bounds of the land Eaſtward. And the breadth of them are the ſame that is the breadth of the holy portions of the land, and of the poſſeſſion of the city, running North and South. So that theſe three, the Prieſts, Cities, and Princes, two portions, took up a breadth of 25000 from North to South, running clean through the land, from Weſt to Eaſt; and lying betwixt the Tribes of Judah and Benjamin, Chap. 48. 7, 8, 23.

over againſt one of the portions] Each one of the three portions, viz. for the Prieſts, Levites, and City.

from the weſt border] Of the three ſaid portions, to the weſt Sea, is the Princes weſt portion.

unto the eaſt border] From the eaſt border of the ſaid three portions, to the eaſt Sea, is the Princes eaſt portion. Thus the Prince and Civil Magiſtrate, muſt have his due, Mat. 22. 21. Rom. 13. 6, 7.

V. 8. and the reſt of the land] As is appointed, Chap. 48. 1, &c. Or, the Princes are commanded to reſt fully contented with their large and double portion; no more belongs to them, much leſſe all; that they oppreſſe not the people any more, but give their lands to them, quietly to enjoy them; as is further injoyned in the next verſe. Thus laws are preſcribed to them. And ſo Chap. 46. 16, 17, 18. Their will is not a Law, nor they above the Laws. The rule belongs to them, which is preſcribed to maſters, Col. 4. 1.

V. 9. Let it ſuffice you] Your double portion; or, as in 1 Pet. 4. 2, 3.

execute judgment] Rom. 13. 4. Eſay 1. 17.

exactions] Whereby through force, and fraud, you expulſe my people from their lands and poſſeſſions.

V. 10. Juſt ballances] Lev. 19. 35, 36. Prov. 11. 1. & 16. 11. & 20. 10, 23. Mic. 6. 10, 11. In Chriſts Kingdom all muſt be juſt, without wrong, deceit, or oppreſſion, 1 Cor. 6. 1, 6, 7, 8, 10. Mat. 7. 12.

V. 11. The Ephah] The Ephah is a meaſure of dry things; as the bath is of liquid things: both of the ſame meaſure and capacity. And whereas the Ephah before contained ten Homers, Exod. 16. 36. and ſo ten bathes; here the Homer contains ten Ephahs, and ſo ten bathes, ver. 14. The Epha before was the ſame with Amphora Attica, or Medimnus, containing in dry things, as much as five gallons, one pint, 4 ounces, one charact, and 16 grains, or thereabout. The bath was thereabout, 1 King. 4. 22. & 7. 26. And the Homer formerly was three pints and a half, or thereabouts. The change therefore is great that is here made. See Lev. 27. 16. The Homer here is made the ſame with Cor. ver. 14.

V. 12. And the ſhekel ſhall be twenty Gerahs] Exod. 30. 13. Lev. 27. 25. Num. 3. 47. Gerah is penny half penny, and ſo 20 Gerahs made up the ſhekel of the Sanctuary, Num. 18. 36. which was two ſhillings ſix pence. The common, or Kings ſicle was but half ſo much, that is one ſhilling three pence, or a quarter of an ounce of ſilver.

ſhall be your maneh] Or, mina, or, pound weight, 1 King. 10. 17. 2 Chr. 9. 16. The common pound weighed 15 ſhekels, that is one pound, 17 ſhillings ſix pence: the Kings 20. that is two pound ten ſhillings; the Sanctuaries five and twenty, that is three pound two ſhilling ſix pence. But ſtill in monies the accoumpt muſt go by the ſhekels; as formerly in meaſures it was to go by the Homer.

V. 13. This is the oblation] The Law indeed, Num. Chap. 28. & Chap. 29. provided for the offerings, for the daily ſacrifice, and other ordinary ſervices: but here it is injoyned to the people more punctually and particularly.

the ſixth part] See on ver. 11. They muſt offer unto God the threeſcore part of their wheat, and of their barley.

V. 14. Of oyl the tenth part] That is, the hundred part.

V. 15. And one lamb] Out of two hundred.

for a meat-offering] For the daily ſacrifice, and other ordinary ſacrifices, and meat-offerings.

V. 16. This oblation] Mentioned in the three former Verſes.

for the Prince in Iſrael] Or, with the Prince in Iſrael; that is, either Prince to receive the ſaid oblations; and thereout, and together with his own, to furniſh the ſacrifices, and ſervices. Or rather, the Prince to offer likewiſe out of his wheat, barly, oyle, lambs, his like ſhare; and thereout, or otherwiſe of himſelf to provide for the publick ſacrifices and ſervices, as is ſet down in the verſes following, to the end of the Chapter.

V. 18. Thou ſhalt take] Speaks to the Prince. So ver. 20, 22. he is expreſſed by name; and ſo underſtood in the Verſes following.

V. 19. Of the ſettle of the Altar] This is more then was in the Law of Moſes: As divers other things alſo.

V. 21. the Paſſeover] Compare what followes with Exod. 12. Lev.23. Num.28.16,&c. And ſee the variations.

V. 25. In the ſeventh moneth] See Num. 29. 12,&c. And obſerve the variations; ſhewing thereby, that thoſe ſacrifices, Rites, and Ceremonies, were alterable in themſelves, and to end at Chriſts Coming; as ſhadowes vaniſhing, when the body came.

CHAP. XLVI.

Verſ. 1. THus, &c.] In this Chapter are ſet down Ordinances in Gods worſhip, for the Prince, and people. In particular, The prince his place, and ſtanding; his Offerings punctually on the Sabbaths, and in the New Moons; his Coming in, and Going out. The peoples alſo, and their Offerings. The Princes Voluntary Offering. The Daily Offering. The princes Inheritance, and his Gifts to Sons, and ſervants. The places of Boyling and Baking for the prieſts. The boyling places of the Levites for the Sacrifices of the people.

V. 2. ſhall ſtand by the poſt] but not come into the Court.

ſhall not be ſhut] The reaſon of it is in the next verſe.

V. 4. And the burnt-offering] Much more, then was enjoyned in the Law, Num.28.9.

V. 5. an Ephah——] See ver. 11.

V. 6. And in the day of the new Moon] Leſſe then was enjoyned by the Law of Moſes, Num.28.11.

V. 8. and when the Prince ſhall enter] The Eaſt Gates of the Courts allowed to the Prince, for acceſſe, for ingreſſe, and egreſſe; even as for the Prieſts and Levites. They are joyned together, and muſt joyn their ſtrengths and powers together: They both muſt go the ſame way; not contrary wayes.

V. 9. But when the people] The North and South gates allowed to them; to come in at the one, and go out at the other. This may mind us of ſtraight ſteps; to go ſtill forward, Phil.3.13,14. not to look back, as Lots wife, Luk.9.62. And Repenting, not to return back the ſame way we came, 2 Pet. 2.21,22. Came we carnal? let us return ſpiritual.

V. 10. And the Prince] Muſt obſerve the ſame time with the people, for coming to, and ſtaying at Gods publick worſhip and ſervice; muſt be an example to them; which will much prevail with them; magnates are magnetes.

V. 11. The meat-offering ſhall be] The particularities, and the quantities preſcribed in Gods Offerings and worſhip.

There the tenth part of an Ephah; and the fourth part of an Hin: here, the ſixth part of an Ephah; and the third part of an Hin: Likely, To imply, that as Gods Graces and bleſſings do abound under the Goſpel, more then under the Law; ſo likewiſe ſhould our ſervice, thankfulneſſe, and ſpiritual obedience abound.

CHAP. XLVII.

Verſ. 1. AFterwards] We have here, The Viſion of the Riſe, Progreſſe, and Healing virtue of the Holy Waters, and of the Trees on the Banks. The Borders of the Land of Canaan: which is to be divided by Lot, to the 12 Tribes, and to the Sojourners among them.

waters iſſued] This alſo ſhews this whole Viſion, Chap.40. to the end of the Book, to be Allegorical and Typical. Theſe waters ſhadow out and ſhew the Spirit of God, and the Gifts of the Spirit beſtowed on the Chriſtian Church, to be ſmall in their beginnings, but to grow very great after. And particularly, that the Doctrine of the Goſpel ſhould have the like weak beginning, and wondrous progreſſe and propagation afterwards, Apoc.22.1. is a river of water of life, cleer as Chryſtal.

V. 8. Go into the Sea] Called the ſalt Sea, or Sea of Sodome, the lake Aſphaltites, or dead Sea; becauſe all living things dye in it. Such are we, as the dead Sea, Eph. 2.3.

the waters ſhall be healed] See Joh.5.4. The meaning here is, that they ſhould be made wholſome for fiſh, and living creatures; as in the two next Verſes. And ſo the virtue and efficacy of ſpiritual bleſſings in the Goſpel, the Merits of Chriſt, and Graces of the Holy Spirit, do heal, revive regenerate, and make fruitful men, formerly dead in treſpaſſes and ſins.

V. 9. the rivers] Of thoſe abundant Waters. So in the end of this verſe.

as the fiſh] Where none were, or could be before; now ſo exceeding many.

V. 11. the myrie places] Some tranſlate and expound it, that even thoſe places of it, that were not healed, but given to ſalt, and in a manner impoſſible to be healed, ſhould yet be healed, and abound in fiſh. Others, in an Allegorical ſenſe, to another meaning; That ſuch as will rather chooſe to wallow, as ſwine, in the mire of their ſins, without repentance, and not come to theſe healing waters, ſhall not be healed, but hardened, 2 Cor.2.15,16.

V. 12. all trees] See Rev.22.2. There is the Tree of life, (as Gen.2.9.) which bare 12 manner of fruits; and that every moneth. This here ſtill ſhews all to be Allegorical and Typical. Let theſe trees mind us of our qualifications, and Duties, wherein we are reſembled to Trees in Scripture, Pſal. 1.3. & 92.13. Eſay 61.3. Jer.17.8. We muſt not be barren trees, Luk.13.7. nor bring forth wild grapes, Eſay 5. 2. but fruit for meat, and leaves for medicine; and that without fading, or decaying: but ſtill green and flouriſhing, 2 Pet. 1,5.&c.

V. 21. according to the Tribes] Little, or no land would remain for them, if the Holy portion, Cities, and Princes portion, Chap. 45. were to be meaſured by Reeds, and not by Cubits; unleſſe we take all in an Allegorical, and Typical ſenſe.

V. 22. and to the ſtrangers] It was otherwiſe in the diviſion of the land by Moſes, and Joſhuah. But this might ſhadow out the right of the Gentiles, and their title and claim to the Church, and Goſpel of Chriſt, and heavenly Canaan. See Annotations on ver. 14.

Verſ. 1. NOw &c.] Here are the ſeveral Bounds, and portions of the Land of Canaan, for the 12 ſeveral Tribes: for the Sanctuary, and Prieſts; for the Levites; for the City, and Suburbs; for the Prince. The dimenſions, Gates, and Name of the City.

Eaſt and Weſt] Each tribe here runs his portion from Eaſt to Weſt, the whole breadth of the land of Canaan: . For ſo runs the breadth of that particular Countrey; and the length of it from South to North: Though all Geographers in deſcribing the whole earth, conſtantly reckon the longitudes, from Eaſt to Weſt, and the latitudes from South to North. Chriſts Kingdom runs to the ends of the earth, Pſal. 2.8.

for Dan] The Order of the Tribes in their portion is this; viz. Dan, Aſher, Naphtali, Manaſſeth, Ephraim, Reuben, Judah, the portions for the prieſts, the Levites, the City, the Prince, Benjamin, Simeon, Iſſachar, Zebulun, Gad.

and in length as one of the other parts] In length from Eaſt to Weſt, as one of the other parts, of each ſeveral Tribe; ſo taking up in length the whole breadth of the land.

V. 9. unto the Lord] as diſtinguiſhing it from the other oblations, for the City and prince; and Levites ſome way too, as having the Sanctuary in it.

ſhall be five and twenty thouſand in length] Called breadth in the former verſe; and there ſee the reckoning, and reaſon of it: here called length, in relation to the ten thouſand; which are, as the far leſſer Number, juſtly here called the Breadth of the prieſts portion.

V. 10. Toward the North five and twenty thouſand in length] The meaning is, The North border, limit, or line running Eaſt and Weſt, was in length five and twenty thouſand; and ſo the South border: and the Eaſt border, limit, or line, running North and South, being the breadth, was ten thouſand; and ſo the Weſt border: All which was the prieſts Holy portion; and the Sanctuary in the midſt thereof.

V. 15. And the five thouſand that are left in the breadth] From North to South, to make up the ten thouſand breadth of the prieſts, and the ten thouſand breadth of the Levites, a perfect ſquare, viz. five and twenty thouſand; and ſo equal to the Length aforeſaid.

V. 16. The meaſures] Thus out of the midſt of the 25000 length, take 4500 ſquare for the City; and 250 for the Eaſt ſuburbs of it, and 250 for the weſt ſuburbs of it; and this will take up 5000 of the length; and ſo will remain ten thouſand of the length, on the Eaſt ſide, and ten thouſand on the Weſt ſide, for the uſe of the Citizens, and them that ſerve the City. Thus the City is ſquare. And ſo that new Jeruſalem, and holy City, prepared as a Bride, deſcending out of heaven from God, Apoc. 21.16. And the meaſure of that is, 12000. furlongs in length, breadth, and height, which laſt is moſt wonderfull. By theſe meaſures of Ezechiels City, the compaſs of the walls is implied, viz. 4500. meaſures on each ſquare; 18000. round about, ver. 35. The wall of the new Jeruſalem, had twelve foundations, made of twelve ſeverall precious ſtones, and in them the names of the twelve Apoſtles: And above the foundations, the walls were made of Iaſper: the thickneſs of the walls, 144 cubites. And the City being 12000. furlongs, long, broad, and high, the walls of it muſt needs be, of that length and height, Apoc. 21.12, 14,16, 17, 18, 19,20. Theſe are Typicall, and Hieroglyphical deſcriptions.

and the South ſide, four thouſand and five hundred] Heb. חמש חמש מאות five five hundred. And here the Maſſorites note upon the ſecond חמש, Cetib velo Keri; that is, it is written, but not to be read; as being redundant. And therefore they put no pricks or vowels, to that word in the text. As in the Keri, which they would have read, they put the pricks onely, or vowels in the text, and the conſonants in the margent.

V. 17. And the ſuburbs] Theſe ſuburbs, on the North and South ſide, fill up the breadth of five thouſand; which is the whole breadth of the Cities portion. And on the Eaſt and Weſt ſides of the ſquare, they fill up the length of five thouſand; and ſo leave ten thouſand Eaſt, and ten thouſand Weſt, for the uſe of the Citizens, and them that ſerve the City.

V. 18. And the reſidue] As is cleerly ſhewed, upon the two former verſes. The breadth of each, the ten thouſand long, is five thouſand, being all the breadth of the cities portion.

over againſt the oblation of the holy portion] Ioyning to, and running in length, at the South ſide of the Levites portion.

V. 19. Out of all the tribes of Iſrael] And therefore the twelve gates are named, after the names of the twelve tribes, verſ. 31,32,33,34.

V. 20. Four ſquare, with] That is, five and twenty thouſand from Eaſt to Weſt; and ten thouſand of the Prieſts, and ten thouſand of the Levites, and five thouſand of the City; in all, five and twenty thouſand, running from North, to South, a perfect ſquare.

V. 21. And the reſidue ſhall be for the Prince] The reſidue Eaſtward, from the Eaſt line, of five and twenty thouſand, running from North to South, and comprehending the breadth of the portions, of the Prieſts, Levites, and City; that reſidue from the Eaſt line Eaſtward, to the Eaſt bounds of the land, ſhall be the Princes one portion. And the other equall and alike, from the Weſt line of five and twenty thouſand, running as aforeſaid, and comprehending as a foreſaid; that reſidue, from that Weſt line weſtward, to the midland-ſea, ſhall be the Princes other portion.

in the midſt thereof] Between thoſe two portions of the Prince, in the midſt of the Prieſts portion.

V. 22. Between the border of Judah] All the portions, for the Prince, Prieſts, Levites, City, lye between the portions of Judah, and of Benjamin.

V. 28. From Tamar] See Chap.47.19.

V. 30. North ſide, four thouſand and five hundred] See Annotations on verſ.16.

V. 31. And the gates of the city] Three on each quarter, twelve in all; for the twelve tribes, and bearing their names; whereof one for Levi in this verſe; and one for Ioſeph, comprehending Ephraim, and Manaſſes, in the next verſe: which may ſhew, that Gates are open to all quarters of the World, for all men to come in to the Church of Chriſt, the City of God. The Gates of the new Jeruſalem were likewiſe twelve, three on each quarter; every ſeveral gate was of one Pearl; and at the Gates 12 Angels; and on the gates the names of the 12 Tribes written. And theſe Gates were never ſhut.

V. 35. round about, eighteen thouſand] That is, four times four thouſand five hundred. All things in the holy City are four ſquare; which may mete out the comelineſſe and conſtancy, the firm duration and perpetuation of the Church of Chriſt, to the end of the world.

Surely we ſhould not prophane it: or by vain ſwearing, impious forſwearing, blaſpheme it. What the ancient Jewes write of this Name, which they call Tetragrammaton, of four letters: For of other names or deſcriptions of God, which they call Names of 12. letters, or of 42 letters, may rather ſerve for conviction of Modern Jews, then otherwiſe be uſeful to us.

ANNOTATIONS
On the Book of the Prophet
DANIEL.

The ARGUMENT.

T*He Book of* Daniel is Hiſtorical, to the ſeventh Chapter; and Prophetical in the reſt. In the Hiſtory of things done, we have ſingular Monuments of the rare piety of Daniel, and his three Companions of the ſame Nation, about the ſame age, and in the ſame condition; who all in their Youth were carried Captives to Babylon, in the firſt Captivity by Nebuchadnezzar, (not counting upon the Captivity of Manaſſeh,) which was in the fourth year of Jehojakim King of Judah, in the beginning of it: where at the firſt Daniel and his fellowes, being inſtructed and trained up in learning for three years together, without intermiſſion, were afterwards for their skill and dexterity advanced to honourable imployments in that Empire. God ſo took them into His particular Care and Charge, that their Humane inſtructions and learning became uſefull to them; being made ſubordinate, and ſubſerving to Divine gifts and graces, which he further beſtowed on them. For they had the Spirit of Sanctification, Zeal for Gods glory, firm Faith, and invincible, though tryed by fiery afflictions, and cruel decrees, inflicted on Daniels three Companions in their Youth, and upon Daniel himſelf in his Old age. Moreover, Daniel had the gift of Propheſie. The Dream which the King had forgotten, and which none of his VViſemen could tell him, Daniel recalls to his memory, and giveth the true Interpretation thereof: whereupon being promoted to high dignity, he prefers his faithful Companions; Providence ſo ordering affaires, that the Church in her ſufferings and Captivity in Babylon, ſhould not want Noble Patrons for her comfort, countenance, and maintenance. He was famous for Prayer and Sanctity; as appears, Ezek. 14.14,20. And, in the eleventh year of Jehojacins Captivity, ſo ſingular for wiſdome, that by a common Proverb he was ſet a pattern thereof in Babylon; where Ezekiel alſo then Propheſied: who taunts the King of Tyrus, (who thought himſelf ſo wiſe above others) with this mock, ſaying, Ezek. 28.3. Behold, thou art wiſer then Daniel

In the Propheticall part of this Book. Daniels wiſedome doth clearly ſhine forth, in ſhewing when the myſtery of Mans Redemption ſhould be wrought; and Ceremonies, and legal Sacrifices ſhould ceaſe, and be aboliſhed, to give way to the ſervice of God in Spirit and Truth; namely when the Meſſiah was ſlain. Now to work ſure confidence in the expectation of this ſingular good, Daniel hath incomparable Viſions concerning the four great Monarchies of the VVorld, untill the coming of Chriſts Kingdome; which was to be erected upon the ruine of the former, and to rule afterwards to the worlds end: By which Viſions the Prophet ſheweth, that the Jewiſh Church muſt be in a ſuffering condition; eſpecially under the feet of the Image, the divided Kingdome of the Greeks, into North and South, Syria and Egypt, under the Seleucidæ and Lagidæ, Succeſſors to Alexander the Great; who exerciſed many outrages againſt the Jewes: but above all, Antiochus Epiphanes was the moſt cruel, ſubtil, and peſtilent perſecuter, that ever the Jewiſh Church had. He hated piety, and was void of humanity, being maliciouſly ſet againſt Judah's Religion; chiefly ayming to root out the worſhip of the true God, and to blot every impreſſion and motion of piety out of mens hearts. Againſt theſe former enemies, and this laſt, but worſt of all, Daniel comforts and quickeneth the languiſhing Saints, by foretelling the ſingular Hiſtory of things to be done in the Church, even till the coming of Chriſt the Meſſiah: and not onely by Predictions, and premonitions, would he make thoſe heavy afflictions, which were to come, more tolerable; but alſo he tells the time preciſely when the Meſſiah, by his death, ſhould purchaſe for his Church Spiritual deliverance, and ſet up his Spiritual, and everlaſting Kingdome, by cauſing and meriting Salvation and Eternal felicity to all both Jewes and Gentiles which were of the Election of Grace. Foretelling likewiſe the finall and fatal judgment of God to be executed by the Romans upon the Jewiſh Nation, for denying the Holy one of Iſrael, and betraying the Lord of life to be killed by the Romane power. In the reading whereof our Saviour requires ſpecial care of underſtanding it, Mat.24.15. wherefore Daniels Book ſeems to ſome, to contain the Hiſtory of ſix hundred years, beginning with Babels firſt year under Nebuchadnezzar; and reaching thence to Jeruſalems fall the Romans, thus; ſeventy years Babels Captivity laſted: thence ſeven ſeventies to the death of the Meſſiah: thence fourty to the deſtruction of Jeruſalem by the abomination of deſolation or abominable Army of Roman Infidels, working (by the juſt judgment of God) the deſolation of the Jewes, City, and Countrey. Theſe three ſums; firſt, ſeventy in Babylon; ſecondly, ſeven ſeventies, that is, four hundred and ninety till Chriſt his death: Laſtly, fourty thence, to Jeruſalems deſtruction, make up ſix hundred years, the whole time and limits of Daniels Book. Yet others making Daniels ſeventies, Chap.9. to begin, not at Cyrus his Proclamation for the Jewes return, when Jeremies ſeventy ended. 2 Chron.36.21, 22. Ezra, Chap.1. but at Artaxerxes his Commiſſion to Nehemiah, for to reſtore, and to build Jeruſalem, (the Walls and City) Dan.9.25. and counting eighty five years to intercur, between thoſe two dates, viz. the ſeven laſt of Cyrus; ſeven of Cambyſes; ſeven moneths of Artaxerxes, or Smerdis Magus, thirty of Darius Hyſtaſpis; one and twenty of Xerxes; and twenty of Artaxerxes, (for in his twentieth year, Nehemiah had his Commiſſion) they do ſo increaſe the Number to be ſix hundred eighty five years. This uncertainty, and others hereunto belonging, by reaſon of other opinions about the beginning of Daniels ſeventies, do ariſe from the uncertainty of Humane Hiſtories upon which the reckonings of theſe times do depend. Whereof ſee more on Dan.9.24,25,26,27. Daniel lived at the end of the Babyloniſh Captivity; yet returned not with the reſt; but ſtayed behind: not ſo much by reaſon of his old age, as for his imployments in the Kings affairs; and uſeful there to procure the good of his Nation, and to promote their Cauſes.

CHAP. I.

Verſ. 1. IN] The beginning and end of the ſeventy years Captivity, is from Nebuchadnezzars firſt, unto the firſt of Darius: and Daniel was in Babylon the whole time, as is plain in this Chapter, ver. 1. & 21. Jeremy in the firſt of Nebuchadnezzar telleth, that Nations ſhall ſerve the King of Babylon ſeventy yeares, Jer. 25. 11. So the account muſt be from Babels firſt. See 2 Chron. 36. 21.

third] Heb. three. But the Cardinal number when it is governed of a Noun, as here, hath the ſignification of the Ordinal number.

year of the reign of Jehojakim King of Judah] In the end of this third year of Jehojakim, Nebuchadnezzar began to reign: and in the fourth year of Jehojakim, he overthrew Pharaohs Army at Carchemiſh by the river Euphrates, Jer. 46.2. And preſently began his expedition in Babylon, and came up to Jeruſalem in the ſame fourth year of Jehojakim, which was ſtill in the firſt of Nebuchadnezzar. See Jer.25.1. 2 King.24.1. Now leſt the deſolation of Jeruſalem, ſpoken of, Jer.25.11. ſhould make the unacquainted ſtagger, we muſt know, that the land payd, or kept and enjoyed her Sabbaths, Lev.26.34. and reſted 70 years, 2 Chron. 36. 21. from the firſt Captivity, to the end of Babels reign. For in moſt exact truth, the deſolation and reſt was in part from the firſt battering of Jeruſalem, and carriage of any from the Countrey. This third year of Jehojakim was about 3400 from the Creation. Of this Jehojakims death, we read, That he was bound in chains to be carried to Babylon, 2 Chr.36. 6. But dying on the way, he was buried as Jeremy propheſied, Jer.22.19.& 36.30. though the common phraſe of ſleeping with his Fathers be afforded him, 2 King.24.6.

Nebuchadnezzar] 2 King.24.1. 2 Chr. 36. 6. the ſon of Nabopolaſſer. See Annotations on Ezek.26.7.

King of Babylon] See Annotations on Gen. 10. 10. The Aſſyrians, Chaldeans, Perſians, reigning as Monarchs ſucceſſively, had in poſſeſſion, and were ſtyled Kings of this famous city. See Neh.13.6.

and beſieged it] In the beginning of the fourth year of Jehojakim; as was ſaid.

V. 2. And the Lord gave, &c.] So Deut.1.27. Jer. 37. 17. God, the Author of Nebuchadnezzars victory, ſold them into the hand, &c. Judg.3.8. & 4.2. Of Jehojakims reſtitution, and ſubjection a while, and his rebellion after, and final overthrow laſt of all, ſee 2 King.24.1,2. Jer.25. 1. 2 Chron. 36.5,6.

with part] For part remained till the time of Jechoniah; and the laſt part, till the time of the laſt ſubverſion of all, in the eleventh year of Zedekiah; which Nebuchadnezzar had moſt juſt cauſe of wrath againſt the Kingdome of Judah, for their double or treble rebellion againſt him. The Veſſels of the Temple were of ſundry ſorts, and very many in number, Ezra 1.9,10,11. & 8.25,26,27. and yet part of them had bin cut in pieces, at Jehojacins captivity, 2 King.24.13.

Shinar] Read Gen.10.10. & 11.2. which was a Plain by Babylon; and is here taken for Babylon, where was the temple of their great god.

The houſe of his god] As monuments of his triumphant victory; and of his thankſgiving to his god therefore. See 1 Sam.31.9,10. This his god was the idol Bell; the chiefeſt Idol in account with the Aſſyrians, Perſians, and Babylonians. Moſt think they underſtood by it the Sun. And hence was that Idolatry to the Sun, in Manaſſehs time, who had been in Babylon; and mentioned in the reign of Joſiah, 2 King.23.11. And hence alſo it is, that to the Fire, as a ſpark of the Sun, they gave Divine worſhip. Bel likely ſignified to them, what Baal did to the Jews, a Lord: from Bel and Nebo, their Idols mentioned, Eſay 46. 1. ſome of the Babylonian Kings would aſſume part of their names; as Belſhazar, Nebuchadnezzar: and the like name the Prince of the Eunuchs, by the commandment of the King, gave to Daniel, ver. 7. Chap.5.12.

treaſure-houſe of his god] Idolaters coſts upon their gods. See Diodorus Siculus book 3. chap.4. Belſhazzar, in the ſacrilegious prophaning of them, had that hand-writing, &c. Chap.5.2, &c.

V. 3. ſpake unto Aſhpenaz] In that third year of Jehojakim, ver.1. or beginning of the fourth. For Nebuchadnezzars firſt year comprehended part of the third year, and part of the fourth of Jehojakim, Jer.25.1. And in that year, and not in the eighth year of Jehojakim; or in the ſeventh or eighth year of Nebuchadnezzar, as ſome would, (compare 2 King.24.12. with Jer.52.28.) was Daniel carried Captive, and this commandement given to Aſhpenaz.

Eunuchs] Or, Courtiers; whereof many were Eunuchs: ſome not, Jer.52.25. See Gen.39.1. Eſth.4.4. & 6.2. & 7. 9. Act.8.27.

and of the Kings ſeed] Heb. of the ſeed of the Kingdome. Eſay foretold this, Chap.39.7. not yet that Daniel, and his Companions, were Eunuchs in its ſtricteſt ſenſe; as the mind of ſome is: nor yet certainly, though perhaps probably, of the ſeed-Royal. The Kings purpoſe was to keep them as hoſtages; and that he might ſhew him ſelf victorious; and alſo by their good intreaty, and learning his religion, they might favour rather him, then the Jewes; and ſo alſo be able to ſerve him as paſſages of honour; and ſo from time to time to be advanced to offices in the Court, or Governours in their land. Moreover, by this means the Jews might be better kept in ſubjection, fearing otherwiſe to procure hurt to theſe Noblemen.

V. 4. But

V. 4. But well-favoured] Not ſuch as thoſe, Lev.21.17. Such rather as Abſolom was,2 Sam.14.25.The King required three things; that they ſhould be of noble birth, witty and capable of learning; and alſo of a ſtrong and comely Nature and beauty;For gratior eſt pulchro veniens è corpore virtus; when there is εἶδος ἄξιον τυραννίδος. And all this; that they might do him the better ſervice; and this he doing for his own commodities,makes it the leſs to ſerve for the praiſes of his liberality: yet in this he is worthy of praiſe, that he eſteemed learning; and knew that it was a neceſſary mean to govern by.

teach the learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans] That they might forget their own religion and countrey faſhions, to ſerve him the better to his purpoſe: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learn any knowledge that was not godly: unleſſe it were ſo far forth as whereby to be able to convince and condemn it. As Solomon would know madneſſe and folly,Eccl.1.17. As the Fathers would know the errours of Philoſophers,and tenents of Hereticks,to be more able to confute them. In all points, Daniel refuſed the abuſe of things,and ſuperſtition; inſomuch that he would not eat the meat which the King appointed him; But was content to learn the knowledge of Natural, Moral, and Rational things, and Sciences; and the Chaldean tongue, which differed from the Hebrew, and was fitteſt to be ſpoken in the Chaldean Court, and in the Kings preſence.Thus,Moſes was learned in all the wiſdome of the Egyptians, Act. 7.22.

V. 7. Prince of the Eunuches] So ver.8,9,10,11,18. This man is not named: and hath Melzar under him,ver.11. and ſeemes not to be Aſhpenaz, who is called the maſter of the Eunuches,ver.3.nor Arioch,who is called the Captain of the Kings guard,chap.2.14,24,25.

This was haply to ſhew his abſolute power,and right of dominion over them; as Adam gave names, Gen.2.19,20. and to honour haply his idols of Chaldea, or the children by the idols names,Chap.4.8.the principal whereof were Bell and Nebo, Eſay 46.1. and to cancel likely in them the memory of their birth,countrey,and religion, and the knowledge of the true God,whoſe name they bore,El,and Jah: for the Jews uſually gave their children names which might put them in mind of ſome part or point of Religion; or upon ſome extraordinary occaſion changed the name; as Eſau was called Edom, and Gideon Jerubbaal. God himſelf in favour changed the names af Abram,Sarai,and Jacob; and our Saviour did ſo to Simon,and to the ſons of Zebedee,Mar.3.16,17.

Belteſhazzar] After the name of his God,Chap.4.8.ſignifying,Bell keepeth treaſure, or keeping Bels treaſures: but Chap.10.1.the name is altered,by diſplacing onely a letter, and ſo making the name to ſignifie, He braſt out a fire upon the enemy; even the Chaldean. It differeth ſomewhat from the name of King Belſhazzar,chap.5.1.

V. 8. Daniel] Being followed herein by his three companions,as appears.

Purpoſed] Such was his conſtancy, in piety, and reſolution againſt ſin,Heb.12.4. Act.11,23.

defile himſelf with the portion of the Kings meat] The Babylonians did eat many things forbidden to the Jews, Lev. 11. Deut.14.and meats allowed,as wine here,yet became impure to the Jews in certain caſes.And that caſe ſpoken of, 1 Cor. 8.1,4.(whereof ſee more,Act.15.20.Rom.14.1,&c. 1 Cor.10. 25,27,28,29.) ſeems to be in practice amongſt the Babylonians,Dan.5.4.Daniel bringeth this in, not ſo much to ſhew his ſobriety,temperance,and abſtinence, from meats; as to ſhew how God,from the beginning,aſſiſted him with his Spirit,and at length called him to be a Prophet.

he requeſted] In his own and his companions names, verſ. 10.He did it,preſently without delay, and humbly, and modeſtly, for providing for the ſafety of his conſcience, and theirs.

V. 9. Favour] Heb.gave Daniel in to ſavour. The effect of Solomon's prayer,1 King.8.50. God made the Prince of the Eunuches to ſhew him favour and mercy, by granting him what he required,in that manner as is after ſet down: Otherwiſe he might have taken occaſion hereby of diſpleaſure,and anger at Daniel,as deſpiſing this the Kings bounty, and condemning his meats as unclean.See Gen.39.4,21.Pſal.106.46. Prov.16.7.

V. 10. I fear my Lord the King] He ſuppoſed that they did this for their Religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians: yet herein he would bear with them, if they could free him of this fear.

worſe] Heb.ſadder,Gen.40.9.Prov.17.22.

your ſort] Or,term,or,continuance, Ver. 5,6. or of your age and condition.

endanger my head] My life,through his juſt wrath,upon my diſobedience,and unfaithfulneſſe.

V. 11. Melzar] Or,the ſteward. It ſeemeth,it may be ſome name of office,as governour of the pages. Daniel diſcerning a willingneſſe of connivance in the Prince of the Eunuches, ſo he might be ſaved harmleſſe in his fear; now he addreſſeth himſelf to this under officer. Thus wiſely and diligently he uſeth all lawful means,and conſtantly wades through all difficulties,for the keeping of his conſcience cleer, and undefiled.

V. 12. Drove thy ſervants] He moves for them alſo; and that earneſtly and humbly, with all complements of civility.

ten dayes] Meaning that within this ſpace he might have the trial: and this he ſpake, being moved by the Spirit of God,in confidence of his bleſſing upon them.

pulſe] Heb.of pulſe; Not that it was a thing abominable to eat dainty meats;and to drink wine,as before,and after,they did,Dan.3. So it were according to the rules of their Levitical Law. But if they ſhould have been thereby won to the King,and have refuſed their own Religion,breaking the Levitical laws for meats, Lev.11.Deut.14. that meat and drink then had been accurſed.Pulſe and water, here mentioned; that the officer might ſee their confidence the more; and have the clearer tryal, and better proof and experience of their ſaying,and the thing it ſelf.

to eat] Heb.that we may eat,&c.

V. 13. and as thou ſeeſt] The motion fair,and not without the officers profit, and grounded upon a comfortable aſſurance of Gods bleſſing.

V.15. their countenances appeared fairer]Not lean;but the more freſh and fair.Their bare feeding, and that alſo of Moſes,when he fled from the Court of Egypt, declareth that we muſt live in ſuch ſobriety, as God doth call us unto; ſeeing he will make it more profitable unto us, then all dainties; for his bleſſing onely ſufficeth, Exod. 23.25. Deut.8 3. Mat. 4. 4.

V.16. thus Melſar] It ſuiteth with his profit: He took the Kings daily proviſion to himſelf, and his own family.

V.17. in all learning and wiſdom] Meaning in liberal ſciences, and natural knowledg; and not in the magical arts, which are forbidden,Deut.18.10,11.

Daniel had underſtanding] Or, He made Daniel underſtand; God did it) He the Author of learning and wiſdom, Jam.1.5,17.Joh.3.27.

in all viſions and dreams] Not in vain,or falſe viſions. Jer. 2.3,16.& 14.14. Ezek. 12.24. & 13.7,16. Zech. 13. 4. Nor in common and ordinary idle dreams; whereof, Eccl.5.3,7. or lying dreams, Jer. 23. 25, 27. But in ſuch viſions and dreams, as were extraordinarily ſent of God, foretelling things to come; as thoſe to Pharaoh, Gen. 41. and to Nebuchadnezzar, Dan. 2. Or ſuch,whereby he revealed his will to his Prophets, Num.12.6. And this gift of underſtanding was not in him, by way of habit, conſtantly abiding; as appears, Chap. 2. nor was the like in Elizæus, as appears, 2 King. 3. 15. & 4. 27. But by way of infuſion; upon ſome ſpecial occaſions, and for ſom ſpecial uſes, as God pleaſed. However, by this it appears, that Daniel was a Prophet, and none of the other three; for by dreams and viſions, God appeared to his Prophets, as we ſaid, 2 Chro. 26. 5. Dan. 10. 1.) And herein his Book excelleth; declaring the coming up of idolatry, chaſtiſement, and fall, of the Babylonians, Medes and Perſians, Greeks, whole, and parted; and how Chriſt defendeth the holy Jews, until the redemption. Dreams alſo ſeem here to have reference to thoſe, Chap. 2. 1. and Chap. 4. verſ. 5.

V. 18. the end of the dayes] Of the three years, above mentioned, verſ. 5. in the year of the world, 3406. or 3407. or there about.

V. 19. communed with them] And others too, as appears in the words following. And by comparing the ſpeeches and anſwers of all together, he found none like Daniel, and his three companions.

ſtood they before the king] Verſ. 4. to ſerve him in his palace.

V. 20. wiſdom and underſtanding] Heb. wiſdom of underſtanding.

ten times better] A certain number for an uncertain: ſo Gen. 31. 7, 41. Num. 14. 22. Job 19. 3. A very great difference and degree of excellency.

Magicians and Aſtrologers] Theſe names, at the firſt, were, and might be taken in good part; as the word Tyrannus, Sophiſtor, and the Engliſh word, Knave, is found in Chaucer, for a Male-child: though afterwards, through abuſe of men and arts, the names grew infamous.

V. 21. And Daniel continued] In eſteem and dignity, in the higheſt offices and imployments, under the kings of Babylon. This verſe comes in here, as it were by way of a parentheſis.

even unto the firſt year of King Cyrus] And after, Chap. 10. 1. Of Cyrus, ſee Eſay 44. 28. & 45. 1, 4, 13. & Dan. 5. 30, 31. & 6. 28. & 10. 1. That is, He was eſteemed in Babylon, as a Prophet, in dignity and honour, as long as the Empire of Babylon ſtood, and afterward alſo: and yet Belſhazzar, in his laſt year, ſeems ignorant of him, Chap. 5. 13. with this firſt of Cyrus, the ſeventy years of captivity ended: Thus, Nebuchadnezzar, fourty five, almoſt, raigning with his Father, and alone; compare Jer. 25. 1. with 2 King. 25. 27. Evilmerodach, two years, Nerigliſſorus, four years, Laboroſarchodus, nine moneths; Belſhazzar, ſeventeen years; Darius Medus, one year. See Jer. 27. 7.

CHAP. II.

Verſ. 1. AND in the ſecond year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar] Heb. and in the ſecond year, in the reign of Nebuchadnezzar. And this ſeems to ſuit better with the truth of the ſacred Hiſtory. For this Dream and Expoſition, was not in the ſecond year of Nebuchadnezzars reign, and Daniels captivity. The things ſet down towards the end of the former Chapter, make againſt that; neither doth any thing force us to underſtand them by way of anticipation. And much leſſe was it in the ſecond year of his Monarchy; which for this cauſe, ſome would have to begin many years after, upon his conqueſt over the Ammonites, Moabites and Egyptians. And leaſt of all was it, in the ſecond year of his Succeſſour, and ſon of the ſame name; as divers forged heathen hiſtorians, frame the catalogue of the Babiloniſh kings. But rather, this fell out in the ſecond year, after the three years were expired, wherein Daniel, and his companions, had been trained up, as is expreſſed, Chap. 1. verſ. 5. 18. And this was the fifth year of Nebuchadnezzars reign, and Daniels captivity, and in the ninth of Jehojakim. In the ſecond year then after Daniels Coronation, as it were, with wiſdom, Chap. 1. 19, 20. was this dream, by Daniel, recalled to the kings memory, and expounded. And this was ſome ſix or ſeven years, before Ezekiel began to propheſie, Ezek. 1. verſ. 2, 3. As Joſeph in the ſecond year, after his skill in dreams, expounded Pharaohs: Compare Gen. 40. 43. with 41. 1. God ſo diſpoſing the times alike; the Magicians alike; and ſo guiding, and advancing Joſeph and Daniel alike. See Annotations on Chap. 2. 13.

Nebuchadnezzar dreamed] And thus God hath vouchſafed dreams, ſometimes to Heathen and Idolaters, for the good benefit of his own ſervants; as to Pharaoh, Abimelech and Laban, Gen. 12. & 20. & 31. This Dream was about the year of the world, 3404.

dreams] Not that he had many dreams, but that many matters were contained in this one dream; becauſe in that one Image which he ſaw, there were divers metals, which were types, and repreſentations of divers Monarchies, one ſucceeding another.

was troubled] Verſ. 3. See Pſal. 77. 3. Becauſe it was ſo rare and ſtrange a dream; even while his ſleep was yet on him, was he troubled. See Gen. 40. 6.

brake from him] Or, fled from him, that he could ſleep no more, by reaſon of the diſquietneſſe of his ſpirit.

V. 2. Magicians] Chap. 5. 7. Gen. 41. 8. Ezek. 21. 21. More names of ſeveral ſorts follow, of men of curious arts, in themſelves unlawful and develiſh; and not eaſily, with certainty now diſtinguiſhable. See the many books of like Artſmens, Act. 19. 19. Such were thoſe in Egypt, Exod. 7. 11. whereof James and Jambres were chief, 2 Tim. 3. 8. ſuch was Simon, Act. 8. 9, 10, 11. Bar-jeſus or Elymas, Act. 13. 6, 8. See 2 Chr. 33. 6. ſuch are forbidden, Deut. 18. 10, 11, 12.

Chaldeans] Or, diviners. This Nation of all others was given to ſuch like arts and ſtudies: and all theſe aſtrologers and ſorcerers called themſelves, by this name of honour and from the name of this Countrey; as though all wiſdom and knowledge of the Countrey depended upon them; and that all other Countreyes were void of the ſame, verſ. 4, 5, 10.

V. 4. In Syriack] Or the Babylonian tongue. So Eſay 36. 11. yet now the Syriack and Chaldee tongue do much differ, and did in the days of our Saviour; who uſed the Syriack tongue, as the Jews did in his time. This appears by many Syriack words in the New Teſtament, which yet are called Hebrew, becauſe that was the ancient and mother language, and the Syriack but a corruption of it. See Joh. 5. 2. & 19. 13, 17, 20. Apoc. 9. 11. & 16. 16. Act. 21. 40. & 22. 2. Syria ſometimes comprehended Babylon in it, Mela. 6. 1. c. 11. Pliny 6. 5. c. 12. Hitherto Daniel writ in the Hebrew tongue. Now he begins in the Syriack or Chaldee tongue; and ſo continues while the viſions are general, and cauſe the Jews no danger: and this is to the eight Chapter, uſing the Chaldee, which then was beſt known, and general over the Eaſt; But when the Oppreſſours are named, and the Jews are plainly deſcribed, the people whom God defendeth; then the eight Chapter and all after, he writeth again in Hebrew, and hath a commandment to keep cloſe the plain expoſition, in Chap. 12. 4. The Additions to Daniel, which the Trent Council hath made Canonical, brings in a third language, as written originally in the Greek tongue.

O King] Chap. 3. 9. & 5. 10. & 6. 6. a ſpeech of affection, and of honour Natural, and Civil, uſed alſo by the people of God, Chap. 6. 21. 1 King. 1. 31. Neh. 2. 3.

live for ever] For ever, both in Hebrew and Chaldee, ſignifies often a long time onely; as Exod. 21. 6. Gen. 13. 15. Pſal. 89. 1. See Annotations on Exod. 12. 24. Here they expreſs our wiſh at full, and deſire his longeſt life; yet cannot mean his everlaſting life in this world. Neither may we exclude them from thoughts of wiſhing him an everlaſting happy life after this. So many Heathens, ſpecially of greateſt fame for learning and wiſdome, having writ ſo much of the immortality of the ſoul, and of an everlaſting life in joy, or pains, after this life ended.

and we will ſhew] It was more then they could do, Chap. 4. 7. & 2. 27. Gen. 41. 8. But they promiſe this, to gain the time, &c. as the King ſayeth, ver. 8.

V. 5. the thing is gone from me] The Chaldee ſignifies both word and thing; as likewiſe the Hebrew doth. From me, not without Gods ſpecial providence; minding thereby the honour and advancement of Daniel, for the good of his church and people in their captivity.

ye ſhall be] This, though cruel and unjuſt in it ſelf, as they truly plead, ver. 10, 11. yet is a juſt reward of their arrogancy which vaunted of themſelves, that they had the knowledge of all things, that they ſhould be proved fools; and that to their perpetual ſhame and confuſion.

cut in pieces] Chap. 3. 29. Chaldee made pieces.

and your houſes ſhall be made a dunghill] Ezra 6. 11.

V. 6. Rewards] Or, fee, Chap. 5. 17. The word properly ſignifieth a very great reward; ſuch as prodigals, who make no account of their wealth, uſe to give, therefore ſhew me the dream] So again, ver. 9. ſtill preſſing them to this poynt, and that tyrannically.

V. 7. Again] Ver. 4.

V. 8. would gain the time] Chaldee, buy. See Eph. 5. 16. men in danger will give any thing to gain time, for their own advantage, to delay and protract it, in hope to find out ſome occaſion to eſcape, in the mean time. So here, in hope that the King might yet rub up his memory, and better remember his dream, or turning his thoughts ſome other way might as well forget his decree, as his dream; or at leaſt, that in time his anger might aſſwage, and he mitigate, if not revoke, that raſh judgment, and bloudy Decree.

V. 9. one decree for you] That is, my ſentence ſhall ſtand firm, and be brought to effect, Eſt. 4. 11. One Law, once paſt, as Pſal. 89. 35. and never to be revoked; nor ſecond to be made, 1 Sam. 26. 8. had been the more tyrannical cruelty in the King; had not they bragd as much of their magical profeſſion: though their profeſſion in general deſerved death by the Law of God, Lev. 20. 27. Deut. 18. 10, 11.

for ye have prepared lying and corrupt words to ſpeak before me] I know that you, becauſe you cannot tell me my dream, have prepared your ſelves to give me a falſe interpretation; accomodated to the preſent time; and pleaſing in the event.

and I ſhall know] By your telling the Dream that is paſt, I ſhall know your ſkill and ability to tell the Interpretation thereof, though it be in foretelling things to come. And ſurely, if you can know the future, much more ſhould you know that which is paſt.

V. 11. a rare thing] Chald. pretious. For precious things are rare.

whoſe dwelling is not with fleſh] That are pure ſpirits, free from all mixture and infirmity of the fleſh, have no converſation, nor ordinary communication with men, whoſe ſouls lodge in bodies, and are tyed to ſenſes: hence it comes to paſſe, that that Divine light they receive, is very ſmall, and alſo depends wholly on the good pleaſure of God. Thus they acknowledge a Deity, and Gods Omniſcience; and that proper to him: as what Man doth not all this? Though they erre in the point of more gods then one. And thus they make way to Daniels honour, and favour and intereſt in the true God.

V. 12. for this cauſe] The more alſo for their laſt anſwer, ver.10,11.whereby they charged the King with tyranny, requiring of them things never heard of, and ſurpaſſing the reach of all Humane Nature.

very furious] Prov.27.4.& 21.24.& 19.12.& 16.14. & 20.2.This,as it is dangerous in the perſon of a King, ſo it much unbeſeemeth him,Eccl.7.9.Prov.14.17.& 16.32. See Mat. 21.5.Prov.20.28.Eſay 16.5.

V. 13. And the decree went forth] The King pronounced it,and he cauſed it to be proclaimed, a decree written in bloud, Eſay 10.1.

that the wiſe men ſhould be ſlain] Thoſe that were there preſent: or elſe,all the wiſe men were to be ſlain. The King deeming and dooming them as impoſtors; and continuing in his rage, through his deſpair of knowing his dream, and the interpretation of it.

and they ſought Daniel] Abſent belike at that time, or ſleighted,as being novices; and the others old and experienced Magitians; or kept off,by reaſon of their envy toward them, Prov.27.4. This envy threw Daniel afterwards into the den of Lyons. However, this ſhewes that theſe things fell out after the three years of their training up, Chap. 1.5. and that Daniel and his fellowes were not with the reſt before the King, ver. 2. as not affecting to be of that number nor medling with ſuch arts, nor coveting ſuch rewards, and honours, ver.16.

V. 14. anſwered with counſel] Chald. returned: or, reſtored counſel and wiſdome; to wit, why the decree for killing all the Sages ſhould be ſtayed.

to Arioch] Gen.37.36. & 40.3. 2 King.25.8. Haply being a ſtranger, he had not attained to a free acceſſe to the King. But neceſſity drives him to it, ver.16.

captain of the Kings guard] Or, chief Marſhal. Chald. *thief of the executioners,*or ſlaughter-men; as Gen.37.36.

V. 15. ſo haſty?] Why may it not be deferred, if hope may be given of ſatisfying the Kings minde about his Dream?

Then Arioch made] Daniel ſo not hearing of it before. See Annotations on ver.13. Arioch alſo haply made, the motion of Daniels going to the King about it: which Daniel puts in execution in the next verſe.

V. 16. give him time] Not to ſtudy or meditate by diſcourſe of reaſon,or by help of books, or rules of art, nor to deliberate; but to call upon God with fervour and perſeverance: for in God he placed all his hope and help. Neither doth the King deny this ſpace of time to Daniel, upon the hope he had in his promiſe; though he would not uſe delay with the Magicians, who put him in deſpair, ver.8.

V. 17. his houſe] In Babylon, where it ſeems he remained during the times of the Babylonian Monarchs,Chap.1.21. And his houſe likely not far from the Kings palace, if this may ſtand with his ignorance of the Kings Decree, verſ. 15. However, his houſe was the fitteſt place for his purpoſe of Prayer.

known to Hananiah] For their help in prayer; and ſo he acknowledgeth, and ownes them in the buſineſſe, verſ. 23. & 36.

V. 18. Deſire mercies] Prayer to God is the means of deliverance in greateſt dangers.

of the God] Chald. from before God, or, the face of God; as ver.15. from before the face of the King.

that Daniel] Or, that they ſhould not deſtroy Daniel,&c.This was the immediate end which they aymed at.

V. 19. in a night viſion] Whether to him ſleeping,or wakeing, it is uncertain. As alſo the particular manner how it was revealed: and whether the next night after, or ſome other ſhort time; for the Kings haſty wrath would admit no long delay.

bleſſed the God of heaven] Did give thanks, and praiſe to him. God in another ſenſe doth bleſſe us. And we in another ſenſe do bleſſe others, Gen.24.60. Joſh.22.6.

V. 20. Bleſſed be the name of God for ever and ever] Pſal.113.2. & 115.18.

for wiſdome and might are his] Job 12.13,16.Prov.2.6.Jam. 1.5. 1 King.3.9. See ver. 23. of this Chapter. Daniel did ſee this, in that God in Wiſdome did foreſee, and in his might was able to effect this wondrous change of Empires, as this Viſion did foreſhew.

V. 21. and he changeth the times] This ſeemeth to have ſpecial regard to the revolutions of States and Empires, and to the mutations of the affaires of the world; which was the ſubject of the Kings Dream.

he removeth Kings] Job 12.18. Gen.14, he giveth wiſdome] This hath reference to the gift given to Daniel.

V. 22. he revealeth deep and ſecret things] As now to Daniel; and ſo to Joſeph, Gen.37. & Chap.41. Job 12.22.

and the light dwelleth with him] He ſheweth that man hath neither wiſdome nor knowledge, but very dark blindneſſe and ignorance of himſelf: for it cometh only of God, that man underſtandeth any thing: He is Light, and dwelleth in Light, 1 Joh.1.5. 1 Tim.6.16. Pſal.139.12.

V. 23. I thank thee] So Mat.11.25.

O thou God of my fathers] To whom thou madeſt thy promiſe, and who lived in thy fear; whereby he excludeth all other gods; and faſtens his Faith upon Gods free and gracious Covenant,as the ground of this mercy, and his thankſgiving; not pretending to any worth of his own.

Wiſdome and might] Valour and greatneſſe of minde in actions; and Wiſdome in Counſel, and in underſtanding of affaires, and skill to interpret the Dream.

we deſired of thee] That is, he and his Companions, verſ. 17, 18. See the benefit of conjoyned prayers; and the Modeſty of Gods ſervants, who attribute the good things they receive from God, to other mens prayers, as well as to their own.

made known to us] Amos 3.7. Gen.18.17. & 6.13. Pſal.25. 14. Joh.15.15.

V. 24. unto Arioch] Not ſtraight to the King; ſo full was he of modeſty and humility; and ſo free from pride and arrogancy: and haply to ſtop him from preſent execution.

to deſtroy] So 1 King.2.25,29. 1 Sam.22.17,18. Souldiers, and chief Commanders uſed in ſuch caſes.

Deſtroy not the Wiſe men] See the mercy of Gods ſervants; Daniel ſues to ſave the life of the Wiſe men: not that he favoured their wicked profeſſion; but in that he had a reſpect to equity and mercy: becauſe the King proceeded according to his wicked affection and fury; and not conſidering at all, if their Science were lawful or no.

V. 25. Then Arioch,&c.] Doubts nothing of Daniels truth, honeſty, and wiſdome; but haſts to bring Daniel, and this welcome meſſage to the King, the more to ingratiate himſelf into his favour: And herein aſcribes to him more then truth was, as Courtiers uſe to do. For he ſought not Daniel,unleſſe it were to ſlay him, ver.13. nor found him; for Daniel offered himſelf unto him, ver.24.

I have found] Chald. that I have found. It ſeemes then that Daniel was but yet a Novice; as yet of no ſuch Name and Fame,as afterwards. This was his firſt riſing; this being but the ſecond year after his three yeares of Education ended.

Captives of Judah] Chald. Children of the Captivity of Judah.

V. 26. The King anſwered] That is, ſpake. For in the Chaldee, and Hebrew, and Greek alſo, the word tranſlated, anſwered, is very often uſed, when no queſtion before is asked. So Job 3.2. Mat.22.1. & 11.25. & 17.4. Luk.14.3.

art thou able?] Though he found him ten times better then the Aſtrologers, Chap.1.20. yet, either that hath reference to future times; or, in the throng of his mighty affaires, and ſudden trouble of his ſpirit at this Dream, he did not recollect himſelf to think upon Daniel: as neither Belſhazzar did, Chap.5.10,11.

V. 27. the ſecret] Is a Divine Revelation; no Naturall Dream. And therefore not within the power of man, to reveal, or Interpret.

cannot the Wiſe-men] No more then they could read the Writing, Chap. 5.7,8. nor thoſe Magitians in Egypt could do thoſe miracles, Exod.8.18,19. & Chap. 9. & 10. Daniel firſt ſheweth the inſufficiency of the Wiſe men, before he ſheweth Gods power.

V. 28. but there is a God in heaven that revealeth] He ſheweth, that Man by reaſon and art is not able to attain to Gods Secrets; nor Sorcerers by the help of their falſe gods: but the underſtanding onely thereto muſt come of the true God. Whereby he ſmiteth the King with a certain fear and reverence of the onely true God, of his Wiſdome, and Power; to draw him from his falſe gods, that could not help his Sorcerers in this their danger: And that he might be the more apt to receive the high myſteries that ſhould be revealed to him. See Gen.40.8. & 41.16.

maketh known] Chald. hath made known.

in the latter dayes] Or, in the end of dayes; as Gen. 49. 1. Eſay 2.2. Micah 4.1. Act.3.17. that is, in time to come, after thee, even to the Meſſiah; as is declared, ver. 29, 45. See Jer.23.20. Ezek.38.8.

are theſe] Of that ſame argument as thy thoughts were before thy Dream, ver.29,30.

V. 29. Thy thoughts] Daniel from God tells him, not only his Dream; But more alſo, even his waking thoughts before his Dream.

came into] Chald. came up. God ſometimes ſatisfieth the curious deſires of great men for the good of his Church.

V. 30. for any wiſdome that I have] He arrogates nothing to himſelf; But honours the King, in that for his ſake God vouchſafes both the Dream, and Interpretation: to inſinuate the more into the Kings heart, a mind and affection to the true God. So before, ver.29.

but for their ſakes] Meaning for the Jews ſake alſo, and all the Church (which Nebuchadnezzar had then in his Dominions, and power) was granted to Daniel, the revelation both of the Dream, and the Interpretation: or ſimply, for the ſake that it might be made known to the King; for the word their is not in the Original.

the thoughts of thy heart] verſ.29.

V. 31. ſaweſt] Chald. waſt ſeeing; in a Dream, ver.1,2.

So did Alexander the Great with the whole power of Greek States, which made him their King for the Perſian War. Of the largeneſſe of his Empire, we may read Plin. lib.4. cap.10. Juſtin, lib.12. Q. Curtius, l. 10.

V. 40. The fourth Kingdome ſhall be ſtrong as iron] Signified by the fourth beaſt, Chap.7.7,8. So underſtood of the Grecians joyntly. By the two legs, and feet, part of Iron, and part of clay, ver.33. is underſtood by ſome, the Romane Empire; and that before Chriſts ſecond coming, divided into the Weſt and Eaſt Empire; the Latine and Greek Empire, the German and Conſtantinopolitane; whoſe armes are the ſpread Eagle with two heads. Some apply is to the State of the Roman Empire before Chriſts birth. Both meet with ſuch difficulties and impoſſibilities herein, as make them various, inconſiſtent, and unſound in their aſſertions: and the truth is, That the taking in the Romanes here, is an errour hurtful to Daniels book, and to all Chriſtianity, & other Stories, being inconſiſtent with them; and hath no colour of truth from Daniel. But the contrary; as appears, ver. 34, 35. & ver.44,45. See the Annotations; & Chap.11. Some here will go ſo far as to have Antichriſt included. But all that can be true therein is, that what things are ſpoken here, & Chap. 7.7,8. & 11,21,28,30,31,32,36——38. may be by way of analogy or Type referred to Antichriſt. An poſſibly in regard of a like revolution of things happening, St. Paul to the Theſſalonians, and St. John in the Revelation, may allude hereunto. As that of Gog and Magog, Rev.20, 8. doth to that in Ezek.38. & 39. Chapters. We conceive, That in the firſt and proper ſenſe, The Succeſſors of Alexander the Great are here underſtood the Seleucidæ, and Lagidæ, reigning in Syria, and Egypt; who more ſharply oppreſſed the Church then all others; inſomuch, that they have gone about to do violence to the conſcience, Ch.7.7,8. & 8. 8,9,10,24 & 11.4,5,31. And this Kingdom is called of Iron, a baſe metal, but very hard; a metal for war. And indeed this Kingdom was cruel, and tyrannical, and bloody, ſpecially to Gods people, the Jews. See Chap. 11. and the books of Maccabees. The condition of it is further deſcribed to be very variable; ſomewhile powerful, and otherwhile very weak; a quality very agreeable to theſe two Kingdomes of the Seleucidæ, & Lagidæ, Alexanders Succeſſors, in regard of their originals, acts, and events.

The Empire of the Romanes then cannot be underſtood and comprehended in theſe kingdomes. It being not broken to pieces, ſo that no place was found for it, by this ſtone, when it came, but rather begun then, or moſt flouriſhing, and ſtill remaining, in ſome degree, to this day.

and it ſhall ſtand for ever.] This Kingdome of Chriſt, at the beginning ſhould be ſmall, and without beauty to mans judgment, baſer then all thoſe former Metals; and ſhould be ſet up and carried on by poor and baſe means in mans eyes, by the fooliſhneſſe of preaching; but yet ſhould at length grow (by the onely power of God, without force and humane art) to a great Mountain, ver.35. and fill the whole earth, Eſay 49.23. & 60.12. And this Kingdome which is not onely referred to the Perſon of Chriſt, but alſo in its degree, to the whole body of his Church, and to every member thereof, ſhall be eternal: for the Spirit that is in them is life eternal, Rom.8.10. See 1 Cor.12.12. Epheſ.1.23.

without hands] Or, which was not in hand. Things wrought without means do effect wonders: ſo doth Chriſt, brought into the world, by the work and power of God, ſet up his kingdom. For the ſtone is the power of Chriſt, or Chriſt that chief corner ſtone, weak and baſe in mens eyes; but a ſtone of ſtumbling, and rock of offence, able to break in pieces all oppoſites, verſ. 34, 35. Iſai.8.14,15. And Chriſt did not, by any humane art and authority, enter upon his kingdom, and the adminiſtration thereof, but by the ſole will of the Father, and operation of the Spirit.

interpretation thereof ſure] Not feigned, to flatter the king; as this king diſcovered the Magicians would have done, v.9.

V. 46. worſhipped Daniel] The power that the opinion of a Deity, hath in, and over the greateſt Monarch. He being ignorant of the true God, and his worſhip; and deeply ſtruck with an admiration at Daniel, and apprehenſion of ſome divinity in him, Chap.4.8,9. & 5, 11, 14. he was ready, as Idolaters uſe to be, Act. 14.11. & 28. 6. to yield himſelf, and to command others to offer a divine worſhip unto Daniel; a worſhip due indeed, and proper onely to God, though he did not take Daniel to be that true God. But no doubt, Daniel withſtood it, and turned the worſhip unto God; as may be gathered by Daniels piety, Chap.1. verſ. 8. and the Kings anſwer to Daniel, in the next words. So the Angel refuſed to be adored of John, bad him worſhip God, Rev.22. 9. See Act. 10. 25, 26. & 14. 13,14,15. Yet ſome Papiſts, here, are willing enough to juſtifie, both Nebuchadnezzars act, in giving this worſhip to Daniel, and Daniels act in receiving it, (for, ſay they, here is not a word of his refuſing it.) And all, thereby to make the better way for the juſtification of themſelves, in the idolatrous worſhip they give to Saints and Images.

V. 47. the king anſwered unto Daniel] Admoniſhing the King, moſt likely, of his errour, and telling him of the true God, as formerly, verſ.27,28,30,45.

God is a God of gods] A God, above the gods of his Magicians; the onely true God. This confeſſion was but a ſudden motion. And ſo it was alſo in Pharaoh, Exod.9.27,28. But his heart was not throughly touched; as appeared ſoon afterward.

a revealer of ſecrets] Eſay 41. 22, 23. Pſal.139. 2.

V. 48. made Daniel a great man] So Joſeph advanced, Gen. 41. This was about two years before the captivity of Jeconiah: an encouragement for the faithful, to ſubmit to Nebuchadnezzar, and to go willingly to Babylon; their own Nobles being ſo advanced there. Thus was Mordecai advanced, after in the time of the Perſian monarchy, for the ſafety and deliverance of the Jews, Eſth. 8. 2.

great gifts] Not that the Prophet was deſirous of gifts, or honour, Chap.5.17. but becauſe, by this means, he might relieve his poor brethren, which were grievouſly oppreſſed, in this their captivity: and alſo he received them, leſt he ſhould offend this cruel king, which willingly gave them, and would be as good as his promiſe, verſ.6.

chief of the governours] Chap.4.9.

V. 49, Daniel requeſted of the king] He did not this for their private profit, but that the whole Church, which was then there in affliction, might have ſome releaſe and eaſe, by this benefit. And hence we ſee, that men which have the favour of Kings, ſhould prefer good men, whom they know to be ſuch, as Daniel knew theſe to be, to ſuch places, as they cannot attend to execute themſelves.

over the affairs of the Province] His Chambers, and his comings in, and diſpatches: and alſo his affairs abroad in the Provinces.

He ſtirred not from the King, being, as it were, the maſter of his Palace, and the chief Miniſter, and Officer of his Empire; of greateſt power and familiarity with the King.

CHAP. III.

Verſ. 1. Made an Image] This was done, after that, in the former Chapter; as appears, Chap.2.49. and the twelth verſe of this Chapter: and likely, about two years after that Dream, in the former Chapter, about the ſeventh year of Nebuchadnezzars reign, and a litle before Jechoniahs captivity; ſeeing onely the captived with Daniel, are accuſed here, verſ.8.12. Any thing in apocryphal prayer of Azariah, is not of credit to diſcountenance this. Though it puts the Papiſts upon a time, long after. The occaſion of making this Image, is not like to be with any relation, any manner of way, to that Image which he ſaw in his dream, in the former Chapter; though ſome are of this opinion. But rather, it may be, upon the like occaſion, to that in the ſixth Chapter, verſ. 1, &c. upon the envy the Chaldeans had againſt the Jews, for their preferment in the chief offices and honours of the kingdom, to ſeek an advantage thereby to ruine them; though likewiſe, Nebuchadnezzar might the rather be moved, to yield to ſuch a motion made, as ſeeking and feeding, therein, his own ambition, and vain glory, under pretence of religion and holineſſe, in making, that is, in cauſing to be made, ſuch an Image to his idol Bell. Pagan ſtories have many examples of the like Coloſſes, dedicated to idols. This Image, likely, was the Image of a man: yet we can hardly conceive, with ſome, that he made this to be dedicated to himſelf; to be worſhipped thereby, as a God; though the pride of his heart, and the vanity of his minde, was very great; and he much fallen from that, Chap. 2. 47. and not much come ſhort of the King of Tyre, Ezek. 28. 2. And if we conſider what kinds of gods the Heathen had, and worſhipped, as ſuch, even ſuch as had been infamouſly vitious men; as for inſtance, their Jupiter, or chiefeſt god; and what numbers they had of them; Heſiod ſaies, 30000. Tertullian in Apologetico, ſpeaks of 30. whom they called all Jupiters. We may the leſſe marvel, if ſome famous Monarchs, among the Heathen, ſuch as this Nebuchadnezzar, and Alexander the great, might affect ſuch a deity, if not in their life time, yet an ἀποθέωσιν, after their death; and to have ſuch like honour done to them, as were to thoſe conceived Deities. See Eſay 14. 12, 13.

of gold] It is likely it was gold without, and hollow within. A great expence upon this Idol, which might have been beſtowed upon better uſes. But this hath ſtill been the cuſtom of Idolaters, to ſpare no gold, to think nothing too coſtly and deer for their Idols, Hoſ. 2. 8. & 8. 4. Exod. 32. 2, 3. 4, 31. 1 King. 12. 28. ſix cubits] Diameter, that is, through the traverſe of it, or over-croſſe the body, as it is likely. Alſo beſides, there being no proportion of ſix cubits of breadth, and ſixty of height, it is fit to be ſuppoſed, that in, and under the number of ſixty, is comprehended ſome great pedeſtal, upon which the ſtatue ſtood. Of cubits, ſee Annotat. on Ezek. 40. 5.

Dura] Deera; Ptolomy in his ſixth Book of Geography. Set it up in an open champion place, that it might be the better ſeen and worſhipped of all.

V. 2. gather together the Princes] He calleth all ſorts, verſ. 4. But the great men, and officers, onely, are here named, as beſt ſerving, to ſet forth the honour of this Dedication; and by their example, to draw on others to the ſame Idolatrous worſhip. Magnates, are magnetes: as in water, face anſwereth to face, Prov. 27. 19. So, for the moſt part, the mean correſpond with the manners of the mighty. The ſeveral kinds of Officers, here named, are not now, by us, very certainly diſtinguiſhable; as neither the ſeveral kinds of inſtruments, verſ. 5. 7, 10, 15. nor the ſeveral ſorts of attire, Eſay 3. 18.——24. His earneſtneſſe in ſuperſtition, ſhould teach godly Princes, to be forward in ſetting up true religion, and promoting it.

to the dedication] Shewing, that the Idol is not known for an Idol, ſo long as it is with the workman: but when the ceremonies and rites are recited and uſed, and the conſent of the people had, and invocation made, then of a block, or image, they think they have made a god; or an excellent means, or manner for the worſhip of their God. And in this point of their dedication, they might likely take ſome hint, and general notion, from the people of God; among whom, by Gods command, in other caſes, dedications were practiſed; with ſacrifices and muſick, and ſundry ceremonies to that end uſed, divers dayes; as Numb. 7. 1 King. 8. Ezra 3. & 6. Neh. 12. See Deut. 20. 5. Pſal. 30. in the inſcription.

the king had ſet up] This was ſufficient with the wicked, to approve their religion, if the kings authority were alledged for the eſtabliſhment thereof; not conſidering, in the mean ſeaſon, what Gods words did permit.

V. 3. Then the Princes] Some of theſe words following, are rendred as well as our Engliſh words, and offices will bear: and the like is done in the inſtruments of muſick, in the 5, 7, 10, 15. verſes.

ſtood] Wondring at ſuch an Image; and with their minds intent to hear, and obey the kings will, upon the ſound of the muſick, to worſhip the Image.

V. 4. aloud] Chald. with might. Many Herаulds, likely, for ſo great a multitude; and ſeveral Heraulds, for ſeveral languages.

it is commanded] Chald. they command.

V. 5. ye fall down and worſhip] The muſick ſounding, and the people adoring and praying. Here the falling down, would ſoon diſcover who ſtood up, and ſee who refuſed, if any ſuch ſhould be. All this the devill likes to be done to Images and Idols, which God forbids, Exod. 20. 5. either abſolutely, or relatively; mediately, or ultimately to be done to them. And yet the devil tempted our Saviour to have done it himſelf, Mat. 4. 9. But this worſhip, when it is not civil, but religious, the Saints and Angels of God, do onely yield it unto God; as Gen. 22. 5. & 24. 26, 52. Exod. 34. 8. 2 Chro. 20. 18. & 29. 29. Apoc. 4. 10. Pſal. 95. 6. And they refuſed to have it yielded to themſelves, Apoc. 19. 10. & 22. 9. Act. 10. 25, 26. Mat. 4. 10.

V. 6. the ſame hour] The hot and cruel zeal of Idolaters; in and for their Idolatrous worſhip, verſ. 13. Here is no time of reſpite, no delay, verſ. 15.

V. 7. Therefore at that time] There can be nothing ſo wickedly commanded, but multitudes will be ready to obey it. Such is the power of a Kings command; and the dread of puniſhment: and ſo little are multitudes to be followed, in matters of religion. All the people, nations and languages, that were here gathered, (for all individuals could not be) did fall down, and worſhip this golden image.

V. 8. Wherefore at that time] They greedily took this occaſion, which was the thing they ſought for; to accuſe the Jews: Or, as the Chaldee hath it, They did eat accuſations; They did it inſtantly; having their eyes upon their poſture, more then upon the Image, knowing, before that theſe men deteſted their Chaldean gods. Therefore as ſoon as ever the heat of the adoration, and dedication was over, they delay no time, but preſently accuſe them.

V. 9. O King, live for ever] Chap. 2. 4.

V. 10. Thou, O King] Verſ. 4, 5, 6.

V. 12. certain Jews] See Annotat. on verſ. 1.

Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego] It ſeemed that they named not Daniel, becauſe he was great in the Kings favour; or, upon ſome juſt occaſion, of ſickneſſe, or publike affairs, was abſent; if he did not purpoſly abſent himſelf; thinking, that if theſe three had been deſtroyed, they might have had the better occaſion to accuſe Daniel after. And this declareth, that the policy, in erecting this image, was invented by the malicious flatterers; which ſought nothing, but the deſtruction of the Jews, whom they accuſed of rebellion and ingratitude.

commanded to bring] It ſeems they were there, in obedience to the firſt part of that command, verſ. 2. which clearly included them; though they would not worſhip; ready there, to ſhew, and avow their deteſtation of that idolatry; and to anſwer any thing, in that caſe, might be laid againſt them. Or elſe, ſurely they were not far off: for this Dedication, likely, laſted certain dayes.

V. 14. true] Or, of purpoſe; as Exod. 21. 13. He wonders, and ſcorns they ſhould take upon them, to be wiſer in the true religion, then he: Yet for all his rage, he condemns them not upon hear-ſay; but brings them to anſwer for themſelves, Act. 25. 16.

V. 15. Now if ye be ready] Signifying, that he would willingly have them to be a good example, of obedience to others; and that he would receive them to grace, if they would now, this day, or the next day of the Dedication, at the ſound of the muſick, (though rather his heat, and the rigour of the decree, verſ. 6. promiſe no ſuch favour, to put it off to another day) obey his decree. The imperfect ſpeech, argueth his heat. V. 16. not careful] The matter is ſuch, as needs no time of deliberation, nor anſwer at all; at leaſt in words, but rather in deeds of conſtancy and courage,on our part, 2 Macc. 7.2. And God, for his part, will anſwer for himſelf, he is able enough to clear his power, againſt thy proud boaſt and threat. They ſhould have done injury to God,if they ſhould have doubted in his holy cauſe; and therefore they ſay,they fear not the danger,or death threatned; they are reſolved to dye for Gods cauſe; and when men have God on their ſide, they are not troubled to anſwer before great men. See Matth. 10. 19. Mar. 13. 11. Luk. 12. 11. Act. 4. 19. Rom. 8. 37.

V. 17. is able] They ground on two points; firſt, on the power and providence of God over them, againſt his proud brag, verſ. 15. and ſecondly, on their cauſe, which was Gods glory,and the teſtifying of his true religion,with their bloud; and ſo make open confeſſion, that they will not ſo much as outwardly conſent to idolatry.

and he will] Pſal. 27. 1. & 118. 6. Micah 7. 7. This was their truſt,either upon ſpecial inſtinct, or upon the many examples of Gods like dealing with many of his ſervants, in like caſes, whereof the Scripture is full.

V. 18. But if not] That is, will not. They do not ſay, He cannot, Matth. 8. 2. God might ſee it beſt for them to ſuffer. And however, though Gods judgments may be ſometimes ſecret,they are always juſt. And therefore they are reſolved,without all care, or cunctation,notwithſtanding any danger, not to obey his idolatrous will.

we will not ſerve thy Gods] Thus the ſervants of God, will run through any danger, rather then ſin againſt God, Hebr. 12.4. Singular faith,and fortitude,piety and conſtancy.

V. 19. full] Chald. filled.

form of his viſage changed] Paſſions of the mind, ſoon appear in the face, Gen. 4. 5. & 31. 2, 5. Dan. 5. 9. Joel 2. 6. Ezek. 27.35. Eſay 13.8. Neh. 2. 2. Neither the majeſty of his place and perſon, nor the preſence of all his Peers, nor the celebrity of that ſolemnity, could any way moderate his furious paſſion.

ſeven times] Chald. once ſeven times. It may be exactly ſo much: Or, a certain number put for an uncertain, to ſignifie very much more then afore; as Eſay 4. 1. Prov. 24. 16. Pſal. 12.6. The apocryphal addition, at the end of Azariah's prayer,relates, that the flame ſtreamed forth,above the Furnace, 49. cubits. Indeed, this would the ſooner have diſpatched them, and ſhortned their pain; but the mad King (ira furor brevis eſt) heeded not that: And the wiſe God, made it ſerve,to make the miracle the more marvellous. Idolaters are cruel,when they are croſſed: and the more the tyrants rage, and the more witty they ſhew themſelves, in inventing ſtrange, and cruel puniſhments, the more is God glorified by his ſervants, to whom he giveth patience and conſtancy, to abide the cruelty of their puniſhment, and to ſleight them and it; knowing, that either he delivereth them from death,or elſe, for this life giveth them a better.

wont] It ſeems, this was a uſual kind of capital puniſhment,among the Chaldeans, Jer.29.22.

V. 26. moſt mighty] Chald. mighty of ſtrength.

in his army] Or, guard, then attending him. See Annotations on Chap.2.14.

V. 21. in their coats] Chald. mantles. Some tranſlate them Breeches; but theſe were not much in uſe with the Jews. Thoſe they had on them,of what kind,and how good or precious ſoever,for haſt, verſ. 22. Whereas others,likely, in caſe of like puniſhment, were caſt in naked. And Gods providence made uſe of this, to the increaſe of the miracle, verſ. 27.

hats] Chald. Vrbant. The word is neereſt to the Greek word, πέτασον.

V. 22. the flame] Chald. ſpark. Catched hold of them, and burnt them.

ſlew thoſe men] The fire wanted not its power of burning, but obeyed its Creator,in ſlaying theſe, and not hurting the other. It is not good to be inſtruments of great mens cruelties; for ſuch ſometimes fear worſe, then either principal authors,or ſufferers. We cannot ſay, that theſe men were the perſwaders of Nebuchadnezzar, to this burning rage and cruelty.

V. 23. fell down bound] But ſtraight were looſed, and walked in the midſt of the fire, verſ. 25. The bonds burnt; and no ſmell of fire on them,or their clothes, verſ. 27.

V. 24. aſtoniſhed] As he had cauſe: and it touched him moſt, who had caſt them in.

roſe up] From his Chair of majeſty,and throne of inſtallation,or inauguration; to go to the furnace.

in haſte] Aſſoon as the miracle was diſcerned; which was preſently. And therefore not the next day after. Thus God can make a ſudden change in the greateſt Monarch. So Chap. 5. verſ. 6.

Counſellers] Or, Governours: Not unlikely their Accuſers.

three men] And no more: and thoſe bound too.

V. 25. Lo, I ſee] He was hard by the furnace to ſee the execution: or now come to it, to ſee the miracle. And ſaw now four, and them looſe, and walking, and not touched with the fire.

walking] The furnace was great. That long prayer of Azariah; and long ſong of them all three in the midſt of the fire and furnace, are Apocryphal Additions, made Canonical by the Trent Synod of the Romane Church.

they have no hurt] Chald. there is no hurt in them, Pſal. 29. 7. & 66.12. Eſay 43.2. Here the fire ſaid, It is enough, Prov. 30.15. To aſcribe this to their Virginity, or faſting, is without warrant. The Holy Ghoſt aſcribes it to their Faith, Heb. 11. 34.

and the form of the fourth is like the ſon of God] Or, like a ſon of the gods; or like ſome young God; moſt bright, beautiful, and Divine. Such were the Heatheniſh Opinions. But the doubtful words in the Heathen Kings ſpeech, have been well taken of the ancient, as they beſt might mean: And ſo ſome underſtand him hereby to mean an Angel; and ſo he calls him expreſly an Angel of God, ver. 28. And the angels do bear a form and likeneſſe of God, and are called in Scripture the Sons of God, Job 1.6. & 2.1. & 38.7. and are Gods Miniſters and Meſſengers, as the word doth ſignifie; ſent by him to do his Will, and deliver his ſervants; as Act. 12.7——12. And all this might Nebuchadnezzar hear or learn of Daniel. But whatever Nebuchadnezzar did, we yet may underſtand this fourth to be, as the words do literally bear, the very true Son of God, our Saviour Chriſt; who is with his ſervants in their extremities.

V. 26. mouth] Chald. door. So neer as he might with ſafety; the fire being now not ſo raging.

the ſervants of the moſt high God] Thus, God convicts the conſcience, and doth ſometimes miraculouſly force great men to honour him, and his ſervants.

come forth] He ſpeaks now, no doubt, ſubmiſſively; who before ſpake ſo proudly, ver. 15. This change was made by the right hand of the moſt High. And here is their obedience unto God; they would not for any fear depart out of this furnace, till the time appointed; as Noah remained in the ark, till the Lord called him forth.

V. 27. Nor was an hair——nor the ſmell of fire] The leaſt hurt cannot come to thoſe whom God will preſerve, Iſa. 43. 2. Mat. 10.30. Act. 27.34. 1 Sam. 14.45.

V. 28. Bleſſed be the God of Shadrach] He was moved by the greatneſſe of the miracle to praiſe God; but his heart was not yet throughly touched. We ſee that miracles are not ſufficient to convert men to God, Deut. 29. 3, 4. but that doctrine,and the ſaving grace and power of God,muſt be adjoyned, without the which there can be no Faith, and true converſion. Yet thus for a while again his heart was brought to repent and relent.

who hath ſent his Angel] Nebuchadnezzar, no Sadducee, Act. 23.8. And likely told thus much now by the three Confeſſors or Martyrs, upon queſtions and demands by him made unto them.

that truſted in him] Faith quencheth the violence of fire, Heb. 11:34.

and have changed the Kings word] That word, ver. 15. doing contrary to it, and thereby have now changed the Kings mind, in all this buſineſſe.

and yeilded their bodies] Matth. 10.39. Joh. 12. 25. Luk. 14. 26.

except their own God] Mat. 4.10. Exod. 20.3. Likely, hereupon other Jews were not queſtioned for non-adoration, after this miracle ſhewn, if the Dedication did hold more dayes after this. Though moſt of them were too prone to Idolatry, Jer. 16.13.

V. 29. I make a Decree] Chald. a Decree is made by me. Spoken now; regiſtred after. A better Decree then his other Decrees, Chap. 2.9, 13. & 3.10. And much more is it lawful, and the duty of Chriſtian Kings, to make Decrees for God, and his worſhip, and againſt ſin and Idolatry.

ſpeak any thing amiſſe] If this Heathen King, moved by Gods Spirit, would not ſuffer reproachful ſpeeches againſt God unpuniſhed, but made a Law, and ſet a penalty for ſuch tranſgreſſors; much more ought all they in authority, that profeſſe Religion, to take order that ſuch impiety reign not; leſt according as their knowledge and Charge is greater, ſo they ſuffer double puniſhment.

any thing amiſſe] Chald. errour. And yet for all this, wicked Jehojakim at this time would not ceaſe to deal amiſſe in Judah; untill he was buried as an aſſe, and had his carkaſſe made as dung, being caſt away unburied, Jer. 22. 26. and 36.30.

cut in pieces] Chald. made pieces, Chap.2.5. See Annotations upon it.

no other god that can] Not Bell himſelf, nor Jupiter Belus.

V. 30. promoted] Chald. made to proſper. He had done ſo before, Chap.2.49. Now he promoted them more, made them to proſper; or at leaſt reſtored them to their honours: and forbad all any more to wrong them.

CHAP. IV.

Verſ. 1. N*Ebuchadnezzar the King*] This Chapter containes Nebuchadnezzars Proclamation, or Letter, and the Hiſtorical Narration of the Occaſion of it. And all in ſuch a ſtyle, as may ſeem to be penned by Nebuchadnezzar himſelf, or at leaſt in his Name; and inſerted by Daniel in his book, as is the mournful Song or Writing of Hezekiah, by Eſay, in Chap.38. and the Edict of Cyrus, and the Letters to Artaxerxes, and from Artaxerxes; and likewiſe to Darius, and from Darius, are by Ezra, in his book, 1,4,5,6. Chapters; as alſo the copy of the Letter of that other Artaxerxes to Ezra, Chap.7. But ſuch as would have this to be a Parable rather then a true Hiſtory, are no wayes to be endured.

In all the earth] Meaning as far as his Dominion extended.

peace be multiplyed] Heathens ſending out Proclamations to their people, begin with wiſhing happineſſe to them. So Dan.25.6,26. therefore they have need to ſee, that nothing be commanded but for their happineſſe. The like forme of ſalutation is uſed by the Apoſtle, 1 Pet.1.2. & 2 Pet.1.2. and by Jude, verſ. 2.

V. 2. To ſhew the ſignes] That God which can make the mouthes of Children to ſpeak to his praiſe, Pſal. 8. 2. can make Heathens trumpeters of his glory.

V. 3. an everlaſting Kingdome] Chald. a Kingdome of eternity. Laſting beyond all time, Chap.2.44. See the Annotations there.

from generation to generation] Chald. with generation and generation: or, with one generation as well as with another: or, to all generations.

V. 4. I Nebuchadnezzar] He had not conquered Egypt, untill after the 27 of Jeconias, or his own 34. Ezek.30.1. wherefore this Viſion ſhould be about his 36. year: (and ſo about 28. or 29. years after that hiſtory in the former Chapter; and 30 or 31 years after the Dream of the Image, chap. 2. and falls out to be in the year of the world 3433. or thereabouts.) And this proclamation was about a year or two before his death, his reign continuing 45 years. For his madneſſe begun 12 moneths after this Viſion, ver.29. And that continued ſeven years. At the end whereof he was reſtored to his Wits, and to his Kingdome; and then made this proclamation, and ſo reigned one or two years after.

was at reſt in mine houſe] From all enemies, and fear of ſuch as he had ſubdued; ſo that there was no trouble that might cauſe me to dream. And therefore it came onely of God; who con trouble men in the height of their proſperity, Pſal. 30. 6.

in my palace] In Babylon, ver.29,30. Chap.1.4.

V. 5. a dream] This was another Dream beſides that which he ſaw of the four Empires; for Daniel both declared what that Dream was; and what it meant: And here he onely expoundeth the Dream.

Viſions] More then one were in this one Dream.

of my heads] In the head is the faculty of imagination: There are the animal and natural ſpirits, which carry in the formes and ſimilitudes of things to the common ſenſe and phantaſie; and raiſe up thoughts and cogitations.

troubled me] Chap.2.1. Job 7.13,14. Both the Dream, and his after thoughts upon it diſquieted him.

V. 6. all the wiſe-men] The greateſt Princes have ſometimes need of others to declare unto them, what themſelves know not.

V. 7. Magitians] Chap.2.2,27.

they did not make known] It was beyond their power, 1 Cor. 2.11. Gen.40.8. and 41.16,39. 1 Cor.1.19. In that he ſent abroad to others, whoſe ignorance in times paſt he had experimented, and left Daniel which was ever ready at hand; either he did it to try them, and their skill of Interpretation, whereof they vaunted, though falſly, when the dream ſhould be told them, Chap.2.4,7. or elſe it declareth the Nature of the ungodly, which never ſeek to the ſervants of God, but for very Neceſſity; and then they ſpare no flatterings.

V. 8. at the laſt] This word Acharen, in the Trent Bible is tranſlated Colleague; ſo ſignifying, that Daniel was as a fellow Companion to Nebuchadnezzar. But differing ſo, through a miſtake of the word, from all other Tranſlations.

Belteſhazzar] See the Note of Chap.1.7.

of my God] This no doubt was a grief to Daniel, not onely to have his name changed, but to be called by the Name of a vile Idol; which thing Nebuchadnezzar did, to make him to forget the Religion of God. And this place argueth, that the King forſook not his Idolatry.

and in whom is the Spirit of the holy Gods] He an heathen ſtill, and ſo ſpeaks, holding a multitude of Gods; and ſome of them holy and good, others evill and bad, which they worſhipped, that they might not hurt them; and that Daniel was inſpired, taught, and guided by the Spirit of the holy Gods, and had it in him, and thereby divined: not much unlike that damoſel, Act.16.16,19. And this further appears, by the title he gives him, ver.9.

V. 9. Maſter of the Magitians] Chap.2.48. & 5.11. which ſhewes that Heatheniſh conceipt which Nebuchadnezzar ſtill had of Daniel, which alſo was a grief to the Prophet, to be numbered among the Sorcerers, and men whoſe practices were wicked, and contrary to Gods Word.

Spirit of the holy Gods] He ſpeaks as an Heathen ſtill; in an Heatheniſh ſenſe. The Scriptures uſe alſo the name of Gods; but underſtand thereby, either falſe gods, Pſal. 96.5, 6, or elſe the Angels in heaven, Pſal.97.7. Heb.1.6. or Magiſtrates on earth, Pſal. 82. 1,6. See 1 Cor. 8. 5, 6. Pſal. 86.8.

tell me the viſions] That is, what the viſions mean, as it followeth in the text, the latter word expounding the former; for in the verſe next before, Nebuchadnezzar telleth the dream to Daniel.

V. 10. a tree] Man often in Scripture is likened to a tree, and ſeveral kinds of men to ſeveral kinds of trees, Mat.3.10. & 12.33. Jude 12. Pſal.1.3. & 49.20. 2 King.14.9. Ezek.17. 24. & 31.3. Here by the tree is ſignified further the dignity of a King, whom God ordains to be a defence for all kind of men, and whoſe ſtate is profitable for mankind.

in the midſt of the earth] Indeed Babylon was much about the midſt of the earth.

V. 12. the beaſts of the field] Ezek.31.6. applyed to the Aſſyrian. The right and true uſe of Monarchy and Magiſtracy is hereby hieroglyphically and excellently deciphered.

V. 13. a watcher] Meaning the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor ſleepeth; but as one full of eyes, as in that viſion, Ezek.Chap.1.18. & 10.12. is ever watchful and ready to ſee, and do Gods Will; as the Eccho ſtill readily anſwers the voice: and is not infected with mans corruption, but is ever holy: And in that, that he commandeth to cut down the tree; he know that it ſhould be cut down, though not by man, yet by God, ver.31.

an holy one] Chap.8.13. How Heatheniſh Nebuchadnezzar ſhould come to this apprehenſion and knowledge of this perſon we know not; unleſs he might gather it out of thoſe words in the viſion, ver.17.

cryed alone] Chap.3.4.

V. 14. Hew down the tree] See the change of humane felicity. And when God calleth great men to account for their ſins, he maketh through work with them, leaving neither fruit, nor leaf, nor branch, Ezek.17.9. Job 18.16. Eſay 9. 14. Thus God drowned Pharaoh, who had cauſed the male children of Iſrael to be drowned. Gods thunderbolt breaketh and burneth the ſtrongeſt Oakes and higheſt Buildings.

from under it] That is, from abiding there.

V. 15. the ſtump of his roots] When God dealeth heavily with great ſinners, yet there is ſome mercy, he leaveth a ſtump in the ground.

Let it be wet with the dew of heaven] That is, him that is ſignified by this ſtump. Lying without, abroad, night and day, Cant.5.2. Babylon is an hot country, and the Winter there, but little cold.

V. 16. Let his heart be changed] His heart; not his manly ſhape and figure. Hereby he meaneth, that Nebuchadnezzar ſhould not onely, for a time, looſe his kingdom, but be like a Beaſt; ſhould think himſelf to be, not a Man, but a Beaſt; and ſo live, and lye, and feed as a Beaſt, verſ.25, 32, 38. God can make a mans heart, as ſtupid as a beaſts: So wiſe a man, a mad man, verſ. 34, 36. He, who in his heart, would have been a God, now, in his own heart, to be a beaſt.

Let ſeven times paſſe over him] In that miſerable eſtate and condition. See verſ. 23, 25,32, Theſe times were years: as in another caſe, the interpretation is made in the Text it ſelf, Chap.11.13. And theſe years, ſuch as our years; for ſuch are the years, in Scripture accoumpt; as may diſtinctly be gathered out of the hiſtory of the Flood, Gen.7, 8, 9. Chapter. We may not then conceit, here, other kinds of years, as ſome do; nor conceive a number certain, to be put here for an uncertain. He then that deſtroyed Solomons Temple, that ſeven years work of ſo many thouſands, ſhould be, exactly, ſo many years beſides himſelf. The remarkable, memorable judgment of God, upon ſo mighty an enemy, and deſtroyer of his People, City, and Sanctuary.

V. 17. this matter] God hath decreed this judgment, and the whole Army of Heaven, have, as it were, ſubſcribed unto it; like as alſo, they deſire the execution of his decree, againſt all them that lift up themſelves againſt God.

the watchers] That is, of God, verſ. 24. God the Father, Son, and Holy Ghoſt; environed with his Angels; deſcribed in Scripture, as thoſe that ſit in counſel with God, 1 King. 22.19,20. Job 1. 6.

and the demand by the word of the Holy ones] Or, according to the word of the Holy ones, is this Petition. Intimating, that in the conſultation, as it were, about the puniſhing of the pride of Nebuchadnezzar, the holy Angels petitioned for this very thing; as well as the Holy ones, and Saints on earth, petitioned againſt him.

the living may know] Even by Nebuchadnezzars own publiſhing, and proclaiming of it, verſ. 2,35,37. God bringeth down the kingdoms of men, to make his own known, Luk. 1.52. 1 Sam. 2.6,7,8. Pſal. 75. ver. 6,7.

V. 18. declare] And that ſpeedily: His guilty conſcience, and this kind of dream, made him ſuſpect the worſt; and he would fain be out of pain.

the ſpirit of the holy Gods] He ſpeaks ſtill as an Heathen man. See verſ. 9. And he ſpake now upon former experience had.

V. 19. was aſtonied] Both in regard of the ſad interpretation; and alſo, becauſe it lay on his part, to expound it to the King, who had ſo much honoured him; and whoſe peace was profitable, both to Daniel, and the people of the Jews; for which they were commanded to pray, Jer. 29.7. So the Prophets uſed, on the one part, to denounce Gods judgments, for the zeal they bare to his glory; and on the other part, to have compaſſion upon man; and alſo to conſider, that they ſhould be ſubject to Gods judgments, if they did not regard them with pitty.

for one hour] A long time; it being in the kings preſence. In which time, no doubt, as he firſt prayed to God, for the right interpretation of the dream; ſo underſtanding it, he was after troubled at the ſad meaning of it, both for the kings ſake, and alſo how he might beſt come off fairly, in telling and expounding of it.

The King ſpake] The King, likely, perceived Daniel was not troubled for want of knowledg of the interpretation; but becauſe of ſomewhat that was to befall the king; as, in all likelihood, he could expect no good from ſuch a dream and viſion: as neither Belſhazzar from that, Chap. 5. 5, 6.

my Lord] When Gods meſſengers are to deal with great men, they muſt do it wiſely; as Daniel did here with the King; and ſo did Nathan with David, by a parable, bringing his fault to his mind, 2 Sam. 12. And ſurely greater wiſdom and skill, could not be uſed, then Daniel here ſheweth, to decline the kings offence, and to qualifie the bitterneſſe of the interpretation.

to them that hate thee] That is, Would to God the ſenſe of this dream, might be directed againſt thine enemies, rather then againſt thee: a kinde of proteſtation, to ſhew, that in the interpretation thereof, he was not prepoſſeſſed with any hatred, or paſſion againſt the king; but continued, full of dutiful love and affection towards him.

V. 20. The tree, &c.] Verſ. 10,11,12.

V. 22. It is thou] That is, This great Empire which thou poſſeſſeſt, is meant, which was ſignified by the tree, as above, Chap. 2. 38.

V. 23. Hew the tree down] Verſ. 14. The whole tree; not ſome branches. He loſt his whole Empire, for the time. The ſpeech ſeems to be directed to the Chaldeans.

with a band of iron] It may be, that Nebuchadnezzar himſelf, at the beginning of his madneſſe, was tyed in bonds, and after ſuffered to run looſe abroad; and the rather, by reaſon of this Dream and Interpretation, famouſly known amongſt the Chaldeans. However, that ſpeech againſt the Aſſyrian, Eſay 37. 29. is, doubtleſſe, metaphorical.

till ſeven times paſs over him] See above, verſ. 16.

V. 25. Drive thee from men] Chap. 5. 19, 20, 21. Becauſe, for his madneſſe, he was odious to them, or in his madneſſe, might many wayes hurt them. Or rather, taking it impersonally, For thou ſhalt be driven, as in the Chaldee and Hebrew phraſe, is uſual, we may ſo underſtand it of his own madneſſe, that that ſhould drive him from the company of men, to the company of beaſts: As having the heart of a beaſt, thinking himſelf to be a beaſt; and ſo coveting, as beaſts do, rather to be in the company of beaſts then of men.

Oxen] Not that his ſhape, or form was changed into a beaſt, but that he was ſtricken mad, and ſo avoyded mans company, and ſo wandred among the beaſts, and did eat herbs and graſſe; as thinking that food, though not ſo pleaſing or nouriſhing, did yet properly belong unto him. See Job 6. verſ. 7.

the moſt high] Daniel ſheweth the end, why God thus puniſhed him; which proved true in him, verſ. 34, 35,36,37.

to whom ſoever] Jer. 27.5. & 18.4.

V. 26. after that thou] After thou ſhalt be tamed, or humbled by this horrible accident, thou ſhalt then recover thy underſtanding, having quitted thy ambition which poſſeſſed thee; and being reveſted with humility towards God, by whoſe onely favour thou doſt reign; thou ſhalt then alſo ſurely reign again; as he did at the making of this Proclamation, and a year or two after.

the Heavens do rule] That is, God, which dwelleth, and reigneth in glory in the Heavens; as Matth. 21. 25. Luk. 15. 21.

V. 27. Let my counſel, &c.] Great men have need of counſels, Prov. 11. 14. & 12.15. & 15.22. & Cap. 19. verſ. 20. & 24.6. & 27.9. 1 King. 12. Thus Exod. 18. verſ. 19. And hence, likely, the Romans chief Magiſtrates were called, Conſuls.

break off thy ſins] Of tyranny, pride, &c. Chap. 5. 19, 20. of oppreſſing Gods people; ceaſe from provoking God any longer to anger, by thy ſins, that he may mitigate his puniſhment, if thou ſhew, by thine upright life, that thou haſt true Faith and Repentance: for Gods greateſt judgments have an end, when they bring forth ſuch good fruits, Eſay 26. 9. 16.

by ſhewing mercy to the poor] Luk. 11.41. Eſay 58. 7.—12. Ezek. 18. 7. Act. 10. 2,4,31. This would have been a good fruit, and ſign of his Repentance, if he had ſhewed mercy to the poor, ſpecially to the poor afflicted Jews, now in captivity under him: He had done otherwiſe, Chap. 5.19. But now he ſhould thus ſeek to redeem, as Epheſ. 5. 16. and take off this puniſhment of his iniquities, get mercy from God, by ſhewing mercy to the poor.

if it may be] The like phraſe, Exod. 32.30. & Joſh. 14. 12. & 1 Sam. 14. 6. Intimating ſome hope; yet leaving it doubtful, what might be Gods will, 2 Sam. 12. 14. and what would be the Kings repentance.

a lengthening of thy tranquility] Or, an healing of thine error. Others read, It ſhall be a lengthening of thy peace and proſperity: and indeed there was ſome lengthening, to wit, for a year, at leaſt, as may appear by the 29. verſe. The like example of lengthening, is of Ahab, 1 King. 21. 29. And not much unlike is that of Ezekiah, Eſay 38. 5. and of the Ninevites, Jonah 3. 10. See Jer. 18. 8. But the ſmall repentance of this King appears, verſ. 30.

V. 29. twelve moneths] After that Daniel had declared this viſion; ſo patient is God, Rom. 2.4. And haply by that time, the King, continuing ſtill in his glorious felicity, grew to that opinion, that the Interpretation of the Dream and viſion was falſe. However, his pride ſo continuing, declareth, that it is not in man to convert to God, except his Spirit move him; ſeeing that theſe terrible threatnings could not move him truly to repent, Chap. 5. 20.

in the palace] Or, upon the roof being flat; as uſually: whence he had the view of the city; which haply puft up his ſpirit, and recal'd his former thoughts.

V. 30. Is not this great Babylon] Of the greatneſſe of it, ſee Herodotus, book 1. Pliny, book 6. yet Nineve once ſurpaſſed it, Jonah 1.2. & 3.3. And yet Fez, Grand Cairo, and Conſtantinople, ſeem not to come far ſhort of them at this day. Of his Luciferian pride, ſee Eſay his Prophecy, chap. 14. 12, 13.

CHAP. V.

Verſ. 1. BElſhazzar the King] Daniel reciteth this hiſtory of Belſhazzar, Evil-Merodachs ſon, (the time of whoſe reign is here paſſed over; as alſo the ſhort reigns of Nerigliſſorus, and his young ſon Laboroſarchodus, being Intruders, to ſhew Gods Judgments againſt the wicked, for the deliverance of his Church: And how the Prophecy of Jeremy was true, that they ſhould ſerve Nebuchadnezzar and his ſon, Evilmerodach, and his ſons ſon, this Belſhazzar, Jer.27.7. And that they ſhould be delivered after ſeventy years, Jer.25.11,12. This Belſhazzar ſeemeth to be called Merodac, Jer.50.2. which was a name common, as to their Idol Bel, ſo to many of their Kings. See Eſay 39. 1. and ſignifies in Chaldee, a Scepter-bearer. This Hiſtory we ſee fell out in the very end of his reign, and of the Babyloniſh Empire. How many years this King reigned, Hiſtorians do very much vary among themſelves. Some ſay three; ſome, five; ſome, ſeventeen.

a great feaſt] The Chaldee word is very like that which ſignifieth bread. This Feaſt ſeems to be in the evening; or at leaſt continued till far in the night, ver.5,30. And ſuppers uſually were the moſt common times for Feaſts, Luk. 14. 16. Mar.6.21. Joh.12.2. Alluding to this, Jeremy calls him the King Sheſchak, Jer.25.26. that is, the King keeping a feaſt; pointing it ſeems hereby, at this feaſt, and at the very day of his fall, and Babels fall in it. See Jer.57.39,41,57. Eſay 21. 5. This unſeaſonable Feaſt he made, when Cyrus ſtraitly beſieged the city, either to ſhew his own confidence and ſecurity, and his ſlighting of the enemy; or becauſe of the good ſervice theſe thouſand Lords had done him in the ſiege; or rather, for that it was ſome Anniverſary Feaſt, either for his own birth, as Gen.40.20. Mar.6.21. or for ſome ancient and publick cauſe, religious or Civil, of Cuſtome ſolemnly celebrated by the Babylonians. For Heathen Hiſtories record, that Cyrus knew of this Feaſt, and took the opportunity of it, to enter and conquer the City. And this being in the laſt day of his reign, it appeares, that the ſeventh and eighth Chapters following, go in time before this.

before the thouſand] The Kings of the Eaſt parts, then uſed to ſit alone commonly, and diſdained that any ſhould ſit in their Company. Here the more to ſhew his condeſcenſion of love and familiarity, he ſate likely at a Table by himſelf, but in the ſame Hall with and before the thouſand Princes and Lords, and his Wives and Concubines. So Joſeph did, Gen.43.32. Here the Latine Trent Bible inſtead of theſe words, and drank wine before the thouſand, have theſe, and every one did drink according to his age: expounding it by that, Eſth.1.8. But this is otherwiſe in the Chaldee, and in all Tranſlations Old and New.

V. 2. he taſted the wine] Like the taſte, took pleaſure in it, and diſpoſing himſelf to drink largely: or, when he had well drunk, was heated with wine, and began to be merry, Eſth.1.10. Great men in their jollity do often that which offends God, and grieveth good men. And ſpecially in their drink: for when the wine is in, the wit is out, Hoſ.4.11. & 7. 5. See Gen.19.32. Eſay 28.7. And are often moſt diſſolute and negligent, when their deſtruction is at hand.

V. 3. and his Princes] It is eaſie for great men to have partners in ſins, and in them ſacrilegious abuſe of ſacred things.

V. 4. and praiſed the gods of gold] This was uſual in the feaſts of the Heathens: attributing to them their victories over Gods people, and the ſpoils of Gods houſe: feaſting in honour of them, in contempt of the true God, praiſing their idols, and that above the God of the Jews. 2 Chr. 32.13,14. Eſay 10. 11. Not that they thought the gold or ſilver were gods, but that there was a certain vertue and power in their images of their gods to do them good; which is alſo the opinion of all idolaters, ver.23.

In the light of his countenance formerly was life, Prov.16.15. now trouble; as Ezek.27.35. it was caſt down, as Cains, Gen.4. 5. ſad, as Nehemiah's; it gathered blackneſſe; as Joel 2.6. not much unlike that change of the Nazarites, Lam. 4. 7, 8. even dread and death was in it. Another-gates change was that of our Saviours, Luk.9.29. Mat.17.2. Here we ſee the ſuddain change of worldly joy, Hoſ.2.11. Amos 8.10. Prov. 14.13.

third Ruler in the Kingdome] Next to me, and the Queen my Mother, likely, or his ſon, if he had any, ver.29.

V. 8. they could not read the writing] It may be probable that the Letters were written without diſtinction, or ſpace between the words, ſo that they knew not how to put them together, or frame them to make any ſenſe of them. Others ſay, the Chaldeans knew not God to be one, and to rule mens affaires; neither knew they their own impiety; but ſaid in their heart, there is no God: wherefore though they could have read it, yet they knew not who ſhould be weighed, ſpecially in the ballance; and touching the Medes and Perſians: now their beſiegers, they little thought that they ſhould ſurprize the ſtrong Babel; and bragged, how they were victualled, for 20 years ſiege, as Xenophon recordeth. But the text ſaith more, they could not ſo much as read it: the writing then, either being in the Initial letter onely; as מכבי, i. e. Michemocha baelohim Jehovah, the Maccabees Enſign, and the words of Exod.15.11. As alſo S. P. Q. R. for Senatus Populuſq; Romanus: and as we uſe to write J. N. R. J. for Jeſus Nazarenus Rex Judaeorum: or being in an unknown hand; neither Chaldee, nor Hebrew letter; for little doubt but theſe Wiſe men knew both languages and letters, 2 King.18.28. or elſe rather, God in his Judgment blinding them all as to that point of Reading it ſelf; as Gen. 19.11. 2 King.6.10. that their eyes were holden, as the two Diſciples were, going to Emmaus, Luk.24.16. And this for the greater honour of Daniel, and Gods in him. For as for the ſhort way of writing by Characters now, or obſcure way by Hieroglyphicks of old, or ſundry ſecret wayes by compact betwixt man and man, they are not imaginable to be conſiſtent with the words of the Text.

V. 9. troubled] The ſecond time; being fruſtrated of his hope he had in his wiſe men, and of any comfort by them. His conſternation increaſeth; he goes on, as formerly in ſin, from evil to worſe, ſo now in fright more and more; and his Lords the more at his terrors.

and his Lords were aſtonied] Thoſe ver.1. So with Herod, all Jeruſalem was troubled, Mat. 2. 3. And they had juſt cauſe, both for the wonder of the thing, and the ſlaughter among them that followed that night. But none of theſe Lords gain-ſaid the King in any of his wicked courſes during this feaſt, but rather applauded and flattered him therein.

V. 10. Queen] Not his wife, for his wives there were before, ver.2,3. but his mother Evilmerodacs wife, and Queen, that famous Nitocris in Herodotus, or elſe his grandmother, as Maachah was to Aſa, 1 King.15.2,10,13. the wife of Nebuchadnezzar: which for age likely, was not before at the feaſt, but might well be then alive, that hiſtory in the 4. of Daniel being but one year or two before Nebuchadnezzar's death, and came thither when ſhe heard of theſe ſtrange newes.

The acceptation is uſual; and ſo the word Mother, 1 King. 15. 2, 10, 13. is taken for Grandmother; and Son for Grand-child, ver.22. of this Chapter: yea Father ſignifies any Anceſtor; and Son any poſterity whatſoever. So Abraham is called the Father of all the Jewes in Eſayes time, Eſay 51. 2. in our Saviours time, Joh.8.56. Luk.1.73. And David is called the Father of Joſiah, 2 Chr. 34.2. and our Saviour is called the Son of David, and of Abraham, Mat.1.1.

V. 18. O thou King] Before he read the Writing, he declareth to the King his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moved to give him the glory, conſidering his wonderful work toward his Grandfather, and ſo ſheweth, that he doth not ſin of ignorance, ſo much, as of malice.

They ſhould ſerve as looking-glaſſes; as hands in the margin of a book: as way-marks; they are ſeconds to laws and rules; yet ſome mens hearts are not moved with Gods hand upon their neareſt friends; as Belſhazzar here.

though thou knewest all this] This aggravated his ſin more then Nebuchadnezzars; he having ſuch an example before him, which the other wanted. Sins againſt conſcience are moſt dangerous.

V. 23. But haſt lifted up thy ſelf] As well as thy Grandfather, Eſay 14 12,13,14. is applyable as much, if not more, to Belſhazzar, then to Nebuchadnezzar; as he in whom the Empire of Babylon ended: Daniel freely and boldly tels the King his ſins: As Elias, John Baptiſt, and other Prophets did.

was written] It is no illuſion of the mind, or deluſion of the ſenſe or ſight, but a real writing.

V. 25. Mene, mene] This word is twice written for the certainty of the thing; as the dream was doubled, Gen. 41.32, ſhewing that God had moſt ſurely numbred; implying alſo that God had appointed a term for all Kingdoms, and that a miſerable end ſhall come on all that raiſe themſelves againſt him. The Trent Bible reades onely, Mane, Thekel, Phares. The words are Chaldee. How the wiſe men ſhould not be able to read them, ſee Annotations on ver.8.

V. 26. God hath numbred] Indeed he numbred and ſet the time, Jer.25.12. And more particularly for Belſhazzars caſe, thus; God hath ſuffered thee long, and is now come to reckon with thee about thy adminiſtration; and having now caſt up thy accounts, he requireth now payment of thee: words borrowed from Creditors, or Merchants.

and finiſhed it] Both the number, and the kingdom. He it is, that ſets the fatal periods of Kingdoms and States, and of the lives of men. The ſtars do it not; nor can Star-gazers fore-tell it.

V. 27. weighed] As Goldſmiths do, and Merchants. The ſenſe is, God hath examined thee: and thus one day ſhall all men be weighed and examined. Wiſdom 11.20.

And ſuch indeed are all men in themſelves out of Chriſt, that is light and vain, Pſal.62. ver.9.

V. 28. Peres] Ver.25. upharſin, they divided. Here, Peres in the ſingular number. God did it; by the Medes and Perſians.

divided] Like falſe money cut in pieces: or, there is, or may be, an alluſion between Peres and Perſia.

Medes and Perſians] To Darius the Mede, ver.31. and to Cyrus the Perſian, Chap.6.28. Cyrus being the ſon of Mandane, who was the daughter of Aſtyages or Ahaſuerus, and half ſiſter to this Darius, otherwiſe called Cyaxares.

V. 29. Then commanded Belſhazzar] Terrified with his own daughter, and aſtoniſhed at ſuch divine skill in Daniel; both to be as good as his word, (as Herod Mat.14.9.) and to have ſuch a man his hope and help in greateſt need; he commands as followeth. And Daniel as he did not deſire them, ver.17. ſo he would not reject them; but ſuffered then to be done unto him. Belſhazzar knew not; nor could gather by Daniels interpretation, that ſo ſoon and ſuddenly as that night, this judgment and execution ſhould follow. It might have been true, and irrevocable, and yet delayed for a longer time.

V. 30. In that night] Confer with this place theſe Scriptures, Iſa.13.17.& 21.2,4,5.& 47.11. Jer.25.12,16. & 51. 11, 39. Hab.2.5.

ſlain] By Gobrias, and Gadatas, or Cadratas, Chieftains of Cyrus: as Zenophon in his ſeventh book witneſſeth.

V. 31. Darius the Median] To diſtinguiſh him from Darius the Perſian, who was the third King after Cyrus, of whom mention is made, Ezra 4.5,24. This Darius the Mede, was alſo called Ahaſuerus or Cyaxares the ſecond, the ſon of Ahaſuerus, Dan.9.1. or Cyaxares the firſt, King of the Medes, the brother of Aſtyages. And Aſtyages his daughter Mandane, being neer to this Darius, was wife to Cambyſes, a mean Perſian, and Mother to Cyrus, as was formerly ſaid. He by the Conſent and Delivery up of Cyrus the conquerour, took the Kingdome of Babylon: Or, as their Joynt Forces won it; ſo they joyntly reigned both together, as fellowes in Empire, 2 Chr. 36. 20. But Darius is onely here mentioned, becauſe matter followes touching him onely, not Cyrus, in the next Chapter. And yet they ſeem both joyned in the laſt verſe of that Chapter, and Ezra 6.14. And as Darius here receives the kingdome of Babylon of Cyrus; ſo Cyrus received after the daughter of Darius for wife, and the kingdome of Media for dowry with her, Xenophon in his 8. book of the Inſtitution of Cyrus. Yet ſome make this Darius to be the ſon of Aſtyages, and brother of Mandane, and ſo Uncle to Cyrus.

threeſcore and two years old] Darius being 62. at the fall of Babel; which Empire laſted 70 yeares, falleth to be born at the eight of Nebuchadnezzar, when he carried away Captives the King Jeconiah, and all the Nobles, and ten thouſand valiant men, and all Jeruſalem, and all ſaving the baſe of the land; and carried away all the treaſure of the Houſe of the Lord, and brake all the veſſels of gold, which King Solomon had made in the Temple of the Lord. See 2 King.24.13,15. even then Madai, who with Elam muſt revenge the cauſe of Judah, had a Prince born: and to this purpoſe, Daniel ſeems to tell the Kings age, to ſhew how God provided a remedy when he ſtroke.

CHAP. VI.

Verſ. 1. IT pleaſed] Upon deliberation, and conſultation had about the ſettling, ordering, and well governing of this new gain'd Monarchy. The Chaldee, wherein this Chapter is written, is mixt with Arabick: which tongue the Perſians here ſeem to have much uſed.

Darius] See on Chap.5.31. And this in the firſt year of his reign, ver. 28. He reigned but two years, and two moneths. And this fell in with the year of the world 3470, or little leſſe. And this was a wonderful year; for Babels fall; Lions humbleneſs, ver.22. The angels oration, Chap. 9. two Heathen Emperours Chriſtian proclamations, ver.26, 27. Ezr.1.1. and a general ſubſidie, as it were, over an hundred and twenty Nations, for Judahs return, Ezr.1.4,6.

to ſet over] Kings and Monarchs muſt have under officers, and Princes to help in government, 1 King.12.6. Eſth. 11.13. Exod.18.21,&c. Deut.1.9—18. And yet themſelves not be idle; but have enough to do beſides, Rom.12.8.

an hundred and twenty] Likely there were 120 Nations or Provinces, Eſt.1.1. 127.

the whole Kingdome] Each one in his ſeveral ſhare; for matters both of peace, and war: civil, and military.

V. 2. and over theſe] Darius his wiſdome, over a number of great Governours, to appoint ſome few Superiours and Overſeers.

Daniel was firſt] and chiefeſt of the Triumvirs, verſ. 3. Thus ſtill is unity ſought after, as beſt for peace; and parity avoided, as tending to diviſion and confuſion. Likely Belſhazzars advancing of Daniel, and the cauſe of that, gave occaſion to this advancement. For how could Darius otherwiſe do; Conſidering the great fame of Daniels Wiſdome, worth, and integrity, both in Babylon, above all the Wiſe men there, and in forrein Nations, Ezek.28.3. and his preferments thereupon by Nebuchadnezzar; and newly by Belſhazzar himſelf, though he received that heavy doom from Daniels mouth; and withall foretelling from God this great Monarchy to the Medes and Perſians; but in all reaſon be moved thereupon thus to prefer him: to do as much at leaſt, as Belſhazzar himſelf had done. See Gen.41.38,39, 40. The eminency of Gods graces in his ſervants thus prefers themſelves. And happy is that Kingdome, where preferments are beſtowed, according to mens worth and deſerts.

give accounts] Luk.16.2. as we all muſt to God one day, Rom.14.12. 1 Pet.4.5.

and the King] And ſo the Kingdome in him. He the leſſe care; and the Kingdome the leſſe hurt by Mal-adminiſtration.

V. 3. Then] The Original here to ſome ſeems to be out language.

was preferred] This is Gods mercy to his Church in providing a man for their Countenance, and comfort. And ſo was Joſeph in Egypt. And this was the Cauſe or occaſion of the envy and malice of the preſidents and Princes againſt him. For thus envy works, Eccl 4.4. for the chief prieſts delivered Jeſus to Pilate, Mar.15.10 Thus ſelf-love, and pride, envying at the worth of others, and at their honour and happineſſe above their own, ſets it ſelf on work to do miſchief. Even Rachel envied her own ſiſter; and Joſephs brethren envied him. See Prov. 14. 30. Gal. 5. 21, 26.

an excellent ſpirit] Of knowledge, wiſdome, government, integrity.

the King thought] Likely further to make him Vice-Roy, as Joſeph was, Gen.41.40——45.

whole Realm] Many, if not moſt Interpreters, underſtand this of Media; as if Darius carried him thither. But we rather take it to be meant of Babylon, where Darius and Daniel now were: which being newly conquered, needed moſt ſuch a Governour, and wherein Daniel had ſtill been ſo well verſed and experienced. Neither doth any thing in the Text make the leaſt ſhew againſt it. This further intended advancement of Daniel, if known to the Preſidents and Princes, did likely ſet them further on, to envy him, and ſeek occaſions againſt him.

V. 4. Then the Preſidents and Princes] Here is a unity in Conſpiracy. Vnity among wicked men, is often dangerous to good men, Joh.9.22.

ſought to find occaſion] Thus Courtiers out of their own ambition, are envious at the preferments of others; ſpecially of ſtrangers. And generally the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others; but ſeek and ſearch by all occaſions to deface them, and detract from them. See Annotations on Chap.2.13. Therefore againſt ſuch aſſaults there is no better remedy then to walk uprightly in the fear of God, faithfully and diligently in our callings, and to keep a good Conſcience, Tit.2.9,10. Act.24.16.

concerning the Kingdome] ex latere Regis, ſaith the Trent Bible; contrary to the Chaldee, and all Tranſlators, and all good ſenſe. The meaning is, concerning the affaires of the Kingdom, and his adminiſtration of them in his high Office.

none occaſion] Subject matter of accuſation; no colour or ſuſpition of negligence, or unfaithfulneſſe in him, or his doings.

faithful] To the King, in the affaires of the Kingdome: as he was alſo to his God.

neither was there any errour] A ſingular example of prudence, Induſtry, and faithfulneſſe in our callings, and offices of higheſt truſt; that ſo many, and mighty, envious and ſubtile enemies, in all their deep devices, yet deſpaired to find him faulty, or colourably faulty, in his management of ſo great affaires in ſo high an office.

V. 5. we ſhall not] Innocency wins teſtimony of its adverſaries, and forceth it from them.

except we find] In his Life and Manners they could not. In his Religion they made account they ſhould; knowing that Daniel would loſe honours, and offices, and life alſo, rather then offend the Law of his God: which makes much alſo to Daniels commendation. And ſhews withal, that wicked mens conſciences tell them, that good men are conſtant in their Religion, and will not tranſgreſſe the Lawes of it.

V. 6. Then theſe Preſidents] Not onely the other Triumvirs, but the 120. Princes or Preſidents, if we may believe their own words, ver.7. Thus the wicked are reſtleſſe, and their hatred implacable againſt the godly. If they cannot for their faults, they will for their vertues attach them; and perſecute them for their piety.

aſſembled together] Or, came tumultuouſly. The Chaldee term of Daniel is alſo Hebrew, and from Pſal.2.1. wherefore did the Heathen rage tumultuouſly, or keep a ſtirre? The Popiſh tranſlation, of ſurripuerunt, is not ſo proper; ſome of themſelves do ſeek to help it, by ſubſtituting ſurrepſerunt inſtead of it. And ſtick not to charge their Trent Bible, or at leaſt the Edition of it, with many the like errours. See Pintus on this place. Theſe Preſidents here leave and neglect their places and charges, to aſſemble and plot, and all againſt Daniel. Innocency cannot be free.

V. 7. all the Preſidents] They pretend to an univerſal, and unanimous conſent of all; thereby the rather to win the Kings conſent, and as it were tumultuouſly, and by joynt importunity to enforce him upon it. But they ſpeak more then truth was. For Daniel the chief was none of their Counſel. Nor were all here ſpoken of by them, caſt with their families into the Lyons Den, ver.24. For it may be many of them knew not the miſchievous plot of the Contrivers and inventers of it; but were drawn on among the reſt; as thoſe, 2 Sam.15.11.

to eſtabliſh] To preſent it, and to obtain from the King the confirmation; that ſo it might receive the force of a Law. For he had the Negative voyce, and ſole power of making it a Law and Statute. So appears, ver.8.

a royal Statute] In Chaldee, a Statute for the King. The pretence of projectors, and evil Counſellors, is the honour, or benefit of the King: but they aym at their own ends; though it be in the ruine of the Subjects. They flatter the King; But ſuch flattery and adulation of Kings, is the plague-ſore of kings, and kingdomes.

Decree] Or, interdict.

that whoſoever ſhall ask] The moſt probable pretence of this decree is, that by this means, Darius might have occaſion to ſhew his royal grace and bounty, and his divine munificence, to all his ſubjects that petitioned him; and ſo gain to himſelf, in his new kingdom, the more love, ſtrength and aſſurance. But their drift is againſt Daniel, for their own ends, and to the kings hurt: Knowing Daniels conſcience and cuſtom, and conſtancy in prayer to his God; which for any danger, upon any pretence, he would not for-go: This it was, that made them fixe upon this particular decree.

of any God] They will rather do diſhonour to their own gods, then not ſanctifie their own ambitious, envious, bloody mind, in taking him out of the way, that ſtood in their light, as they conceived, and ſtopt the way of their greater advancements.

or man] Many of his ſubjects, in his large Empire, might ſtand, in that time, in extream preſent need of mans help, where the King could not be preſent, nor they poſſibly have acceſſe to him, which yet, by this decree, ſhould be unjuſtly, inhumanely, and fooliſhly bard from asking help of God or man.

for thirty dayes] This was time enough for their purpoſe. They knew Daniel would not ſo long abſtain, from making petition to his God.

caſt into the Den of Lyons] Bloody minded men, no leſſe will ſerve them. They muſt ſuffer the Lyons cruel paws, and hungry jaws, and be devoured of them. Thus adulation and flattery, is a nurſe of tyranny. This kind of capital puniſhment, was not unuſual among the Babylonians, the Medes and Perſians; and among the Romanes alſo, with whom it was a common ſaying, in Tertullians time, Let the Chriſtians be caſt to the Lyons.

V. 8. Now, O King] Thus good Kings, may be bought and ſold by evil Counſellors. Thus Haman dealt with Ahaſuerus, Eſth. 3. 9. Kings had therefore need to be the more wary and circumſpect.

that it be not changed, according] Eſth. 1. 19. & 8. 8. Therefore Ahaſuerus would, or could not recal the decree againſt Vaſhti, Chap. 1. nor againſt the Jews, Chap. 3. but provides for himſelf, and for them another way, Chap. 2. 1, 2. & Chap. 8. 11. Theſe Preſidents and Princes, here, ſomeway flatter Darius, (partner with Cyrus in the conqueſt of Babylon, and now King of it) in asking him, being King of Media, to make a Law, here in Babylon, after the manner of the Law of the Medes.

according to the Law] Eſth.1.19. & 8. 8.

altereth not] Chald. paſſeth not.

V. 9. Darius ſigned] Too raſhly and ſuddenly; aſcribing too much truſt to his Princes and Preſidents, who indeed, ought throughly to have weighed the nature of the Decree; and did beſt know, the natures and conditions of the ſeveral Provinces, and people, how they would brook it. And thereupon he ſigned it; with due examination, by himſelf, of the right and nature, and end of the Decree. It ſeemed indeed, to ſet him up, in ſome ſort, as a kind of god, or demy-god: For, as an Heathen could ſay,

Qui fingit ſacros auro vel marmore vultus,
Non facit ille Deos, qui rogat, ille facit.
Mart. lib. 8. Epigr. 24.

And therefore, alſo the rather, he readily, out of ſelf-love, ſigns; not ſearching into their wicked end in propoſing it.

V. 10. Now when Daniel knew] After it was ſigned; not before; elſe he would have laboured to have prevented it.

He went into his houſe] Withdrew himſelf from the ſight of publike impieties, to the exerciſe of domeſtick worſhip, and ſervice of God.

and his windowes being open] Not in hypocriſie, for vain-glory; the thing forbidden, Mat. 5. 6. but to ſhew his reſolution and conſtancy, againſt the fear of the kings decree, though he knew it to be irrevocable; and that he would not, by his ſilence, ſeem to give conſent unto it, or comply with it; or forgo his daily duty to his God; for which he had ſo many obligations lying upon him.

in his Chamber] Or, upper room; as Act. 1. 13. & 10. 9. See 2 King. 23.12. Not in a low and obſcure place. He did not fear to be ſeen at this time, upon this occaſion.

toward Jeruſalem] In conſcience of his duty, and with faith in the promiſe, 1 King.8.33,34,44,48. Pſal.5.7. Though now, City and Temple, lay in ruines. Now the caſe is altered; as Joh. 4.21,23.

he kneeled] 1 King.8.54. Act.7.60. & 20.36. The uſual, humble, ſeemly geſture of prayer. Indeed ſtanding alſo, is uſed in Scripture, and allowed, Mar. 11. 25. And ſo that geſture ſeems to be uſed.1 Sam.1.26. 1 King.8. 22. 55. Neh. 9. 5. Mat.6.5. And according thereunto, are thoſe words of Naaman, 2 King. 5. 11. And in the Primitive Church, by ancient tradition,ſtanding at prayer was uſed, if not enjoyned,on every Lords day, and in all the time, between Eaſter-day and Aſcention-day, and Whitſonday alſo. And with more reaſon then, when Chriſts Reſurrection and Aſcention,were ſo much queſtioned,then can be now, Juſtin. q. 115. ad Orthodoxos: Yet kneeling,or proſtration upon the ground, are moſt uſual and ſeemly in prayer. And unſeemly it ſeems to be,to do it, either ſitting, or with the head covered in our Aſſemblies; as theſe geſtures and rites, are now in eſteem with us; unleſs ſome extraordinary, and juſt cauſe do warrant the contrary.

three times a day] Morning, Noon, and Evening.; before he went forth,or ſet upon his publike imployment, and State affairs; at his return to dinner; as Gen.43.16. and after the end of the day,and diſpatch of his buſineſſes.To which times, David ſeems to have reference, Pſal. 55. 17. and may ſeem to be the three times of the daily prayers of the Jews. The morning and evening ſeem to be ſo aſcertained, by their appointed daily ſacrifices, and the daily burning of Incenſe, on the golden Table of Incenſe,at thoſe times, Exo.29.39,42. & 30.7,8.And punctually,the morning time,is deemed the third hour, which is our ninth. When the Holy Ghoſt alſo came down upon the Apoſtles in cloven-tongues of fire, Act.2.15. and the evening time is the ninth hour,which is our third,in the after-noon; called the hour of prayer, Act.3.1.When Peter and John went into the temple; and Cornelius prayed, and ſaw the viſion,Act. 10.3, 30. When alſo our Saviour was crucified and dyed, Mat. 27. 46, 50. Mar. 15. 34, 37. The middle is the middle hour, their ſixth, our twelveth, or mid-day,Joh.4.6. When Peter prayed, Act. 10. 9. When alſo our Saviour was condemned, and delivered to be crucified, Joh.19.14. When alſo the general darkneſs began, and continued till the ninth hour,till our Saviour dyed, Mat.27. 45. Mar.15.33. Luk.23.44. And in the Primitive Church, the Chriſtians had thoſe three hours of the day, in ſo much uſe and regard for prayer, as they came to be called, Cananical hours. But yet from this duty, no time is exempted, Pſal. 119. verſ. 62. & verſ. 164. Luk. 18. 1. Epheſ. 6. 18. 1 Theſſ. 5. 17.

prayed and gave thanks] Phil.4.6. 1 Theſſ. 5. 17, 18. For prayed,the Trent Bible hath, worſhipped; erroniouſly.

as he had afore-time] No danger can keep good men, from the accuſtomed works of piety, Act.4. 19. & 5. 29. He was not now, either more ſlow,or ſecret in it.

V. 11. Then theſe men] The practice of wicked men; as Pſal.10.8,9. curiouſly prying into other mens doings, and not ſeeing beams in their own eyes. They thought now they had won the day,and gain'd their deſires.

V. 12. Then they came neer] They ſpeedily purſue their miſchievous,and bloody purpoſe.

concerning the kings Decree] Of that firſt, to renew the ſtrength of it; out of the kings own mouth; to circumvent, and intangle him in his own words. Thus cunningly they deal; pretending onely the defence and maintenance of the law, and the kings authority. Flattering him to his own hurt, and for their own ſanguinary deſign, in Daniels ruine.

V. 13. that Daniel] Not till now, they open their mean drift,and directly accuſe. And now they think they may be bold to do it: and they do it with all aggravations; that Daniel; ſo deſiring to ſpeak contemptuouſly of him.

of the captivity] To render him deſpicable,from his ſlaviſh, and ſordid ſtate of captivity, and from his Nation of the Jews. They had many captives of other nations alſo among them, at that time; as may be gathered out of Jer. 25, and 27. Chapters.

regardeth not thee] So Chap. 3. 12. Under a colour, they falſely and maliciouſly ſlander Daniel of ingratitude, for his honours, of contempt and rebellion. They accuſe him, as the Jews did Chriſt,as being an enemy to Cæſar.

his petition three times a day] They ſay not to his God, leaſt that might ſound any thing for him. But indeed they charge that upon him, as his haynous capital offence. Thus piety,prayer and devotion, are wreſted to a wrong meaning, by the wicked,and counted for crimes. Now the ungrateful, and unpleaſing concluſion of all theſe premiſes they conceal, the death of Daniel; or leave that to the king, to be gathered,and made by him, as neceſſarily following thereupon.

V. 14. then the king] Seeing their fraud and malice; and his own error and circumvention. Theſe evils,Kings,otherwiſe good,are ſubject unto, by evil Courtiers.

ſore diſpleaſed with himſelf] For making ſo raſhly ſuch a Decree,ſo injurious to God and man; ſo full againſt the life of Daniel,and againſt himſelf, in the loſſe of ſuch a ſubject. And no doubt, diſpleaſed alſo with theſe accuſers of Daniel, for their ſo fraudulent, miſchievous, and pernicious dealing againſt him and Daniel. Theſe ſore grievances, by ſuch means, kings,many times,are put unto.

and ſet his heart] This was well; to think how to amend, what he had done amiſs. And better were it to repeal ſuch Decrees, then to pretend to the maintenance of his authority,by the maintaining of them. But beſt it had been, to have been more adviſed, circumſpect and cautelous, ere he he had made them, till the going down] He was ſad and ſerious in it, to ſave the life of Innocent and precious Daniel. A long time was this, (for they were at the king, no doubt, betimes) wherein with all his heart and might, he laboured to out-maſter their malice, to wind himſelf out of their miſchievous wilineſſe, to interpret, qualifie, or nullifie the Decree, and his ſigning of it. A good Example for Chriſtian Kings in like caſes.

V. 15. Then theſe men aſſembled] Here they ſet upon the King, with multitude, and unanimous conſent to over-bear him.

Know, O King] They preſſe on him with all inſtance; they waxe bold, if not impudent, notwithſtanding the kings ſore diſpleaſure, Prov.16.14. Thus far Envy carries them: and miſchief begun, muſt be carried on, whatſoever comes on it; though it be to their future undoing. They pretend, now, the right of Law, and the Kings honour and authority in it. Thus are Kings many times over-ruled and abuſed.

may be changed] Thus the wicked maintain evil Lawes, by colour of conſtancy and authority; which is oft times either lightneſſe, or ſtubbornneſſe; when as the Innocents thereby periſh: and therefore Governours neither ought to fear, nor be aſhamed to break ſuch; though good Lawes with all conſtancy are to be maintained. Thus Charidemus loſt his life, Diod. ſic. l.14.

V. 16. Then the King commanded] He perſeveres not in his good purpoſe, but againſt his conſcience he yeilds, and becomes a ſervant and miniſter of their Cruelty. Such ſlaves ſometimes are Kings forced by bad ſervants to do things they like not, 2 Sam. 3. 39. And ſo unſafe is it for Favourites to truſt in them.

and they brought Daniel] Not to anſwer for himſelf, and plead his cauſe, and make his apology; for abſent and unheard was he condemned already. But they brought him to execution; and that ſpeedily, leſt any way by delayes, he might happen to eſcape. So ſwift are their feet to ſhed innocent blood.

the den of Lyons] See Annotations on ver.7.

The King ſaid] To comfort Daniel; and cleer his innocency.

thy God] He ſayeth, not my God. So ver.20.

whom thou ſerveſt continually] A royal teſtimony of Daniels piety, and innocency of his faith, and conſtancy in Gods ſervice, againſt the terrours of Death. And that the King alſo approved of what Daniel had done in his daily prayer and ſervice of his God.

continually] Notwithſtanding my Decree and Edict to the contrary.

he will deliver thee] It is his wiſh and prayer; not propheſie. He can; I cannot. It is hope; hearing belike how God did deliver his three Companions out of the fiery furnace,.Chap.3. Thus God bowes the minds of Heathen in compaſſion towards his; makes them acknowledge the Omnipotency of the true God; the Impotency of themſelves, and their falſe gods, ver.26,27.

V. 17. and a ſtone] Comparing this and the 25. verſe together, they may ſeem to diſcern that the Lyons did not ſtraight ſeize upon Daniel: and therefore would have a ſtone ſealed, &c. See Mat.27.66. & Lam.3.53.

the King ſealed it] Having once begun to yeild to his Lords, they drew him on, and he proceeds to yeild further, Eſth.3.12. & 8.8. 1 King.21.8.

ſignet of his Lords] Leaſt the King out of his love to Daniel, his ſorrow for him, and care of him, ſhould have him brought out; or leſt the Kings friends ſhould do it, or Daniels countrey-men the Jewes; or his other followers and friends, as he had many, by his eminency in gifts and graces, by his eſteem with the King, by his fidelity, juſtice, piety, &c. Thus they ſhew their diſtruſt in the king; (a juſt reward for him) and their truſt in their own carnal wiſdome, which yet deceives them.

that the purpoſe] The Trent Bible here wrongly tranſlates the Hebrew Text, and varies the ſenſe.

V. 18. Then the King went] Late,ver.14. and ſad; through his love to Daniel, and the guiltineſſe of his own conſcience, That accuſeth him, Rom.2.14,15. and ſtings him; though he had no judge on earth above him. This is well in the King, and it is a good work of his conſcience, thus to affect him. Whereas Daniels accuſers had their Conſciences ſeared, and hardened in ſin, to their final ruine.

faſting: neither——] Faſting and watching agree well together. And ſorrow, and faſting juſtly exclude muſick, and all mirth.

V. 19. then the King aroſe] The workings of love, and of a guilty conſcience, ſuffer him not to ſleep, or reſt.

V. 20. with a lamentable voyce] Thereby ſpeaking his lamentation and ſorrow; his love and care, and fear of Daniel. The tendereſt father could have done no more towards his deareſt ſon. And this is ſo much the more in ſo great a Monarch: Which commends both him, and Daniels worth. Againſt hard-hearted men at the miſeries of the godly, Rom.12.15. Heb.13.3.

Is thy God] This ſhewes ſome hope in Darius, of Daniels ſafety, and Gods power and mercy; though mixed with much fear.

V. 21. then ſaid Daniel] With a voyce not diſtreſſed, as that of the Kings.

live for ever] Chap.2.4.

V. 22. hath ſent] He acknowledgeth his God the author of his deliverance. It is the right hand of the moſt High that ſaves Paul from the mouth of the Lyon; Peter from Priſon, &c.

his Angel] They are Gods Miniſters, Heb.1.14.

ſhut the Lyons mouthes] The glorious preſence of the Angel might ſtrike fear into the Lyons: ſo Balaams aſſe was afraid of the Angel, Num.22.27. & 33. or the Angel might otherwiſe, and that many wayes, reſtrain the Lyons rage, Heb.11.33. Daniel is underſtood to do it; as likewiſe the like is ſaid of his three Companions, ver.34. They did it; as Elias brought the famine, Jam.5.17,18.

foraſmuch] Thus God ſometimes by miracle ſhewes and proves the Innocency of his ſervants, Pſal.37.5,6.

Innocency was found] In this particular of my behaviour, towards thee and thy Decree. So Pſal.18.20. He ſpeaketh not of the point of his Juſtification from ſin before God, Phil.3.9. He minds the Innocency of his preſent caſe and Cauſe: Not yet that this Innocency merited this miraculous deliverance; no proper true merit can be in man towards God, But that God ſaved him of his meer mercy, pan gracious good pleaſure. See 1 Tim. 1. 8. 2 Theſſ.1. 5,7.

and alſo before thee] Though mine accuſers charge me, that I regard not thee, nor thy authority; for our obedience to Kings and Magiſtrates, muſt be onely in God, and for God. No other Active Obedience is due unto them.

no hurt] Even in thine own judgment, ver. 14,16. For he did diſobey the Kings wicked Commandement, to obey God; and ſo did no injury to the King, who ought to command nothing, whereby God ſhould be diſhonoured.

V. 23. King exceeding glad] Rid of that heavy plight wherein he was, ver.18. and cheered up his Spirit and conſcience wondrouſly in ſuch a manner of deliverance, of ſo pretious a ſubject. More ſpiritual was the joy of the Church, at the deliverance of Peter and John out of the Priſon, Act. 4. 24, &c.

take Daniel up] Not ſtaying, it ſeems, for thoſe Lords whoſe Seales were upon the ſtones; nor for the coming of the accuſers. For no doubt he had witneſſes enough, of the thing with him: and the preſervation it ſelf was an ocular demonſtration of the miracle: and the view of it raiſed up Darius his ſpirit to the height of Courage and reſolution; without them to amend what he had done amiſſe; being alſo that the ſentence of the Decree againſt Daniel was already ſatisfied.

believed in his God] Becauſe he committed himſelf wholly unto his God, whoſe cauſe he did defend, he hoped, truſted, was aſſured by his promiſes, that nothing but good could come unto him, whether by life or death; wherein we ſee the power of Faith, and the Nature of it. Heb.11.33. & throughout that whole Chapter. In which grace of Faith in Chriſt, the Covenant of the Goſpel on mans part doth wholy conſiſt. And therefore ſo many, and ſo great things are ſpoken of Belief and Faith in Scripture.

V. 24. and the King commanded] The abſolute power of this King. The like frequent in Scripture. His juſt wrath was ſo incenſed; the miracle ſo wonderful, and the guiltineſs of the malefactors ſo evident, that without any proceſs or further condemnation, he commands their execution.

accuſed Daniel] See note Chap.3.8.

caſt them into the den of lions] This is a terrible example againſt all the wicked, which do againſt their conſcience make cruel laws to deſtroy the children of God; and alſo admoniſheth Princes how to puniſh ſuch when their wickedneſs is come to light; though not in every point, or with like circumſtances; yet to execute true Juſtice upon them. This juſt on Gods part by the law of Retaliation. Pſal. 7.15,16. & 9.15,16.

their children, and their wives] The like or more, we may read of Achan and his family, Joſh. 7. 24,25. Haman was hanged up, and his ſons, Eſth.9.14. By the Law of Nature, and Nations, Rebels are puniſhed, alſo in their wives, children, and poſterity, though not with death; yet conſidering that law, Deut.24.16. with that 2 Chr. 25.4. either Darius ſeems here to be unjuſtly cruel, or theſe wives and children were acceſſaries to the crime of their husbands, and parents.

brake all their bones] Perſecutors oft-times have bloudy ends. Here was no ſtopping of the Lyons mouthes, no taming of their rage and cruelty, no over-maſtering them.

or ever they came at the bottome] This adds luſtre to Daniels miraculous deliverance, that it was not for want of hunger, and Natural ferocity that the Lyons ſpared Daniel; but that it was Gods hand over-ruling them: as we ſee Gods hand in ruling that Lyon, 1 King.13.24,28,29. all Gods creatures are his hoaſt, to do his will; for reward or puniſhment. That fancy, that the Accuſers alleadged the Lyons to have been full of food, and therefore for that ſpace of time to have ſpared Daniel; and that the King thereupon ſhould have them fed, and thereafter have the Accuſers caſt in to them, is a fooliſh fiction without any ground.

V. 25. Then Darius] This marvailous work of God had a marvailous good effect in the heart of Darius. Gods workes ſhould not be ſlightly paſſed over; but accordingly made uſe of, Pſal. 92.4,5.& 8.3,4. Of this Darius, ſee Annotations on Chap.5.31. Many Kings of the Medes and Perſians were after him called by this name; as the Heathen Hiſtories of times do declare. There was after this firſt Monarch Darius the ſon of Hyſtaſpes, Darius Artaxerxes, Longimanus, Darius Nothus, Darius Artaxerxes Ochus, Darius Codomannus, whom Alexander the great conquered. And the ſacred Hiſtories of the books of Ezra, Nehemiah, and Eſther, fall within theſe times; Begin with the begining of the Perſian Monarchy, Ezra 1. 1. and reach to the final period of it by Alexander the Great Greek, in the H. P. Faddua's time, Neh. 12.11.

wrote unto all the people] Chap.3.29. & 4.1.

languages] More now then thoſe, Chap. 3. verſe 4. and 4. 1.

in all the earth] All in his dominion and lands. So expounded, ver.26. So Luk.2.1. Ezra 1.1,2.

peace] Chap.4.1. See the Annot. there. This word in the Hebrew, and Chaldee, and all languages, comprehends all outward proſperity, and worldly felicity: and therefore is ſo uſual in all ſalutations and greetings.

V. 26. I make a decree] Chap. 3. 29. a good example to Chriſtian Kings.

tremble and fear] God maketh Heathen Princes ſometime to acknowledge his power. See Chap.3.29. The true fear of God is the fountain of wiſdom, Prov.1.7. & 9.10. The want of it, the ſluce for all ſin. It comprehends the whole worſhip and ſervice of God, all acts of Religion.

the God of Daniel] His God, in a peculiar way, whom only, and no other, Daniel ownes, worſhips, ſerves, obeyes, and who thus ownes, honours, and defends Daniel.

the living God] Which hath not onely life in himſelf, but is the onely fountain of life, and quickeneth all things; ſo that without him there is no life, 1 Sam.2.6. Act.17.25.

which ſhall not be deſtroyed] Chap.2.44. & 4.3,34. & 7.14, 27. Luk.1.33. Mic.4.7.

V. 27. He delivereth] God to be acknowledged, and praiſed in his works. The Pſalms are full of it.

V. 28. proſpered] Flouriſhed in his ſtate and honours; in offices and employments; in ſpight of the envy and malice of all wicked men. He proſpered, as Joſeph, Hezekiah, Mordecai, and others, Pſal.1.3. when as the wicked proſper not; as Coniah, Jer. 22.30. but are holden with the cords of their own ſin, Prov.5.22. Pſal.7.16. & 9.16. Prov.22.8. Of their proſpering for a while, ſee Job 21.7——14. Jer.12.1. Pſal. 73.2——12.

of Cyrus the Perſian] Chap.1.21. Thus God provides men in honour, for the comfort of his Church in her calamity.

CHAP. VII.

Verſ. 1. IN] Now Daniel proceeds in his Narration from Hiſtories, in the former part, to propheſies in the latter half of this book; Therein fore-telling the ſucceſſion of times, and of the Kingdoms of the world; and what things therein ſhould befall the Church of God, the people of the Jewes, untill the time of the coming of Chriſt (numbred up in him) and the time of the promulgation of the Goſpel.

the firſt year of Belſhazzar] Chal. one year. So Chap. 2. 1. & 3. 1. That Daniel might joyn together Babels ſtories, and ſuch as did depend upon them without interruption, therefore he diſplaced the two viſions which now follow; the one, in the firſt of Belſhazzar of Babels fall, Chap. 7. the other, in the third of Belſhazzar of the Perſians fall, chap. 8. Both which in order of time go before the fifth Chapter. Of this Belſhazzar, ſee Chap. 5. 1.

Daniel had a dream] Chald. ſaw a dream. Different in viſion; but of the ſame matter and argument, with that of Nebuchadnezzar, Chap. 2, interpreted by Daniel there: onely what is there more generally ſhadowed out, is ſet forth in ſucceeding times more particularly, with many circumſtances, in this Chapter, and in thoſe which follow. This dream was 70 years after that dream of Nebuchadnezzar, Chap. 2. if we reckon 30 years to the reign of Evilmerodach, and Daniel now was neer 100 years old.

and viſions of his head] Viſions, in his dream. Not that theſe were diſtinct from his dream. Viſions and Oracles were the two wayes, by which God revealed his Will to his Prophets, Num. 12. 6, 7, 8. Viſions were vouchſafed to them, ſometimes waking; as Zach. 1. 8, &c. and Chap. 3. 1. Jer. 1. 11, 13. ſometimes ſleeping in dreams, Job 33. 15. So Gen. 28. 12. Act. 2. 17. So here to Daniel; preſenting not to the external ſenſe, but internally to the imagination and phantaſie, viſible things, as repreſentments of Gods Will and pleaſure ſignified thereby, Dan. 4. 5.

head] The ſhop and ſeat of dreams and viſions.

upon his bed] Where he ſlept and dreamed in the night, ver. 2. a place and time fit for ſuch kind of Revelations.

then he wrote the dream] He the Writer of this book; and no other: and he wrote this Dream; left it not to be told onely by Tradition; but in a ſurer way wrote it, by Gods inſpiration and inſtinct, 2 Pet. 1. 19, 20, 21. And that becauſe it did not concern him alone, but the whole Church in after ages; to confirm and comfort them againſt the great calamities that were to come. For whereas the people of Iſrael looked for continual quietneſs after theſe ſeventy years, as Jeremiah ſeemed to then to have declared; he ſheweth that this reſt ſhall not be a deliverance from all troubles, but a beginning; and therefore encourageth them to look for a continual affliction till the Meſſiah be revealed, by whom they ſhould have a ſpiritual deliverance, and all the promiſes fulfilled; whereof they ſhould have a certain token in the deſtruction of the Babylonian Kingdom. See 1 Cor. 10. ver. 11.

and told the ſum of the matters] Chald. the head of the words. Verſ. 16. He wrote and told them, to wit, to his people; becauſe for their inſtruction and conſolation, againſt perſecutors to come, God ſhewed that dream to Daniel. The chief heads therefore and material points, for the uſe of the Church, he relates and records in theſe ſacred Commentaries.

V. 2. Daniel ſpake and ſaid] The Scripture then is not a dumbe and dead letter: but ſpeaks; and therein we hear the Prophets and Apoſtles ſpeaking; and ſo fitteſt to teach all Truth, and convince all Errour, and to be the judg in controverſies of Religion, 2 Tim. 3. 16, 17.

by night] In time of ſilence and ſequeſtration, from worldly affairs: ſo, uſally. And yet ſometimes by day; as Act. 10. 9, 10. & 22. 17. See Pſal. 16. 7.

the four winds] Here ſome, with more curioſity and boldneſſe, then modeſty and ſoundneſſe, by the winds, will underſtand Angels; and ſome of them good Angels, the guardians of theſe Empires, whereto they apply that, Chap. 10. 13, 20, 21. & Chap. 11. 1. & Chap. 12. 1. Others, underſtand bad Angels: But we reſt in the letter of the Dream, and underſtand onely the mighty concuſſions, ſtirrs, tumults and troubles, that were the riſe and original of theſe ſeveral Empires. And therefore of theſe winds, the Angel in his interpretation to Daniel, makes not any mention, but onely of the Empires themſelves. By the winds then blowing, we onely conceive thoſe horrible troubles, afflictions and mutations, whereby one Empire is exalted, and another abaſed; as the waves of the ſea are, by the boiſterous winds: eſpecially, if all the four winds at once, blow together upon it. Yet all ſent, and ruled by Gods providence.

ſtrove] One againſt another; to trouble the ſea: imo miſcentes aequora fundo, Vaſtos volvuntque ad littora fluctus.

great ſea] Midland ſea. So called, in relation to the Dead ſea, and the Sea of Tiberius; which were but Lakes, in compariſon of it. Yet in ſacred Idiome, the great veſſel it ſelf, for water, in the Court of Solomons Temple, is called a Sea, 2 Chron. 4. 2, 10. By the Sea, here, is ſignified the world, verſ. 17.

V. 3. beaſts] Empires decyphered in this manner; becauſe the acquiring of them is not gotten, nor the poſſeſſion of them maintained, nor the government of them exerciſed, but by brutiſh violence and tyranny.

came up] Not altogether, but in proceſſe of time, ſucceſſively; as the verſes following do declare.

the Sea] Not calm, but troubled, and toſſed thus with tempeſts.

divers one from another] So figured before in the divers mettals of Nebuchadnezzars Image, Chap. 2. and ſo deſcribed diverſly, in the verſes following.

V. 4. the firſt] The golden head, Dan. 2. 38. and the great tree, Dan. 4. 20, 21, 22, is the power of Babel, the firſt Empire, in Daniels book. This in its beſt and flouriſhing eſtate.

a lion] The Trent Bible hath a Lyoneſs; contrary to the Chaldee and Hebrew; and in a manner all Tranſlators. The lion here repreſents the empire of the Chaldeans, in regard of his power, cruelty, and capacity, Iſa. 5. 29. Jer. 4. 7.

Eagles wings] As the Lyon is the King of Beaſts, ſo the Eagle is the King of Birds. Both make to magniſie this Monarchy, both for courage, power, and ſpeed. Wings here point out the great celerity of Nebuchadnezzars coming to his power and poſſeſſion of Kingdoms; as if the Babylonians had wings to fly, Iſa. 5. 26. Jer. 4. 13. & 48. 40. & 49. 19, 22. Lam. 4. 19. Ezek. 17. 3. Hab. 1. 6, 8. So Aſhur hath wings, Eſay 8. 8.

pluckt] Theſe Eagles wings were great, long, full of feathers, of divers colours, Ezek. 17. 3. But now Daniel, in this viſion foreſees them pluckt. Armies and Provinces, fell from them; The Lydians, the Medes and Perſians, that had formerly obeyed and ſerved them, were riſen up againſt them; and ſo pluckt their wings, that they went on their feet, and were made like other men. This was their declineing eſtate; and at laſt fulfilled, under Balſhazzar. See Jer. 51. 30—64.

and it was lifted] Or, Wherewith it was lifted above the common ſort of other men. Though ſome tranſlate and underſtand, as if it were taken away from the face of the earth, and periſhed.

made ſtand] Compelled to ſtand: and made to underſtand its own fragility and imbecillity, and the worlds inconſtancie.

a mans heart] This hath not reference to Nebuchadnezzar, Chap. 4. 16. This reſpects not any ſingular perſon, but the State of the whole Empire; that of Nebuchadnezzar was paſt; this to come, in the fall of the Empire. When they came to have a mans heart, after their wings were pluckt, that is, a ſoft, fearful, broken and dejected heart. So Cyrus dealt with them, and abaſed them; as Xenophon ſhews, in his ſeventh Book of the Inſtitution of Cyrus. Then their Lyon-like heart, that inſolent proud heart, Chap. 3. 15. Eſay 14. 13. was gon. Now they well knew themſelves to be but men, Pſal. 9. 20.

V. 5. a ſecond] This is omitted in the Trent Bible.

a Bear] Meaning the Empire of the Perſians, Dan. 2. 39. & 8. 3. This followes the Lyon. And ſo the Lyon and Bear, are often joyned together in Scripture; as Prov. 28. 15. Hoſ. 13. 8. Amos 5. 19. Lam. 3. 10. Some here ſay, the Perſian Empire is repreſented by the Bear, becauſe Perſia, a mountainous country, much abounds in Bears; and thoſe of a crueller kind. Others, becauſe of their ferocity and voracity; of their barbarous cruelty, and uncivil demeanour, Eſay 13. 17, 18. of their auſterity and craft. Others, proceed further, to liken them to Bears, in the natural weakneſs of their heads; and in their riſe and original, their riſing being but ſordid and baſe; as rude and unlikely, as a Bears Whelp is without form and ſhape. But we may not be too curious in theſe aſſimilations. They were leſſe generous, more uncivil then the Chaldeans; though they were of great ſtrength, and durance, hardſhip and labour, and great Warriours, and much inclined to ſet upon Empires and States. Compared they are to ſilver, Chap. 2. 32, 39. as inferiour to the former: to a Ram, Chap. 8. 3, 4.

it raiſed up it ſelf on one ſide] Or, it raiſed up one dominion. Chald. one Government, Madai and Paras, two armes in one breaſt, now ſet up a joynt government. The Trent Bible thus, it ſtood in part. With their Expoſitions raiſed thereupon: improper in themſelves, and inconſiſtent with the true text.

three ribs] Meaning People, and their Relicts, and Remainds, devoured by the Perſians, and their bear-like voracity. Which very thing the following words do intimate: for by three ribs are ſignified, people of three coaſts of the world; from the Eaſt (which afore it held) it brake into the Weſt, North, and South; as it is fore-told, Chap. 8. 4. Xenophon firſt book of the Inſtitution of Cyrus. Others tranſlate Rowes, for Ribs, making them three rowes of teeth; and underſtanding thereby thoſe three Preſidents, Chap. 6. 2. Or rather the three Kingdomes of Media, Perſia, and Babylon, which devoured the other Kingdomes and Provinces, as was ſaid; and made them their prey and meat, feeding upon their they ſaid] Or, it was ſaid imperſonally: an Idiome in the ſacred tongues not unuſual. This is not the ſaying of Haman to Ahaſuerus againſt the Jewes, Eſth.3. But of the Princes to their Emperours generally; ſtirring up their ſpirits to further conqueſts to enlarge their Empires; as Darius the Mede, the Hyrcanians, Gobryas, and others had ſet on Cyrus to thoſe firſt atchievements; as Xenophon ſhewes in his ſaid book. Or elſe it is the ſpeech of the Angels, ver. 10. Or chiefly of the ancient dayes, ver.9. By whoſe meanes and ſecret inſtinct of his providence, the Perſian Emperours were driven on to thoſe great deſignes, and the enterpriſes and atchievements thereof were made eaſie unto them, Eſay 21.2.

Ariſe] Stir up and prepare thy ſelf; as Joſh.1.2. Gen.13. 17. Act.12.7.

devour much fleſh] Cruelly deſtroy many nations and people. A likely and ſuitable conſequent, to the teeth of this devouring Beaſt.

V. 6. another like a leopard] The empire of Alexander the Great, and Greece for the firſt partition. This roſe after the former. A leopard is a ſpotted beaſt, Jer.13.23. yet fair, and ſweet, and comely. He is ſwift, Hab.1.8. watchful, cunning, and ſuddain, Jer.5.6. Hoſ.13.7. He is active, fierce and ſtrong; ſeeming outwardly harmleſſe, yet crafty, cruel, and greedy of mans bloud. And all alike was Alexander the Great; ſpotted with vices, yet graced alſo with ſingular virtues; his body, as Hiſtorians record, of a rare odoriferous ſmell: both body and mind anſwerable to theſe other qualifications. This is called a third Kingdom; the belly and thighs of braſſe; a Kingdom of braſſe, Dan.2.32,39. The he-goat, Dan.8.5. A mighty King, Dan.11.3. They that would underſtand this Beaſt to be the Greek and Romane Empire joyned together; to make way for the Turkiſh Empire to be meant by the 4. Beaſt, are in all very much miſtaken, and need no refutation.

four wings of a fowl] To ſhew its wonderful ſwiftneſſe. This, to the leopard, is as much as to add much ſwiftneſſe to ſwiftneſſe, which indeed was admirable in Alexander the Great; in ſubduing Greece, deſtroying Thebes, overthrowing the Perſians in the Adraſtian fields, at the river Granicum, at Iſſas, a City of Cilicia: And laſtly, and finally, at Arbela: So gaining the Empire of Perſia, and Aſia, and all in 6 years, flying as a thunderbolt: beſides his ſiege, and winning of Tyre; of Judea, and Syria, of Egypt, and many other Kingdoms, Nations, and People. He reigned in all but 12 years, 6 in his monarchy. See Chap. 8. ver. 5. touched not the ground.

four heads] Either the four Tetrarchies in Alexander the great, his hereditary kingdom of Macedon; which afterwards grew to be four kingdoms; or, the four kingdoms into which the Empire of Alexander was divided after his death; which his four chief Captains had, Dan.8.8. & 11.4. 1 Mac. 1.9,10 Seleucus Nicanor had Aſia the great; Perdiccas, and after him Antigonus had Aſia the leſſe; Caſſander, and after Philip and Lyſymachus, Antipater was King of Macedonia; and Ptolemeus had Egypt. For the other 8 ſtarting up upon Alexanders death, they rather coveted and ſought kingdoms, then got and poſſeſſed them, and ſoon vaniſhed and periſhed. The Beaſt, Apoc.13.1. hath 7 heads.

and dominion was given to it] It was not of himſelf, nor of his own power; or, that Alexander did all thoſe ſtupendious things, gat all theſe Countries; for his army contained but 30000 men; and he overcame in one battel Darius, which had ten hundred thouſand men; when inſtantly before the battel he was ſo heavy with ſleep, that his eyes could ſcarce open, as the ſtories report; Therefore this power was given him of God, and ſo much himſelf confeſſed, when he met Jaddus the High-Prieſt of the Jews, in his Pontificial attire, Joſeph Antiq.6.11. Chap.8. See Chap.2.21,37,38. & 4.25. Prov.8.15,16. Rom.13.1,2. Joh.19.11.

V. 7. a fourth beaſt] Not named, becauſe it was the ſame Nation with the former; but is diſtinguiſhed from the former by ten horns, whereof one moſt ſtrange, having eyes, and mouth, and ſpeaking very great words. Nor yet is it likened to any one certain kind of beaſt; by reaſon of the great varieties, and many diverſities that were in it. And therefore this beaſt hath ſomewhat the more obſcurity and difficulty in it. And this, together with the many great things ſpoken of it, makes Daniel ſo particularly inquiſitive after this fourth beaſt, ver.19,20. yet by Dan. 8. 9. we may find that the firſt meaning of this Propheſie hath relation to the kingdomes of Syria and Egypt, poſſeſſed by the Seleucidæ, and Lagidæ, the Images two legs, Dan.2.33. The Romane Empire, (though not here meant; and much leſſe the Turkiſh Empire) did imitate this afterwards, in the perſecution of the Church, the ſubverſion and interdiction of Gods ſervice; and violence done to conſciences: And the Revelation doth fit many of theſe paſſages of Daniel to Antichriſt. See Dan.2.40. Yet the Seleucidæ that had the Kingdoms of Syria and Aſia ſeem to be moſt properly and punctually meant; by whom Gods people the Jews ſuffered infinite evils and miſchiefs. In the fore-telling, and deſcription whereof, the greateſt part of the Chapters following, is taken up and imployed.

dreadful and terrible] More then the former Beaſts; eſpecially to Gods people the Jewes; to whom Daniel properly hath reſpect; as Chap.2.40. who never were more cruelly uſed, then by the Seleucidæ, Dan. 8. 11, 12. and 11. 31. 36.

great Iron-teeth] Teeth, that is, Leaders and Armies; and theſe great ones, not little teeth, but big and long grinders: and theſe of Iron, that is ſtrong; as the word Iron is likewiſe uſed and applyed to a furnace, a neck, a yoke, a rodd, a wall. Theſe teeth were inſtruments meet to grinde and diminiſh the Jewes.

and ſtamped the reſidue with the feet of it] Ver.23. that is, whom it did not conſume, thoſe it did moſt ſhamefully trample upon; troubling their minds, and bodies, with all kinds of Cruelties; as Pſal.8.13.

and it was divers] As otherwiſe; ſo in regard his tyranny over the people of God tended to force them to Idolatry; and to annihilate Gods ſervice, which none of the precedent Empires had attempted.

and it had ten hornes] Not ten kinds of Government in the Romane Empire before Chriſts Coming, But perſonally ten Kings. And theſe not reigning altogether, a little before the end of the world, out of the ruines of the Romane Empire, as ſome weakly conceive; but ſucceeding one another in that kingdome of the Greeks, or Seleucidæ, untill Antiochus comprehending him among the reſt, ver. 24. For although he had ſucceſſors, yet the people of God (in regard of whom theſe things are ſpoken) began after Antiochus to reaſſume their liberty, under the Aſmoneans or Maccabees, untill Chriſt.

V. 8. among them] as 1 Sam.17.34. not that this horn was the middlemoſt of the ten.

another little horn] Or, the laſt a little horn, Ver. 21, 24. Chap.8.9. This is not meant of Antichriſt, as Papiſts would bear us in hand; to be thereby inabled the better to ſhift and ſhuffle off the true Antichriſt from the Popes Chair. But this is that Antiochus, called Epiphanes, or Epimanes rather; who is one and the laſt of the number of the ten Kings, which are ſignified here by ten hornes. See Chap. 11:21.

before whom] Chald. before the face whereof; as elſewhere, before the face of the ſword, of the bear, of the famine.

three of the firſt hornes pluckt up by the roots] That is, kings plucked up by him by force and fraud. See ver.20,24.

In this horn were eyes] To ſignifie his Naturall ſagacity, ſharpneſſe of wit, and craft, Dan.8.23,25. & 11.23,32.

of man] Here is noted the feigned humanity of Antiochus Epiphanes; who was not right heir, but as a private man, a younger brother, and allyed in conſanguinity to the kings, whom by much policy he defeated.

ſpeaking great things] He ſhall be exceeding haughty in words, 1 Macc.1.25. and cruel in bloody Decrees; and a great blaſphemer of God himſelf, perſecuting the Saints, and commanding the aboliſhing of the Law, ver.25. Dan.8.23,25. & 36. 1 Mac.1.46,47. See the like to this in Pagan Rome, Rev.13.5.

V. 9. I beheld] And continued ſo.

till] Not that he left off beholding after. And in like ſenſe is the word uſed, 2 Sam.6.23. Pſal.110.1. Mat. 28. 20 & 1.25.

the Thrones were caſt down] Chald. Thrones were ſet up; or ſpeedily ſet, or they caſt them: ſpeaking imperſonally. See ver.10,22,26. Theſe are not the Thrones of the Beaſts, wherein they ruled before. But of the Ancient of dayes. Thrones for Judgment, on which Judges ſhould ſit; one Throne for God, the other for the Son of David. Yet this is not meant of the laſt Judgment, at the ſecond coming of Chriſt, Rev. 20.4. Mat.25.31, 32. But of Gods coming in judgement againſt Antiochus Epiphanes, in his time, and the remainds of the former Empires. That this is the meaning, appeares, by the words following; alſo by conference of verſes, 8, 11 20,22,25,26. that is, till God did enter into judgement againſt Antiochus Epiphanes, as we ſaid; for the deliverance, and for the revenge of his people the Jewes. A figurative deſcription it is; as Pſal.7.67. & 9. 4, 7. And when God comes to judgment, his enemies ſcatter, and their Thrones indeed are caſt down, Eſay 2. 10, &c. Joel 2. 11. Mal. 3. 2. Pſal. 9.4.

Ancient of dayes did ſit] A figurative repreſentation of God, which was before all times; and of his glorious Majeſty; ſet out unto us, as mans Nature is able to apprehend ſome portion of his glory. And God, or rather the Perſon of God the Father is here perſonally meant; as appears, ver. 13. For there Chriſt the Son of Man comes to him, is brought before him. As the like is, Apoc. 7. 6, 7. Theſe and other viſions of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghoſt, vouchſafed in Scripture, to Prophets, and Holy men of God, for ſpeciall ends, by the ſpecial pleaſure and diſpenſation of Gods Will, are not warrants for us to make pictures and Images, of the Perſons of the Trinity by them, againſt the rule of the ſecond Commandement.

did ſit] Pſal. 9. 4, 7. as Judges do on the Tribunal. So ſhewing his judicial authority. Their not ſitting in giving judgment, doth in Countries invallidate their ſentence.

garment white] To ſhadow out the Glory of his Majeſty, and the Innocency and pure Integrity of his Juſtice, Pſal. 104. 1, 2. & 51. 4. Rom. 3. 4. Thus Chriſt is ſet forth in garments white as ſnow, at his Transfiguration, Mat. 17. 3. And again, Apoc. 1. 14. The Angels, Mat. 28. 3. Act. 1. 10. The Saints in heaven, Apoc. 7. 13. & Chap. 4. 4. Joſephs veſtures in Egypt were of fine white linnen, Gen. 41. 42.

the fiery flame] Our God is a conſuming fire, Heb. 12. 29. Apoc. 1. 14. See Deut. 4. 12.

and his wheeles as burning fire] Gods Throne is here deſcribed with wheeles, 1 Chr. 28. 18. Ezek. 1. 15. & 10. 9. to ſhew that Gods providence moveth every where, to govern all things, and provide for all things: and it points out Gods celerity, and facility, in executing his judgments: as the lightning, &c. Mat. 24. 27. See Apoc. 1. 14, 15.

V. 10. a fiery ſtream iſſued] Hereby is ſignified the Inevitable and conſuming force of Gods judgments. See Pſal. 50. 3. & 97. 1—7. Iſa. 30. 33. for the comfort of the godly, and the terrour of the wicked.

thouſand thouſands] Pſal. 68. 17. Rev. 5. 11. 1 King. 22. 19.

miniſtred unto him] Pſal. 103. 20. & 34. 7. Math. 18. 10. Heb. 1. 14.

and ten thouſand times ten thouſand] An infinite number of holy Angels, which were ready to execute his Commandment, Mat. 26. 53. 2 King. 6. 17. which number more largely explicates the ſame thing which was intended in the former number: as Mat. 18. 21. Pſal. 91. 7. Not that from hence can be gathered a greater number of Angels that ſtand before God, then of thoſe that miniſter unto him; or that any ſuch different and diſtinction of angels can be made out of this verſe; as ſome Popiſh Schoolmen labour to do.

the Judgement was ſet] The Judge, with his miniſters and aſſiſtants, approving and praiſing his juſtice and judgments; as Pſal. 119. 137.

books were opened] Termes taken from judgments among men; In which the Inqueſt, proofs, confeſſions, and other evidences; and writings are produced to frame the Judgement by: and the Lawes alſo are conſidered, whereupon the Judgement is made. See Rev. 20. 12. where the like proceſſe is uſed in that laſt and general great Judgement day. Where the main Books are the Conſciences of men, Rom. 2. 14. and the Scriptures of God, Joh. 5. 45. Both then opened by God in a ſpecial manner, Pſal. 50. 21. Here the Impious actions of this horn, Antiochus Epiphanes, and evidences againſt him, are recited, as out of Books and Records, that for them, Judgment may paſſe upon him. It is not Antichriſt, as we have eftſoon ſaid, that is here judged and condemned, mentioned or meant.

V. 11. becauſe of the voyce of the great words] Chald. from the voyce; that is, from the time it was heard. For from that time of Antiochus Epiphanes, and becauſe of his great words againſt God, and the Church of God, then God began to ſhake and deſtroy the Kingdome of the Seleucidæ, with inward and with outward ſtirs.

even till the beaſt was ſlain] As in the Images ruine he began with the Legs firſt, and not with the Head, which firſt periſhed: ſo here, firſt he ſpeaketh of the ruine of the laſt; for the ſafety of his own Nation: that the Chaldeans ſhould pick no quarrel for this Viſion. The beaſt then here is the fourth and laſt beaſt. The Kingdome of the Seleucidæ, a while after Antiochus Epiphanes his death, 1 Mac. 6. 8, 13. was overthrown by the Parthians, and by Tygranes King of Armenia; as Appianus Alexandrinus ſhewes.

and his body deſtroyed] By Pompey the Great; taking Tygranes; aboliſhing the very ſhew and ſeeming face of a Kingdome; and reducing Syria into a province; as Appian and Joſephus teſtifie.

V. 12. As concerning the reſt of the beaſts] Chald. the reſidue of the beaſts, or their relicts and remainds. They now periſhed with this; and were utterly taken away by the Romanes. Or thus, ſpeaking in the time paſt; as the three former Monarchies have had an end, at the time that God appointed, although they flouriſhed for a time; ſo ſhall this fourth have; and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, ſhall enjoy the Promiſes.

they had their dominion taken away] Not at that very time they had it before. The meaning is, that every great Empire and Enemy, and Perſecuter of the Church, was deſtroyed before Chriſts coming upon the earth, from time to time, each one in his time; though the people of them ſtill continued and ſubſiſted, in ſome weak and low form of ſtate. See Dan. 2. 35. until all the remainders were brought under, by the Romanes.

yet their lives were prolonged] Chald. a prolonging in life was given them; had been given them; for a certain ſet time, by Gods providence; which time they could no wayes overpaſs. Thus whole kingdoms, though ſuffered long in ſin, yet at laſt are totally ruined for ſin.

V. 13. night-viſions] Verſ. 1.

behold] Daniels attentive heed; to the erection of the new and eternal kingdom of Chriſt.

one like the ſon of man] Or, as a ſon of man: Which is meant of Chriſt, who had not yet taken upon him mans nature; neither was the ſon of David, according to the fleſh, as he was afterward; but in viſion onely, and apparition here, Daniel ſeeth him coming from the Father, and returning to his Father again. The Jews grant Chriſt to be here ſo termed. And in the four Evangeliſts, our Saviour tearming himſelf Son of Man, moſt graciouſly calleth us to weigh this Text. This phraſe, like the Son of Man, is uſed alſo of him, in viſion, after his Aſcention, Revel. 1. 13. & 14. 14. and may intimate ſomewhat more in him, then meer man. See Joh. 1. 14. Thoſe places, Rom. 8. 3. Phil. 2. 7. ſhew the State and condition of his Humane Nature.

came] To work the myſtery of our redemption upon earth.

with the clouds of heaven] Roſe not out of the Sea; as thoſe former Beaſts and Empires did. But came in the clouds of heaven; from heaven, Pſal. 104. 3. Act. 1. 9, 11. Mat. 24. 30. & 26. 64. Revel. 1. 7. & 14. 14, 15, 16.

to the ancient of dayes] Chriſt, after his Reſurrection, is aſcended into heaven; and is ſet at the right hand of his Father; and from him hath obtained all power in heaven, and in earth. See Ezek. 1. 26. Joh. 16. 16, 28. Act. 1. 9. & 2. 34, 36. Heb. 1. 3, 4. Rev. 1. 13. & 14. 14.

and they brought him neer before him] Or, was brought; imperſonally. Or, the holy Angels did it. For though Chriſt aſcended by vertue of his Divinity; yet Angels are his miniſtring ſpirits, to attend on him, Heb. 1. 6, 14. This is not meant of his ſecond coming to judgment; nor can be ſo properly applyed thereunto.

V. 14. dominion and glory] This is meant of the begining of Chriſts kingdom, Mat. 28. 18. Joh. 3. 35. When God the Father, at his aſcention, ſpecially, gave unto him all dominion as to the Mediatour; to the intent that he ſhould govern, here, his Church on earth continually, till the time that he brought them to eternal life. This is the ſitting at the right hand of his Father, Pſal. 2. 4—10. And this power he exerciſeth in the midſt of his foes; maintaining his Church, and overthrowing his enemies; as it is, Pſalm. 110. 1, 2.

and a kingdom] The concluſion of our Lords prayer. Mat. 6. 13. calleth into our minds this ſpeech; and teacheth of the King of Eternity, 1 Tim. 1. 17. who joyneth Jews and Gentiles, in one kingdom.

that all people] Pſal. 2. 8. Eph. 1. 20, 21, 22, 23. Phil. 2. 9, 10, 11. Revel. 19. 16. Jews and Gentiles. Not ſo was it with any earthly Monarch whatſoever.

his dominion] Chald. ſaltan: Whence poſſibly the word, ſultan, or, ſoldan, might ariſe.

an everlaſting Dominion] Chap. 2. 44. Pſal. 145. 13. Mic. 4. 7. Luk. 1. 33. To endure after his aſcention for ever. This is the dominion and power of his office, given to the Perſon of the Mediatour, in regard of both his Natures; and diſtinct from the eſſential power of the divine Nature. And this argues not the conſtant viſibility, and outward flouriſhing eſtate of any one particular Chriſtian Church on earth: but the duration of Chriſts dominion, in his Church, in this world, even in the midſt of his enemies, Mat. 16. 18. & 28. 18, 20. Pſal. 110. 2. and the complement thereof in the Church triumphant for ever.

V. 15. I Daniel] The interpretation of the whole viſion, by an Angel, at the requeſt of Daniel.

was grieved in my ſpirit] Much perplexed and wounded, as if a weapon had pierced through him.

body] Chald. ſheath; as if his ſpirit had left it; and his body were become as a dead ſheath.

troubled me] According to the manner of Prophets, Daniel ſpecially, who, after their extaſis, through the greatneſſe, and brightneſſe of the ſight of Gods Majeſty, which did dazle their ſenſes, tyre their ſpirits, and over-do their natural faculties, were aſtoniſhed and fainted. See Chap. 7. 28. & 8. 27. & 10. 8, 16. and troubled alſo at the wonder of the viſion, and in that he knew not what ſhould be meant by it. And thus was Pharaoh trouled at his divine dreams, Gen.41.8. and Nebuchadnezzar, Dan. 2. 1. which ſtirred them up ſo much to know the interpretation of them.

V. 16. unto one of them that ſtood by] Namely, one of the Angels that appeared in this viſion; as verſ.10.

the truth of all this] The proper meaning.

V. 17. theſe great beaſts] Likely ſo called, in conſideration of their beaſtly and ſavage dealing, againſt the families of our Lords anceſtors, the houſe of Zerobabel, and the Nation that ſhould have their kings from it.

four Kings] Kingdoms, verſ.23,24. whereof, Chap. 2. 39, 40. He may ſeem to uſe the term Kings, rather then kingdoms, that the next verſe, ſhort in the Chaldee, ſhould not be miſtaken; and that none ſhould think of four kings, to hold a kingdom for ever and ever; as the tranſlation of that verſe will bear. The] Prophet ſeems not unwilling to hide his minde from ſavage Heathen.

ſhall ariſe] The Chaldean kingdom was riſen already, and in preſent being. He ſpeaks, as reſpecting the greater part.

ariſe] Ariſing here, may, perhaps have a kind of relation to their riſing over the kingdom of the Saints, and with-holding it.

out of the earth] Sea, verſ.3. They are diſtinct, Rev.13. 1, 11. Here one is an explication of the other; meaning the world, and the tempeſtuous troubles, and rowling changes of it.

V. 18. But] Or the verſe may be rendred thus; And they ſhall take the kingdom of the Saints of the moſt high; but they that are Saints, ſhall poſſeſſe the kingdom for ever, even for ever and ever. Meaning, though thoſe four kingdoms which Daniel ſpeaketh of, ſhould, for a time, rule over the Jews; (who are called the Saints of the higheſt here, and after, verſ. 21,22.) yet Chriſt coming ſhould ſet up a Kingdom, to rule for ever. But our own tranſlation, beſt agrees with the Chaldee diſtinction, here uſed; and with the Context following, in this verſe, and verſ.22, & 27.

the Saints] The houſe Zorobabel, by Abihud, and Rheſa, Mat. 1. 33. Luk.3.27. (though they be not mentioned among Zerobabels ſons, 1 Chro.3.19.) and the godly of their Nation; to wit, the Church of God, in Chriſt her head, firſt, and afterward the whole Body, which ſhall be perfectly united with him, ſhall receive from God, a ſpiritual and everlaſting kingdom. See verſ.22. Iſa,60.12. Rev.1.6. & 5.10. whereof the Maccabees Principality was but a ſhadow; and was between the reign of Antiochus, and the coming of Chriſt.

of the moſt high] Chald. high ones; that is, things, or, places; that is, of the moſt high things, becauſe God hath choſen them out of this world, that they ſhould look up to the heavens, whereon all their hope dependeth: or higheſt, in the plural number, to teach us of the divine perſons, as Abraham ſpeaketh plurally, Gen.20.13. and David, 2 Sam.7.22. Here, it was fit in a diſtinct viſion of the ſon, and of the father; as thrones alſo are plural, ver.9. See Eccl.5.8.

that take the kingdom] That Kingdom, ver.14. not that the Beaſts ſhould take the kingdom of the Saints of the moſt High, or of the moſt high God, and poſſeſſe it for ever, as the Trent Bible renders it, and foreeth its followers commonly to expound it. But the Saints ſhould take and poſſeſſe it; as hath been ſaid.

V. 19. Then I would] Not ſatisfied with that ſhort anſwer; he deſires to know more.

of the fourth beaſt] Of this ſpecially: for of this, moſt and laſt was mentioned in the viſion, ver. 7,8,&c. many ſtrange and prodigious things ſpoken of it; and therefore Daniel repeats them here again, with ſome enlargments.

was diverſe] Ver. 7. It was partly unlike, becauſe two Kings, Syria and Egypt, both claimed right over Judah, ſince the dayes of Seleucus Nicanor, and Ptolomy Lagi, and made continual wars for it: but divers alſo in cruel ſpoyling the Jewes, and in hatred of their Religion: which Babel, Madai, and Alexander, more favoured. See ver.23.

and his nails of braſſe] Or, Steel. This not mentioned in the viſion, ver. 7. This ſignifies, that this Kingdom of the Seleucidæ, ſhould tear in pieces the Jewes, as a wild beaſt teareth his prey with his clawes. This we ſee in the hiſtory of Joſephus, and the Maccabees.

V. 20. ten horns] Of the Kings Seleucidæ and Lagidæ, which greatly troubled the Kingdom, when the houſe of Zorobabel ſhould have reigned to the glory and comfort of all the world, ver.8.

and of the other] Particularly of that, becauſe the things ſpoken of it, did ſeem ſtrange and prodigious, and to prognoſtick and portend ſome great and fearful, direful, and ominous matters; and therefore he doth here again recount them, as ver.8,11.

before whom three fell] See Annotations on ver. 8. and ver.24.

whoſe look] This not mentioned in the viſion, ver.7,8. there called a little horn; for ſuch was Antiochus Epiphanes at the beginning. Here his lookes more ſtout then his fellowes; for ſo in the end he exceeded them all in power, and great enterpriſes, Chap.8.10.& 11.37.

V. 21. made war] See the like, Apoc.11.7.& 13.7. Thus the wicked, even the Babylonians in their time, Zach. 1. 19, 21. Antiochus in his time; and Antichriſt in his time likewiſe, prevail over the Saints, verſ.19. of this Chapter. This made Daniel ſo inquiſitive after this beaſt, and the particularities of it: though this War with the Saints, and prevailing over them, was not ſpecified in the viſion before.

with the Saints] With the Jews, as the Books of the Maccabees do ſhew. Papiſts, underſtanding this little Horn of their conceited Antichriſt, that ſhould reign but three years and an half before the end of the world, and Chriſts ſecond coming to judgment, do make the Saints here, to be the Elect and godly, living in that ſhort time. And this War to be that of Antichriſt againſt them: and hereunto they apply, Mat. 24. 21,24. & Rev.13.7.

V. 22. Ancient of dayes came] See verſ.9. Till God ſhewed his power in the Perſon of Chriſt; and by the preaching of the Goſpel, gave unto his Son reſt.

and judgment was given] Neither was this mentioned before. The meaning is, till the Ancient of dayes came, verſ. 9. and gave the power of judgment to them, in Chriſt the Head; in whom, the Saints are the judges of the world, 1 Cor.6.2.3. Mat.19.28. and they obtained, by the preaching of the Goſpel, a famous name in the world, and became, in name and truth, the kingdom of God.

to the ſaints] To the people of God, ver.18.21,25. Chap. 8.24. and 11.30. To them, and on their behalfe; to poſſeſſe the kingdome.

poſſeſſed the kingdome] Ver.14. It was given to Chriſt: the ſaints here poſſeſſe it, in him their head; they poſſeſſe it as partners with him, and partakers in their degree and capacity. This muſt arme Gods people with patience, under the soreſt perſecutions, and fill them with comfort and expectation in the mean time.

V. 23. Thus he ſaid] To wit, the angell; of whom he asked information concerning this matter, ver.16. anſwering in order to the four-points of Daniels queſtion.

the fourth beaſt] The kingdome of Aſia; or Syria, or of the Seleucidæ; ſo called, becauſe the far greater part of thoſe kings, were Seleucidæ, two onely of the Lagidæ excepted: we may not with the Romiſh church, underſtand this of the Roman Empire, as hath been ſaid.

which ſhall be divers] In cruelty; and is ſhewed in the next words, Not greater then all kingdomes; as the Trent Bible hath it: to make it thereby to be underſtood of the Romane Empire.

devour the whole earth] Not all the world; but the Holy Land, Namely Judea; as appears by verſ. 21,25. breaking and trampling it more then the three former Beaſts did. See Luk.23.44.

V. 24. And the ten hornes] Verſe 7,8.

are ten Kings] viz. Seleucus Nicanor, Antiochus Soter, Antiochus Theos, Seleucus Callinicus, Ptolemæus Evergetes Lagida, Seleucus Ceraunus, Antiochus Magnus, Ptolomæus Philopater Lagida, Seleucus Philopater, Antiochus Epiphanes. More kings reigned after theſe ten: but they poſſeſſed not Judea; and ſo could not afflict the Jewes, Gods people: and therefore in this Viſion, which is vouchſafed for the Jews ſake, no notice is taken of them. Of theſe things we read in Appianus Alexandrinus, Memnon, Joſephus, and others. The Papiſts here, conſtant and conſonant to their former errour, do make theſe 10 Hornes anſwerable to the 10 Toes of the Feet of Nebuchadnezzars Image, Chap.2.33,41,42. and underſtand both of the Roman Empire, to be divided into 10 kings or kingdomes a little before the end of the World: and to the ſame purpoſe they apply the 10 Hornes of that ſeven-Headed Beaſt, Rev.13.1. & 17.3,7,12. And yet they miſerably vary among themſelves about theſe kings, and their number. But, as we have eftſoones ſaid, Daniels propheſie and viſions meddle not at all with the Romane Empire, but as it may in ſome reſpect relate to the firſt coming of Chriſt.

and another ſhall riſe after them] Antiochus Epiphanes, the laſt of thoſe ten; and the laſt of the Seleucidæ, that reigned over Judæa: for in his time the Maccabees delivered the Jewes from his tyranny and perſecution. Moſt Papiſts apply this to Antichriſt; ſome, to Mahomet.

divers from the firſt] More cruel to the Jewes; and perfidious, then the former nine Kings, 1 Mac.1.11.

three Kings] Ptolomæus Philopater, whom he, joyning Forces with his father, and brother, drove out of Syria. Antiochus tiochus the Great, (his father) and Seleucus Philopator, his elder brother, whom he poiſoned by Heliodorus. Others, more rightly, inſtead of his father Antiochus Magnus, do put for the third, Demetrius the ſon of his brother Seleucus, the right heir. In applying this to antichriſt, Papiſts rather ſay nothing, or confeſſe they can only divine.

V. 25. and he ſhall ſpeak] Chap. 8. 24, 25. & 11. 28, 30. 1 Mac.1.46. See the like, Rev.13.5. 2 Theſſ.2.4.

againſt the moſt high] That is, ſpeak blaſphemies againſt God; and make wicked Decrees and proclamations againſt Gods Word, and ſend through all his Dominion, tyrannically and cruelly to deſtroy all the Jewes and godly people that did profeſſe and practice it. This is largely ſet down, Chap.11.

Saints] Ver.21. Chap.8.24,25.

to change times] Sabbaths, Paſſeover, Pentecoſt, expiation-day, the Feaſt of Tabernacles, New Moons, the ſeven years reſt, and ſuch like, Dan.8.11. & 11.31. 1 Mac.1.47,48. miſerable ſhifts are made by Papiſts to apply this to their conceited antichriſt.

and Lawes] all Moſes Ceremonies, and Lawes, 1 Mac. 1. taking upon him a Divine power, uſurping Gods own authority over his people; changing and aboliſhing Gods Laws, making new Lawes of his own clean contrary to Gods; and forcing moſt cruelly the peoples obedience unto them.

ſhall be given] He ſhall give ſuch Lawes; and the Saints ſhall be given into his hand, to be oppreſſed, worn out, and over-powred by him.

time and times] a time here is a year: times, two years; and a dividing, or particle of time, ſeemes to be ten dayes; as the hiſtory of the Maccabees ſets it down, from the year 145. moneth 9. day 15. of the reign of the Greeks or Seleucidæ, untill the year 148. moneth 9. day 25. 1 Macc. 1. 54. and Chap.4.52. See Chap.12.7. and the like, Chap.4.16. and Rev.12,14. & Chap.13.5.

and the dividing of time] Trent Bible thus; half a time. And ſo they expound it, half a year: contrary to the warrant of the Text, and the truth of the ſtory.

V. 26. But the Judgment ſhall ſit] Ver.9. God, the ancient of dayes, the juſt Judge ſhall ſit in Judgment; and thenceforth not ceaſe to execute his Judgements, to take away, conſume, and utterly deſtroy that little horn; and the whole kingdome of the Seleucidæ; the fourth beaſt, ver.9,11. And this was done by the Maccabees, the Parthians, Tigranes; and laſtly and utterly by the Romane Pompey the Great; as Appianus in his book of the Wars of Syria, and other Authors do record. And theſe deſtructions are handled in Ezek. Chap.38. & 39. And about 150 years afore our Lords Birth, are ſpent in this waſting of Syria and Egypt, the Seleucidæ and Lagidæ, by wars among themſelves, and with the Maccabees, and others; as hath been ſaid,

V. 27. And the Kingdome] Verſ.14. Luk.1.33. He ſheweth wherefore the Beaſt ſhould be deſtroyed; to wit, that his Church might have reſt and quietneſſe, and a kingdome. Which reſt although they do not wholly enjoy here; yet they have it in hope; and by the preaching of the Goſpel, enjoy the beginning thereof; which is meant by theſe words, under the heavens: and therefore he here ſpeaketh of the beginning of Chriſts Kingdome in this world, the Kingdome of the Meſſias; when Chriſt begins to reign in the hearts of the faithful amongſt all the Nations of the whole world, Mar.16.15.

ſhall be given to the people] Ver.14. It was given to the Son. Here to the people of the Moſt high. The Faithfull have it by the participation that they have with Chriſt their Head, 1 Cor.1.9. The head communicating its glory to its body. For Chriſt with all he hath as Redeemer, is conſidered as ours; His righteouſneſſe, ſufferings, Kingdome, ours, Rom.8.32. Hence are thoſe ſpeeches, 1 Pet.2.9. Rev. 1.6. & 5.10. Mat.11.12.

whoſe Kingdome] Upon this all the New Teſtament goeth, and Paul to Timothy ſpeaketh, 1 Tim.1.17. He advanceth the Goſpel, and the praiſe of the King eternal, uncorrupt, Inviſible, God only wiſe. Alſo the Revelation after the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, is a heavenly Commentary upon this part.

is an everlaſting Kingdome] Ver.14. Heb.12.26,27. though after a thouſand years Satan was looſed for a little ſeaſon, Rev.20.23. Mat.16.18.

and all Dominions] Or, Rulers; that is ſome of every ſort that bear rule; ſome of them, in all parts of the world. So 1 Tim.2.4.

V. 28. Hitherto is the end of the matter] Here end the Viſions of Daniel; which the Prophet penned in the tongue known over the Eaſt, and South; wherein the Jewes are not deſcribed plainly to be the people, for whom God plagueth the Kingdomes: and that the Heathen might be drawn to think ſomewhat better of the God of heaven. And more properly here ends the angels Interpretation, and what he revealed touching the future ſtate of the Church.

As for me Daniel] Chald. I Daniel.

my cogitations] Verſ.15. Chap.8.27. & 10.8. Though he had many Motions in his heart which moved him to and fro to ſeek out this matter cunningly: yet he was content with that which God revealed, and kept it in memory, and wrote it for the uſe of the Church, 1 Cor.4.6.

my Countenance changed] Chald. my brightneſſes changed; that is, the brightneſſe of my Countenance. I became all pale and wan; both in regard of the raptures of the Spirit; as alſo through horrour of the predictions againſt Gods people, ver.23,25.

But I kept the matter in my heart] Faithfully to deliver it to the Church of God. Thus was Daniel affected in his heart with Gods Word, and the revelation of his Will. And ſo ſhould we be.

CHAP. VIII.

Verſ. 1. IN] This Chapter expounds the ſecond, and the ſeventh Chapters. For here is a third deſcription of thoſe Kingdomes or Monarchies; and that more largely; and cleerly, then formerly. Onely the Chaldean Monarchy is omitted here; and ſo in the Viſions and Chapters following, as being now at the point of expiration; and in the time of the Viſions and Propheſies following clean extinct. And therefore alſo this Chapter, and the reſt that follow, are not written by Daniel in the Chaldee tongue; as all the former were, which concerned the Chaldeans, and behoved them to know. But in the Hebrew tongue, for the peculiar uſe of the Church of the Jewes; to inform them of their eſtate in future times, to arme them with patience, againſt perſecutions coming; and comfort them in expectation of joyful deliverance at the laſt. And theſe Viſions are commanded to be ſhut up and ſealed, Chap.8.26. & Chap.12,4. as being for future ages; and leſt the Naming of thoſe Heathen perſecutors (as is done in theſe viſions) being known to them, might create further danger to Gods people.

the third year] and therefore before that in the fifth Chapter.

unto me, even unto me] Verſ. 15. to diſtinguiſh theſe Viſions, from thoſe of Nebuchadnezzar, Chap. 2.4. Daniels perſon adds to the authority of theſe Viſions, 2 Tim.3.14.

at the firſt] In the firſt year of Belſhazzar, Chap.7.1.

V. 2. in a Viſion] Not in a Dream, but in Viſion: ſo twice in this verſe, and once in the former. See Annotations on Chap.2.19. & on Chap.7.1. And yet this might be in the night, on his bed, in his ſleep.

at Shuſhan] In viſion and extaſie there; ſo much the former words import, and no more. And therefore then he was moſt likely at Babylon in body; This being but the third year of Belſhazzars reign: and ſo ver.27. ſo Ezekiel being bodily preſent in Meſopotamia, in the Viſions of God was brought into the land of Iſrael, Ezek.8.3. & 40. 2. men in Viſions, as in Dreams, many times think themſelves to be corporally in places, where indeed they are not. The arms and breaſt, and the Bear, are here now again in the third Viſion, and more cleerly deſcribed then formerly; for the more certainty of the thing; as Gen. 41. 25, 32. and that Judah ſhould be the more skilful in this matter. Shuſhan, or Suſis, whence the Countrey about it is called Suſiane. Of this Shuſhan, we read Neh.1.1. Eſth.1.2,5. & 2.3. & 3.15. & 8.14. & 9.6. The word Shuſan, ſignifies a Lilly, in the Greek; a Fountain, or Well, in that Countrey language.

Palace] The place of royal reſidence, the Metropolitane City of Perſia; where was a moſt ſtrong Tower or Caſtle, moſt ſtrongly fortified for the Keeping of the Perſian Treaſure. Brought to this perfection afterwards by Darius the ſon of Hyſtaſpes, as Pliny relates. Here the kings of Perſia afterwards kept their Court, and made their ſtay one part of the year, Eſth.1.2,5. Otherwhiles they did, as Perſepolis, and Echatana, Q. Curtius, lib.5. The word alſo ſignifies a Caſtle, Court, and Temple.

Province] Some Tranſlations read Region; ſome, City.

of Elam] Gen.10.22. the Weſt part of Perſia; next to the Confines of Babylon. See Act.2.9.

river of Ulai] Trent Bible, Port or gate of Ulai: without any warrant, and againſt the Hebrew Text.

Ulai] Or, Eulæus; that compaſſed the city Shuſhan round about. This River was held by them in ſome ſacred eſteem. And therefore their Kings drunk of this River onely, and had the water of it carried along to remote places with them. See Plin.l.6. c.27. It ſeems alſo to be called Choaſpes; as uſually the ſame River, ſpecially at divers places, is commonly called by divers names; as likewiſe the famous Rivers, Danubius, Tygris, and Euphrates are. Here Daniel at the River Ulai. And again, at Hiddekel, Chap.10.4. as Ezekiel at the River Cheber, Chap.1.1. and John at Jordan, Mat.3. 16,17.

V. 3. My eyes] The eyes of his mind, in this intellectuall, ſpiritual Viſions, illuminated with Divine light; and the eyes of his body, having thoſe ſimilitudes of corporal things formed in the inward ſenſe of his imagination.

before the river] Ulay, at Suſis ; where was the ordinary reſidence and court of the Kings of Perſia, as was ſaid ; and therefore very fit that this Viſion was ſeen there.

a Ram] A figure of the Perſian and Median Empire; ſignified by the two hornes ; as ver.20. by the Images breaſt, and armes of ſilver, Dan.2.32. and by the bear, Dan. 7.5. We may be here too curious in ſearching out reaſons of this Aſſimilation, between the Ram and this Monarchy. But ſure we are, that this Monarchy was more uſeful, favourable, and beneficial to the Jews, then any of the other.

two hornes] The word is of the dual Number. Theſe are Medes and Perſians.

high] Not crooked, as Rams hornes uſe to be. In the Hornes, and Head, the force of Rams doth conſiſt.

one was higher] The kingdome of Perſia, which though founded after that of Media, grew far greater then it, by the victories of Cyrus the Perſian, who gained Media, Babylon, and many Countries more.

then the other] Heb. the ſecond.

laſt] The Kingdome of Perſia, was later then that of Media. Cyrus the Perſian ſucceeded Darius the Mede ; and Perſians ſtill ſucceeded Cyrus in that Empire.

V. 4. Weſtward] Heb. the Sea, that is, the midland Sea, which is Weſtward from Shuſhan, and Perſia, which were in the Eaſt part of the world. (ſee Annotations on Ezek. 10.3.) He underſtands hereby Babylon, Syria, Cappadocia, leſſer Aſia and Græcia.

and Northward] Lydia, Armenia, Scythia, Pontus, the Caſpians, and Northern Nations.

and Southward] Arabia, Ethiopia, Egypt, Lybia, &c. See Chap.7.5. Eſth.1.1.

no beaſts might ſtand before him] That is, no Kings or Nations, could hinder his enterpriſes and actions, Jer.51.30. though the Aſſyrians Cræſus, and many other kingdomes and nations aſſiſted the Babylonians. Thus God by the Perſian, revenged the cauſe of his Church and people, againſt the Babylonians, Jer.51.56, 50, 15, 18, 24,25, 28, 29,34.

out of his hand] This improperly aſcribed to a Ram. The meaning is plain and uſuall ; out of his power.

V. 5. An he-goat] By this is figured the kingdome of Greece, and Macedonia, under Alexander ; ver.21. All the braſs and iron, Chap.2.33,39. alſo the leopard, and the fourth beaſt, Dan.7.6,7. are in this he-goat, or buck. And this is a ſweet Commentary upon them. This propheſie was ſhewed by Jaddua the high Prieſt, to Alexander, when he entred into Ieruſalem, ſome two years before he conquered Darius Codomannus, the laſt Perſian Emperour, *Joſephus, l.*11. c.8. Antiquit. Jud.

from the weſt] From Greece and Macedon, weſtward from Aſia ; where the Prophet was, and where the Perſians reigned.

whole earth] So Dan.2.39. all Aſia ; all that land wherein Daniel was ; that which was moſt eſteemed, and beſt known in all the world. Alexander complained, that he had not another world to overcome. unus pellæo juveni non ſufficit Orbis ; juvenal, Satyr.10.

and touched not the ground] Or, none touched him in the earth ; ſo ſwiftly great Alexander conquered the Eaſt in ſixe years ; as flying above the earth, rather then going on the earth ; an hyperbole, as that alſo is, Joh.21.25. See Chap. 7.6. four wings of a fowl, added to a ſwift Leopard. Thus Virgil ſpeaks of Camilla : and Ovid of Atalanta.

a notable horne] Heb. a horn of ſight. Alexander was the notableſt for his ſtrange ſucceſſe in wars, of any that ever warred, ver.8,21. It is called the great horne.

between his eyes] As an Unicorn, whoſe ſtrength is mentioned, Numb. 23. 26. Job 39.12——15. And by the eyes, may be figured as Alexanders own ſharpneſſe of wit, quick inſight, and foreſight, and clearneſſe of wiſdome ; ſo alſo his wiſe Captains, that were as eyes to him. Such were Parmenio, and others. This horne not ſeen in a Goat ; as neither the four Hornes, ver.8.

V. 6. came to the Ram.] a deſcription of Alexanders acts againſt Perſia, whereby he overthrew that kingdome, and made himſelf Lord of Aſia.

In the fury of his power] This place is a ſweet abridgement of all Great Alexanders conqueſts.

V. 7. moved with Choler] at Granicon water in his firſt fought field he did well.

and ſmote the ram] at Iſſicon, a Town in Cilicia, the ſecond battel, he did better : and took priſoners Darius his Mother, wife, and Children, among others.

and brake his two hornes] Thirdly, at Gangamela, he killed of men about 600000. as ſome write, and got the Empire.

V. 8. he-goat] The word ſignifies a young he-goat : as Alexander was young, at that time about 26. year old ; and about 20. when he began to ſet upon his great warres. See Zach.16.3.

the great horne] Alexander dyed ſuddenly in the flowr of his age, and in the middle of his victories, ver.22. when he was 33 years old, and had held the Monarchy ſix or ſeven years ; as Arianus, Plutarchus, and Diodorus Siculus do report. Such is the Inſtability of earthly Monarchs, and all worldly glory ; even when it is at the height, Pſal.82.6,7.

and for it came up] Or, ſtood up for it : after divers horrible ſlaughters and murders in Alexanders family ; and conflicts and bloodſhed among his Chieftains and Commanders, a while foregoing, Chap. 7.8,11,21.

four notable ones] Out of the Nation ; but not in his power, ver.22. Seleucus Nicator had the kingdome of the Eaſt, Syria, and Babylon, and Perſia. Perdiccas, Caſſander, and Philippus Aridæus had Macedonia, in the Weſt. Antigonus had Aſia the leſſe, and more, Northward : and Ptolemy Lagides, had Egypt Southward ; and at laſt theſe were reduced to two, the Seleucidæ, and Lagidæ.

V. 9. and out of one of them] That is, out of Seleucidæ that reigned in Babylon and Syria.

came forth] Chap.7.8. & 11.21.

a little horne] Chap.7.8. Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a ſervile and flattering Nature ; and alſo there were other between him and the kingdome : and therefore is here called the little horne, becauſe neither Princely conditions, nor yet any other thing was in him, why he ſhould obtain the Kingdome, Chap.11.21.

toward the South] That is, toward Egypt, which Antiochus ſeized upon, Chap.11.25,40,43. Himſelf had and held the North ; that is, Syria, and Babylon.

the Eaſt] That is Perſia, which was alſo conquered by Antiochus.

pleaſant land] So is Judea, or the land of Iſrael called in Scripture ; In regard of its great prerogatives, temporal and ſpiritual ; it being the Tſeby of all lands ; the ornament, pleaſure, and Nobleneſſe : or as it were the pleaſant Roe, Prov.5.19. Thus again, Dan.11.16,41,45. Zech.7.14. Of this Land, ſee Ezek.20.6,15. yet it moſt was for Jeruſalems ſake, Pſal.48.2. and Gods Temple, and Service there. See theſe enterpriſes of Antiochus upon Judea, Chap.11.30. and following Verſes.

V. 10. to the hoſt] Or, againſt the hoſt, ver.24. Chap. 7.18. & 11.32. Antiochus raged againſt the Church of God, which is a heaven where God dwelleth in Grace ; and where the Faithful do hold the place of Angels. See Eſay 14.13. He made way againſt Religion, and the Temple, and the holy Jewes.

Caſt down] That is, ſlew ſome of the Choyſe, in Church and Common wealth ; In offices and graces : ſome of the elect, which are called the hoſt of heaven, and ſtars ; becauſe they are ſeparated from the world, and whoſe names are written in heaven, Chap.12.3. Luk. 10. 20. Thus he brought heaven under his feet, to trample on it. Thus he dealt with old Eleazarus, and with the mother, and her ſeven ſons, 2 Macc. 6. 7. Chapters.

V. 11. Even to the prince of the hoſt] Ver.25. or againſt ; daring to puſh, not onely at the high Prieſt, or Judas Maccabeus ; But at God himſelf ; The Son of God, who as a Prince in a ſingular manner reignes in and over his people. And this Antiochus did, by bearing an hoſtile ſpirit againſt the God of the Jewes ; by blaſpheming him, and violating his Temple, ſervice, and glory ; as is ſhewed in the words following. See Chap.7.25. & 11.22,36. 2 Macc.5.11——17. & verſ.21,24,26.

by him] Or, from him : by him, that is, by Antiochus ; rather then from him ; that is, from the Prince of the hoaſt.

daily ſacrifice] Ver.13. Namely, the Morning and Evening ſacrifice ; the law whereof is in Exod.29.38, &c. Numb. 28.3. and alſo all other Sacrifices, and Feaſts, and the whole worſhip of God ; which Antiochus to his utmoſt power by all means did labour to put down, as the books of Maccabees to ſhew, 1 Mac.1.44——64.

place of his Sanctuary] The Temple of Jeruſalem ; called by many ſeveral names in Scripture. As the Church is called by many names and titles in the Old and New Teſtament.

V. 12. an hoſt was given him againſt the daily ſacrifice] Or, the hoſt was given over, for the tranſgreſſion againſt the daily ſacrifice. The hoſt of the Jewes was given over to him and his power, becauſe of their tranſgreſſion againſt the daily ſacrifice;

ſacrifice. Or, The Faithful ſhall be in great danger of apoſtatizing from the true Religion; and Antiochus ſhall give them many occaſions to do it, and ſhall ſeek to induce them to it by force, craft, and all means: and the Lord ſhall put them to this tryal, Chap.11.32,35. 1 Mac.1.

by reaſon of tranſgreſſion] Tranſgreſſion the reaſon and cauſe of all calamities.

caſt down the truth] all uſe, preaching, and profeſſion of Gods Truth, and Doctrine of ſalvation, ſhall be forbidden and ſuppreſſed by Antiochus; who did ſeek to deſtroy the very books of the Law, 1 Mac.1.59. See Annotations on ver. 26. See Eſay 59.14.

and it practiſed and proſpered] That is, that Horne: and Horne being of the feminine gender; hath theſe words likewiſe of the feminine gender to agree with it: and verſ.24. theſe words are put in the maſculine gender, to agree with the word King, of the maſculine gender in ver.23. Thus the moſt wicked men do proſper; even in their vileſt practiſes againſt Gods people, by reaſon of their tranſgreſſions. So did Nebuchadnezzar in his time.

V. 13. one Saint ſpeaking] That is, a certain Saint: meaning, that he heard by an inward hearing, one of the Angels asking this queſtion of Chriſt; though ſome ſay, of another, and higher Angel. Angels deſire to ſee into the myſteries of God, 1 Pet.1.12. Eph.3.10. and to know a ſpeedy end of ſo great a devaſtation of Gods Saints and ſervice, as was here foreſhewed.

and another Saint] Heb. and a certain Saint; that is, either the former, or another holy Angel. See Zach.2.3.

unto that certain Saint] Heb. unto a certain one, or a ſecret one, or a marvellous one, or the Numberer of ſecrets; or, the wonderful Numberer. The Hebrew word is Palmoni; which may ſeem to be compounded of two words, peloni, and almoni: and theſe are uſed by the Hebrewes when they will note out a certain man, and yet not name him; as Ruth 4.1. 1 Sam.21.2. & 2 King.6.8. Mat.26.18. The Greeks expreſſe this by ὁ δεῖνα. See Ezra 4.10. This Saint unnamed, or this wonderful Numberer; compoſing the word of pala, and manah, is moſt commonly and probably conceived to be Chriſt, the Wiſdome, and the Word of the Father; who knowes all the ſecrets of his Wiſdome moſt perfectly; and ſpeaks them to men and angels in the Church, according to the times and ſeaſons of his Divine adminiſtration and diſpenſation. Thereupon he is asked here; and gives charge and direction, verſ. 16. See Rev.1.1. & Zech.1.9,11,12.

viſion concerning the daily ſacrifice] That is to ſay, the things ſignified by it, and ſaid of it; how long ſhall they continue?

tranſgreſſion] The idolatry of Jupiter Olympius, which Antiochus had ſet up in the temple, in ſtead of Gods pure worſhip, 2 Mac. 6.1, 2. which cauſed the extream deſolation of the people; in ſome, ſpiritually, by apoſtaſie; in otherſome, bodily; by perſecutions and torments, Dan. 11.31. & 12. 11. 1 Macc.1.57. & Chap.6. verſ.7.

of deſolation] Or, making deſolate.

V. 14. he ſaid unto me] Chriſt the Palmoni, or wonderful Numberer, verſ.13. anſwered, not the Angel, that asked the queſtion, as the Trent Bible hath it; but unto Me; for the comfort of his Church, whom it moſt concerned; and for whoſe ſake, moſt likely, the Angel asked the queſtion.

unto two thouſand three hundred dayes] Thus punctual is Daniels prophecy. That is, untill ſo many natural dayes be paſt, which make ſix years, three moneths and an half, or neer upon three weeks; for ſo long, under Antiochus, was this deſolation; from that defection of the people, procured by Menelaus, the High Prieſt, in his time, in the 142. year, ſix moneth, ſix day of the kingdom of the Greeks, or Seleucidæ; as Joſephus records in the 12. book, and Chap. 6. of his antiquities. See 2 Macc. 4.23, 27. when the hoſt of Gods people (concerning whom alſo the angel inquired) began to be trodden under feet; and continuing, till the cleanſing of the Sanctuary, building the altar, and ſacrificing upon it, which was in the 148. year nineth moneths, twenty fifth day, 1 Macc.4.52. This then is another reckoning, from another beginning, differing from that, Chap. 7. 25. & Cap. 12. 71. That was of three years and ten dayes; beginning from the building of that idolatrous altar, 1 Macc. 1. 54, 59. and ending at the re-building of Gods altar, and reſtoring his worſhip, 1 Mac.4.52. This, of ſix years, three moneths and eighteen dayes, beginning and ending, as aforeſaid. Or, if we ſhould reckon theſe ſix years, three moneths, and about nineteen dayes, from the beginning of Antiochus, his firſt bloody perſecution, in the beginning of the year of the Greeks, 143. to the year of his death, which was in the year, 149. the time will not much differ. See 1 Mac.1.20. & 6. 16.

dayes] Heb. evening-morning. So verſ.26. called, νυχθήμερον, 2 Cor.11.25. The evening, being the beginning of the day of twenty four hours; as the darkneſs was before light, Gen. 1. ver.2,3. And ſo is the day reckoned, Gen.1. ver.5,13,19—23,31. and ſo Exod. 12. 18. Lev. 23.32. The conſideration whereof, and of the change of the beginning of the day, in our Saviour Chriſts time, may help to reconcile that difficulty, and difference of the day, wherein our Saviour before his Paſſion, and wherein the Jews did eat the Paſſover, after his Paſſion.

cleanſed] It ſhall be purified from its uncleanneſs. Heb. juſtified. That is, ſet free by Gods juſt judgment, from Antiochus his tyranny, who had made it a receptacle of Idols: to be again according to its firſt inſtitution, the holy temple of the true God. This was done by Judas Maccabeus, 1 Macc. 4. 52.

V. 15. I, even I Daniel] Verſ. 1. Chap.7.15,16. Here is his attention to the viſion, and deſire of knowing and underſtanding it more fully and diſtinctly.

ſtood before me] According to the apprehenſion of his inward ſenſes and ſight.

as the appearance of a man] Not Gabriel the angel: he is commanded by this man, verſ. 16. But Michael, that is, Chriſt; who, in this manner, declared himſelf to the old Fathers, as a præludium to his Incarnation; how he would be God manifeſted in the fleſh.

V. 16. And I heard] As in a viſion; to my ſeeming and imagination, I heard ſuch a ſound, voyce and words.

between the banckS] The gate and bancks, or, of the river it ſelf, Chap. 12. 7.

and ſaid] With a mans voice and words. How angels communicate their notions one to another, is not a thing incident, or proper to this place, or inquirable.

Gabriel] The name of an angel; which ſignifieth, ſtrong man of God. See Chap. 9. 21. Luk. 1. 26. The onely angel in Scripture, which hath an proper name: For Michael, Chap. 12. 1. Jude 9. Revel. 12. 7. is the name of Chriſt.

make this man] This power to command the angel, declareth, that the Commander was Chriſt; who is true God, and the Lord, and head of angels.

V. 17. afraid and fell] See Ezek. 1. 28. and the annotations upon it. Not to worſhip the angel, but in a lowly fear and reverence; being conſcious of his own unworthineſs, frailty and vileneſs. The preſence and ſpeech of an angel, wrought thus upon holy Daniel, when the angel drew neer unto him.

ſon of man] Ezekiel and Daniel onely, being in viſions of angels, are ſo ſpoken unto, Son of man: as Aben Ezra notes, Ezek. 2.1. See Annotations there.

Viſion] The words here are diverſly rendred: and ſome underſtand them of a ſhort time: but verſ.26. and the words themſelves, here, ſpeak of a long time, that the things foretold by that viſion, ſhall come to paſſe at the appointed time, about the time of the coming of the Meſſiah, who ſhall fulfil the prophecies; and the old age; for to bring in a new one; by renewing the ſtate of the Church. See Ezek. 38. 8. Dan. 9. 24.

V. 18. Now as he] Chap. 10. 9.

deep ſleep on my face] That is to ſay, In my prophetical extaſie, I loſt all action and motion, as a man overcome with ſleep, verſ. 17. Rev. 1. 17.

ſet me upright] Heb. made me ſtand upon my ſtanding. Did rear, refreſh and ſtrengthen me; as Ezek. 2. 2. recover, and recomfort me.

V. 19. and he ſaid] Continuing his ſpeech, that was interrupted in the former verſe.

what ſhall be in the laſt end] The word, Acharith is a ſubſtantive. The meaning is this, what ſhall befal the Jews in the laſt end of this indignation and wrath of God, in this laſt affliction, which God ſhall ſend them for a puniſhment of their ſins; meaning that great rage of Antiochus; and what he ſhall do then. After which ſhall be revealed the great and eternal reconciliation in Chriſt, Dan. 9. 24. & 11. 36. This laſt part of the viſion he mentions, as the moſt regardable, and moſt deſired by Daniel, to be underſtood, verſ. 13.

the end ſhall be] There ſhall be a certain prefixed time, for the laſting of this calamity. This verſe ſtrongly overthroweth their errour, which feign the Romane Monarchs to be meant by the leggs of the Image, Chap. 2. or by the fourth beaſt, Chap.7. ſeeing that the Greeks are the dealers, in the end of wrath, ſpoken of Daniels people. And it had been a ſtrange thing, that this laſt viſion, repeating the former, ſhould leave out the Romanes, if they had been ſpoken of before: ſeeing it were good to have that told; and God never omitted the good of his Church.

V. 20. the Ram] Verſ. 3. 4. Gabriel, orderly, proceeds from point to point, as the method and paſſage of the viſion, directed him.

two horns] Not meant perſonally, and punctually of Darius rius the Medes, and Cyrus the Perſian, Chap. 6.28. For theſe two were not alive, when Alexander the great brake theſe two horns, here mentioned.

are the kings] are types of them, do ſignifie them, the kings of that Kingdom, or Empire. A typical, or ſacramental phraſe ; and moſt plain to be underſtood ; ſo verſ.21.

V. 21. and the rough Goate] So called for its roughneſs and horribleneſs. Of this, verſ.5, 6, 7, 8. Here the whole Grecian Empire is underſtood ; Alexander, and his ſucceſſors in the Empire, divided.

Grecia] This place proveth, that of Javan, the Greeks come. Macedonia is herein comprehended.

the firſt King] Namely, Alexander the great ; the firſt of them that overthrew the Ram ; that conqured the Medes and Perſians. Of him perſonally is underſtood, verſ. 5, 6, 7, 8.

V. 22. four kingdoms] Verſ.8. Of many kingdoms ariſing from Alexander, four in the end bear the ſway : and in time two ; whereof, Chap.11. will ſpeak.

of the nation] Namely, of the Greek, or Macedonian nation ; though not of Alexanders poſterity, Chap.11.4. All the four were Grecians ; and ſo continued the name of the Grecian Empire, 1 Macc. 1.6.

in his power] They ſhall not have like power, as had Alexander. So the particle, in, is uſed, Joh. 3.21.

V. 23. and in the latter time] viz. In the 137. year of the kingdom of the Greeks, or Seleucidæ, 1 Macc. 1. 10. Or, for then Antiochus Epiphanes, here ſpoken of, began to reign : though he entred not into Judea, till the year, 143. 1 Mac. 1. 20. And after him, many of that race of the Seleucidæ were kings of Syria and Judea, for the ſpace of 120. years, or thereabouts. But none of them are here ſpoken of ; as not having a full power over the Jews : The yoak of their tyranny, being ſhaken off by the Maccabees, in this kings dayes, Chap. 7. 22.

when the tranſgreſſours] among the people of the Jews. See 1 Macc.1. ver.11, &c. & verſ.43, &c. & Chap.2.15. & 2 Mac. 4. This the cauſe of that fearful judgment and plague by Antiochus.

are come to the full] Heb. are accompliſhed. Chap. 11.36. Gen. 15.16. Jer. 51.13. Matt.23.32. 1 Theſſ.2.16.

the full] Of open impiety, and formal apoſtacy, Dan. 11. 30. 1 Macc.1.11, 12. Gen.15.16.

a King of fierce countenance] Heb. hard of face ; that is braſen faced , of whom , ver.9. &c. Namely , Antiochus Epiphanes , Chap.7.20. and 11.21. who was impudent , as Deut.28.50. and he is ſpoken of in the Maccabees, and heathen writers very much , for ſhameleſs impudency , againſt all divinity and humanity in his life and actions : of Polibius he was called Epimanes, that is, mad. Many Papiſts, would fain underſtand this king , and all that is here ſaid of him, of their imagined Antichriſt, or at leaſt of Antiochus, as a type of him : But the more learned ſort of them, deſert that opinion and fancy.

dark ſentences] Heb. Chiddoth ; and is properly hid things, and enigmaticall ; as Pſal.78.2. Hid miſchiefs he minded, not hid parables : he was full of miſchievous craft, and ſubtilty, his crafts maſter therein, ver.25. by cunning and deep policy, to cover, and colour, and bring about his own vile and cruell deſignes ; and to diſcover the ſecret plots and underminings of others.

V. 24. Shall be mighty] Verſ.9.10, 11, 12. and Chap.11.

but not by his own power] By his fraud and treachery rather, which he firſt uſed againſt his own father, brother, and nephew ; by the perfidiouſneſs and apoſtaſie of the Jews, and their high Prieſts, and by the aide of forreign Kings. See Chap.11.23. yet Gods hand, and ſecret power, and providence , was not wanting in all this : as in the caſe of the Aſſyrian , Eſay. 10. 15. and Babylonian , Jer. 34, 22. and 50.21.

wonderfully] Proſper and prevail, againſt all lets and obſtacles that would hinder him , from atchieving his ambitious, tyrannicall, miſchievous practiſes, Chap.11. All things ſhould go on , and flow in, according to his own wiſh and will.

the mighty] Great Kings and Princes, and eſpecially them of Egypt , Chap.11.25. againſt which he made two great expeditions.

the holy people] Heb. the people of the holy ones. Namely, the Church of God ; the Jewiſh people, both in his returnes out of Egypt, and at other times.

V. 25. Craft to proſper] Chap.11. ver.21, 23, 24, 32. his ſubtilties , and deep miſchievous plots , ſhall not want his wiſhed ſucceſſe.

magnifie himſelf in his heart]. His proſperous ſucceſſe ſhall ſo elevate his ſpirits , and puffe up his heart , 2 Mac.9.7, 8, 10, 12. and 5.21.

by peace] Or, by proſperity ; that is , under pretence of peace, and his ſpecious promiſes of it ; when men ſhall live ſecure in peace and expectation of it , ſuſpecting no other ; then , and thereby ſhall he exerciſe cruell tyranny upon them. See 1 Macc.1.30, 31, 32. 2 Macc.5.&c.

prince of Princes] Verſ.11. Apoc. 19. 16. Againſt God himſelf, the Son of God, King of Kings, Chap.11.36. invading his temple, making a prey and ſpoile of the ſacred veſſels and ornaments , and defiling that holy place with abominable idols, and Pagan worſhip ; and lifting up himſelf and ſpeaking againſt God himſelf , as if himſelf were God, 2 Macc.9, 8.

broken without hand] Thus, Chap.2.34, 45. See Chap.11. 45. By ſickneſs , ſtricken by the hand of God , and not by men ; 1 Mac.6. 8, 16. 2 Mac. 9.5, 9, 28. See Act.12. 22, 23.

V. 26. And the viſion] Concerning that determined number of days told, ver.14. for the taking away of the daily ſacrifice , and the treading under foot of the ſanctuary, and hoaſt ; which moſt troubled holy Daniel, and made him moſt inquiſitive , after the time and durance of it : That is here again avouched, and cleered.

is true] In proper ſenſe, needing no further explication : ſee the cleerneſs and evidence of theſe propheſies, and the anſwerableneſs of the event : as if all this were not a propheſie , but an hiſtory ; and ſo it is Chap.11. which plainly argues the ſpirit of God, in theſe holy Scriptures.

ſhut thou up the viſion] As Eſay 8.16. Dan 12.49. keep it from the knowledg of the Chaldees, and Heathens ; keep it to thy ſelf in ſacred ſilence , and reſerve it in writing for poſterity , without much publiſhing it for the preſent ; becauſe it is not ſo much for the uſe of this age, as for that which ſhall follow, See Eſay 29.11. Rev.5.1, 2.

for many dayes] Or, after many dayes. About three hundred years ; are from the death of Belſhazzar, unto the death of Antiochus Epiphanes. In whoſe dayes was greateſt uſe to be made of this propheſie , and the event of things then would beſt cleer, and expound it, See Rev.22.10.

V. 27. I Daniel fainted] Chap.7.28. and 10.8, 16. Through fear and aſtoniſhment, at the greatneſs and ſublimity of this divine viſion ; and at the evils that ſhould befall Gods houſe, and worſhip, and people.

roſe up] Out of that bed whereon he lay , ſeeing this viſion, and ſickning thereupon.

and did the Kings buſineſs] Therefore he was in perſon at Babylon , and in viſion onely at Shuſhan. And continued ſtill in that honourable office, and imployment, Chap.2.48. wherein thus appears his care and diligence.

I was aſtoniſhed] Still after the recovery of his ſickneſs, and in the midſt of his great State affaires.

none underſtood it] As I had a command , to ſhut up the matter in the verſe before ; ſo I refrained my countenance, from open expreſſing of my griefe ; or giving any intimation of the viſion , or occaſion of ſuſpecting ſuch a thing. The Trent Bible reads thus ; Et non erat qui interpretaretur ; as if Daniel had wanted an Interpreter of the viſion , and were thereupon troubled and aſtoniſhed.

CHAP. IX.

Verſ.1. IN the firſt year] Heb. in one year : the cardinall number , uſually put for the ordinall. The ſame year Daniel was taken out of the lyons den, and cauſed Gods truth to be advanced generally. Now whether this was before his being in the den, or after, it is not ſo certain. This was in the year of the world 3470. or thereabout : or, as others reckon , about 3430. In this chapter , Daniel mindfull of Jeremies propheſie , as is expreſſed ver.2. doth now upon the exſpiration of that time , pray moſt zealouſly for the accompliſhment of the deliverance then promiſed ; whereupon he receives a ſpeedy gratious anſwer, and meſſage from God by Gabriel , of much more then he could think of, or hope for ; even of the certain time , not onely of the return of the people, and building of the city, but alſo of the coming of Meſſiah the Prince ; and of his cutting off, and of the deſolation of City, and Sanctuary, that ſhould follow thereupon.

of Darius] Heb. Dariaveſh : Chap.11.1. ſee Chap.5.31. and 6.1. Darius ſeems to be a common name to many Kings of Perſia. For ſo we read of Darius Hyſtaſpis, Darius Nothus, Darius Ochus , Darius Codomannus, in heathen ſtories : as likewiſe Ahaſuerus ; or, as it is written in Hebrew, Achaſhuerosh, which ſignifies the Great Head of the people, and ſeems to be the ſame with Artaxerxes. And ſo we read of Artaxerxes Longimanus, Artaxerxes Mnemon or Memor. And haply, Xerxes is but a contraction of Artaxerxes ; as Choniah is of Jechoniah : Thus uſually one name, was common to many Kings of the ſame nation ; thus was Merodac, among the Kings of Babylon : Pharaoh to the Kings of Egypt, in the moſt ancient times. And Ptolomy among the Lagidæ. Thus Seleucus, Antiochus, and Demetrius among the Seleucidæ. Arſaces among the Parthians. Tygranes among the Armenians. Aretas among the Arabians. Sylvius among the Latines; and Ceſar among the Romanes. Neither is it a thing unuſual among Kings at this day. This Darius is here in the Text ſufficiently differenced from all others.

the ſon of Ahaſuerus] Or, Cyaxares, Chap. 6. 1. See Annotations on Chap. 5. 31.

of the ſeed of the Medes] To diſtinguiſh him from Darius the Perſian, Ezr. 4. 24.

which was] Or, in which he was made, &c.

The Realm of the Chaldeans] For Cyrus, led with ambition, went about wars in other Countries. See Annotations on Chap. 5. 31.

V. 2. In the firſt year] This time is ſo diligently twice noted down; becauſe it was the end of Jeremies ſeventy: and ſo the juſt occaſion of this prayer of Daniel. And ſo we, when the time is come for the accompliſhment of Gods Prophetical promiſes, ſhould take hold of that occaſion to ſerve Gods providence, and to pray in Faith for the fulfilling of them. Prayer muſt be in faith. Jam. 1. 6, 7. muſt reſt upon Gods promiſes; and be certain, Ezek. 36. 37.

underſtood] attentively, accurately, conſidered, weighed, pondered in my mind, and knew.

by books] For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet he daily increaſed in knowledge, by reading of the Scriptures, 1 Tim. 4. 13. 2 Tim. 3. 15, 16, 17. The Scriptures then were not loſt and periſhed in the time of the Temples overthrow, and the Babyloniſh captivity, as that Apocryphal fable hath it, 2 Eſdras 14. 21——48.

to Jeremiah] Jer. 25. 11, 12. & 27. 5, 6, 7. & 29. 10, &c. See 2 Chr. 36. 21, 22. Ezra 1. 1.

ſeventy years] Whereof fifty two in utter ruine. Counting the beginning of the 70. not from the 11. of Zedekiah; but from the fourth of Jehojakim, and the firſt of Nebuchadnezzar. No doubt but the Jews carefully numbered theſe years, Zech. 1. 12. another ſeventy years are mentioned; and thoſe ending the ſecond year of Darius, do derive their Beginning from the 11. of Zedekiah.

the deſolations of Jeruſalem] Daniel hath the very Hebrew term of Jeremy, Chorboth; and by Jeremy he muſt be expounded, Jer. 25. 11. and this land ſhall become Chorboth, (that is, a wilderneſſe) and an aſtoniſhment, and theſe Nations ſhall ſerve the King of Babel ſeventy years.

V. 3. I ſet my face] Of his body towards Jeruſalem; as Chap. 6. 10. of his ſoul to God, Eccl. 5. 2. Pſal. 25. 1. & 62. 8. This ſhews his earneſtneſſe, as Jer. 42. 15. ſetting all other things aſide.

To ſeek by prayer] Ezek. 36. 37. He uſeth here confeſſion, deprecation, and petition. He ſpeaketh not of that ordinary prayer which he uſed in his houſe thrice a day; but of a rare and vehement prayer, upon the preſent extraordinary occaſion; leſt the ſins of the people ſhould cauſe God to delay the time of their deliverance, propheſied by Jeremiah.

with faſting] Extraordinary helps, at extraordinary times, upon extraordinary occaſions. Hereby ſinners ſhew their guilt and unworthineſſe; the forwardneſſe of their minds to ſelf revenge, 2 Cor. 7. 11. & 9. 27. This makes Prayer armed, and winged. If Daniel needed theſe Helps in prayer, much more we.

V. 4. unto the Lord my God] Not to falſe gods; not to Angels, Saints departed, Images, Relicks, &c. but to the true God; and his God by Covenant; with faith and truſt in him, to hear and grant his prayer. Thus muſt we pray, to God, our God, and Father, Mat. 6. 9. Thus the wicked cannot pray.

my Confeſſion] Of mine, and my peoples ſins; and of Gods juſtice and truth in puniſhing us. He begins with this Confeſſion; and perſiſts in it, to the 16. verſe.

O] Or, Oh. Heb. Ana: an interjection of exclamation, through the great grief of his heart for ſin; and withal, of an humble begging and beſeeching, to win grace and mercy.

Lord] Exod. 32. 31. Deut. 7. 9, 10, 21. Neh. 1. 5.

the great and dreadful God] That is, Haſt all power in thy ſelf, to execute thy terrible judgments againſt obſtinate ſinners; as thou art rich in mercy, to comfort them which obey thy word, and love thee. Thus affected, we ſhould appear before him in prayer, with ſubmiſſion and fear.

keeping the covenant] Faithful and true, Exod. 20. 6. And therefore they might thank themſelves and their ſins, for their puniſhment, in that Babyloniſh captivity. And yet now might hope and truſt, in the keeping of his promiſe, by Jeremy, for their deliverance. Thus prayer muſt be carried on with faith.

to them that love him, and &c.] The love of God, and the keeping of his commandements, Evangelically, are never ſeparated, Joh. 14. 21.

V. 5. we have ſinned] In his own name and the peoples, as ſuſtaining their perſon, he confeſſeth their ſins; and that without any extenuation; yea, with full mouth, and many aggravations. Here are four words, each gradually exceeding other. That they ſinned, traded in it, and that obſtinately, yea, maliciouſly and rebelliouſly, as if therein they would wage War againſt God. And all this, to profeſſe and procure the deeper humiliation, the greater contrition and compunction. See 1 King. 8. 47. Daniel ſeems to relate to that place, Pſal. 106. 6. A perſon or people, come not ſuddenly to be extreamly evil, but by degrees.

V. 6. Prophets which] The duty of Prophets; and the height of ſin, in not hearkning to them. The greater means of grace afforded, the greater is the ſin, thereupon committed, Mat. 11. 20.——25. Heb. 2. 2, 3. & 10. 28, 29. Kings and Forefathers, are no rule of Religion or life, Ezek. 20. 18. Jer. 44. 9, 21. But all, from the higheſt to the loweſt, are to be ruled by, and ſubjected to the word of God, Luk. 16. 29, 31.

V. 7. righteouſneſs] He confeſſeth Gods juſtice in himſelf; and in his judgments for ſin, Jer. 7. 19. Pſal. 119. 137. He ſheweth, that whenſoever God puniſheth, he doth it for juſt cauſe. And thus the godly, never grudg, repine, accuſe him of rigour, as the wicked do; but acknowledg, that in themſelves, there is juſt cauſe, why he ſhould ſo intreat them, Pſal. 51. 4. Rom. 3. 4. Pſal. 119. 75.

belongeth] Or, thou haſt, &c.

to the men of Judah] Their prerogatives above other people, were no priviledges for their ſins, nor exemptions of them from puniſhment, but aggravations rather.

neer and that are afar off] In the neighbouring nations, neer to Judea, whither they fleed, in Egypt, in Aſſyria, in the Empire of Babylon.

V. 8. To us] Baruch. 1. 15. Gen. 2. 25. & 3. 8. Pſal. 119. 80. Jer. 3. 20.

to our kings] God is no accepter of perſons; but whereſoever, and in whomſoever ſin goes before, confuſion followes after. And Daniel here, doth not excuſe the Kings, becauſe of their authority; but rather chargeth them, as the chief occaſions of theſe great plagues.

V. 9. to the Lord] Thou haſt a large ſubject, whereon to exerciſe thy infinite mercy, which is to us, as it were, the Queen of thy perfections; whereunto we now betake our ſelves; and not to thy juſtice, in this our height of iniquity: or, having ſinned ſo exceſſively, as we confeſſe we have, to thee it belongs to uſe mercy and forgiveneſs; for thou alone haſt power to do it, verſ. 18. Thus he ſo mentions Gods juſtice, for humiliation, as that he flyes to Gods mercies, to keep from deſperation.

mercies and forgiveneſſes] In the Plural number, Lam. 3. 22. mercies above all their ſins; as Rom. 5. 20. Jer. 31. 20.

though] No cauſe of Gods mercy in us; but all ſolely and wholly in him, verſ. 18.

V. 10. the voyce of the Lord] He ſheweth, that they rebel againſt him, which obey not his voyce, in the mouthes of his Prophets; but ſlight and contemn, ſo gracious a word of ſo good a God, ſo plainly ſet before them.

V. 11. yea, all Iſrael] Not ſome part onely: an epidemical evil. The example of the multitude of outward profeſſors, is no rule of life, Exod. 23. 2.

therefore the curſe is poured upon us] as Deut. 27. 15, &c. or, the curſe confirmed by an oath, by an adjuration and execration. Yet they, out of a deſperate impiety, wittingly and wilfully contemned all.

Law of Moſes] Lev. 26. 14, &c. Deut. 28, 15, &c. & 29 20, &c. & 30. 17, 18. & 31. 17, &c. & 32. 19, &c. Jerem. 42. 18.

becauſe we have ſinned] This plucked up the flood-gate; brake the banck; opened the armories of Gods wrath and vengeance.

V. 12. confirmed his words] made good upon us, every one of them, by his judgments and puniſhments: ſo verifying his menaces, and ſhewing his truth and power.

hath not been done] This may be the abridgment of Jeremiahs Lamentations, Lam. 1. 12. Amos 3. 2. Luk. 12. 47. Ezek. 5. 9.

V. 13. as it is written in the Law] Lev. 26. 14, &c. Deut. 28. 15. Lam. 2. 17.

yet made we not our prayer before the Lord] Heb. intreated we not the face of the Lord. Prayed not in truth. For prayer, without turning away from iniquity, is no true prayer. The laſt and higheſt aggravation of their ſin, is this; That the diſeaſe of it, maſtered the medicine; grew the worſe by the cure, and ſo became deſperate: neither any threatnings, nor judgments, could humble them, or turn them to God, or make them truly pray unto him, Jer. 6. 28, 29, 30. Eſay. 1. 5.

underſtand thy truth] Really perceive, and verily know the truth of the Threats and Promiſes; endeavouring thereby for true repentance according to thy Word; by meanes whereof we might have been partakers of the fruit of thy Holy promiſes.

V. 14. watched upon the evill] Of our Sin, and his Puniſhment. Providence hath been watchful, and attentive to due vengeance; and to bring it in the prefixed time, and inſtant. See Jer.1.12. & 31.28. & 44.27. 2 Pet. 2.3. Though for a time he might to ſome ſeem to wink and ſleep; yet it is otherwiſe, as Pſal.78.65.

for the Lord] He thinks he can never ſufficiently juſtifie God, and his Judgements; nor enough confeſſe and condemn their own ſins.

V. 15. And now] After Confeſſion, now followes Petition.

O Lord our God] Theſe Titles ſhew his power and willingneſſe; whereby Daniel confirms his Faith in prayer, Exod: 32.13. Pſal.33.12. & 144.15. & 135.4. & 74.20.

thou haſt brought] Lev.26.45. & 22.33. Pſal. 81. 10. Eſay 63.11,&c. Exod.32,11. Neh. 1.10. & 9. 9,10. Pſal. 79. 10, 11, 12.

gotten thee renowne] Exod.14.18. & 32.12. Pſal. 106. 8. & 115.1. Neh.9.10.

we have ſinned] One argument that God will hear our prayers, when we acknowledge our ſins, and that there is no cauſe in us why he ſhould hear our prayers, or do any good unto us; but that the whole cauſe is out of us, in him onely, Pſal.25.11. & 51.3.

V. 16. all thy Righteouſneſſe] That is, according to all thy merciful promiſes, and righteouſneſſe and truth in performing them; and according to thy fatherly equity to thy poor Children, cruelly dealt with by the enemies, for cauſes unjuſt. See Pſal.31.1. & 22.5. & 51.14. 71.2. Neh. 1.8,9. & 9.8. The performance of free and merciful promiſes, is righteouſneſſe, and juſtice, in God.

Thy fury] No paſſion in God. But this and the like expreſſions are uſed in Scripture in a condeſcention to the weakneſſe of our Capacities, Mica 7.9. Rev.15.7.

Thy City Jeruſalem] The place of worſhip, and Type of the Chriſtian Church, and that new Jeruſalem which is above, Pſal.42.3.5. & 137.5,6. Eſay 52.1.

for our ſins] He never conceales or extenuates their ſins, but his finger is ever upon this ſore; as the ſource of all their evils.

of our fathers] Exod.20.5. Not as thoſe, Lam.5.7. Ezek. 18.2. Jer.31.29.

to all] Pſal. 69.20.

V. 17. Now therefore] Now it is time, Pſal.69.13. Eſay 49. 8. 2 Cor. 6.2. Now the ſeventy yeares of Captivity are ended.

Cauſe thy face to ſhine] Pſal.44.4. & 4.6. & 85.5,6,7. Thus after deprecation, followes ſupplication. Shew by the effect thy grace and favour, which like a vivifying and Chearing Sun, may diſperſe all theſe miſts of extream deſolations. The bleſſing of the high Sacrifice is in the ſame ſpeech, Numb.6.25. Pſal.80.7,19.

upon thy Sanctuary] Exod.15.17. Pſal.51.18.

That is deſolate] a place now of bryars and thorns; an habitation of wolves and Owles. This the godly do moſt bemoan, Lam.1.4,10. & 2.1,6,7. & 4.1. & 5.18. Eſay 63. 15, 18. & 64.10,11.

for the Lords ſake] For thine own ſake: or, as ſome others, for the promiſed Meſſias and mediatours ſake; whom God hath made both Lord and Chriſt, Act.2.36. Luk. 1.43. & 2.11. for his merit and mediation ſake. And ſo ſome expound that, Pſal.80.15,17. & 84.9. & 2 Sam. 7.21. with 1 Chr.17.19. and that 2 Sam.12.25. The phraſes for Davids ſake, 1 King.11.12,13. & 15.4. 2 King.19.34. Pſal.132. 10. and for Jeruſalems ſake, 1 King. 11.13. Import onely thus much, for Gods free promiſe ſake, made to David; and concerning Jeruſalem. Daniel pleads here no merits of their own. Their Merits were Demerits.

V. 18. encline thine ear] Daniels Hebrew hath the very letters of Hezekiahs prayer, Eſay 37. 17. His earneſtneſſe in prayer; that God will mercifully both ſee and hear.

which is called by thy name] Heb. whereupon thy name is called. So Eſay 4.1. & 63.19. and ſo Gen.48.16. the ſame expreſſion in the ſame ſenſe is uſed.

preſent our ſupplications] Heb. cauſe to fall. So Jer. 38.26. & 42.2,9. 2 Sam.2.22. Ezra 9. 6. Luk. 18.13. Noting out their humility, and abaſing themſelves with fear and care in prayer.

our righteouſneſſes] Declaring that the godly fly onely unto Gods mercies, and renounce their own works, when they ſeek for remiſſion of their ſins. So Pſal.25.6. & 51.1. & 69. 16. & 143.1,2. Eſay 63.7. & 64.10,&c. Jer.14.7. David, Ezekiah, and Nehemiah ſometimes plead their righteouſneſſes, innocency, and Integrity, the better to prevail in their prayers; but not for the merit of them: but thereby to ſtrengthen their faith in prayer, that they are ſuch perſons, and ſo qualified by Gods free grace, as to whom God freely promiſeth to hear their prayers. Againſt popiſh merits alledged in their popiſh prayers.

V. 19. O Lord hear] His fervency in prayer; and growing greater towards the later end, Jam.5.16.

for thy own ſake] Pſal.57.5,11. & 79.9,10,13. & 83.18. & 115.1. Gods free grace, and Glory, the Chief argument of our faith in prayer.

for thy city and thy people are called by thy Name] In Hebrew, for thy name is called upon thy city, and upon thy people; that is, they are, and profeſſe themſelves to be thine, and do bear the badges and marks of it. The Jews at this day repeat on their expiation feaſt, this prayer often, in Cether Malcuth, a book of their Common prayers; but ſtop their eares againſt the angels word from God, touching Chriſt, the true worker of this expiation.

V. 20. and whiles] Gods anſwer to Daniels prayer.

whiles] Verſ.21. Chap.10.12. as ſoon, if not before he had ended his prayer. So ready is God to hear prayer, according to his promiſes, Deut.30.1,2,3. & 4.29. 1 King.8,46,&c. to which prayer Daniel ſeems to have reference, uſing the ſame words and arguments. See Eſay 30.19. & 65.24. Pſal. 32.5. & 65.2. & 145.18,19.

ſpeaking] Voyce and all outward helps to be uſed, ſpecially in ſolemn prayer, to further us therein.

my ſin] Even Daniels, ſo beloved a Saint. Yet he without hypocriſie in true humility, and ſorrow, makes this Confeſſion. He no Pelagian, Donatiſt, Anabaptiſt, or Papiſt.

my people] See ver.24. after he had firſt begun with his own ſin.

for the holy mountain of my God] This his chief care. So it ſhould be ours, Pſal.87.7. & 122.6,&c. The Churches miſeries ſhould much more affect and afflict us then our own, Pſal.137.6.

V. 21. yea whiles] No doubt Daniel had prayed oft before; yea every day during the Captivity, Chap. 6. 10. for their return and reſtauration; but referring it to Gods time. And God in his time readily heares, and helps, when there is moſt need. See here the effect and fruit of prayer; it brings down an Angel from heaven.

the man] Angel in ſhape of a man; as Chap.8.15.

Gabriel] Chap.8.16. when this angel Gabriel telleth Zachary of his name Gabriel, Luk.1.11,19. and is ſent unto the bleſſed Virgin Mary, ver.26. he calleth them to think upon this text; that by conference of Moſes, Numb.24. and Daniel here, they might better conſider the time of the Promiſe.

whom I had ſeen] Chap.8.16. ſo well he remembred what, and by whom he had formerly learned, and been inſtructed, 2 Tim.3.14.

being cauſed] Gods power and authority to Command, and ſend; (he went not unſent) and the Angels ſwift obedience.

ſwiftly] Heb. with wearineſſe, or flight: tyred as it were, with his ſpeed-making.

touched me] Chap.8.18. In token of encouragement to hear theſe myſteries, and of infuſion of new Divine vertue to underſtand them, and to keep them in memory, and of Comfort in theſe promiſes.

about the time of the evening oblation] The Jewes had both the morning and evening daily ſacrifice, Exod.12.6. & 29. 39. Numb.28.4. At the time of the morning ſacrifice, Eliſæus wrought that miracle, 2 King.3.16,20. At the time of the evening ſacrifice, Elias wrought that miracle, 1 King. 18.19,36. And theſe times were the ſet times of their daily prayers, Act.3.1. And at the time of the evening oblation, our Saviour made himſelf that oblation which here the Angel foretelleth, even moſt exactly when it ſhould be performed.

V. 22. Skill and underſtanding] Heb. skill of underſtanding. This oration containeth an abridgment of the New Teſtament, and a light of the old; and Daniel knew the ſubſtance of all before, but the Time, which bringeth a greater cleerneſſe unto all. Therefore the Time conſidered with the matter, is that which he calleth here, the skill of underſtanding; And it muſt be counted a great errour, to hold that a ſmall matter; and ſpecially the diſanulling of Gods truth, by heathen forged, moſt vain, and jarring antiquities, to make from Babels fall to Tiberius eighteen, wherein our Lord dyed, 590 againſt the expreſſe 490, which the Angel counteth to be wiſdome, which he ſpeaketh of; yet old Heathen Greeks did ſo. Thus fairly and reſolutely do ſome learned men expreſſe their judgment in this caſe; whereof yet ſee more on ver.25.

V. 23. Commandment, Heb. word. God hath revealed to us angels, and to me eſpecially the ſecret, of his Counſel, concerning the reſtauration of Jeruſalem, and the duration thereof, even to the Meſſiah, and hath ſent me to declare it unto thee. See Dan.10,12.

greatly beloved] Heb. a man of deſires. As Solomon was called Jedidiah, 2 Sam.12.25. So here Daniel is called a man of deſires: not becauſe of his earneſt deſires after the knowledge of theſe ſacred myſteries; but becauſe of Gods deſires of Love towards him, as one ſingularly beloved of God, and favoured with his grace, Dan.10.11,19. Chamudoth is the moſt amiable term of any which can be given. As the attribute is, ſo is the matter here, full of grace. And when the Angel ſpake to the bleſſed virgin in Hebrew, he could not ſpeak better then Bath Chamudoth, daughter of deſires, tendred as Daniel. God therein prevented our ſelf-will worſhip, in giving Mary no terms, but ſuch as others had; that we ſhould not intreat or entertain novelty in Religion; ſo we read deſireable rayment, Gen.27.15. and bread of deſire, Dan 10.3. & Chap.11.8. and 2 Chr. 20.25. Veſſels of deſires.

underſtand the matter] By this Command, doubled for vehementer charge, he exciteth Daniel to all care, attention, and deſire to underſtand this abſtruſe myſtery, this ſacred and wonderful ſecret that was to be revealed, and he condemneth the world, that regardeth not to be inſtructed in this doctrine, ſent from heaven by an Angel unto Daniel, and penned for all Nations uſe: wherefore we muſt give better heed unto the ſpeech; for if the word ſpoken by Angels fall out ſure, and every treſpaſſe received juſt recompence, how ſhall we eſcape, neglecting ſo great a charge of looking to this, that ſo neerly concerns our ſalvation? See Heb.2.1,2,3.

V. 24. Seventy weeks] The Reader is to know, that in the Hebrew, we have word for word, ſevens ſeventy is pared out for the people. שבוע ſignifieth alſo a week; or, as we term it, a ſevennight or ſennight. As likewiſe in Greek, and Latine, it is ſo called, of the number of ſeven: and it ſignifieth ſometimes the ſpace of ſeven dayes; as Dan. 10. 2. Deut.16.9. and ſometimes it containeth ſeven years Lev.25.8. ſo here. The ſeventh day was the ſabbath day; and the ſeventh year, the ſabbath year; and ſeven ſabbath years, made up the account for the Jubilee. And ten Jubilees, counting nine and forty years to each, make up 490 years, which are theſe 70 weeks of Solar years here mentioned. About the begining, and about the ending of theſe 70 weeks, there is much difficulty, and much variety of Opinions among the Learned; as will after appear.

are determined] Heb. is pared out, or, cut out, or, determined, not ſhortned. A verb ſingular being joyned to a ſubſtantive plural; as Job 12.7. Prov.3. 18. teacheth an exact account, That every one of thoſe weeks of years, particularly from the firſt to the laſt, ſhall be preciſely compleat, and juſt ſo many, not one more, or leſſe. Now ſeventy ſevens make four hundred and ninety in ordinary ſpeech; we may not then as ſome would, underſtand by them 493 ½. Now that Daniel might conceive how at the beginning of his prayer, upon conſidering of Jeremy for that ſeventy years of captivity ended, God took notice of his meditation, the Angel toucheth as it were upon that ſeventy; ſhewing how exactly ſeven times that ſpace is declared aforehand, for the Jews prerogative, continuance of Ceremonies, and meditation how reconciliation of ſin is truly made; that every ſabbath, or ſeventh day, in the mean while, they might learn to enter into the meditation of that reſt of Chriſt.

upon thy people] As Daniel prayed for Gods people, Gods city, Gods holy mountain, Gods ſanctuary, ver.15,16,17,18, 19. ſo he hath this kingly honour here vouchſafed him, that they are termed his people, he being ſo great a man among them, and ſo tender in affection towards them, and care over them, and therefore out of Gods love to him, they could not be void of Gods favour under ſuch a protectour. So Chap. 10.14. & Chap.11.14. & Chap.12.1. God called them Moſes people, Deut. 9.12. as ſeeming there to own them the leſſe himſelf, becauſe of his hot diſpleaſure againſt them for their ſin.

Thy holy city] Thy; So again to honour Daniel, and to ſhew the thing that was the deareſt jewel and joy of his heart.

holy city] Saint Matthew naming Jeruſalem the holy city, onely at the beginning and end of our Lords confirming the covenant, Mat.4.5. & 27.5,3. ſeemeth to call upon us to conſider this text. But when this time of 490 years was expired, it had that title no longer, then, the many brought to the kingdom of heaven, Dan.9.27. Mat.8.11. are the high Jeruſalem, Gal.4.26. and new Jeruſalem, Apoc.3.12. and the holy city, Apoc.11.2. and holy Jeruſalem, Apoc.21.10. as alſo in Iſa.52.1. where Jeruſalem the holy city, bidden to put on her garments, requireth us to frame our policy ſo, that all be taught of God, what white linnen maketh the garment, which is the Juſtification of Saints. See Apoc.19.8. and this further ſhewes, in the opinion of many, and the beſt, that the end and period of the city, is the end and period of this propheſie of the ſeventy weeks, ver.26,27. Of this ſee more on ver.25.

to finiſh the tranſgreſſion] Or, to reſtrain. This is the rich benefit and precious part of this propheſie. All the following bleſſings come by the Meſſias; as is clearly in the words following expreſſed: however the Jews will not here indure to hear any thing here of Chriſt. He ſhall ſatisfie for the ſins of the world by his death, and ſhall eſtabliſh the true righteouſneſſe of the Goſpel, which ſhall remain for ever; through which all Believers ſhall be abſolved and juſtified; and by his Spirit be regenerate to a new and godly life: he ſhall fulfill all that was fore-told of him; and he ſhall be conſecrated, and made an everlaſting king at the right hand of God his Father, having obtained the fulneſſe of Gods Spirit, as head of his Church. And after all this, the city and nation ſhall be deſtroyed by the Romanes. This finiſhing tranſgreſſion here, is not to make up the full meaſure of it as Gen.15.16. Mat.23.32. 1 Theſſ.2.16. But to make a full end of it; as the words following do further explain. Here the firſt degree is by taking away the dominion of the reigning power of it, Rom.6.11,12.

and to make an end of ſins] Or, to ſeal up; that they never after be ſeen or diſcovered, Col.2.14. and ſo can never appear to accuſe us. As we ſeal up things we have done, with things we would be ſure ſhould not after appear; as the Lyons den, and our Saviours Sepulchre were ſealed. This is a ſecond degree removing the evill of the Accuſation of ſin.

and to make reconciliation for iniquity] By his propitiatory ſacrifice, taking away the guilt and puniſhment of it, which is a third degree, Eſay 53.5. Rom.8.1,34. See Eſay 44.22. and 40.2. In which place of Eſay, to note this by the way, the Trent Bible hath the errour of malitia for militia; as alſo, Pſal.42.2. Deum fontem vivum, for, Deum fortem vivum, with many ſuch others, even by the confeſſion of the learned Papiſts themſelves.

and to bring in everlaſting righteouſneſſe] 2 Cor. 5. 21. Moſt perfectly fulfilling the law for us, by doing, and ſuffering; and imputing the ſame unto us that believe. After the renewing the evil, this is the good Chriſt brings us, 1 Cor.1. 30. See Pſal. 85.11, 12. Eſay 53. 11. Jer. 23. 5,6. & 33. 15,16.

and to ſeal up the viſion] All the viſions and prophetical predictions, concerning Chriſt, were fulfilled in, and by him; and ſo the truth of them ſealed up and confirmed, and compleated in the accompliſhment of them. Hence is that ſaying, ſo often in the Goſpel, That it might be fulfilled, &c. Mat.27.9,35. Luk.4.21. & 22. 37. & 24.44. & in John very often. Our Saviour expoundeth this place, ſaying, That the Law and Prophets reach unto John, Mat. 11. 13. Alſo Maimony, from the Jews common conſent, ſaith, that all the Prophets propheſied but unto the dayes of Meſſiah. That ſpeech of theirs muſt be taken hence. And themſelves ſee and confeſſe, that they have had no Viſion, Prophets, nor Propheſies, never ſince our Saviour Chriſt Jeſus came. See 2 Cor.1.20. Heb. 10. 1. 1 Pet. 1.10. &c. Chriſt by his prophetical office, ſhut up, and ſealed up all former Viſions, Prophets, and propheſies.

propheſie] Heb. Prophet.

and to anoint the moſt holy] Heb. the holineſs of holineſſes. The abſtracts have ſomewhat more vigor and ſtrength in them, then the concretes. The meaning is, to anoint Him; that is, Holineſſe it ſelf, and in whom conſiſts all the Churches Holineſſe. Who is, in ſpirit and truth, that which the ark, the propitiatory, the altar of incenſe, and of burnt-offerings; the table and candleſtick, the ſanctuary, and ſanctum ſanctorum, which were called moſt Holy things, and conſecrated by unction, Exod. 30.26. Lev.8.10. &c. were all but in ſhadow and figure. He anointed to be the onely king, Prieſt, and Prophet of his Church. Hence he is called the Meſſiah, and Chriſt; both which do ſignifie anointed, Eſay 61.1. &c. Luk.4.17. &c. Pſal.2 6. & 45. 7. Act.4. 27. & Chap. 10. 38. By this prieſthood, he ſhut up and ſealed up the Levitical prieſthood, Heb.8,9,10. Chapters. He the author and meritor of all the former bleſſings and benefits. He, the ſubſtance alſo of all that was formerly ſhadowed out, and prefigured.

V. 25. Know therefore and underſtand] Thus the angel ſharpens Daniels attention again, and again, Mat. 24. 15. We have more need to quicken ours, Dan. 12. 10. and the rather alſo, becauſe beſides the waightineſſe of the matter, the difficulty and obſcurity is ſo great; through the little light we have in Scripture,of the paſſages of theſe times; and the Heathen hiſtorians, being ſo various and uncertain, and diſagreeing among themſelves, in the periods of times, and in the names, number and perſons of the Kings, reigning within the compaſſe of theſe years.

that from the going forth of the Commandement, &c.] There are diverſities of opinions among the learned, concerning, both the Beginning and the End of theſe ſeventy weeks: Yet not ſo great, but that they make a joynt evidence, and convincing demonſtration againſt the Jews,that the Meſſiah is already come; and that many ages, long ſince paſt. For the beginning of them; there are four Commandements, Edicts, or Proclamations, mentioned in Ezra,and Nehemy: to one of which,theſe words,and the beginning of the ſeventy weeks, or 490. years, muſt of neceſſity be referred. The firſt,is that of Cyrus,2 Chro.36.22,23. Ezr.1.1. & 5.13. & 6. 3. The ſecond, is of Darius, Ezr.4.24. & 6. 1. The third, is of Artaxerxes to Ezra, in the ſeventh year of his reign, Ezr.7. 1,7,11,12,13,21. And the fourth, is of Artaxerxes again,to Nehemiah, in the twenty year of his reign, Neh.1.1. & 2. 1. Much variety,as we ſaid,is in the opinions of the learned, to which of theſe the angel hath reference in theſe words; and ſo from which of theſe the 70. weeks muſt take their commencement and beginning. Some, and among many others, the ancient Hebrews, do underſtand them to relate to that firſt Edict of Cyrus; which was indeed the primary Proclamation, and moſt famous; and that alone which was foretold,and propheſied of by name, ſo many ages before, Eſay 44. 28. & 45. 13. and may ſeem ſtrange, if it ſhould be paſſed over, by the angel,in ſilence,and not meant by him in theſe words. And the words here, both for the reſtoring and returning of the people, and for the building of the Temple and City,will well agree with the words of the Edict. For that he gave order for the building of the City alſo,is not to be doubted,out of thoſe ſaid places,Eſay 44.28. & 45.13. and alſo out of Ezra 4. 12, 13, 15, 16, 19, 21, 23. And thereupon they reckon, that from the expiration of the 70. years captivity in Babylon, and from the time of this prayer of Daniel, and the words of the angel, 70. weeks of years; that is, 490. years, ſhould immediately follow, to the coming and death of the Meſſiah: and the deſtruction of Jeruſalem ſhould be ſoon after. And ſo they make Daniels Book,to contain ſix hundred years, viz. ſeventy in Babylon, 490. thence to Chriſts death; and fourty thence,to Jeruſalems deſtruction. And to this they labour,to make the Chronology of the times to agree: diſclaiming, hereupon, the computation of years, which is found in the Heathen-greek Hiſtories of theſe times. And were it not for that difficulty, ſurely, this were an opinion to be much embraced. Others, not finding the Chronology of times,to agree with the former opinion, do faſten upon the ſecond Edict, in the ſecond year of Darius: and here ſome do underſtand Darius, the ſon of Hyſtaſpis; and reckon ſixteen years from the firſt of Cyrus, to the ſixt of this Darius, when the temple was finiſhed, Ezra 6. 15. And theſe ſtrongly maintain this opinion, to agree beſt with the true Chronology of the times: that from the ſecond of Darius Hyſtaſpis, to the death of the Meſſiah, are 490. years. Others, underſtand Darius Nothus, the baſe ſon of Artaxerxes Longimanus; and leaving out an hundred,or an 150. years,from the firſt of Cyrus,to the ſecond of this Darius; thence they make up the reckoning of the 490. years,or ſeventy weeks, from the ſecond of Darius Nothus, to the ſecond of Veſpaſian,when the City and Temple were deſtroyed; thus, viz. from the ſecond of Darius Nothus,to the end of the Perſian monarchy, 92. Alexander the great in his monarchy, ſix years: who dyed in the firſt year of the 114. Olympiad; and in the 430. year ſince the building of Rome: Thence to our Saviours Paſſion, in the 18. of Tiberius, in the firſt year of the 203. Olympiad, 356. years, or 89. Olympiads. Thence to the deſtruction of Jeruſalem by Titus, in the ſecond of Veſpaſian, and in the 822. years ſince the building of Rome,36. years. In all, 490. years, or ſeventy ſevens,or weeks of years: ending them thus, not in the death of Chriſt, but in the deſtruction of Jeruſalem,as we ſaid. But in this ſecond Edict, of the ſecond year of Darius, either Hyſtaſpis,or Nothus, there is no mention made, either of the reſtoring and returning of the People, or of the building of Jeruſalem, which are the words of the angels Epock here; but onely of the building of the temple; and that onely by removing the ſtop and hindrance; and ſo promoting onely,and furthering the building of it. Others, underſtand theſe words of, and begin theſe weeks in the ſeventh year of Artaxerxes Longimanus, the father of Darius Nothus, and end them in the death of the Meſſiah. Others, of Mnemon, or Memon the ſon of Darius Nothus, and end them in the deſtruction of Jeruſalem: But either of theſe is the leaſt probable; becauſe, then onely Ezra was ſent with his company; and the temple was builded before; and the wall of Jeruſalem after. And yet men not unlearned, embrace this opinion. The laſt opinion, conceives the angels words to be meant of the laſt Edict, in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes, either Longimanus,or elſe Mnemon,or Memon; when, indeed, Nehemy was ſent to reſtore and to build Jeruſalem; the walls and City,Neh.1.3.& 2.3, 5, 8, 17. & Chap. 3. & Chap. 7. 4. And to this alſo, as well as to the firſt Edict of Cyrus, the next words of the angel, do ſeem well to relate and agree. And they, who are of this opinion,do labour alſo to make the Chronology of times, to correſpond hereunto. The cauſe of all this diverſity, is in the ſilence of the Scripture; for that ends in Ezra his time: and in the uncertainty of humane hiſtories, the Greeks eſpecially, which do very much vary, as we have ſaid, among themſelves, in ſetting down the parcels, and particularities of theſe times, here ſummed up,in ſo few words,by the angel. And in theſe uncertainties,we cannot be very certain; but leave it to the judgment of the judicious Reader: intimating onely the inclination of our opinion, towards the firſt of all: as the faireſt and ſafeſt to reſt upon; ſpecially, if the period of it were extended beyond the death of the Meſſiah, to the deſtruction of Jeruſalem and the Temple; however, humane hiſtories will not clear up the Chronology of times, to be anſwerable thereunto. And, in likelihood, it ſtood beſt with the wiſdom of God, all things conſidered; That, as many other Propheſies,ſo this famous one,of the coming and death of the Meſſiah, and of the final deſtruction of the City and Temple,ſhould have as much doubt and difficulty in it, for the preciſe point of time,as all this comes to.

to reſtore and to build Jeruſalem] Theſe words note down the Epoche,or period,from whence theſe ſeventy weeks muſt take their riſe and beginning: For which ſee the laſt foregoing Annotations. This, and all that followes in this verſe, are things which muſt be brought to paſſe and accompliſhed,within the compaſſe of that ſpace of time.

reſtore] Some refer this to the temple,and the reſtoring of it. Some to the City onely, and the building of it again; as the ſame word is uſed again, in the latter end of this verſe. But others,more rightly,to the people of the Jews,and their returning back; as the Conjugation of the verb, and the diſtinct repetition of the Particle or Prepoſion ל, do declare.

build Jeruſalem] The building of it was commanded, and begun in Cyrus his time; as was ſhewed in the laſt Anotations, We muſt not here make two diſtinct times, to be intended by the angel,one for the reſtoring and return of the people, and another time for the building of Jeruſalem; as ſome do.

unto the Meſſiah] Unto him, and to all that is here ſaid of him,in his own perſon, and in his inſtruments, executing his moſt ſevere judgment upon the Jewiſh people, City and Temple; that ſhall be the period of the ſeventy weeks.

Meſſiah] Meſſiah, here onely, twice a proper Name. Hence famous,Joh.1.41. & 4.25. The eternal Word is, by the angel, named, Meſſiah; that is, in Greek, Chriſt, or Anointed, or written in abſtracto. Anointed, in regard of both Natures,as to the Office of Reconciliation and Redemption. But anointed in the Humane Nature onely, as to the gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, collated upon it,infuſed into it.

the Prince] Duke, Leader, Commander. So Eſay 55.4. Mic.5.2. Mat. 2. 6. Act. 3. 15. & 5. 31. Heb. 2. 10. & 12.2. We muſt follow his Rule and Conduct.

ſhall be] The angel now divides the 70. weeks into three parts; Firſt, into ſeven weeks. Secondly, into ſixty two weeks: and thirdly, into one week; according to the ſequence of times,and affairs therein. And he joyneth proper ſtories to them,at leaſt, to the firſt and laſt part.

ſeven weeks] Of years,which are fourty nine years. Which divers reckon, from divers beginnings; according to the various opinions thereof, formerly mentioned. Some begin them with Cyrus, his decree, and end them, when the walls of Jeruſalem were finiſhed by Nehemiah; and make this interval of time to be fourty nine years. And hereunto, they refer alſo thoſe fourty ſix years, Joh. 2. 20. beginning that reckoning from the third of Cyrus, when Daniel mourned for the hindrance of the building, Chap. 10. 1, 2. Others, begin them with the ſecond of Darius Nothus, who reigned 19. years; and end them with the thirty two of his Succeſſour Artaxerxes Mnemon,when,ſay they, Nehemy having finiſhed the buildings, and his Deputyſhip, returns to Artaxerxes again, Neh. 5. 14. & Chap. 13. 6. The truth is, the Scripture pleaſing not to expreſſe,the full years of the reigns of thoſe Perſian Kings,Cyrus, Ahaſuerus, Artaxerxes,Darius; nor yet the ſeries of their ſucceſſion: and moſt of thoſe names, being ſo common to many of the Perſian kings, in prophane ſtories, leaves us in uncertainties, for the aſſignation and application of theſe years, to the preciſe years of thoſe kings.

and threeſcore and two weeks] Theſe 62. ſevens, which make 434. years from the reſtauration of Jeruſalem, are parcelled alone onely, that the laſt ſeven or week of years may be handled alone, for our Lords ſtory. And theſe do begin when the former ſeven weeks are ended: and are to be joyned with the former ſeven weeks, becauſe they both joyntly go before the time of the laſt week. Yet ſome render the former words, and theſe, thus, ſhall be ſevens of weeks, even 62. weeks: And ſo make the latter words expoſitory of the former. And underſtand theſe 62. weeks to be included only in the 70. weeks; But to have neither the ſame Beginning, nor Ending, with the 70. weeks; but to begin after them, and end before them: to begin in the ſeventh of Artaxerxes Mnemon, and to end in the death of the Meſſiah.

The ſtreet] Some with ſome ſeeming ſtrain to the words, do refer this to the firſt ſeven weeks of years onely; and make them the troublous times. Others, to the following 62. weeks only; and make them the troublous times. But conſidering the placing of the words, with leaſt ſtrain, and in true ſenſe, they may beſt in their Latitude relate to them both; ſo including the ſeven weeks, as not excluding altogether the 62. And indeed both were troublous times.

wall] Or, breach, or, ditch. Streets and walls comprehend the whole City.

even in troublous times] Heb. in ſtrait of times. Not for ſhortneſſe of times; but for ſtrait and ſore troubles in them. See Ezra, and Nehemiah, and Ezek. Chap. 38. & 39. & Dan. 11. and the books of Maccabees, for the troubles of all theſe times. Such very often are the times, and ſtate of the Church.

V. 26. and after threeſcore and two weeks] That is, in the ſeventh and laſt week, after the year 483. from the going forth of the Commandement, ver. 25.

ſhall Meſſiah be cut off] Some underſtand theſe words, that in the laſt ſeven, and in the laſt half of that ſeven, Chriſt ſhall come and preach, and ſuffer death; for in three yeares and a half he finiſhed his publick office: The Teſtament was ratified by the death of Chriſt, Heb. 9. 17. Therefore they will have this laſt week to end in Chriſts death; and in the 28. Jubilee from the eighth year of Joſhuah. Others, obſerving the Hebrew diſtinction Zateph Caton ſet down before theſe words, and after the 62. weeks; do rather and better render and underſtand them thus, After the 62 weeks; and after the Meſſiah being cut off; And ſo they make the Meſſiah to be cut off before this laſt week, or ſeven years; and refer the laſt week to the deſtruction of Jeruſalem. The next verſe will better cleer theſe things.

Meſſiah] The ſame in the former verſe. The Jewes do ſeek but fooliſhly to wreſt it to Hircanus the high Prieſt cut off by Herod, or to any other ſuch perſon of the Prieſtly line. For, beſides other reaſons, the things here ſpoken of Meſſiah, are ſo great as can agree to none other but to Chriſt our Saviour.

cut off] By violent death from the land of the living; as Eſay 53. 8. and in Ezekiahs caſe, Eſay 38. 10, 11. See this Act. 2. 23. & 3. 13. & 4. 15. & 13. 28, 29. and in the hiſtory of the Goſpels, Luk. 24. 26. This is ſet down here, as the Cauſe of the deſtruction following.

but not for himſelf] Or, and ſhall have nothing. Being brought to nothing by his death, without life, ſtrength, or any dignity in appearance, Pſal. 22. 6, 7. Act. 3. 13, 14. Eſay 53. 2, 3. Phil. 2. 3. as he had in his life-time no eſteem or regard, Act. 4. 11. Joh. 10. 21. Others thus; there being nothing in him; Namely, no cauſe or fault, Eſay 53. 4, 9. as Job 16. 17. See 1 Pet. 2. 22. 1 Joh. 3. 5. Or, there being nothing therein for him; that is to ſay, All being done for the good and redemption of mankind, 2 Cor. 5. 21. Or, they being none of his; that is, There being nothing then in Jeruſalem, which he will have and own, but caſt off and reject. The Trent Bible doth greatly corrupt the Text, and ſwerve from it.

and the people, &c.] For that heynous ſin of cutting off Chriſt, this horrible Judgement ſhall follow, and fall upon them.

the people of the Prince that ſhall come, ſhall deſtroy] That is, The Romane Legions under Titus ſhall deſtroy City, and Sanctuary. Or, the Gentiles, now ſtrangers, Eph. 2. 12. but, by the preaching of the Goſpel, ſhould become the people of the Prince to come, the Meſſiah, when Iſrael was rejected, they ſhall deſtroy, &c. Some tranſlate thus, The City and Sanctuary ſhall he deſtroy, the Governours people to come; that is, Chriſt the King, to whom the Father hath given all judgment, ſhall deſtroy this Princes reputed people the Jews, that ſhould come, and reject him, and alſo their Sanctuary: and this in the next generation after their Cutting of him off. Of this Chriſt foretold them, Mat. 24. 2, 15—22. & ver. 34. & Chap. 23. 36, 37, 38. and of the proper token of it, Luk. 21. 20—25.

and the end thereof ſhall be with a flood] A deluge of deſtruction, as Eſay 8. 7, 8. on irreſiſtible torrent ſhall finally ſweep away City and Sanctuary, people and State, Mat. 24. 21. Luk. 21. 22.

deſolations are determined.] They are inevitable by Gods decree. See Eſay 10. 22, 23. Rom. 9. 27, 28, 29.

V. 27. And he ſhall confirm, &c.] The Meſſiah ſhall corroborate, ratifie, and eſtabliſh. And this by his Preaching and Paſſion; as Prophet, Prieſt, and King of his Church.

the Covenant] Of God, and his Goſpel; the New Covenant, Jer. 31. 31—35. Heb 8. 10—13. Rom. 5. 15.

with many] Rom. 5. 15, 19. Mat. 26. 28. with the Elect, not Jews only, but Gentiles alſo.

many for one week] Or, many one week; that is, that one week remaining, which is the 70. week: where the firſt half of it only is to be underſtood; as appears, by comparing this with the other half of it, in the words immediately following.

and in the midſt of the week] The former half part of that week being paſt: in the later half of it, allotted, ſay ſome, for the publike function of the Meſſiah, in the end of it.

he ſhall cauſe the ſacrifice and the oblation to ceaſe] The Meſſiah, the Prince by the ſacrifice of himſelf, ſay ſome, once offered, ſhall put an end to the daily ſacrifice, and all other Levitical Sacrifices, which were but ſhadowes and types of him, and of his ſacrifice which was to come. The ſhadowes therefore were to vaniſh and ceaſe, when the body it ſelf was come, Heb. 10. 1, 9, 14. Others, and not amiſſe, make this whole verſe to be a continuation of that in the later part of the former verſe: and refer it all to the ſeventieth, or the laſt week of years, beginning 483. and being 29 years after the Meſſiah was cut off: and underſtand it thus, That the Meſſiah, by his Apoſtles and Miniſters, preaching the Goſpel, ſhould that one week confirm the covenant with many; in manner aforeſaid confirm them in it. As alſo in token thereof he further did confirm his love to thoſe of his that were in Jeruſalem, by bringing them out of it to Pella before the ſiege, by a divine Revelation and Oracle; as Euſebius relates in his Eccleſiaſtical hiſtory, book 3. Chap. 5. So ſaving them, as Lot out of Sodom, as the woman, Apoc. 12. 14. and as Apoc. 18. 4. from that deluge and inundation of wrath that fell upon the city; and ſo ſhewing his faithfulneſſe, and confirming the truth of his covenant of love with them. And that in the midſt of that week; that is, much thereabout, in the year 487. or 488. He ſhall cauſe the ſacrifice, and the oblation to ceaſe; that is, he ſhould ſo do, by Veſpaſian and the Romane Legions and armies beſieging Jeruſalem, Nero being yet alive; and by Titus after continuing the ſiege; by the ſtreightneſſe whereof they ſhould cauſe the means and requiſites neceſſary for ſacrifice and oblation to ceaſe and fail, and ſoon after burn the Temple; ſo taking away the place it ſelf, wherein onely it was lawful for them to ſacrifice.

And for the overſpreading of abominations] Or, with the abominable armies, or, wing of abominations: wing being taken for armies; as Eſay 8. 8. meaning the armies of the Heathen Romanes, abominable to the Jewes, in themſelves, and in their doings againſt them; as it after followes.

He ſhall make it deſolate] The Meſſiah, for their moſt haynous ſin of murdering and cutting them off, by the Romane Legions that make all deſolate, lay all waſte, city and temple, State and Nation, by their army, which is therefore called, Chap. 12. 11. the abomination that makes deſolate. Compare Luk. 21. 20. with Mat. 24. 15. & Mar. 13. 14. See alſo, Mat. 22. 7. The accompliſhment of all this we read in Joſephus, Egeſippus, and others.

even untill the conſummation] Utter conſumption, and final deſtruction of that place, and people of the Jewes, Mat. 24. 2. Luk. 21. 6. See the like, Ezek. 7. 2, 3, &c.

and that determined] Ordained before, and decreed by God; for their ſin, chiefly in rejecting and cutting off the Meſſiah, the Prince, as was ſaid, Mat. 27. 25. See the like phraſe, Eſay 10. 23. & 28. 22.

ſhall be poured upon the deſolate] Shall flow in upon them as a floud; ſhall ruſh in, and break in upon them as a breach of the Sea, as a deluge and inundation, that overflowes all, ſweepes all away, carries all before it. See the like, Eſay 8. 7, 8. Jer. 46. 7, 8. & 48. 2. See Luk. 21. 24. Hence the Jewes ſhould have learned, not ſo much to reſt upon, and to acquieſce in that temporal deliverance out of the Babyloniſh Captivity, and in the re-edification of the Temple and City; as by Faith to look after that ſpiritual deliverance, by the Meſſiah, that heavenly Canaan, that ſpiritual Temple, that holy City, the new Hieruſalem which is above, the mother of us all.

CHAP. X.

Verſ. 1. IN, &c.] Daniel mourning for the ſad eſtate of the Jewes in Judea, hath a Viſion vouchſafed to him, which is the laſt; and is contained in this, and the two remaining Chapters. Wherein he is firſt relieved and ſtrengthened, once, and again, againſt the great fright and fainting, wherein he was caſt by the greatneſſe of the Viſion. And after he is informed of the affaires of the Empires of the Perſians and Grecians, chiefly as they ſtood in relation to the ſtate and condition of the people of the Jewes, the Church of God, under them. And more fully he is told of the paſſages and tranſactions of State between the Seleucidæ and Lagidæ, the two main Kingdoms of the Grecian Empire divided. And moſt of all of the Actions of Antiochus Epiphanes, one of the Seleucidæ; of his ſubtilty, impiety, tyranny, and bloudy perſecuting the Religion and people of the Jews. And that Chriſt in the end will not be wanting to the deliverance of his people; but ſave and free them, at the preciſe time there ſet down. In this Chapter are chiefly ſet down things precedent to the Propheſie. In the next, the Body of the Propheſie it ſelf. And in the laſt, ſome things annexed thereunto.

the third] Heb. three. See Annotations on Chap. 1. 1.

year] And in the beginning of this year; as appears, verſ. 4. And this was the third year of his monarchy, after the winning of Babylon: For he had reigned over the Perſians many years before this: and in this year he was ſlain by Tomyris the Queen of the Scythians.

of Cyrus] Heb. Coreſh; ſignifying in the Perſian tongue a Lord; given to him after, for honours ſake. But his firſt name was ſpaco, that is, a dog or bitch, in the language of the Medes; ſo called, becauſe a bitch gave him ſuck when he was an infant expoſed to death; as Herodotus and Juſtine do relate.

king of Perſia] Now monarch, as was ſaid before.

was revealed] From God by a Viſion.

unto Daniel] So famous, even in forreign Nations, for wiſdome, worth, and piety, for viſions, and for skill in dreams, revealg ſecrets, and fore-telling things to come; whereof many were already come to paſſe: ſo miraculouſly ſaved in the Lyons den; ſo eſteemed, advanced, and imployed by the Monarchs of Babylon, and Perſia.

Belteſhazzar] See Chap. 1. 7. the Annotations there.

and the thing was true] See Apoc. 19. 9. Luk. 1. 20. Jer. 44. 28 No falſe Viſion of a lying Prophet.

but the time appointed was long] Heb. great-in length; Namely, In many ages after it ſhould receive its final accompliſhment, ver. 14. ſo long, ſay ſome, as till the end of the world: out of that, Chap. 12. 2. But rather, till the time of Antiochus Epiphanes, which was yet for many generations to come hereafter. Which ſhewes, Daniels God to be the true God, foretelling things to come, Eſay 41. 22, 23. and the duty of God's people, patiently to wait, and expect Gods appointed time.

was mourning] Becauſe the people were ſo backward to return out of their Captivity, when they were licenſed and authoriſed thereunto; yet ſo very many of them remained ſtill behind, mindleſſe and careleſſe of Gods Religion, Worſhip, and Promiſes: But chiefly becauſe the building of the Temple, begun by the Jewes that were returned at the command of Cyrus, Ezr. 1. and 3. Chapters, was now inhibited, and ceaſed, by the meanes of the Samaritanes, and others, who hired counſellours againſt them, and ſo prevailed with Cambyſes the Son, in the abſence of Cyrus the Father, in the Scythian War. As they did alſo after this time, in the dayes of Ahaſuerus, and Artaxerxes, until the ſecond year of Darius, Ezr. 8. 4. This hindrance, in this year of Darius, much affected and afflicted holy Daniel; as for the Temples ſake, ſo for the God of the Temple, whoſe Truth and Power, in performing his promiſe, might by this interruption ſeem to be queſtioned and impeached. The uſe of mourning and tears, in like caſes, is very frequent in Scipture, Eſay 38. 5. & 22. 14. Pſal. 6. 6. 126. 5, 6. Jer. 9. 1. & 13. 17. & 14. 17. Mat. 5. 4.

three full weekes] Heb. weekes of dayes; which diſtinguiſheth them from the weeks of years, Chap. 9. 24, &c. with this time fell in their feaſt of Paſſeover. Which Daniel could not obſerve, as being out of the land of Judea, and Jeruſalem, Deut. 16. 2, 5, 6, 7. But the Jewes there might, having built the altar, Ezra 3. 2—7.

V. 3. I ate no pleaſant bread] Heb. bread of deſires, as portion of deſires, Jer. 12. 10. and land of deſire, Jer. 3. 19. Mal. 3. 12. Zech. 7. 14. Here are ſome expoſitions of the manner of his mourning: beſides prayers and tears, which no doubt were not wanting: here he ſhewes his abſtinence in meats and drink, and other comforts and refreſhments of the body: thereby to help forward the afflicting of his ſoul in this his godly ſorrow for the calamity of the Church, and the people of God: and by mortifying of his fleſh, to quicken his Spirit the more, in making his addreſſe to God. Theſe, and like ſignes of ſorrow, are uſed in Scripture in like caſes. So 2 Sam. 12. 16, 17, 20. Of his chooſing of pulſe, rather then to eat of the daily proviſion of the kings meat, and to drink of the wine which Nebuchadnezzar drank, ſee Chap. 1. 8. and the Annotations there. But when he was at his own finding, obſerving the Levitical Ordinances, he abſtained not from the lawful uſe of pleaſant bread, and fleſh, and wine; as appears here, except in caſes of faſting and mourning.

fleſh, nor wine] His kind of Faſting here conſiſted not in a choice of certain kind of meats; but of the condition and quality of them. He choſe the courſeſt ſorts of meats and drinks; ſuch as might ſerve to ſuſtain Nature onely, though in much hardſhip and penance, and chaſtening himſelf, ver. 12. He abſtained from wine, as well as fleſh. His Diet was courſe, and ſcant, during ſo long a time.

anoint my ſelf] Anointing was much in uſe among the Jewes, and others, to cheer up the countenance, and rejoyce the heart, Pſal. 104. 15. Prov. 27. 9. So uſed by Ruth, Chap. 3. 3. by David, 2 Sam. 12. 20. by thoſe, Amos 6. 6. Whence is that, Pſal 23. 5. Eccl. 9. 8. And the practiſe of thoſe two women that anointed our Saviours feet; the one, Luk. 7. 38, 46. the other, Joh. 11. 2. & 12. 3. And therefore in time of mourning and ſorrow, the uſe of it is forbidden, and laid aſide; as 2 Sam. 14. 2. And ſo Daniel here forbears it: as no doubt all things elſe which might any way delight and cheer up the body in this time of his mourning. Thoſe words of our Saviour, Mat. 8. 17. are ſpoken only in oppoſition to hypocriſie in Faſting, againſt ſuch as in private Faſtings did disfigure their faces, that they might appear unto men to Faſt.

till three whole, &c.] This was not then a ſudden Paſſion, and ſoon over: but thus ſtruck him to the heart, and ſtuck by him; to ſee the Church and people of God in this diſtreſs; the Temple and Worſhip of God thus ſtopt and hindered. See Neh. 1. 3, 4. & Chap. 2. 3. Rom. 12. 15. Pſal. 137. 4, 5, 6. and this time of Faſting is like that, 1 Sam. 31. 13.

V. 4. And in the four and twentieth day] preſently upon the ending of the three weeks mourning.

of the firſt moneth] Called Niſan, in the Chaldee tongue, Eſth. 3. 7. and Abib in the Hebrew, Exod. 22. 2, 3. with Chap. 13. 4. Deut. 16. 1. which ſignifieth the ſtalk with the ear; becauſe in that moneth which anſwereth to part of our March and April, barly was in the ear in thoſe countries, Exod. 9. 31. Lev. 23. 10, 15. Deut. 16. 9.

I was] In viſion; or, it may be, in perſon, in this time of the Perſian Monarchy: and this the rather, conſidering a number of men were with him, ver. 7.

river] By Rivers ſides many times God ſhewed Viſions to his Prophets. See Annotations on chap. 8. 2.

Hiddekel] Gen. 2. 14. the third River, or great Channel or head of the great Euphrates, which goeth toward the Eaſt of Aſſyria; or Eaſtward from the garden of Eden, to Aſſyria: bounding Eden moſt Northerly; and above Seleucia running into Tigris, whence it hath its name. And Tigris ſo called from the name of an arrow, the language of the Medes, by reaſon of the exceeding ſharp ſwiftneſſe of the ſtream: and Hiddekel in Hebrew, of a like notation. In Engliſh, ſharp-ſwiſt. The Perſians chief glory was in thoſe quarters. And likewiſe afterwards the Seleucidæ there ſeated themſelves: and Seleucus Nicator built upon Tigris, the famous City Seleucia.

V. 5. Then I liſt up mine eyes] Walking forth likely by the River ſide, with ſome company, ver. 7. to refreſh himſelf after his long mourning and chaſtning of himſelf before his God: and not without the uſe of meditation and contemplation there; He then lift up his eyes, and looked.

a certain man] Heb. one man. One in ſhape of a man: an Angel, ſay ſome: but more likely, Chriſt; by comparing Chap. 12. 6, 7. & Rev. 1. 13, 14, 15. & 10. 5. that Palmoni, chap. 8. 13—16. See Ezek. 1. 26. & 40. 3.

cloathed in linnen] The word בד bad, ſignifies precious linnen; ſuch as Kings, Prieſts, and Princes uſed to wear; white and ſhining. See Exod. 28. 39. Lev. 16. 4. 1 Sam. 22. 18. 2 Sam. 6. 14. Gen. 41. 42. Eſth. 8. 15. Thus alſo Angels appeared, Ezek. 9. 2. & Mar. 16. 5. Luk. 24. 4. in long, white, ſhining garments, Act. 1. 10. Rev. 15. 6. Sometimes in Scripture our Saviour appears clothed in red; as Eſay 63. 1, 2, 3. & Rev. 19. 13. ſignifying thereby, that he treadeth the wine-preſſe of the fierceneſſe and wrath of God for our ſins; and hath his garments victoriouſly ſprinkled and ſtained with the blood of our ſpiritual enemies. He thus clothed in red, that we might be clothed in white robes, Rev.7.9,12. & Chap.19. 13,14. This Linnen was ſo thin, that his Body appeared through it, ver.6.

whoſe loines, &c.] Rev.1.13. See Rev.15.6.

gold of uphaz] Where was the moſt pretious gold, Jer.10. 9. more famous then that of Havilah, or Parvaim, Gen.2.11, 12. 2 Chr.3.6. This Uphaz ſeems to be the ſame with Ophir, or aurea Cherſoneſus, as moſt think; whither Solomons Navy went; and Jehoſhaphats ſhips were bound for gold, 2 Chr. 8.18. 1 King.9.28. & 22.48. and whereof we read, Job 28. 16. Pſal.45.9. Eſay 13.9. 1 Chr.29.4. This pretious golden girdle may repreſent, the pretious, the perfect, the willing and ready obedience of Chriſt to do his Fathers Will and Service, in the redeeming of mankind, Eſay 11.5. & 42.1.& 49.3,4. & chap.53. Phil.2.7. Joh.4.34. See 1 King. 18.46. 2 King.4.29.

V. 6. the Berill] a pretious ſtone of a Sky colour, or Sea colour. See Ezek.1.16. & 10.9. and the Annotations there. The Trent Bible tranſlates here, a Chryſolite.

of lightning] glittering, and dazeling the eyes of a ſpeedy preſence, Mat.24.27. and ſuch was the Angels countenance, Mat.28.3. See Mat.17.2.

and his eyes,&c.] Rev.1.14. & 19.12.

his armes,&c.] Rev.1.15. See Ezek.1.7.

and the voyce,&c.] See Ezek.1.24. & 43.2. Apoc.1.10,15. Act.2.2. By all the former Reſemblances, may be ſhadowed out ſeveral Divine perfections, in Chriſt our Saviour.

V. 7. alone ſaw] Act.9.7. Not that his companions eyes were ſtrucken with ſuch blindneſſe, as the Sodomites, Gen. 19.11. or the Syrian army, 2 King.6.18. But that this Viſion was not vouchſafed to them, nor their eyes enlightened to ſee it; no more then the eyes of Eliſha's ſervant were, till upon the Prophets prayer, the Lord opened his eyes, to ſee the mountain full of horſes and charets of fire round about Eliſha, 2 King.6.17.

fled to hide themſelves] The wicked flee ſometimes when none purſueth, Prov.28.1. But here likely, hearing ſuddenly that huge voyce and noyſe, ver. 6. as Sauls company heard a voyce, though not the words of him that ſpake to Saul; but ſaw no man, but the light only, Act.9.7. & 22. 9. This ſtruck them here into a panick fear; as 2 King.7.7. through their inward guilt and frailty, miſdoubting danger; that they ſought to hide themſelves, as Adam in paradiſe, in Caves or Woods, or any ſuch place, as might be by the Rivers ſide. This fright and flight in them ſerved in part, for the confirmation of the truth of this Viſion; that this was not a thing feigned by Daniel, or formed only in his Imagination; but in part Witneſſed by theſe men alſo.

no ſtrength] ver.16. his ſpirits were diſperſt and ſpent, his nerves and ſinews enfeebled, the joynts of his loines looſed, the blood running to the heart, to maintain and ſtrengthen it, left all the other parts cold and liveleſſe, ſomewhat like that, Chap.5.6.

my comelineſſe] vigour, was changed, corrupted, gone. He was ſo appalled in colour, and countenance, that he looked liker a dead carkaſſe, then a living man. Such was his conſternation and aſtoniſhment at the exceeding greatneſſe of the viſion, that he was fainting and ſwounding, and ſcarce life remained in him. See the like, Chap.7.15,28. & 8. 17, 27. Ezek.1.28. Hab.3.16. Act.9.3,4. Rev.1.17. Eſay 6.5.

V. 9. then was I in a deep ſleep] Then I fell into a deep ſleep, chap.8.18. like that of Adam, Gen.2.21. or of Jonas, chap.1.5. or that, 1 Sam.26.12. All this was to fit him the more, by this deep humiliation, to a religious attention and docility, for the receiving of theſe wonderful myſteries and propheſies in this viſion to be revealed to him.

V. 10. an hand touched me] ver.16,18. Chap. 8.18. & 9. 21. Apoc.1.17. See Eſay 6.6,7. This ſeems to be the hand of the Angel Gabriel, Chap.8.16. & 9.21. like the appearance of a man, ver.16,18. touched him, with the hand of a man; not the hand of him, ver.6. Hereby may be ſignified & ſymbolized the power of the Holy Ghoſt. See Ezek.1.3.

ſet me upon my knees] Heb. cauſed me to move my ſelf upon my knees; and ſo ſet me up in part: being fallen before all along upon the ground upon his face. Thus ſtriving it ſeems to riſe, yet through faintneſs could not at the firſt get upright.

V. 11. a man greatly beloved] Ver.19. Chap.9.23.

that I ſpeak] I Gabriel.

ſtand upright] Heb. ſtand upon thy ſtanding; or, in thy ſtanding. So Neh.8.7. a ſecond degree of his raiſing, and corroboration. He muſt ſtand up to hear Gods Word by the Angel. See Jud.3.20.

for unto thee am I now ſent] This then was an angel, ſent to tell and teach him things to come.

I ſtood trembling] Not fully recovered; but as a faint man newly riſing out of his ſick bed, weak in his knees. Thus God when he pleaſeth, doth by degrees diſpenſe his favours, and ſupports.

V. 12. Fear not] A third degree. He now comes from his Body to his Mind. Bids him put away that ſorrour and trouble of mind wherein he was, that he might quietly and comfortably hear and underſtand what he had to deliver unto him. So again, ver.19. So Mat.28.5,10. Luk.2.10. & 24. 35. and in many other places.

the firſt day] Ver.2. the firſt of the three weeks. Here is Gods readineſſe to hear prayer, Eſay 65.24. & 58.9. Pſal.32. 5. See Chap.9.20.

ſet thine heart] Heb. give thy heart: apply, and imploy it; not formally, or perfunctorily.

to underſtand] Conſider, and weigh the preſent calamity of thy people; with a deſire to know what their future ſtate ſhall be.

and to chaſten] ver.2,3. See Lev.16.29.

before thy God] In his ſight; without all hypocriſie: in deep humiliation, with true faith, and ſerious repentance. To all which the angel here gives teſtimony.

thy words were heard] The words of thy prayers. And thoſe were not ſo much to know what ſhould befall his people in the latter dayes: of that he had underſtood, Chap. 7. & 8. neither would he for that have been ſo boldly inquiſitive, or ſo much have afflicted himſelf, ver.2,3. But to eaſe and relieve them of their preſent preſſure and calamity, which now in this third year of Cyrus was befallen them. And here we ſee the gracious effect and fruit of prayer, Pſal.65.2.

and I am come for thy words] Sent on this ambaſſage to thee, upon the gratious hearing of thy prayers.

V. 13. But the Prince, &c.] By Prince, here, Romiſh Interpreters do generally underſtand an Angel. And do teach, That to Kingdomes and Provinces, as alſo to every man when he is born, there are appointed by God, particular good Angels for their continual Guardians: and that Satan on the other ſide, doth appoint to them particular evil angels to watch and work for their hurt; and that theſe are in oppoſition, and fight one againſt another. Bold aſſertions upon weak grounds. And here the chief of theſe Expoſitors underſtand by the Prince of the Kingdome of Perſia, a Good Angel, which they call the Tutelar Angel, and Guardian of that Kingdome. But then how he and Gabriel ſhould withſtand and fight againſt one another, they puzzle themſelves, and are at a loſſe. Others of them underſtand an Evill angel, that did here withſtand Gabriel, and after fight againſt him, verſ. 20. But leaving theſe groundleſſe fancies, and unſafe ſuppoſals, The Text fairly and directly leads us to the Prince of the Kingdome of Perſia, who was Cambyſes, the ſon of Cyrus, as Heathen Hiſtories do record; who in his fathers abſence, as was ſaid, ſtopt the execution of his fathers Decree, and forbad the building of the Temple; being drawn thereto by thoſe mentioned, Ezra 4.1—6. and likely not without the Devils hand and help in it.

withſtood me] Or, ſtood before me; as it were, juridically. I being appointed to obſerve him, and his doings againſt thy people, and to provide for, and withſtand the impediments which he caſts in the way, and the oppoſitions made by him.

one and twenty dayes] Thoſe three weeks of thy mourning and chaſtening thy ſelf, ver.2,3. and this hindered me from coming to thee till now, though the words of thy prayers were heard and granted from the firſt of thoſe dayes.

but loe Michael, one of the chief Princes] Or, the firſt of the chief Princes; their Lord, called your Prince, verſ. 21. and the great Prince, which ſtandeth for the children of thy people, chap.12.1. Michael the Archangel, Jude ver.9. Michael and his Angels, Rev.12.7. This Michael here, ſome take to be a chief created angel. But moſt, for the Angel of the Covenant, Chriſt our Saviour; that Archangel, by whoſe voyce and proclamation the dead ſhall be raiſed, 1 Theſſ. 4.16. And Angels here are called Princes. See Rom.8.38. Eph.1.21. & 3.10. Col.1.16.

came to help me] Cambyſes ſo ſtrongly withſtood, that I ſtood in need of this help, which is above the help of angels, againſt him, to repreſſe his further cruel counſels, and miſchievous purpoſe, againſt the Jews; and to inform and inable me in this ſervice. This doth miniſter ſound comfort to the Church in all afflictions.

with the Kings of Perſia] Cambyſes, and his Peeres, and Counſellers that ſet him on againſt the Jewes.

V.14. Now I am come] at the end of the 21. dayes.

in the latter dayes] Heb. in the ſequel, or poſterity of dayes. So Chap.2.28. Gen.49.1. Act.2.17. Not at the end of the world, or in the dayes of the Goſpel; But in the declination, and towards the end of their temporal ſtate; a while before the coming of the Meſſias; under whom began another age; and a ſpiritual ſtate of the Church. And this is more then Daniel ſeems to have prayed for. God herein deales with him, as he did with Ahaz, Eſay 7.14.

for yet] Beſides theſe things which were ſhewed thee in viſion, chap.7. & 8.

the Viſion] and propheſie; as chap.8.17. Eſay 1.1.

for many dayes] See Chap.12.4,6—10. The dayes of Antiochus Epiphanes are moſt inſiſted upon, chap. 11. which were many ages after this.

V.15. I ſet my face,&c.] Ver.8.9. as not able to endure the brightneſſe of his glory; as our eye is not able to endure the brightneſſe of the Sun. After the former ſweet conſolations and corroborations, we may marvel at this continued dejection: But rather gueſſe at, and conjecture, then certainly define any freſh cauſes or occaſions of it. New ones we can hardly imagine, did intercur. But we muſt reſt ſtill in the former; as his own words do import, ver.16,17.

and I became dumb] either of ſet purpoſe, ſilent; or elſe not able to ſpeak; and indeed we read not that he ſpake any thing ſince the beginning of this Viſion. And the words he firſt uſeth, ſeem to tend this way, ver. 17. And ſometimes aſtoniſhment, fear, ſhame, ſorrow, yea admiration and joy, when they are on a ſudden in an exceſſive degree, do for a while take away the uſe and faculty of ſpeech, till a man is able to recollect himſelf.

V.16. one like, &c.] ver.10,18. This ſeems to be the ſame Angel Gabriel; the ſame that ſpake to him, and was ſent to him, Chap.8.16. & 9.21. Though ſome underſtand this of the Son of God, in the appearance of man: as in that ſhape he often ſhewed himſelf to the Patriarchs and Prophets, before his Incarnation.

touched my lips] That were dumb. ver.15. By this viſible ſign ſtrengthening him, and enabling him for ſpeech. See Jer.1.9. Eſay 6.7. Exod.4.11,12. Pſal.51.15. Mat.8.3.

then I opened, &c.] The effect following the former ſign. Gods Signes and Sacraments are not without their efficacy and effect in the right uſe of their adminiſtration and participation.

that ſtood before me] This ſame angel Gabriel.

O my Lord] Thus he ſtyles the Angel; in all humility, out of the ſenſe of his own frailty, and the angels glory.

by the Viſion] Thus he excuſeth himſelf and his weakneſſe; from the glorious[n]eſſe of the Viſion and apparition.

my ſorrowes are turned upon me] Ruſh and break in upon me, as the pangs of a woman in travel.

no ſtrength] See ver.8. So again, ver.17.

V.17. the ſervant of this my Lord] Or, this ſervant of my Lord; that is, I thy ſervant, ſo weak and worthleſſe; and in the ſtate which I am in. See Rev.19.10. & 22.9.

talk] The Viſion thus working on me, much leſſe can I be able to talk.

with this my Lord?] The glorious angel. And much leſſe with yonder my Lord, the Lord of angels, him that appeared, ver.5,6. to whom the doubling of the pronoun demonſtrative in the Original, in the opinion of ſome, maketh a reference.

for as for me] Heb. and I. The Nominative put abſolutely.

ſtraight way] Since thou didſt begin to enter, ſpeak and talk with me.

breath] Scarce any breath, or life; notwithſtanding that touching in the former verſe: an hyperbole.

V.18. again] This third time touched. See ver.16.

V.19. And ſaid] See ver.11,12.

Peace be unto thee] The loving and uſual form of ſalutation and comprecation, Luk.10.5. & 24.36. 3 Joh.ver.14. Peace comprehending all bleſſings, all felicity. He ſhould not then need to fear death, or any danger.

be ſtrong] Redoubled, for greater aſſurance, and efficacy. So Joſh.1.6,7,9,18. & 10.25. Thus the Angel, as it were, ſtrives and wraſtles to overcome Daniels infirmity.

I was ſtrengthened] The power and effect of Gods Word by the Angel. God by degrees lifts up his; and miniſters grace and ſtrength.

Let my Lord ſpeak] When God doth fit and furniſh; then man is willing and ready. So Eſay 6.8.

V.20. Knoweſt thou, &c?] By this interrogation, he would quicken Daniels deſire after it. See ver.12,14.

and now] He ſummarily propounds here, what he particularly declares at large in the Chapters following.

will I return] To the King of Perſia, from whom I came, ver.13. this ambaſſage being performed.

to fight] To reſiſt Cambyſes, and his plots and proceedings againſt the Jews; to ruine him, and that whole Empire, by degrees.

and when I am gone forth] Thence, from Perſia; to call and confirm the Prince of Grecia.

Loe,] A Note of attention, and admiration, to that which followes.

the Prince of Grecia ſhall come] a wonder indeed, that Alexander the Great, with ſo ſmall an army, ſhould come againſt that laſt mighty Perſian Monarch Darius Codomannus, and gain his Empire. The Papiſts that underſtand here by this Prince of Grecia, an Angel, either good, or bad, may pleaſe themſelves in their own dreams; and fight among themſelves about their own fancies.

Grecia] Heb. Javan. the ſtyle of Grecia; becauſe they were of the poſterity of Javan, the fourth ſon of Japhet, Gen. 10.2. Whence alſo they were called Jones. See Dan.8.21, Joel 3.6.

V.21. But I will ſhew thee] Before I return, ver.20. This may have principal reference to the Seleucidæ, and Lagidæ, which followed after Alexander the Great, and upon whom the main body of the Viſion and Prophecy following is ſpent, Chap.11. & 12.

in the Scripture of truth] In the Decree of God; in his determinate Counſel in his mind and providence: which is likened here to an authentical writing or record, for the certainty of its truth, to be in its time accompliſhed: figurative terms. See Pſal.139.16. & 149.9. Mal.3.16.

none that holdeth with me] Or, ſtrengtheneth himſelf with me. Namely, to help me againſt them, the enemies of the Church. He ſpeaks of no Humane help; as the caſe then ſtood.

but Michael] ver.13. Chriſt alone ſtands for his Church againſt all the world; that neither Men nor Devils ſhall prevail againſt it, Pſal.2. Mat.16. 18. This is Churches comfort and ſecurity.

your Prince] Prince of the Jews, Chap.9.25,26. the King, and Head of his Church, and Saviour of his Body, Eph.1.22, 23. See Joſh.5.14. Ezek.34.24. Act.5.31. Apoc. 1. 5. and 19. 16.

CHAP. XI.

Verſ.1. A*Lſo I*] Theſe are the words, not of Daniel, but of the Angel Gabriel; who here continues his ſpeech, and performs his promiſe, Chap.10.14,21. and gives a more particular expoſition of the matters of the Viſions, Chap.2. & 7. & 8. So that in thoſe Viſions the ſame Nations are figured thrice over (onely Babel, or the Chaldean Empire left out in the laſt, as then at an end) and are expounded thrice; the later expoſition ſtill the clearer: and here laſt of all, with the greateſt cleerneſſe of all, are foretold by the Angel, the particular kings of Perſia, and of Grecia more ſpecially, the ſundry ſeveral paſſages of their divided kings, and their affairs one againſt another; as they ſtood in a relation to the Jews, Gods people, in the firſt year of Darius the Mede] Chap.5.31. & 6.28. & 9. 1. the firſt year of the Perſian Empire.

even I ſtood to confirm, &c.] In two things chiefly, viz. firſt to break down the Chaldean Empire, ſo that by the Angels aſſiſtance, the golden head was broken to pieces, Chap.2. by the Petition of the Watcher, the ax was laid to the root of the tree, Chap.4. and the Lyon pluckt, Chap.7. and Belſhazzar ſlain, Chap.5.

Secondly, to confirm and ſtrengthen Darius and Cyrus (for they reigned together) to iſſue forth that Edict and Proclamation, for the return of the Jewes out of the Babyloniſh Captivity, into their own land. For no doubt but ſo great a matter, at that time, did admit of great debate, Whether, or no, to diſmiſſe ſo many captives, to loſe the benefit they reaped by them, to incur the danger might follow thereupon; We ſee how loath the King of Egypt was to let them go out of his land, Exod.chap.5,&c. But the Angel here confirms and ſtrengthens Darius in this good reſolution to let them go in the midſt of all his hæſitations and fluctuations of mind, and againſt all politick ſuggeſtions, and expoſitions, made by any to the contrary. And thus the Angel ſhewes the great care he had of Daniels people in their great affairs with theſe monarchs, Math.18.10. Pſal.34.7. & 9.11. Heb.1.14.

V. 2, And now] Being not onely imployed under God, in the management and adminiſtration of the Perſian monarchy, ſo as may make for the uſe and good of the Church; but alſo being ſent to thee, as aforeſaid, Chap. 10. verſ. 11,14.

will I ſhew thee the truth] Chap.10.21. the propriety of the Viſions of the Image, chap.2. and of the Beaſts, chap.7. & 8. which then we may not expound, but according to the Angels commentary: which ſtandeth in matters ſo famous, that men, out of the Church, will bring as ſtories moſt juſtly agreeing with the Angels words, That our enemies being Judges, this might ſeem rather a hiſtory of things paſt, then a propheſie of ſuch things to come ſo many ages after. The Hiſtories, now extant, that help ſo much to the clear underſtanding of this Chapter, are Herodotus, Polybius, Zonaras, Pauſanias, Xenophon, Joſephus, Livius, Florus, Appian, Plutarch, Juſtin, Ptolomaus, Phyſcon, and others. See Eſay 41. ver. 22, 23.

yet three kings in Perſia] Yet beſides this Darius, that was; and this Cyrus, that now is, chap. 10. 1. So is the particle yet uſed, Gen. 40. 13. Jonas 3. 4. Some reckon them thus, Cambyſes, Smerdis Magus, and Darius Hyſtaſpis. Others, take in Cyrus, and leave out Smerdis Magus, being but a counterfeit, and therefore ſlain within one year.

and the fourth ſhall be far richer, &c.] This is Xerxes, famouſly ſo known, for his Riches, in Heathen Stories, Juſtin. lib. 2. which riches Cyrus had got, Eſay 45. 3. and his Father Darius by levying of tributes and taxes, Eſth. 10. 1. whence he was called the Hutiſter, or Hoorder of the kingdom: like that exactor of tributes, in the 20. verſe of this Chapter. Beſides his own impoſitions laid upon ſo many Provinces.

and by his ſtrength, through his riches, he ſhall ſtir up, &c.] This Expedition of Xerxes, againſt Græcia, is very famous in Heathen Hiſtories, in Herodotus, Juſtin, Diodorus Siculus, Paulus Oroſius, Plutarch, and others; his armies huge, by land and ſea; his pride monſtrous; his flight ſhameful: whence he was called, firſt, the terrour of Greece; and after, the ſcorn of Greece. Some imagine, as if this were the laſt monarch of Perſia, and ſo but four in all: But it is nothing ſo. There were theſe after him, Artaxerxes Longimanus, Darius Nothus, Artaxerxes Mnemon, Darius Ochus, Darius Codomannus. But theſe are paſſed over by the Angel, as not making ſo much to his preſent purpoſe, nor medling much with the affaires of the Jews, after the Temple and City of Jeruſalem were once builded.

V. 3. And a mighty King] This was above 100 years after that Expedition of Xerxes; and this man was that belly of braſſe, chap. 2. 32. the body of the leopard, chap. 7. 6. the notable horn of the he-goat, chap. 8. 5. Alexander the Great; here is an abridgment of his ſtory.

that ſhall rule with great dominion] Conquered the world in 6. years; was ſorry there was not another world to conquer, chap. 2. 39.

and do according to his will] Whatſoever he wiſhe, and attempted; even beyond all humane hope and expectation: and upon ſuch ſucceſſes, would needs be held and reputed a god. See Amos on Chap. 3. 1.

V. 4. And when he ſhall ſtand up] Monarch 6 or 7 years, after he hath withſtood and ſubdued the Perſians, and their monarchy.

his kingdome ſhall be broken] Chap. 2. 44. & 8. 8, 21, 22. See the Annotations there. Of great Alexanders death at Babylon, in the 33 year of his age, 12 of his kingdome, and 6 or 7 of his monarchy; and of the manner of his death; with ſome ſmall variety therein, Heathen hiſtories do plentifully record.

and ſhall be divided] Firſt his 12 Chieftains divided his Empire among themſelves; as adminiſtrators, and governors of it, each of his ſhare.

toward the four winds] Chap. 7. 6. four notable ones, towards the four winds of heaven, Chap. 8. 8. the reſt were ſoon after reduced to theſe four kingdoms; of Antigonus, in the Eaſt; Caſſander in the Weſt; Seleucus in the North; and Ptolomy in the South. Some place Antigonus in the North, and Seleucus in the Eaſt.

and not to his poſterity] Great Alexanders poſterity had them not; Philippus Aridæus, Alexanders brother, was ſoon killed; Alexanders two ſons, viz. Alexander by Roxane, and Hercules by Barſine, the eldeſt daughter of Darius Codomannus, were both poyſoned by Caſſander, leaving no iſſue; and Olympias Alexanders mother, killed by him. So his poſterity was rooted out.

nor according to his dominion] None of theſe four ſhall be any wiſe able to be compared in greatneſſe and ſtrength to Alexanders power and Empire. They were far inferiour, chap. 8. 22.

plucked up] Rooted up, root and branch.

beſides thoſe] Of great Alexanders poſterity: None of them ſhould remain to have any part of it.

V. 5. And the King of the ſouth] Of the four kingdomes, that of the Eaſt, and that of the Weſt, are hereafter no more mentioned, being the two leſſer kingdomes, though not reduced to the other two, and no way concerning or medling with the people of the Jews, Gods, and Daniels people. But the other two, the Kings of the North and of the South, are much mentioned, and their armies, victories, and exploits, one againſt another. Becauſe the Jews and their land lay betwixt them, they did ſuffer very much of the one and of the other, being challenged, conquered, and poſſeſſed, ſometimes by the one, and ſometimes by the other; and ſo torn and rent by this fourth Beaſt, which had teeth of iron, and nailes of braſſe, devouring and breaking in pieces, and ſtamping the reſidue with his feet, chap. 7. 19. And indeed theſe of the North were, of all, the moſt cruel enemies, that very Gog and Magog, ſpoken of, Ezek. chap. 38. & 39. The races of theſe kings, were called, the Seleucidæ in the North, from Seleucus Nicanor, or Nicanus the Conquerour, the firſt of them; and the Lagidæ, in the South, from Ptoleme the ſon of Lagus, the firſt of that race: both of them being Great Alexanders Captains. The particulars concerning both races, which follow in this prophetical Chapter, though dark to the vulgar ſort, not verſt in the Humane, or Heathen Hiſtories of theſe times, in which onely the accompliſhment of theſe propheſies is to be found, the ſacred Scripture of the Old Teſtament ending before theſe times began; yet they are ſo generally agreed upon by all learned Interpreters, old and new, of the Romane, and of the Reformed Church, as may yield thereby ſomewhat the better ſatisfaction to the common Reader in this behalf. For his clearer light, we ſhall ſet down here in the beginning, the Catalogue and ſucceſſion of theſe Kings, thus; The Kings of the South, firſt Ptolomeus the ſon of Lagus, 2 Ptolomeus Philadelphus, 3 Ptolomeus Evergetes, 4 Ptolomeus Philopator, 5 Ptolomeus Epiphanes, 6 Ptolomeus Philometor. The Kings of the North, 1 Seleucus Nicanor, 2 Antiochus Soter, 3 Antiochus Theos, 4 Seleucus Callinicus, 5 Seleucus Ceraunus, 6 Antiochus Magnus, 7 Seleucus Philopator, or Soter, 8 Antiochus Epiphanes. Thus far this propheſie of the Angel to Daniel doth go. And Hierome, that learned Father, is much to be regarded and followed, in his Expoſition of this propheſie, who had the help of divers Hiſtorians, who writ of theſe times: the names onely of which Authors, are left to us at this day. See the Preface of his Commentaries upon Daniel.

King of the South] Ptolomeus the ſon of Lagus.

South] Ægypt, lying South from Jury, named ver. 8, 42. 43.

ſhall be ſtrong] The Angel regards his ſtrength, principally, how it toucheth the Jewes: And ſo it fell out; For Ptolomie ſoon after he held Egypt, came into Judea, and took Jeruſalem on a Sabbath day, pretending friendſhip, and not hoſtility, and carryed very many captives into Egypt; as Joſephus records in his Antiquities. b. 12. c. 1. He was the firſt horn, c. 7. 7, 20, 24.

and one of his Princes] Not of Ptolomies Princes, though ſome learned men would have it ſo; but of great Alexanders: not Ptolomie Philadelphus, or Philopator; but Seleucus Nicanor, the firſt of the Seleucidæ; and not his grandchild Antiochus Theos, as ſome would. The whole tenour and ſequence of the ſpeech will have it meant of a ſeveral kingdome. And the Angel ſpeaking to Daniel, knew that he would help himſelf by the matter, in all doubtful terms. And he was to ſpeak ſomewhat darkly for the Jewes ſafety. And this Seleucus Nicanor is the ſecond Horn.

ſtrong above him] This Seleucus was, at laſt, much ſtronger then the King of the South, even touching Judea. For though Ptolomy wan it from Laomedon; and after recovered it from Antigonus; yet in the laſt Conqueſt over Antigonus, it was agreed upon, that Seleucus ſhould hold Syria and Judea; as his houſe pleadeth in Polyb. book 5.

a great dominion] Seleucus Nicanor, was the greateſt, at laſt, of all Alexanders Succeſſors. Some reckon that he had ſeventy two Kingdoms under him.

V. 6. And the end of years] about 70. after Alexanders death.

they] The Seleucidæ and Lagidæ; Antiochus Theos, the ſon of Antiochus Soter, and grandchild of Seleucus Nicanor; and Ptolomeus Philadelphus, the ſon of Ptolomeus Lagides. This Ptolomeus Philadelphus was the third Horne; potent king; a great lover of Learning; the Founder of that wonderful Library, wherein were 200000. Books: and among them the Seventy Tranſlation, which he procured to be made.

ſhall joyn themſelves together] By marriage; Antiochus Theos, taking to wife Bernice, or Berenice, the daughter of Ptolomeus Philadelphus: ſo propheſied, Chap. 2. 43.

to make an agreement] Heb. rights. To keep the peace, and to end all differences, by which they were ready to go to war. This peace between the two kingdoms, was the main end of the marriage.

but ſhe ſhall not retain the power of the arm] Berenice, ſhall not be able to make the kingdoms cleave one to another, Chap. 2. 43. But that ſhortly they ſhall come to open War.

neither ſhall he ſtand, nor his arm] The king of the North, Antiochus Theos, who is the fourth Horn, ſhall not ſtand true to himſelf,and his wife Berenice; but ſhall fall off,and looſe his life ſoon after.

but ſhe ſhall be given up] Berenice ſhall looſe her life.

and they that brought her] Her friends and followers, and companions, that accompanied her out of Egypt, to her huſband,and were her comfort,and attendants there in a ſtrange land; they ſhall pertake of her lot,and be wrapt in the ſame condition.

and he that begat her] Or, he whom ſhe brought forth. Indeed, both her father Ptolomeus Philadelphus dyed ſhortly; and alſo her ſon, by Antiochus Theos, loſt his life likewiſe.

and he that ſtrengthned her in theſe times] Every one that was her ſtay and ſupport; ſome ſtates about her. The hiſtories do declare,that all theſe things came to paſs, thus; Antiochus Theos, to embrace this marriage with Berenice, for the peace of the kingdoms, puts away his lawful wife Laodice, by whom he had two ſons, Seleucus Callinicus, and another Antiochus. After ſome time, Antiochus Theos takes again to his firſt wife, Laodice; ſhe ſeeing war preparing againſt him for it; and fearing the inconſtancy of her huſband, in time to come, uſeth the means to poyſon her huſband Antiochus Theos; to ſet up her ſon Callinicus to be king; and to ſlay Berenice and her ſon, and her followers and ayders.

V. 7. But out of a branch of her roots] Out of the ſtock and roots, that Berenice ſprang,that is, out of the ſame Parents.

ſhall one ſtand up in his eſtate] Even her own brother, PtolomyEvergetes, King after the deceaſe of his Father Ptolomeus Philadelphus, being the fifth Horn; he ſhall ſtand up in his eſtate, to revenge his Siſters death, againſt Seleucus Callinicus.

of the King of the North] Seleucus Callinicus.

and ſhall prevail] Evergetes againſt Callinicus. The Trent Text hath here, abutetur eis; very abuſively.

V. 8. captives into Egypt] Evergetes ſhall ſpoyl Syria, Cilicia, almoſt all Aſia, and the whole kingdom of Seleucus Callinicus; and ſhall carry the whole ſpoil of it into Egypt.

Egypt] The name of Egypt, in a ſtory of Alexanders ſucceſſors,muſt needs cut off all controverſie, touching the king of the North,and Magog; that none but the Seleucidæ can be the men. And in a word, all the ſeveral paſſages of this Chapter,which do follow, are ſo clear in themſelves, touching Antiochus Epiphanes, the Seleucidæ and Lagidæ; that a wonder it is, that any ſhould dream of bringing in the Romanes,and the diviſion of it, into the Greek and Latine Empire; or the Turk, or antichriſt to be meant, or minded here in theſe ſtories, which are the laſt and cleareſt Expoſitions of the Image his Leggs and Feet; and of the Beaſts, as was ſaid on verſ. 1, 2.

their gods] as many times Heathen Conquerors uſed to do. See 1 Sam. 5. 1. 2 Chro. 28. 23. Eſay 46. 1. among which were thoſe which Cambyſes, and others, had formerly carried away out of Egypt. Hierom ſaith, out of authors then extant, in number, all were 2500. And that hence the Egyptians,being a nation given to idolatry,gave him the name of Evergetes, that is, Gracious Lord; becauſe, of his bringing after,a long time,their gods back again.

with their Princes] For hoſtages, and pledges of their loyalty and obedience.The Hebrew word, unvowelled, is either, Idols, or elſe high States. That maketh Tranſlators differ. And the alluſion may ſerve to ſhew, that idolatrous Princes, and their idols, are of much like eſteem in Gods account.

pretious veſſels] Hebr. veſſels of deſire. See Chap. 9 23.

of ſilver and gold] Hierom ſaith, 40000. Talents of ſilver. See Dan. 1. v. 2.

continue moe years] Either being ſecured againſt Callinicus; or more powerful then Callinicus. Some ſay, that Seleucus Callinicus was ſooner killed, then Evergetes dyed.

V. 9. ſo the king of the South] Ptolomeus Evergetes.

ſhall come into his kingdom] Shall return into his own kingdom of Egypt; as is expounded in the next words. Or, as others, Shall come into the kingdom of Seleucus Ceraunus, into Syria,and ſhall cauſe himſelf to be crowned there, which,as King, he ſhall hold for many years.

and ſhall return into his own land] Quietly and ſecurely, without any let or fear of Seleucus Callinicus. Alike phraſe is uſed,Deut. 31. 2. 1 Sam. 18. 16. Juſtin. Book 27. Records, that Evergetes returned into Egypt, upon occaſion of ſedition raiſed there; and that otherwiſe he had fully outed Callinicus out of all Syria,if not his whole kingdom.

V. 10. But his ſons]The ſons of Seleucus Callinicus,namely, Seleucus Ceraunus, and Antiochus, ſurnamed afterwards the great.

ſhall be ſtirred up] Or, ſhall move war: againſt Evergetes, to recover Syria,and what was taken by him from their Father. In which expedition, as hiſtories do record, they prevailed not, but had the worſe, and Seleucus Ceraunus was ſlain or poiſoned, in the ſecond or thid year of his reign. About which time Ptolomeus Evergetes dyed alſo; as Polybius writes, in his ſecond and fourth Books; and Appian Alexandrinus.

and one ſhall certainly come and overflow] Ceraunus being dead,Antiochus Magnus ſucceeds; which makes the angel,ſo ſoon change from the plural number, to the ſingular. This Antiochus, the ſixth Horn, with a ſudden force, like unto an over-flowing ſtream, ſhall over-run Syria and Judea, with great power,and frequent incurſion, ſhall regain a great part of his kingdom. See Eſay 8. 8. the like in Senacharib.

and paſs through] Even unto Raphiah, on the bounds of Egypt.

then ſhall he return] Into his regained poſſeſſions. Or, the year following, ſay ſome, with his freſh and recruited army, and be ſtirred up] To war againſt Ptolomeus Philopater, the ſon of Evergetes, the ſeventh Horn; called, by ſome, Eupator; but moſt generally Philopater, that is, a lover of his Father; as ſome ſay, by the contrary, becauſe he killed his parents. Though others ſay, that his Father Evergetes, dyed of a diſeaſe,a natural death.

even to his fortreſs] The foreſaid Raphia, on the confines and frontiers of Egypt; and ſhall take it. Of which Town, Strabo writeth thus; Beyond Gaza, ſtandeth Raphia, where the field was fought, between Ptolomy the fourth,and Antiochus the great. So famous God would have the angels term here,of fortreſs, to be.

V. 11. And the King of the South] Ptolomeus Philopater.

ſhall come fourth] In the fourth year of Antiochus the great, with the King of the North] Antiochus the great.

and he] That is, Antiochus the Great. Some read the words, as to udnerſtand this he, to be Ptolomes Philopater; and yet vary not the ſenſe.

but the multitude] The great army of Antiochus the Great. Polybius reckoneth the number of ſouldiers, on both ſides; and alſo the manner of fight. It ſo fell out,at laſt,beyond all hope; that Philopater, with his Siſter Arſino, got ſo great a victory, and had ſuch an hand over Antiochus Magnus, that if he had purſued with courage, he had not onely recovered Syria,but might have ſpoiled him of his kingdom. Antiochus then eſcaped by flight, 3. Macc. 1.

his hand] Into the hand of Ptolomeus Philopater.

V. 12. And when he] When Ptolomeus Philopater, hath deſtroyed that numerous army of Antiochus the Great.

his heart ſhall be lifted up] As is, very uſual, upon victories obtained.

and he ſhall caſt down ten thouſands] Theſe words may well be applyed to the greatneſs of his victory; and his licentiouſneſſe growing thereupon; which Juſtin. Book 30. doth note, to have been the beginning of the decay of his Court. And as well applyed to his pride againſt God, and his caſting down ten thouſands of the Jews, occaſioned thereupon, which the third Book of Maccabes, not among our Apocryphal Books; and Joſephus in the 12. book, and 3. Chapter of his Antiquities, do ſet forth.

but he ſhall not be ſtrengthened by it] For Antiochus eſcaped his hands by flight: and after came again; and prevailed; as is declared in the verſes following.

V. 13. For the King of the North] Antiochus Magnus.

ſhall return] Having, for ſome time, by a League and Peace between them, renewed his ſtrength; and beginning to make leſſe eſteem of Philopater, by reaſon of his riotous and looſe kind of living.

a multitude] Of an army, greater then before.

and ſhall certainly come] Heb. in coming he ſhall come: as certainly, ſo ſpeedily and mightily.

after certain years] Heb. at the end of times of years. That is, of the years of Philopater; he being now dead, by the means of Cleomenes, Polyb. 5. and his ſon Ptolomeus Epiphanes, being but a child of about four years old: Antiochus the Great,ſhould lay hold of that opportunity to invade, and aſſault him.

V. 14. And in thoſe times there ſhall many ſtand up, &c.] Much ſedition in Egypt; many of the young kings ſubjects rebelled, not enduring Agathocles, and ſuch baſe Governours,as his Father Philopater, in his laſt and looſe dayes,had ſet over them: many Provinces, formerly ſubject to Egypt, then revolted: Many Princes conſpired and combined; Diodorus betrayed him: Antiochus Magnus joyned to his ayd Philip, then king of Macedon; agreeing to divide betwixt them,the cities and Provinces belonging to Egypt.

alſo the robbers] Heb. the children of robbers, ſeditious perſons, open contemners of God, and robbing him of his religion; turning Egyptians, and Gypſies (as we uſe the word) in religion, drawn thereto by Philopater in his later dayes. 3 Macc.

of thy people] The Jewes. See Annotations on Chap. 9. ver.24.

ſhall exalt themſelves] Shall not content themſelves to be neutrals and ſpectators onely; as formerly (Joſephus, in his Antiquities, book 12. chap.3.) But ſhall now be ſtirring and ſiding, and parts-taking; and proudly, for the moſt part, joyn themſelves to the Egyptians, againſt Antiochus the Great. See the third book of Maccabees.

to eſtabliſh the viſion] Moſt expound thus; under ſhew and pretext of Religion, bragging to eſtabliſh and fulfill that propheſie, Eſay 19. 18—25. which intends the ſpiritual union of Egypt with the Church in the dayes of the Goſpel; upon this pretext many of them with Onias the Prieſt had fled into Egypt, had granted them, by Ptolomy, the countrey of Heliopolis; but themſelves, a city, by the name of Onias: and a temple like to that in Hieruſalem, wherein they ſacrificed, and which remained till the time of Veſpaſian the Romane Emperour. Theſe refractory Apoſtates now exalted themſelvs in pride for Ptolomy againſt Antiochus. Thus Hierom, out of Joſephus in his Antiquities, book 13. c. 6. and in his war of the Jewes, book 7. c. 30. Others thus; that this Viſion and propheſie, being fulfilled in, and upon theſe, ſhould ſerve to this uſe, to the church, and people of God, to eſtabliſh and confirm them the more, in believing the truth of the reſt of the viſion and propheſie.

but they ſhall fall.] By the revenging hand of Antiochus, in his recovering of Syria, and Judea; and in this his Expedition againſt Egypt, prevailing againſt Ptolomy Epiphanes, and puniſhing them as rebels againſt him; as in the next verſe.

V. 15. So the King of the North] Antiochus magnus, Antiochus the Great.

ſhall come] Againſt Ptolomy Epiphanes; the 8 Horn.

and caſt up a mount] Raiſe up trenches and mounts, for the beſieging and taking of caſtles, forts, and cities, in Judea, and in Egypt.

the moſt fenced cities] Heb. cities of munitions.

and the armes of the ſouth] The Armies, Captains, ſuch as Scopas, Europus, Menocles, and Damaxenus; not the whole ſtrength and ſtrong holds of Ptolomy in Judea, Syria, and Egypt.

ſhall not withſtand] Shall not be able to ſtand it out, and reſiſt Antiochus Magnus. See Ezek. 31. 18. The hiſtory of the accompliſhment of all this, is ſet down by Joſephus in his Antiquities, book 12. c.3. and by Hierom likewiſe.

neither his choſen people] Heb. the people of his choices: his moſt choice and ſelect commanders and ſouldiers: as the phraſe is uſed, of the choiceſt ſepulchres, Gen.23.6.

V. 16. But he that cometh againſt him] Antiochus the Great.

and he ſhall ſtand in the glorious land] Heb. Trebi, the land of ornament, the goodly land, that is in Judea. See c.8.9. and the Annotations there.

which by his land ſhall be conſumed.] Ruined, ſay ſome. Others thus; which by his hand ſhall be conſumed; that is, his victories there perfected, according to his own deſire; and that by the ready help of the Jews, deſerting Ptolomy, and aſſiſting him. And this better agrees with the hiſtories of thoſe times; as appears in Joſephus his Antiquities, book 12. c.3. and by Antiochus Magnus his own epiſtle there recorded; and by Polybius in his 11 book.

V. 17. He ſhall alſo ſet his face, &c.] Antiochus Magnus ſhall thus enterpriſe againſt Ptolomy Epiphanes, and Egypt again, with all his force and fraud.

and upright ones with him] Heb. or much uprightneſſe, or, equal conditions with him; that is, ſay ſome, He ſhall be followed in his enterpriſe by many Jewes, called upright ones, according to the ſenſe of Deut.32.15. Or, as others, with the greateſt ſhew of uprightneſſe and integrity, with the faireſt and moſt equal terms and conditions; yet minding hereby to circumvent Ptolomy Epiphanes. That colour and ſpecious pretext was the matrimony preſently mentioned.

thus ſhall he do] Attempt ſome hoſtility. But that not altogether ſucceeding according to his wiſh; he ſhall proceed to the mention of peace, by the motion of marriage.

and he ſhall give him the daughter of women] The fair Cleopatra, his beautiful daughter; and ſo make Ptolomy Epiphanes his ſon in law. A like practice was that ver.6. but with a more upright intent there.

corrupting her] Commanding and inſtructing, and inveigling her by ſome great guil to kill her husband; that ſo he, under colour of her right, and for her, might come to have the government of the kingdome of Egypt.

but ſhe ſhall not, &c.] Not ſtand to the wicked purpoſe and promiſe made by her to her father, to make away her huſband, nor be for him; but ſhall ſtand on her husbands ſide, and be for him. See chap.2.43. Livie book 37.

V. 18. After this he ſhall turn his face to the Iles] Miſſing his purpoſe in Egypt; yet eager ſtill to inlarge his dominion and renown, he ſhall make great preparations by ſea and land, and ſet upon divers countries and provinces far off, and beyond the ſeas, both Ilands, and Continents; as Cyprus, Phocea, Samos, Rhodes, Colophon, Eubea, &c. and ſome cities of Greece, ſubject to, or confederate with the Romanes. So in Gen.10. the countries of Grecia, all about Helleſpont, are termed. And this appears to be ſo in Appian, Livy, and Plutarch Scipio.

and ſhall take many] As appears to be truly verified in the Heathen hiſtories before cited.

But a Prince] Not any particular King; but a Legate, Officer, or Conſul of the Romane Commonwealth, Marcus Acilius Conſul, Lucius Prætor, and Lucius Scipio, the two famous brethren.

for his own behalf] Heb. for him; that is, for himſelf, or to himſelf, in the behalf, and to the behoof of the Romane Common-wealth.

ſhall cauſe the reproach offered by him to ceaſe] Heb. his reproach; that is, take off, and wipe away that reproach offered by Antiochus Magnus to the Romane Commonwealth in that his naval expedition, and gaining of ſo many places and cities in the midland ſea, in leſſer Aſia and Grecia. The Romanes ſhall recover them from him.

without his own reproach] With honour revenging the wrong done by Antiochus Magnus.

he ſhall cauſe it to turn upon him] He ſhall not onely force Antiochus Magnus to retire himſelf from all thoſe places which he had taken from the Romanes, and their confederates, and friends to the diſgrace of the Commonwealth of Rome; but ſhall alſo overcome him in a pitcht battel, though Hannibal was with him, and ſpoil him of part of his dominions, and force him to accept of a diſgraceful and reproachful peace.

V. 19. Then he ſhall turn his face towards the fort of his own land] He ſhall be forced to return into Syria, and ſhamefully to fly and ſhelter himſelf beyond Mount Taurus, and to keep himſelf in ſtrong holds, without daring to wage war any more.

But he ſhall ſtumble, and fall, and not be found] He ſhall fly to Apamea, Suſa, and the outmoſt bounding cities of his kingdome: and at laſt was killed in a tumult by the Elymeans, ſeeking to defend the Temple of Bell, which he went about ſacrilegiouſly to rob and ſpoyl. This was the Cataſtrophe of that great Antiochus, the father of Antiochus Epiphanes. All theſe things are recorded to be thus verified, according to the Angels predictions here, by the many humane hiſtories of thoſe times.

V. 20. Then ſhall ſtand up in his eſtate] Shall ſucceed him in his kingdome. So ver.7. & 21.

a raiſer of taxes] Heb. one that cauſeth an exactor to paſſe over: an exactor of tributes and taxations, relating likely to Heliodorus, 2 Macc.3. ſent by this man. And this is Seleucus Philopater, ſometimes called Soter, the elder ſon of Antiochus Magnus, called here a raiſer of taxes, by reaſon of his infamous covetouſneſſe, and cruel taxations laid upon his kingdome. And he is the 9. Horn.

but within few dayes] Heb. unities of dayes.

he ſhall be deſtroyed] That is very ſoon after that he ſent Heliodorus againſt the Jewes, at the inſtigation of Simon; as appears, 2 Macc.4.

neither in anger] Heb. angers: not killed in battel, nor by open violence of war; but poyſoned by the treachery of Heliodorus, in favour to Antiochus Epiphanes. See Annotations on chap.7.8,20,24.

V. 21. a vile perſon] Antiochus the younger brother of Seleucus Philopater, and ſon of Antiochus Magnus. This man is ſirnamed Epiphanes, the illuſtrious, per antiphraſin; oppoſite to that title the Angel here gives him, which is according to the truth of his conditions, and well ſuiting alſo with that other title, which others of the Heathen Writers gave him, Epimanes, that is, mad or furious. So Polybius in Atheneus, by whom his manners, qualities, and deeds, are noted to be ſtrange and execrable. This is the 10. Horn, in whom the iron of the Syrian leg doth end; that little Horn, and plucker away of three Horns. See chap.7.8,24. & chap.8.9. On this man, his Expeditions againſt Egypt, and his rage againſt the Jews, the reſt of Daniel goeth. For the better learning whereof, we ſhall premiſe theſe general notions; agreeing beſt in our judgments with Daniels Text, and with the truth of hiſtory anſwerable thereunto. We conceive, that Antiochus Epiphanes beginning his reign in the 137 year of the kingdom of the Greeks,1 Mac.1.10. and after his gaining of the kingdom of Syria,ver,22,23,24.of this Chapter, made four Expoſitions into and againſt Egypt: and three ſeveral times executed his furious rage,in ſpoiling and bloody perſecuting the Jews. His firſt expedition into Egypt, ſeemes to be that intimated,2 Macc.4 21. compared with Chap. 5. 1, 11. and that in the beginning of his reign, after he had ſettled himſelf in the kingdom of Syria. His ſecond expedition is ſet down ver.25,26,27. of this Chapter. And in his return, he executed his firſt furious rage againſt the Jewes, ver. 28. and this was in the 143 year of the kingdom of the Greeks, and 6 of his reign. See 1 Macc. 1. 16——29. and 2 Macc.5.1———22. His third expedition is ſet down ver. 29,30.of this Chapter, and in his return he executes his ſecond and moſt outragious fury againſt the Jewes, in his own perſon,taking away the daily ſacrifice, and ſetting up the abomination of deſolation, ver.31——39. and this was in the year,145. and 8 of his reign: and then Mattathias,and his ſons the Maccabees began to riſe and maintain wars, and obtained wondrous victories againſt his armies, captains, and commanders. See 1 Macc.1.54.& chap.2.1,70. & chap.3. 1——27. His fourth expedition into Egypt is ſet down, ver.40.41,42,43 of this Chapter; and after his return he executes his third fit of fury againſt the Jewes, ver.45. himſelf going into Perſia, and commanding his Deputy Lyſias to root out the Jews; and this was in the year 147. and 10.of his reign. See 1 Macc.3.27——60. and alſo, chap.4.& 1.5. In the year,148.& 11.of his reign Judas Maccabeus rebuilds Gods Altar,and reſtores his true Religion,1 Macc.4.52.and in the beginning of the year, 149. & 12 of his reign,Antiochus Epiphanes dyeth miſerably, 1 Macc. 6. 16. though the Author of the ſecond book of Maccabees put his death in the year,148. 2 Macc.11.21,38.

to whom they ſhall not give the honour of the Kingdom] The States of Syria ſhall not give it him, after the death of his brother.His father Antiochus Magnus had left him as a pledg in Rome,for aſſurance for his faith,and performance of conditions,1 Macc.1.10. After his fathers death, his brother Seleucus being King, had ſent his ſon Demetrius to Rome to be an hoſtage and pledg there, in the ſtead of this Antiochus Epiphanes. Upon his return by the way, he procures his brother Seleucus to be poyſoned, as was ſaid, by Heliodorus, one of Seleucus his friends and favourites: and now coming to Syria,he deals,as followeth.

but he ſhall come in peaceably] He ſhall neither be created, nor crowned King; neither get the Kingdom by force of armes,but come in by fraud,ver.24.& chap.8.24,25.

and obtain the kingdome by flatteries] pretending to govern the kingdome for Demetrius the true heir, his brothers ſon, now an hoſtage at Rome; and he onely, as Tutor to his Nephew: and after, he ſhall win mens hearts with preſents, flatteries,and ſecret practices,and ſo abuſing his Nephew,and deceiving the Peeres and people, he ſhall inſtal himſelf in the kingdome; principally by the means of Eumenes, and Attalus,neighbouring Princes; as Appian relates in his Syrian hiſtory.

V. 22. And with the armes of a flood] and with ſtrong and ſuddain armies, as of a great flood of waters.

ſhall they be overflown from before him, and ſhall be broken] Thoſe that would not give him the honour of the kingdom. Others underſtand this,but not ſo well, of Antiochus Epiphanes his firſt expedition againſt Egypt, that the Egyptians ſhould thus be oberflown and broken by him: thoſe armes and armies of Egypt, that formerly like an innundation had overflown Syria,ſhould now be overflown and broken, overrun and overcome by him.

yea alſo the Prince of the Covenant] Shall be broken by him. Who this was, is diverſly interpreted. We underſtand Seleucus Philopator, the brother of Antiochus, who was the author and head of a Covenant between them two, for the Invading of Egypt. And to that end had ſent for him from Rome: and him Antiochus Epiphanes procured to be poiſoned, whiles himſelf was on the way in his journey from Rome, before he entred Syria, and got the power of it into his hands. Yet others, applying it to his firſt Expedition into Egypt, do underſtand it thus; That Antiochus Epiphanes having in this his firſt Expedition over-run Egypt, and in battel by Peleuſium overcome Eulæus, and Lenæus, two principal Peers of Egypt, who managed the affaires of Egypt in the young years of the King Ptolomæus Philometor, the ſon of Ptolomæus Epiphanes,was thereafter drawn to a Covenant with Ptol. Philomator, to become guardian as it were to Philomator, being his ſiſter Cleopatra's ſon. And of this Covenant making, one Tryphon a prime Peer in Egypt was principal and prince: and that afterwards Antiochus ſoon cauſed this Tryphon the Prince of this Covenant to be made away, that he might with more freedome rule as he liſt, and do what he would. And yet there are ſome others, who by Prince of the covenant, underſtand it of God, Chap.8.11,25. who is the Prince of his people, and joyned to them by his holy Covenant: and ſo in this verſe they will have ſummarily comprehended Antiochus his two greateſt enterpriſes; namely upon Egypt, and upon Judea: both which are afterwards more particularly ſpecified.

V. 23. And after the league made with him] The forementioned League with his brother Seleucus Philopater, as we have ſaid. The other underſtand it of the league made with his Nephew, his ſiſter Cleopatra's ſon,Ptolomee Philometor, King of Egypt.

he ſhall work deceitfully] as his manner was, ver.24. and Chap.8.24,25. and as after is declared,23,24.

for he ſhall come up] Into Syria, as meant here. Others; into Egypt, to Memphis the royal City,in the heart of Egypt; not as an enemy, but as a friend, and confederate, and a tutor or guardian to the young King.

and ſhall become ſtrong with a ſmall people] Bringing with him few followers, a ſmall train, becauſe he will not give the Egyptians cauſe of ſuſpition, but ſtout men,though few,and devoted to his ſervice; whom he placed in divers Forts, and thereby made himſelf Maſter of the principal holds of Egypt. But we rather apply this to his manner of gaining upon Syria; not by ſtrength of armes; but by flatteries, and fair pretences.

V. 24. He ſhall enter peaceably, even upon the fatteſt places of the Province] Or, into the peaceable or fat, &c. He ſhall enter into Egypt, which at that time did enjoy peace and plenty of all things; or, rather upon Syria.

and he ſhall do that which his fathers have not done] He ſhall place garriſons in the ſtrong holds; taking poſſeſſion greateſt part of Egypt, which his forefathers could never do. We ſtill do rather underſtand this of his manner of gaining the Kingdome of Syria from the right owner Demetrius, the ſon of his elder brother Seleucus.

he ſhall ſcatter among them,&c.] His infinite bountifulneſſe and prodigality to his garriſons, and Souldiers, 1 Mac.3.30. thereby to keep them the more firm unto him.

yea and he ſhall forecaſt his deviſes] Heb. think his thoughts; cunningly to get and gain the reſt of all the ſtrengths of Egypt; or Syria rather.

even for a time] All this was but for a time; even till Ptolomeus Philometor grew up in years; who then raiſed his ſtrength, and freed himſelf, and the Egyptians of all his garriſon; Thus they,who ſtill underſtand all this of Antiochus his firſt Expedition into Egypt. But we, with other learned Interpreters, ſtill applying this, as all the reſt in this and the two former verſes, to his gaining of Syria from his Nephew Demetrius, conceive, that for a time he ſpent himſelf in this employment. The compaſſing of this buſineſſe took up the firſt year of his reign.

V. 25. And he ſhall ſtir up his power] This is the ſecond Expedition of Antiochus Epiphanes againſt Egypt, as was ſaid on the 21. verſe, which was about the fifth year of his reign, and 142. of the kingdome of the Greeks, 1 Mac.1.20. and undertaken upon pretence to ayd and right Phyſcon againſt his brother Ptol. Philometer king of Egypt.

King of the South] Ptolome Philometor.

but he ſhall not ſtand] Ptolome Philometor ſhall not ſtand in battel, but be overcome by Antiochus Epiphanes. Some,as we ſaid, underſtand this of that former battel by Peleuſium, whereof we ſpake upon the laſt words of the 22. verſe.

for they ſhall forecaſt deviſes againſt him.] Many of the States and Potentates of Egypt ſhall betray their king, and being corrupted and bribed by Antiochus Epiphanes ſhall treacherouſly forecaſt, and plot and deviſe ſecretly with Antiochus againſt him; as is further ſhewed in the next words.

V. 26. yea they that feed, &c.] His intimate familiars, favours, and Counſellers ſhall be his overthrow. Haply miſtruſting the age and experience of their young King; and fearing the craft and cruelty of Antiochus,and the danger of their own eſtates if Antiochus prevail, they underhand comply with him, to the deſtruction of their own King.

and his army] The army of Antiochus Epiphanes.

ſhall overflow] Over-run and overcome the very great and mighty army of Ptolome Philometor.

and many ſhall fall——] Of the Egyptian army.

V. 27. And both theſe Kings] Of the North, and South; Antiochus Epiphanes, and Ptol. Philometor, hearts] Heb. their hearts.

ſhall be to do miſchief] When they are treating of a peace, they ſhall intend miſchief one to another.

at one table] When they ſhall feaſt one another, and interchange mutual courteſies; yet all theſe ſhewes ſhall be but feigned, both of them retaining their former enmities.

but it ſhall not proſper] This falſe diſſimulation and counterfeit peace will not hold.

for yet the end ſhall be at the time appointed] Ver.29. the end of that peace ſhall be at the time appointed by God, who hath all times, and all occaſions and opportunities in his hand, at his diſpoſal. See ver.40.

V. 28. Then ſhall he return] Antiochus Epiphanes, into Syria, after that pretended peace in the 143. of the Kingdome of the Greeks, 1 Maccab.1.20 and fifth or ſixth year of his reign.

with great riches] The ſpoyles of Egypt.

and his heart ſhall be againſt the holy Covenant] Some underſtand this of that Covenant and peace which he made with Ptol. Philometor. But that was a falſe and fraudulent Covenant, as hath been ſaid. This holy Covenant ſeems rather to relate to that which God was pleaſed to make with his people the Jews; as ver.30. See Exod.24.7,8. Deut.5.2. & Chap.29.1. The heart of Antiochus was againſt them, and their holy Religion; with his dealings againſt Egypt; his doings againſt Judea ſtill fall out. It he takes ſtill in his way, 2 Mac.5.1,11. 1 Mac.1.16——24. This was his firſt Outrage againſt the Jewes, as was ſaid in the Annotations on ver.21.

and he ſhall do exploits] Outragious and bloody actions againſt the Jewes; deſtroying them, ſacrilegiouſly prophaneing and robbing the Temple, changing their Lawes and Religion, and every way moſt furiouſly tyrannizing over them, 1 Macc.1.17,&c. The ſpoyles of the Temple and City, added to his former ſpoyles of Egypt, ſo encreaſed his riches, that in his return to Antioch his mind was puft up exceedingly, 2 Mac. 5.11——22. 1 Mac.1.20——24.

V. 29. At the time appointed] By God, ver.27. about two years after; the eighth of his reign, and 145. of the Kingdome of the Greeks; when Ptol. Philometor, was now reconciled with his brother Phyſcon; and had intreated the ayd and auxiliary Forces of the Romanes. This was his third Expedition.

South] Egypt.

but it ſhall not be as the former, or as the latter.] This expedition ſhall not prove ſuch, ſo ſucceſſefull to him; He ſhall not obtain the victory, nor ſubdue Egypt; as in the former expedition he did, ver.25. or in the latter he ſhould, verſ. 40. Others better underſtand both of the two Expeditions before this.

V. 30. For the ſhips of Chittim, &c.] The Fleet of the Romanes, which lay in the harbours and havens of Italy, Cilicia, and Græcia, that they might the more commodiouſly command all the parts of the midland Sea. See Gen. 10.4. where Kitim is the third ſon of Javan, from whom the Græcians came: whence is that, Num.24.24.

ſhall come againſt him] at the ſuit and requeſt of the King of Egypt, being now beſieged with his mother Cleopatra, in the City of Alexandria by Antiochus Epiphanes. Many Hiſtories do record how the Senate of Rome ſent Legates or embaſſadours to Antiochus Epiphanes to command him to raiſe his ſiege, and abſtain from war againſt their Confederate King. He anſwered, He would demur and deliberate thereupon. Whereupon Polipius Lænas, one of the Legates, drew a circle about Antiochus Epiphanes, and required his peremptory anſwer before he ſhould go out of that Circle. And Antiochus Epiphanes withdrew his ſiege and the War. Thus Florus, Paterculus, and others.

therefore he ſhall be grieved, and return] Grievouſly vext to be thus impiouſly dealt withal, thus overmaſtered, and overborn; and forced to leave his conqueſt of Egypt.

and have indignation againſt the holy Covenant] Ver.28. He leaving Egypt, and taking Judea in his way, as his uſe was, he ſhall turn his wrath, and pour it out, and ſpend it againſt the holy Covenant. This was his ſecond Outrage againſt the Jews. See Annotations on ver.21.

ſo ſhall he do] Do it to purpoſe; in a moſt furious and outragious manner; as is ſet down in the nine verſes following.

and have intelligence with them, &c.] Formerly with Jaſon, whom he had made High Prieſt in the firſt year of his reign, 2 Mac.4.7——21. 1 Mac.1.11——16. Now with Menelaus, whom he had made High Prieſt, removing Jaſon, 2 Macc.4. 23. & 5.5,6. and with other apoſtates; by their advice to infeſt the Jews.

V. 31. And armies ſhall ſtand on his part] That great army and power which he brought now with him out of Egypt: and a great faction of wicked Jews now joyning with him. See 1 Mac.1.42.

and they ſhall pollute the Sanctuary] Entring into it: touching, and taking away the holy things, inſtruments, and veſſels of it, ſacrilegiouſly robbing and ſpoyling it, 1 Macc. 1. 21——25. 2 Maccab. 5. 15. See 2 Maccab. 3. and Chap.6.4.

of ſtrength] Or, the ſtrength. Jeruſalem; a place ſtrong by ſituation. Or the Temple, which was the rock of the great King, Zech.9.12. & 11.2. they ſhall pollute it by ſlaughters of men in it, 2 Mac.5.12,13,14.

and ſhall take away the daily ſacrifice] Chap.8.11. See the annotations there and Chap. 12, 11. See the like, Chap. 9. 27.

and they] The Commanders and Souldiers of Antiochus Epiphanes.

ſhall place the abomination that maketh deſolate] Or, aſtoniſheth; Chap. 12.11. This is either the Garriſons of idolatrous and abominable Souldiers, that brought deſolation upon the Temple and City. See 2 Macc.5.22,23. & Chap. 6. 4. & 1 Macc.1.33.——41. See the like in the times of the Romanes, after our Saviours Paſſion, Dan.9.27. Mat. 24.15. Or elſe, the Image of Jupiter Olympius, 1 Macc. 1.54. 2 Macc.6.2. Or, an idols altar, ſet upon the altar of God, 1 Macc. 1. 59, 60. & Chap. 6. verſ. 7. Becauſe of which things, the godly Jews refuſing to conſent to idolatry, the Temple, and Gods Service were made deſolate. See Annotations on verſ. 21.

V. 32. And ſuch as do wickedly] Apoſtate Jews; that did proſtrate themſelves to the idolatry of the Heathens.

corrupt by flatteries] Or, cauſe to diſſemble. By gifts, promiſes and allurements, he ſhall foſter and confirm them in their apoſtacy and idolatry; by their examples to draw on others.

but the people that do know their God] That profeſſe and worſhip him, according to his will and word.

ſhall be ſtrong] The wicked ſhall apprehend them, as evildoers. Such is the ſenſe in ſome Tranſlations. But rather thus, ſhall be ſtrong; that is, they ſhall ſhew themſelves conſtant, and perſevere in his pure ſervice.

and do exploits] Manfully reſiſting, and overcoming all temptations, enduring all torments, and cruel kinds of death. Read the hiſtories of old Eleazar, 2 Macc. 6. and of the mother, and her ſeven ſons, 2 Macc. 7. And then roſe Mattathias, and his ſons the Maccabees, who did thoſe ſtrange exploits.

V. 33. And they that underſtand, &c.] They whom God ſhall lively illuminate by his Word and Spirit, ſhall inſtruct and ſtrengthen their brethren, by their doctrine and example. Some others, underſtand this of a certain religious Society, newly ſet up in thoſe dayes, called the Aſſideans, that is to ſay, pious, holy, underſtanding, and very zealous in the law of God. See 1 Macc. 2. 42. & 7.13. 2 Macc.14.6.

yet they ſhall fall by, &c.] Antiochus Epiphanes, by his bloody agents, ſhall perſecute, oppreſſe, and ſlay them, both the inſtructers, and inſtructed, 1 Mac.1.40, &c. & 1, 2, 3, 4. Chapters; & 2 Mac. 5, 6, 7, 8. Chapters.

many dayes] Many is not in the Original: neither ſee we much warrant for it. Dayes, may imply a ſhort time: and the hiſtory ſeems beſt to agree with that.

V. 34. they ſhall be holpen with a little help] Few helpers ſhall they have: Mattathias, and other Aſmoneans, called Maccabees, ſhall help them, 1 Macc.2.1,39. & 3, 4, 5. Chapters, 2 Macc. 8. 1.

but many ſhall cleave to them with flatteries] Among the Jews many, who have run themſelves before into idolatry, when they ſhall ſee ſome inlargement, by the means of the Maccabees, that joyn themſelves to their brethren; but diſſemblingly, without any inward faith and piety; and to the ſmall advantage of their brethren.

V. 35. And ſome of them of underſtanding] That did inſtruct others, verſ. 33.

ſhall fall] By the ſword, &c. as verſ.33. in his bloody perſecution and execution, by Antiochus Epiphanes; and his inſtruments.

to try them] Or, by them. This is the end, why God ſuffers them thus to fall by their wicked enemies; as Chap.12. 10. namely, to try their faith and obedience, as gold is tryed in the fire.

and to purge] away their corruptions; as droſſe is from the ſilver in the furnace; and chaff from the wheat, by the fan.

and to make them white] as the cloath with Fullers-ſope. See Mal.3.2,3. Thus God ſuffers it for their good, as well as for his own glory.

even to the time of the end; becauſe, &c.] The time determined, by the Counſel of God, to put an end to theſe perſecutions, verſ.27. which ſhall not laſt ſtill; but ſhall end in a ſhort time; as is after more explained. See Mat. 24.6.

V. 36. And the king ſhall do according to his will] Antiochus Epiphanes; as the article, here prefixed, doth manifeſtly denote, that King ſpoken of before. He ſhall proſper in his proſecutions and purpoſes; things ſhall ſucceed a while, according to his wiſh and will. Which ſucceſſe, ſhall ſo puff him up with pride and arrogancy, as after followes. In this, and the three verſes following, Antiochus, and his doings, may well ſerve our turn, as a type of that grand Antichriſt and and his doings, ſet forth by the Apoſtle Paul, 2 Theſſ. 2. and by Saint John in the Apocalyps. For that Antichriſt directly imitates this proud, idolatrous, and bloody Tyrant. But all that hereafter followes in the reſt of the angels propheſie, as well as that which is paſt, doth liteally, and exactly agree to Antiochus Epiphanes, and to him onely, as ſhall after appear; and was fulfilled in him; and is limited to the time of this Antiochus, Chap. 12. 7, 11, 12, 13. And therefore to imagine, that the angel here, ſhould abruptly break off from Antiochus Epiphanes, and take off his propheticall ſpeech from him and the Jews, that were Daniels people and care; and fall into a propheſie of Antichriſt, and the Church of Chriſt under the Goſpel, towards the end of the world, is a thing ſo inconſiſtant with the whole Context, as forceth the chief Interpreters, among the Papiſts themſelves, to forego this fancy of Antichriſt, which otherwiſe they would willingly embrace for their own advantage, and to agree with us, in continuing the underſtanding and application of the Text, to Antiochus Epiphanes. And ſo all Bellarmines arguments, fetcht out of this Context of Daniel, to prove the Pope not to be Antichriſt, are vain and frivolous. And much leſſe are they to be heard, that would apply this, and that which followes, to Pompey the Great, or to Veſpaſian and Titus; or to Conſtantine the Great; or to the Turk and Ottoman family.

above every God] And ſo in the latter part of the 37. verſe. Not onely aſſuming Divine honours, but aſcribing to himſelf, even more then to any God, 2 Macc. 9. 8, 10, 12. ſpoiling their Temples; in Elemais, or Perepolis; and in Egypt; changing their Rites and Religion; and preſcribing what ſervice and worſhip, and to whom he pleaſed, 1 Macc. 1. 41, 42. & 3 29. Joſephus, in his Antiquities, Book 12. Chap. 6, 7.

marvailous things againſt the God of gods] The true God of Iſrael, Eſay 45. 14, 18, 21. Exod. 18. 11. Speak great words againſt the moſt High, Chap. 7. 25. and ſtand up againſt the Prince of Princes, Chap. 8. 25. forbidding his Religion; Circumciſion; Sabbaths; Sacrifices; defiling his Temple; burning the Books of the Law; changing times and lawes; polluting all Gods worſhip; inſtituting a new Religion; ſetting up Chappels of Idols, Idol-altars; and abomination of deſolation upon the altar. See all this accompliſhed, 1 Macc. 1. 43—62. Joſephus in his Antiq. book 10. chap. 14. of Wars, book 1. chap. 1. againſt Appion, book 2.

till the indignation be accompliſhed] Till Gods wrath and juſt indignation be ſatisfied, in the accompliſhing of thoſe things, which he, by his Decree, hath determined to be done, in the viſitation of his people; to deſtroy thoſe open Apoſtates, and groſſe Hypocrites; and to try, purge, and whiten his own. Neither ſhall the indignation remain unaccompliſhed, upon Antiochus himſelf, when he hath filled up his meaſure, to the full heightning of Gods wrath againſt him.

ſhall be done] Heb. is done, or hath been done. The time paſt is uſed for the future; to note out the certainty of the event.

How ſuitable to all, ſet down in this verſe, Antichriſts doings ſhould be, is ſet down, 2 Theſſ. 2. 4. and how anſwerable thereunto, the doings of the Popes of Rome have been, is more then manifeſt.

V. 37. the gods of his fathers] He ſhall be impious, and without any fear of God at all. The gods of his fathers and anceſtors, which men naturally are addicted to follow, even thoſe he ſhall diſregard and diſpiſe, diſdain to worſhip them; and by Letters and Edicts, diſanul his own ancient Religion; and bring in the idols of the Grecians, which were among the Syrians. See 1 Macc. 1. 41, &c. 2 Macc. 2. 3. & Chap. 9. 2. And though his Predeceſſours, his Brother and Father, honoured much the God of Iſrael, and Temple of Jeruſalem, 2 Macc. 3, 2. 3. Joſephus in his Antiq. book 12. chap. 3. Yet he, in the higheſt nature, diſhonoured both; as was ſhewed before.

not the deſire of women] Women are ſtrong motives: and the deſires and loves of women, very ſtrong, 2 Sam. 1. 26. And Antiochus had many women and wives; and among them, one a Jeweſſe, and of much eſteem with him; yet none of them, nor of their deſires could prevail with him, either to deſiſt from his impious and idolatrous deſigns in religion; or to ſuffer them to enjoy the uſe of their own. Some ſuſpect his inclination to the ſin againſt nature, to be here meant. Others, that he was a man without all natural affection, regarding, neither men nor women, Kith, nor Kin, any wayes croſſing his own vile ends.

not regarding any God; for, &c.] See Annotations on verſ. 36.

V. 38. But in his eſtate] Heb. As for the Almighty God, in his ſeat he ſhall honour; yea, he ſhall honour a God whom, &c. Thus rather: and the meaning is, Inſtead of the true God, he ſhall honour the God of munitions, whom he ſhall ſet up in his ſtrong holds, a God whom his fathers knew not.

the god of forces] Or, Munitions. Heb. Mauzzim. This word ſignifieth, Strong Holds. So ver. 19. & 31. Judg. 6. 26. Is not here a proper word, either for the true God, or for an Idol; but a common word; as in the next verſe. Jeruſalem and the Temple, both of them were great ſtrengths; and the God of them, the moſt ſtrong God of all, the Almighty God; though he be not here meant by Mauzzim. What Papiſts, and ſome others, fancy of the god Maozim, is frivolous.

in his ſeat] In his place and ſtead; rather then in his eſtate. Yea, in Gods own City and Temple. See 2 Macc. 6. 2. This Idol he guarded with munitions, 1 Macc. 1. 35, 38.

ſhall be honour, I ſay honour] This doubling the word, ſeems to ſhew the angels holy paſſion, at the indignity of this fact of Antiochus.

a God whom his fathers knew not] See verſ. 37. and therefore called a ſtrange god, verſ. 39. This was Jupiter Olympius; of whom, ſee 2 Macc. 9. 2. And this was an idol of Athens, which his fathers knew not. The Syrians, and his fathers, worſhipped Apollo, and Diana, Atargatis, as Strabo writes in his 16. book of Geography. Of the ancient gods of Syria, a general mention is made, Judg. 10. 6. 2 Chron. 28. 23. See Lucian of the Syrian goddeſſes.

with gold, &c.] With gifts and offerings of ſuch things, according to the manner of idolaters.

V. 39. Thus ſhall he do, &c.] He ſhall ſeize upon Jeruſalem; and eſpecially upon the ſtrong City and Fort of David, whereby it being well fortified, and for a garriſon, and furniſhed with men and munition, he ſhall put down Gods true ſervice, and eſtabliſh his own abominable idolatry in the Temple, 1 Macc. 1. 35, 38. as if this idol were his protector, againſt the ſervice of God. He ſhall make ſtrong places of defence, where he ſhall ſet up his ſtrange god. Others, tranſlate, and expound thus, And he ſhall commit the munitions of ſtrengths, or, of the moſt ſtrong God, to a ſtrange God, That is, Antiochus ſhall commit the City Jeruſalem, that ſtrong and fortified place, and the ſtrong temple in it, to Jupiter Olympius, as its Tutelar God. But the words bear not this ſo well.

whom he ſhall acknowledg and increaſe with glory] Thoſe whom he ſhall diſcern to acknowledg this idol, to favour his ſide, to comply with him in his wicked counſels and enterpriſes, though baſe wicked fellowes, thoſe Apoſtate Prieſts, and Gentillizing Jews, and obſcure ſtrangers; thoſe he will advance to honours and places to dignities and preferments; as Jaſon before, 2 Macc. 4. 7, 8. and Menelaus after, 2 Macc. 4. 23, 24, 50. whom, for money, he made high Prieſts, and Governours of the people. 1 Macc. 3. 35, 36.

and he ſhall cauſe them to rule] Antiochus ſhall make thoſe baſe and unworthy fellowes, Rulers over the people of the Jewes, Offices, and places of government he ſhall prefer them into.

over many] The article, it, prefixed, ſeems to denote the many, thoſe pious and religious worthy ones among the Jewes; as chap. 9. 27.

and ſhall divide the land for gain] Both honours and lands, for price he ſhall ſet to ſale, and diſtribute among his factious followers, Jews, or Forreiners, 1 Macc. 3. 36.

V. 40. And at the time of the end] Determined by God. See ver. 35. about two years after his ſetting up of that idolatry, ver. 31, 38. and two years more before his death.

and ſhall overflow] Expel him out of his kingdom, under the colour of aiding and righting Phyſcon the younger brother of Ptolomeus Phylometor; to whoſe ſide, Antiochus Epiphanes, for his own ends, was ſtill addicted. Florus, book 46. Zonoras tom: Annal. 2 Juſtin.

V. 41. the glorious land] Judea, ver. 45. See chap. 8. 9. & 11. 16. And this is the third and laſt fury executed upon the Jewes; as is further ſhewed and dilated, ver. 45.

Lybians,and the Ethiopians] A people of Africa,borderours to the Egyptians, ſubjects, or auxiliaries,to Ptolomy Philometor, they ſhall now upon the victories of Antiochus, follow his ſteps and ſervice,and receive his pay. which ſtandeth,&c.] Who is their Captain, Joſh 5.14,15. their protectour againſt all their enemies, Gen. 48.16. Pſal. 54.7. ſtands up in their defence.

thy people] The Angels continued ſpeech to Daniel. See chap.9.24.and the Annotations there. The Jews then,Daniels people,muſt neceſſarily be meant here, and their trouble; and ſo what followes is all meant of them, and not of the Church of Chriſt among the Gentiles under the Goſpel, towards the end of the world.

a time of trouble,ſuch &c.] Never the like cruel and general perſecution for Religion and Conſcience, ſince there was a Nation, through the whole ſtate and ſtory of the Nation of the Jewes,to and till that ſame time of Antiochus Epiphanes. And this one ſpeech alſo might have kept up the right underſtanding of Daniel, and kept us cloſe to thoſe times, and people of the Jewes,and with-held us from drawing men beyond Chriſt,for theſe troublous times and ſtories.

thy people ſhall be delivered] By Judas Maccabeus,and others. The pronouncing of the Jews deliverance out of theſe troubles, ſtill maketh the foreſaid Cauſe the plainer: That theſe words,and ſo all the reſt of the Angels ſpeech,as plainly appears,ver 7,10,11,12. are bounded within the limits of the time and ſtory of Antiochus Epiphanes. And withall we ſee,that his peoples extremity in troubles, Chriſt takes as his beſt opportunity and ſeaſon, for his working their deliverance. And this temporal deliverance of Gods people mentioned here, through his much mercy is carryed on in after ages,and promoted by ſeveral degrees, till it receive its full and final accompliſhment in and by Chriſts ſecond coming.

every one that ſhall be found written in the book] Of Gods Decree for this deliverance aforeſaid. This metaphor of writing in a book,we firſt meet withal in Moſes, Exod.32.32. where it is called Gods Book,and of his Writing. Afterwards in David,Pſal.69.28. In the New Teſtament,Paul calls it the Book of Life,Phil.4.3. and ſo our Saviour, Apoc.3.5,& ch.22.19. and the Angel, Apoc.17.8. and St.John, Apoc.20.12,15. who alſo calls it the Book of Life of the Lamb, Apoc.13.7. the Lambs book of Life,Apoc.21.27. See Ezek.13.9. Theſe ſaid places and paſſages have relation to Gods eternal Decree of Election; and to thoſe perſons that are ſo elected. And theſe here mentioned in this Text may ſeem to be ſome of that number. Deliverance they ſhall have,either temporal,or ſpiritual.

V. 2. And many of them that ſleep,&c.] The meaning of the whole verſe ſeems to be this, That notwithſtanding that deliverance formerly promiſed,yet it ſhall come to paſſe, that many of the Elect ſhall then be ſlain in that perſecution of Antiochus, and ſleep in the duſt of the earth; their enemies mean while living and triumphing: And that therefore that deliverance is not to be taken as commenſurate, and bounded onely within the narrow limits of this tranſitory life, but to be extended to the conſideration of Eternity: And ſo though many of the Elect ſhould be ſlain in that perſecution; and ſo in mercy taken out of the miſeries of this life: yet the time ſhall come,even that time of the general Reſurrection of all men, when theſe ſhall awake out of the ſleep of death,to everlaſting life; and their perſecuteing enemies,notwithſtanding their flouriſhing and triumphing eſtate in the ſhort time of this life, ſhall then awake to ſhame,and everlaſting contempt. See Heb.11.35. 2 Macc. 14.46.

many] All the dead ſhall ariſe again, many, ſometimes ſignifieth all; as Rom.5.19. Here many doth diſtribute them all into two ſorts,two multitudes, two rancks,as our Saviour doth,Mat.25.33,&c. The Hebrew accent ſet upon the word רבים many, ſo ſingles it out, as ſhewes it is equally to be referred to both members of the diſtribution following, Ioh. 5.28,29.

that ſleep, &c.] A deſcription of death,uſual in Scripture, The ſoul liveth in the ſleep of death; as it doth in the ſleep of the body in this life.

ſhall awake] Out of that ſleep; ſhall riſe, and live again, Job 14.12. Eſay 26.19.

V. 3. And they ſhall be wiſe] Or,teachers, pointing ſpecially at thoſe,chap.11.33,35. ſuch as were in Matthias, Judas Maccabeus, Eleazar the old man, and valiant martyr, and others: and generally the true Believers, who in this life are lightned by the holy ſpirit, ſhall injoy the ſight of glory in the kingdom of heaven.

ſhall ſhine,&c.] See Mat.13.43. & chap.17.2. Judg.5.31. The glory of heaven is here laid out in ſhining terms: a taſte whereof Daniel felt in the glory of the Angel Gabriel, that was before him now; and in that glorious viſion, Chap.10. See 1 Cor.15.41.

that turn many,&c.] Heb. And they that juſtifie the many; that is, that by their teaching the truth, bring the excellent Ones,or Elect of God, to true faith, which onely juſtifieth and ſanctifies in newneſſe of life. See 1 Tim.4.16. James 5.19,20. And yet theſe words point ſtill more ſpecially to thoſe Chap.11.33,35. There are degrees of glory in heaven.

many] The article affixed ſhewes ſome reference to thoſe many, Chap. 9.27.& Chap.11.39. where this article is prefixed likewiſe.

V. 4. But thou,O Daniel,ſhut up,&c.] The uſe and clear underſtanding of this propheſie is, not for this preſent time, or age,ver.9. but for that time,which is ordained by God, for the fulfilling and accompliſhing thereof. See Chap.8.26. and the Annotations there. In that propheſie, Elam,and Madai,and Javan were named. Here they are ſo plainly deſcribed, that any learned Heathen would tell rightly what kingdomes muſt be meant. See alſo the Annotations on the

V. 4. Theſe ſecrets then of heaven which are concredited to Daniels truſt in this divine propheſie, he muſt write them in a book: he muſt keep them as a moſt pretious treaſure, ſhut and ſeal them up for the uſe, and benefit, and comfort of Gods people in thoſe after ages, and needful times, 300 years yet to come, to the time of Antiochus Epiphanes, and hide them from others, for whoſe ſakes they were not revealed, and who would make no good uſe of them, but abuſe them rather. many ſhall run to and fro, and &c.] That is, though there be few now that are careful, as thou art, of the future ſtate of the Church, and therefore will little mind theſe Propheſies for the preſent, and are unworthy to whom they ſhould be revealed; yet the time will come, when many will run after this knowledge, and ſeek to and fro up and down for it, and will increaſe and abound therein. So that Daniel ſhould not grieve for the preſent ſhutting and ſealing up of ſuch Divine and profitable propheſies; for when the matters ſhall break out, even in the time of Antiochus Epiphanes, yet then the Church ſhould remain in the midſt of that bloody perſecution, and horrible devaſtation; and many then ſhould run, read, ſearch with all diligence after theſe things; as appears they did in the books of the Maccabees. And in the event and iſſue, they will gain by Gods Spirit, full knowledge of theſe things which are obſcurely foretold. See Eſay 29.18. Jer.23.20.

V. 5. there ſtood other two] Other two Angels; beſides Gabriel, Chap.8.16. & 9.21. & 10.10. who hitherto hath revealed all theſe propheſies to Daniel, being ſent to that end: and beſides him alſo that was cloathed in linnen, who ſent Gabriel, Chap.10.5,11. that is, Chriſt our Saviour. So as, the greatneſſe of theſe matters is here ſet forth by the attendance of the angels, who deſire to look into them; as 1 Pet.1.12. and alſo the certainty of them, by the number of witneſſes that do teſtifie them, Deut.17.6. & Chap.19.15.

all theſe things ſhall be finiſhed] The grievous calamity and perſecution ended; and the deliverance of the Church afforded.

V. 8. I underſtood not] Daniel ingenuouſly confeſſeth, that he heard the Anſwer; but underſtood not the ſecret of theſe times, diſtinguiſhed in this manner; what they were, and when they ſhould begin. He heard it in general terms; but underſtood it not, ſo particularly, and plainly, ſo diſtinctly, and fully, as he fain would, and deſired to do. And indeed, theſe matters were to be ſpoken in ſuch ſort, as that until the age of their execution, the particulars ſhould not be more evident. The trial of the faithful required that; who elſe for that time would have withdrawn themſelves.

O my Lord] He inquires of Chriſt, as the angel did; and not of them.

what ſhall be the end of theſe things?] His ignorance makes him renew and repeat the Queſtion. Such was his holy deſire after theſe things. So 1 Pet.1.10,11. He a little varies the Queſtion, yet in words, rather then in ſubſtance, asking not when and how long, but what ſhall be the end of theſe things; what kind of end theſe wondrous troubles, and this deliverance ſhould have.

V. 9. And he ſaid] Chriſt ſaid; the man cloathed in linnen, ver.6,7.

Go thy way, Daniel] Surceaſe, forbear, be contented with this Revelation, with that anſwer, it is enough; inquire no further, demand no more concerning theſe things, the further knowledge whereof is reſerved to its proper time, and belongs neither to thee, nor to the age wherein thou liveſt, ver.13. See Act.1.6,7. Knowledge, and the Revelation of it, hath its ſeveral ſteps, meaſures, and gradations. And we muſt not be over-curious, to be wiſe above what is written; but wiſe to ſobriety, 1 Cor.4.6. Rom.12.3.

till the time of the end.] Till that time be come which is prefixed by God, for the ending, fulfilling, and accompliſhing of theſe things. The Event is the cleareſt Interpreter of Propheſies. Then are they fully, and clearly, certainly, and perfectly known.

V. 10. Many ſhall be purified, &c.] Chap. 11.35. See the Annotations there. This is a Recapitulation of that Propheſie concerning the calamities of that Perſecution by Antiochus Epiphanes. And here is the good end and uſe of it to Gods children, thrice told.

but the wicked ſhall do wickedly] The wicked Jews, like reprobate ſilver, ſhall not be bettered in the furnace of thoſe afflictions; but the worſe by them, as Jer.6.28,29,30. They ſhall yeeld to thoſe fiery tryals and temptations, and be overcome by them. Yea and many out of the height of their wickedneſſe ſhall willingly comply with Antiochus Epiphanes in all his wicked and Idolatrous abominations. See Chap.11.32,34. 1 Mac.1.11——16. & Ver.43. & 52. 2 Mac. 4.9——16. See Rev.22.11.

and none of the wicked ſhall underſtand] The prophane apoſtates will not underſtand Gods work in thoſe times of perſecution, nor attend to theſe Propheſies, nor draw any benefit of inſtruction or conſolation from them. See Pſal. 28. 5. & 92.5,6,7. They ſhall underſtand nothing becauſe they are blinded.

but the wiſe ſhall underſtand.] Thoſe, ver.3. & Chap.11.33. They ſhall mark, obſerve, and underſtand well Gods Work in thoſe times, and theſe propheſies and predictions fulfilled in them; neither ſhall they be drawn away with the errour of the wicked. See Hoſ.14.9. Pſal.107.43.

V. 11. And from the time] In the cloſe here, Chriſt doth favourably condeſcend to ſome further deſignation of the time, ſo much inſiſted upon; and to parcel out, and particularize the ſame more then formerly he did. So that Daniels deſire and enquiry is in part ſatisfied; and not altogether repulſed; as that repulſe, Act. 1.7.

that the daily ſacrifice ſhall be taken away] Whereof, ſee Chap. 8. 11, 12, 13, 14. and Chap. 11. 31. See alſo that, Chap. 9.27.

and the abomination that maketh deſolate ſet up] Heb. to ſet up the abomination that maketh deſolate, or aſtoniſheth, Chap. 11.31. & 8.13. See the Annotations there. This time was the 145. year, 9. moneth, 15. day of the Kingdome of the Greeks, 1 Mac. 1. 54. & 4. 52. That abomination, Chap. 9.27. is another.

there ſhall be 1290. dayes] That is, three yeares, ſix moneths, and fifteen dayes, from the time formerly mentioned in this verſe; which extend to ſix moneths, and five dayes, after the rebuilding of Gods Altar, and reſtoreing of his true worſhip and ſervice in, ver. 7. At this period of time, likely, ſome notable mercy was afforded them, not mentioned in Scripture. But the books of Maccabees do declare many ſingular victories afforded the Jews after the rebuilding of Gods Altar; over all their neighbouring enemies. See 1 Mac. 5. Chapter throughout: and as ſome relate a ſingular victory over Antiochus himſelf: as alſo Antiochus his kind of Repentance for his wrongs done to the Jews; together with a vow of his own Converſion to Judaiſm; and of granting them the free exerciſe of Gods true worſhip, and of honouring them, the Temple, and their Religion, ſundry wayes; as we may read at large, 2 Mac. 9. 13—28. See 2 Mac. 11. and it ſeems at the end of this time, Judas Maccabeus had proſperous ſucceſſe againſt the Ammonites, with their Captain Timotheus.

V. 12. Bleſſed is he] Much happier ſhall his condition be.

that cometh to the 1335. dayes] That is, 45. dayes after the former. For then Antiochus Epiphanes dyed, 1 Mac. 6.16. 2 Mac. 9.28. though the very moneth and day of his death be not expreſſed in that hiſtory. And ſo the Jews were fully freed from the fear of him. His laſt vowes and promiſes, if they had been known to them, yet they could not have confided in the words of ſuch a man. But his death made all ſure, Nor after did his race, and ſucceſſors get dominion over them. Thus we have four termes ſet concerning the Perſecution of Antiochus, 1. 2300. dayes, Chap. 8. 14. which maketh 6. years, 3. moneths, and 20. dayes. This ends before the Sanctuary was defiled. 2. a time, 2. times, and a part of times, Chap. 7.25. & 12.7. that is, three years, and 10. dayes, during the which, the daily Sacrifice was diſcontinued. 3. Here is one time of 1290. dayes, which ended at ſuch time as Religion was fully reſtored after the purgation of the Temple. 4. 1335. which ended at the death of Antiochus.

V. 13. But go thou thy way] Go on in the way and courſe of thy life that yet remaineth, content with this my Revelation: look for no more Viſions, but reſt in this. That which God had yet further to reveal for the comfort of his Church, he would reſerve for other times. As Ezra, Zechary, Haggie, Malachy, were raiſed up afterwards. God would adorn his Temple at the re-edifying thereof with ſome Prophetical Viſions.

till the end be] The end of thy life: prepare for it, to end it comfortably. It cannot be far off, thou art now ſo old.

And thou ſhalt reſt] In peace; free from theſe calamities, and from the miſeries of this life, Apoc. 14.13.

and ſtand in thy lot at the end of the dayes.] That is, ſtand ſtill in that lot of proſperity and honour, mentioned Chap. 6.28. till, and at the end of thy dayes. Others thus; Thou ſhalt reſt, in thy grave; and ſtand up, at the general Reſurrection of the dead, in thy lot, of Celeſtial Inheritances, and heavenly glory; prepared and allotted to thee and other Prophets, at the end of the world, for the dayes of eternity See Phil. 1. 5. 2 Tim. 4.8. Every one then hath his lot; not all the ſame meaſure of Glory.

ANNOTATIONS
On the Book of the Prophet
HOSEA.

The ARGUMENT.

Immediately after King Solomons Death, the Jewiſh Nation was divided into two Kingdomes, under Rehoboam, and Jeroboam. Rehoboam, Solomons ſon, reigned over two Tribes, Judah and Benjamin. And that Kingdome was called the Kingdome of Judah; becauſe the Tribe of Judah was the Principal part of it. And this continued in Rehoboam and his Succeſſors; twenty in all, counting in himſelf and Athaliah, untill the time of the Babyloniſh Captivity. The other Kingdome, over which Jeroboam firſt reigned, was called the Kingdome of Iſrael; as containing all the other ten Tribes of Iſrael. And this continued alſo in twenty Succeſſions, untill the the time of the Aſſyrian Captivity, in the dayes of King Hoſhea, when Hezekiah reigned over Judah. And ſo this Kingdome ended 133. years before that of Judah. What cauſed that miſerable Diviſion, appeareth, 1 King. 12. As Iſrael fell from Judah; ſo did they fall from the pure Service of God, worſhipping him after their own phantaſies, and Traditions of men, giving themſelves to vile Idolatries. Jeroboam ſet up two Calves, erected Altars, ordained Feaſts, Prieſts, and Sacrifices of his own invention. Yet the Lord from time to time ſent to them Extraordinary Prophets; and more in number then he did to the Kingdome of Judah. By them to ſupply the defect of the Ordinary Miniſtery of Prieſts and Levites; to call them back to Repentance, to keep his Elect in the profeſſion of his Covenant, and enjoyment of his Grace; to reprove, and condemn the wicked, by denunciation of Gods Judgments; That ſo ſome form of a Church, and Gods Right might be preſerved in that Nation, which through his Patience did yet bear his Name and Badge. Among others, Hoſea the Prophet was raiſed up: And at the ſame time with him, Eſay, Amos, Joel, Jonah, and Micah, Extraordinary Prophets all, lived, and propheſied. A rare age of Prophets. Hoſea faithfully executed his Office very many years. Yet how many, is not ſo eaſily, and certainly collected. The reckonings of the years of the Kings of Judah, and of the Kings of Iſrael linked in with them, in whoſe reignes this Prophet propheſied, being ſo intricate and perplexed. Hoſea is ſent, chiefly to Iſrael; yet hath and uſeth a Word of Propheſie for Judah alſo. Summarily he tells Iſrael, Their Mother is an Adultereſſe; Themſelves, the Children of Whoredomes; Exhorts them to leave their manifold Sins, and Idolatries; and to Return to the Lord, upon his Promiſes of Mercy: Elſe, Threatens them with grievous Judgments, and tells them God will take away their Kingdome, and give them up for Captives to the Aſſyrians; which accordingly came to paſſe. Intermixing yet ſome Conſolatory Promiſes, of their Converſion, and Gods gracious Acceptation, at the laſt. Somewhat more diſtinctly, and particularly, thus;

Hoſea is commanded to Propheſie, In
- Types,
  - 1. Of a Wife of VVhoredomes, and Children of whoredomes. — Propounded, and Applyed, Chap. 1. / Applyed more fully, Ch. 2.
  - 2. Of an Adultereſſe, bought by him for a wife; with the Application of it, Chap. 3.
- Termes plain and expreſſe. And ſo; He Chargeth them with Sins; Threatneth Judgements; Exhorts to Repentance; and Promiſeth Mercies. And all theſe are intermingled, and gone over again, and again; in all the reſidue of the Propheſie; We may ſome way help to diſtinguiſh them, thus;

Hoſea from God, and in his Name
- 1. Chargeth ſeveral Sins; And Threatneth ſundry judgements, upon
  - Iſrael, Chap. 4.
  - Iſrael, and Judah, Chap. 5.
- 2. Exhorts to Repentance, Chap. 6.
- 3. Iſrael, and Ephraim, do yet continue on in their Sins: And Return not; but deceitfully, Chap. 7.
- 4. Hereupon, Their Sins, and Gods Judgments, are again
  - Propounded, charged, and denounced; Specially the Sins of their Idol Calves. and other Idolatries: And their ſeeking help of Aſhur, and of Egypt, Chap. 8.
  - Preſſed further, and perſecuted, Chap. 9. & 10.
- 5. After all which, God again wooes them, by his Love, and ſeeks to win them by his Gracious dealings; notwithſtanding their wayward wickedneſſe: He allayes his juſt provoked anger; and Promiſeth them future Grace, Chap. 11.
- 6. And yet not prevailing, He doth laſt of all,

CHAP. I.

Verſ. 1. T*He word*] God in this Chapter commands Hoſea, in a Viſion, to take a Wife of Whoredomes, and Children of Whoredomes. By that Type to convince Iſrael of their whoriſh impiety againſt the Lord. And by the naming of his Children, Jezreel, Lo-ruhamah, and Lo-ammi, he doth declare and denounce his moſt ſevere judgments, ſpeedily to come upon the then reigning houſe of Jehu, for his ſins; and alſo upon all Iſrael: as likewiſe his denying them any mercy; and renouncing them from being his people; and the taking them away by the Aſſyrian. With promiſes, annexed of more mercy to the houſe of Judah; and of mercy to both Iſrael and Judah, at the laſt, in their Union, Converſion, and Reception again, to be his people.

of the Lord, &c.] So again, verſ. 2. Not mans word; nor the Prophets; but Gods, by him. He is the Lords mouth in ſpeaking it, the Lords hand in writing it, 2 Tim. 3. 16. 2 Pet. 1. 21. Hereupon Matthew alledgeth him, Chap. 2. 15. and Paul cites his authority, Rom. 9. 25, 26. 1 Cor. 15. 54. and our Saviour himſelf likewiſe, Matt. 9. 13. & 12. 7.

that came unto Hoſea] As the Lords ambaſſador, ſent by him, with theſe words, inſtructions, mandates, meſſages to be delivered to his people. Hoſea, no falſe Prophet that comes unſent, and brings his own words and dreams. But he that heareth Hoſea, heareth the Lord, Luk. 10. 16.

in the dayes of Uzziah, &c.] Called alſo Ozias, Mat. 1. 8. and Azzariah, 2 King. 14. 21. Of him, read 2 King. 15. 1—6. 2 Chro. 26. In which year of his reign, Hoſea began to propheſie, is not ſpecified. And the beginning, and the end of his reign, are alſo, both ſubject to various opinions among Interpreters, and Chronologers. Some, make him to begin at the ſeventeenth of his father Amaziah, and ſecond of Jeroboam. Others, twelve years after, at the death of Amaziah; and ſo in the fourthteen of Jeroboam. Others, twelve or thirteen years, after the death of Amaziah; ſuppoſing a ſpace of regency, or interregnum, during that time: and ſo in the twenty ſeventh of Jeroboam. And for the end of the reign of Uzziah, ſome make to be at the time of his Leproſie; and vary alſo about that time. Others, at the time of his death.

Jotham] Began in the ſecond year of Pekah: and reigned ſixteen years, 2 King. 15. 32, 33. And this, after the death of his father Uzziah. See 2 King. 15. 5. 2 Chron. 26. 21. Jotham judged the people of the land, in the time of his fathers Leproſie: and then he is twenty five years old, 2 King. 15. 33. and fourty ſeven, at the beginning of his own reign. That twentieth year of Jotham, mentioned, 2 King. 15. 30. appears plainly, to be the twentieth ſince Jotham began to reign; and was indeed, and properly the fourth of Ahaz. See Annotations on that place.

Ahaz] Aged 20. Some ſay, when himſelf: Others, when his father Jotham began to reign. Ahaz is called King of Iſrael, 2 Chr. 28. 19. haply, as being more like them in Idolatries, and fitter for them in all manner of abominations, then to be any King of Judah, ver. 22. Ahaz begins in the ſeventeenth of Pekah, 2 King. 16. 1, 2. and Pekah reigning 20. years, 2 King. 15. 27. This evinceth Hoſhea the Succeſſour of Pekah to begin his reign in the fourth of Ahaz. Ahaz reigned 16. years.

Hezekiah] Aged 25. and therefore begotten in the eleventh year of the age of Ahaz, if Ahaz was 20. years old, when he himſelf began to reign; and not his Father: which may well be; conſidering the time wherein Judah the ſon of Jacob, and his ſons, begat their children, before their going into Egypt, Gen. 46. 12. At that age of 25. Hezekiah begins to reign. And that Beginning muſt needs be in the twelfth of Hoſhea, reckoning, as was ſhewed from the fourth of Ahaz. Which twelfth is the third year of Hoſhea, 2 King. 18. 1, 2. That is, ſince he became Tributary to Salmaneſar.

Kings of Judah] Judah and Benjamin; and that Kingdome was called the kingdome of Judah; becauſe the tribe of Judah was the chief part of it: and this continued in 20. Succeſſions till the Babyloniſh Captivity; as hath been ſaid.

Jeroboam] Amos 1.1. & Chap.7.9,10,11. 2 King. 14.27. Diſtinguiſhed here from Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat. He begins to reign in the fifteenth year of Amaziah king of Judah; reignes 41. years; dyes in the reign of Uzziah, ſome ſay in the 14. ſome, in the 27. and ſome in the 38. year of Uzziah's reign; according to the various opinions of the Beginning of Uzziah's reign, formerly mentioned. Hoſea propheſying till the time of Hezekiah, it muſt needs follow, that he propheſied alſo in the dayes of Zachariah, Shallum, Menahem, Pekahiah, Pekah, and Hoſhea, ſix other kings of Iſrael. And yet for all this, the time how long Hoſea propheſied, doth ſtill remain uncertain; though we ſhould begin the accompt in the laſt year of Jeroboam, and end it in the firſt of Hezekiah; and all becauſe the laſt of Jeroboam is ſo greatly doubted in what year of Uzziah it doth take its period and determination. Thoſe who will have Jeroboams laſt year to be in the 14. of Uzziah, do not onely allow the whole 29. years to Amaziah, but alſo are forced to admit of an interregnum of 13. years in the Kingdome of Judah after the death of Amaziah, before Uzziah began to reign. And withal, finding undeniably, that Zachariah the ſon of Jeroboam did begin to reign in the 38. of Uzziah, they are forced again to admit of an interregnum of 24. years between Jeroboam and Zachariah, in the Kingdome of Iſrael. Of either of which Interregnums, there is not the leaſt intimation in the Scripture. Thoſe who end Jeroboams reign in the 27. of Uzziah, are forced to admit of an Interregnum of 11. years between his death, and the beginning of the reign of his ſon Zachariah, 2 King.15.8. Thoſe who make Jeroboams laſt to fall in with the 38. of Uzziah, do take for their ground that undeniable truth, That Uzziah's death, and end of his reign, falls in with the firſt year of Pekah king of Iſrael, 2 King.15.27. And counting backward 52. yeares, the time of the reign of Uzziah, it brings us to the ſecond or third year of Jeroboams reign, and 17. or 18. of Amatziah, or firſt of Uzziah: and this makes Jeroboams death to fall in the 38. year of Uzziah; and ſo cuts off any Interregnum, either in Judah, or Iſrael; and makes a perfect concordance between the times of the reignes of the Kings of Judah, and of the Kings of Iſrael, as the Scripture doth record them; thus, Joaſh, or Jehoaſh of Judah, and Jehoahaz of Iſrael, dye in the ſame year, 2 King. 12. 1. compared with Chap. 13. 1. Thence, in 12. of Hoſhea, or third year of his Tributary Reign, falls in with the firſt of Hezekiah, 2 King.18.1.

And now thus reckoning from the laſt of Jeroboam, in the 38. year of Uzziah, to the firſt of Ezekiah, our Prophet Hoſea propheſied at leaſt 47. years. Others, that place Jeroboams death in the 27. year of Uzziah, make him propheſie 58. years. And they that place Jeroboams death in the 14. year of Uzziah, make him propheſie 69. years. How long Hoſea propheſied in the dayes of Jeroboam; and how long in the dayes of Hezekiah, is not ſet down in Scripture.

In all this Chronology of times aforeſaid, we leave the Reader to his own judgment; and do not prejudge the different opinions of Learned men. Onely we think good for the better clearing and underſtanding of that Text, 2 King. 15.1. to ſignifie, That it is not to be underſtood, That Azariah, or Uzziah began to reign in the 27. of Jeroboam; for ſo ſhould Jeroboam dye in the 14. year of Uzziah: which inforceth that inconvenience of a double Interregnum formerly mentioned. The word began, is not in that Text. Only this is, that Uzziah was reigning then in that 27. year of Jeroboam, being the moſt likely the 24. or 25. of his own reign. And moſt likely; that in that 27. of Jeroboam, Uzziah was ſtrucken with Leproſie; as it followes ver. 5. of that Chapter. This long continuance of Hoſea in Propheſying ſheweth; his conſtancy and fidelity in his Office; Gods great Patience; the Peoples invincible obſtinacy in their ſins; and the juſtneſſe of Gods judgments upon them in the end. The Book ſeems to contain the ſums of his Sermons, or the main Heads of ſuch matters as he uſually preached upon.

King of Iſrael] As containing all the other ten Tribes of Iſrael. Under this ſecond Jeroboam, the Kingdome of Iſrael was moſt proſperous and flouriſhing: and yet even then this Prophet denounceth threatnings of devaſtation and ruine for their ſins; when it ſeemed to them a thing incredible; and accordingly over ſpeedily it came ſo to paſſe.

V. 2. The beginning of the word of the Lord by Hoſea] Heb. The beginning of Jehovahs ſpeech in Hoſea, 2 Cor.13.3. Heb.1.1. Mat.10.20. To ſignifie the inward Prophetical revelation, Num.12.6. 2 Sam.23.2. Moſt truly may that of the Poet be applyed here, Eſt Deus in nobis agitante caleſcimus illo. The former Verſe contains a general Inſcription of the whole Prophecy. This moſt ſpecially declares with what God firſt began; and is the Inſcription of this Chapter. Oſhea brought them into the land, Num.13.9. Deut.1.38. In the reign of King Hoſhea, they were carried captives out of the land, 2 King.17. Hoſea the Prophet doth taxe their undutifulneſſe, and unthankfulneſſe for the one; and foretel their fearful deſerved calamity in the other. Hoſea, and Joſhua differ little in name, and ſignification, from Jeſus.

The Lord ſaid to Hoſeah] He begins roughly. As an Herauld he bids open war to Iſrael in Gods name. He doth not ſpeak placentia; but thunders againſt them, becauſe their ſins were as diſeaſes incurable and deſperate; and had ſo long continued from the dayes of the firſt Jeroboam. And he ſpeaks nothing out of his own brain; but is the Lords organ and inſtrument: God inſtructs and directs him. The Prophets deliver what they receive from the Lord. And hereupon depends their authority; and the Peoples duty of attention, belief, and obedience.

Goe, take] It is likely that all this was commanded, and ſeemed to the Prophet to be performed in viſion; which being related to the people, they might in the looking-glaſſe of this allegory, perceive their duty toward God, and their rebellion and diſloyalty, and the puniſhment which God would inflict upon them for it. See Chap. 3.1. Some thus, That God commanded him onely to ſpeak all this to the people, as a parable or figure; that by this means, in his perſon, as in a lively picture, they might ſee the repreſentation of their own whoriſh eſtate and condition; and the like is that, Eſay 28. 23. Jer.13.4. Ezek.3. & 4. Chap. and 8.3,8. yet ſome will needs underſtand all literally, and ſeek to juſtifie it, by the authority of God commanding it, for the ſpecial uſe following: and parallel it with that, 1 King.20.37. & Gen.22.2. & Exod.11. 2. with Chap.12.36. And theſe underſtand the forenamed places of Eſay, and Ezekiel; as alſo that Jer.28.10,13. all literally: and that this was done, the more thereby to affect and work upon the hearts of the people.

of whoredomes] A notorious infamous whore: as a man of bloods, and of ſorrowes, ſignifies men notorious in theſe kinds. Though ſome ſay, that ſhe had been ſuch, before the Prophet took her; not ſo afterwards. Others, that ſhe was not ſuch at firſt; but that after he took her, ſhe turned whore.

and children of whoredomes] Some conceive them taken with the mother; and ſo born in whoredomes before the Prophet took her; and ſo not thoſe begotten of her by the Prophet, and mentioned hereafter in this Chapter, which nothing agrees with the Text. Others, underſtand thoſe children hereafter named, and that they were born by unlawful copulation, though the Prophet did bear the name, or that he ſhould ſay ſo of her, and them, to the people, and give it out ſo, and traduce them as ſuch. Others, conceive the words to bear, that the ſame children were taken with the mother by the Prophet, and yet are ſaid to be begotten by him of her. Or that they were begotten by him of her, and yet called children of whoredomes, becauſe of the ill name and fame of the mother. And they make this the rather to evince all this to be onely in viſion, or as a Parable, type and figure propounded, and preached to the people.

For the Land] The end, uſe, and application, of the former command, viſion, or type. I will have thee in this manner repreſent unto the people their Idolatries, and ſpiritual ſtrayings, and to reprove them for it, Chap.2.4. Joh.8.41. See Pſal.73.27. & Ezek.23.3,5. Their Idolatry, indeed, was their grand ſin, and the well-ſpring of their other ſins. And it is likened to whoredome, in relation to that uſual aſſimilation of God, to an huſband, and the Church to his wife, Ch. 2.2,16. Jer.3.1,8,20. Ezek. 16. 8. whence jealouſie is attributed to God, Exod.20.4.

from the Lord] And his word, and going a whoring after her Lovers, as Adultereſſes do, Chap.25.13. Exod.34.15. The people of that pleaſant land, the land of promiſe, did deal thus treacherouſly againſt ſuch an husband, againſt the Lord.

V. 3. Took] He preached this Type, parable, or viſion. Though ſome, as was ſaid, take it literally, as a thing really acted by him. We muſt obey God, even in things that ſeem to be never ſo much againſt our reaſon and ſenſe.

Gomer] Some think it was the name of a famous ſtrumpet, which lived in thoſe dayes. Others, that it is a feigned name, to ſet out the qualities of this people, as well in grace (for it may ſignifie perfection) as in judgment, for it may be taken for the end or final extirpation.

Diblaim] The reaſon of this name which ſeemes alſo figurative, is very obſcure. Some have held it the name of a wilderneſſe, Ezek.6.14. to ſhew the Churches wretched beginning, in its own nature; as Can.3.6.Ezek.16.7. Others, ſay it ſignifies cluſters of figs, Jer.24.3.

Bare him a ſon] It ſeems that by thoſe three children, born to the Prophet, was figured the ruine of the ten tribes, which were effected at three ſeveral times. Firſt, in the extirpation of John his houſe by Shallum, 2 King.15.10,12. The other two were by the invaſions of the Kings of Aſſyria, Tiglath-pilneſer, 2 King.15.19. 1 Chron. 5. 2,6. and Shalmaneſer, 2 King. 17. 3,6. If this were literally underſtood, it would much have retarded the beginning of the Prophets preaching.

V. 4. Jezreel] Meaning, that they were no more worthy to be called Iſraelites, of which name they boaſted, becauſe Iſrael did prevail with God; but that they were as baſtards and deſerved to be called Jezreelites, that is ſcattered people; alluding to Jezreel, which was the chief City of the ten tribes under Ahab, where Jehu ſhed ſo much bloud, 2 King. 9.24,31. & 10.8,11,17. This name then ſhould be a monument of the blood there ſhed by Jehu, & of Gods vengeance to be executed for it in that ſame place, ver. 5.

yet a little while] The meaning of this firſt paſſage and propheſie, ſee 1 King.14.14. Zachariah the ſon of Jeroboam reigned onely 6 moneths, and was ſlain by Shallum, and the kingdome taken from the poſterity of Jehu. See 2 King.15 10, 12. yet was this 100 years after that bloudy ſin of Jehu, Eſay 65.20.

Avenge] Heb. viſite; as Chap.2.13. & 4.9.& 8.13. & 9.9.

The blood of Jezreel] Namely, the executions done by Jehu in Jezreel, 2 King.9 24,33,& 10.11,17.

upon the houſe of Jehu] Jehu his houſe and poſterity do ſuffer here for Jehu his ſin. God ſtirred up Jehu to execute his judgments upon Ahabs houſe, which thing he did, and for that was rewarded, 2 King.10.30.and to re-eſtabliſh Gods ſervice which he did not, 2 King.10.31. he reformed Baal; but not the Calves of Dan and Bethel: wherefore thoſe former executions, are imputed unto him for ſo many murthers. See 1 King.16.7.becauſe he did not the former commands with an upright heart. And withal his bloodineſſe upon Ahaziah, and his brethren was cruel, and beyond his commiſſion. God will be the avenger of blood. Jehu did not Gods work for God, but for himſelf; out of his deſire to reign. We muſt ſee to it, that our heart be upright and ſincere in doing Gods ſervice and buſineſſe; that we ſerve God in it, and not our ſelves, and our own turn; and ſo ſubject the works of God to our own baſe ends.

will cauſe to ceaſe] The Kingdome of Jehu in the houſe of Iſrael. And by the rooting out of the line of Jehu, the kingdome of Iſrael received ſuch a blow, that it could never riſe again. Of the utter ceſſation of the kingdom, ſee ver. 9. kingdomes have their change and periods.

V. 5. At that day] When the time of vengeance ſhall come, and they ripe for it, I will beat down the power of Iſrael, taking from them all means of defending themſelves. And God brake the bowe of Iſrael in the valley of Jezreel, when Jehues wicked houſe ſmarteth for Achab's; as Achabs did for Naboth.

the bowe] Bowe then much uſed in war. See on Zech. 10.4.By the bowe Jehu got the Crown, 2 King.9.24. They thought themſelves ſtrong in men and armes. But this ſhould not hinder Gods breaking of them; for all their vain boaſting and confidence, he would tame them.

for the valley of Jezreel] This ſeemes allotted to the Tribe of Ephraim, or to Manaſſeh, Ioſh.17.16.yet ſome aſſignes the city to Iſſachar, Ioſh.19.18. The Midianites and Amalakites camped here, Iudg.6.33.Saul ſlain here, 1 Sam.29.1,11.Isboſheth made King over it, and the moſt of Iſrael, 2 Sam.2.9. Naboth dwelt, and was ſtoned in Iezreel, and Ahab had a palace here, 1 King.21. It was a ſtrong and fortified city in his time. Hither he came from Carmel, and Elias ran on foot before him, 1 King.18.45,46. Here were Iezabel, and Iehoram the ſon of Ahab ſlain by Iehu, 2 King.9. For whoſe ſlaughters made there, God would be avenged there, even in that place, wherein they much gloried and boaſted; and where they thought their greateſt ſtrength and ſecurity to be. See Nah.3.12,13,8,10. There was a city in the Tribe of Iudah of that name, Ioſh.15.56.

V. 6. Conceived again] God, by his Prophet, gradually proceeds to deſcribe the ſtate of the people in ſin and puniſhment. They ſtill grow worſe and worſe.

Lo-ruhama] That is, not having obtained mercy: whereby he ſignifieth that Gods favour was departed from them. See Rom.9.25. See ver.10. as a daughter whom the father doth repudiate and caſt off.

I will no more] Heb. I will not add any more to. Becauſe I have pardoned them enough already: therefore I will ſuffer them to be ſpoiled by Tiglath-Pilneſer, who captiveth Galile, and by him to be unpittied. See it performed, 1 Chr.5. 26. See Chap.2.4.See the like comination, Ier.13.14. Amos 7.8.See likewiſe, Ier.15.1.Ezek.14.14 Zeph.2.1. Iudg.12.16. Hitherto he had uſed much patience and forbearance; had been haſty to wrath and revenge, but had tryed all meanes of their amendment, and expected long. But now he would delay no longer, Amos 3.2.

But I will utterly] Or, that I ſhould altogether, or any wayes pardon them; They were never brought back again, as the Jewes were from Babylon. Thus Gods laſt ſtroakes are the dreadful and dreadly.

V. 7. The houſe of Iudah] In which the covenant ſervice, and Church of God remained: and which Pekah, and Rezin, Iſrael joyning with Syria, ſought after to deſtroy, Eſay 7.1.and which before that was miſerably waſted by Ioaſh or Iehoaſh the father of this Ieroboam, in the dayes of Amaziah, 2 King.14. and now was deſpicable and forlorn, in the eyes of Iſrael. This is inſerted, to abate their pride againſt Iudah: and to provoke them to follow their example, and to ſhew, that though Iſrael were rejected, yet God would have his Church, upon which he would have mercy. So Mal. 3.10, Eſay 65,13. yea mercy ſtill, notwithſtanding their future croſſes and miſeries, by Iſrael, Syria, and Aſſyria.

Save them by the Lord] By my ſelf miraculouſly; or by vertue of the everlaſting ſon of God, perpetual head, and Saviour of his Church, Iſa.7.14. He ſaved Iudah from the Aſſyrian miraculouſly, ſending an Angel to deſtroy their Camp, 2 King.19.35. at Ieruſalem, or Lybna. See Eſay 36. 2. & 37. 8,9,14,33. and after brought Iudah back from the Babyloniſh Captivity.

their God] He is not your God; notwithſtanding all the pretences and claimes you make thereunto, and will not ſave them by] Zach. 4. 6. Not by their own power, or forrein forces. God needs not humane helpes. Neither doth mans ſafety and ſalvation depend upon the arm of fleſh and bloud, but upon the favour and power of the Lord, Eſay 43.7,15.Pſal.33.16.& 44.5,6.Exod. 15. 16. Pſal. 21.13.& 44.7,8.

V. 9. Lo-ammi] That is, not my people, Rom.9.25. for ye do not worſhip me as my people ſhould: and therefore as ye have rejected me by your Idolatry, ſo I will caſt you off. This is the laſt abdication and diſheriting of them; counting them now as in the rank of other Heathen Nations: and yet this is propheſied and foretold in the time of the flouriſhing reign of the ſecond Ieroboam.

I will not be your] God is here underſtood. The like Ellipſis is, Ezek. 16. 8. The Covenant between God and his people, frequently mentioned; as Chap. 2. 23. Jer. 11. 4. is here broken off. Becauſe, you have changed the unchangable condition of the Covenant; I will not do you good, as your God; but will ſuffer Shalmaneſer, King of Aſſyria, to carry you all captive, that Iſrael may be no people. See it fulfilled, 2 King.17.

V. 10. yet the number] See Jer. 30. 7. Becauſe, they thought that God could not have been true of his promiſe, except he had preſerved them; as Matt, 3.9. he declareth, that though they were deſtroyed, yet the true Iſraelites, which are the ſons of of the promiſe, ſhould be without number; whice ſtand, both of the Jews and Gentiles, Rom. 9. 24. Mat. 8.11. thus he anſwers their ſecret objection, and refells their vain confidence, whereby they ſleighted Gods threatnings. Others, think it may be underſtood, of the multiplication of this people, in all their diſperſions, until the time of their converſion: and to be a kind of qualification, of the ſharpneſſe of the former ſentence, which makes way to that which followes in the next Chapter, Chap.2.14—23. And a conſolation, that their foreſaid abdication and rejection, ſhould be ſuch, as yet a ſeed ſhould remain, an elect ſeed, that ſhould multiply, and grow innumerable. So that God will be as ſure as his word, and make good his promiſes; that to Abraham, Gen.22.5. and preſerve his Church, when the vile ſinners and hypocrites periſh, his Church ſhall grew to be more pure and numerous. The ful accompliſhment hereof, is more verified in the ſpiritual, then in the carnal ſeed of Iſrael.

come to paſſe] Rom.9.25,26. 1 Pet.2.10.

in the place] Or, inſtead of that. By the Goſpel which they ſhall at laſt receive, they will obtain a more firm covenant and conjunction with God, being made not onely his people and ſubjects, but his children by grace and adoption, and regeneration of ſpirit, and holy ſpiritual liberty: when Chriſt beginneth to preach where captivity began, Iſa.9.1.

it ſhall be ſaid unto them] As Iſa.61.6. & 62.6. & 1.26.

V. 11. Then ſhall the children of Judah] To wit, after the captivity of Babylon, when the Jews were reſtored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of the Meſſiah, who ſhould be acknowledged and accepted for the head of his Church, by Judah and Iſrael joyned, and Gentiles united to the Church, Rom.11.12,15,25. 2 Cor.3.16. See Eſay 11.13. Jer.3.18. Ezek.37.16,22,24. The Jews, the children of Abraham, ſhall not be utterly excluded, and clean caſt out, when the Gentiles are brought in; they ſhall be as the firſt-fruits and firſt-born in the Church at and after Chriſts coming.

gathered together] They were ſeparated by the means of Jeroboam the firſt.

one head] Of the houſe of David. Hereby is principally meant the Meſſiah, Chriſt the head of the Church, Eph.1.22. & 4.15. & 5.23. Ezek.37.22,24.

come up out of the land] Upon Cyrus his grant the Jewes ſhall appoint them Zorobable, and return from Chaldea into Judea; and many Iſraelites, in baniſhment, ſhall ſeparate themſelves from the world, and go up (in expectation of the heavenly kingdom) to build Jeruſalem, and ſo go on in the way to the kingdom of heaven. See Jer.23.8. Pſal.110.3. This was the beginning of their inſtauration. Their captivity ſhould not hinder the accompliſhment of this Promiſe in the former verſe: but the coming up thence ſhould ſerve as a Type of their ſpiritual collection to and under Chriſt. He phraſeth this as with an eye to that Type.

day of Jezreel] Though the calamity and deſtruction of Jezreel ſhall be ſo great, that to reſtore them, ſhall be as a miracle; yet that ſhall not hinder their reduction and inſtauration. Others thus, That time will be admirable, by reaſon of the gathering together of the Iſraelites, which before ſeemed rather to be Jezreel (that is, a people diſperſed by God) then an Iſrael. See Luk.19.41. Pſal.81.15. Iſa.33.6.

CHAP. II.

Verſ. 1. SAy] God chargeth the godly children to plead againſt the Church of Iſrael their mother, for her ſin, that ſhe may repent; leſt his vengeance break forth againſt her in dreadful manner. And thereafter are eft-ſoons repeated; their ſins, and his judgments: with promiſes, at the laſt, of their converſion, and of his manifold mercies, corporal and ſpiritual, to be vouchſafed thereupon. So that the peoples Idolatry, and Gods puniſhments againſt the impenitent, and his promiſes to the penitent, are all here more fully and clearly held out, then in the former Chapter.

Ye] Thou Hoſea, and other Prophets, preſent, and to come, and all other believers among this people, do not yet hold them as altogether rejected, to leave them to their own luſts; but call them to repentance, ſetting before them what is the duty of Gods people, ſignified by Ammi, that is, my people, towards thoſe, to whom God hath not ſhut up the bowels of his mercy, which is ſignified by Ruhamah. And thus alſo he exhorts the faithful, that they invite and incourage one another, to embrace and receive the glorious promiſes laſt mentioned, and to a mutual congratulation among them for the ſame. And ſuch is the duty of the Godly, to exhort, comfort and admoniſh, ſtrengthen, edifie one another.

unto your brethren] Of the houſe of Iſrael, not yet altogether forſaken.

Ammi] That is, my people; that yet they are, or may be ſuch, behaving them, as my people. Some thus, O ye that are yet my people, plead ye, as it is, ver.2.

ſiſters] Every one of them, beſpeak them thus.

Ruhamah] That is, having obtained mercy. See on Ammi; The like here.

V. 2. plead] Reprove the Body of your Nation openly, 1 Tim.5.20. plead freely, boldly, and conſtantly. This command may reach to the beſt among them, and ſuch as were the moſt zealous: yea, and to the wicked Iſraelites, who as groſs hypocrites uſe to do, are ready to excuſe and juſtifie them; and to charge God with too much rigour and ſeverity againſt them, in ſo rejecting them.

with your mother] The whole body of the people. Blame not me, but her: ſhe firſt brake the Covenant. Thus he ſhews, that God did juſtly, caſt them off; and becauſe as yet they repented not, did it ſtill ſeem needful thus roughly again to deal with them, till they altered their courſe. And hence it is, that God, in Scripture, ſo often mixeth threatnings with his promiſes.

Plead] The Repetition ſheweth, their obſtinacy in ſin, their continuing ſtill in murmuring ſtill againſt God for this his too much ſeverity againſt them: and alſo the neceſſity of this duty here to be performed with all care and courage.

not my wife] She doth not keep her Faith which ſhe hath promiſed me: and I have already good cauſe to put her away, which I forbear to do through my great patience. Others ſay, God ſheweth that the fault was not in him, but in their Synagogue, and their Idolatries, that he forſook them, Eſay 50.1. The children then might thank their mother, and her whoredomes, and not contend and expoſtulate the matter with God, who did his part of an husband; but not ſhe the part of a wife.

put away] Ezek.16.25. Let her diſpoſe her ſelf to true chaſtity, and ſpiritual purity, uſing no more laſcivious baits, and practices, to draw profane Nations on to trade with them in their Idolatries. See Jer.2.33. & 4.30. This God would be at, to convict her, and bring her to this amendment.

from between her breaſts] Alluding, in this phraſe, to unchaſte women, and adultereſſes, who ſet out their breaſts to allure lovers. See alſo Ezek.23.3,21.

V. 3. leſt I ſtrip] Leſt I take away from her all my graces, bodily and ſpiritual, and bring her to extreme miſery. See Ezek.16.39. & 23.26,29. For though this people were as an harlot for their Idolatries, and had loſt the name of a wife, yet he had left them with their apparel and dowry, and ſome ſigns of his favour; but if they went on ſtill, he would utterly deſtroy them, ver.9—13. Though this be ſore againſt her, yet it ſomewhat mitigates the former ſentence, and leaves open a door of hope for her pardon upon repentance.

as in the day] Ezek.16.4. when I brought her out of Egypt: Mindes her of her nakedneſs then, to abate her pride, and upbraid her unthankfulneſs: and we ſhould remember what originally we are.

as a wilderneſſe] The article prefixed, ſeems to point at that wilderneſs, wherein they wandred 40 years.

ſlay her with thirſt] With the ſcorching heat of my wrath, not tempered with any grace or comfort, Jer.2.15. Ezek.22.24. Amos 8.11,13. drought and famine are often named for ſignes of Gods anger, and of the barrenneſs of grace. And waters are often uſed to ſignifie plenty of divine bleſſings; as Eſay 55.1. Joh.4.14. & 7.38.

V. 4. And I will not have mercy] Though by virtue of the promiſe before mentioned, there ſhould come to this people a ſtate of grace in its due time; yet for the preſent their ſtate was horribly vile, and wicked, and they yet nothing humbled for it, which makes him go on in theſe dreadful comminations, and fearful dooms againſt them; as was that, Chap.1.6. Ezek.5.11. & 7.4,9. Jer.13.14.

upon her children] Upon the particular members of this people. By children he underſtands each of them ſeverly; as by the mother, the whole body of them generally. And here he applyes the general commination to them more particularly, the better to work upon them.

for they be children of whoredomes] As the mother is, ſuch are the children; that is, baſtards, having no part in the regeneration of the heavenly Father, to holineſs of life; being altogether corrupted like their mother. See Joh.8.44. yet this chiefly relates to the refractory reprobates amongſt them.

V. 5. For their mother] The reaſon of the former threatnings: or he ſhewes how the children were children of whoredomes.

harlot] With forrein gods, and idolatrous Nations, forgetting the matrimonial Covenant between God and her: and that ſhamefully and impudently, with a Whores forehead. And yet ſtill they will boaſt of their adoption, and needs be accounted the children of God in their own eſteem; becauſe once they were ſo.

for] Shewes how ſhe plaid the harlot.

ſhe ſaid] Upon meditation and conſultation reſolves, and upon reſolution profeſſeth thus to do.

I will go] As they, Jer.44.16,17.

after my lovers] Falſe gods, and their falſe worſhip; corrupting and forſaking the true worſhip of the true God. In a ſubordinant way, the Aſſyrian, and Egyptian may alſo be underſtood.

that give me my bread] Ver.8.12. Jer.44.17. Thus Idolaters aſcribe that to their Idols, which of right belongs to the true God. See that, Judg.16.23. And they think that God loves them, becauſe they abound in wealth.

drink] Heb. drinks.

V. 6. Therefore, behold] God ſhewes how neceſſary theſe his judgments were; no other remedy appeared.

I will] God himſelf will be the author of it; though they would not ſee, nor acknowledge ſo much.

hedge up thy way] Adultereſſes uſe to wander abroad. But I will watch and bar up thy wayes, that thou ſhalt not ſo freely and ſecurely as before, follow thy whoredomes. I will puniſh thee, that thou mayſt try whether thine Idols can help thee; and I will incloſe thee, and encompaſs thee with difficulties, and bring thee into ſuch diſtreſs and ſtraitneſs, that thou ſhalt not be able to run out at thy own pleaſure. See Job 3.23. & 19. 8. Lam. 3.7,9 He changeth the perſon twice in this verſe.

make a wall] Heb. wall a wall: by inflicting calamities and judgments.

her paths] To play the harlot hereafter with them: my judgments that croſs her therein.

V. 7. follow after] A wondrous obſtinacy and a mad rage, to be thus eager in the purſuit of their ſins, even in the middeſt of Gods judgments upon them for the ſame; which ſhews, that God was not too rigorous in puniſhing, when he ſo little prevailed by them. She ſhall then ſeek for favour and ayd at their hands, but all in vain; they ſhall all forſake her, and change their ancient love into mortal hatred, Jer. 2. 36. Ezek. 16.37.

return to my firſt husband] Namely, to God. This is ſpoken of the elect remnant; they, at laſt, ſhall be tamed, changed, and repent. Thus needful were chaſtiſements for them, and profitable to them, Eſay 26.9. & 27.9. Thus God ſeconded his rods with his ſaving grace; in the middeſt of anger, remembred mercy. But the reſt murmured at, and hardned them: againſt his judgments, were the worſe for them.

V. 8. For ſhe did not know] Prodigious ignorance; The Scriptures every where teaching her otherwiſe, that it is God, and not Idols, that gives theſe bleſſings: And that ſhe ſhould be ignorant of it, aggravates the crime: Leſs marvail, though Heathen Idolaters do thus defraud God of his honour, and attribute his benefit to their Idols.

wine] Heb. new wine.

which they prepared for Baal] Or, wherewith they made Baal; In making of Idols, or in ſerving and honouring of them. See 2 Chr. 24.7. Ezek. 7.20. & 16.16. Hoſ. 8.4. See on Hoſ. 13.1. Baal ſignifies a Lord or Patrone. And ſuch the Heathens had many; whom ſome called their leſſer gods, as mediators between the great God, and them; and ſuch as did deal more immediately with men, and were procurers of theſe outward bleſſings and benefits here named, and called by other particular names; as Ceres, Bacchus, &c.

V. 9. return and take away] That is, take again: an uſual Hebraiſm; like that, Gen. 26.18. ſignifying, that God will take again his benefits, when man, by his ingratitude, doth abuſe them. They thought their proſperity, in the abundance of Gods bleſſings, warranted, what ever they did. It was time then to take them away.

my corn] Not theirs, nor their Idols; and they ſhall know it to be mine, ver. 5, 8.

in the time thereof] Namely, at the time which I have appointed: or, in harveſt and vintage time, I will take away her increaſe of corn and wine; which may be done, by curſing the earth, that none or little fruit ſhould ariſe: or, not letting it anſwer their labour and expectation: or, by bringing in the enemies at that time of the year to take the harveſt to help them, and to hurt the inhabitants; as Ezek. 23.29. or, by ſome other means.

recover] Or take away violently, what they unjuſtly poſſeſs and abuſe.

my wool] Referring to that which followeth.

to cover her nakedneſſe] For her neceſſary uſe; and not trim and deck her Idols withall; as the Heathen baſely abuſed theſe good gifts.

V. 10. And] He purſues the ſame point, and parcels it out in ſeverall members.

now] Soon and ſuddenly. The evils named before, he ſaith, he will preſently bring upon them; thereby the more to move and provoke them to repentance.

I will diſcover] See Ezek. 16.37. & 23.19.

her lewdneſſe] Heb. folly, or, villany. That is, all her ſervice, ceremonies, and inventions, whereby ſhe worſhipped her Idols.

in the ſight of her lovers] All her hopes ſhe had in her Idols, and Images, to deliver her, ſhall appear falſe, and periſh. As her hopes alſo in the Aſſyrians, and Egyptians ſhall likewiſe fail her.

and none ſhall] For who ſhall reſiſt me? Thus God would cut off all the hopes and vain confidence ſhe had in her falſe worſhip, and falſe friends, wherein ſhe ſo much pleaſed and ſoothed up her ſelf.

V. 11. All her mirth to ceaſe] Her mirth in her Feſtivals, Deut. 16.14. which are therefore called the days of their gladneſs, Num. 10.10. wherein they had the ſounding of trumpets, and the noiſe of other muſical Inſtruments, and melodious voyces and ſongs in the Temple, Amos 5.23. & 8.10.

her feaſt dayes] He ſeems to ſhew that there ſhall be ſuch want of all things by famine, by war, or otherwiſe, that ſacrifices ſhall fail in their feſtival dayes, when they uſed publickly to rejoyce; and theſe were obſerved among the ten Tribes, in imitation of thoſe of Judah, 1 King. 12.32 Or rather in their exile, and captivation they ſhall want all theſe, Chap. 9. 4, 5. The three great anniverſary Feaſts of the Paſſover, Weekes, and Tabernacles are meant.

New Moons] See Num. 28.11. & 10.10. & 29.6. 1 Sam. 20. 5. 1 Chr. 23.31. 2 Chr. 8.13. & 31. 3. Ezra 3. 5. Nehemiah 10. 33.

ſolemn feaſts] As thoſe other, Lev. 23.24, 27.

V. 12. deſtroy] Heb. make deſolate.

ſhe hath ſaid] The cauſe of ſuch ſevere judgment is repeated, that Gods juſtice may be commended: and that is double, becauſe they defrauded God of his honour, and becauſe they gave the glory due to God, unto falſe gods.

my rewards] Price, and hire her for her whoredomes. The bleſſings beſtowed on her for her ſuperſtitions and idolatrous worſhippings. See Mic. 1. 7. & Ezek. 16.31, 33, 34.

a foreſt] Ver. 3. See Eſay 5. 5, 6. Lev. 26.31. Jer. 22.6. Ezek. 5. 14. Joel 1. 7. Zeph. 2. 13, 15. The LXX wrongly read a Witneſs, omitting Jod, and changing Reſh into Daleth.

V. 13. viſit] They ſhall ſee I will not forget them, but viſit them; as Chap. 1. 4. & 4. 9. & 8. 13.

the dayes of Baalim] Ver. 8. Thus God points, as it were, with the finger, to their grand ſin, their ſpiritual whoredome; ſo diſpleaſing to him, that he cannot endure it, but plague them for it. And all their Idols he calleth here by the name of Baalim, in the plural number; as they were accounted of by them, their Lords and Patrons.

burnt incenſe] And ſacrifices; for ſo large is the ſignification of the word here uſed, as may appear, Lev. 1. 9. & 3. 15. where the ſame word is found. God commanded this ſervice to be done to him, Lev. 2. 1, 2. Exod. 30. 1. This the Iſraelites uſed and imitated in their idolatrous worſhip, Ezek. 8. 11. and for the moſt part all Idolaters do the like, turning ſo Gods worſhip to their Idols; and Papiſts burn incenſe before their images.

decked her ſelf] A term taken from laſcivious women, which deck themſelves for to allure men; whereby is meant the Iſraelites profane pomps in their idolatries. They adorn themſelves in bravery, in their idol ſervices; and as themſelves, ſo their idols too; and Papiſts come not behind them in decking their images.

lovers] See on ver. 5, 10.

forgat me] Though ſhe had been acquainted with Me and my Word ſo long, and accuſtomed to my ſervice, yet now ſhe forgat Me, and all: but I will not forget her, to viſit and plague her for it.

V. 14. Therefore] Afterwards, aſſuredly in the end.

behold] A remarkable mercy, calls them to view it, and weigh it, as if it were a matter in preſent poſſeſſion.

I will allure her] As kind husbands uſe to do; not as her adulterous Lovers formerly did; By my benefits in offering her grace and mercy, I will do it, ſeeing ſhe will not, or cannot, return of her ſelf. And this even then and in that place, where ſhe ſhall think her ſelf deſtitute of all help and comfort: I will challenge her mind ſweetly. God is the Author of mans converſion, makes him pliant and flexible. Here is a gracious promiſe of Gods rich and manifold mercies to her, both ſpiritual, and temporal, continued all along to the end of this Chapter; alluding therein to Gods former mercies, in bringing her out of Egypt, through the wilderneſs, into the good land of promiſe. See the like, Eſay 11. 16: like that in the Poet, Alter erit tum Typhis & altera quæ vehat Argo &c.

and bring her into the wilderneſs] I will gather her unto me, bringing her home from her baniſhment through many miſeries, as I brought my people to Canaan through the wilderneſs. Some thus, after I have brought her into the deſert of deſperation. Mean afflictions would not do the turn; extream, and almoſt deſperate ones, muſt be uſed; and in their iſſue theſe ſevere chaſtiſements ſhould prove profitable, and be uſeful remedies for her recovery, and fit her to hearken to the comfortable voyce in the Goſpel.

ſpeak comfortably] Or, friendly. Heb. to her heart, Eſay 40. 1, 2.

V. 15. her vineyards] Plenty of all things, and ſtore of all bleſſings temporal: which may alſo myſtically relate to bleſſings ſpiritual. They ſhall ſee, in effect, and by experience, the favour and bounty of my reconciliation with them. Before I had ſaid, ver. 12. I will deſtroy her vines: now upon my grace, and their converſion, I ſay the contrary.

from thence] From the head of the wilderneſs. The meaning is, as my people coming out of the wilderneſs, entred into a moſt fruitful Countrey; ſo mine elect coming out of extream ſpiritual miſery, ſhall enjoy mine abundant bleſſings. Others tranſlate it, from that time, meaning of her converſion.

and the valley of Achor] As the valley of Achor was to the Iſraelites, Joſh. 7. 24, 26. Eſay 65. 10. a moſt fruitful place, at the entrance of the country, ſo ſoon as they were come over Jordan; and by it are meant, the firſt favours which God beſtowed upon his, when they entred into the Church; which are to them certain pledges of the increaſe and accompliſhment of them.

for a door of hope] To open their hope; as Hierome, and Theodotian have it, and the whole territory of Jericho, although Achan there troubled Iſrael, Joſh. 7. yet was to the Iſraelites, a door and entrance into the land of Canaan; and, as a key, opened the door of their hope, and was an earneſt and pledge, that they ſhould ſpeedily poſſeſs it all; ſuch ſhall my bleſſings be to my people upon their converſion.

ſing] For joy of heart: ſing ſongs of Praiſes and Thankſgiving: ſing with Reſponds, as the word ſignifieth.

there] This may allude to that ſinging at vintage, Eſay 16. 10. Judg. 9. 27.

of her youth] She ſhall then praiſe God, as ſhe did when ſhe was delivered out of Egypt, Exod. 15. See Jer. 22. Ezek. 16, 60.

V. 16. And it ſhall be] The fruit of their repentance ſhall appear and be conſpicuous.

at that day] After thoſe grievous afflictions, and upon my grace for her converſion.

Iſhi] That is, my husband; knowing that I am joyned to thee by an inviolable Covenant. The people ſhould be mindful of their conjugal Covenant with God, and abide in it. Converſion of heart, and amendment of life, ever go together.

Baali] That is, my Lord. Baal, indeed, may ſignifie husband alſo, and is a name good in it ſelf; but becauſe this name had been profaned, by being given to idols, the Lord, in a kind, forbids it; and meaneth, that all contagions and mixture of idolatry, ſhould be cut off from his ſervice; upon a like occaſion is the word burden, forbidden, Jer. 23. 34, 35, 36.

V. 17. For I will take away] God expounds more fully what he had ſaid laſt before.

the names] See Exod. 23. 13. Pſal. 16. 4. Zach. 13. 2.

by their names] No Idolatry ſhall once come into their mouth, but they ſhall ſerve me purely according to my word. The relicks of Idolatry are to be aboliſhed, that nothing may hinder or retard us in the true and pure ſervice of God, 1 Theſſ. 5. 22. See Micah 5. 13.

V. 18. in that day] See on ver. 16.

I will make] They ſhall be bleſſed and happy all manner of wayes, in all manner of things.

a covenant for them with the beaſts] See Job 5. 22, 23. Eſay 11. 6, 8. Ezek. 34. 25. Pſal. 91. 1, 6, 13. when God is reconciled to us, all his creatures ſhall favour us: God will reduce them to the rule of their firſt creation, to obey and ſerve us as they did Adam. As on the other ſide, they ſerve him, as his hoaſt, againſt us, Amos 5. 19. Joel 2. 11, 20. The meaning is, That God will ſo bleſſe them, that all creatures ſhall favour them. A figurative deſcription of the Churches ſpiritual peace, under the Goſpel. For this propheſie extends it ſelf to the Kingdome of Chriſt.

break the bow] Pſal. 46. 9. Eſay 2. 4. & 54. 17. Ezek. 39. 9. break their enemies, and their forces. And bring in all peace, including all earthly felicity.

ſafely] and ſecurely, under the wings of Gods protection, Prov. 3. 26. Eſay 12. 2. Pſal. 91. 1.

V. 19. betroth thee] An honourable reception. I will forgive and forget thy former whoredomes, as if thou hadſt never broken wedlock; I will take thee anew, as a pure Virgin. I will re-eſtabliſh my covenant of grace with thee, not onely to to obſerve that faith which is required in all Covenants; but alſo to forgive thee thy ſins; and not to take notice of thine unworthineſſe, Pſal. 121. 5.

for ever] That Matrimonial conjugal covenant was temporary, terminable, failable; This, firme and ſtable for ever.

in righteouſneſſe] Upon theſe terms and conditions following; in ſincerity and integrity, without fraud or guile.

in loving kindneſſe] My love, and mercies ſhall maintain this marriage.

V. 20. betroth thee] Thrice repeated, to ſhew the zeal and conſtancy of God in making and maintaining this marriage. And to meet with the incredulity of the people, who out of fear and deſperation, through their own guiltineſſe, could hardly be perſwaded that this was a thing credible.

in faithfulneſſe] With an invariable fidelity and conſtancy to maintain my covenant of grace with mine Elect, notwithſtanding all their defects, Zach. 8. 8. Rom. 3. 3, 7. God performed his part in the former Covenant: The people broke. God here promiſeth for both. See Jer. 31. 32, 33, 34. & 24. 7. & 33. 15, &c. Ezek. 36. 25. &c.

and thou ſhalt know the Lord] Jer. 31. 34. Joh. 6. 45. In the knowledge of whom our felicity doth conſiſt, Jer. 9. 23, 24. Joh. 17. 3.

V. 21. in that day] See on verſ. 18. He minds them ſtill of Gods gracious covenant.

I will hear the heavens] Theſe acceſſions ſhall finde place, after God hath once betrothed us unto himſelf, Rom. 8. 32. Mat. 6. 33. As brown paper and packthred are given into the bargain, Zech. 8, 12. See on Hag. 1. 10, 11. and on Amos 4. 7. God is the father of rain, Job 38. 28. and 28. 26. & 5. 10. & 36. 27. & 37. 6, 11, 13. He will cauſe theſe earthly bleſſings to glide along with his ſpiritual bleſſings.

Hear the earth] The earth, when parched with drought, ſeems to open her mouth and crave for the rain of heaven.

V. 22. Hear the corn] The earth moiſtned by the heavens, ſhall vigorouſly nouriſh her fruits, for the ſuſtenance and comfort of Gods people. He oppoſeth this, to that in the 9. verſe.

Hear Jezreel] Men in extreme neceſſity, do urgingly cry for, and call upon theſe bleſſings, corn, wine, &c. Though in themſelves they are Jezreel, not Iſrael; yet God will thus prevent them with his favour and bleſſings. Others thus, The Word whereby Gods people had been called, by way of threatning and curſe, Chap. 14. is here changed, in a meaning of Grace and Promiſe: For Jezreel may alſo ſignifie him, whom God ſoweth, or ſhall ſow.

V. 23. I will ſow her unto me] Here is an alluſion to the word Jezreel, from the word זרע, ſeed. This foretels the wondrous multiplication of the Church. See Jer. 31. 27. Eſay 60. 22. Zech. 10. 8, 9. as grain multiplieth, ſowen in ſome rich and fat ſoyl; as Gen. 26. 12. Mat. 13. 8.

and will have mercy] Notwithſtanding that, verſ. 6. & Chap. 1. 6, 7, 8, 9. yet he excepts a remnant, which ſhall thus marvailouſly multiply in the dayes of the Goſpel chiefly, and in the Kingdom of Chriſt. See Rom. 9. 26. 1 Pet. 2. 10.

upon her that had not] That is to ſay, My people, called by theſe names, Hoſ. 1. 8, 9, 10. notwithſtanding that, verſ. 6. yet here he promiſeth to except a remnant.

I will ſay to them] Rom. 9. 26. 1 Pet. 2. 10.

CHAP. III.

Verſ. 1. THen] The Prophet, by Gods command, loves and buyes an adultreſs, and layes a charge upon her, to abide for him for many dayes. Thereafter applyes this Type to Iſrael, to the long time of deſolation in their State, Civil, and Eccleſiaſtical. And foretels their converſion, and reſtauration afterwards.

Go] God here puts a caſe, propounds a picture, or image, before the eyes of his people, wherein they might behold their own ſtate and condition. This ſerves for a ſign, that God had often renewed his Covenant with his people, forgiving them their ſins which were paſt: as in ſpecial under Jehu his reign, 2 King. 9. & 10. Chapters.

yet] This hath reference to that, Chap. 1. verſ. 2. That hereby, God doth yet more plainly and fully repreſent the ſame thing, in effect, to their eyes and ſenſes, then formerly he did.

love] He doth not ſay, Take to thee for a wife. This muſt alſo be underſtood the ſame way, and in the ſame ſenſe, as Chap. 1. 2.

a woman] To be eſpouſed to thee firſt; not married, till a long time after, verſ. 3. Chap. 15. 19.

beloved of her friend] Her husband; or rather, ſome lover; as Jer. 3. 1. The LXX. wrongfully read thus, Beloved being evil.

yet an adultreſs] Falſe to him.

according to the love] The key and opening of the meaning of all this, here commanded. This ſhews the peoples ſhameleſs ſin and ingratitude; and Gods boundleſs goodneſs and mercy, that loves even his adulterous people; loves them, even when he doth ſeverely chaſtiſe them.

children of Iſrael] So again named, verſ. 4. & 5. The application of this Parable. Yet ſome underſtand this whole parable, not of Iſrael; but of Judah.

who look] Are vigilant, and ſeek eagerly after them, dote upon them. See Numb. 15. 39.

other gods] Such in their mad opinions; but ſuch falſely, 1 Cor. 8. 5, 6. This is their adultery; they place their faith, hope, and love, in, and upon them.

flagons of wine] Heb. of grapes. Wine is called the blood of grapes, Deut. 32. 14. Idolaters in ſacrifices uſed to feaſt, Judg. 9. 27. Amos 2. 8. 1 Cor. 10. 21. Or, hereby in general, he may intimate their deſolute manner of living, which is the ordinary companion of Idolatry; ſee Exod. 32. 6. 1 Cor. 10. 7. even as corporal fornication, draws gluttony and drunkenneſs along with it. Idolatry and Epicuriſm uſually go together.

V. 2. ſo I bought her] Not I hired her; as the LXX. have it, ἐμισθωσάμην; I bought her: I had no dowry with her, as husbands uſually have. Or this may have relation to the ancient cuſtom, by which husbands did beſtow dowries upon their wives, or purchaſe them, Gen. 29. 18, 27. & 34. 12. 1 Sam. 18. 25. This may ſignifie the ſlaviſh condition wherein the Church is, till God doth redeem and purchaſe her. For ſlaves onely were bought and ſold, Eſay 43. 24. Eph. 5. 25.

for fifteen] Fifteen ſheckles: That is, One pound ſeventeen ſhillings ſixpence. This was the valuation of him that was above ſixty years old, Lev. 27. verſ. 7. The Homer of Barley, or the land of an Homer, whoſe rate was fifty ſhekels, Lev. 27. v. 16. was his value that was between twenty and ſixty, verſ. 3. But this text hath little or no reference to that place. See Ezek. 45. 11, 12. and the Annotator there, and Exod. 16. 36. and on Exod. 21. 32.

half homer] Heb. letheeh. Likely all this was but a baſe price. But haply we may be too curious after ſuch inquiſitions.

V. 3. abide for me] Sit down for me; as this word is uſed, Exod. 24. 14. That is, ſtay and wait, and expect; abide unmarried, till fit time ſhall come for me to take thee to wife. See Deut. 21. 13. Or I will ſeparate thee from me for ſome time; keeping thee, as it were, ſhut up, to hinder thy unſtayedneſs; until I take to me again, as I intend to do, not putting thee away for ever. I will try ſo whether thou wilt ſeriouſly and ſincerely repent; and neither marry another, nor commit adultery with a lover; as it after follows.

ſo will I] He abandons the body of the people, Chap. 1. 9. He ſpeaks here to the Elect remnant. There he ſhews his juſtice; Here his mercy, and the conſtancy of his love towards them; that no unworthineſs of theirs ſhall break it off. As ſhe ſhall abide for him, ſo he will abide, and be bound and found faithful to her: She ſhall not not wait in vain, neither without good cauſe why.

V. 4. the children of Iſrael] The explication, and application of the tipe. By this figure, I will have thee to ſet forth the ſtate of thy people; which for their idolatries ſhall be ſeparated from the grace and communion of their God: without any, kingdom or form of common-wealth; and without any exerciſe of religion, unleſs of idolatry; until the time of their converſion to God by the Goſpel.

many dayes without a king] From the ſixt year of Hezekiahs reign, when Salmaneſer carried away the ten Tribes, untill Chriſt by his Death and Reſurrection, conquered the enemies of mans ſalvation, and was conſtituted the King of his Church, were years ſix hundred ſeventy five, or there about. Some yet underſtand this of Judah, and their captivity in Babylon.

and without a ſacrifice] The Iſraelites did imitate the worſhip at Jeruſalem.

image] Heb. a ſtanding, or ſtatue. See 2 King. 17. 1.

ephod] The name of a Prieſtly garment, Exod. 28. 4, 40. Under which is comprehended all the ſervice of the Church. There was one for the High Prieſt, moſt curious and coſtly, Exod. 28. 6. &c. And another ſort for the reſt of the Prieſts, Exod. 28. 40. called coats, and linnen ephods, 1 Sam. 22. 18. Beſides the Linnen breeches mentioned, Exod. 28. 42.

Teraphim] Exod. 28. 4. Gen. 31. 19, 30. Judg. 17. 5. & 18. 14, 17, 18, 20. They ſhall want, both Kingdom and Prieſthood; Church and Polity, wherein they truſted; they ſhall be without any form of Religion, right or wrong; that they might ſee their miſery, and learn to flye to, and rely upon, Gods mercy.

V. 5. Afterward ſhall] Now they run headlong after their idolatries. But after ſo long, and ſo many miſeries and judgements; they ſhould ſurceaſe and abandon that courſe. And therefore they ſhould the more patiently undergo thoſe chaſtiſements, for the good and benefit they ſhould reap by them.

return] Repenting; as the ſequel ſhews.

and ſeek] That they may be ſafe under his Regal power and protection.

the Lord their God] Not their Baalims, or vain gods; but Jehovah the true Lord and their God, upon their repentance.

and David their king] The Meſias, Davids ſon according to the fleſh. See Jer. 30. 9. Ezek. 34. 23, 24. & 37. 24. Matth. 9. 27. Apoc. 22. 16. In whom Davids kingdom, according to promiſe, was eternal, Pſal. 72. 17. And thus the learned Jewes themſelves expound this place.

fear the Lord] Pſal. 2. 11. and in reverence make haſte unto him. So Chap. 11. 11.

and his goodneſs] This is a filial fear; and ſure ſigne of Adoption, when we fear the Lord for his goodneſs ſake.

in the later dayes] Eſay 2. 2. Heb. 1. 1.

CHAP. IV.

Verſ. 1. HEar] This Chapter ſeems to be a new Sermon. And herein we have Gods controverſie, in more particular manner, with the people and prieſts of Iſrael. Firſt, the peoples ſins are reckoned up: and Gods Judgements denounced for them. Then the Prieſts ſins; and Threatnings for them. Again, the Peoples ſins, their Idolatries and whoredomes are told, and threatned. And after that Judah is warned; Iſrael and Ephraim are yet again charged with ſins and puniſhment. So that here are convictions of ſins, and predictions of puniſhments, gone over again, and again.

the Lord] Becauſe they would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he ſummons them before Gods tribunal, and ſhewes, God will plead his own cauſe, he will deal ſeverely with them, and make it appear that he hath good reaſon ſo to do.

hath a controverſie] a metaphor from Courts of Judicature; wherein parties contend in Controverſies one with another. Here God takes upon himſelf the perſon of an adverſary, to accuſe and convict his people. See Chap. 12. 2. Eſay 3. 13. & 7. 13. Jer. 25. 31. Micah 6. 1, 2. His controverſie will not be verbal only; but likewiſe in deeds, judgements, and puniſhments. Thus the Prophet intermixeth Threatnings, and Promiſes: Formerly giving hopes of mercies, leſt they ſhould deſpair; and now again returns to Threatnings, leſt hypocrites upon his promiſes ſhould preſume, and ſooth up themſelves thereupon, without true converſion, and reconciliation with God. This controverſie is the ſum of the Chapter.

inhabitants] Whole body of the people; which fill the land.

of the land] Or this land, relating to Canaan; as the article prefixt doth ſeem to import. See Deut. 18. 9.

becauſe there is] The cauſes of this controverſie; the heads of the Indictment, or Bill of charge. He chargeth home; as prophets uſe to do, and Preachers muſt, with ſuch flagitious ſinners. He begins with their ſins againſt the ſecond Table; becauſe by them a ſinner may be more eaſily convicted.

no truth] No ſincerity or fidelity, in heart, word, or deed.

nor mercy] Towards men, in their dealings one with another.

nor knowledge] as if there were no God in heaven, Pſal. 14. 1. The true knowledge of God is the fountain of all piety, as the want of it is the well-ſpring of all manner of ſinne and iniquity.

V. 2. By ſwearing] Sinners are hardly brought to the ſight and ſenſe of their ſins: and therefore he goes on, and brings their ſins upon the ſtage, that they cannot deny them; and inſiſts upon the ſorts, numbers, and greatneſſe of them; the more thereby to affect them. The words run in the infinitive mood, to ſwear, &c. as in ſome other languages is uſual. And the word to ſwear, ſignifieth properly to curſe; as execrations are often joyned with oathes, Gen. 26. 28. & Chap. 31.

they break out] Of all bounds and bands of all Laws of Go and man; ragingly without any mean, or meaſure; like the breakings out and inundations of waters; as Joel 3. 13.

toucheth blood] Heb. bloods. In every place appeareth a liberty to moſt hainous vices; ſo that one followeth in the neck of another. And the blood-Royal, of Zachariah, Shallum, Pekahiah, Pekah, being all ſlain, touched each other, 2 King. 15. There is a connexion and concatenation of capital crimes, all over, every where, no place left free.

V. 3. land mourn] a deſcription of an extreme and univerſal deſolation, as Jer. 4. 25. & 12. 4. Thus by deeds God contends with them. The Land ſhall bear the marks of Gods wrath, being left deſolate and void of her Inhabitants.

languiſh] and pine away with deſperate grief and ſorrow.

with the beaſts] Theſe creatures were made for the uſe of man. And here he is puniſhed in them: as if in deteſtation of ſome flagitious perſon one ſhould overthrow his houſe, and burn all the houſhold-ſtuff was in it. This here is an hyperbolical expreſſion. The LXX. adde here, and with the creeping things of the land.

V. 4. yet let no man ſtrive] Notwithſtanding theſe great and publick ſins, in which the falſe prophets do flatter and ſooth up the people, let not the true Prophets, nor any good man, (for it would be all in vain, and labour loſt, Mat. 7. 6. Ezek. 3. 26.) profane my word, by ſpeaking it to thoſe obſtinate and hardened rebels; I will contend with them by effects, and puniſhments, and no more by words and reproofs. So this agreeth with what was ſpoken ver. 1. See Gen. 6. 3. and that, Amos 5. 13.

ſtrive with the Prieſts] Sin with an high hand, preſumptuouſly: as guilty, as thoſe that withſtand Gods right and power in the high Prieſt, Deut. 17. 12. See Num. 16. They will endure no reprover: which is the laſt degree of deſperate boldneſſe. See Rom. 2. 8. & 10. 21. The deſperateneſſe of their diſeaſe in ſinning, will not endure the plaiſter; they will ſtrive with, and reſiſt the Phyſitian; oppoſe them, and their office, whom God hath ſet over them for this very purpoſe; If they handle their ſoares roughly, they will fly out upon them. See Jer. 18. 18. & 15. 10. & 20. 2, 7. & 26. 8, 11. & 29. 26, 27. Amos 2. 12. & 7. 10—14.

V. 5. Therefore] Thus again God will contend with blowes. Sin ſhall not ſo paſſe without its puniſhment.

ſhalt thou] Every one of you. He directeth his ſpeech to each particular perſon among the people.

fall] Chap. 13. 16. & 14. 1. Jer. 6. 15. & 8. 12. Prov. 11. 5.

in the day] Even at noon day; openly in the ſight of all. Some tranſlate it, to day, that is, within a ſhort time.

and the prophet] The falſe prophet.

ſhall fall with thee] Follow in his order, and accompany thee, in thy puniſhment.

in the night] Preſently, as the night ſucceedeth the day, and in a continued ſeries and ſucceſſion are joyned together.

deſtroy] Heb. cut off.

thy mother] Samaria, or the whole body of the Kingdome; or the Church; in whoſe name they prided themſelves; as the Papiſts do at this day. The vulgar Latine tranſlates thus, nocte tacere feci matrem tuam. The LXX. νυκτὶ ὡμοίωσα τὴν μητέρα σου. Both miſ-joyning night (which yet hath an Athnach upon it) to the words following: And the LXX. reading דִּמִּיתִי for וְדָמִיתִי

V. 6. My people] God here begins to fall upon the Prieſts; and chargeth them with ſloath, and ignorance; and that by their default, not doing their duty in teaching, his people periſhed for want of inſtruction and knowledge, Mat.15.14. Ezek. 33.6. Prov.29.18. Eſay 5.13.

becauſe thou haſt rejected] Their chief duty is to teach and inſtruct, Lev.10.11. Deut.33.9,10. Mal.2.7. 2 Chron. 17.8,9. And therefore they themſelves muſt not be without knowledge. But the Prieſts of the Iſraelites, of the Ten Tribes, of whom here he ſpeaketh, did reject this knowledge in an high degree.

forgotten] This may be underſtood either of the prieſts, or people, or of both together; For the Prophet is quick and conciſe, ſpeaks ſometimes in his own perſon; anon in Gods perſon; ſometimes to the people, ſtraight to the prieſts, and quickly to the people again. And likely the people willingly would forget the Law, and not have the threatnings of it ſtill thundering in their ears; they were well contented with ſuch Idol, and idle Prieſts, and dumb dogs that could not, or would not bark. The knowledge of the Law of God made mainly againſt prieſts and people of the ten Tribes.

I will alſo forget] Thee, and thine; thy ſelf, and thy poſterity, they ſhall not be remembred, nor reckoned in my Covenant.

V. 7. as they were encreaſed, ſo] Namely, in dignity and authority; ſo referring this to the Prieſts. Or if we refer it to the people, then, as they were increaſed in number, riches, and all manner of Bleſſings, ſo they took the more liberty and boldneſſe to ſin againſt God. Which argues the more their ingratitude, and impiety againſt him.

therefore will I change] It is Gods doing; the enemies were but Gods inſtruments. The Targum thus; they have changed.

their glory] Their proſperity wherewith they made themſelves drunk, and wherein they ſo gloried, Phil.3.19. Or rather, underſtanding it of the Prieſts, their prieſtly Prerogatives wherein they gloried, ſhould be turned to their ſhame, Mal.1.9,10. & 2.2,3,9.

V. 8. They eat up] They fatten themſelves with the ſacrifices which my people offer for their ſins, and are greedy after them; and take no care of their converſion, but rather willingly ſuffer them to multiply their ſins, and foſter them therein for the ſacrifices ſake.

the ſin] Sacrifices for ſin, Exod.29.14.

ſet their heart on their iniquity] Heb. lift up their ſoul to their iniquity. Deut.24.15. Jer.22.27. The prieſts hearts are ſet on it, and glad at it, at the peoples ſins and iniquity. And the peoples hearts and ſouls are ſet on, and lifted up to their iniquity, heartned to it, and hardned in it, by the prieſts meanes; perſwaded by them, as if their conſciences were diſcharged, and themſelves quit of the guilt of their ſins, by thoſe very ſacrifices; and therefore relying upon the virtue and efficacy of them, they might ſin the more freely and boldly. Thus the covetouſneſſe of the prieſts corrupted the right end and uſe of the ſacrifices, and turned them to the clean contrary.

V. 9. like people like Prieſt] Eſay 24. 2. ſignifying, that as they have ſinned together, ſo ſhall they be puniſhed together, without any difference or reſpect had of their office. The prieſts ſhould not onely be ſpoyled of their honour, and made to differ in nothing from the common people, but both ſhould undergo the ſame common Judgment; both puniſhed, as after followeth. The Prieſts of and among the Iſraelites were no true prieſts indeed, neither in deſcent, nor doctrine, ver.6. But yet that account and reputation they had among them, as ſuppoſed to be ſuch, they ſhould loſe it alſo.

puniſh them] Heb. viſit upon. See on Chap.1.4.

reward them their doings] Heb. cauſe to return, Chap. 12. 2. Jer.32.19. Eſay 65.6. Prov.24.12. Pſal.94.23. 2 Chr.6.23.

V. 10. For they ſhall eat] Lev. 26. 26. Hag.1.6. Micah 6. 14. Not meat, but Gods bleſſing, is the ſuſtenance of man, Mat. 4. 4. Though the prieſts eat the ſin of the people, ver.8. yet they ſhall not be ſatisfied, Ezek.7.19. Quo plus ſunt potæ plus ſitiuntur aquæ.

commit whoredom and ſhall not encreaſe] The vulgar Latine thus; They have committed whoredome, and ceaſed not. The LXX, οὐ κατευθύνωσιν, ſhall not be directed, or righted. The true meaning by according to the true Hebrew; to ſhew that their wickedneſſe ſhall be puniſhed on all ſorts and ſides; for though they think by the multitude of wives, or whoredome, to have many children, yet they ſhall be deceived of their hope; Chap.9.14. In vain do ſinners ſeek and hope to obtain their deſires by unlawful means.

to take heed to the Lord] Zech.11.11. and to his word and worſhip, Jer.6.13,17. & 5.7. & 9.13. & 16.11. Eſay 1.4.

V. 11. whoredome] The LXX. as now we have it, do much alter and corrupt the true reading, and meaning of this verſe, and of the 12,14,15,17,18,19. verſes following. The vulgar Latine, much better. The meaning of this 11. verſe is, That their abundance makes them run into all riot, in carnal ſinfull pleaſures.

take away the heart] ver.12. So drown them, and make them drunken, that they become like bruit beaſts; deprive them of the uſe of common ſenſe and reaſon; and have not the hearts of men, to heed the Lord, and his Judgments againſt their ſins, either threatned to come, or though preſently inflicted upon them, Prov.23.33.

V. 12. My people] Thus he ſpeaketh by deriſion, in calling them his people, which now for their ſins they were not. Or this aggravateth their ſin, that being his people, at leaſt in profeſſion, they ſhould thus fall to Idolatry. The LXX. thus, The heart of my people embraceth whoredome, and wine, and new wine, &c. joyning my people, to the former verſe.

ask Counſel] Inſtead of ſeeking after Gods Oracle, to have Counſel given them in difficult caſes.

at their ſtock] Or, block; Namely, their Idols, made of wood, Jer.2.27. & 3.9. Eſay 40.20. & 44.14—18. He calls them thus in way of greater deteſtation, and to ſhew their greater madneſſe and brutiſhneſſe.

their ſtaffe] Pointing at their madneſſe again. Some think he hath relation to an ancient manner of divining by ſtaves and rods; and hold that here are meant the rods of the Southſayers and Magicians; as thoſe, Exod.7.12. Others, that this is ſpoken by way of Irony and deriſion; as Eſay 40.18,&c. And is as much as if a blind man ſhould ask counſel of his ſtaffe.

the ſpirit of whoredomes] Namely, the inclination and affection unto Idolatry; which is ſpiritual whoredome, kindled in the heart of man by the evil ſpirit. See Eſay 44. 20. The vehement and impetuous motions and commotions of the minde, are called in Scripture by the name of ſpirits: ſo the ſpirit of Jealouſie, Num.5.14. the ſpirit of lying, 1 King.22.23. a ſpirit of perverſities, Eſay 19.14. a ſpirit of ſlumber, or deep ſleep, Eſay 29.10. And ſo a ſpirit of uncleanneſſe, of errour, of giddineſſe. In all which the evil ſpirit the devil, hath a working hand.

them] Not in the Hebrew, but underſtood, as Chap. 2.7.

from under their god] Chap.1.2. from after their god; withdrawing their due ſubjection from him.

V. 13. They ſacrifice] This ſhewes the kind of their whoredome to be Idolatry. They pretended a good intention; and great zeal in their manner of worſhip. But that ſalves not the ſore. God declares this to be ſpiritual whoredome.

upon the tops] Idolaters uſually delight in high places, there to perform their worſhips. And hence we have ſo often mention of high places; as 1 King.3.2,3. & 12.31,32. & 15.14. & 22.44. 2 King.12.3. & 15.4,35.

of the mountains] Iſa.1.29. & 57.5,7,9. Ezek.6.13.

incenſe] See on Chap.2.13.

hills] Ezek.20.28. Jer.13.27. & 2.20. 2 King.17.10.

under oakes] Eſay 1.29. & 57.5,7. Ezek.6.13.

the ſhadow] Becauſe of the greatneſſe of the trees and leaves; they yeelded the more ſhade from the bright light, and ſcorching heat of the Sun in thoſe hot climates. Thus there is a ſhew and ſhadow of humane wiſdome in this part of their will-worſhips, as Col.2.23. But all this was againſt Gods expreſſe Law, that commanded the place for ſacrifice to be the Altar only in the Court of the Temple at Jeruſalem, Deut.12.2—7. 2 King. 18.22. Neh.10.34. And yet they did not ſtick to glory in their ſhame, in exceeding and excelling the Jewes in the numerous multitudes of their Altars, and places of worſhip, Chap. 12. 11.

Therefore your daughters ſhall] Becauſe they take away Gods honour, and give it to Idols, therefore he will give them up to their luſts, that they ſhall diſhonour their own bodies, Rom. 1. 28. See Amos 7.17.

V. 14. I will not] Or, ſhall I not?

puniſh your daughters] Puniſh thoſe ſhamefull ſins in them; but let them run headlong in thoſe bad courſes. God will not vouchſafe his reſtraining grace; but deliver them up to their own vile luſts. See Gen.20.6. Rom. 1. 24,26,27,28. And ſo vindicate and revenge himſelf, and his glory, 1 Sam.2.30. By the other reading, God will moſt ſurely puniſh them, Heb. 13. 4.

nor your ſpouſes] Or, daughters-in-law. The word ſignifieth both.

commit adultery] Some underſtand this of their raviſhment by force; as enemies uſe in ſacking of cities. And ſo likewiſe they take that place, Amos 7. 17.

for themſelves are ſeparated with whores] They ſeparate themſelves from me, cut themſelves from my covenant and communion, by joyning themſelves to harlots, which were excommunicated from amongſt Gods people, Prov. 2. 16. & 6. 24. See of this ſeparation, Prov. 18. 1. Ezek. 14. 7. Hoſ. 9. 10. Jude 19.

ſacrifice with harlots] Like that, Numb. 25. 1, 2, 3. Thus they defiled themſelves with carnal and ſpiritual pollutions.

that doth not underſtand] verſ. 6. Their ignorance ſhall not excuſe them; they are willingly ignorant, and blindfold themſelves.

ſhall fall] See on v. 5. Fall, both into ſin and puniſhment.

V. 15. Though thou Iſrael] Leſs marvel though the Iſraelites did ſo; being brought to it, and accuſtomed in it, ever ſince the dayes of the firſt Jeroboam; neer two hundred years ago.

yet let not Judah offend] God turneth his ſpeech to Judah, willing them, that by the example of Iſrael they do not ſin, by whoredoms, in worſhiping Idols. Dangerous it was to Judah, to have ſuch, and ſo neer a neighbour, as Idolatrous Iſrael was. We are apt to receive contagion that wayes, 1 King. 11. 2. Judg. 3. 6, 9. which made God ſo often, and carefully forewarn his people againſt the like infections by the Canaanites, Deut. 7. 3, 4. Exod. 34. 15, 16. As here he doth, againſt the like danger by the Iſraelites. See Chap. 6. 11.

Gilgal] This was near Jordan, the Eaſt border of Jericho; not far from mount Gerizim, and Ebal, and Ai, and the valley of Acor. There Joſhuah pitched the twelve ſtones; and circumciſed the people, whence he named the place Gilgal: and there he kept the Paſſeover: ſee Deut. 11. 29, 30. & Joſh. 4. and 5. Chapters. And his conſtant Camp was there, Joſh. 9. 6. & 10. 6, 15, 43. And there he divided the land, Joſh. 14. 6. There was the Tabernacle and the Sacrifices. There they made Saul King before the Lord, 1 Sam. 11. 14, 15. There Samuel, in his circuit, kept Aſſizes, and hewed Agag in pieces before the Lord, 1 Sam. 7. 16. & 15. 33. After Jeroboam ſet up idolatry, there were in the dayes of Ahab and his ſons, the Prophets Elias, and Eliſeus, and a Colledg of Prophets in Gilgal; whoſe pottage Eliſeus healed; and for whom he multiplyed the loaves, 2 King. 2. 1. & Chap. 4. 38, 41, 43. This became a famous high place for idol-ſervice and ſacrifices; and ſo abominable. See Hoſ. 9. 15. & 12. 11. Amos 4. 4. & 5. 5. The LXX. as now we have it, do much miſ-read this verſe, and invert it.

Beth-aven] 1 King. 12. 29. It is the ſame as Bethel. And of Bethel, ſee on Chap. 10. 15. But becauſe Bethel ſignifies the Houſe of God, Gen. 28. 17. and that this place had been prophaned by the idolatry of the calves; the Prophets do often call it Beth-aven, that is to ſay, the houſe of an Idol, or the houſe of vanity, Hoſ. 5. 8. & 10. 5. Beſides, that neer unto Bethel, there was another place, called Beth-aven, Joſh. 7. 2.

nor ſwear] This form of oath is lawful; but not to be uſed by idolaters; as thoſe were in the former words. God would not have his name in the mouth of idolaters: See Pſal. 50. 16. nor would have his people to take the name of idols in their mouthes, Pſal. 16. 4. nor muſt his people uſe it, as idolaters do. They pretended they did ſwear by the true God, when they ſwore by theſe calves, Amos 8. 14. for the ten Tribes did profeſs that they worſhiped God, in them imitating Aaron, Exod. 32. 5. 2 King. 10. 16. which notwithſtanding was reproved by God. God cannot endure it, to be joyned with idols, 2 Cor. 6. 15. Zeph. 1. 5. Ezek. 20. 39.

V. 16. For Iſrael ſlideth back] Deut. 32. 15. Zech. 7. 11. See Pſal. 125. 5. & 78. 57.

as a lamb in a large place] Sheep are ſociable. A Lamb being alone, by its bleating, bewraies its fear and unquietneſs, and its deſire and ſeeking after the dam, and the flock, and ſhepherd, that it periſh not. God will put Iſrael in that caſe. Iſrael was a wanton heifer; the whole field and paſture could not contain and content her. God would tame her, and make her as this Lamb. Seeing they have been ſo rebellious, and have loved liberty ſo well, I will grant it them, but to their ruine; like to the liberty of a Lamb in the wilderneſs, where it would be expoſed to a thouſand dangers and miſeries. Unleſs he threaten them with the deſolation of the country, and with the ſmall number which ſhould remain in it.

V. 17. Ephraim] The ten Tribes, called by the name of their chief City. Whence was the firſt, and the moſt of their Kings; and where their head City Samaria was. Thus uſually is it taken, Eſay 11. 13. & 7. 17. & 17. 3. Jer. 7. 15. & 31. 9, 20. Pſal. 60. 7. & 108. 8. Hoſ. 6. 4. & 11. 8.

is joyned to idols] And that Tribe was the head-ſpring of all their Idolatry, 1 King. 12. 28. Targum thus; They have permitted to themſelves Idols. The LXX. thus; They have ſet to themſelves ſcandals.

Let him alone] A fearful diſmiſſion. That is, Thou Judah, or every Believer, have nothing to do with him; by conference of verſe 15. Others ſay, Such as are good amongſt them, let them be ſeparated from him to Judah, or ſome other faithful, 2 Cor. 6. 17. Or elſe, Let him be filthy ſtill, Ezek. 20. 39. Apoc. 22. 11. Or do thou Hoſea forbear further to deal with him, by preaching to reclaim him; For it will not be, he will not be drawn away from his idolatry. All theſe do not ſo much differ, but that they might be conjoyned.

V. 18. Their drink is ſowre] LXX. thus; ᾑρέτισε χαναναίους; miſ-reading סבאם for סבאם Targum thus; Their Princes multiply feaſtings with violence. Heb. is gone, dead, or ſtinks. A metaphor, or proverbial ſpeech, to ſet out the filthy corruption of the people, in their lives and religion. They are ſo given to ſwilling and gluttony, that they belch out, and caſt up ſtinking vomitings. They ſo ſwill in drink, and ingorge themſelves therewith, that over-charging their ſtomach, it growes ſowre in it. They ſin not in a common way, or keep any mean, or mediocrity in ſinning; but ſo exceed, as they are paſt all ſhame altogether, Pſal. 14. 3. Eſay 1. 22.

whoredom] Spiritual with images; not excluding the carnal whoredom.

rulers] Heb. ſhields, Pſal. 47. 9. The heads of the people, who ſhould have remedied, and curbed thoſe ſins and ſinners, and protect the people, do ſpoil them.

Give ye] Prov. 30. 15. They are ſo ſhamefully impudent in receiving bribes, that they will command men to bring them unto them: and ſo the Rulers baſe coveting of preſents, diſgraceth all the government; they make publike ſale of juſtice and right: ſee on Micah 7. 3. The foreſaid ſins commonly follow idolatry. LXX. thus, They loved ſhame by gifts.

V. 19. The wind] The denunciation of Gods judgments, and revenge upon them for their foreſaid ſins.

hath] Speaks of the time to come, as if it were already paſt and done, for the certainty of it.

bound her up in her wings] To carry them ſuddenly away, as it were, by a ſtrong puffe of wind, or a ſtorm. They ſhall be ſpeedily carried away into Captivity, as if upon the wings of the wind. See the phraſe, 2 Sam. 22. 11. repeated, Pſal. 18. 10. See Pſal. 1. 4. Ezek. 5. 3.

be aſhamed becauſe of their ſacrifices] Seeing themſelves fallen from the hope which they had conceived, of pleaſing God by them; and deceived in the truſt which they had put in them: or, they ſhall be diſgraced; that is to ſay, they ſhall fall into extreme miſery and ignominy, through their Idolatries, Jer. 2. 26, 27. Eſay 2. 20.

CHAP. V.

Verſ. 1. H*Ear*] This, and the two Chapters following, ſeem to belong to the ſame propheſie or Sermon. In this Chapter are ſins charged upon all, of all ranks, in Iſrael: Their Fall, and Judahs with them. And again are repeated, the ſins of both: And Gods Judgments againſt both. Theſe in this verſe, the prophet calls for, and commands audience.

O Prieſts] Whoſe function was to teach and correct others, and be good examples themſelves. Eccleſiaſtical perſons in the firſt place are called upon.

O houſe of the King] Kings are not exempted from obedience to Gods Will and Word. Though they, of all others, will ſtand upon their priviledges and prerogatives. Nor can they exempt themſelves from his Judgments; whereof they are the more worthy, as abuſing their high dignity, and truſt; and hurting more then others, by their ill example. And this may be extended to all Magiſtrates, Officers, Miniſters, and Counſellors of the King.

for judgement is toward you] Heb. for to you the judgement is. To you prieſts, and princes ſpecially; who ſhould have corrected and repreſſed others, and are the fountains of all evils your ſelves. The charge of teachnig, and doing right and juſtice belongeth to you, and ye have been the chief authors of extortion and injury, as is ſaid afterwards. Or, Judgement is comeing upon you, Mal. 2. 1. as it ſpeedily fell upon the houſe of Jeroboam, and his ſucceſſors. Think not that ye can any wayes eſcape and avoid it. Thus he ſummons and cites them to Gods tribunal. He will judge, and execute his Judgements upon them.

becauſe] Or, but.

a ſnare on Mizpah] Ye prieſts and princes have laid ſnares to intrap the innocent in their lives and goods: as theeves and robbers do for paſſers by, or fowlers do upon the hills of Mizpah, and Tabor. Mizpah ſignifieth a beacon or watch-tower, or place of ſpial and ſpeculation, Gen. 31. 49. And there were divers places of this name; one belonging to the tribe of Judah, Joſh. 15. 38. another to Benjamin, Joſh. 18. 26. another Mizpah of Gilead, Gen. 31. 49. Judg. 10. 17. & 11. 29. another of the Moabites, 1 Sam. 22. 3. This here ſeems to be neer Mount Hermon and Libanus, Joſh. 11. 3. and watch-towers are built on hills and mountains for the more ſpecious view and proſpect.

Tabor] We read of a City of that name, given to the Merarites out of the Tribe of Zebulun, 1 Chron. 6. 77. And of the plain of Tabor, where three men going up to God to Bethel, did meet Saul, 1 Sam. 10. 3. and of mount Tabor, Pſal. 89. 12. Jer. 46. 18. whither Barack drew his army, Judg. 4. 6, 12, 14. and where Gideons brethren were ſlain by Zebah and Zalmunna, Judg. 8. 18. On theſe two mountains, it ſeems hunting and fowling were uſed; whence theſe ſimilitudes are taken.

V. 2. And the revolters] Terms taken from ſuch as are high-way Robbers, which turn aſide, or lye in ambuſh, and hidden places, for mens eſtates, and lives. Others take them for revolters from the right Religion of Judah at Jeruſalem.

are profound] Deep, and deeply rooted in their own deviſes, wherein they pleaſe themſelves, and think to delude and deceive God; and ſo are obſtinate in their own ſuperſtitions, and contemne and reject all counſel, advice, and admonitions to reclaim them. Others rather, that they ſeek deep and ſecret hidden lurking places for to work their miſchief, and have deeply engaged themſelves, and made great progreſſe that way. So Chap. 9. 9. They have deeply corrupted themſelves. And ſo Eſay 31. 6. they have deeply revolted; that is, exceedingly.

to make ſlaughter] Some underſtand this of their ſacrifices; here contemptuouſly called ſlaughter; as Eſay 66. 3. But rather the literal meaning is to be embraced, as beſt agreeing with the context, that profundarunt (ut ita dicam) jugulationem, were deep and very far gone in blood and murder. And did it cunningly, that they might not be found out, and convinced of it; Chap. 4. 2. See ſuch crafty and ſubtile oppreſſors ſet out in their colours, Pſal. 10. 9, 10. Targum thus; They ſay very many ſacrifices to Idols.

though] Or, and.

a rebuker] Heb. a correction; that is, I that am the ſupreme Lord, will look over and correct their judgments, and make theſe falſe Judges give an account. I will be he that ſhall reprove and puniſh all theſe iniquities, Job 24. 18. Hoſ. 8. 9. Or this they did, though I did rebuke them by my Prophets, and labour their amendment; which takes away all excuſe from them, and aggravates their crime: yet ſome would make the meaning this, And I have been rebuked of them all. Like that, Chap. 4. 4. & Lam. 3. 14. & Pſal. 22. 6, 7. & 69. 9.

V. 3. I know Ephraim] They boaſted themſelves not onely to be Iſraelites, but alſo Ephraimites, becauſe their King Jeroboam came of that Tribe. And that was the chief Tribe of the ten: and they pretended many colours and ſhews of excuſes and defences for themſelves, under which they thought to hide and ſhelter themſelves. But all in vain. If they knew not themſelves, yet God did know them, and tells them ſo, that his eyes could not be blinded with ſuch ſmoaky ſhifts.

is not hid] The thing he knew. For all their ſhifts and ſhufflings, pretences and defences, they were yet in all their will-worſhip of their own deviſings, but whoriſh and filthy Idolaters, when they left the rule of the Word and Law of God.

V. 4. They will not frame their doings] Heb. They will not give. Or, their doings will not ſuffer them: Or their works will not ſuffer them to be converted. The Prophet may be conceived to ſpeak this, either in the Perſon of God, or in his own perſon. They are ſo drowned in their Idolatries and ſins, ſo devoted to them, that they are paſt hope of amendment; ſo mancipated to them, that their minds will not give way to them, or they give their minds to return. No hope remains, as Chap. 4. 17. They think no wayes of any reconciling, returning to God.

their God] That had been theirs, by Covenant, and is by their profeſſion; that had dealt with them as a gracious God, and was yet ready, upon their returning, to receive them.

for the ſpirit] Chap. 4. 12. They ſo pleaſe them in their whoriſh wayes, the Devil hath ſo madded them, that now without all ſhame, as whores in publick ſtewes, they act their filthineſſe.

not know the Lord] This is not to extenuate their fault, but amplifies it, That they have baniſhed from them the true knowledge of the Lord, ſhut their eyes againſt it.

V. 5. And the pride] In contemning Gods Will and Word in his, and by his Prophets; proudly bearing out themſelves; againſt them, without fear, yea haughtily ſcorning their reproofs. Some here would underſtand God himſelf to be called the pride and glory of Iſrael, as Amos 8. 7. And to like purpoſe would wreſt thoſe places, Nah. 2. 2. 1 Sam. 15. 29. as the Temple is called the excellency of Jacob, Amos 6. 8.

teſtifie] Needs no other witneſſe. This their impudent boldneſſe in ſinning, and contemning of God, makes them notoriouſly guilty, and altogether inexcuſable, Chap. 7. 10. Eſay 3. 9. The others make God here to witneſſe againſt them; as Ruth 1. 21. Job 10. 17. Micah 1. 2.

therefore] In vain they promiſe to them impunity.

Judah alſo] Mercy was promiſed to Judah, Chap. 1. 7. But this is ſpoken here of ſuch degenerate Jews as fall off, and joyne themſelves to the Iſraelites, and their Idolatries.

V. 6. They ſhall go with their flocks] To offer ſacrifices. By them to ſeek counſel and help of God, and to win his favour. And they ſhall be ſtudious and earneſt in this kind, ſpare no coſt or pains; but abound in their ſacrifices, Micah 6. 7. And they truſted in, and by, their ſacrifices, to pleaſe and pacifie God. This men are apt to truſt in outward rites and exerciſes of Religion, and ſecurely to reſt there; which yet are but helps to faith in Chriſt, and repentance for ſin: yea many times they are the bolder to ſin, when they think they have ſuch means of expiation ready at hand; and have their good intentions withal, by thoſe means to ſeek the Lord.

But they ſhall not find him] All aforeſaid is in vain altogether, whiles they remain ſinners, continuing therein, Prov. 1. 28. Eſay 1. 15. Jer. 11. 11. Ezek. 8. 18. Micah 3. 4. Joh. 7. 34. & 9. 31. God mainly requires the heart and inner man; ſpiritual ſervices and ſacrifices. They abuſed the true end of the ſacrifices: their outward ſervices, though never ſo many, ſhall not ſerve their turn, and ſave them. God will forſake them, as ver. 15. Ezek. Chap. 20.

from them] From ſuch a kind of ſeekers and worſhippers.

V. 7. treacherouſly] Like an adulterous woman which conceives and brings forth by others, more then by her huſband, Jer. 3. 20. The meaning is, the peoples corruptneſs ſheweth it ſelf in this; that publick orders ſerve for nothing, but to make them fitting for Idolatry, and not to turn and amend them. Treacherouſly breaking his Covenant, and proſtituting themſelves to Idols.

ſtrange children] Of ſtrange women; ſo mingling the holy ſeed with the Heathen: And thoſe likely brought up as ſtrangers to God, and his people, in the ſuperſtitions, and Idolatries of the Heathen. Contrary to that, Deut. 7. 3, 4. Or elſe, children like themſelves, brought up by them in the ſame apoſtaſie, and continuing in the ſame treachery, ſo that now it grows to be hereditary, and no hope is left remaining; and I cannot call them my children, for the children of Abraham, but ſtrange children, Eph. 2. 12.

a month] Their deſtruction is not far off, or a ſhort time will ſerve for to root them quite out. See Zach. 11. 8. 2 King. 15. 13. Or elſe month may be taken here, as Jer. 2. 24. and ſo, that their own deſperate diſſoluteneſſe and looſeneſſe of life ſhall devour and conſume them, as it were, by peece-meal.

devour them] as a gulph ſwallow them up.

with their portions] as formerly out of Jer. 2. 24. Or, elſe, the portions of their wealths, and ſtrengths, their victuals, ammunitions, and fortifications.

V. 8. Blow ye the cornet] Here the Prophet, as an Herald from heaven, not a Prophet, proclaimeth war, ſeeing his former warnings and threatnings would not ſuffice. As God commanded Ezekiel to lay a ſiege, Ezek. 4. That they may know, God threatned not in vain; but his executions ſhall follow his threatnings cloſe at the heel. The wicked counted the Prophets words but vain; but here God himſelf cometh ready armed, to take revenge.

in Gibeah] A repreſentation of the enemies ſudden coming: as it were by a ſignal given from theſe high places of Benjamin, which bordered upon the Kingdome of the ten Tribes, 1 King. 15. 21, 22. Gather Souldiers, prepare for defence; yet all ſhall not ſerve; neighbouring ſtrengths ſhall be but a vain confidence. Of Gibeah, ſee on Chap. 9. 9.

in Ramah] There was Ramah in Naphtali, Joſh. 19. 36. And Ramah of Zophim, 1 Sam. 1. 1, 19. where Samuel was born, dwelt, Judged Iſrael, dyed, and was buried. And Ramah of Benjamin, Joſh. 18. 25. neer to Gibeah, Judg. 19. 13. 1 Sam. 22. 6. Eſay 10. 29. and bordering upon Judah. There Rachel was buried, neer Bethlehem. Whence is that, Jer. 31. 15. Mat. 2. 18. And this ſeems to be meant in this place.

cry aloud] A third repetition, in this verſe.

at Beth-aven] A city differing from Bethel, and ſituate between Ephraim, and Benjamin, Joſh. 7. 2. & 18. 12. belonging to the Kingdome of Iſrael.

After thee, O Benjamin] The City of Beth-aven being a little beyond Benjamins Countrey. Or, thus, Benjamin and Judah after Ephraim and Iſrael, ſhould prepare themſelves to ſuffer the calamities of war.

V. 9. Ephraim ſhall be deſolate] Here deſolation, deſtruction, and devaſtation is denounced; and that by reaſon of their deſperate and irrecoverable ſtate in ſin. And indeed the kingdom of the ten Tribes never recovered their eſtate again, after their deſolation by Shalmaneſer, 2 King. 17.

among the tribes of Iſrael have I made known] I do not ſuddenly, raſhly, or ſlily proceed to vengeance, but make it known before. Or thus, in the perſon of the Prophet, I have done my duty, and made known, among all the people, the wrath to come; as Ezek. 33. 7, 8. ſo that the people may thank themſelves, if they will be wilfully blind and beſotted.

ſhall ſurely be] By the ſucceſs, they ſhall ſurely know that I have determined this, which they ſlight as uncertain, if they be not careful, by timely repentance, to prevent it. And ſo he goes on to deal againſt both, to the end of the Chapter: This wrath and vengeance, is firmly and irrecoverably determined by God; not conditionally threatned, as moſt commonly it is; but they being deſperate in ſin, without hope of repentance, it is preciſely and abſolutely decreed and denounced; ſo that none may conceipt any hope of eſcaping it.

V. 10. The Princes of Judah] To them of Judah alſo, he was a Prophet, Chap. 1. 1. And Judah was not free of ſin, though not ſo ſinful as Iſrael. And the Princes, they the fountains of all evil; Magnates, magnetes; they confounded all, that ſhould have kept all right and in order.

that remove the bound] They ſhould be as boundaries of land, to ſet and keep all things right and ſtraight. But they do violate all lawes, which are the publike bounds of every ones right: and in their judgements do overthrow particular mens titles, concerning the lawful poſſeſſions of their goods. The haynouſneſs of this crime appears, Deut. 19. 14. and Chap. 27. 17.

like water] Like a cloud, or deluge of waters, moſt abundantly; the greater ſhall my wrath and vengeance be againſt them.

V. 11. Ephraim] Returnes to the Iſraelites.

is oppreſſed] And preyed upon. As Iudg. 4. 3. & 10, 8, 12.

and broken in judgment] By the abuſe of publick orders, and officers, and Gods hand of judgment in it.

becauſe he willingly walked] Juſtly for this cauſe; Becauſe he walked after the commandement and traditions of men; and that willingly, becauſe he better liked them, then Gods commandements: as was ſpecially ſeen, in their willing following the commandement of Jereboam for idolatry, 1 King. 12. 28, 29. They were as ready to obey, as he to command. Though to aggravate his ſin, he is ſaid to make them ſin, to drive them to it, 2 King. 17. 21. Some with the LXX. tranſlate thus, Becauſe he would, he went after vanity, or vain things; he willingly followed vanity; as Job 31. 5. 2 King. 17. 15. 1 Sam. 12. 21. The LXX. varies much more, in the verſion of this verſe. And the Targum thus, Their Judges turned themſelves to go aſtray after lying riches. Vulgar Latine thus, calumniam patiens eſt Ephraim, quoniam cæpit abire poſt ſordes.

V. 12. as a moth] I will cauſe them, by little and little, to conſume themſelves with diſorders, and inward evils, until they be quite overthrown, Iob 4. 19. Eſay 50. 9. & 51. 8. The LXX. hath ταραχη.

Judah] His ſin alſo is not without its puniſhment.

rottenneſs] Or, a worme, ſee Iob 13. 28.

V. 13. When Ephraim ſaw] The ſore, and the ſhift of both: they both ſee their ſickneſs and wound; but not the true cauſe of it, Gods wrath for their ſins. They feel the preſent ſmart; as bruit beaſts will do their blowes, and roar at them; but know neither the cauſe why, nor the means how to prevent them afterwards. So they ſaw the evils that did conſume them, but took not the right courſe to remove them.

then went Ephraim to the Aſſyrian] Menahem, King of Iſrael, required the aſſiſtance of Pul, King of Aſſyria, 2 King. 15. 19. Thus they repented not with theſe lingring puniſhments, but betook themſelves to vain ſhifts, and the arme of fleſh, to broken reeds; as is uſual with ſuch ſinners, in like caſe to do. They went not to God, as they ſhould have done. Chap. 14. 1, 2, 3. and Chap. 6. 1, 2. but they went to the Aſſyrian. Of the Aſſyrians, ſee the Annotations on Chap. 7. 11.

and ſent] That is, Iudah ſent: which is to be ſupplyed by analogy of what went before, and followes after. See 2 King. 16. 7. Both alike ſinned in this kind.

to King Jareb] Or, the king of Iareb; or to the king that ſhould plead, defend, and revenge them. Some think this to be the name of a King, or rather of his City, or Country, of ſome place or petty kingdom in Aſſyria. To Tiglah-pilneſer King of Aſſyria; Ahaz king of Iudah, ſent for help againſt Rezin King of Syria, and Pekah King of Iſrael, 2 King. 16. 7. 2 Chr. 28. and went not to God for help; but rather refuſed him, Eſay 7. 12, 13.

yet could he not] This ſhall not profit you in the end. It ſhall ſhew you your folly. The wiſe way is to run to God. All others, ſhall prove Phiſitians of no value.

V. 14. as a Lyon] In the end he will be more then a moath, and rottenneſs, when they will not repent upon lingring puniſhments, he will grow to be a very Lyon. This men get by ſeeking to vain helps againſt God. Nothing can reſiſt his hand. See Chap. 13. 8. Lam. 3. 10. Pſal. 17. 12.

and go away] A term taken from wild beaſts, which having taken any prey, do run away preſently, ſo that the prey cannot be recover'd from them: yet he will go away with the prey, not as a Fox, ſlyly and ſtealingly; but as a Lyon openly, daringly, and without any fear, of any reskew.

V. 15. return to my place] I will take away the preſence of my help and grace from them; as if I did ſhut my ſelf up in heaven, as if I would not care for them any more; and I will expect the iſſue of their behaviour upon my fierce wrath. See Eſay 18. 4.

till they acknowledge] Here are the two parts of repentance expreſſed.

they] Both Ephraim, and Judah; of both whom in the former verſes.

acknowledge their offence] Heb. be guilty, Lev. 26. 40, 41. Jer. 29. 12. Ezek. 6. 9. & 20. 43. & 36. 31.

and ſeek my face] And favour. See Pſal. 27. 8, 9. & 31. 16. & 44. 24. & 51. 9. & 80. 3, 7, 19. Eſay 55. 6.

in their afflictions they will] Here is the end and uſe, and fruit of afflictions, Pſal. 78. 34. & 83. 16. Judg. 3. 9, 15. & 4. 3. & 6. 6, 7. & 10. 10. & Eſay 26. 16.

early] That is, with all ſpeed, care, and induſtry, Job 8. 5.

CHAP. VI.

Verſ. 1. COme] An exhortation to both, to return to the Lord; upon his readineſs to heal and revive them. All means of converſion afforded to Ephraim, and Judah, and yet they all deal treacherouſly, Gilead, the Prieſts, Ephraim, and Judah.

and let us return] He ſheweth the people how they ought to return to the Lord, that he might call back his plagues. To others, it ſeemes to be a diſcourſe of the people repenting, being the ſequel of the precedent Chapter, ſo as they yield not to deſpair, but rather raiſe up themſelves to repent, and to hope in Gods mercies; each one beginning with himſelf, and then mutually exhorting one another, as the words do ſhew.

for he hath torn and] And indeed this is the courſe and cuſtome of God, He ſo ſmites, as willing to heal, though he tear as a Lyon, chap. 5. 14. yet leaves place for mercy; and in his puniſhments aimes at repentance. And the knowledge of this, and the apprehenſion and hope of mercy, is the very beginning of repentance, and induceth ſinners to it, Pſal. 130. 4. See Deut. 32. 39. 1 Sam. 2. 6. Job 5. 18. Eſay 30. 26.

bind us up] As a Chyrurgion, having laid on plaiſters, then binds up all.

V. 2. After two dayes] In a very ſhort time he will reſtore us; as it were from death to life, upon our repentance, Eſay 54. 7. The Jews underſtand the two dayes of their deliverance, from the Egyptians bondage, and Babylonian Captivity, and the third day of their redemption by the Meſſias. Others, hold it to be a ſecret propheſie of Chriſts reſurrection the third day after his death, 1 Cor. 15. 4. But this ſeemes too far-fetcht; and that place may not have relation to this text, but to other Scriptures: unleſs we hold according to that rule, That there are many propheſies concerning Chriſt, which firſt have their accompliſhments in others, as in Types, and after receive their full and perfect accompliſhment in him; as that, Chap. 11. 1. The true ſenſe is, that though God deliver them not the firſt, or ſecond day, but delay a while longer, yet they will patiently expect, and truſt ſtill, that aſſuredly at laſt he will deliver them. Thus they ſtrengthen themſelves in their faith and hope, though two dayes paſs without help; as Jer. 8. 20. A remarkable pattern hereof we may take to be that of our Saviour, 1 Cor. 15. 4. and we muſt be made conformable to our head, Rom. 8. 29.

live in his ſight] Here is their hope. In the ſight of God is all life and felicity, the life of grace and glory, Pſal. 16. 11. & 17. 15. Apoc. 7. 9. we ſhall live under his protection and favour, participating of his grace, and in his fear and obedience.

V. 3. Then ſhall we know] Naturally we are inclining and prone to doubt of Gods favour. Therefore the faithful continue, and go on to encourage themſelves in their comforts. And this is the exerciſe of their faith. Then ſhall we know, though now we ſee no ſuch thing. The light of life ſhall dawn at laſt, after this darkneſs, Rom. 1. 20. Pſal. 30. 5.

if we follow on] Or, how to follow, Joh. 8. 31, 32. If we manfully ſtrive to ſurmount all impediments which would otherwiſe hinder us from attaining that grace, which yet ſeems ſhut up from us.

his going forth] The manifeſtation of himſelf in grace and favour. Others thus, The manifeſtation of his Grace in his ſon, the knowledge of God, which ſhall be through Chriſt in the Goſpel, ſhall be in the appointed time, and ſhall keep its ordinary courſe, as the Sun doth at his riſing. See Judg. 5. 31. Prov. 4. 18.

as the rain] The fruit of this his appearing, and revealing of himſelf, See Job 29. 23. Pſal. 72. 6. It ſhall be as the rain watering the earth, and making it to fructifie.

as the later and former] So ſhall he ſeaſonably and abundantly ſhowr down his bleſſings upon us. The ſum is, we ſhall more and more increaſe in the knowledge of God, notional, and experimental: as the light of the morning doth hourly more and more increaſe, and grow fruitful by it, as the earth doth by the rain. Thus they go on in reckoning up the effects and benefits of Gods grace and bounty towards them, upon their repentance; He will heal us, revive us, and we ſhall live in his ſight, and know him, and find his gracious favour ſtill more and more. Thus the faithful increaſe in the knowledge of God, and truſt in him. The LXX. thus, ὡς ὄρθρον ἕτοιμον εὑρήσομεν αὐτόν.

V. 4. O Ephraim] The Prophets, as hath been ſaid, uſually add to their threatnings, ſome promiſe of hope and comfort, leſt the faithful ſhould deſpair. And again, to their Promiſes, ſome threatnings and exceptions, leſt hypocrites lay hold on the promiſes, which indeed belong not to them. For they had to do both with the whole body of the people that was corrupt; and alſo with a few godly ones amongſt them. Here the Prophet turns himſelf to the ſimilitude; and ſhewes they were incorrigible, incurable.

what ſhall I do unto thee?] A pathetical conteſtation, appealing to their own conſciences, in the matters following. See Ch. 11.8. Eſay 1.5. & 5.4. ſeeing your perverſneſs is ſo great, that ye cannot give way and place to my grace and goodneſs; what now ſhall I do unto thee?

O Judah] Judah in no better caſe: A thing the more deploreable.

your goodneſs] Or, mercy, or, kindneſs: All the ſhews you make of converting to me, of ſerving and fearing me, have no firmneſs nor continuance. He hath a relation likely to the frequent reformations of Gods worſhip, which were never of any long continuance among the children of Iſrael, longer then Gods Hand was on them, Chap.5.15.

as a morning cloud] Which is ſuddenly diſperſed at the riſing of the Sun.

early dew] Which is ſoon dryed up. Thy goodneſs had no continuance, no ſubſtance, or ſolidity in it.

V. 5. Therefore have I ſhewed them] Their former hardneſs and obduration in ſin cauſed God to deal hardly with them; an hard knot muſt have an hard wedge. They might thank themſelves they were ſo hardly dealt withall, and not complain of any ſeverity in God, they forced him to it, Eſay 28.21. Lam. 3.33. I have ſeverely reproved, chidden and threatned them by my Prophets, to ſet them upright; like as is done to a knotty and crooked piece of timber.

I have ſlain them] I have judged and condemned them to death. See 1 King.19.17. Jer.1.10. 2 Cor.10.5,6.

by the words] Gods Word is compared to a ſword, a rod, a ſtaff, an hammer, a fire, Eſay 11.4. Jer.23.29. Heb.4.12. Apoc.2. 16. for the force and effects of it. The Prophets duty, and the peoples, are to examine themſelves, how they are wrought upon by the Word.

and thy judgments are as the light] Or, that thy judgments might be as the light. My threatnings, and the ſentence which I have pronounced againſt them, hath every morning been declared unto them by my Prophets; as the light to ſhew them their duty, Jer.7.13. & 11.7. & 35.14. ſo that they could not pretend ignorance; which clears Gods juſtice, and convicts their contumacy. Some underſtand here the light; not of doctrine, but of Gods judgments and puniſhments, Eſay 26.9. Job 37.23,24. Apoc.15.4.

that goeth forth] Every morning: whence ſome would collect, that the morning was the time for the Prophets uſual teaching and preaching. Targum thus, Becauſe I admoniſhed them, ſending my Prophets, and yet they did not return; I will bring againſt them ſlayers, in as much as they have tranſgreſſed the word of my good pleaſure, my judgment is as the light that goeth forth.

V. 6. For I deſired] Hypocrites will alwayes have ſomewhat to alledge and pretend, and ſtick not to wrangle it out with God, whiles they are ſedulous in ceremonials and externals. So here, Our Saviour cites this text twiſe, Mat.9.13. & 12.7. and it agrees with that, 1 Sam.15.22.

mercy] Comprehends the duties of the ſecond Table.

and not ſacrifice] Comparatively; that is, more (as the word is after expreſſed) then ſacrifice. God condemns the abuſe onely, Eſay 1.11. & 29.1,2. Jer.6.20. Amos 5.25. Mar.12.33. The external worſhip of God, and all legal ceremonies, are underſtood hereby. The LXX. read the words thus, Will I have mercy, or ſacrifice? reading the words interrogatively, to the ſame ſenſe.

and the knowledge of God]. This comprehends the duties of the firſt Table. God here joyns both together. They muſt not be ſeparated.

more] The compariſon here expreſſed. The meaning is, both outward and inward worſhip of God, are injoyned, and to be conjoyned: which hypocrites pull aſunder, and reſt in the outward worſhip onely; which yet, without the inward, and without the real duties of the ſecond Table, is of no value and eſteem but odious to God, Pſal.50.8. Jer.7.21,22. Eſay 66.3. He ſheweth to what ſcope his doctrine tended, that they ſhould joyn the obedience of God, and the love of their neighbour, with outward ſacrifice; for elſe outward ſacrifice will not ſatisfie God.

V. 7. But they like men] Heb. like Adam, the firſt ſinner of all, who brake Gods firſt Covenant with mankind; whence followed the general curſe upon all men. See Job 31.33. Iſa.43.27. Or, as if it had been the Covenant of ſome mean man, Gal.3.15. See 2 Cor.3.3.

there] Where, and when as I dealt with them, as is expreſſed, ver.5. See 2 King.17.7, &c. yea even there, in the very abuſing of their ſacrifices. They ſhewed themſelves men, in tranſgreſſing the Covenant.

treacherouſly] Chap.5.7. & 7.13. & 8.1.

Ver. 8. Gilead] Which was the place where the Prieſts dwelt, and which ſhould have been beſt inſtructed in my word: it is thought to be Ramoth-Gilead, Joſh.20.8. & 21.38. which was one of the cities of refuge, for thoſe which had committed ſome murther unawares; and he ſeems to infer, that it was a refuge for wilful murtherers. See Chap 12.11. Some underſtand this of the Country of Gilead, beyond Jordan, given to the two Tribes and an half, Num.32.1,16,29,40. and now captivated by Pul, King of Aſſyria, for their ſin, 1 Chr.5.26. But the addition of the word City makes againſt that; unleſs by City we underſtand every City of Gilead, as ſome do. If this City, which ſhould have been a good example to others, was ſo wicked and bloudy; what might be thought of other Cities? Of Gilead, ſee on Obad. ver.19.

polluted with bloud] Or, cunning for bloud, or, traced with bloud; guilty of much bloud. The LXX. thus; But they are as a man tranſgreſſing the Covenant. There Gilead dealt treacherouſly againſt me, a City that acts vain things, troubling the water; reading ſo מים for מדם.

V. 9. And as troopes of robbers] As Judg.9.25. Prov.11.23. as the Arabian in the wilderneſs. See Obad. ver.5.

the company of Prieſts] Or, the league and conſpiracy; as Jer. 11.9. Ezek.22.25.

murder] By this it may ſeem, that this is a proſecution of that in the former verſe; that the Prieſts of Ramoth-Gilead committed all manner of bloudy cruelties; they were the companions, the captains, and commanders of ſuch bloudy robbers.

in the way by conſent] Heb. with one ſhoulder; or, to Shechem. One ſhoulder ſignifies one conſent, that they did it unanimouſly; by factions and conſpiracies. So Zeph. 3.9. If we take it for Shechem, we find Shechem to be a city of refuge on Mount Ephraim, Joſh.20.7. belonging to the Koathite-Levites, Joſh. 21.21. a prime City in the heart of the Kingdome, where they met to make Rehoboam King, 1 King.12.1. and King Jeroboam dwelt there, ver.25. many travellers went that way becauſe of the celebrity of the City; and therefore that was fitteſt for their bloudy robberies. Some thus, It may be that Jeroboam had placed there ſome falſe Prieſts which himſelf had made: See Ch. 5.2. which committed many outrages and murders upon them which frequented the Temple of Jeruſalem, contrary to his command: or, generally upon all travellers; and that by guile and treachery; as Simeon and Levi had of old time murdered the Chemites, Gen.34. The LXX. thus, Thy ſtrength is of ſuch a man, &c. as abuſeth his ſtrength to robbery, as aforeſaid. Thus variouſly are theſe words taken, and interpreted.

for they commit lewdneſs] Or, enormity. I do liken theſe Prieſts violences to theft, for they are cruel and inſufferable; or commit ſuch like enormities, as Simeon and Levi did at Shechem, Gen.34.

V. 10. I have ſeen] Whatſoever they dream or imagine, pleaſing themſelves in their will-worſhips, and good intentions; yet I the true Judge do thus ſee and deem.

an horrible thing] Or, bruitiſh and infamous. The boldneſs of Prophets from God in reproving ſin: They muſt ſet out ſin in its colours. Better ſo, then for people to find how fearful a thing it is to fall into the hands of the living God.

the whoredome] The idolatry, uſually called whoredome.

of Ephraim] Ephraim the chief Tribe and Head of that kingdome; and Jeroboam the Ringleader to Idolatry was of the Tribe of Ephraim, 1 King.11.26. & 12.26, &c.

V. 11. Alſo O Judah] The words of this verſe are ſo generally put, as that they may be divers wayes applyed and underſtood. Some thus, O ye ten Tribes, though for the preſent ye have no good plants of true believers amongſt you, yet ye ſhall be repleniſhed with them again, when ye ſhall be united again to Judah; and by means of the Goſpel which ſhall come forth of Jeruſalem, Pſal.110.2. Iſa.2.3. God ſhall deliver his elect of all nations out of their ſpiritual captivity, and at laſt the whole body of his people Iſrael, Jer. 31.5. Others make God ſet an harveſt of joy for Judah; when he ſhall cauſe his people to return from their ſpiritual captivity, by the preaching of the Goſpel: like to that, Jer.31.23. Zeph. 3.20. Pſal.126.7. But others, more agreeable to the context, underſtand here the harveſt of Idolatry, and of Gods judgments for it. And that this harveſt either Judah hath ſet and ſown for Iſrael, taking from Iſrael the ſeeds and plants of idolatry, to corrupt it ſelf; and ſo by his example to confirm it in Iſrael, to propagate and ripen the harveſt of Iſrael, and Gods anger for it. Or rather, that Ephraim and Iſrael have alſo ſown the ſeeds, and ſet an harveſt of idolatry in Judah, corrupting Judah, and ripening him for the harveſt of Gods wrath. And this relates, as the former likewiſe doth to that hiſtory, 2 Chr. 28.8, &c. So that the meaning will be, That Ephraim had not onely defiled Iſrael with idolatry; but alſo had ſowed it in Judah, or Judah had taken the ſeeds, and plants, and harveſt of idolatry from them, when Ahab was joyned in affinity with the Kings of Judah, and when Ahaz reigned in Judah, and in the end of his reign was delivered into the hands of Pekah, King of Iſrael.

when I returned] When I did it by my Spirit in the powerful preaching of my Prophet Hoded, 2 Chr. 28.9, &c. though ye arrogantly aſcribe it to your ſelves, and your own praiſe. Others, more generally thus, When I laboured to prevent their captivity, by turning them from Idolatry by the Miniſtery of my Prophets, even when and where I was about to reduce and reſtore them.

CHAP. VII.

Verſ. 1. WHen] God reproves Iſraels and Ephraims manifold ſins; though he would heal them; yet they continue ſinning againſt him, and ſeek another means of help, and come to him but hypocritically; which ſhall be their ruine.

I would have healed Iſrael] as a good Phyſitian, Chap. 14. 4. Pſal. 30.2. & 103.3. Eſay 30.26. & 57.18, 19. By my Word, and Prophets, by my mercies and judgments. Aſſur could not heal them, Chap. 5.13.

then the iniquity] When by my Word I tryed to correct the ſins of my people, their ſecret wickedneſſe and inward hardneſſe hath manifeſted it ſelf; as it often happeneth in bodily infirmities, when the Phyſitian tryes his remedies, he finds diſeaſes greater, and more then at firſt appeared. God applyed his remedies, Chap. 6.5. but they prevailed not. They did but ſtir and provoke the evil humours, When ſinners are rubed on their ſores, they kick, and fare as thoſe, Mat. 7.6. and ſo bewray that bitterneſſe of ſpirit which before lay hid in them. He that evil doth, hates the light.

of Samaria] See on Chap. 8.5.

commit falſhood] They are ſo much the more ſet on all miſchief, are addicted to it, and make a trade of it, 1 Joh. 3. 8, 9. Mat. 7.23. Ezek. 22.9, 11.

the thief cometh in] Into the houſe for to ſteal. Meaning, that there was no one only kind of vice among them; but that they were ſubject to all kind of wickedneſſe, both ſecret and open, within, and without; they were ſo infected, that no place or part was left whole.

ſpoyleth] Heb. ſtrippeth. Violently plunder abroad.

V. 2. Conſider not in] Heb. ſay not to their hearts.

that I remember] as if there were no God; or God heeded not all their wickedneſſe; or would never call them to account for it, Pſal. 50.21. Job 22.13, 14 And this opens the flood gate to let in all ſin.

now their own] Though they think nothing leſſe, yet they ſhall find by experience this to be true.

beſet them about] Like as it were with ropes and ſnares, that they may no longer eſcape Judgments, Prov. 5.22. or the puniſhments of their miſdeeds have bound them; or their miſdeeds compaſſe them on every ſide; wherein and whereof they boaſt themſelves, as men do of a guard about them. There ſhall be no way left for them to eſcape.

they are before my face] They commit their miſdeeds boldly and openly. Or I keep them in mind, and they are alwayes preſent before me, Prov. 5.21. & 15.3. Job 31.4. & 34.21. Jer. 16. 17. & 32.19. And my part and office ſhall not be taken out of my hands, Gen. 4.7. I will ſee them puniſhed.

V. 3. They make the King glad] Chap. 5.11. in obeying readily their Idolatrous wayes and commands. Yea they ſtick not to applaud him in all his vileſt wayes, crying up his vices for virtues, ſo as they may pleaſe his humour, and rejoyce his ſpirit. Or thus, All their wickedneſſes are made occaſions of their mirth and paſtime, even by the Judges and Magiſtrates themſelves; or they ſtick not at any ſin, ſo as thereby they may make the King merry, ver. 5. but rather invent ſuch wayes of wickedneſſe as wherein he may take delight. Such was their flattery and ſcurrility. A ſign of an extreme corruption.

V. 4. adulterers] Spiritually; and likely bodily too.

as an oven] Raging hot and furious in their ſinning; burning in luſts and deſires after it.

heated] He compareth the rage of the people after adultery and Idolatry, to a burning Oven, which the Baker heateth ſtill, till his dough be leavened and raiſed: and ſo they uſe all means to fulfil their unbridled concupiſcence.

who ceaſeth] Or, the raiſer will ceaſe.

from raiſing] Or, from waking. Some thus, who ceaſeth from raiſing and calling up the women to prepare their dough and bread for the Oven; as is uſual with him who keeps a common bake-houſe, and after falls faſt to the heating of the Oven. Others thus; who ceaſeth from waking and heating the Oven, no longer time, then while the dough is kneaded and leavened: ſignifying hereby, their continual eager burning deſires after theſe ſins. Vulgar Latine thus, quievit paululum civitas a commiſtione fermenti, donec fermentaretur totum.

V. 5. In the day of our King] Namely, the day of his birth, or of his coronation; his courtiers have perſwaded him to drunkenneſſe; ſo that there was no goodneſſe in the court; but all exceſſe of drunkenneſſe and diſorder there.

ſick with bottles of wine] Or, with heat through wine, Eſay 5. 11. Hab. 2. 15, 16. LXX. thus; ἤρξαντο οἱ ἄρχοντες θυμοῦσθαι ἐξ οἴνου, The Rulers began to rage with wine.

he ſtreached out his hand] Thereupon having laid aſide all manner of majeſty, he doth acts not beſeeming him, but ſuch men as are deſperate ſcornful ſinners, Pſal. 1.1. Prov. 1. 22. & Chap. 7.8. he takes them by the hand, and becomes their companion in compotations. And all this in that day which ſhould have been dedicated to better uſes. Thus good Ordinances are abuſed.

V. 6. For they have] When they have plotted ſome treachery, they hatch it within themſelves ſecretly, until ſuch time as the paſſion of deſire or of revenge being come to the height, it do break out in effects. See Mic. 2.1.

made ready] Or, applyed; or, as the LXX, their hearts were heated as an oven: for קֵרְבוּ reading חָרְבוּ.

like an oven] as ver. 4, & 7. hot as that, Dan. 3.6.

whiles they lye in wait] To execute their burning miſchievous deſires; as Judg. 9.25, 34, 35, 43. Jer. 9.8.

their baker ſleepeth] When he hath made the fire that it will laſt and continue burning till morning, though he ſleep.

as a flaming fire] Some thus, through the bakers ſleeping all the night, and not attending the fire, but letting it burn on ſtill. The baker may relate to the King.

V. 7. all hot as an oven] All fiery hot upon miſchief. An Epidemical and œcumenical corruption.

devoured their Judges] This rage diſcovers it ſelf chiefly in their ſeditious, and frequent conſpiracies, to the devouring and deſtroying of their Judges and magiſtrates.

all their Kings are fallen] as appears in the frequent murders of them. Of Zachariah, Shallum, Pekahiah, Pekah, ſee 2 King. 15.10, 14, 25, 30. and before theſe times, ſee 1 King. 15. & 16. 9, 10, 21. & 2 King. 9.24.

there is none] They are ſo poſſeſſed with their affection to evil, that they cannot think upon me, to call upon me in theſe publick diſorders; nor to be rightly converted to me, Iſa. 64.7. and all their Kings that then fell by the ſword, were alike evil, among them calling upon the Lord.

V. 8. hath mixed himſelf among the people] By treaties, leagues, and commerce; which have brought them into participation of Idolatry, and vices. See Chap. 5.7. That now they little differ from the Heathens, following their manners.

a cake not turned] As if he ſhould ſay, He is neither raw nor roaſted, dough nor cake, fiſh nor fleſh; which may be referred to the mixtures and differences of Religion; as was in Ahabs time, when they halted between Jehovah and Baal, 1 King. 18. or in Samaria, 2 King. 17.33. See Zeph. 1.5. Apoc. 3.15, 16. or elſe it may relate to that, That being as it were all fired by Gods judgments, he was not one whit humbled nor amended by it; but was ſtill raw in impenitency and obſtinacy; like a cake that is burnt on one ſide, and dough on the other.

V. 9. ſtrangers] Forrain enemies.

and he knoweth it not] Hath not a right knowledge of it, to make right uſe of it. He repents not, though God by divers wayes, by words and blowes doth invite and drive him to it.

gray haires] Which are a token of his decayed ſtrength, brought upon him before its time, through the anguiſh of his manifold afflictions and diſtractions. And yet by all this he was not reclaimed, but remained ſtill obſtinate and incurable. Which is a continual charge of this Prophet againſt this people, as a people of forlorn hope, and deſperate.

here and there] Heb. ſprinkled. Like drops of water.

V. 10. The pride of Iſrael] Chap. 5. 5. whereby they did ſpeak proudly againſt the Lord, were ſtout againſt him, and wearied him in the day of their pride; as Mal. 3.13, 14, 15. So that his word, and his judgments could not break them; but they were even thoſe men, Eſay 9.9, 10. yet God in his time would take them in their pride, reſiſt them, mar it, break it, and plentifully reward the proud doer, Eſay 28.1.

teſtifieth] That there needs no other witneſſe to convict him.

they do not return to the Lord] By repentance, Eſay 9.13. but turn to their Idols.

their God] Who had ſo revealed and communicated himſelf to them. This is not to honour them hereby, but to aggravate their ingratitude and treachery.

nor ſeek him] See on Chap.5.15.

for all this] For all the chaſtiſements aforeſaid. See Ier. 3.10. And then, for all this his anger will not be turned away, but his hand will be ſtretched out ſtill.

V. 11. a ſilly dove] The Dove neither harms others, nor fears harm her ſelf; Ephraim is not innocent as the dove; but ſilly, without the wit, and the wiſdome of the Serpent, Mat.10.16. they fooliſhly ſought not to God for help as they ſhould by repentance; but they call and go to Egypt and Aſhur for help.

without heart] without all judgement; as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleave only to God, or to ſeek the help of man.

they call to Egypt,] This ſhewed their ſilly heart. See on Chap.2.5,7. & 5.13. & 8.9. & 12.1. To ayd and relieve them, and would not come to me. See 2 King.15.19. & 17.4. Ezek. 17.15.

go to Aſſyria.] For the better and clearer underſtanding of the ſacred hiſtory, take this catalogue of the Kings of Aſſyria; we read of Pul, in the dayes of Menahem, 2 King. 15. 19. of Tiglath Pileſer, in the dayes of Pekah, and Ahaz, 1 Chro.5.26. 2 King.15.29. & 16.7,10. of Shalmaneſer in the dayes of Hoſheah, who took him, and Samaria, and put an end to that kingdome, 2 King.17.4. & 18.9,10. He is called Shalman, Hoſ.10.14. And he or his next Succeſſor ſeem to be called Eſarhaddon, Aſnapper, and Sargon, 2 King.19.37: Ezra 4. 2,10. Eſay 20.1. And we read of Sennacherib in the dayes of Ezekiah, 2 King. 18. 13.

V. 12. I will ſpread my net] Eſay 30.1—8. & 31.1,2,3. As the fowler doth ſpread his net upon the ſilly Dove, verſ. 11. I will curſe their endeavours, and make the iſſue of them to be to their ruine and confuſion.

as their congregation hath heard] According to my curſes made to the whole congregation of Iſrael in my Law, by Moſes in the wilderneſſe; and denounced by my Prophets, 2 King. 17.13. Others thus, As they have heard of the like judgement upon themſelves, or others. Like that, Eſay 23.5. LXX. thus, ἐν τῇ ἀκοῇ τῆς θλίψεως αὐτῶν.

V. 13. woe] Eſay 30.1. Lam.5.16. Ezek.16.23.

fled from me] Departed, revolted, eſtranged themſelves, as Ezek. 6. 9. & 14, 5. See Jer. 17. 13. & Hoſ. 9. 12. Zech. 7. 11, 12.

becauſe] Sin the cauſe of it. See Lev. 26.43.

yet they have ſpoken lyes] They have abuſed my patience, and former deliverances; they have made lying proteſtations to me of future faithfulneſſe and ſervice; they did never return but fainedly and falſly. Or they have ſpoken lyes againſt me, attributing their deliverance to men or to Idols, and all their afflictions to me.

V. 14. And they] Thus God proſecutes their impenitency and hypocriſie.

have not cryed unto me] Prayer is a great part of repentance, ſo it be ſincere in the heart. The cry of the heart is that God likes, and loves, and looks for, Pſal. 119.145. Lam.2.18. Jonah 3.8. Thus Moſes cryed when his voyce was not heard, Exod. 14.15. and Hannah, 1 Sam.1.13.

when they howled] as Dogs and bruit beaſts. Though the ſmart of their miſeries urged them to howling; yet they were dumb towards me, and fraught with grumbling and impatience, murmuring and repining againſt me. See Job 35.9,10,11.

they aſſemble themſelves] To make ſupplications, ſeeking onely their own commodity and wealth, and not paſſing for me their god. So they have theſe earthly bleſſings, they heed not me, nor my favour or diſpleaſure. But we ſhould firſt ſeek Gods Kingdome, and theſe things afterwards.

they rebel againſt me] LXX. thus, they were chaſtiſed by me.

V. 15. Though I have bound] Or, chaſtened. I, as a Chirurgion, have bound up their wounds and ſores. The LXX. omit this word.

and ſtrengthened their armes] I have tempered my puniſhments, and I have given them ſtrength to bear them, and not to be overthrown by them. Or, after I have ſcourged them, I have re-eſtabliſht them.

yet do they] They abuſe my goodneſſe; they render unto me evil for good. Take heed of this ſin.

miſchief againſt me] By their rebellion and apoſtaſie, Nahum, 1.9,11.

V. 16. They return] They do but counterfeit Repentance; dally, and delude me in it. God requires ſoundneſſe, and reality therein, Jer.4.1.

but not to the moſt high] LXX, to that which is not. Vulgar Latine, that they might be without a yoke. Which variety ſeems to ariſe from their various readings in their copies.

a deceitful bow] Pſal.78.57. They have no ſtaydneſſe nor uprightneſſe towards me; but are like a ſlack ſtringed, or ill faſhioned bow; or, a bow which turneth in the archers hand, or a warping or caſting bow.

their Princes] as ver.7. much more then the people.

for the rage of their tongue] Againſt God, and man; belching out blaſphemies againſt God, and proudly bearing out themſelves, in their preſumptuous and Idolatrous courſes; boaſting of their own ſtrength, and paſſing not awhit what they ſpeak againſt God, and his ſervants. Or thus, The outragious virulency of their tongue ſhould be the ſtirrer up of indignation amongſt them; and the cauſe of their Princes falling by the ſword. See Pſal.73.9. & 12.3,4. Jam.3.5,&c.

their deriſion] This often ſlaughter of their Princes, and change of State, ſhall render them as a ſcorn to all; yea even to their confederates, as the Egyptians now were, in whom they ſo much truſted.

CHAP. VIII.

Verſ. 1. S*Et*] God threatens deſtruction to Iſrael for their ſins; their Idolatry in the calf of Samaria: their hiring Aſhur for help, &c. And Judah is ſhortly threatened.

the trumpet] To give warning of the enemies coming, Chap. 5.8. A military phraſe. The Prophet here, as an Herauld, proclaimes war againſt them.

thy mouth] Heb. the roof of the mouth.

as an eagle] Swiftly to ſeize on the prey. Though they, as is uſual with ſinners, do put off the evil day far from them. Namely, the King of Aſſyria ſhall ſpeedily come, a ſwift and powerful enemy. See Deut.28.49. Jer. 4. 13. & 48. 40. & 49. 22. Ezek.17.3. Heb.1.8.

againſt the houſe of the Lord] Not meaning here the Temple of Jeruſalem, and Kingdome of Judah; as many would. For the whole context carrieth it to Iſrael, which was once the people of God, among whom God had his habitation as in his Temple or palace; and they ſtill pretend to be ſo.

becauſe they have] The cauſe of the war. And that twice told.

treſpaſſed] Impiouſly; and that againſt their knowledge and conſcience.

V. 2. Iſrael] Or they ſhall cry unto me, My God, we know thee, we are Iſrael.

ſhall] This is no exhortation to them ſo to do; nor accuſation againſt them for their failer therein: But a declaration of their ſimulation and counterfeiting in ſo doing.

cry unto me] Out of ſeaſon, and not be heard. Or out of mere ſenſe of evil, without faith, piety, or converſion, as Job 27.9. Prov.1.27,28. Iſa.1.15. Mal.3.4.

My God] This is the voyce of their cry, this is their vain boaſting and confidence. As is uſual with hypocrites and ſinners.

we know thee] Thou haſt revealed thy ſelf to us by thy Law and Word, And we make profeſſion of being thy people, See Mat.7.21,22. Luk.13.26,27.

V. 3. hath caſt off] Rejected, deteſted. This is, as it were, an anſwer to that in the former Verſe, that their counterfeit cry was but in vain. The truth was otherwayes, as it is here ſet down; their ſin did ſtick faſt in them, and the puniſhment ſhould follow: they did caſt off all goodneſſe, and the enemies ſhould ſeize upon them.

the thing that is good] They have ſtrayed from all piety and righteouſneſſe. Or, they are in cauſe that my grace and bleſſing is gone away from them.

V. 4. They have ſet up Kings] This relates not ſo much to that of Saul, 1 Sam.8. as to that of Rehoboam, and his Succeſſors. The people of their own proper motion, and without enquiring after my Will, or ſtaying for my command, or permiſſion, have choſen and made Kings of their own heads: firſt Jeroboam, 1 King.12. and after him Succeſſours: for though God promiſed ten Tribes to Jeroboam, 1 King.11.31. yet the people had no command by God, or notice from him, to make him King; wherefore they ſinned, ſeparating themſelves from the lawful rule of Davids poſterity; though this happened according to Gods ſecret providence, Hoſ.13.11.

but not by me] God ſo works by men to ſerve his providence, as leaving yet no pretence or excuſe to them to cover or colour their own wicked actions thereby. Gods intent and providence to prove Jobs patience, yet did nothing juſtifie the outrages and robberies of the Chaldeans and Sabeans againſt him, Job 1. They meant nothing leſſe then to obey and perform Gods Will therein, Thus God may truly be ſaid to do and not to do the ſame thing; that is, in divers reſpects nothing falls out in the world, yea no ſin of man or Satan, which is not ſome way governed by Gods ſpecial providence, and wiſely and holily ordered by him.

they have made] Doubles the point; the more to ſet it home upon their conſciences.

knew it not:] With approbation. As the word Knowing, is uſed, Pſal.1.6. Mat.7.23. Luk.13.27. 1 Cor.8.3.

of their ſilver] This is the ſecond capital ſin of apoſtate Iſrael, in rejecting, as the kingdom of David, ſo the Prieſthood of Levi: Both which God had appointed and eſtabliſhed, and were as Types of the kingdome and Prieſthood of our Saviour; yet they had made other Kings, and other worſhip. They corrupted and rejected Gods whole Worſhip, and the Prieſthood with it.

and their gold] Made to ſerve them; not they to ſerve gods made of it. But ſuch is the brutiſh blindneſs and madneſs of idolaters. See Chap.2.8. Judg.17.3. 1 King.12.28.

cut off] This juſtly followes upon it; though they think far otherwiſe, Judg.18.24.

V.5. thy calf] He goeth on to ſhew, that Iſrael doth ſtill periſh through his own default, and that he cannot lay the blame elſewhere.

thy] Called his calf, though at Bethel, and the ſin of Samaria, Amos 8.14.

calf] So called in contempt, Pſal.106.19,20. Deut.29.17. 1 King.15.12. See Hoſ.9.10.

Samaria] The hill Samaria was bought of Shemer the owner of it, by Omri, who built a city thereon, and called it after the name of Shemer, and of the hill Samaria, 1 King.16.24. This preſently became the head City of the ten Tribes, Eſay 7.9. 1 King.16.28,29. where their Kings reigned, and were afterward buried. It is ſometimes taken to ſignifie the whole kingdome of the ten Tribes, 1 King.13.32. 2 King.17.24,26. This is ſet forth under the name of Ahola, Ezek.23. and ſome miſtake it to be the ſame with Jezreel, mentioned in the ſtory of Naboth, Elias, and Eliſeus, and other extraordinary Prophets dwelt here: And yet Ahab built an Houſe, Altar, and Grove, for Baal here. This City was beſieged by Benhaded in Achab's time; and at laſt, for her Idolatries, and other ſins, was beſieged, and taken by Shalmaneſer king of Aſſyria, in the dayes of Hoſea, and Ezek. and the kingdome deſtroyed, 2 King.17. and forrein Colonies brought in to inhabite there. After the return of Judah from the Babyloniſh Captivity, there dwelt in Samaria a mungrel kind of people. Some Iſraelites, moſt Heathen, and they, were of a mungrel Religion: There were Reham, and Shimſai, and Sanballet, and others, enemies of the Jews, which ſtill laboured to hinder the rebuilding of the Temple wals, and City of Jeruſalem. The hatred betwixt the Jewes and them grew to an extreme height, and ſo ſtill continued: whence is that Ioh.4.9. & 8.48. and our Saviour in his Commiſſion, to his Apoſtles, forbiddeth them to enter into any City of the Samaritanes, till the time of that general Commiſſion, into all the world, Act.1.8. & 8.5,9,14,25.

hath] He uſeth the time paſt, for the time to come, for the greater aſſurance of the truth of his propheſie.

caſt thee off] Off from me, and failed thee in thy greateſt need, and caſt thee off into exile and captivity: Impute not this to chance, or to thine enemy; but to thy idolatry. As thy Calf hath caſt me out, ſo it ſhall caſt thee out. O ye ten Tribes, whoſe chief City is Samaria, your idolatry with your calfes, at Bethel, and Dan, 1 King.12.28,29. will be the chief cauſe of your diſperſion out of your own Country. Or, (as ſome) Thy Calf hath left Samaria: your calf hath been carryed a far off; namely, into Aſſyria; as the idols of the Nations overcome, were carryed away captive in triumph, by the Conquerours. See Chap.10.6. Some read, Caſt off thy Calf, O Samaria. The vulgar Latine, thus; Thy Calf is caſt off, O Samaria. Targum thus, They have erred after the Calf of Samaria, i. e. committed adultery with it.

againſt them] The idolatrous people.

how long] He expected long; but no length of time would ſerve their turn to turn to God.

to innocencie] That is, upright judgment, and godly life. See Ezek.33.11. Ier.13.27.

V. 6. For from Iſrael] That is, the Calf which Iſrael did adore, was not taken from the Gentiles; as many times they borrowed from their idolatries, but was invented by themſelves; no leſs then that of their fathers, ſet up in the wilderneſs of Sinai: yea, idols were in Iſraels own time; they were given to idolatry, even in Jacob's own family, Gen.35.2,3,4. And the worſhipping of the Calfes, in which the children of Iſrael profeſſed, they worſhipped the true God, is falſe and reproved by God, being but an humane invention, as all other idolatries are.

therefore it is not God] Nor any kind of divine worſhip is to be yielded to it. Thus he derides their brutiſh ſtupidity and madneſs: and ſo the Prophets do in many other places.

broken in pieces] Being the work of the goldſmith, and not of God, it ſhall be broken in pieces, the frame and feature of it demoliſhed in Gods anger, by the executioners of his wrath. And this ſhall prove it to be no God. The LXX. render all thus, Mine anger is kindled againſt them. How long will it be ere they can be cleanſed in Iſrael? even the Workman made it, and it is not a God.

V. 7. They have ſown] A proverbial kind of ſpeech: as they ſow, ſo they ſhall reap, yea and worſe too: meaning, they have ſtudied vain things, and ſhall reap nothing thereby, but dammage and ruine. Their vain ſuperſtitions, and their vain excuſes of them, ſhall thus little avail them. See Chap.10.13. Prov.22.8. Jer.12.13. Job 4.8. & 27.20,21. Mic.6.15.

it hath no ſtalk] Or, ſtanding corn.

if ſo be it yield] If their counſels ſhould bring forth any ſeeming commodity, or profit, the enemies ſhall take it away from them, 2 King.17.5.

V. 8. Iſrael is ſwallowed up] Is ſpoyled by the Aſſyrians, and laid waſte. It may be he hath relation to what is written, 2 King.15.19,20. See Chap.7.9. Amos 2.5. & 5.6. Ezek.7.15.

they be among the Gentiles] The Nations, whoſe favour they ſeek after, will diſdain and neglect them, as an old broken veſſel, fit for none but unclean uſes, Jer.22.28. & 48.38. Thus baſe ſhould they be in the eyes of the Gentiles, whom the Jews, and not without warrant, eſteemed ſo baſe in compariſon of themſelves, Mat.18.17. as Egypt, in Ezek.29.15. Joel 2.17.

as a veſſel] Jer.22.28 & 48.38. & 51.34.

V. 9. are gone up] This ſhewes their wild and ſavage diſpoſition.

to Aſſyria] 2 King.15.19. to Pull. See on Chap.7.11.

a wild aſs alone by himſelf] From under the care and guidance of any heardſman, and ſo running from the parks and fold of Iſrael, to the wild wilderneſs of the heathen. See Job 39.5,6,7,8. Jer.2.24. They never ceaſe, but run to and fro to ſeek help; are a ſalvage people, inhumane, and unnatural, that cannot be tamed, that care for no body. Or, the Aſſyrian heedes them no more then a wild aſs would do.

Ephraim hath hired] Chap.5.13. Eſay 30.6. Ezek.16.33,34. 2 King.15.19. & 17.3,4.

Lovers] Heb. loves. Targum thus, They are given up into the hands of the people whom they loved.

V. 10. yea though] This evil ſhift ſhall hurt, not help them. LXX. thus; When they ſhall be given up among the Nations.

now will I gather] Thoſe Nations on my ſide, againſt Iſrael, I will bring them up in arms to deſtroy Iſrael, Ezek.16.37. Or, I will gather the Iſraelites into an heap for deſtruction. Or, the Iſraelites from gadding and gathering forrein aids, though againſt their wills, and will ſubject them to their enemy. Or, to delay a while their utter diſperſion, and ſee if they will return and repent. Or, gather them again into their own land, after their diſperſion among the Nations. So the LXX. ſo variouſly may this general expreſſion be interpreted.

and they ſhall ſorrow a little for the burden] Or, begin. They begin to complain of that burden of Tribute; but the leaſt evils which they ſhall endure ſhall be ſo extreme, that the burden of the tribute which they paid to the King of Aſſyria, wherewith they found themſelves ſo much oppreſſed, ſhall be eſteemed but a very light thing. Or, they begin to hire others, againſt their ſworn loyalty and allegeance to eaſe them of that burden. See 2 King.17.3,4.

a little] Far greater evils do abide and wait for them.

for the burden] Of Tribute.

of the King of Princes] Of the greateſt Monarch then of the World, 2 King.18. & 19. Iſa.10.8,11. See Dan.2.37. Or, of the King and Princes of Iſrael, who impoſed that tax and tribute upon the people, to be paid to the great Monarch of Aſſyria. So the LXX. The ſcope of the verſe may ſeem to be this; Though they reject my aid, and fly to forrein helps, yet will I delay for a time their utter rejection and extirpation; and they ſhall begin to be burdened by tribute; and they ſhall ſorrow for it a little, becauſe they ſhall ſo become tributaries, before the enemies carry them into captivity. And all this to ſee, yet if ſo they will repent; and if not, far greater evils ſhall betide them: as in iſſue it fell out afterwards.

V. 11. Becauſe Ephraim hath made many altars] Becauſe the ten tribes would not be content with my one altar, but make many, and do commit idolatry without any end or meaſure; I have given them up to do ſo, that they might heap up their meaſure of ſin.

to ſin, altars ſhall] Though they think otherwiſe, they ſhall be their ſin and ſhame, and ruine. Though they think this multiplication of altars, to be the beſt religion; long cuſtom had ſo confirmed them therein, they could not otherwiſe be perſwaded; their good intentions therein did aſſure them ſo; yet God will ſhew it to be their ſin, by the horrible vengeance he will take for it. They did but increaſe their ſin, by increaſing the number of their altars.

V. 12. I have written] Here was the Rule of their worſhip, which might cut off all their pretentions, and excuſes in their falſe wil-worſhips. God himſelf here, in his own perſon, ſpeaks it.

the great things] Namely, the admirable and precious revelation, and doctrine ; great, and precious, Pſal. 119.18.

ſtrange thing] As no wayes appertaining to them. They have contemned them, as things which no way concerned them. Thus Idolaters count the Word of God as ſtrange, in reſpect of their own inventions.

V. 13. They ſacrifice] Formerly againſt their altars : now againſt their ſacrifices.

fleſh for the ſacrifices of mine offerings] Or, in the ſacrifices of mine offerings. He chargeth them with impiety, in offering fleſh, and dead carkaſes ; without faith, and inward piety.

and eat it ;] In their ſacrifices of thankſgiving, (whereof a certain portion was aſſigned to them that offered, to make their ſacred Feaſts therewith) they never had any regard of devotion towards me, but onely regarded their own bellies : ſo that it is no longer a ſacrifice, but profain fleſh. See Jer. 7.21. Or, the fleſh, or part of it, of thoſe ſacrifices, which ſhould have been wholly burnt with fire, they turned the holocauſts into thankſgiving-offerings, that they may eat the fleſh.

accepteth them not] Neither them, nor their ſacrifices, Prov. 15.8. & 21.27.

now will he] Though he forbear a while, yet he will ſoon ſhew that he remembers it.

they will] He neither allowes, nor commands it ; but ſhews, that they will go ; and that it ſhall be in vain. This is forbidden, Deut. 17.16. 2 King. 17.4. Some thus, They ſhall be led captives into Aſſyria, where they ſhall be uſed as ſervants, as they had been formerly uſed in Egypt : acording to the threatning, Deut. 28.68. confer with this verſe, Chap. 9.3. Or rather, Egypt may be taken litterally ; and God will puniſh thus their ſin, in ſeeking unto Egypt. See Eſay 30. 1, 2, 3. &c. & 31. 1. &c.

V. 14. his Maker] That is, God, who created them after his image, Gen. 1. 26. and afterwards made them his people by Covenant of Grace, Pſal. 100.3. Eſay 29.23. & 51. 13. & 54. 5. Epheſ. 2. 10. And advanced them to that ſtate of grace and honour, above all other people of the world. Such a ſignification hath the word, Chap. 2.8. Deut. 32.6. 1 Sam. 12.6.

and buildeth Temples] Inſtead of any one temple. And theſe to Idols ; or if to the true God, yet againſt Gods commandement, who approved but of one, where he had placed the tokens of his preſence. Though they built the temples in Dan, and Bethel, to the memory of God, yet God calls them a Forgetting of him. God will be worſhipped onely by the rule of his Law. God then would have onely one Temple, and one Altar.

and Judah] Here briefly is Judah alſo taxed.

fenced cities] To truſt more in them, then in God. See Eſay 22.8—12 & 27.10. Jer. 8.14.

I will ſend] Their truſt ſhall be their ruine, Zeph. 1.16. Jer. 5. 17.

fire upon his Cities] Wherein Judah put truſt, for their deliverance and ſafety, 2 King. 18. & 19. Chapters.

the palaces thereof] Or, her palaces. The palaces of Iſrael were firſt devoured, before Judahs cities.

CHAP. IX.

THE time of this Sermon is not ſet down. Or rather, He daily, or uſually preached againſt their idolatries, ſuperſtitions, and other groſs ſins which then reigned amongſt the people : and he eft-ſoons repeated the ſame threatnings, and denunciations of Gods judgements for them. Afterwards, he gathers what he had preached into certain heads, and ſummarily propounds them in the Chapters of this Book. Here we have their whoriſh idolatry propounded ; dearth, and captivity denounced ; their ſacrifices, and feaſts rejected : their deſtruction in Egypt. Againſt their Prophets. Of Gods firſt kindneſs ; and their ſins then. His denunciations againſt Ephraim : Their ſins, and his puniſhments.

Verſ. 1. Rejoyce not] He envies againſt their obſtinate continuance in ſin, and impenitency : and that they ſhould not pleaſe themſelves in their preſent proſperity and impunity : for Gods judgements ſhould not fail to purſue them, though he now ſpared ; yea, though all nations under heaven proſpered, yet they ſhould ſmart and ſorrow. Our preſent proſperity, muſt not make us ſecure in our ſins. Preſume not, that thine idolatry ſhall ſcape unpuniſhed ; or that God will cauſe it to proſper ; as it hapneth to other profane people : for though all other people ſhould eſcape, yet thou ſhalt be puniſhed. See Ezek. 20. 32. Amos 3.2.

for joy] Or, with joy. Targum thus, Rejoyce not ô houſe of Iſrael ; and follow not the manners of the people. Vulgar Latine thus, Rejoyce not O Iſrael, exſult not as the people.

for thou haſt gone a whoring] After Heathen gods and nations. And that ſpiritual whoredom, which in other nations, is but meer ignorance, in thee is meer apoſtacy and rebellion.

[illegible]] Thou haſt proſtituted thy ſelf to looſe Idolatry, like to a common-whore, that goeth a whoring up and down the threſhing-floors. Or he doth mean ſome particular kinde of idolatry, which was uſed in the time of harveſt and threſhing ; as if they would have acknowledged their increaſe to come by their idols goodneſs, Hoſ. 2.5.

a reward] Jer. 44. 17. See on Chap. 2. 12. Deut. 23. 18. Ephraim, Chap. 8. verſ. 9. hiered lovers. Here he loves a reward ; There he hired aſſiſtance from idolaters. Here he loves, and looks for rewards, and worldly bleſſings from their idols, and idol ſervice ; and not from God, Chap. 2. 5, 8. do it not, thou haſt no cauſe for it.

upon every corn-floor] Or, in, &c. Loves the reward of a plentiful harveſt, and full barn.

V. 2. The floor] Theſe plenteous earthly bleſſings of corn and wine. See Pſal. 4.7.

ſhall not feed them] LXX. own them. Theſe outward things that thou ſeekeſt from idols, ſhall be taken from thee, ſhall deceive thy hope, and fruſtrate thy expectation. A puniſhment meet for them, worthy of them, ſuch as they deſerved, who minded theſe belly-bleſſings, and looked for them from their idols, Chap. 2.9. He will take the wheat and wine away ; or his bleſſings upon them.

fail in her] Fail their expectation, and the hope they had therein. LXX: fail them.

V. 3. They ſhall not] A further judgement of exile and captivity.

in the LORDS Land] In a peculiar manner his, above all other lands, Pſal. 132. 14. As Adam out of Eden ; and Cain out of Adams family ; ſo they out of the Lords land ; that land being a type, and pledg to them of the heavenly Canaan.

return to Egypt] See on Chap. 8.13. Deut. 28.68.

eat unclean] Ezek. 4.13. Being not able, by reaſon of their miſery and ſlavery, to obſerve the diſtinction of meats, which was appointed by the law ; or being alſo conſtrained to eat things conſecrated to idols. See Dan. 1. 8. They ſhall differ nothing from the profane Gentiles.

V. 4. not offer] In their exile they ſhall not do it ; nay, then by the law they may not do it. Or, now their offerings and ſacrifices ſhall be in vain, not pleaſing to God.

as the bread of mourners] Uſed at funerals. See Eſay 66.2.

ſhall be polluted] It is ſo vile in it ſelf, and in Gods eyes, wanting the inward and ſpiritual part, that it defiles the offerers and Communicants. In ſumme ; All their offerings and ſacrifices being profaned by their impieties, are rejected by God : and they themſelves, inſtead of being ſanctified by them, are polluted thereby, as they ſhould be by funeral and mourning feaſts. Whereof, ſee upon Deut. 26. 14.
